No. 2:23-CV-00083-SAB

AMENDED ORDER DENYING MOTION TO DISMISS AFPA CLAIM

This Order amends the Court’s previous order at ECF No. 55. This Order denies Defendant Trout-Blue Chelan-MAGI’s Motion Dismiss at ECF No. 32, not ECF No. 31.

Before the Court is Defendant Trout-Blue Chelan-MAGI’s Motion to Dismiss, ECF No. 32. This dispute concerns Plaintiff Sundance Slope LLC’s desire to grow the patented SugarBee® apple variety (“SugarBee”), which is sublicensed by Defendant Trout-Blue Chelan-MAGI, LLC (“Chelan Fruit”). As detailed in Plaintiff’s Second Amended Complaint for Damages and for

AMENDED ORDER DENYING MOTION TO DISMISS AFPA CLAIM # 1

1 Declaratory Judgment, ECF No. 23, Chelan Fruit allegedly violated, among other
2 claims, the federal Agricultural Fair Practices Act of 1967 (“AFPA”) (7 U.S.C. § 3 2301 et seq.). The present motion seeks to dismiss Plaintiff’s AFPA claims against 4 Chelan Fruit. Based on the briefing and applicable law, the Court denies Chelan
5 Fruit’s partial motion to dismiss.

6 Factual Background

7 The following facts are drawn from Plaintiff’s Second Amended Complaint
8 for Damages and for Declaratory Judgment, ECF No. 23.

9 Plaintiff Sundance Slope, LLC (“Plaintiff”) is a company engaged in the 10 business of growing, processing, and selling apples. Defendant Trout-Blue Chelan-
11 MAGI, LLC, f/k/a Trout-Blue Chelan-MAGI, Inc., d/b/a (“Chelan Fruit”) is a 12 company principally engaged in the business of packing and shipping fruit. Former 13 association Trout-Blue Chelan-Magi, Inc. (“CFC”) was a cooperative association 14 organized under chapter 23.86 RCW (“CFC” signifies the entity prior to the 15 merger that later created Chelan Fruit). Plaintiff was a member of CFC at the time 16 it entered the contracts at issue. Chelan Fruit was formed by the sale and merger of 17 CFC and its assets by International Farming Corporation, LLC (“IFC”) in 18 December 2021. Plaintiff was a member of the cooperative prior to the alleged 19 conversion. Chelan Fruit sublicenses the right to grow certain exclusive fruit 20 varieties.

21 Non-party Regal Fruit International LLC (“Regal”) holds a license to a 22 patented apple variety commonly known as SugarBee. Regal sublicensed the rights 23 to grow and market SugarBee to Chelan Fruit and to non-party Gebbers Farms.
24 Chelan Fruit was able to further sublicense the right to grow SugarBee to growers 25 who contracted with Chelan Fruit.

26 In 2020, Plaintiff submitted applications to CFC for the right to grow the 27 SugarBee varietal under a sublicense from CFC. CFC’s Board granted at least 28 some of the applications which allowed Plaintiff to grow the SugarBee varietal

1 (collectively referred to as the “CFC Sublicense”). In 2020, Plaintiff signed 2 agreements with CFC connected to approximately 16,000 SugarBee trees under the 3 CFC Sublicense. In reliance on the CFC Board’s approval, Plaintiff purchased 4 additional acreage to produce the SugarBee varietal and, in 2020, removed all 5 other fruit from its orchards to grow only the SugarBee varietal.

6 As Plaintiff prepared to produce the SugarBee varietal apple, Plaintiff
7 alleges that Chelan Fruit presented Plaintiff with “side letters” which proposed 8 different terms than those in the CFC Sublicense approved by the CFC Board.
9 When Plaintiff did not agree to these new terms, Chelan Fruit allegedly diverted 10 28,500 SugarBee varietal trees that Plaintiff had contracted to purchase pursuant to 11 its approval by the CFC Board to an IFC affiliate. After subsequent alleged 12 coercions and intimidations by Chelan Fruit, Plaintiff provided a notice of 13 termination of its Sales Marketing Contract on February 28, 2023. Plaintiff further 14 alleges that Chelan Fruit threatened to remove Plaintiff’s SugarBee varietals and 15 seek treble damages for infringement if Plaintiff did not deliver an additional 23.5
16 acres of an acceptable alternate variety. According to Plaintiff, the contracts 17 Chelan Fruit sought to bind Plaintiff to are a cooperative marketing agreement, its 18 dependent sublicenses, and amendments and replacements of the same.

19 From this dispute, Plaintiff alleges two instances of conduct by Chelan Fruit
20 that purportedly violated the AFPA. Plaintiff alleges that Chelan Fruit (1) 21 attempted to coerce Plaintiff into signing or complying with “side letters” with 22 Chelan Fruit for SugarBee varietal apples, and (2) attempted to coerce Plaintiff into 23 not moving its business to Gebbers Farms.

24 Chelan Fruit argues Plaintiff was in breach because it had not signed a 25 sublicense enforcing Chelan Fruit’s own subcontracts. Plaintiff disagrees with this 26 characterization. Plaintiff alleges that Chelan Fruit injured it when 28,500 27 SugarBee trees were diverted to another producer, depriving Plaintiff of multiple 28 years’ profits and causing Plaintiff to incur substantial reliance damages. Plaintiff

1 further alleges that Chelan Fruit’s response to Plaintiff’s termination of its Sales
2 Marketing Contract with CFC threatened additional injury if Plaintiff did not 3 comply with Chelan Fruit’s “side letter” demands. Among other allegations, 4 Plaintiff alleges Chelan Fruit violated the AFPA.

5 In the present motion, Chelan Fruit argues that (1) the AFPA is inapplicable
6 and (2) Plaintiff has not alleged any cognizable AFPA violation. Chelan Fruit
7 states that neither of Plaintiffs alleged AFPA violations are legally viable claims 8 because the dispute had nothing to do with Plaintiff’s freedom of choice about 9 whether or not to join a cooperative which Chelan Fruit argues is the applicable
10 function of the AFPA. Chelan Fruit goes on to state that Plaintiff’s AFPA claim 11 also fails because it does not plausibly allege any form of statutory violation, 12 because the Second Amended Complaint contains no factual allegations that 13 Plaintiff was coerced by Chelan Fruit into doing anything.

14 Plaintiff replies they properly pled an AFPA claim. Plaintiff argues that the 15 statute’s mission is to prohibit intimidation against a producer’s free choice when 16 contracting with associations and handlers. Plaintiff goes on to state that the 17 alleged facts pled in the Second Amended Complaint, when accepted as true, allow 18 a reasonable inference to support a legally viable claim under the AFPA.

19 Legal Standard

20 An amended complaint must contain “a short and plain statement of the 21 claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). Rule 22 12(b)(6) allows a party to move for dismissal if the plaintiff has failed to state a 23 claim upon which relief can be granted. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). Dismissal under 24 this rule is only proper if there is either a “lack of a cognizable legal theory” or 25 “the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory.” Taylor v.
26 Yee, 780 F.3d 928, 935 (9th Cir. 2015); Balistreri v. Pacifica Police Dep’t, 901
27 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1990). When considering a 12(b)(6) motion, the court 28 accepts the allegations in the complaint as true and construes the pleading in the 1 light most favorable to the party opposing the motion. Lazy Y Ranch Ltd. v.

2 Behrens, 546 F.3d 580, 588 (9th Cir. 2008). However, this does not require the 3 Court “to accept as true legal conclusions couched as factual allegations.” Parents
4 for Privacy v. Barr, 949 F.3d 1210, 1221 (9th Cir. 2020).

5 To survive a motion to dismiss, the plaintiff must allege “enough facts to 6 state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550
7 U.S. 544, 570 (2007); see also Levitt v. Yelp!, Inc., 765 F.3d 1123, 1135 (9th Cir.
8 2014) (requirements of notice pleading are met if plaintiff makes a short and plain 9 statement of their claims). A claim is plausible on its face when “the plaintiff 10 pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that 11 the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 12 678 (2009). The allegations must be enough to raise the right to relief above a 13 speculative level. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555. It is not enough that a claim for relief 14 be merely “possible” or “conceivable;” instead, it must be “plausible on its face.”
15 Id. at 556.

16 Applicable Law

17 “Congress enacted the [] (AFPA) to rectify a perceived imbalance in 18 bargaining position between producers and processors.” Mich. Cannery & Freezers
19 Ass’n v. Agric. Mktg. & Bargaining Bd., 467 U.S. 461, 464 (1984). The AFPA 20 intends to protect agricultural producers’ rights to choose whether or not to join an 21 association of producers (commonly referred to as an agricultural cooperative) and 22 from coercion by associations of producers. Id. at 473-474 and 464. The AFPA 23 applies to conduct which allowed producer’s associations to “wield the power to 24 coerce producers to sell their products according to terms established by the 25 association.” Id. at 477.

26 The AFPA outlines and prohibits multiple unfair practices. The AFPA 27 makes it unlawful for any handler knowingly to engage or permit any employee or 28 agent to “coerce or intimidate any producer to enter into, maintain, breach, cancel,

1 or terminate a ... marketing contract with an association of producers or a contract
2 with a handler.” 7 U.S.C. § 2303(c). Under the AFPA, “coerce” should be given 3 “its ordinary and natural meaning” and that “pressure is not the same as coercion.”
4 Bybee Farms, LLC v. Snake River Sugar Co., 563 F. Supp. 2d 1184, 1196 (E.D.
5 Wash. 2008).

6 Discussion

7 Chelan Fruit’s Partial Motion to Dismiss is dismissed.

8 When considering the pleadings in the light most favorable to Plaintiff, 9 Plaintiff has connected their allegations with enough facts that could be plausible
10 on their face. Plaintiff linked their alleged injury of the lost 28,500 SugarBee 11 varietal trees to Defendants’ alleged 7 U.S.C. § 2303(c) AFPA violations. At this 12 early stage, this dispute will require further inquiry and fact finding as to the events 13 surrounding the various contracting between Plaintiff and Defendants and the 14 nature of the alleged coercion and intimidation. Therefore, due to Plaintiff’s 15 plausible linkages between their assertions and alleged facts in the Second 16 Amended Complaint, the Court denies Chelan Fruit’s Partial Motion to Dismiss.

17 Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

18 1. Defendant Chelan Fruit’s Partial Motion to Dismiss, ECF No. 32, is 19 DENIED.

20 2. This Order amends the Court’s Order at ECF No. 55.

21 IT IS SO ORDERED. The District Court Executive is hereby directed to 22 file this Order and provide copies to counsel.

23 DATED this 16th day of January 2024.
