INQUIRY CONCERNING A JUDGE, RE: CARVEN D. ANGEL.

[February 19, 2004]

PER CURIAM.

We review the recommendation of the Judicial Qualifications Commission ("JQC") that Judge Carven D. Angel receive the sanction of public reprimand for his judicial misconduct. We have jurisdiction. See art. V, § 12, Fla. Const. As explained in more detail below, the JQC's recommendation is approved.

The instant action arose from charges filed against Judge Angel alleging that during his 2002 election campaign for the judgeship he now occupies he engaged in a pattern of improper conduct, namely that he engaged in prohibited partisan political activity. On May 23, 2003, the JQC filed a notice of formal proceedings against Judge Angel charging him with thirteen ethical violations. Judge Angel was charged with violating sections 105.071(1) and (3) of the Florida Statutes (2003),<sup>1</sup> and violating Canon 7 of the Code of Judicial Conduct, specifically sections 7A(1)(d), 7A(3), and 7C(3).<sup>2</sup> The JQC's notice of formal charges set forth in

The candidate should refrain from commenting on the candidate's affiliation with any political party or other candidate, and should avoid expressing a position on any political issue. Conduct, you and members of your family attended and campaigned for your election at a "Salute to Labor Picnic and Democratic Candidate Rally."

3. During the campaign, on or about August 15, 2002, in violation of section 105.071(1) of the Florida Statutes and Canon 7A(1)(d) of the Code of Judicial Conduct, you attended and participated in a meeting of the Republican Club of Sumter County.

4. Your wife assumed your opponent was invited, but your opponent was not invited and was not present.

5. During the campaign, in violation of section 105.071(1) of the Florida Statutes and Canon 7A(1)(d) and 7C(3) of the Code of Judicial Conduct, you attended the "Dennis Baxley Family Picnic," which was a partisan political gathering to support Republican Dennis Baxley, a candidate for the House of Representatives, to which your opponent was not invited and you spoke asking for the votes of the persons present.

7. During the campaign, in violation of section 105.071(3) of the Florida Statutes and Canon 7C(3) of the Code of Judicial Conduct, when asked about your political party affiliation, you identified yourself as a member of a partisan political party and thus held yourself out as a member of a partisan political party.

weight." In re Kinsey, 842 So. 2d 77, 85 (Fla. 2003). However, "the ultimate power and responsibility in making a determination rests with this Court." Id. (quoting In re Davey, 645 So. 2d 398, 404 (Fla. 1994)). This Court "review[s] the findings to ensure that there is 'clear and convincing evidence' to support the alleged ethical violations--a standard of proof which has been described as 'more than a preponderance of the evidence, but the proof need not be beyond and to the exclusion of a reasonable doubt.'" Id. (quoting Davey, 645 So. 2d at 404).

A review of the stipulation entered into by Judge Angel and the JQC, as well as the JQC's findings, demonstrates by clear and convincing evidence that Judge Angel's conduct relating to partisan political functions violated both the spirit and the letter of section 105.071 of the Florida Statutes and Canon 7 of the Code of Judicial Conduct. Judge Angel admitted the conduct alleged, and the impropriety of that conduct, in the stipulation presented by the parties. Judge Angel's own admissions bolster the JQC's findings, which we give great weight as we consider its recommendation of discipline in the instant action. See In re Rodriguez, 829 So. 2d 857, 860 (Fla. 2002); In re McMillan, 797 So. 2d 560, 566 (Fla. 2001).

In other cases, this Court has accepted the JQC's recommendation of public reprimand for conduct in violation of Canon 7 of the Code of Judicial Conduct, as well as section 105.071 of the Florida Statutes. See In re Alley, 699 So. 2d 1369, 1370 (Fla. 1997) (approving public reprimand for judicial election campaign violations); In re Glickstein, 620 So. 2d 1000, 1002-03 (Fla. 1993) (approving public reprimand for violation of Canon 7); In re Turner, 573 So. 2d 1, 2 (Fla. 1990) (same); In re Kay, 508 So. 2d 329, 330 (Fla. 1987) (approving public reprimand for violation of Canon 7 as well as section 105.071, Florida Statutes); In re Pratt, 508 So. 2d 8, 9-10 (Fla. 1987) (same). Certainly, in very egregious cases, where a judge's misconduct included implications that he or she would make partisan decisions on the bench, the JQC has recommended a substantial fine in addition to a public reprimand and even removal. See In re Kinsey, 842 So. 2d at 92 (approving the JQC's recommendation that a substantial fine in addition to a public reprimand was warranted where a judge's misconduct included "improper campaign statements which imply that, if elected, the judicial candidate will favor one group of citizens over another or will make rulings based upon the sway of popular sentiment in the community"); In re McMillan, 797 So. 2d at 572 (approving the JQC's recommendation of removal where the judge's "misconduct during the campaign reflect[ed] a candidate seeking to be elected upon promises of partiality" and the judge's "misconduct on the bench . . . reflect[ed] a willingness to sit in judgment in the face of a blatant conflict of interest and personal bias").

Based on the stipulated facts in the instant action, the JQC recommended only that Judge Angel be publicly reprimanded for his misconduct. We accept the JQC's recommendation of a public reprimand for Judge Angel, which is consistent with governing precedent with regard to the appropriate sanction for this type of judicial misconduct.

In accordance with the policy announced in In re Frank, 753 So. 2d 1228, 1242 (Fla. 2000), where we concluded that when the conduct of a jurist is egregious to the extent that it requires a public reprimand, the defaulting jurist must appear before this Court, we hereby command Judge Carven D. Angel to appear before this Court for the administration of a public reprimand at a time to be established by the clerk of this Court.

It is so ordered.
