withdraw, and has filed a brief under Anders v. California, 386 U.S. 738 (1967), acknowledging that Sohl's written plea agreement contains an appeal waiver, but challenging the substantive reasonableness of Sohl's sentence. In a pro se supplemental brief, Sohl also challenges the substantive reasonableness of his sentence.

After careful de novo review, see United States v. Scott, 627 F.3d 702, 704 (8th Cir. 2010), we will enforce the appeal waiver in this case. The claims raised in both the Anders brief and the supplemental brief fall within the scope of the waiver; Sohl's sworn testimony at the plea hearing shows that he entered into the plea agreement, and the appeal waiver, knowingly and voluntarily; and dismissing the appeal based on the waiver will not result in a miscarriage of justice. See United States v. Andis, 333 F.3d 886, 889-90 (8th Cir. 2003) (en banc). Further, having independently reviewed the record pursuant to Penon v. Ohio, 488 U.S. 75 (1988), we find no nonfrivolous issues that fall outside the scope of the appeal waiver.

This appeal is dismissed, and we grant counsel's motion to withdraw.
