

1 WORKERS' COMPENSATION APPEALS BOARD
2 STATE OF CALIFORNIA

3 4 TITO TORRES,

5 Applicant,

6 vs.

7 AJC SANDBLASTING; and ZURICH NORTH
8 AMERICA,

9 Defendants,

10 UNITECH DIAGNOSTICS, LLC,

11 Lien Claimant.

Case Nos. ADJ909554 (LAO 0824849)
ADJ1856854 (LAO 0837910)

OPINION AND DECISION
AFTER
RECONSIDERATION
(EN BANC)

12
13 We granted the petition for reconsideration filed by Green Lien Collections on behalf of lien
14 claimant, Unitech Diagnostics, LLC (Unitech). Thereafter, to secure uniformity of decision in the future, 15 the Chairwoman of the Appeals Board, upon a majority vote of its members, assigned this case to the 16 Appeals Board as a whole for an en banc decision.¹ While this decision does not annunciate any new 17 legal principles, we deem it necessary to act en banc because of a number of lien claimants who persist in 18 disregarding existing law as to their burden of proof and repeatedly proceed to trial on lien claims that 19 are so lacking in evidentiary support and/or presented with such a total disregard of existing law as to be 20 frivolous. These lien claimants overburden the system, waste the limited resources of the Workers' 21 Compensation Appeals Board (WCAB) and squander valuable calendar time, which otherwise could be

22 ///

23 ///

24 ///

25 ¹ En banc decisions of the Appeals Board (Lab. Code, § 115) are binding precedent on all Appeals Board 26 panels and workers' compensation judges. (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10341; Signature Fruit Co. v. Workers' Comp.
27 Appeals Bd. (Ochoa) (2006) 142 Cal.App.4th 790, 796, fn. 2 [71 Cal.Comp.Cases 1044]; Gee v. Workers' Comp.
Appeals Bd. (2002) 96 Cal.App.4th 1418, 1425, fn. 6 [67 Cal.Comp.Cases 236, 239, fn. 6].) In addition to being adopted as a precedent decision in accordance with Labor Code section 115 and Appeals Board Rule 10341, this en banc decision is also being adopted as a precedent decision in accordance with Government Code section 11425.60(b).

1 used to address the claims of injured workers. Therefore, we hold that:

2 (1) Labor Code sections 3202.5 and 5705² mandate that a lien claimant must prove 3 by a preponderance of the evidence all elements necessary to establish the 4 validity of their lien before the burden of proof shifts to the defendant. Keifer
5 and Garcia,³ insofar as they held that a lien claimant can establish a prima facie
6 right to recovery simply by introducing a billing statement showing that services 7 were provided to a worker in connection with a claimed injury, have been 8 nullified by sections 3202.5 and 5705 and subsequent case law.

9 (2) Proceeding to trial without any evidence or with evidence that is utterly 10 incapable of meeting its burden of proof is frivolous and constitutes bad faith
11 within the meaning of section 5813 justifying an award of sanctions, attorney's 12 fees and costs against the party or lien claimant, its attorney(s) or hearing 13 representative(s), individually or jointly and severally.

14 In light of these holdings, we affirm the decision of the workers' compensation administrative law 15 judge (WCJ) disallowing Unitech's lien claim because it failed to introduce any evidence that the 16 employee sustained a compensable injury and that it rendered medical treatment that was reasonable and 17 necessary.

18 We also affirm the finding of the WCJ that by proceeding to trial without any evidence capable of 19 establishing its lien claim, Unitech acted frivolously and in bad faith in violation of section 5813, 20 meriting an award of sanctions, attorney's fees and costs. However, we rescind and defer the award of 21 sanctions pending further proceedings before the WCJ to determine the amount of sanctions and whether 22 they should be imposed against Unitech, Green Lien Collections and/or its hearing representative, Suzi 23 Gonzalez, individually or jointly and severally.

24 ///

25 _____
26 ² All further statutory references are to the Labor Code.

27 ³ Kaiser Foundation Hospitals v. Workmen's Comp. Appeals Bd. (Keifer) (1974) 13 Cal.3d 20 [39 Cal.Comp.Cases 857] (Keifer) and Garcia v. Industrial Acc. Com. (1953) 41 Cal.2d 689 [18 Cal.Comp.Cases 290] (Garcia).

1 BACKGROUND

2 Applicant claimed that he sustained industrial injuries to his spine and bilateral lower extremities
3 on October 22, 2002 and February 20, 2003. Defendant Zurich denied applicant’s claims and on 4 March 2, 2005, the cases were settled by compromise and release (C&R). The C&R listed outstanding 5 liens and provided for their disposition. Neither Unitech nor its lien was listed.

6 On November 16, 2009, Green Lien Collections filed a notice of appearance on behalf of 7 Unitech.

8 On September 15, 2010, Green Lien Collections filed an original lien claim on behalf of Unitech
9 together with a copy of an unsigned “Health Insurance Claim Form” from Unitech to Zurich North 10 America (Zurich) dated July 15, 2003.

11 At the August 19, 2011 lien conference, the parties prepared a pre-trial conference statement
12 (PTCS) in which Unitech listed its trial exhibits, which included the health insurance claim form and two 13 MRI reports.

14 At the October 6, 2011 lien trial, the parties stipulated that applicant “claims to have sustained
15 injury arising out of and in the course of employment” (italics added) and that Zurich was the employer’s 16 workers’ compensation insurance carrier. The issues presented were:

17 “1. Liens [sic] of Unitech Diagnostics in the amount of $5,150, less 18 amounts paid.

19 “2. Defendant is disputing the reasonableness and necessity of the services 20 offered.

21 “3. Defense contends that the billing from Unitech exceeds the Official 22 Medical Fee Schedule.”

23 No witnesses testified and, despite having identified several exhibits in the PTCS, the only 24 evidence offered by Unitech was a copy of an unsigned insurance form from Unitech addressed to 25 Zurich, dated July 15, 2003.⁴ This insurance form lists dates of service, procedure codes and treatment
26 charges totaling $5,150.00 in addition to penalties of $704.03 and interest of $3,018.01 in a total amount

27 ⁴ Although unsigned, the signature lines for the patient/representative, the insured and the physician/supplier include the notation, “SIGNATURE ON FILE.”

1 of $8,904.04. (Lien Claimant Exhibit 1.) No written description of goods or services was included. At all
2 proceedings, Suzi Gonzalez appeared as the hearing representative for Green Lien Collections.

3 No evidence was offered by Zurich.

4 In the October 6, 2011 Minutes of Hearing, the WCJ found that “there is no factual or legal basis
5 for proceeding to trial” and issued a notice of intent (NIT) to impose $2,500 sanctions against Unitech, 6 allowing 15 days to respond as to why sanctions should not be imposed. No response was submitted by 7 or on behalf of Unitech.

8 On November 3, 2011, the WCJ found that Unitech failed to carry its burden of proof and ordered 9 that it take nothing on its lien. In addition, the WCJ found that proceeding to trial with only an insurance
10 form was frivolous and a waste of Court time in violation of section 5813 and ordered Unitech to pay a 11 $750.00 sanction, plus attorney’s fees to defendant.

12 Unitech filed a timely petition for reconsideration contending that: (1) putting its bill into 13 evidence established its prima facie case and that the burden of proof then shifted to defendant; (2)
14 defendant failed to submit any evidence to rebut the reasonableness and necessity of lien claimant’s 15 services; and (3) therefore, it is entitled to have its lien awarded and the award of sanctions should be 16 rescinded. The petition further alleges that applicant’s treating physician referred him to Unitech for an 17 MRI of the lumbar spine and right hip and that there is a medical report detailing the results of the MRIs.

18 Defendant did not file an answer.

19 The WCJ prepared a Report and Recommendation on Petition for Reconsideration (Report)
20 recommending that reconsideration be denied, but asking that the Appeals Board review the amount of 21 the sanctions and to increase them if deemed just and proper.

22 In his Report, the WCJ explained:

23 “At time of trial, it was determined that lien claimant had no medical or 24 documentary evidence available to present into evidence [other than the unsigned insurance form].

25 “The Court advised Petitioner that should it choose to proceed to trial
26 without benefit of evidence or testimony that the Court would sanction
27 Petitioner for frivolous waste of Court time and assess costs against it.

1 ***

2 “Petitioner’s cavalier use of the limited Court time and resources was met
3 with sanctions per California Labor Code, section 5813 as the Court 4 warned petitioner that proceeding to trial [under these circumstances] was and is, in this Court’s opinion, a frivolous act ...”

5 DISCUSSION

6 I. After an Applicant’s Underlying Claim Is Settled, a Lien Claimant Becomes a Party and Stands
7 in the Shoes of the Applicant. Like Any Other Party, a Lien Claimant Bears the Burden of Proving All Elements Necessary to Establish Its Claim.

8 A. Historical Analysis

9 1. The Keifer and Garcia Decisions

10 In 1973, the Supreme Court held that a lien holder could establish a prima facie case of 11 entitlement to reimbursement merely by showing “that the treatment rendered was for an injury allegedly 12 received in the course and scope of employment.”⁵ (Keifer, 13 Cal.3d at p. 23.) In Keifer, lien claimant 13 provided hospital services to applicant for a cardiac condition. Applicant claimed the condition was 14 industrial. Defendant denied the claim. After applicant’s death, his widow settled her claim for death
15 benefits by way of a C&R, which included the proviso that, “[t]he question of death arising in the course 16 and scope of employment is in issue.”

17 Despite the fact that injury had never been admitted by defendant nor proved by applicant or lien 18 claimant, the Court found that lien claimant was entitled to reimbursement. The Court reasoned that 19 payment of the C&R constituted “compensation”, and that by showing the treatment rendered was for a 20 condition claimed to be industrial, lien claimant had met its burden and was entitled to reimbursement in 21 full.

22 In a footnote, the Court cited Garcia, an earlier decision addressing a lien claimant’s burden of 23 proof, and said:

24 _____
25 ⁵ In workers’ compensation cases, the correct standard is “arising out of and in the course of the 26 employment.” (Lab. Code, § 3600(a).) As stated in Saala v. McFarland (1965) 63 Cal.2d 124, 129, fn. 1 [29 27 Cal.Comp.Cases 306]: “[O]n occasion the phrase ‘scope of employment’ has been used interchangeably with ‘arising out of and in the course of the employment.’ [Citation omitted.] However, this court recognized in a leading case involving workmen’s compensation coverage, Pacific Emp. Ins. Co. v. Industrial Acc. Com.
[[Carmel] (1945)], 26 Cal.2d 286, 293 [10 Cal.Comp.Cases 89], that scope of employment defines a more restricted area of employee conduct than the customary phrase ‘arising out of and in the course of the employment.’ ”

1 “As explained in Garcia, supra (41 Cal.2d at p. 694), there exists ‘great 2 practical difficulty’ in requiring a lien claimant to produce evidence of an 3 industrial injury, ‘where the employe⁶ who has first hand knowledge of those 4 matters and the insurance carrier who has immediate opportunity to 5 investigate them decline to produce such evidence and instead elect to 6 compromise.’ Accordingly, it is sufficient that the lien claimant establish a ‘prima facie’ case by submitting evidence that the lien arose by reason of services rendered the employee in connection with an injury or event for which the employee claimed and is awarded compensation under a compromise agreement. (Id., p. 695.)”

7 (Keifer, 13 Cal.3d at p. 28, fn. 8.)⁷

8 2. The Post-Keifer/Garcia Amendments to Sections 3202.5 and 5705

9 In 1993, the Legislature amended section 3202.5 to provide that “[n]othing contained in Section 10 3202 shall be construed as relieving a party or a lien claimant from meeting the evidentiary burden of 11 proof by a preponderance of the evidence.” (Stats. 1993, ch. 4, § 1.5 (SB 31) [effective 4/3/93] (italics 12 added).) It concurrently amended section 5705 to provide that “[t]he burden of proof rests upon the 13 party or lien claimant holding the affirmative of the issue.” (Stats. 1993, ch. 4, § 9 (SB 31) [effective 14 4/3/93] (italics added).) In 2004, the Legislature again amended section 3202.5 to provide that “all 15 parties and lien claimants shall meet the evidentiary burden of proof on all issues by a preponderance of 16 the evidence.” (Stats. 2004, ch. 34, § 9 (SB 899) [effective 4/19/04] (italics added).)

17 It is presumed that the Legislature, in enacting a statute, does not intend to overturn long-18 established principles of law unless clearly expressed or necessarily implied. (Brodie v. Workers’ Comp.
19 Appeals Bd. (2007) 40 Cal.4th 1313, 1325 [72 Cal.Comp.Cases 565]; Fuentes v. Workers’ Comp.
20 Appeals Bd. (1976) 16 Cal.3d 1, 7 [41 Cal.Comp.Cases 42].) There can be no question that by expressly 21 imposing on lien claimants the evidentiary burden of proof on all issues, the necessary implication of the 22

23 ⁶ For many years, the appellate courts used the term “employe,” not “employee.” Therefore, this and the 24 other references to “employe” in Keifer’s quotations from Garcia are correct and are not typographical errors.

25 ⁷ In Garcia, the employee’s claim was settled by a compromise and release without any direct evidence of 26 whether there was an industrial injury and, if so, whether the injury caused disability during the period for which 27 the Department of Employment (Department) paid unemployment compensation disability benefits (state disability). At a subsequent hearing on the Department’s state disability lien claim, no evidence was presented on the issue of industrial injury and, therefore, the Industrial Accident Commission (IAC) denied the lien. The Supreme Court held that because the employee filed an application claiming industrial injury, because this claim was compromised for a substantial sum, and because the IAC had approved the settlement, this constituted prima facie evidence that the state disability payments were made for a period of industrial disability. The Garcia court then recited the language from which Keifer quoted.

1 language of sections 3202.5 and 5705 is that Keifer and Garcia are no longer applicable to a lien
2 claimant’s burden of proof. This is confirmed in a series of appellate opinions addressing the burden of 3 proof for lien claimants subsequent to the legislative amendments of sections 3202.5 and 5705.

4 In Zenith Insurance Company v. Workers’ Comp. Appeals Bd. (Capi) (2006) 138 Cal.App.4th 373
5 [71 Cal.Comp.Cases 374] (Capi), the Court of Appeal held that lien claimants hold the burden of proof in 6 order to establish entitlement to reimbursement for medical treatment liens. Citing sections 3202.5 and 7 5705, the Court declared:

8 “In workers’ compensation matters, the burden of proof rests on the party or 9 lien claimant ‘holding the affirmative of the issue.’ (Lab. Code, § 5705; see § 10 3202.5.) Where the injured employee does not prosecute his or her claim, the 11 lien claimant bears the burden of establishing the injury, entitlement to benefits and the reasonable value of the services.” (Capi, 138 Cal.App.4th at
p. 376.)

12 In Beverly Hills Multispecialty Group, Inc. v. Workers’ Comp. Appeals Bd. (Pinkney) (1994) 26
13 Cal.App.4th 789 [59 Cal.Comp.Cases 461], the Court of Appeal said:

14 “In 1982, the Legislature enacted Labor Code section 3202.5, which provides 15 that nothing contained in Labor Code section 3202 shall be construed as 16 relieving a party from meeting the party’s evidentiary burden of proof by a 17 preponderance of the evidence. [Fn. omitted.] Effective April 3, 1993, Labor 18 Code section 3202.5 was amended to provide that a lien claimant also must 19 meet its evidentiary burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence and 20 that the statutory rule of liberal construction does not assist the lien claimant in meeting its burden. Labor Code section 3202.5, as recently amended, provides additional support that a medical lien claimant may litigate the threshold issue of industrial injury to establish its entitlement to recover on its lien claim.”

21 (Pinkney, 26 Cal.App.4th at p. 801 (italics added).)

22 The Capi and Pinkney statements that a lien claimant has the affirmative burden of proving all 23 issues relevant to its lien are echoed in other appellate cases. (E.g., Boehm & Associates v. Workers’
24 Comp. Appeals Bd. (Brower) (2003) 108 Cal.App.4th 137, 150 [68 Cal.Comp.Cases 548] [“The burden 25 of proof of a lien is upon the lien claimant who must establish his or her claim by a preponderance of the 26 evidence.”]; PM & R Assocs. v. Workers’ Comp. Appeals Bd. (Zavala) (2000) 80 Cal.App.4th 357, 370 27 [65 Cal.Comp.Cases 347] [“PM & R has the burden to prove its liens were for properly provided services. (... Lab. Code, § 3202.5.)”]; Hand Rehabilitation Center v. Workers’ Comp. Appeals Bd.

1 (Obernier) (1995) 34 Cal.App.4th 1204, 1212-1213 [60 Cal. Comp. Cases 289] [“A lien claimant ... has 2 the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the claim is industrial (§ 3202.5).”].)

3 In Kunz v. Patterson Floor Coverings, Inc. (2002) 67 Cal.Comp.Cases 1588, 1592 (Appeals
4 Board en banc) (Kunz), we stated:

5 “Where a lien claimant (rather than the injured employee) is litigating the 6 issue of entitlement to payment for industrially-related medical treatment, the 7 lien claimant stands in the shoes of the injured employee and the lien claimant 8 must prove by preponderance of the evidence all of the elements necessary to 9 the establishment of its lien. (Lab. Code, §§ 3202.5, 5705 ...).”

10 Later, in Tapia v. Skill Masters Staffing (2008) 73 Cal.Comp.Cases 1338, 1342-1343 (Appeals Board en 11 banc) (Tapia), we declared:

12 “It is not a defendant’s burden to prove that an outpatient surgery center’s 13 claimed fee is not reasonable. To the contrary, the outpatient surgery center 14 has the affirmative burden of proving that its lien is reasonable, and it must 15 carry this burden by a preponderance of the evidence. (Lab. Code, § 5705 16 (‘[t]he burden of proof rests upon the party or lien claimant holding the 17 affirmative of the issue’ (emphasis added); Lab. Code, § 3202.5 (‘[a]ll parties 18 and lien claimants shall meet the evidentiary burden of proof on all issues by a 19 preponderance of the evidence’ (emphasis added).” (Italics in original.)

20 Repeatedly, the Court of Appeals and WCAB have declared that the holdings in Keifer and 21 Garcia, which allowed a lien claimant to establish a prima facie case of entitlement to reimbursement
22 and shift the burden of proof to a defendant merely by offering evidence that it furnished treatment for a
23 condition, which an employee claimed to be industrial and was settled by a C&R, have been abrogated 24 by sections 3202.5 and 5705.

25 B. The Application of Sections 3202.5 and 5705 to this Case

26 At the lien trial, the parties stipulated that applicant “claims to have sustained injury arising out of 27 and in the course of employment” (italics added). Defendant did not stipulate to industrial injury nor did Unitech offer any evidence to prove that applicant’s alleged injury was industrially-caused. Unitech did not meet its affirmative burden of proving the threshold element of a compensable injury as required by sections 3202.5 and 5705.

Even if Unitech had proved industrial causation, sections 3202.5 and 5705 also require that lien claimant prove that the treatment rendered was reasonable and necessary to cure or relieve the effects of 1 the injury. The only piece of evidence introduced by Unitech was a copy of an insurance claim form of 2 unknown authorship that lists various code numbers without any additional explanation. The mere 3 introduction of this bill is wholly inadequate to carry lien claimant's burden in this regard. Furthermore,

4 lien claimant must show that the charges for the treatment or services rendered is reasonable. (See, Tapia,
5 73 Cal.Comp.Cases at p. 1343; Kunz, 67 Cal.Comp.Cases at pp. 1598-1599.)

6 For the first time, in its petition for reconsideration Unitech claims that applicant's primary
7 treating physician referred applicant to lien claimant for MRIs. Since Unitech has offered no explanation
8 why these assertions were not or could not have been raised at trial, and failed to introduce any evidence 9 supporting them, they will not be considered. The fact that lien claimant listed exhibits on the PTCS, 10 which it chose not to introduce at trial, is of no value. All parties are charged with exercising reasonable 11 diligence in presenting their case. (Lab. Code, § 5903(d); Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10856(e)).

12 For the above reasons, we affirm the WCJ's disallowance of Unitech's lien.

13 II. Labor Code Section 5813 Sanctions, Attorney's Fees, and Costs for "Bad Faith Actions or 14 Tactics that Are Frivolous" May Be Imposed Where a Party or Lien Claimant Proceeds to Trial
15 with Evidence that Is Indisputably Incapable of Establishing Its Claim or Affirmative Defense.
16 Sanctions, Attorney's Fees and Costs May Be Imposed against the Lien Claimant, Its Attorney(s)
17 and/or Hearing Representative(s), Individually or Jointly and Severally.

18 Section 5813 permits the award of sanctions, attorney's fees and costs against a party who 19 engages in "bad faith actions or tactics that are frivolous or solely intended to cause delay."⁸ WCAB
20 Rule 10561(b) provides that "bad faith actions or tactics that are frivolous" include: "(6) Bringing a 21 claim, conducting a defense, or asserting a position: (A) that is: (i) indisputably without merit, ... ; and 22 (B) where a reasonable excuse is not offered" (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10561.)

23 Unitech bore the burden of proving that applicant sustained an industrial injury, that it rendered 24 medical treatment in connection with that injury and that the treatment was reasonable and necessary to 25 cure or relieve the effects of the industrial injury. Prior to trial, Unitech was warned that the evidence it 26 proposed to introduce was utterly incapable of proving its claim. By electing to proceed anyway with 27 only an unauthenticated billing statement, Unitech acted in bad faith, and wasted valuable court time on a claim that was "indisputably without merit" and frivolous.

⁸ WCAB Rule 10561(e)(1) provides that, for purposes of section 5813, a "party" includes a lien claimant and an "attorney" includes a lay representative of a party or lien claimant. (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 8, § 10561(e)(1).)

1 Unitech failed and continues to fail to offer a reasonable excuse for its conduct as allowed by 2 Rule 10561(b)(6)(B). Its assertion that the introduction of its bill established a prima facie case thereby
3 shifting the burden to defendant to refute the validity of its claim is utterly without merit and flagrantly 4 disregards 20 years of statutory developments and case law. This conduct is inexcusable and the 5 imposition of sanctions and attorney's fees under section 5813 and WCAB Rule 10561 are absolutely 6 warranted in this case.

7 However, we will defer sanctions and return the case to the WCJ for further proceedings and a 8 new decision on this issue. The WCJ imposed sanctions only against Unitech. However, it appears that 9 Green Lien Collections and hearing representative Suzi Gonzalez bear significant responsibility for the 10 handling of this claim. In addition, in his Report the WCJ asked that we consider increasing the 11 sanctions. For these reasons, we will rescind and defer the award of sanctions so that the WCJ can 12 reconsider the amount of the sanctions and against whom they should be imposed, whether individually 13 or jointly and severally.

14 The WCJ should issue an NIT regarding the above, giving those responsible an opportunity to 15 show good cause why sanctions should not be imposed. In his order, the WCJ should specify the 16 reason(s) for his decision. Simply stating that "there is no factual or legal basis for proceeding to trial" as 17 the basis for assessing sanctions is not sufficient. While the evidence introduced is wholly inadequate to 18 prove its claim, lien claimant may have had a factual and/or legal basis to proceed to trial. Hence, the 19 sanctionable conduct arises not from lacking a legal or factual basis for its claim, but from lien claimant's 20 utter failure to produce the evidence necessary to prove it.

21 For the foregoing reasons,

22 IT IS ORDERED as the Decision After Reconsideration of the Appeals Board (En Banc) that the 23 November 3, 2011 Findings and Order of the workers' compensation administrative law judge is 24 RESCINDED and the following is SUBSTITUTED therefor:

25 FINDINGS OF FACT

- 26 1. Tito Torres claims to have sustained injury arising out of and in the course 27 of employment on October 22, 2002 and February 20, 2003 while employed by AGC Sandblasting, the insured of Zurich North America.

