Therefore, I assume you will try to hide behind Section 230 and claim that you can't be held liable for information provided by another. In many instances, I might agree with you. However, in the present case, the defamatory statements were not just made by another information content provider; they were made by you and TheDirty.com as well. Below the information provided by a third party appears your own defamatory comment: "Answer: No, I don't want to get infected." By joining the third party and confirming and validating the defamation stated above regarding Herpes, a court is very likely to find that you have waived your Section 230 protection.

Ms. Creighton would like to put this most unfortunate matter behind her. It has caused immense embarrassment and mental anguish and while she knows she is well justified in seeking money damages, she also is well aware of the pain and inconvenience that could be caused by a lengthy trial process. Therefore, she believes it is in everyone's best interest to simply attempt to reach a settlement at this juncture before filing suit. For the purpose of settlement and without waiving any right to file suit at a later date, Ms. Creighton offers to settle this matter for a total payment of $110,500.00, a letter of apology from you and the permanent removal of the defamatory post from TheDirty.com website. In exchange, Ms. Creighton will fully and completely disroiss all claims she may have against you, TheDirty.com and all other associated individuals.

This offer of settlement shall remain open until 5:00 PM Central Time, March 11, 2009, at which time it shall be automatically rescinded. If you care to discuss this matter, either you or your attorney should call me at your earliest convenience at [redacted] Thank you very much.

Rarely do I get an opportunity in my life to prove myself and show that I am as great as you think I am. There is a girl by the name of Kristen Creighton from Houston Texas who has chosen to extort me. I am proud to say that she is my Mona Lisa. I put up a post of her in Houston in which one of her friends outed Kristen Creighton for having HERPES. Kristen Creighton asked me to remove the post and like a true gentleman I did out of the kindness of my heart. Kristen Creighton decided to get a STD test and found out that the post about her was true. Kristen Creighton has HERPES. Now devastated Kristen Creighton decided to blame Nik Richie and sued me for her unprotected sex life. The funny thing is there was a court date in Texas which I was never told about. Not knowing about the case I didn't show up and she won because the case was uncontested. My lawyers inform me that if we showed up we would have won like we have every other time. Kristen Creighton you are about to become very famous and in a weird kinda way. I am going to make you the face of HERPES in America. DIRTY ARMY, do what you feel is right in your heart... I don't know? Maybe dirt on every friend, family member or Herpes infested lover Kristen Creighton has ever had? This is going to be fun... Congratulations Kristen Creighton, you are about to become the most famous person with HERPES who ever lived!

Not worth it in my book... says:
The likleyhood this girl will recieve one dime is very low, but her life is ruined over this. Even if the website closed in a year, by then Nik will have a field day with this girl. This might be the dumbest move of all time!!!!

Navin Johnson says:
The only way blowing $100k on something like this is a good investment is when it gets you a million dollars of free publicity. Get your publicist on the phone and push this story out to all the media outlets that will carry it, then jack up your ad rates to make up the difference once your traffic spikes. No such thing as bad publicity for you Nik, you live in that world. This is a great opportunity for you.
