On Petition for Review of an Order of the Board of Immigration Appeals

Submitted May 9, 2022

Before: WATFORD and FRIEDLAND, Circuit Judges, and ROBRENO,^{}
District Judge.

Juan Jose Garcia Garcia (“Petitioner”), a native and citizen of Mexico, petitions for review from a decision of the Board of Immigration Appeals (“BIA”) upholding the Immigration Judge's ("IJ") denial of his claims for withholding of removal and relief under the Convention Against Torture ("CAT"). We have jurisdiction under 8 U.S.C. § 1252, and we deny the petition.

Substantial evidence supports the BIA's determination that Petitioner is ineligible for withholding of removal because Petitioner's proposed social group is not cognizable.¹ Petitioner argues that he will be persecuted in Mexico as a "Mexican male[] with long residence and family tie[s] to the United States." He argues that organized criminals in Mexico will kidnap, torture, or murder him because they will believe that he or his family has ransom money after living and working in the United States. The BIA concluded that this proposed social group lacks social distinction in Mexican society. Although Petitioner submitted country conditions evidence showing that criminals in Mexico sometimes prey upon people who have been deported from the United States, this evidence does not compel the conclusion that Mexican society perceives Mexican men with family ties to the United States, and a long history of residing in the United States, as a distinct group. See Delgado-Ortiz v. Holder, 600 F.3d 1148, 1151-52 (9th Cir. 2010) (per curiam) (noting that "returning Mexicans from the United States" is "too broad to qualify as a cognizable social group”); Matter of W-G-R-, 26 I. & N. Dec. 208, 214-17 (BIA 2014), vacated in part on other grounds by Reyes v. Lynch, 842 F.3d 1125 (9th Cir. 2016).

Substantial evidence also supports the BIA’s determination that Petitioner is not eligible for CAT relief because Petitioner failed to show it is more likely than not that he will be tortured if he returns to Mexico. Petitioner testified that he was beaten and robbed several times in Mexico. He did not report these incidents to the police because he believed the police were corrupt and worked with the criminals. He generally fears violence in Mexico but does not believe that anyone is planning to personally target him. Petitioner also submitted country conditions evidence showing generalized evidence of violence perpetrated by gangs, drug cartels, and corrupt law enforcement officers. The evidence in the record does not compel the conclusion that “it is more likely than not that [Petitioner] would be tortured if removed to” Mexico. 8 C.F.R. § 208.16(c)(2); see Delgado-Ortiz, 600 F.3d at 1152.
