LEO YIP,

Plaintiff,

vs.

QUALITY FINANCIAL, INC., et al.,

Defendants.

2:11-cv-1189-GMN-CWH

ORDER

This matter is before the Court on Plaintiff's Motion for Attorney Fees (#73), filed August 10, 2012; Interested Party Michael D. Mazur's Response (#79), filed August 29, 2012; and Plaintiff's Reply (#81), filed August 31, 2012. The undersigned conducted a hearing on this matter on September 4, 2012.

BACKGROUND

1. Procedural Background

On July 21, 2011, Plaintiff filed his complaint stating various causes of action regarding the alleged wrongful repossession of an automobile against Defendants GMS Automotive LLC ("GMS") and Quality Financial, Inc. ("Quality Financial"). (#1). On September 6, 2011, Quality Financial filed its motion to dismiss. (#8). GMS filed its answer on September 8, 2012. (#9). Approximately two weeks after GMS filed its answer, Plaintiff filed an amended complaint. (#11).

Shortly after filing the amended complaint, Plaintiff filed a motion requesting that the Court issue an order requiring GMS and Quality Financial to file their respective Certificates of Interested Parties. (#12). In the motion, Plaintiff also requested that GMS and Quality Financial identify the towing company which wrongfully towed Plaintiff's vehicle. The Court granted the request requiring the filing of the Certificates of Interested Parties, but denied the request to

1 identify the towing company, reminding Plaintiff's counsel that the certificate is not a substitute 2 for discovery. See Order (#13) at 1:27-2:4. Both GMS and Quality Financial filed their 3 respective Certificates of Interested Parties within a week of the Court's order. See (#14) and 4 (#15). On the same day that it filed its Certificate of Interested Parties, GMS filed an answer to 5 Plaintiff's amended complaint. (#17). Quality Financial filed its motion to dismiss Plaintiff's 6 amended complaint on October 11, 2011. (#19).

7 Thereafter, on October 24, 2011, GMS filed an offer of judgment pursuant to Fed. R. Civ.
8 P. 68. (#20). Plaintiff filed a motion to strike the filing which was granted. See Order (#24).
9 On the same day that he filed his motion to strike (#22), Plaintiff also filed a stipulated discovery 10 plan (#21). Plaintiff noted that counsel for GMS did not participate in framing the discovery 11 plan. The plan was approved and adopted by the Court on October 27, 2011. (#26).

12 On February 14, 2012, almost four months after the discovery plan had been approved 13 and less than one month from the close of discovery, Plaintiff filed a motion to compel. (#32).
14 Plaintiff's counsel asserted that GMS' counsel had failed to participate in discovery and, 15 consequently, requested that Plaintiff be awarded fees and costs associated with the motion to 16 compel. The Court set the motion for hearing on March 13, 2012. (#33). Prior to the hearing, 17 Plaintiff's counsel filed an "emergency motion" requesting an order requiring GMS' counsel to 18 attend the hearing. (#35). The Court denied the motion reminding the parties that, unless 19 otherwise ordered, GMS' counsel of record Michael D. Mazur was already required to attend the 20 hearing. See Order (#36). The parties were also reminded that a failure to appear for argument 21 on a motion without cause would subject the non-appearing party to sanction. Id.

22 GMS' counsel did not file an opposition to Plaintiff's motion and failed to appear at the 23 March 13, 2012, hearing. Consequently, Plaintiff's motion to compel was granted in full and 24 GMS ordered to provide full and complete discovery by the close of business on March 26, 2012.
25 The Court further ordered that Plaintiff's request for costs and fees related to the motion to 26 compel be granted in the amount of $2,500.00. The sanction was as against GMS' counsel of 27 record Michael D. Mazur only. See Mins. of Proceedings (#39).

28 The Court issued a separate Order to Show Cause against attorney Michael D. Mazur

1 requiring him to appear on March 26, 2012, and show cause why further sanctions should not be 2 imposed. See Order (#38). A copy of the order was sent to Mr. Mazur via certified mail (#40) 3 and service acknowledged on March 20, 2012. (#41). Remarkably, Mr. Mazur failed to 4 personally appear at the March 26, 2012, show cause hearing. He did join the hearing 5 telephonically while in progress and indicated that he had not made the required disclosures and 6 had not tendered the $2,500.00 sanction. He was admonished to pay attention to the case.

7 Given the failure to personally appear, the Court issued a second Order to Show Cause 8 why the undersigned should not recommend contempt sanctions as well as striking of his client's 9 answer for his failure to appear at two separate hearings and failure to comply with the Court's 10 order to provide discovery. See Order (#43). Mr. Mazur was specifically warned that the failure 11 to personally appear would result in a recommendation for civil contempt sanctions and, 12 potentially, limitations on his ability to practice in this court. The Court also required that Mr.
13 Mazur file a written brief, provide his client with a copy of the order, and bring a representative 14 from GMS to hearing. The show cause hearing was scheduled for April 13, 2012. A few days 15 prior to the April 13, 2012, hearing, Plaintiff's counsel filed a motion requesting that the Court
16 direct the United States Marshal to bring Mr. Mazur to the hearing. (#47). The Court summarily 17 rejected the request finding the relief unnecessary. See Order (#49). Also before the hearing, and 18 predictably so, GMS filed a motion to substitute attorneys. (#48).

19 Astoundingly, Mr. Mazur failed to personally appear at the April 13, 2012 show cause 20 hearing. Representatives for GMS did appear with attorney Eva Garcia-Mendoza. The Court 21 granted GMS' motion for substitution of counsel and conferred with the parties regarding the 22 case status. The parties indicated that they believed discovery could still be completed and, 23 therefore, the Court ordered that a new discovery plan be filed. The Court also agreed to conduct 24 a settlement conference. The Court took the show cause issue regarding Mr. Mazur under 25 submission.

26 Within a few days after the second show cause hearing, the Court scheduled a settlement 27 conference for April 16, 2012. (#51). The Court also approved the parties new scheduling order 28 and discovery plan. (#53). On May 11, 2012, Plaintiff's counsel filed a notice indicating that

1 Mr. Mazur had tendered the $2,500.00 monetary sanction associated with Plaintiff's motion to 2 compel. (#55). Plaintiff's counsel also requested that the settlement conference be postponed 3 until he had the opportunity to conduct certain discovery. (#58). The request was granted.
4 (#59). On July 19, 2012, the parties filed a stipulation to extend discovery. (#69). The 5 stipulation was set for a telephonic hearing on July 26, 2012. (#70). During the hearing, the 6 Court granted the requested extension for a period of three months. (#72). Plaintiff's counsel 7 also indicated his intention to file a motion requesting the Court exercise its inherent authority to 8 require Mr. Mazur to pay all of Plaintiff's attorney fees for his conduct prior to substitution.

9 2. Plaintiff's Motion for Attorney Fees (#73)

10 The subject of this motion is Plaintiff's motion for attorney fees filed on August 10, 2012.
11 (#73). Citing Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., 501 U.S. 32 (1991), Plaintiff's counsel requests that the 12 Court exercise its inherent authority to award Plaintiff attorney fees in the amount of $24,900.00
13 as against GMS' prior attorney Michael D. Mazur. Plaintiff's counsel argues that Mr. Mazur 14 "resisted every conceivable attempt to discuss this matter including efforts at resolution." See 15 Pl.'s Mot. (#73) at 5:23-25. According to Plaintiff's counsel, as a result of the deliberate efforts 16 at frustration by Mr. Mazur this case has "severely metastasized." Id. at 6:1-2. Thus, Plaintiff's 17 counsel requests that the Court require Mr. Mazur to pay all fees incurred by Plaintiff prior to the 18 filing of this motion.

19 In response, Mr. Mazur indicated that Plaintiff had already been awarded fees for conduct 20 up to and including March 26, 2012. He also indicated that the failures to appear at the Court's 21 scheduled show cause hearings were a direct result of deliberate actions by former employees of 22 his firm to undermine him for their own financial gain. The malfeasance of his employees was 23 reported to the State Bar and his law firm initiated a lawsuit in Clark County District Court. See 24 Ex. 1 attached to Mazur's Resp. (#79). Mr. Mazur argues that the vast majority of Plaintiff's 25 counsel's claimed hours are inherently related to the conduct of litigation as opposed to 26 specifically related to any misconduct on his part. Mr. Mazur concludes that Plaintiff's counsel 27 is, at most, entitled only to reimbursement of fees directly related to the failures to appear at the 28 show cause hearings.

1 DISCUSSION

2 1. Inherent Authority

3 The Court has the inherent power to levy sanctions for abusive litigation tactics.
4 Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper, 447 U.S. 752, 765-66 (1980). The court’s inherent authority to 5 issue sanctions was reiterated in Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., 501 U.S. 32 (1991) and extends “to a 6 full range of litigation abuses.” Fink v. Gomez, 239 F.3d 989, 992 (9th Cir. 2001) (quoting
7 Chambers, 501 U.S. at 46-47). Nevertheless, “[b]ecause of their very potency, inherent powers
8 must be exercised with restraint and discretion.” Chambers, 501 U.S. at 44. “When there is bad-9 faith conduct in the course of litigation that could be adequately sanctioned under the [Federal] 10 Rules, the court ordinarily should rely on the Rules rather than the inherent power.” Id. at 50.
11 Imposition of sanctions using the court’s inherent powers must “be preceded by a finding of bad 12 faith, or conduct tantamount to bad faith.” Gomez v. Vernon, 255 F.3d 1118, 1134 (9th Cir.
13 2001) (citing Fink, 239 F.3d at 993).

14 The Court has reviewed the briefing and record in this matter and concludes that 15 imposing sanctions against Mr. Mazur using the Court’s inherent authority is not appropriate.
16 The Court agrees that Mr. Mazur’s failure to participate in the development of the initial 17 scheduling order, failure to provide timely initial disclosures, and failure to respond to Plaintiff’s 18 discovery requests caused hardship to Plaintiff. However, the Court finds the dilatory conduct 19 was not undertaken in bad faith and does not qualify as “conduct tantamount to bad faith.” Id.
20 The Court further finds that utilization of its inherent authority is unnecessary because Mr.
21 Mazur’s conduct either could have or has been adequately addressed under the Federal Rules.
22 Plaintiff could have sought sanctions against Mr. Mazur for his failure to participate in framing 23 the discovery plan under Rule 37(f). He did not. Plaintiff did obtain $2,500.00 in monetary 24 sanctions against Mr. Mazur for his failure to respond to discovery requests.¹ Subsequent to the 25 monetary sanctions, GMS obtained new counsel, a new discovery plan was entered, and, in fact, 26

27 ¹ Additionally, Mr. Mazur’s former client GMS was ordered to provide responses to the outstanding 28 discovery and deemed to have waived all objections. GMS was also ordered to provide its Rule 26(a) disclosures. See Min. of Proceedings (#39).

1 a second amended complaint was filed.²

2 Moreover, the Court has reviewed the affidavit submitted by Plaintiff's counsel outlining 3 the 48.8 hours of work performed prior to the filing of this motion. The vast majority of the 4 claimed fees have, at best, a tangential relationship to Mr. Mazur's conduct in this case. Many of 5 the entries represent work which would normally have to be undertaken during the normal course 6 of litigation. For example, Mr. Mazur's discovery failures were not the impetus for the time and 7 effort spent by Plaintiff to investigate and file his complaint, respond to a motion to dismiss, 8 interact with counsel for other defendants, provide written discovery and review discovery 9 responses from other parties, participate in depositions, or schedule a settlement conference.
10 Indeed, of the 47 entries listed by Plaintiff's counsel in his fee affidavit, only entries 10, 17, 18, 11 21, 22, 23, and 24 could credibly be attributed to Mr. Mazur's discovery failures, totaling 9.3
12 hours.³

13 2. Rule 16(f)

14 Although the Court will not impose sanctions using its inherent authority, it does find that 15 there is good cause to impose sanctions under Rule 16(f) for Mr. Mazur's failure to appear at two 16 separate show cause hearings. Rule 16(f) provides that "[o]n motion or on its own, the court may 17 issue any just orders, including those authorized by Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(ii)-(vii), if a party or its 18 attorney: (A) fails to appear at a scheduling or other pretrial conference . . . or (C) fails to obey a 19 scheduling order or other pretrial order." Regardless of whether sanctions are imposed under 20 Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(ii)-(vii), "the court must order the party, its attorney, or both to pay the 21 reasonable expenses—including attorney's fees—incurred because of any noncompliance with this 22 rule." See Fed. R. Civ. P. 16(f)(2).

24 ² The Court also disagrees with Plaintiff's counsel's suggestion that Mr. Mazur's discovery failures 25 and non-responsiveness eliminated "any possibility to realistically and reasonably settle this case at a nascent 26 stage." GMS has never been under any obligation to settle this case. GMS is entitled to defend itself all the 27 way through trial if it wishes. It also appears as though GMS was willing to entertain settlement at least as 28 early as October 13, 2011, when Mr. Mazur improperly filed an offer of judgment, which, at minimum, very clearly indicated a monetary settlement amount.

³ This is not to suggest that the Court believes the hours expended were reasonable, only that the tasks performed relate to Mr. Mazur's discovery failures. It is the undersigned's view that Entries 19, 20, 29, and 30 were entirely unnecessary.

1 GMS' counsel, Mr. Mazur, did not appear at the March 13, 2012, hearing on Plaintiff's 2 motion to compel. See Mins. of Proceedings (#39). As a result, the Court issued an order for 3 Mr. Mazur to show cause regarding his failure to appear. Plaintiff's counsel personally appeared 4 but Mr. Mazur did not personally attend. Mr. Mazur did call in and, although the call was not 5 authorized by the Court, was permitted to participate in the hearing telephonically. Nevertheless, 6 because Mr. Mazur failed to personally appear the Court issued a second order to show cause.
7 Inexplicably, Mr. Mazur failed to appear for this second hearing. Fortunately, GMS did attend 8 with substitute counsel.

9 In defense of his multiple failures to appear, Mr. Mazur asserts that he was victim of 10 subterfuge by his own employees. Even if true, the alleged subterfuge does not justify the failure 11 to appear. In addition to both orders to show cause being mailed to his office, Mr. Mazur was 12 given electronic notice of both hearings at the email address he provided to the Court. What is 13 more, at the hearing on the first order to show cause, Mr. Mazur was specifically admonished 14 that a second order to show cause would issue. That he failed to appear at the second hearing 15 despite having been specifically told there would be second hearing is, to put it mildly, 16 inexcusable. The undersigned is not unsympathetic to the alleged subterfuge, but, ultimately, it is 17 counsel who bears responsibility for his own conduct and the conduct of his staff.

18 Accordingly, the Court will grant Plaintiff attorney fees under rule 16(f) for his 19 appearance and participation in the two hearings on the orders to show cause. The Court has 20 reviewed the fee affidavit submitted by counsel and finds that entries 22, 24, 27, 29, 30, and 31
21 are the only entries that specifically relate to the Mr. Mazur's failures to appear at the scheduled 22 hearings. The Court finds that entry number 29 (drafting motion to require U.S. Marshal to bring 23 Mr. Mazur to the scheduled hearing (#47)) and entry number 30, which apparently pertains to 24 Plaintiff's counsel's review of the Court's order denying motion (#47), were entirely 25 unnecessary. The Court will limit recovery for time spent reviewing the actual orders to show 26 cause .1 hours for each order. The Court will also limit recovery for time spent traveling to and 27 participating in the show cause hearings to 1 hour of compensable time. Since Plaintiff's 28 counsel's request for impositions of sanctions pursuant to the Court's inherent power is denied,

1 the Court will not award fees for preparation of the motion. The fees awarded in this matter are 2 awarded pursuant to Rule 16(f) and entered sua sponte, not in conjunction with any specific 3 request. Thus, the Court finds that Plaintiff is entitled to fees for 2.3 hours of time expended 4 relating to Mr. Mazur's failures to appear at the hearings to show cause. The Court will use the 5 previously unopposed rate of $500.00 per hour.

6 Based on the foregoing and good cause appearing therefore,

7 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Plaintiff's Motion for Attorney Fees (#73) is denied.

8 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that sanctions are entered against Mr. Mazur under Rule 9 16(f) in the amount of $1,150.00. Payment is due within thirty (30) days receipt of this order.

10 DATED this 22nd day of October, 2012.
