UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON AT SEATTLE

GS HOLISTIC, LLC,

Plaintiff,

v.

THE SPOT SMOKE SHOP, LLC, et al.,

Defendants.

CASE NO. C23-0318JLR

ORDER

I. INTRODUCTION

Before the court is Plaintiff GS Holistic, LLC’s (“GS Holistic”) motion for entry of default judgment against Defendants The Spot Smoke Shop, LLC d/b/a The Spot Smoke Shop (“The Spot Smoke Shop”) and Haitham Almaamar (together, “Defendants”). (Mot. (Dkt. # 17); see Prop. Judgment (Dkt. # 17-3).) Neither Defendant has appeared in this action, and the Clerk has entered default against both Defendants. (5/31/23 Entry of Default (Dkt. # 10); 8/31/23 Entry of Default (Dkt. # 15).) The court

1 has considered GS Holistic’s motion, the materials it submitted in support of its motion, 2 the relevant portions of the record, and the governing law. Being fully advised, the court
3 GRANTS in part and DENIES in part GS Holistic’s motion for entry of default 4 judgment.

5 II. BACKGROUND

6 GS Holistic is a Delaware limited liability corporation (“LLC”) that has its 7 principal place of business in California. (Compl. (Dkt. # 1) ¶ 4.) It alleges that it is the 8 owner of the “Stündenglass” trademark, has worked to distinguish the Stündenglass 9 brand as “the premier manufacturer of glass infusers,” and has devoted significant time 10 and resources to promoting and protecting its trademark. (Id. ¶¶ 4, 7-9, 14.) GS Holistic 11 has registered the following trademarks: (1) U.S. Trademark Registration No. 6,633,884 12 “for the standard character mark ‘Stündenglass’ in association with goods further 13 identified in registration in international class 011”; (2) U.S. Trademark Registration No.
14 6,174,292 “for the design plus words mark ‘S’ and its logo in association with goods 15 further identified in the registration in international class 034”; and (3) U.S. Trademark 16 Registration No. 6,174,291 “for the standard character mark ‘Stündenglass’ in association 17 with goods further identified in registration in international class 034” (together, the 18 “Stündenglass Marks”). (Id. ¶ 10; see also Mot., Ex. A (screenshots of pages from the 19 United States Patent and Trademark Office’s Trademark Electronic Search System that 20 describe each trademark).) GS Holistic asserts that consumers are willing to pay more 21 for “the recognized quality and innovation associated with the Stündenglass Marks.” 22

1 (Compl. ¶ 20.) Thus, genuine Stündenglass glass infusers are priced at $599.95, while 2 non-Stündenglass infusers sell for between $199.00 and $600.00. (Id.)

3 Defendant The Spot Smoke Shop is a Washington corporation that has its 4 principal place of business in Washington. (Id. ¶ 5.) Defendant Haitham Almaamar is a 5 resident and citizen of Washington. (Id. ¶ 6.) GS Holistic asserts that Defendants sold 6 counterfeit products bearing the Stündenglass Marks. (Id. ¶¶ 24-27.) On December 11, 7 2022, according to GS Holistic, its investigator visited The Spot Smoke Shop’s location; 8 observed that the shop had “an excess” of glass infusers that displayed the Stündenglass 9 Marks; purchased a glass infuser “with a Stündenglass Mark affixed to it” for $605.55; 10 and determined the glass infuser was a counterfeit product that displayed “the Infringing 11 Marks.” (Id. ¶ 29; see also id. ¶ 25 (defining the “Infringing Marks” as “reproductions, 12 counterfeits, copies, and/or colorable imitations of one or more of the Stündenglass 13 Marks”).)

14 GS Holistic filed its complaint on March 6, 2023. (See id. at 1.) It alleges claims 15 under the Lanham Act against both Defendants for counterfeiting and trademark 16 infringement in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1114 and for false designation of origin and 17 unfair competition in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a). (Id. ¶¶ 51-68.) Among other 18 relief, it seeks damages, costs of suit, a permanent injunction prohibiting Defendants 19 from continuing to infringe its Stündenglass trademarks, and an order requiring 20 Defendants to deliver all infringing products to GS Holistic for destruction. (Id. at 21 12-14.)
22

1 GS Holistic served Mr. Almaamar on April 7, 2023, and The Spot Smoke Shop on 2 June 2, 2023. (See Service Affs. (Dkt. ## 7, 13).) The Clerk entered default as to Mr.
3 Almaamar on May 31, 2023, and as to The Spot Smoke Shop on August 31, 2023.
4 (5/31/23 Entry of Default; 8/31/23 Entry of Default.) GS Holistic filed this motion for 5 entry of default judgment on October 31, 2023. (Mot.)

6 III. ANALYSIS

7 Below, the court sets forth the relevant legal standard and then evaluates GS 8 Holistic's motion for entry of default judgment.

9 A. Legal Standard

10 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(b)(2) authorizes the court to enter default 11 judgment against a defaulting defendant upon the plaintiff's motion. Fed. R. Civ. P.
12 55(a), (b)(2). After default is entered, well-pleaded factual allegations in the complaint, 13 except those related to damages, are considered admitted and are sufficient to establish a 14 defendant's liability. TeleVideo Sys., Inc. v. Heidenthal, 826 F.2d 915, 917-18 (9th Cir.
15 1987) (citing Geddes v. United Fin. Grp., 559 F.2d 557, 560 (9th Cir. 1977)).

16 Entry of default judgment is left to the court's sound discretion. Aldabe v. Aldabe, 17 616 F.2d 1089, 1092 (9th Cir. 1980). In exercising its discretion, the court considers 18 seven factors (the "Eitel factors"): (1) the possibility of prejudice to the plaintiff if relief 19 is denied; (2) the substantive merits of the plaintiff's claims; (3) the sufficiency of the 20 claims raised in the complaint; (4) the sum of money at stake in relationship to the 21 defendant's behavior; (5) the possibility of a dispute concerning material facts; 22 (6) whether default was due to excusable neglect; and (7) the preference for decisions on

1 the merits when reasonably possible. Eitel v. McCool, 782 F.2d 1470, 1471-72 (9th Cir.
2 1986). After the court determines that default judgment is appropriate, it must then 3 determine the amount and character of the relief that should be awarded. See TeleVideo, 4 826 F.2d at 917-18.

5 B. Whether the Eitel Factors Favor Default Judgment

6 The court preliminarily determines that default judgment is warranted in this case 7 because, on balance, the Eitel factors weigh in favor of such judgment. The court 8 discusses each factor in turn.

9 1. Possibility of Prejudice to Plaintiff

10 The first Eitel factor considers whether the plaintiff will suffer prejudice if default 11 judgment is not entered. See PepsiCo, Inc., v. Cal. Sec. Cans, 238 F. Supp. 2d 1172, 12 1177 (C.D. Cal. 2002). Without default judgment, GS Holistic will suffer prejudice 13 because it will “be denied the right to judicial resolution” of its claims and will be 14 “without other recourse for recovery.” Elektra Entm’t Grp. Inc. v. Crawford, 226 F.R.D.
15 388, 392 (C.D. Cal. 2005). Thus, the first Eitel factor weighs in favor of entering default 16 judgment.

17 2. Substantive Merits and Sufficiency of the Complaint

18 The second and third Eitel factors—the substantive merits of the plaintiff’s claim 19 and the sufficiency of the plaintiff’s complaint—are frequently analyzed together.
20 PepsiCo, 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1175. For these two factors to weigh in favor of default 21 judgment, the complaint’s allegations must be sufficient to state a claim for relief.
22 Danning v. Lavine, 572 F.2d 1386, 1388 (9th Cir. 1978). A complaint satisfies this

1 standard when it “contain[s] sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to 2 relief that is plausible on its face.’” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting
3 Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). At the default judgment 4 stage, the court “must take the well-pleaded factual allegations [in the complaint] as true” 5 but “necessary facts not contained in the pleadings, and claims which are legally 6 insufficient, are not established by default.” Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of N. Am., 980 F.2d 7 1261, 1267 (9th Cir. 1992).

8 GS Holistic alleges claims for trademark counterfeiting and infringement under 15 9 U.S.C. § 1114 and false designation of origin and unfair competition under 15 U.S.C.
10 § 1125(a). (Compl. ¶¶ 51-68.) The court reviews each in turn.

11 a. Trademark Counterfeiting and Infringement

12 To prove liability for trademark infringement, the trademark holder must 13 demonstrate: (1) “ownership of a valid mark (i.e., a protectable interest”); and (2) the 14 alleged infringer’s use of the mark “is likely to cause confusion, or to cause mistake, or to 15 deceive” consumers. Reno Air Racing Ass’n., v. McCord, 452 F.3d 1126, 1134 (9th Cir.
16 2006) (quoting KP Permanent Make-Up, Inc. v. Lasting Impression I, Inc., 408 F.3d 596, 17 602 (9th Cir. 2005)).

18 First, uncontested proof that the plaintiff has registered the mark is sufficient to 19 establish ownership of a valid mark. Pom Wonderful LLC v. Hubbard, 775 F.3d 1118, 20 1124 (9th Cir. 2014). Thus, because GS Holistic alleges that it registered the 21 Stündenglass Marks, it satisfies the first element of trademark infringement for the 22 purpose of default judgment. (Compl. ¶ 10.)

1 Second, “[l]ikelihood of confusion exists when consumers viewing the mark 2 would probably assume that the goods it represents are associated with the source of a 3 different product identified by a similar mark.” KP Permanent Make-Up, 408 F.3d at 4 608. Courts generally evaluate eight factors to determine whether confusion is likely: 5 “(1) the strength of the mark; 2) proximity or relatedness of the goods; 3) the similarity of 6 the marks; 4) evidence of actual confusion; 5) the marketing channels used; 6) the degree 7 of care customers are likely to exercise in purchasing the goods; 7) the defendant’s intent 8 in selecting the mark; and 8) the likelihood of expansion into other markets.” Id. Where 9 a defendant uses a counterfeit mark, however, courts both within and outside the Ninth 10 Circuit presume a likelihood of consumer confusion. See Coach, Inc. v. Pegasus Theater
11 Shops, No. C12-1631MJP, 2013 WL 5406220, at *3 (W.D. Wash. Sept. 25, 2013)
12 (compiling cases); see also Fendi Adele S.R.L. v. Burlington Coat Factory Warehouse 13 Corp., 689 F. Supp. 2d 585, 597 (S.D.N.Y. 2010) (“To find a likelihood of confusion, a 14 court need only determine that the items at issue are counterfeit and that the defendant 15 distributed, offered for sale, or sold the items.”). The Lanham Act defines a “counterfeit” 16 as “a spurious mark which is identical with, or substantially indistinguishable from, a 17 registered mark.” 15 U.S.C. § 1127.

18 Here, GS Holistic alleges that its investigator purchased a glass infuser with a 19 Stündenglass Mark “affixed” to it and determined that it was a counterfeit product that 20 displayed the “the Infringing Marks.” (Compl. ¶ 29.) GS Holistic further alleges that the 21 “Infringing Marks” are “reproductions, counterfeits, copies and/or colorable imitations of 22 one or more of the Stündenglass Marks.” (Id. ¶ 25.) Accordingly, the court concludes

1 that GS Holistic has sufficiently alleged that Defendants sold a product bearing a 2 counterfeit mark and, as a result, there is a presumption of consumer confusion. See 3 Coach, Inc., 2013 WL 5406220, at *3. Thus, because GS Holistic has demonstrated that 4 it owns a valid mark and that Defendants’ use of the mark is likely to cause consumer 5 confusion, the court concludes that GS Holistic has sufficiently alleged its trademark 6 counterfeiting and infringement claim.

7 b. False Designation of Origin

8 To show liability for false designation of origin, the plaintiff must show that the 9 defendant “(1) use[d] in commerce (2) any word, false designation of origin, false or 10 misleading description, or representation of fact, which (3) is likely to cause confusion or 11 misrepresents the characteristics of his or another person’s goods or services.” Freecycle
12 Network, Inc. v. Oey, 505 F.3d 898, 902 (9th Cir. 2007). As to the first two elements, GS 13 Holistic alleges that Defendants sold (and thus, used in commerce) at least one glass 14 infuser bearing at least one of its registered trademarks. (Compl. ¶¶ 28-29.) And the 15 court concluded above that GS Holistic has plausibly alleged a likelihood of confusion 16 resulting from Defendants’ use of the trademarks. Accordingly, GS Holistic has stated a 17 false designation of origin claim.

18 Because GS Holistic has demonstrated that its claims have substantive merit and 19 that it has sufficiently alleged those claims in its complaint, the court concludes that the 20 second and third Eitel factors weigh in favor of default judgment.

1 3. Sum of Money at Stake

2 Under the fourth Eitel factor, “the court must consider the amount of money at 3 stake in relation to the seriousness of the [d]efendant’s conduct.” PepsiCo, 238 F. Supp.
4 2d at 1176. Here, GS Holistic seeks (1) $150,000 in statutory damages—$50,000 per 5 Stündenglass trademark—for willful trademark counterfeiting under 15 U.S.C. § 1117(d) 6 and (2) costs in the amount of $1,262.55. (See Mot. at 2.) The court concludes that the 7 requested statutory damages and costs are not so unreasonable in relation to the conduct 8 alleged in the complaint as to weigh against entry of default judgment.

9 4. Possibility of a Dispute over Material Facts

10 “The fifth Eitel factor considers the possibility of dispute as to any material facts 11 in the case.” PepsiCo, 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1177. Where, as here, the defendant has 12 defaulted, the court must take all well-pleaded allegations in the complaint as true, except 13 those related to damages. TeleVideo, 826 F.2d at 917-18; see also Wecosign, Inc. v. IFG
14 Holdings, Inc., 845 F. Supp. 2d 1072, 1082 (C.D. Cal. 2012) (“Where a plaintiff has filed 15 a well-pleaded complaint, the possibility of dispute concerning material facts is 16 remote.”). Thus, the court concludes there is little risk of dispute over material facts and 17 the fifth Eitel factor weighs in favor of granting default judgment.

18 5. Excusable Neglect

19 The sixth Eitel factor considers the possibility that the defendant’s default resulted 20 from excusable neglect. PepsiCo, 238 F. Supp. 2d at 1177. Here, GS Holistic has 21 provided evidence that Defendants were properly served (see Service Affs.), and there is 22 no evidence in the record that Defendants’ failure to answer or respond is the result of 1 excusable neglect. Accordingly, the court concludes that the sixth Eitel factor weighs in 2 favor of default judgment.

3 6. Policy Favoring Decisions on the Merits

4 “Cases should be decided upon their merits whenever reasonably possible.” Eitel, 5 782 F.2d at 1472. Where, as here, a defendant fails to appear or defend itself in action, 6 however, the policy favoring decisions on the merits is not dispositive. PepsiCo, 238 F.
7 Supp. 2d at 1177. Therefore, the court concludes that the seventh Eitel factor does not 8 preclude entry of default judgment.

9 In sum, because the Eitel factors weigh in favor of default judgment, the court 10 concludes that entry of default judgment is warranted in favor of GS Holistic on its 11 claims against Defendants.

12 C. Requested Relief

13 The court now turns to the issue of remedies. “A default judgment must not differ 14 in kind from, or exceed in amount, what is demanded in the [complaint].” Fed. R. Civ. P.
15 54(c); see Fong v. United States, 300 F.2d 400, 413 (9th Cir. 1962). Defaulting 16 defendants are not deemed to have admitted the facts alleged in the complaint concerning 17 the amount of damages. TeleVideo, 826 F.2d at 917. Rather, the plaintiff “must ‘prove 18 up’ the amount of damages that it is claiming.” Philip Morris USA, Inc. v. Castworld 19 Prod., Inc., 219 F.R.D. 494, 501 (C.D. Cal. 2003); see also Local Rules W.D. Wash.

1 LCR 55(b)(2).¹ By analogy, plaintiffs must also “prove up” their entitlement to other 2 forms of relief, such as a permanent injunction. See Gucci Am., Inc. v. Tyrrell–Miller, 3 678 F. Supp. 2d 117, 120-21 (S.D.N.Y. 2008).

4 GS Holistic requests statutory damages, litigation costs, injunctive relief, and 5 destruction of the infringing products. (See Mot. at 11-14.) The court considers each 6 remedy below.

7 1. Statutory Damages

8 Under the Lanham Act, a plaintiff may elect whether to recover its actual damages 9 caused by the defendants’ use of a counterfeit mark or statutory damages. 15 U.S.C.
10 § 1117(c). GS Holistic has elected to seek statutory damages. (Mot. at 11-12; see 11 Compl. at 12-13 (including statutory damages in its prayer for relief).)

12 The court has discretion to award statutory damages between $1,000 and $200,000 13 “per counterfeit mark per type of goods or services sold, offered for sale, or distributed, 14 as the court considers just.” 15 U.S.C. § 1117(c)(1). If, however, the court finds that the 15 trademark violation was willful, it may award up to $2,000,000 for each infringement.
16 Id. § 1117(c)(2). “[S]tatutory damages may compensate the victim, penalize the

18 ¹ This court’s Local Civil Rules require plaintiffs to support a motion for default judgment with:

19 a declaration and other evidence establishing [the] plaintiff’s entitlement to a sum 20 certain and to any nonmonetary relief sought. [The] [p]laintiff shall provide a 21 concise explanation of how all amounts were calculated, and shall support this explanation with evidence establishing the entitlement to and amount of the principal claim, and, if applicable, any liquidated damages, interest, attorney’s fees, or other amounts sought[.]

22 Local Rules W.D. Wash. LCR 55(b)(2).

2 | Redbubble, Inc., 75 F.4th 995, 1008 (9th Cir. 2023) (citing Nintendo of Am., Inc. v.
3 | Dragon Pac. Int’l, 40 F.3d 1007, 1011 (9th Cir. 1994)). When determining the 4 | appropriate amount of statutory damages to award on default judgment, courts consider
5 | whether the amount bears a “plausible relationship to [the p]laintiff’s actual damages.”
6 | Yelp Inc. v. Catron, 70 F. Supp. 3d 1082, 1102 (N.D. Cal. 2014) (quoting Adobe Sys., Inc.
7 | v. Tilley, No. C 09-1085 PJH, 2010 WL 309249, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 19, 2010)). That
8 | is, although a plaintiff in a trademark infringement suit is entitled to damages that will
9 | compensate and serve as a deterrent, “it is not entitled to a windfall.” Id.

10 | GS Holistic requests statutory damages of $50,000 for each of its registered
11 | trademarks, for a total of $150,000. (Mot. at 11-12.) GS Holistic’s evidence of its actual
12 | damages caused by Defendants’ trademark violations, however, is limited to allegations
13 | that its investigator observed “an excess of Glass Infusers which displayed” the 14 | Stündenglass Marks and purchased a single glass infuser with an unspecified
15 | Stündenglass Mark “affixed to it” for $605.55. (See Compl. ¶ 29.) GS Holistic contends
16 | that its chief executive officer’s (“CEO”) declaration establishes that $150,000 is “only a
17 | fraction of the actual losses to its business” caused by counterfeiters. (Mot. at 12.) That
18 | declaration, however, provides no explanation of how GS Holistic’s CEO determined that
19 | the company’s total U.S. sales would have quadrupled in 2021 if there were no
20 | counterfeit products in the market and it says absolutely nothing about the damages
21 | specifically caused by the Defendants in this case. (See generally 2d Folkerts Decl. (Dkt.
22 | # 19) ¶¶ 15-16.) The court is sympathetic to the difficulties GS Holistic faces in

1 estimating actual damages with any degree of certainty without the benefit of 2 Defendants' cooperation in discovery. (See Mot. at 12.) Without more evidence, 3 however, the court cannot conclude that an award of $50,000 in statutory damages for 4 each of GS Holistic's three registered trademarks bears a "plausible relationship" to GS 5 Holistic's actual damages. Yelp Inc., 70 F. Supp. 3d at 1102.

6 Because GS Holistic alleges only that the glass infuser its investigator purchased 7 had "a Stündenglass Mark affixed to it" (Compl. ¶ 29), the court concludes that GS 8 Holistic is entitled to statutory damages based on Defendants' conduct with respect to 9 only one trademark. The court further concludes, in its discretion, that an award of 10 $5,000 for one trademark violation will serve the compensatory, penal, and deterrent 11 purposes of statutory damages without resulting in an undue windfall for GS Holistic.
12 This amount equates to more than eight times the price of the allegedly infringing glass 13 infuser purchased by GS Holistic's investigator. (See id.) Accordingly, the court awards 14 GS Holistic statutory damages of $5,000.

15 2. Litigation Costs

16 Under the Lanham Act, a plaintiff who establishes that a defendant has violated a 17 trademark "shall be entitled, . . . subject to the principles of equity, to recover . . . the 18 costs of the action." 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a). Here, GS Holistic seeks costs in the total 19 amount of $965.27, consisting of the filing fee ($402.00), its process server fees 20 ($190.00), and its investigator's fees ($670.55). (Mot. at 13 (citing Harris Decl. (Dkt.
21 # 20) ¶ 6); see Compl. at 12-13 (including costs of suit in its prayer for relief.) The court 22 awards GS Holistic its filing fee and process server fees because these are costs that are

1 routinely awarded in Lanham Act cases. GS Holistic has not, however, cited any 2 authority for the proposition that its investigator’s fees are recognized “costs of the 3 action” under the Lanham Act. (See generally Mot.) Therefore, the court awards GS 4 Holistic costs in the amount of $592.00.

5 3. Injunctive Relief

6 The Lanham Act empowers courts “to grant injunctions, according to the 7 principles of equity and upon such terms as the court may deem reasonable, to prevent 8 the violation of any right of the registrant of a mark.” 15 U.S.C. § 1116(a).

9 According to well-established principles of equity, a plaintiff seeking a 10 permanent injunction must satisfy a four-factor test before a court may grant 11 such relief. A plaintiff must demonstrate: (1) that it has suffered an 12 irreparable injury; (2) that remedies available at law, such as monetary 13 damages, are inadequate to compensate for that injury; (3) that, considering 14 the balance of hardships between the plaintiff and defendant, a remedy in 15 equity is warranted; and (4) that the public interest would not be disserved 16 by a permanent injunction.

17 eBay Inc. v. MercExchange, L.L.C., 547 U.S. 388, 391 (2006) (interpreting similar 18 language in considering a motion for permanent injunctive relief under the Patent Act).

19 The Lanham Act provides, in the case of a motion for a permanent injunction, that a 20 “plaintiff seeking any such injunction shall be entitled to a rebuttable presumption of 21 irreparable harm upon a finding of a [trademark] violation.” 15 U.S.C. § 1116(a).

22 GS Holistic asks the court to enter the following permanent injunction enjoining
The Spot Smoke Shop, Mr. Almaamar, and “their agents, employees, officers, directors, owners, representatives, successor companies, related companies, and all persons acting in concern or participation with it” from:

1 (a) Import, export, making, manufacture, reproduction, assembly, use, 2 acquisition, purchase, offer, sale, transfer, brokerage, consignment,
3 distribution, storage, shipment, licensing, development, display, delivery, 4 marketing advertising or promotion of the counterfeit Stündenglass product identified in the complaint and any other unauthorized Stündenglass product, counterfeit, copy or colorful imitation thereof; [and]

5 (b) Assisting, aiding or attempting to assist or aid any other person or entity 6 in performing any of the prohibited activities referred to in Paragraph[]
(a) above.

7 (Mot. at 13-14; see also Prop. Judgment.)

8 The court declines to enter the requested permanent injunction. First, GS Holistic 9 argues only that it is entitled to injunctive relief “[b]y the reasons explained in [its] 10 Complaint.” (Mot. at 13.) It does not address the factors a court must consider before 11 entering a permanent injunction. (See id.); see eBay Inc., 547 U.S. at 391. Second, the 12 injunction GS Holistic seeks now is broader than the injunction outlined in its complaint, 13 which does not include an injunction against “[a]ssisting, aiding or attempting to assist or 14 aid” others against performing the actions listed in part (a) of the proposed injunction.
15 (Compare Compl. at 13, with Prop. Judgment at 2.) Third, although GS Holistic’s 16 complaint describes the sale of one counterfeit Stündenglass glass infuser displaying one 17 unspecified Stündenglass Mark, it requests a wider injunction relating to “the counterfeit 18 Stündenglass product identified in the complaint and any other unauthorized 19 Stündenglass product.” (Compare Compl. ¶ 29, with Prop. Judgment at 2.) Finally, 20 “every order granting an injunction” must “describe in reasonable detail—and not by 21 referring to the complaint or other document—the act or acts restrained or required.” 22 Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(d). GS Holistic’s proposed order violates this rule by referring to “the 1 counterfeit Stündenglass product identified in the complaint.” (See Prop. Judgment at 2.)

2 For these reasons, the court denies GS Holistic’s request that it enter a permanent 3 injunction.

4 4. Destruction of Infringing Products

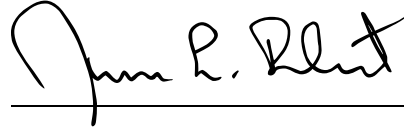

5 Finally, GS Holistic seeks an order directing Defendants, “at their cost, [to] deliver 6 to [GS Holistic] for destruction all products, accessories, labels, signs, prints, packages, 7 wrappers, receptables, advertisements, and other material in their possession, custody or 8 control bearing any of the Stündenglass Marks.” (Mot. at 14; see also Prop. Judgment at 9 2.) The Lanham Act authorizes the court to issue an order directing the destruction of 10 articles that infringe upon a trademark. 15 U.S.C. § 1118. Here, however, GS Holistic 11 has not presented any argument or evidence supporting its entitlement to this relief, 12 and—as with its request for a permanent injunction—its request for destruction of any 13 article “bearing any of the Stündenglass Marks” is not supported by its investigator’s 14 purchase of a single glass infuser bearing an unspecified Stündenglass Mark. (See Mot.
15 at 14; Compl. ¶ 29.) As a result, the court denies GS Holistic’s request for an order 16 directing the destruction of allegedly infringing products.

17 IV. CONCLUSION

18 For the foregoing reasons, the court GRANTS in part and DENIES in part GS 19 Holistic’s motion for default judgment (Dkt. # 12). Specifically, the court GRANTS GS 20 Holistic’s request for entry of default judgment against The Spot Smoke Shop and Mr.
21 Almaamar; AWARDS GS Holistic statutory damages in the amount of $5,000 and 22

1 litigation costs in the amount of $592.00; and DENIES GS Holistic's requests for entry of 2 a permanent injunction and for an order directing the destruction of infringing products.
