UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURTDISTRICT OF NEVADA

Dustin J. Sansoucie,

Plaintiff

v.

Jerry Howell, et al.,

Defendants

Case No.: 2:19-cv-01810-JAD-BNW

Order Screening Complaint and Granting Application to Proceed in Forma Pauperis

[ECF No. 1]

Plaintiff Dustin J. Sansoucie brings this civil-rights action for an incident at the Southern Desert Correctional Center (SDCC) where he alleges his pleas for help were ignored for hours after he swallowed a razor blade. He sues various correctional officers (COs) and state officials under state law and 42 U.S.C. § 1983, claiming that their deliberate indifference to his medical needs violated the Eighth Amendment. Because Sansoucie applies to proceed in forma pauperis,¹ I screen his complaint under 28 U.S.C. § 1915A. I find that he has not alleged a colorable Eighth Amendment claim and I dismiss it with prejudice because it is clear that amendment would be futile. And because his only remaining state-law claim is barred in this court by the Eleventh Amendment, I dismiss it without prejudice and without leave to amend.

Background²

In 2019, Sansoucie tried to kill himself by swallowing a razor blade while in custody at the SDCC.³ That night, he told CO Arias⁴ that he was suicidal, had already swallowed the blade,

1 and needed help.⁵ But instead helping, Arias laughed him off, telling him he would have to 2 prove that he had swallowed the blade.⁶ When Sansoucie couldn't meet Arias's demands, Arias
3 walked away.⁷ Once Sansoucie realized that nobody else was coming to help him, he started 4 yelling for help.⁸ A different CO responded, but Sansoucie was again laughed off when he 5 couldn't prove to that unnamed CO that he had swallowed a blade.⁹ Sansoucie continued to yell
6 "man down" until he fell asleep.¹⁰

7 The next morning when he woke up, Sansoucie told different COs about the incident, but 8 was again met with inaction.¹¹ Sansoucie fell back asleep before waking up hours later for 9 dinner.¹² This time when he told the final CO about his situation, he was taken to see medical 10 professionals, who determined that he had swallowed a blade and operated on him to remove it.¹³
11 The situation left Sansoucie with a sense of worthlessness, and he was placed on suicide watch 12 upon his return to prison.¹⁴

13 Sansoucie now sues an unnamed CO, COs Arias and Jerry Howell, Nevada Department 14 of Corrections Director James Dzurenda, Attorney General Aaron Ford, and Governor Steve 15 Sisolak—in their official capacities—for “direct neglect” (claim 1) and “willful indifference”

1 (claim 2).¹⁵ Based on his allegations, I interpret them as claims for state-law negligence and 2 Eighth Amendment deliberate indifference to serious medical needs.

3 I. Screening standard

4 Federal courts must conduct a preliminary screening in any case in which a prisoner
5 seeks redress from a governmental entity or an officer or employee of a governmental entity.¹⁶

6 In its review, the court must identify any cognizable claims and dismiss any claims that are 7 frivolous or malicious, or that fail to state a claim upon which relief may be granted or seek 8 monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief.¹⁷ All or part of the complaint
9 may be dismissed sua sponte if the prisoner's claims lack an arguable basis in law or fact. This 10 includes claims based on legal conclusions that are untenable, like claims against defendants who 11 are immune from suit or claims of infringement of a legal interest which clearly does not exist, 12 and claims based on fanciful factual allegations or fantastic or delusional scenarios.¹⁸

13 Dismissal for failure to state a claim is proper only if it is clear that the plaintiff cannot 14 prove any set of facts in support of the claim that would entitle him or her to relief.¹⁹ In making 15 this determination, the court takes all allegations of material fact as true and construes them in 16 the light most favorable to the plaintiff.²⁰ Allegations of a pro se complainant are held to less 17 stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers,²¹ but a plaintiff must provide more

1 than mere labels and conclusions.²² “While legal conclusions can provide the framework of a 2 complaint, they must be supported with factual allegations.”²³ “Determining whether a 3 complaint states a plausible claim for relief . . . [is] a context-specific task that requires the 4 reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common sense.”²⁴

5 II. Screening of the complaint

6 A. Deliberate indifference to serious medical needs

7 The Eighth Amendment prohibits prison officials from acting with “deliberate 8 indifference” to an inmate’s serious medical needs.²⁵ This claim requires a plaintiff to prove 9 “that the deprivation was serious enough to constitute cruel and unusual punishment” and 10 deliberate indifference.²⁶ To establish deliberate indifference, the plaintiff must show both “a 11 purposeful act or failure to respond to a prisoner’s pain or possible medical need” and that he 12 was harmed by the indifference.”²⁷ “Indifference may appear when prison officials deny, 13 delay[,] or intentionally interfere with medical treatment”²⁸ But when a prisoner alleges 14 that his medical treatment was delayed, he must show that the delay led to further injury.²⁹

15 Sansoucie’s allegation that he was left without medical care after alerting prison officials 16 to his need is insufficient to state a colorable deliberate-indifference-to-serious-medical-needs

17
18 ²² Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007).

25 ²⁹ See Shapley v. Nevada Bd. of State Prison Comm’rs, 766 F.2d 404, 407 (9th Cir. 1985) (holding that “mere delay of surgery, without more, is insufficient to state a claim of deliberate medical indifference”).

1 claim because he has not shown he was physically injured from the delay in care. Although he 2 claims that the COs intentionally failed to respond, he has not alleged that he was physically 3 harmed by this indifference. Instead he alleges that, although he eventually received medical 4 care to remove the blade, the officers' lack of care and harsh attitudes beforehand left him
5 "mentally distraught."³⁰ Based on a liberal construction of these facts, Sansoucie cannot state a 6 claim for deliberate indifference because he was not harmed by the indifference and any harm he 7 did suffer was emotional, which he cannot recover for under § 1983.³¹ So I dismiss Sansoucie's
8 Eighth Amendment claim with prejudice because amendment would be futile.³²

9 B. Negligence claim

10 In his remaining claim for relief, Sansoucie reiterates a near-identical claim under the title 11 "direct neglect." As I noted above, Sansoucie's lack of injury from the delay in care dooms his 12 deliberate-indifference claim. But if this is instead a state-law negligence claim, the Eleventh 13 Amendment bars him from bringing it in this court. Sansoucie has sued the defendants in their 14 official capacities, which is essentially a suit against their office and not against them as 15 individuals.³³ While Nevada has waived sovereign immunity for tort claims in the state court 16

18 ³⁰ ECF No. 1-1 at 8.

19 ³¹ See 42 U.S.C. § 1997e (providing that "[n]o Federal civil action may be brought by a prisoner 20 confined in a jail, prison, or other correctional facility, for mental or emotional injury suffered 21 while in custody without a prior showing of physical injury"); Oliver v. Keller, 289 F.3d 22 623, 627 (9th Cir. 2002) (holding that 42 U.S.C. § 1997e requires a prior showing of physical 23 injury that need not be significant but must be more than de minimis"). It is likely that any physical harm Sansoucie could allege would be de minimus because he alleges that he could yell, eat, and sleep after swallowing the blade and received surgery shortly thereafter.

³² Given that Sansoucie named the defendants in their official capacities only, the Eleventh Amendment would also bar his Eighth Amendment claim under § 1983. See Will v. Michigan Dep't of State Police, 491 U.S. 58, 71 (1989).

³³ Hafer v. Melo, 502 U.S. 21, 25 (1991) (citing Kentucky v. Graham, 473 U.S. 159, 166 (1985)).

1 subject to certain restrictions, it has not waived its immunity under the Eleventh Amendment.³⁴
2 Because Sansoucie cannot bring an official-capacity suit against the defendants in this court, I
3 dismiss his state-law claims, without prejudice and without leave to amend.³⁵ If Sansoucie 4 wishes to bring his state-law claims against the state employees, he must file them in state court.

5 Conclusion

6 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Sansoucie's application to proceed in forma
7 pauperis without having to prepay the filing fee [ECF No. 1] is GRANTED.³⁶ Sansoucie need 8 not pay an initial installment fee, prepay fees or costs, or provide security for fees or costs, but he 9 is still required to pay the full $350 filing fee under 28 U.S.C. § 1915, as amended. This full 10 filing fee remains due and owing even though this case is being dismissed.

11 In order to ensure that Sansoucie pays the full filing fee, IT IS FURTHER ORDERED 12 that the Nevada Department of Corrections must pay to the Clerk of the United States District 13 Court, District of Nevada, 20% of the preceding month's deposits to the account of Dustin J.
14 Sansoucie, #1206161 (in months that the account exceeds $10.00) until the full $350 filing fee
15 has been paid for this action. The Clerk is directed to SEND a copy of this order to the attention 16 of Chief of Inmate Services for the Nevada Department of Prisons, P.O. Box 7011, Carson
17 City, NV 89702.

18 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Clerk of the Court is directed to FILE the 19 complaint (ECF No. 1-1) and send Sansoucie a courtesy copy.

20 _____
21 ³⁴ Nev. Rev. Stat. § 41.031.

22 ³⁵ See O'Connor v. State of Nev., 686 F.2d 749, 750 (9th Cir. 1982) (holding that "Nevada has 23 explicitly refused to waive its immunity to suit under the eleventh amendment . . . The Supreme Court has made it clear that section 1983 does not constitute an abrogation of the eleventh amendment immunity of the states").

³⁶ This order granting in forma pauperis status does not extend to the issuance or service of subpoenas at government expense.

1 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that:

- 2 • The Eighth Amendment deliberate-indifference-to-serious-medical-needs claim 3 (claim 2) is DISMISSED with prejudice and without leave to amend; and 4 • The state law negligence claim (claim 1) is DISMISSED without prejudice and 5 without leave to amend.

6 Because this dismissal leaves no claims open, IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the 7 Clerk of the Court is directed to CLOSE THIS CASE and ENTER JUDGMENT 8 accordingly.

9 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that I certify that any in forma pauperis appeal from this 10 order would not be taken “in good faith” under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3).
