Judge: Hon. André Birotte Jr.

Date: October 24, 2016

Time: 10:00 a.m.

Crtrm.: 4

Trial Date: None Set

1 I, Rose Leda Ehler, hereby declare:

2 1. I am an attorney with Munger, Tolles & Olson LLP, counsel for 3 Plaintiffs in this matter. I am a member of the California Bar and am admitted to 4 practice before this Court. I have knowledge of the matters set forth below based on 5 my direct involvement in this matter or the direct involvement of other lawyers at 6 my firm. If called as a witness, I could and would testify competently to the facts
7 stated herein.

8 2. The parties agreed to exchange expedited discovery covering a number
9 of mutually agreed categories in advance of Plaintiffs' Motion for Preliminary
10 Injunction. Attached as Exhibit A are true and correct copies of a VidAngel Press
11 Release and various advertisements produced by VidAngel. Also included within 12 this exhibit are true and correct copies of screenshot printouts from various sites,
13 including VidAngel's website (www.vidangel.com), YouTube
14 (<https://www.youtube.com/vidangel>)<sup>1</sup>, Facebook
15 (<https://www.facebook.com/VidAngel/>) and Twitter
16 (https://twitter.com/VidAngel/with\_replies), that contain VidAngel advertisements
17 and marketing messages. In these marketing materials, VidAngel compares its 18 service with licensed legitimate on-demand streaming services and/or offers titles
19 not available on on-demand streaming services and at a lower cost than such other 20 services charge.

21 3. Attached as Exhibit B are true and correct copies of internal documents
22 produced by VidAngel that discuss its marketing strategy of comparing itself to 23 legitimate on-demand streaming services.

24 _____

25 <sup>1</sup> Plaintiffs have included a slipsheet with a true and correct copy of a screenshot
26 from "VidAngel ad with Matt Messe from Studio C" and hyperlink to 27 <https://youtu.be/9XOjdARr87I> (last visited Aug. 21, 2016). If the Court would 28 prefer, Plaintiffs will gladly submit DVDs containing copies of these videos for the Court's review.

1           4.       Attached hereto as Exhibit C is a true and correct copy of a screenshot
2 printout of VidAngel’s Blog (<http://blog.vidangel.com>) containing a user comment
3 that states: “I could watch Star Wars 7 on VidAngel (only filtering one small thing)
4 for $1 before any other video streaming service had it available. If you guys are 5 allowed to rip, stream and resell DVDs, the other streaming services will want to do
6 it too—it’s only fair.” This document bears the Bates number PL0000394.

7           5.       Attached hereto as Exhibit D is a true and correct copy of a document
8 produced by VidAngel in response to discovery requesting documents sufficient to 9 show VidAngel’s total number of users. This document bears the Bates number 10 D02374.

11          6.       Attached hereto as Exhibit E is a true and correct copy of an article
12 downloaded from the internet, titled “VidAngel Streaming Service: Don’t Like 13 Offensive Content in Movies? No Problem” by Jim Probasco of Benzinga. The 14 article features an interview with VidAngel CEO, Neal Harmon, in which he says 15 that, “if you charge people to use a filter, the market shrinks [from 47%] to less than 16 1% of Americans.” The document bears the Bates numbers PL0000531-33.

17          7.       Attached hereto as Exhibit F is a true and correct copy of a printout
18 from the RedFox.bz website that explains the company was started by “former 19 SlySoft developers and staff” and an article posted on TorrentFreak that explains
20 that the owner of SlySoft had been “found guilty of providing tools to circumvent
21 AACS encryption.”

22          8.       Attached as Exhibit G are true and correct copies of screenshot
23 printouts from various sites, including VidAngel’s Blog, Facebook and Twitter that 24 contain VidAngel marketing in which it highlights that it prices its service at $1 a 25
26
27
28

1 day. This low price is only because VidAngel does not pay licensing fees.

2 VidAngel has posted two videos to YouTube explaining its “buy-sellback” process.<sup>2</sup>

3 9. Attached as Exhibit H is a true and correct copy of a screenshot
4 printout from VidAngel’s Twitter page containing a user comment, asking why
5 VidAngel prices individual episodes of television series the same price as individual
6 motion pictures. VidAngel responds that they are “[w]orking on Season pricing.”
7 The document bears the Bates number PL0000341.

8 10. Attached as Exhibit I are true and correct copies of screenshot printouts
9 from various sites, including from Facebook, Twitter and YouTube<sup>3</sup>, containing 10 VidAngel user comments, in which the commenters extoll the benefits of VidAngel
11 as compared to other on-demand streaming services, including that VidAngel 12 streams new releases, that it has titles not available on other streaming services, and 13 that VidAngel charges a lower price than those services. Also included are press
14 and blog articles from USA Today, Benzinga and ArtofBeingCheap.com discussing 15 VidAngel as a competitor to licensed on-demand streaming services.

16 11. Attached as Exhibit J are true and correct copies of screenshot printouts
17 from various sites, including Facebook, Twitter, and VidAngel’s website containing 18 marketing messages promoting VidAngel’s addition of Star Wars: The Force

19 _____
20 <sup>2</sup> Plaintiffs have included a slipsheet with true and correct copies of screenshots
21 from “How $1 Movies Work on VidAngel Sellback” and hyperlink to 22 <https://youtu.be/wvcF4x1d0xo> (last visited Aug. 21, 2016) as well as “How 23 VidAngel $1 Movies Work in 15 Seconds” and hyperlink to 24 <https://youtu.be/map6EIP41bY> (last visited Aug. 21, 2016). If the Court would 25 prefer, Plaintiffs will gladly submit DVDs containing copies of these videos for the
26 Court’s review.

27 <sup>3</sup> Plaintiffs have included a slipsheet with a true and correct copy of a screenshot
28 from “VidAngel – An Honest Review” and hyperlink to <http://youtu.be/KG7xgmDHF40> (last visited Aug. 21, 2016). If the Court would prefer, Plaintiffs will gladly submit DVDs containing copies of these videos for the Court’s review.

1 Awakens to VidAngel’s list of available titles on April 5, 2016, and showing that it
2 was available for streaming that day.

3 12. Attached as Exhibit K are true and correct copies of screenshot
4 printouts from VidAngel’s Facebook and Twitter pages, containing user comments
5 and VidAngel’s responses regarding VidAngel’s decision to remove the auto-
6 sellback feature and the credits filter.

7 13. Attached as Exhibit L are true and correct copies of screenshot
8 printouts from VidAngel’s Twitter page, containing user comments complaining
9 about the quality of the viewing experience on VidAngel.

10 14. Attached as Exhibit M is a true and correct copy of a VidAngel Blog
11 post, dated May 18, 2016, titled, “Is VidAngel’s service legal?” The document 12 bears the Bates numbers PL0000198-202.

13 15. Attached as Exhibit N are true and correct copies of screenshot
14 printouts from various sites, including Facebook, Twitter, and VidAngel’s Blog,
15 showing VidAngel marketing new releases, including The Revenant (2015),
16 Zootopia (2016), Deadpool (2016), Kung Fu Panda 3 (2016), Batman v. Superman:
17 Dawn of Justice (2016) and Keanu (2016).

18 16. Attached as Exhibit O are true and correct copies of VidAngel Blog
19 posts, setting forth VidAngel’s response to this lawsuit. The publications include
20 advertisements for t-shirts representing the Plaintiffs as “Darth Mickey with the fox-
21 tail on the broom.” Another VidAngel Blog post describes this lawsuit as letters
22 between “pen-pals.”

23 17. Attached hereto as Exhibit P is a true and correct copy of a VidAngel
24 blog post and accompanying user comments that discuss the “buy-sellback”
25 transaction.

26 18. Attached hereto as Exhibit Q is a true and correct copy of a screenshot
27 printout from Twitter, in which VidAngel posted that filtering “nudity/graphic
28

1 violence/f-bomb” from Fox’s Deadpool omits only 14 minutes of total running time
2 from that motion picture.

3 19. Attached hereto as Exhibit R is a true and correct copy of deposition
4 exhibit 10 from the August 11, 2016, deposition of Defendants’ Rule 30(b)(6)
5 designee and CEO of VidAngel, Neal Harmon.

WATCH MOVIES HOWEVER THE BLEEP YOU WANT

For Immediate Release

VidAngel Lets Customers Stream Filtered Movies for One BLEEPING Dollar

$2.5 Million Raised in Seed Funding

SALT LAKE CITY—October 1, 2015—VidAngel allows parents to cut violence, profanity and/or nudity out of movies and TV shows for the net price of $1 (both filter and movie included). Unlike Amazon, Google Play, and iTunes, which charge up to $4.99 for streaming, VidAngel costs only $1 per movie, allowing viewers to watch 5 movies for the price of 1 (see how net \$1 sell-back works HERE). All filters are completely personalized, with customers selecting exactly what to cut from the film. The company has already raised $2.5 million in seed funding.

VidAngel allows streaming on Apple TV, Roku, Chromecast, computer, tablet, or smartphone. It requires no subscription, no custom hardware, and no additional purchase, thus eliminating any need to run to the red-painted box at the grocery store. In addition to SD videos, HD videos are available for net price of $2.

Over half of all movies produced are rated R or NC-17. Yet almost 3/4 of revenue is generated by family-friendly movies (G, PG, PG-13), indicating that consumers want more family-friendly content than Hollywood is currently producing. “Family-friendly films make almost 3 times the revenue as mature films,” says Neal Harmon, CEO of VidAngel. “We bridge the gap between what Hollywood wants to make and what families want to watch. The demand is incredibly high. Our sales are doubling every couple of months because individuals and families choose to cut out nudity, violence, and swearing to fit their personal preferences.”

WATCH MOVIES HOWEVER THE BLEEP YOU WANT

For years, Hollywood has created different cuts of their movies to reach different audiences: the studio cut for theaters, the FCC cut for airlines, the director's cut for film buffs, and the unrated cut for prurient audiences. Now VidAngel lets you create "Your Cut." But rather than unilaterally deciding what is appropriate for customers, VidAngel allows each person to choose what he or she wants to cut, according to personal preferences.

"People often ask if this is public censorship," Harmon continues. "Absolutely not. Directors have the right to create whatever kind of content they want to create. We don't endorse censorship of their content in the public sphere. But in the privacy of the home, it is the individual's legal right to watch that content in the way they choose. That right is protected by law." (Family Entertainment and Copyright Act of 2005)

VidAngel customers can choose exactly what they want to filter—such as turning off only F-words, nude scenes, or any other configuration. 50,000 users have already customized 100,000 movies, a number that will grow dramatically now that VidAngel is open for public use.

"Now you can watch movies with the kids without bad words, violence, nudity or sex scenes," states Russ Warner, past CEO for ContentWatch in Huffington Post. "Pick a movie... decide which words and scenes to remove, and then hit play! It's very simple." And setting VidAngel up is so easy, anyone can do it.

The VidAngel seed financing of $2.5 million dollars came from institutional and angel investors including TPP Capital Advisors, early backer of Omniture; Kickstart Seed Fund; Alta Ventures; and high-profile angel investors Warren Osborn, Blu-ray packaging pioneer for Hollywood; and John Richards, former CEO of CleanFilms. The $2.5 Million in seed funding has allowed the company to launch its public BETA of its popular and unique movie viewing service.

Hi [name],

As you are well aware, moms everywhere are constantly trying to find clean, safe entertainment for their families. We at VidAngel.com would like to team up with [blog name] to make this possible — and give you some compensation in return.

What is VidAngel?

VidAngel.com is a streaming service similar to Netflix that allows parents to cut violence, language, and/or sex/nudity out of movies and TV shows. It allows you, as the parent, to decide exactly what your family should and should not be watching, in a totally legal way.

In addition to making movies clean, VidAngel also makes them cheap ($1 for SD, $2 for HD) using a sellback option described in this video. Watching a movie on VidAngel is up to 80% cheaper than watching with another service (iTunes, Amazon Video, Google Play).

What is the VidAngel Affiliate Program?

- A VidAngel Affiliate creates an account at ShareASale.com, connects with VidAngel's profile, and uses the ads/links provided by VidAngel to send readers from their blog/site to VidAngel.com.
- A VidAngel Affiliate earns $7 for each new customer they send our way that watches a movie from our service.

Visit our Affiliate Program Page for more information.

And if that's not enough...

We would like to offer you $25 VidAngel credit so you can fully test the service before promoting it on [blog name].

We would love to team up with you and give families the service they've wanted for so long! Let us know what you think, and feel free to contact me with any questions!

Streaming is Now Only 1 BLEEPING Dollar for all SD Movies*

October 30, 2015 Press Madeleine Flynn

You may have noticed things have been changing around here. Everything is prettier and wittier.

The best change of all is that EVERY SD movie on our site is now only $1 with sellback. No tax. No fees. No extra pennies. ONE DOLLAR! In fact, we are so tired of pennies that we are rounding your credit up to the nearest dollar. For the cherry on top, our new "Auto-sellback" feature means you don't even have to remember to sell it back. What kind of wizardry is this? We don't have magical powers – we just like you. That's why it's now $1 for all SD movies.

To make life simpler, we have changed all movies to the same price: $20. HD, SD, new release, the 1930s Wizard of Oz... there is no discrimination. All movies and TV shows** are now $20. This means no more confusing prices when you are picking your Friday night flick.

Here's a summary of our recent shenanigans:

- All SD Movies are now $1 with sellback.
- All movies and tv shows, both HD and SD, are now $20 to keep for good.
- We created a new, prettier website and logo.

* SD Movies can now be sold back for $1 less than purchase price, meaning you only pay $1 for up to 24 hours of unlimited viewing of that particular film.

** You may be thinking, why do TV shows cost just as much as movies? That is a great question! We just want to make your experience as simple as possible by standardizing the prices across all shows. The TV shows will still only be $1-$2 with sell-back. In the future, we will be creating a way to buy whole seasons of TV shows if you want to keep the episodes. So hold tight if that's what you're looking for.

Love what you guys are doing! Quick question—in the past I purchased some movies through Google Play to use via Vidangel. Is it still possible to play movies I have previously purchased or is rental/sellback the only option now?

Thanks!

Annoyed

Why would you change it to $20 an episode!? That money is not credited back to our credit card. It's credited back to your website so that we have to keep renting your movies if we want to ever get our money back. It's a sham and I am very disappointed. I love what you guys do but if you expect to keep customers, you should stop trying to trick them.

We apologize for any misunderstanding. We are not trying to be deceiving in any way. We are happy to refund your card for any remaining credit in your account, at any time. We say so right in the video on our homepage, as well as in our terms and conditions. We have a very thorough write up of how our system works on numerous pages on our website. We are trying to be as clear as possible because we know the whole buying and selling thing can be a little confusing. We want our service to be 100% legal, and to do so; you must own your movie while filtering it. Hence, the Buy with Sell-Back process.

If you would like to read more about the details of our Sell-Back process, we have a great explanation here:

us instead.

Can I ever use my credits to bring my account to a $0 balance without purchasing a movie to keep?

Seems I am constantly buying movies for $20 and selling back, leaving my account with a endless $19 credit that I can never spend. Make sense?

Here is an explanation that will hopefully help you understand a little better. You are welcome to cash out your credits at any time.

For us to legally offer filtered movies, you must own the movie while filtering it. To make this as affordable and user-friendly as possible, we have created an instant “Sell-Back” option to buy the movie back from you and put the credit into your VidAngel account.

No hassle, no fuss, just enjoy your movie, sell it back, and only pay $1.00 for your SD movie.

Quick Overview: (using a $20 movie)

1. BUY THE MOVIE – Pay the retail price of $20. (initial credit card payment)
2. WATCH FOR $1.00 – $1.00 (per day for SD movies) is deducted from the $20 credit. ($2.00 HD).
3. SELL THE MOVIE – When finished, “Sell it Back” for $19.00 of instant credit to your VidAngel account for your next purchase.

When you're ready for the next movie, the $19 credit already in your VidAngel account will automatically be applied to your purchase. Your card will be charged $1 to bring your account up to the $20 purchase price. You will then continue to buy and sell movies with account credit and pay only $1.00 per night for SD movies. With every $1 per night, you get back $19 in credit and the process repeats with each new movie.

I actually wanted to start buying my movies here and just keep everything all in one place, but a lot of the movies offered I could probably get lower. Is there going to be any more structuring in the future to balance that out? Like older movies being a lower price? I'm happy to basically use this as a rental service, but it would be nice to use it for more than that.

Two things

1. The process for getting the refund back to my credit card is not clear in the steps ( even in the posts and in the help section all it says is you can get the entire credit back- but doesnt exactly say how). Rest of the steps are pretty detailed. there is also no button to request the refund.
2. the whole thing that once you buy and resell the remainder of the credit is used for your next purchase sellback doesnt seem to work with apple tv app ... i have like 36 dollars of credit... and the app didnt factor in my existing credit at all while making the next purchase

Love the concept. $1 per movie is great! I really hope you come up with something different for the TV shows soon. I'd love to go through House of Cards, but not for $39! We stopped watching it on Netflix because of the vulgarity and nudity. I love what you do, but for binge watching TV shows, the price is just too steep. Is a subscription service in future? I'd drop Netflix and sign up in a heartbeat! Thanks.

I was really excited to find your service. I have been looking for a way to watch Game of Thrones edited for quite some time. I was really disappointed to learn of your pricing model for TV shows. There are 4 seasons you currently offer. Each season has 10 episodes. At your current pricing that is $20 per season. That's $80 to watch your current library and that's at the not keep the video pricing. I can't justify spending that amount of money for essentially "renting" a TV show I've been wanting to see. I've noticed you've said that you are working on a better option for the TV shows but do you know what kind of time frame we are looking at? And can you give us any sort of idea as to what approach on a pricing model your headed toward? Thanks for your hard work and feed back.

The reason Vidangel can filter these movies is because they purchase the actual episodes, movies. For example, Vidangel owns 500 copies of The Matrix and therefore can only rent out 500 filtered versions at a time. That's why sometimes you will see a HD version of a movie as unavailable.

Soooo, who are the poor saps who have to watch unfiltered movies in order to save the rest of us from having to see stuff we don't like? My hat is off to them, sir. Thank them for me for taking a hit for the team. (hopefully, they don't mind)

Please make a big announcement when tv gets cheaper. I don't know why that seems so expensive, even if you do 2 episodes for the price of one so they are the length of a movie, it still feels high. I recognize the time and effort is the same for you guys. However, when they are full seasons for a price, I'm in!

Everyone who tags agrees to tag stuff they already watch so no one "takes one for the team." But we're grateful for the tagging community... it's tedious work and works really well because of their efforts.

Not only does VidAngel allow my family to watch clean content, but they have a bigger selection than streaming services like Netflix and Amazon Prime. We bought Star Wars and sold it back for a total of $1 when it was like $5 to rent on Amazon. So even if you don't need content cleaned, it's a great video service.

Streaming 'Star Wars' cheaply via VidAngel

Roger Yu, USA TODAY

4:42 p.m. EST January 13, 2016

(Photo: Lucasfilm)

Star Wars-loving parents across America know the dilemma.

Do I cough up $80 to buy the Star Wars DVD series — for all six previous chapters — so that the kids can be up to speed before watching Star Wars, The Force Awakens, the latest release that's breaking all kinds of box-office records? Even used DVDs — only for the first three chapters — are going for about $30 on Amazon. eBay isn't much cheaper.

Netflix might be a solution. But that, too, presents obstacles. A year ago, Star Wars DVDs were like any others on Netflix. You put them on the DVD queue and they're mailed in a few days. But with the previous chapters in hot demand, you'll likely have to stand in line. A copy of Star Wars (A New Hope), the 1977 release that started it all, required a "Very Long Wait" on Netflix as of early this week, at least here in the Washington, D.C., area.

VidAngel, a video-streaming service based in Utah, might be a solution for the impatient — if you're willing to go through a few extra steps.

It works like this: To circumvent any copyright issues, you sign up for an account and buy a movie — say, the original Star Wars — for $20. You own the movie, but VidAngel streams it on its website.

Once you're done watching, you can keep it by having VidAngel send you the DVD. Or you can sell it back to VidAngel within 24 hours of viewing it for $18 to $19. So basically, you've just watched the HD version for $2. (The standard definition costs $1.)

You can ask for the $18 balance to be refunded. Or you can — like many other VidAngel customers — choose to keep your the balance in your VidAngel account, which will then be used for future purchases. If you rent the following chapter, The Empire Strikes Back, the $18 credit will be applied to the $20 purchase. And rinse and repeat.

You can send the movie up to the big TV by hooking up the laptop with an HDMI cable. You can also use Google's Chromecast to stream content on the Chrome browser.

VidAngel, founded by CEO Neal Harmon and his three brothers, was started as a service for viewers who wish to watch movies with questionable and adult scenes cut out. So before starting the movie, viewers are asked to select and save their preferences on filters for that content. You can choose to eliminate profanity or sexually suggestive content, and even opening credits.

And thankfully, one of the filters also lets you blip out Jar Jar Binks scenes.

There's a streaming service available that may be unfamiliar to the masses. It's not reached the societal consciousness the way Netflix, Inc. ▼NFLX 0.39% (<http://benzinga.com/stock/nflx#NASDAQ>), YouTube or Hulu have, but it deserves attention.

VidAngel (<https://www.vidangel.com>) has two significant elements to its service that make it unique and worthy of a second look. For one, the business model offers movies for streaming as low as $1 through its "buy and sell back" program. Secondly, VidAngel allows users to filter unwanted/offensive content.

As explained by co-founder Neal Harmon (<http://www.nasdaq.com/article/vidangel-streaming-service-dont-like-offensive-content-in-movies-no-problem-cm586495>) to Benzinga's Jim Probasco, "Our tagline is 'Watch movies and TV shows however the BLEEP you want.'"

Related Link: 'Rogue One: A Star Wars Story' Trailer Is Here
(<http://www.benzinga.com/news/16/04/7814161/rogue-one-a-star-wars-story-trailer-is-here>)

Harmon elaborated, "That means you can watch any movie you own on any device you want to and customized the way you want to watch it. For example, if you don't want to see Jar Jar Binks in Star Wars, you can set a filter to cut out Jar Jar Binks. If you don't want to see nudity in Game of Thrones, you can cut that out. You have the power to watch the movie however you want."

'Star Wars: The Force Awakens' Now Available

The DVD and BluRay for Walt Disney Co ▼ DIS 1.12% (<http://benzinga.com/stock/dis#NYSE>) 's newest Star Wars episode became available for public retail on Tuesday, with the general price tag of $19.99.

However, with VidAngel's buy and sell back program, viewers can watch the new release (<https://www.vidangel.com/movie/star-wars-the-force-awakens>) for as little as $1 per night.

Unlike RedBox, where customers rent a dvd and are charged per day (which can exceed the price of the DVD), VidAngel allows customers to buy the movie up front. Harmon summarized the process, "Actually, it's the opposite of Redbox. With Redbox you rent the movie and pay for it every day. If you forget to take it back, you end up paying for and owning it."

"With VidAngel you buy the movie up front for $20. That's because you have to own it for us to be able to filter your stream for you. After you watch it, you can keep it or you can sell it back. The sellback price is $19 for SD and $18 for HD. So it is essentially $1 per night for SD and $2 per night for HD with sellback," he explained to Probasco.

An instruction manual on how to save money

Vidangel: Not just for religious nuts. Cheap new movies for everyone (<http://artofbeingcheap.com/vidangel/>)

6th May, 2016 (<http://artofbeingcheap.com/vidangel/>) · Andy Prescott

(<http://artofbeingcheap.com/author/artofbeingcheap/>) (<http://artofbeingcheap.com/vidangel/#respond>)

VidAngel  STREAM MOVIES FOR
ONE BLEEPING DOLLAR
 per day with sellback

(<http://shareasale.com/r.cfm?b=808463&u=1294722&m=52993&urlink=&afftrack=>)

VidAngel (<http://www.shareasale.com/r.cfm?>

b=594840&u=1294722&m=52993&urlink=&afftrack=) (affiliate link) is a movie/ TV show streaming service that is primarily marketed towards religious nuts for its ability to edit nudity, swear words, and other ungodly things out of movies. But all you nudity loving, frugal, Satan worshippers (and those of you who fall somewhere in between the spectrum of religious nuts and nudity loving Satan worshippers) out there need to hold on just a second because Vidangel is an unholy good deal!

The economics of streaming video is broken

The entire video streaming industry has been broken since it was invented and VidAngel (<http://www.shareasale.com/r.cfm?b=594840&u=1294722&m=52993&urlink=&afftrack=>) has finally fixed it. Let's say you want to rent a movie at Redbox. All of the following things have to happen and expenses have to be incurred for you to rent a movie at Redbox:

1. The DVD needs to be manufactured
2. The DVD needs to be packaged
3. The DVD needs to be shipped somewhere
4. The DVD needs to be unpackaged
5. The DVD needs to be put into one of those clear plastic Redbox containers
6. The DVD needs to be taken to the Redbox
7. The Redbox machines has to be manufactured
8. The Redbox machine has to be taken to its retail location and installed.
9. Somebody needs to fill the Redbox with all those DVDs and take out the ones nobody watches anymore
10. Somebody has to fix the redbox machine when it isn't working right
11. Redbox has to pay rent for the space it's machines take up

So all of those things have to be done and paid for and still it only costs like what $1.25? That is incredible!

On the other hand look at streaming. All you need is a server to store the movie on and an internet connection to send the movie out over. The marginal cost of you renting one more movie over a streaming service may not be zero, but it is a number awfully close to zero.

So why the hell does it cost me $5 to rent a movie over streaming?!? Sure you can pay a little under $10 per month to Amazon, Netflix, or Hulu to get a relatively small selection of unlimited movies that are many years old. But, if you want to watch a recent movie you have to shell out $5 bucks to Google Play or Amazon video. Why? It doesn't make sense! Streaming should cost a fraction of Redbox, not 5X more!

Vidangel fixes the economics of streaming video. Finally, somebody has come out with a streaming video service that makes sense. The cost is $1 for standard definition or $2 for high definition. That is a fair price. Sure there are a few minor but obnoxious catches, but the bottom line is Vidangel is the best deal out there for seeing new release movies.

Here is how Vidangel works.

First you buy the movie for $20, then you watch it, then you sell it back to VidAngel (<http://www.shareasale.com/r.cfm?b=594840&u=1294722&m=52993&urlink=&afftrack=>) for $19. I know it sounds screwy, but that is the way it works. My family watched a couple of movies this weekend to test it out, and sure enough, a credit for $19 appeared on my account making the net price of the movie $1. Why mess around with buying the movie then selling it back instead of just renting them? That is how they can legally do their stupid editing tricks, but we will get to that later.

In addition to movies, you can also watch TV shows. A dollar per episode of a TV show really isn't a very good deal in my book, but there are some exceptions. My wife loves watching the HBO show Game of Thrones which leads to an annual fight over whether or not we are going to be spending $15/month on HBO for several months until this year's season of Game of Thrones is over. One dollar per episode is a whole lot cheaper than $15 a month for HBO, so those fights have now been resolved.

Vidangel is simple to use

VidAngel (<http://www.shareasale.com/r.cfm?b=594840&u=1294722&m=52993&urlink=&afftrack=>) is as easy as it is cheap. You can watch it on the always easy to use Roku player (<http://amzn.to/1Xc9KoW>) (affiliate link), Amazon Fire stick (<http://amzn.to/1Xc9WEM>) (affiliate link) or the chromecast (<http://artofbeingcheap.com/stream-tv/>). I chose to watch it using my ipad and a chromecast.

First I installed the chromecast and Vidangel apps onto my Ipad. From the Vidangel app I found a movie and sent it to my chromecast so I could watch it on my living room TV. The Vidangel app was easy to navigate, and completely intuitive. I found the movie I wanted to watch, clicked just a couple of buttons to buy it, clicked a single button to watch it, then clicked a single button to sell it back to Vidangel for my $19 credit when I was done. It just couldn't have been easier.

The stupid editing nonsense

Even though VidAngel (<http://www.shareasale.com/r.cfm?b=594840&u=1294722&m=52993&urlink=&afftrack=>) is a hell of a good deal, that isn't how it is marketed. It is marketed towards religious nuts as a service to edit out all the naughty bits of a movie or TV show. If you look at all the other reviews (besides this one) of Vidangel you find on the internet you will find an endless stream of praise about how great it is that (insert my brand of fundamentalism here) people like me can finally watch movies without having to hear swear words or how wonderful it is that children can finally be allowed to watch movies made for adults.

(<http://artofbeingcheap.com/wp-content/uploads/2016/05/vidangel.jpg>)

Is this really that big of a problem? I have a couple of kids myself, and it just never occurred to me that I should be angry about this. When my kids were little, we watched family movies together. That was fine, we had a great time. Never once did I say to myself "I wish I could watch movies full of drugs, sex, and violence with my kids." Honestly, it just never occurred to me. My wife and I watched those movies later, when my kids were in bed.

Now that my kids are older we watch movies that have a little more adult themes, but this still isn't a problem. The movie industry puts the ratings of PG or PG-13 on movies to tell me how appropriate a movie is for my children and that works just fine. My kids simply don't need to watch rated R movies.

OK, enough of my ranting, back to the review. If you are the kind of person who wants to let your kid watch dirty movies with all the dirty parts cut out then VidAngel is for you. This is why you have to originally buy the movie for $20 before selling it back for $19. You have to actually own the movie to legally be allowed to edit it. If you were only renting the movie then it isn't yours and editing it would be a copyright violation. There you go.

So after you buy a movie you are taken to a screen where you choose which parts of the movie you want edited out. If you are not a religious nut then at this point you are probably thinking "This is easy, I will just choose not to have any parts of the movie edited out." That is what I was thinking also, but it doesn't work that way. You have to edit out at least 1 part of the movie, and Vidangel won't let you watch it until you do. Why can't you just watch the movie without editing it? Because screw you! That's why!

So you look at a list of all the parts that can potentially be cut out of the movie (You know, because a teenage girls shoulder can be seen or whatever) and look for the part that looks like it will matter the least if you cut it out.

To test things out, my wife and I watched Ted 2, a movie full of drug use and sexual innuendo just to see how things would work out. We looked at the list of things to edit out of the movie and decided to edit out the closing credits, because that seemed to be what would interfere with the movie the least.

It worked fine. We watched the whole movie except for the closing credits. We saw lots of sex jokes, drug jokes, bathroom jokes, and violence. It worked just fine. By the way, if the closing credits of Ted 2 are just great and I should go back and watch them will somebody let me know?

The editing part of Vidangel is obnoxious, but it really doesn't hurt things all that bad. Just a minor inconvenience you have to pay to in order to get brand new streaming movies for $1.

TL/DNR

Vidangel lets you stream brand new movies or TV shows for $1. Yay! It is also super easy to use. It has this obnoxious forced editing deal where religious nuts can take dirty parts out of a movie. No, you can't just ignore the obnoxious editing deal, you have to edit out one small part of your show. Despite the obnoxious editing deal Vidangel is still the best deal in streaming movies. You can sign up for VidAngel (<http://www.shareasale.com/r.cfm?b=594840&u=1294722&m=52993&urlink=&afftrack=>) (affiliate link) here.

We're making some updates to our systems and needed to temporarily disable the opening and closing credits. But don't worry, those are useful filters and we'll bring them back after we get the changes made to all the apps. Sorry for the temporary inconvenience!!

VidAngel Studios have complained about VidAngel's auto-sellback feature.

Although we believe auto-sellback to be completely legal, we hope to cultivate better relationships with Hollywood studios by voluntarily addressing some of their concerns. So we have turned off auto-sellback. Our mission has always been to deliver popular Hollywood entertainment to families in a format that is acceptable to each household.

Vid Angel was my favorite company until they began expanding. For example they used have an Autodesk back option which was great. They removed that option so they make more money off of us if we forget to sell the movie back at the end.

VidAngel Hi Ryan! Thanks for using VidAngel. I can assure you we did not remove auto-sellback to make more money.

You may have heard that VidAngel is currently engaged in a lawsuit with certain studios who claim that our business model is illegal. Among other things, they have complained about VidAngel's auto-sellback feature.

Although we believe auto-sellback to be completely legal, we hope to cultivate better relationships with Hollywood studios by voluntarily addressing some of their concerns. So we have turned off auto-sellback.

How to watch filtered HD movies for $2 on VidAngel + Frequently Asked Questions

□ April 26, 2015 □ How to, Platform Support □ Jeffrey Harmon

Friends have been asking a load of questions about how VidAngel sell back works. Everyone who gets it LOVES it because you can save $200 per year compared to the old VidAngel on streaming filtered movies. But it takes a little education to understand.

For us to legally offer filtered movies, you must own the movie while filtering it. To make this as affordable and user-friendly as possible, we have created an instant "Sell-Back" option to buy the movie back from you and put the credit into your VidAngel account. No hassle, no fuss, just enjoy your movie, sell it back, and only pay $2.00 for your HD movie.

We made this video that will help you learn how it works in just a minute and a half:

Quick Overview: (using a $20 movie)

1. BUY THE MOVIE – Pay the retail price of $20. (initial credit card payment)
2. WATCH FOR $2.00 – $2.00 (per day for HD movies) is deducted from the $20 credit. $1.00 per day for SD or Television shows.
3. SELL THE MOVIE – When finished, "Sell it Back" for $18.00 of instant credit to your

VidAngel account for your next purchase.

When you're ready for the next movie, the credit already in your VidAngel account will automatically be applied to your purchase. Continue to buy and sell movies with account credit and pay only $2.00 per HD movie. If you always buy and sellback within 24 hours, then all future credit card transactions will be the $2.00 watch price.

Other Frequently Asked Questions:

What if I want to keep my movie?

Here's how it works for HD:

Sell back the movie within 24 hours it's $2, up to 48 hours is $4
up to 72 hours is $6, etc

Until you reach the purchase price. At which point you own the movie. Once you own it, it will always be in your VidAngel vault to enjoy whenever you would like. If you decide you have kept your purchased movie long enough and don't want to watch it anymore – you also have the option to sell it back in exchange for a Free Movie Night.

Can I ever use all my credit?

Absolutely. You can keep buying and selling movies or Television episodes. Also, if you decide to keep a movie, it will use up your credit. However, if you always sell back for credit, then you will always have more credit to use next time.

Why can't I just rent movies?

It is not legal for VidAngel to rent movies to you.

Does my Credit ever expire?

NO – Your credit never expires. You can take as long as you like to spend it, or binge watch your favorite TV show and use it all in one weekend.

Why don't you automatically refund my credit card?

Great Question! We have worked hard to find the best and most cost-effective option for our customers to follow the legal law of owning their movie while filtering it. Most of our customers watch a new movie every weekend. The refund process from our credit card company takes 7-10 days. Meaning, you could be spending even more than ever because you would have your original purchase pending a refund, and then a new charge for the next movie. We don't want you double charged and waiting for refunds. The refund method was simply not a practical option for 99% of our customers. Not to mention if we refunded every single transaction we ever received, our credit card company would eventually drop our account – and if that happened you couldn't enjoy your fantastic filtered movies.

Can I ever turn my credits back into cash?

Of course! If you decide you have finished using VidAngel you can cash-out your remaining credits. It takes 7-10 business days to receive the funds back to your card, so you don't want to choose this unless you know you're done watching movies with VidAngel. (Any taxes, gifted credit, or promotional credit are not eligible for cash-out)

If you still have questions, or want to the Long Version that includes "How To" instructions, here you go:

Super Thorough step by step guide with instructions:

1. Find the movie you would like to watch and select it.
2. Click "Buy Now" and choose to store the DVD or Blu-ray in your VidAngel Vault and continue.
3. Select your HD or SD option and enter your credit card information.
4. Voila! You can now enjoy your movie!
5. Once you're finished, you can quickly sell your movie back, and we will instantly apply your movie credit to your VidAngel account.
6. For your convenience, there are four different ways to do this:
  1. The easiest option, is to check the Auto-Sellback box when you purchase your movie. It will sell it back as soon as your movie ends, and you don't even need to lift a finger.
  2. At any time during the movie you have a sell back icon in the top left corner of your movie screen.
  3. Once your movie ends – A sell-back box pops up on your screen reminding you to sell back.
  4. At any time, you can select the title in your "My Movies" dashboard to sell it back or confirm a sell-back if you are unsure: <http://www.vidangel.com/myvids/>
  5. Lastly, should you forget to sell back a movie, you will receive sell-back reminder emails from us that contain a link to sell back your purchase.
7. Once you have sold your movie back, you will see your VidAngel credit in your account.
8. This credit will automatically apply to your next purchase, so no need to worry about forgetting to use it.
9. You can view all your transactions in My Purchases: <http://www.vidangel.com/myvids/>

We know this explanation might be a bit long winded, but we want to be sure to answer every single question you have, so you are 100% comfortable using our service.

Thank you for using VidAngel!

I just recently discovered VidAngel and just tonight streamed my first movie. I have to say I was more than pleased. It was so nice to sit down with my family and watch a movie and not cringe every time I heard a cuss word or be embarrassed of a scene. I want to thank the “four brothers” for creating this viewing option for Christian families. I will do everything in my power to promote VidAngel to everyone I can. If there is something I can do beyond spreading the word about VidAngel, please contact me via email. I want to do what I can to support VidAngel in any way possible. Thank you again.....

Jason – we recently changed our service slightly, so that rather than streaming from YouTube, we are hosting all our own HD content. This is how we were able to bring you your own Roku channel. Due to the switch, a number of our movies have not yet been converted from the old version to the new HD streaming. We are working like crazy to add new movies every week, but it will take us a little bit of time to get them all converted.

Dear NR – Thanks for the great suggestions. We do have a "Watch Later" queue, and we are in the process of redesigning our website so that the movies will have the date of the movie, a great description, the ability to watch the trailer, the ratings information, as well as a host of other features.

You are free to cash out your credits at any time. It does take 7-10 business days for the refund to show up on your card, and most people want to watch a new movie in that time. So you really wouldn't want to cash out your credits until you are done using VidAngel.

You just put in your billing information and your card is charged when you purchase a movie. You don't add credit, once you sell back your movie the remaining amount from the purchase stays on your VidAngel account as credit for future purchases.

I just signed up and am excited to begin watching VidAngel!
If i choose multiple movies right now to "watch later", when will i be charged for each movie? After choosing watch later or when the movies are actually watched?

Great question! You won't be charged for a movie until you actually purchase the movie to watch. You are not charged when putting movies in your "watch later" list.

Is there a way to watch the movie multiple times in 24 hours and still check the box to sell back automatically? When I'm done watching the movie, it automatically sells it back, not leaving me a chance to go back and watch scenes or watch it again. If the automatic sellback could wait until my 24 hours are up, that would be helpful. Is there a way to do that?

Mindy – at this time, there is not a way to have both auto-sellback and keep the movie for the full 24-hours. Most of our customers requested that it sold back right away, so that they could use the credits to purchase their next movie immediately.

If you decide you have finished using VidAngel you can cash-out your remaining credits. It takes 7-10 business days to receive the funds back to your card, so you don't want to choose this unless you know you're done watching movies with VidAngel for awhile. (Any taxes, gifted credit, or promotional credit are not eligible for cash-out) Just email us and we can do this for you.

Hi. I'm thinking of signing up. Just want to be clear in pricing.

1st purchase my credit card is billed 20$.

Watch a movie

Sell it back for 19$

End up only paying 1$ for that movie

Next movie I buy, a new 1$ charge will appear on my CC

The original 19$ is like a "security deposit" that one keeps using to "buy" the movies.

I would get that back only when I "move out" i.e stop using your service.

Right?

It's like investing 19$ To be able to rent filtered movies for 1$ each time...

Thanks.

Pretty close to true. But the money in your account is yours. You can cash it out if you need it but most people just leave it there to watch their next movie. Simple explanation: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=map6EIP41bY>

DECLARATION OF ROBERT SCHUMANN

I, Robert Schumann, declare as follows:

1. I have been retained by Plaintiffs as an expert in this litigation. I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth herein, except as to those stated on information and belief and, as to those, I am informed and believe them to be true. If called as a witness, I could and would testify competently to the facts stated herein.

2. I have worked in the computer and technology industry for the past 31 years. In 1985, I received a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science from Rochester Institute of Technology. Since that time, I have worked in various facets of the computer industry, in connection with the design and development of computer software, computer networking systems, computer automation, consumer electronics, large-scale database processing, physical and electronic Audio/Video distribution systems, digital security and other content-protection systems. During this time, I have been personally involved in and overseen the development and licensing of sophisticated technical specifications including work on industry-standard specifications for digital content processing and security; the design and development of software in a variety of computer languages, including C++; the design and development of consumer electronics products and devices, including hardware DVD players, web-based services and the integration and licensing of third-party software packages, technologies and associated technical specifications.

3. I have seventeen issued and pending United States Patents, many of which involve digital content protection and consumer products. I was a founding member of the Digital Watermarking Alliance, an industry trade group for digital watermarking, and have spoken extensively at trade shows and other professional venues on content security.

4. From August of 1999 until October 2008, I was President and General Manager of Cinea, Inc. Cinea specialized in developing and operating content

1 VidAngel and the deposition testimony of Neal Harmon, it is my professional
2 opinion that VidAngel operates as follows.

3 8. VidAngel delivers content to users by streaming that content over the 4 Internet. In this context, “streaming” simply means the delivery of content to a
5 user’s device over the Internet. Here, VidAngel streams content to consumers
6 using, among other technologies, a video content delivery protocol called HTTP 7 Live Streaming, or HLS. Rather than using a single huge file, HLS divides the 8 content into many short media segments, with each segment generally lasting 9 between two and ten seconds and downloaded by the user’s device individually. At 10 the beginning of an HLS streaming session, the user’s device downloads an index
11 file, which provides the device a list of segment files that the device can then request
12 and play in order to watch the content.

13 9. VidAngel’s filtering technology allows it to [REDACTED]

22       VidAngel Obtains Plaintiffs’ Content On DVDs And Blu-ray Discs

23       13.    To implement its streaming service, VidAngel requires a digital copy of 24 Plaintiffs’ films and television content. To acquire the digital version of a particular
 25 piece of content VidAngel purchases copies of Plaintiffs’ movies and television
 26 shows on DVDs and Blu-ray discs, circumvents the digital content protection
 27 associated with the Blu-ray and DVD content and then copies that content onto its 28

1 servers. This process of removing content protection then copying the unprotected
2 content is popularly referred to as “ripping.”

3 14. A DVD, or “Digital Versatile Disc,” is a high capacity digital storage
4 medium, which can store data such as personal files, emails, etc. Depending on its 5 configuration, a DVD can store up to a maximum of 18 gigabytes of data. By 6 comparison, a typical audio CD will store about 700 megabytes of data. Since one
7 gigabyte equals 1024 megabytes, a 9 gigabyte DVD holds many times more—more
8 than 12 times more—data than a 700 megabyte CD.

9 15. DVDs’ large capacities allow them to store motion pictures (movies).
10 DVDs used to store motion pictures will most often hold approximately 9 gigabytes
11 of data. Content on DVDs is stored in a Standard Definition format. This format is 12 a relatively low-resolution format (640x480 pixels per frame) and thus provides a 13 good picture but not a modern High Definition image.

14 16. Blu-ray discs are a newer high capacity storage medium. The term
15 “blu-ray” refers to the blue laser that is used to read the disc. Blu-ray discs can store
16 even more data than DVDs. A Blu-ray disc can store a maximum of 128 gigabytes
17 of data, and, when used for motion pictures, will most commonly hold about 50
18 gigabytes—more than five times the storage capacity of the typical DVD. Content 19 on Blu-ray discs is encoded in a high definition format, typically 1080P, which 20 represents an image of 1920x1280 pixels per frame. Blu-ray discs have a 21 significantly higher image quality than DVD discs due to their denser pixel count.

22 17. Subject to the security and encryption restrictions discussed below,
23 both DVDs and Blu-ray discs are viewable either on a television (using a stand-
24 alone DVD player or Blu-ray player) or on a computer with a DVD or Blu-ray drive 25 and specialized playback software.

26 18. DVDs and Blu-ray discs offer many advantages over VHS cassettes,
27 including a much better viewing experience, but they also make a more attractive
28 target for individuals to copy their content without authorization. When one copies

1 the contents from a VHS tape, the quality of the copy is less than that of the original.
2 The same is not true for digital formats like DVDs and Blu-ray discs. For those
3 formats, the copy and the original are of the same quality. Further, digital copies are 4 much easier to distribute than analog copies. Accordingly, a movie that has been 5 copied can easily be uploaded online and distributed around the world. There are,
6 therefore, security measures that can be used for both DVDs and Blu-ray discs to 7 protect their contents.

8 19. Based on my review of VidAngel’s documents, my own review of the 9 VidAngel service, and the deposition testimony of Neal Harmon, I believe that 10 VidAngel almost always uses [REDACTED] as the source of the digital copies rather 11 than [REDACTED]. This allows VidAngel to make higher quality copies of the movies and 12 television shows. VidAngel will use [REDACTED] as the source for their ripped content
13 only when [REDACTED] are unavailable [REDACTED]

14 [REDACTED]

15 [REDACTED] See Ex. D.

16 CSS Is An Effective Access-Control System For DVDs

17 20. Plaintiffs in this case use the Content Scramble System (“CSS”) in 18 order to protect their copyrighted works on DVDs. CSS is a digital rights 19 management system that prevents access to—but not viewing of—digital copies of 20 works stored on DVDs in order to prevent effective copying. Both DVD player
21 manufacturers and DVD content distributors can obtain authorization to use CSS
22 only through a license from the DVD Copy Control Association (“DVD CCA”). A 23 license allows a DVD player manufacturer to obtain the necessary requirements and 24 specifications for building a CSS-compliant DVD player (i.e., one that is capable of 25 lawfully accessing and playing a DVD that is protected by CSS) and for obtaining 26 access to the necessary “keys” that enable the content on a CSS-protected DVD to 27 be lawfully unscrambled.

28

1           21.    CSS uses several layers of different types of protection mechanisms,
2 including authentication, encryption, secure storage of encryption keys, time-
3 variable session keys, and other technological measures. CSS works slightly
4 differently depending on whether the user is using a computer or a standalone DVD
5 player to access a DVD disc. Because I understand VidAngel to use a computer to 6 circumvent CSS protections from DVDs, this declaration focuses on the aspects of 7 CSS that control access to CSS-protected content with computers.

8           22.    CSS has control measures that operate across three different mediums:
9 the DVD disc itself, software players (players that are implemented primarily as 10 software on computer systems) and the DVD drive (an optical DVD Disc reader that 11 is capable of operating as an internal or peripheral component of a personal 12 computer or other computing device). First, the data on the DVD disc is encrypted, 13 with decryption “keys” stored in areas of the disc that are inaccessible without 14 software that implements CSS. Second, the DVD drive provides an additional layer
15 of protection. It requires authentication, which requires that receiving software 16 programs are trustworthy, and uses other methods of encryption before it will 17 transmit certain types of information from the disc.

18           23.    For example, CSS provides for a “locking” mechanism, whereby a
19 computer’s DVD Drive will not allow access to CSS-protected content on a DVD
20 disc unless and until the DVD Drive has confirmed that the software seeking access
21 is an authentic CSS-compliant DVD player that can be trusted. If the DVD player
22 software is unable to provide this authentication, indicating to the DVD drive that it
23 is “safe” to release the DVD data, then the protected contents of the DVD will 24 remain “locked” in the DVD drive.

25           24.    CSS also utilizes encryption. Encryption selectively scrambles the 26 video stream. Only devices that have access to the “decryption keys” can 27 descramble the data. This encryption provides an additional layer of copy- and 28 access-protection to the protection provided by the “locking” mechanism. Thus,

1 even if one were able to defeat the “locking” mechanism and gain unauthorized
2 access to the protected files on the DVD disc, the data would be scrambled and thus
3 neither viewable nor playable.

4 25. In addition to encryption, CSS utilizes an “authentication” mechanism, 5 which requires that an authorized player engage in a bi-directional dialogue with the 6 DVD Drive before playing back the video content of a DVD disc. This 7 authentication mechanism further ensures that the DVD content cannot be played
8 back unless such authentication with the DVD Drive is successful. Authentication
9 with the DVD Drive will fail if the DVD being played is not in the DVD Drive.

10 26. Notably, the process described above allows a licensed-DVD player to 11 enable the viewing of an authorized DVD’s contents. The DVD CCA license
12 prohibits DVD players from copying, or enabling the copying of, the content on a 13 CSS-protected DVD.

14 AACS And BD+ Are Effective Access-Control Systems For Blu-ray Discs

15 27. In order to protect the copyrighted content on Blu-ray discs, all
16 Plaintiffs use the Advanced Access Content System (“AACS”), and Twentieth
17 Century Fox Film Corporation (“Fox”) additionally uses BD+ protection for content
18 on Fox’s Blu-ray discs. Like CSS, both AACS and BD+ effectively prevent access 19 to the digital content on Blu-ray discs, while still allowing the viewing of that 20 content through the use of licensed Blu-ray players. Also similar to CSS, Blu-ray 21 player manufacturers and Blu-ray content distributors can obtain authorization to 22 use AACS and BD+ only through the authorized licensing organization.

23 28. Like CSS, AACS uses a combination of encryption and authentication
24 to protect the content on Blu-ray discs. The content on a Blu-ray disc is encrypted.
25 It can be decrypted only by using certain “keys,” called “Title Keys.” Each Title 26 Key is also encrypted, using a different key generated from the “Media Key” (which 27 is necessary to decrypt the encrypted Title Key) stored on the Blu-ray disc, along 28 with the encrypted Title Key. The place where the Media Key is stored is called the

1 “Media Key Block.” In addition to storing Keys, the Media Key Block also 2 provides a mechanism whereby certain Blu-ray players can be prevented from being
3 able to play back content if the players become compromised.

4 29. The Blu-ray disc also contains a Volume ID, which is an identifier
5 stored on the disc.

6 30. In order to play content protected by AACS, licensed Blu-ray players
7 contain several “Device Keys” that allow the players to decrypt the content on the 8 Blu-ray disc. First, the Blu-ray player must decrypt the Media Key Block, which 9 provides the player with the Media Key. Second, the player must obtain the Volume
10 ID, which requires the player to have the correct certificate from the licensing body
11 that develops and licenses AACS (the Advanced Access Content System Licensing
12 Administrator (“AACS LA”). Only by using both the Volume ID and the Media
13 Key can the player decrypt the Title Key, which is, in turn, used to decrypt the 14 encrypted content on the Blu-ray disc.

15 31. In the absence of the appropriate keys and certificate, even if one were 16 able to copy the contents off a Blu-ray disc onto another storage device, the content
17 would still be encrypted. Thus, the content would be neither viewable nor playable.
18 Nor would a user be able to manipulate this encrypted content, such as by editing
19 the content or changing the files from one format to another.

20 32. BD+ is a second, optional, layer of protection that can be used on top of 21 AACS. BD+ is a protection system that is implemented through the use of security 22 programs that are specific to a particular movie title (or a particular version of that 23 movie title) that are included on the Blu-ray disc. Those programs are then read and 24 executed by a special BD+ software module, known as a “virtual machine,” that is 25 included in licensed Blu-ray players. When executed by the Virtual Machine, the 26 BD+ security programs can perform various functions, including determining 27 whether the Blu-ray player has been compromised.

3 38. AnyDVD HD is a well-known, windows-based circumvention software
4 that allows for read-access to DVDs protected by CSS and Blu-ray discs protected
5 by AACS and BD+, in the process removing those protections from the Blu-ray and 6 DVD discs.

7 39. AnyDVD is currently sold by RedFox. RedFox is based in Belize.
8 According to RedFox’s website, RedFox is run by developers and staff members of 9 the former company SlySoft,<sup>1</sup> whose owner was previously convicted in a foreign

26 DVDs and Blu-ray discs, but it does so in a way that allows the files to be viewed,
