PER CURIAM:

In Appeal No. 14-1547, Jean R. Destin and Charisse M. Destin seek to appeal the district court's orders denying their motion for a temporary restraining order and warning that their action would be dismissed in thirty days if they did not submit a pleading setting forth a valid basis for subject matter jurisdiction. This court may exercise jurisdiction only over final orders, 28 U.S.C. § 1291 (2012), and certain interlocutory and collateral orders, 28 U.S.C. § 1292 (2012); Fed. R. Civ. P. 54(b); Cohen v. Beneficial Indus. Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541, 545-46 (1949). The orders the Destins seek to appeal are neither final orders nor appealable interlocutory or collateral orders. Accordingly, we deny leave to proceed in forma pauperis and dismiss this appeal for lack of jurisdiction.

In Appeal No. 14-1548, the Destins noted an appeal in a civil action before the district court had entered any orders. Because there is no appealable order for us to review, we deny leave to proceed in forma pauperis and dismiss the appeal for lack of jurisdiction.

We dispense with oral argument because the facts and legal contentions are adequately presented in the materials before this court and argument would not aid the decisional process.
