PER CURIAM.

Federal inmate Lamont Gentry Falls appeals from the district court's<sup>1</sup> denial of his 28 U.S.C. § 2241 petition, in which he challenged disciplinary proceedings that ultimately resulted in, among other things, a loss of good conduct time. Upon careful de novo review, see Mitchell v. U.S. Parole Comm'n, 538 F.3d 948, 951 (8th Cir. 2008) (per curiam), we agree with the district court that Falls was adequately afforded due process in the disciplinary proceedings, and we agree with the conclusion that the disciplinary decision was supported by the evidence. See, e.g., Superintendent v. Hill, 472 U.S. 445, 455-56 (1985) (requirements of due process are satisfied if “some evidence” supports disciplinary decision to revoke good time credits).<sup>2</sup>

Accordingly, the judgment is affirmed. See 8th Cir. R. 47B.
