modify a sentence under section 3582. See United States v. Leniear, 574 F.3d 668, 672 (9th Cir. 2009). We affirm.

Troncoso contends that he is entitled to a sentence reduction under Amendment 750, which amended the drug quantity table in U.S.S.G. § 2D1.1 for offenses involving crack cocaine. Troncoso is not eligible for a sentence reduction because his sentence was based on the parties' stipulation in a binding plea agreement under Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 11(c)(1)(C), and not "on a sentencing range that has subsequently been lowered by the Sentencing Commission," as required by section 3582(c)(2). See Freeman v. United States, 131 S. Ct. 2685, 2695-96 (2011) (Sotomayor, J., concurring and controlling). Although a Guidelines sentencing range is specified in Troncoso's plea agreement, the stipulated sentence is not within that range. Troncoso's contention that the parties nevertheless based the stipulated sentence on a Guidelines range is not supported by the plea agreement itself, which is the only place this court may look to determine the basis for the sentence imposed. See id. at 2697-98. We therefore conclude that the sentence is based on the parties' binding agreement, and the district court lacked jurisdiction to modify Troncoso's sentence under section 3582(c)(2). See United States v. Austin, 676 F.3d 924, 930 (9th Cir. 2012).
