

Supreme Court of Florida

No. SC13-2295

IN RE: AMENDMENTS TO FLORIDA RULE OF CRIMINAL PROCEDURE 3.852.

[April 24, 2014]

PER CURIAM.

The Court, on its own motion, amends Florida Rule of Criminal Procedure 3.852 to require the Florida Department of Corrections to provide a copy of a defendant's medical, psychological, or psychiatric records to the capital postconviction defendant's counsel of record when providing a copy of such records to the records repository as required by subdivisions (e)(3) and (g)(2) of rule 3.852. This amendment is necessary because the current procedure by which a capital postconviction defendant may obtain his or her medical, psychological, or psychiatric records from the Department causes delay and is burdensome and inefficient.¹ We have jurisdiction. See art. V, § 2(a), Fla. Const.; Fla. R. Jud. Admin. 2.140(d).

Rule 3.852 is a discovery rule for public records production ancillary to proceedings pursuant to rule 3.851. Amends. to Fla. Rules of Crim. Pro. 3.852 (Capital Postconviction Pub. Records Prod.) and Rule 3.993 (Related Forms), 754 So. 2d 640, 643 (Fla. 1999). The Court first promulgated rule 3.852 on its own motion in 1996 as part of the Court’s ongoing efforts to improve the capital postconviction process and to eliminate unnecessary delay. The rule’s promulgation was “in response to the Court’s study of problems with procedures pertaining to the production of public records in capital postconviction proceedings.” See In re Amends. to Fla. Rules of Crim. Pro.—Capital Postconviction Public Records Production, 683 So. 2d 475 (Fla. 1996).²

1. This problem with the rule 3.852 procedure came to the Court’s attention in Fla. Dep’t of Corrs. v. Haliburton, Case No. SC12-1090, wherein the Department of Corrections was ordered by the trial court to provide a copy of the defendant’s medical and psychiatric records directly to the defendant’s collateral counsel. The Department of Corrections objected to the trial court orders, contending that the trial courts failed to follow the dictates of rule 3.852, and consequently, departed from the essential requirements of law. By separate order, the Court today denied the Department’s petition for review. Fla. Dep’t of Corrections v. Haliburton, No. SC12-1090 (Fla. Order filed April 24, 2014).

2. The Court subsequently adopted a revised version of rule 3.852 on an emergency basis following the Legislature’s repeal of rule 3.852 in 1998. Amends. to Fla. Rules of Crim. Pro.—Rule 3.852 (Capital Postconviction Pub. Records Prod.) and Rule 3.993 (Related Forms), 723 So. 2d 163 (Fla. 1998). Following the repeal of rule 3.852 by the Legislature in 2000, the Court readopted rule 3.852 as it

Rule 3.852 requires that the Attorney General provide written notification of the Court’s mandate affirming a sentence of death to the state attorney who prosecuted the case, the Florida Department of Corrections, and the defendant’s trial counsel. Fla. R. Crim. P. 3.852(d)(1). The Attorney General’s notice directs the state attorney and the Department of Corrections to submit public records—records pertaining to the investigation of the homicide or records relevant to the subject matter of a proceeding under rule 3.851, as applicable—to the records repository³ within ninety days after receipt of the notification. Id. The state attorney is required to provide the Attorney General with written notification of “the name and address of any person or agency that has public records pertinent to the case,” Fla. R. Crim. P. 3.852(d)(2), while the defendant’s counsel shall provide the Attorney General with written notification of “the name and address of any person or agency with information pertinent to the case which has not previously been provided to collateral counsel.” Fla. R. Crim. P. 3.852(d)(3). Rule 3.852 requires that discovery of public records on behalf of capital postconviction defendants be directed to the trial court hearing the postconviction motion. In re existed prior to the effective date of chapter 2000-3, Laws of Florida (2000). In re Rules Governing Capital Postconviction Actions, 763 So. 2d 273 (Fla. 2000). In 2013, the Legislature substantially reworded section 27.7081. See Ch. 2013-216, Laws of Fla.

3. The “records repository” is the location designated by the secretary of state pursuant to section 27.7081(3), Florida Statutes (2013), for archiving capital postconviction public records. Fla. R. Crim. P. 3.852(b)(3).

Amends. to Fla. Rules of Crim. Pro.—Capital Postconviction Pub. Records Prod., 683 So. 2d at 475.

The procedure by which a capital postconviction defendant may obtain his or her own medical, psychological, or psychiatric records under rule 3.852 causes delay and is burdensome and inefficient. First, because such records are confidential, see § 456.057(7)(a), Fla. Stat. (2013),⁴ prior to being sent to the record repository, the records “must be separately contained, without being redacted, and sealed. The outside of the container must clearly identify that the public record is confidential or exempt and that the seal may not be broken without an order of the trial court.” Fla. R. Crim. P. 3.852(f)(1).⁵ Next, in order to actually obtain his or her own confidential records under rule 3.852, a motion must be brought on the defendant’s behalf before the trial court. Upon the trial court’s order, sealed containers subject to an inspection by the trial court shall be shipped

4. Section 456.057(7)(a) provides in pertinent part as follows:

Except as otherwise provided in this section and in s. 440.13(4)(c) [pertaining to worker’s compensation], such [patient medical] records may not be furnished to, and the medical condition of a patient may not be discussed with, any person other than the patient, or the patient’s legal representative or other health care practitioners and providers involved in the patient’s care or treatment, except upon written authorization from the patient. . . .

5. Rule 3.852(f) applies to public records delivered to the records repository that are confidential or exempt from the requirements of section 119.07, Florida Statutes, or article I, section 24(a), Florida Constitution.

to the clerk of court. Fla. R. Crim. P. 3.852(f)(2). The containers may be opened only for inspection by the trial court in camera, without ex parte communications.

Id.

Pursuant to rule 3.852(e)(3), the Department of Corrections “shall copy, index, and deliver to the records repository all public records determined by the department to be relevant to the subject matter of a proceeding under rule 3.851, unless such copying, indexing, and delivering would be unduly burdensome.” Fla. R. Crim. P. 3.852(e)(3). In an effort to simplify the mechanism by which a capital postconviction defendant may obtain his or her own confidential medical, psychological, or psychiatric records from the Department of Corrections—records that are already required to be sent to the records repository—the Court amends rule 3.852 on its own motion to provide that the Department of Corrections shall provide a copy of the defendant’s medical, psychological, and psychiatric records to the defendant’s counsel of record. This amendment is applicable to both the initial disclosure of records under subdivision (e)(3), and to the demand for additional records under subdivision (g)(2).

Accordingly, Florida Rule of Criminal Procedure 3.852 is hereby amended as reflected in the appendix to this opinion. New language is indicated by underscoring. The amendment shall become effective July 1, 2014, at 12:01 a.m.

Because the amendment was not published for comment prior to its adoption, interested persons shall have sixty days from the date of this opinion in which to file comments with the Court.⁶

It is so ordered.

THE FILING OF A MOTION FOR REHEARING SHALL NOT ALTER THE EFFECTIVE DATE OF THESE AMENDMENTS.
