9 OPINION AND ORDER
10 DISMISSING PETITION FOR 11 REMOVAL

11 Defendant sought removal, requesting that the Appeals Board rescind the Orders filed and 12 served on July 27, 2010, wherein the workers' compensation administrative law judge (WCJ) 13 ordered defendant to produce its claims adjuster for deposition on September 28, 2010, and "to 14 produce at said deposition the original and/or copies in his/her control of each of the documents 15 identified in Appendix A, Item #3 of applicant's Notice of Taking Deposition and Demand for 16 Production of Documents, and all utilization review referrals and responses."

17 Defendant contended that it would be irreparably harmed by the WCJ's Orders, arguing 18 that the broad scope of discovery ordered would require deposition testimony and document 19 production that exceeds any reasonable or established needs of applicant. Defendant further 20 contended that it was prejudiced in pursuing removal because the WCJ did not explain the reasons 21 for his decision, the exhibits offered by the parties were not admitted into evidence, no summary of 22 evidence was prepared, the issues and stipulations were not formulated on the record, and the

25 ¹ The caption of the Orders, which are the subject of defendant's petition herein, names only the employer as 26 defendant, and fails to name any insurance carrier. Our review of the paper and electronic records in this case reveals 27 a variety of entities identified as defendants: American Casualty, Broadspire Ins. Cos., RSKCo, Broadspire Brea, RSKCo Claims Services, National Fire Ins. Co. of Harford, and CNA Claimplus. The actual Orders are directed to CNA Risk Insurance Company. A WCJ should make sure to identify all proper defendants, using their correct legal names, not their uniform assigned names (see Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10217), and indicating whether a named defendant is an insurance company or a third party administrator. (See Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10550.)

1 exhibits relied on by the WCJ were not scanned into the Electronic Adjudication Management
2 System (EAMS) “due to a back log [sic] in scanning.” (Petition to Remove, 4:20.)

3 We have considered defendant’s petition and applicant’s answer, and we have reviewed the 4 record in this matter. The WCJ prepared a Report and Recommendation on Petition for Removal 5 (Report) recommending that the petition be denied.

6 In preparing this opinion for filing and service, we discovered that this matter was settled 7 by a Compromise and Release (C&R), which was approved by a different WCJ on January 18, 8 2011. But for that discovery, we would have granted removal, rescinded the WCJ's Orders, and 9 returned the matter to the trial level for preparation of a proper record, because the record in this 10 case, as discussed below, is inadequate and incomplete. Those actions are no longer necessary 11 because approval of the C&R has rendered defendant’s petition moot. Nevertheless, defendant’s 12 petition for removal is still pending and must be acted upon. Given that the issues raised in the 13 petition are now moot, we will dismiss it.

14 BACKGROUND

15 According to defendant’s petition and applicant’s answer, applicant served a Notice of 16 Taking Deposition and Demand for Production of Documents on February 26, 2010. This 17 document was listed as an exhibit by applicant on the pre-trial conference statement, but we were 18 unable to find it in EAMS or in paper format in the legacy file. On March 18, 2010, defendant 19 served a Motion to Quash Notice of Taking Deposition and Demand for Production of Documents 20 and Motion for Protective Order, which has not been scanned into EAMS. Applicant stated that he 21 filed an Opposition to Motion to Quash and for Protective Order and Motion to Compel the 22 Deposition on March 24, 2010, and this document was also listed as an exhibit on the pre-trial 23 conference statement; but we saw no paper or electronic record of this document.

24 The parties stipulated at the June 9, 2010 mandatory settlement conference that applicant 25 sustained industrial injury to his back on October 21, 2001, and that he claimed injury to multiple 26 additional body parts. In the pre-trial conference statement, which is in EAMS, the parties 27 identified the issues in dispute, including “defendant’s objections to request for production” and

1 “motion to compel claims adjustor’s deposition.” Applicant listed numerous documents as 2 exhibits. According to the pre-trial conference statement, as it appears in EAMS, defendant did 3 not list any exhibits. We located in the paper, or legacy, file a stack of documents labeled “Petition 4 for Removal additional defendant’s exhibits.” According to defendant, these exhibits were 5 attached to the petition for removal.

6 The Minutes of Hearing for the July 26, 2010 trial, also available in EAMS, indicate that 7 the matter was taken off calendar and include the following comment: “After consideration of 8 Defendant’s objections — Order Compelling Deposition and limited production of documents — 9 Signed.” In their petition and answer, the parties gave widely differing accounts of what happened 10 at trial. Defendant claimed exhibits were offered by both parties; applicant claimed the matter was 11 submitted on the pleadings. There is no record of stipulations and issues submitted for decision or 12 of documents offered and received into evidence.

13 On July 27, 2010, the Orders, which were the subject of this petition, were filed and served.
14 They appear in EAMS under the misnomer “Order Allowing Deposition Attorney Fees.” The 15 Orders state, in their entirety:

16 “GOOD CAUSE APPEARING;

17
18 IT IS ORDERED THAT CNA RISK INSURANCE COMPANY
19 PRODUCE TERRI CALDWELL OR THE CURRENT CLAIMS 20 ADJUSTER/ANALYST FOR DEPOSITION ON SEPTEMBER 21 28, 2010 AT 9:00 A.M., DAY TO DAY UNTIL COMPLETED, AT 22 3600 WILSHIRE BLVD, SUITE 2100, LOS ANGELES
23 CALIFORNIA 90010.

24 THE DEPONENT IS ORDERED TO PRODUCE AT SAID 25 DEPOSITION THE ORIGINAL AND/OR COPIES IN HIS/HER 26 CONTROL OF EACH OF THE DOCUMENTS IDENTIFIED IN 27 APPENDIX A, ITEM #3 OF APPLICANT’S NOTICE OF TAKING DEPOSITION AND DEMAND FOR PRODUCTION OF [sic] DOCUMENTS, AND ALL UTILIZATION REVIEW REFERRALS AND RESPONSES.”

We were unable to find any electronic or paper record of “Appendix A,” referenced in the WCJ’s

1 Orders. According to the record in EAMS, no documents were admitted into evidence.

2 Defendant filed a petition for removal. Applicant filed an answer. The WCJ prepared a 3 Report on August 17, 2010, in which he said, at pages 1-2, “After reviewing the pleadings and 4 discussing the issues with the parties, I determined that the deposition of the claims examiner and 5 the production of documents identified in appendix A, item number 3 and all utilization review 6 referrals and responses was appropriate.”

7 A recent review of EAMS revealed that the deposition of Terri Caldwell took place, as 8 ordered, on September 28, 2010, and the deposition transcript was received at the district office on 9 October 23, 2010. The transcript was not entered into EAMS until February 23, 2011.

10 The electronic record also shows that a C&R was presented to a different WCJ on a walk-11 through basis, and an Order approving the C&R issued, on January 18, 2011. These documents 12 were not entered into EAMS until March 8, 2011.

13 The Appeals Board was not notified of the January 18, 2011 settlement and received no 14 request to withdraw defendant’s petition for removal.

15 DISCUSSION

16 Any decision by the Appeals Board or a WCJ must be supported by substantial evidence.
17 (Lab. Code, § 5952(d); Lamb v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1974) 11 Cal.3d 274, 281 [39
18 Cal.Comp.Cases 310]; Garza v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1970) 3 Cal.3d 312, 317 [35
19 Cal.Comp.Cases 500]; LeVesque v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (1970) 1 Cal.3d 627, 635 [35
20 Cal.Comp.Cases 16].) “The WCJ’s decision must be based on admitted evidence in the record.” 21 (Hamilton v. Lockheed Corporation (2001) 66 Cal.Comp.Cases 473, 476 (Appeals Board en banc) 22 (Hamilton).

23 In Hamilton, we held: “It is the responsibility of the parties and the WCJ to ensure that the 24 record is complete when a case is submitted for decision on the record. At a minimum, the record 25 must contain, in properly organized form, the issues submitted for decision, the admissions and 26 stipulations of the parties, and admitted evidence.” (66 Cal.Comp.Cases at p. 477.)

27 Furthermore, Labor Code section 5313 requires the WCJ to serve on the parties “a

1 summary of the evidence received and relied upon and the reasons or grounds upon which the 2 determination was made.” The WCJ’s opinion on decision “enables the parties, and the Board if 3 reconsideration is sought, to ascertain the basis for the decision, and makes the right of seeking 4 reconsideration more meaningful.” (Hamilton, supra, 66 Cal.Comp.Cases at p. 476, citing Evans 5 v. Workers' Comp. Appeals Bd. (1968) 68 Cal.2d 753, 755 [33 Cal.Comp.Cases 350, 351].) As 6 provided in section 5313 and explained in Hamilton, “the WCJ is charged with the responsibility 7 of referring to the evidence in the opinion on decision, and of clearly designating the evidence that 8 forms the basis of the decision.” (66 Cal.Comp.Cases at p. 475.) In addition, the WCJ should 9 make sure the record is “properly organized” and that admitted evidence is “clearly labeled.” (Id.
10 at pp. 474, 476.)

11 WCAB Rule 10566 specifies what the WCJ must include in the Minutes of Hearing and 12 Summary of Evidence:

13 14 “Minutes of hearing and summary of evidence shall be prepared at 15 the conclusion of each hearing and filed in the record of 16 proceedings. They shall include:

17 “(a) The names of the commissioners, deputy commissioner or 18 workers' compensation judge, reporter, the parties present, 19 attorneys or other agents appearing therefor and witnesses sworn;

20 “(b) The place and date of said hearing;

21 “(c) All interlocutory orders, admissions and stipulations, the 22 issues and matters in controversy, a descriptive listing of all 23 exhibits received for identification or in evidence (with the identity 24 of the party offering the same) and the disposition, which shall 25 include the time and action, if any, required for submission;

26 “(d) A summary of the evidence required by Labor Code Section 27 5313 that shall include a fair and unbiased summary of the testimony given by each witness;

“(e) If motion pictures are shown, a brief summary of their contents;

“(f) A fair statement of any offers of proof.

1 “If the disposition is an order taking off calendar or a continuance, 2 the reason therefor shall be given.”

3 Section 1.45 of the Division of Workers’ Compensation (DWC) – Workers' Compensation 4 Appeals Board Policy and Procedural Manual (2003 Revision)² provides further guidance as to 5 the requirements for trial minutes and organization of the file. It states, in part, “The WCJ shall 6 conduct the proceedings so as to ensure that the minutes are complete and contain a proper record 7 in accordance with WCAB Rule 10566. The stipulations and issues should be recited into the 8 record, noting any changes in either the stipulations or issues as set forth in the MSC statement.
9 The parties’ agreement as to the accuracy of the stipulations and issues should be obtained on the 10 record.”

11 WCAB Rule 10301(b) defines "adjudication file" or "ADJ file" as "a case file in which the 12 jurisdiction of the Workers' Compensation Appeals Board has been invoked and which is 13 maintained by the Division of Workers' Compensation in paper format, or electronic format, or 14 both, including a temporary paper case file." (Cal. Code of Regs., tit. 8, § 10301(b).) (Emphasis 15 added.)

16 Court Administrator Rule 10216(d) (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10216(d)) requires the DWC
17 to maintain a paper adjudication file until it is converted to an electronic adjudication file. It 18 further provides that, if “a paper adjudication file is maintained on or after the effective date of 19 these regulations [November 17, 2008], an electronic adjudication file shall also be created and any 20 documents filed thereafter shall be maintained electronically in EAMS....”

21 WCAB Rule 10751(a) provides,

22 “(a) The Workers’ Compensation Appeal Board’s adjudication file 23 shall consist of:

24 “(1) all findings, orders, decisions, awards and correspondence 25 issued by the Workers’ Compensation Appeals Board, but not 26 including documents that, under the rules of the Court

26 ² The DWC – WCAB Policy and Procedural Manual (2003 Revision) can be found at 27 www.dir.ca.gov/wcab/wcab_policy_proceduremanual/wcabpolicy_proceduremanual.html.

1 Administrator, shall not be made available for inspection by any 2 person (see current Rule 10271); and 3 “(2) all documents filed by any party, lien claimant, attorney or 4 other agent of record, but not including documents that, under the 5 rules of the Court Administrator, shall not be filed (see current 6 Rule 10222(b)), unless the Workers’ Compensation Appeals Board 7 has ordered that the document be filed.

8 “(b) The adjudication file includes the record of proceedings.”

9 The record of proceedings is described in WCAB Rule 10750(a), which provides,

10 “(a) The Workers’ Compensation Appeals Board’s record of 11 proceedings consists of: the pleadings, declarations of readiness to 12 proceed, minutes of hearing and summary of evidence, transcripts, 13 if prepared and filed, proofs of service, evidence received in the 14 course of a proceeding, exhibits marked but not received in 15 evidence, notices, petitions, briefs, findings, orders, decisions and 16 awards, and the arbitrator’s file, if any. Each of these documents 17 are part of the record of proceedings, whether maintained in paper 18 or electronic form. Documents that are in the adjudication file but 19 have not been received or offered in evidence are not part of the 20 record of proceedings.”

21 Although Hamilton involved a record that was created and maintained in paper format, 22 Hamilton’s explanation of the responsibilities of the parties and the WCJ, and the needs of the 23 parties and the Appeals Board, applies equally to a record created and maintained in an electronic 24 format. As indicated above, Hamilton requires the record to contain the issues submitted for 25 decision, the admissions and stipulations of the parties, and the admitted evidence.

26 Moreover, the incorporation of a Minutes of Hearing form in Court Administrator Rule 27 10245 (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10245) does not relieve a WCJ of the responsibilities set forth in Hamilton, Labor Code section 5313, and WCAB Rule 10566.

In the present case, the WCJ stated, “Petitioner argues that I should have conducted a full blown evidentiary hearing. I disagree. Workers’ Compensation Judges have the authority to hear discovery disputes and make orders respecting same. It is within their sound discretion to 1 determine if a discovery dispute is appropriate for a hearing. Allison v WCAB (1999) 64 CCC

2 624, 632” (Report, p. 2.) (Bold in original.)

3 We agree with the WCJ that not every discovery dispute requires a “full blown evidentiary 4 hearing” and preparation of a full Minutes of Hearing and Summary of Evidence and an Opinion 5 on Decision. In this case, however, the matter was scheduled for trial, not conference, on July 26, 6 2010. The requirements set forth in Hamilton and Labor Code section 5313 applied. Even at a 7 conference, the record must be properly maintained, especially if documents were accepted and a 8 decision issued.

9 In this case, as we considered defendant’s petition, we did not have a paper or electronic 10 record of all the pleadings and motions that precipitated the WCJ’s Orders. His Minutes of 11 Hearing contained only an abbreviated notation of the WCJ’s disposition — that he signed an 12 “Order Compelling Deposition and limited production of documents.” There was no record of the 13 issues submitted for decision, the admissions and stipulations of the parties, or the admitted 14 evidence. The WCJ did not incorporate the stipulations and issues set forth in the pre-trial 15 conference statement — a disfavored procedure, in any event.

16 In addition, the WCJ said in his Report that he relied on “appendix A, item number 3”; but 17 that document was not part of the record of proceedings or the adjudication file. Appendix A was 18 apparently part of applicant’s Notice of Taking Deposition and Demand for Production of 19 Documents. Court Administrator Rule 10222(b) provides that notices of taking deposition “shall 20 not be filed with the district office or the appeals board, except as a non duplicative supporting 21 exhibit or upon the order” of a WCJ or the Appeals Board. (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10222(b).) 22 In this case, the notice of taking deposition was a “non duplicative supporting exhibit” and was, in 23 fact, relied on by the WCJ. There was no basis for its exclusion from the record.

24 The WCJ did not prepare an opinion on decision. He indicated in his Report, however, that 25 he made his decision after consideration of the pleadings, discussion with the parties, and review of 26 “appendix A, item number 3.” The WCJ’s only explanation of the reasons for his decision was the 27 following: “When, as here, an Applicant filed an appropriate motion and showed good cause, it

1 was within my purview to issue orders regarding discovery that I determined to be necessary to 2 insure full and fair adjudication, expedite litigation and safeguard against unfair surprise.” 3 (Report, p. 2.) As no record, or even a summary, of applicant’s pleadings or the discussions relied 4 on by the WCJ was available for our review, it was impossible for us to review the WCJ’s 5 decision.

6 Defendant said, “At the time of the preparation of this Petition we have been advised, 7 through telephone contact of the Appeals Board in Los Angeles that the Defense exhibits given to,
8 reviewed by and partially relied upon [sic] Judge Bailey in making his decisions have not [sic]
9 scanned into the EAMS system due to a back log [sic] in scanning.” (Petition to Remove, 4:17-10 20.) It thus appears that defendant offered exhibits into evidence; yet there is no record of any 11 admitted evidence.

12 We are aware that many district offices have problems scanning documents into EAMS in a 13 consistently accurate and timely manner. Undoubtedly, the hiring freeze and mandatory furloughs 14 of state employees have contributed to the backlogs. However, the challenges posed by the 15 transition to EAMS do not alter the fundamental tasks and responsibilities of the Appeals Board as 16 a reviewing court. If a full and up-to-date record is not available for our examination, we cannot 17 render a proper decision as to the correctness of a WCJ’s decision.

18 While there are very real problems causing system-wide backlogs, these problems do not 19 excuse the WCJ or the litigants from ensuring that a complete and properly organized record is 20 available to the Appeals Board. Ideally, documents presented to a WCJ at trial would be scanned
21 into EAMS immediately. In any event, they should be scanned no later than the date the WCJ 22 issues a decision on a disputed issue. If a petition for reconsideration, removal, or disqualification 23 is filed, and the scanning could not be completed by the date the WCJ issues his or her Report, the 24 paper documents should be placed in the legacy file, if there is one, filed in proper order, bradded, 25 and separated as necessary, and forwarded to us. Upon return of the file to the district office after 26 our decision, the documents could then be scanned. If the file exists in EAMS only, it is the 27 responsibility of the WCJ to ensure that all documents in the record are scanned into EAMS by the

1 time he or she issues the decision on the disputed issue, even if this requires prioritizing these 2 documents over other documents that may be waiting for scanning. The 60-day deadline for the 3 Appeals Board to act on a petition for reconsideration further requires that procedures at the district 4 office be completed expeditiously. (See Lab. Code, § 5909.) If all relevant documents are not 5 scanned into EAMS by the time the file is sent to us for action on a petition for reconsideration, 6 removal, or disqualification, we may be unable to rule on the petition, or we may act under the 7 incorrect assumptions that documents, which are waiting for scanning, do not exist. Moreover, 8 when there is a pending petition before the Appeals Board and there are delays at the district office 9 in scanning documents, the Appeals Board may waste its time and resources attempting to resolve 10 matters that are no longer in dispute. That is precisely what happened in this case.

11 EAMS shows this case’s status as “At recon,” and the Appeals Board has the file. The 12 filing of a petition for removal does not terminate the WCJ’s authority to proceed in a case; 13 however, the WCJ is required, after a petition for removal has been filed, to consult with the 14 presiding WCJ prior to proceeding. (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10843(e).) It does not appear that 15 the presiding WCJ was consulted in this case, and the C&R should not have been approved.

16 In addition, there is nothing in EAMS nor has anything been received by us requesting that 17 the petition for removal be withdrawn. Failure to withdraw a pending petition in these 18 circumstances, thereby wasting our time and resources, is sanctionable conduct. However, given 19 the state of the record in this case, it is entirely possible that a request to withdraw the petition was 20 filed, but has not yet been scanned into EAMS.

21 Despite the inadequate record and irregular procedures in this case, we have no desire to 22 disturb the parties’ settlement. However, because defendant’s petition for removal is still pending 23 before us, we will now dismiss it as moot.
