Re: Case No. 10-3843, James Pietrangelo, II v. Sandusky Library, et al
Originating Case No. : 09-02560

Dear Sir or Madam,

The briefing schedule listed below gives you the opportunity to present your issues to the court in your own words. You may follow these requirements or use the simplified briefing form which is enclosed. It is very important to mail your brief and serve opposing counsel by the deadline. Under the appellate rules, the mailing date is also the filing date and if the brief is filed late, the case is at risk of being dismissed for want of prosecution.

Appellant's Brief

1 signed original
Limit of 30 pages or 14,000 words

Mailed by August 23, 2010

The Court has ceased its use of the electronic Record on Appeal (ROA). In lieu of the ROA, the Court will access directly the electronic record in the district court. To assist the Court, the appellee must include in an addendum in the principal brief, a designation of relevant district court documents, identifying each document by record entry number and a succinct description.

If any relevant documents are not available electronically, the appellee must file an electronic appendix with the briefs. To determine if this appeal requires an appendix and how to prepare it, appellee counsel is strongly encouraged to read the latest version of the Sixth Circuit Rules at www.ca6.uscourts.gov, in particular Rules 28 and 30.

Appellee's Brief Appendix (if required by 6th Cir. R. 30(a) and (c)(2))	Filed electronically by September 24, 2010
