CONCISE STATEMENT OF ISSUE PRESENTED

1. Whether the City of Detroit was eligible to file Chapter 9 bankruptcy under 11 U.S.C. § 109(c).

STATEMENT OF INTEREST OF ATTORNEY GENERAL

The Attorney General is the chief legal officer for the State of Michigan and is empowered by State law to intervene and appear in any legal action in which the People of Michigan “in his own judgment” have an interest. Mich. Comp. Laws § 14.28. His office is created by the Michigan Constitution, and he is elected by the people. Mich. Const. art. V, § 21. He is sworn to uphold the Michigan Constitution. Mich. Const. art. XI, § 1.

Consistent with this responsibility and authority, Attorney General Bill Schuette participates in this case to ensure that all necessary actions are taken to fully protect (a) the City’s pensioners (as required by the Michigan Constitution and other applicable law), (b) the art collection of the Detroit Institute of Arts, and (c) all other interests of the People of Michigan.

The City of Detroit is Michigan’s largest city and municipal employer. It is imperative that this bankruptcy yield a new, revitalized City, but this process must occur in such a way as to ensure the City abides by its constitutional limitations. The State’s most fundamental law—its Constitution—cannot be sacrificed during the process.

INTRODUCTION

Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette does not take issue with the City of Detroit’s eligibility to file a Chapter 9 bankruptcy under 11 U.S.C. § 109(c)(2). Michigan Governor Rick Snyder had the authority to and did properly authorize the City’s filing, and there is no serious question that the City is insolvent. Accordingly, this Court is the proper venue to decide the issues related to the City’s financial crisis.

But a bankruptcy filing does not relieve the City and its emergency manager of their obligation to follow Michigan’s Constitution. And that restriction includes the constitutional provision that prohibits a political subdivision like Detroit from diminishing or impairing an accrued financial benefit of a pension plan or retirement system. Mich. Const. art. IX, § 24.

Unlike other chapters of the Bankruptcy Code, Chapter 9 authorizes only one party to propose a plan in a municipal bankruptcy—the debtor. Compare 11 U.S.C. § 941 (Chapter 9 debtor “shall file a plan”) with 11 U.S.C. § 1121(a), (c) (“any party in interest” “may” file a plan). And when the City proposes its plan, it must act within all of the state-law limits that guide the City’s conduct. 11 U.S.C. § 943(b)(4).

For example, under Michigan law, the City and its emergency manager have no authority to propose a plan that supports a particular religion or violates an individual's right to religious liberty. Mich. Const. art. I, § 4. Nor could they propose a plan that limits citizens from petitioning the City for redress. Mich. Const. art. I, § 3. Similarly, the City cannot propose a plan that diminishes or impairs accrued pension rights of public employees. Mich. Const. art. IX, § 24.

It has been suggested that the constitutional protection of public pensioners is akin to Michigan's Contracts Clause, which prohibits any law "impairing the obligation of contract." Mich. Const. art. I, § 10. Not so. State and United States Supreme Court decisions have oft recognized that the Contracts Clause prohibition is not absolute and must be "accommodated to the inherent police power of the State 'to safeguard the vital interest of its people.'" Romein v. General Motors Corp., 462 N.W.2d 555, 565 (Mich. 1990) (quoting Energy Reserves Group, Inc. v. Kan. Power & Light Co., 459 U.S. 400, 410 (1983)). Insolvency is undoubtedly an exigency that authorizes such an accommodation; thus, there is no conflict between the bankruptcy laws and the Contracts Clause of the U.S. or any state constitution.

But under Michigan law, there is no such accommodation when it comes to the accrued financial benefits of a public pension plan or retirement system. The constitutional protection is absolute. So the City can no more authorize a plan that reduces accrued obligations to public pensions than a plan that discriminates on the basis of religion. Accordingly, while the City has the ability to address health benefits or unaccrued pension benefits (neither of which Michigan's Constitution specifically protects), vested pension benefits are inviolate.

This result is as it should be. According to the Detroit General Retirement System, general City workers like librarians or sanitation workers receive an average payment of roughly $18,000 per year. For retired City police and firefighters, the figure is roughly $30,000 per year, and without the benefit of Social Security payments. These retirees are among Michigan's most vulnerable citizens. The People of Michigan recognized as much and sought to protect them when enacting article IX, § 24. Accordingly, the City of Detroit is constitutionally obligated to keep the People's promise as it proposes a plan that will allow the City to flourish while honoring the lifelong commitment of Detroit's retired public servants.

ARGUMENT

I. The City of Detroit is eligible to proceed under Chapter 9, but the City remains subject to Michigan’s Constitution.

Under Public Act 436 of 2012, the City’s emergency manager acts as its receiver, and stands in the place of its governing body and chief executive officer. Mich. Comp. Laws § 141.1549(2). The manager also represents the City in bankruptcy. Mich. Comp. Laws § 141.1558(1). He is a public officer subject to the laws applicable to public servants and officers. Mich. Comp. Laws § 141.1549(3)(d) and (9)(a), (b), and (c). And the emergency manager has taken an oath to uphold the Michigan Constitution. Mich. Comp. Laws § 15.151; Mich. Const. art. XI, § 1.

As a public officer, and like any citizen of the State, the emergency manager must follow the Michigan Constitution and statutes enacted by the Legislature pursuant to its constitutional authority. This interplay of Michigan’s Constitution and Public Act 436 requires that the emergency manager abide by all applicable laws in governing the City.

The same obligation to comply with the Michigan Constitution applies to the emergency manager during this Chapter 9 proceeding. “Indeed, absent a specific provision to the contrary, a municipality is required to continue to comply with state law during a Chapter 9 case.”

6 Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 903.02 (Alan N. Resnick and Henry J. Sommer eds. 16th ed.) This is significant, because under Chapter 9, the City, through the emergency manager, is the only party with authority to propose a plan of adjustment, 11 U.S.C. § 941, and therefore controls the plan process in a way that is unique to bankruptcy law.

The scope of a state’s authorization of a municipal-bankruptcy filing is a “question of pure state law” and thus “state law provides the rule of decision.” In re City of Stockton, 475 B.R. 720, 728–29 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012). The Michigan Legislature cannot enact laws that authorize local governments to violate the Michigan Constitution, and the Legislature’s enactment of Public Act 436—specifically the bankruptcy authorization in § 18(1), Mich. Comp. Laws § 141.1558(1)—must thus be construed according to this basic legal principle. This means that when the Legislature enacted Public Act 436 and empowered the City and its emergency manager to pursue bankruptcy, the City and the manager’s actions in proposing a reorganization plan remain subject to applicable Michigan law, including article IX, § 24 of Michigan’s Constitution.

Article IX, § 24 unambiguously prevents public officials from diminishing vested public-employee pension rights:

The accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby.

Mich. Const. art. IX, § 24 (emphasis added). This provision prohibits the State, its officers, and any of its political units, including the City and its officers, from diminishing or impairing the pension benefits currently being received by retired City pensioners.

The fact that § 18(1), Mich. Comp. Laws § 141.1558(1), does not incorporate article IX, § 24 is of no moment, because the proscription arises by operation of constitutional law. Moreover, it is plain that the Michigan Legislature was aware of this constitutional provision when it enacted Public Act 436 because the Act requires emergency managers appointed under the act to “fully comply with . . . section 24 of article IX of the state constitution of 1963,” in the event an emergency manager becomes the trustee for a local unit’s pension fund. Mich. Comp. Laws § 141.1552(1)(m)(ii).

The continued application of state constitutional law during the Chapter 9 case is also consistent with state sovereignty principles, which are incorporated under 11 U.S.C. § 903 (Chapter 9 “does not limit or impair the power of a State to control, by legislation or otherwise, a municipality of or in such State in the exercise of the political or governmental powers of such municipality . . .”). See also New York v. United States, 505 U.S. 144, 155–66 (1992) (recognizing dual sovereignty and observing that “the Constitution has never been understood to confer upon Congress the ability to require the States to govern according to Congress’ instructions”); 5 William J. Norton, Jr. & William L. Norton III, Norton Bankruptcy Law and Practice § 90:4 (3d ed. 2009) (“Without the consent of the municipality, the court may not interfere with any of the political or governmental powers of the debtor, any property or revenues of the debtor, or the debtor’s use or enjoyment of any income-producing property.”).

Based on these principles, as the City and its emergency manager progress under Chapter 9 and ultimately propose a plan for the City’s reorganization, they remain subject to applicable state laws, including the Michigan Constitution and article IX, § 24.

II. Michigan’s Constitution bars the diminution or impairment of pensions by any means.

A. The Michigan Constitution established that pensioners have a contractual right to their pensions.

At common law, public pensions in Michigan were viewed as gratuitous allowances that could be revoked at will because a retiree lacked any vested right in their continuation. See, e.g., Brown v. Highland Park, 30 N.W.2d 798 (Mich. 1948); Attorney General v. Connolly, 160 N.W. 581 (Mich. 1916). That view is captured succinctly in the Michigan Supreme Court’s holding in Brown:

[A] public pension granted by public authorities is not a contractual obligation, that the pensioner has no vested right, and that a pension is terminable at the will of a municipality, at least while acting within reasonable limits.

Brown, 30 N.W.2d at 800 (emphasis added).

The People of Michigan reversed this public policy when they adopted art. IX, § 24 in the 1963 Michigan Constitution. The purpose for adopting this provision was made clear by delegates to the 1963 Constitutional Convention. In particular, delegate Richard VanDusen, one of the chief drafters of § 24, explained that accrued financial benefits were a kind of “deferred compensation”:

Now, it is the belief of the committee that the benefits of the pension plans are in the same deferred compensation for work performed. And with respect to work performed, it is the opinion of the committee that the public employee should have a contractual right to benefits of the pension plan, which should not be diminished by the employing unit after the service has been performed.

Michigan courts have supported this conclusion and have recognized, repeatedly, that article IX, § 24 is an express and unambiguous statement of the will of the People of the State of Michigan that the accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the State and its political subdivisions “shall not be diminished or impaired.” This constitutional promise thus ensures that there is never a time, a place, or a method for diminishing or impairing the State’s or a political subdivision’s obligation with respect to the accrued financial benefits of a pension plan or retirement system.

For example, based on § 24, the Michigan Court of Appeals has held that the City of Detroit’s attempt to increase the age at which an employee could receive his vested pension (and thereby decrease the amount of pension payments) violated art. IV, § 24. Ass’n of Prof’l &

Technical Employees v. City of Detroit, 398 N.W.2d 436 (Mich. Ct. App. 1986). The Court of Appeals has also held that § 24 prohibits the State or a local pension plan from reducing a retiree’s pension. Seitz v. Probate Judges Ret. Sys., 474 N.W.2d 125 (Mich. Ct. App. 1991).

Similarly, § 24 prohibits the City of Detroit and its emergency manager from unilaterally reducing the pensions of existing retirees, because any reduction would diminish or impair the accrued financial benefits previously earned by such retirees. Just as the City and its manager have no authority to propose a plan that supports a particular religion or violates an individual’s right to religious liberty (or, for that matter, a plan that seizes the assets of retired employees in violation of the Michigan Constitution’s Takings Clause, see Mich. Const. art. X, § 2), the City and the emergency manager cannot propose a plan that has the effect of diminishing or impairing the accrued rights of public-employee pensions.¹

The entire thrust of article IX, § 24 is to safeguard a level of benefits for governmental employees who make a decision to retire. The public employees performed the work relying on a “particular level of benefits.” 1 Constitutional Convention Record at 770–71 (“the service in reliance upon the then prescribed level of benefits”). The post hoc reduction of these vested rights would create an untenable position for the retirants by reducing their compensation after the benefits have already vested. See In re Advisory Opinion re Constitutionality of 1972 PA 258, 209 N.W.2d 200, 202–03 (Mich. 1973) (rejecting any new conditions on accrued financial benefits that were “unreasonable and hence subversive of the constitutional protection”). It is analogous to forcing the pensioners to return deferred compensation. It is this very kind of reduction of pension payments that the constitutional provision is designed to prevent.

In sum, it cannot be reasonably disputed that the City has been authorized for and is eligible to file Chapter 9 bankruptcy. But in moving forward and proposing a plan, the City and its manager are bound by the strictures of Michigan law, including article IX, § 24 of Michigan’s Constitution.

B. Michigan’s constitutional protection of pensions is broader than that afforded to ordinary contracts.

At the core of a bankruptcy process is the adjustment of the relationship between a debtor and its creditors, and attendant in that process is the impairment of contracts. In re Stockton, 478 B.R. at 15. The State of Michigan’s Contracts Clause, Mich. Const. art. I, § 10, mirrors that of the United States Constitution and the contracts clauses of other states, and it is well understood that such a provision must stand aside in the bankruptcy process. But the subversion of a state constitution’s contracts clause does not come about as a result of bankruptcy law or the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution; a contracts clause steps aside as a matter of state law.

Both the Michigan Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court have recognized that a constitutional contracts clause is not absolute. The prohibition against impairing contracts must be “accommodated to the inherent police power of the State ‘to safeguard the vital interests of the people.’” Romein, 462 N.W.2d at 565 (quoting Energy Reserves Group, 459 U.S. at 410). Thus, state action can impair a contract provided that there is a legitimate public purpose for the impairment (i.e., the state is validly exercising its police power and not merely providing a benefit to special interests), and the means of adjustment are necessary and reasonable. Romein, 462 N.W.2d at 565–66 (citing United States Trust Co. v. New Jersey, 431 U.S. 1, 22-23 (1977)). Accordingly, a Michigan political subdivision is cloaked with the authority of Michigan law when it proposes a plan that impairs ordinary contracts. Here, for example, it cannot be disputed that the police power of the State and the City of Detroit is being exercised for a necessary and reasonable public purpose—to restore basic governmental services (police and fire protection, street lights, ambulance services, etc.) to the citizens of Detroit.

But article IX, § 24 is not similarly subject to such exigencies.² The 1963 Constitution and the language of § 24 is understood according to its plain meaning. In re Request for Advisory Opinion Regarding Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 806 N.W. 2d 683, 693 (Mich. 2011); Studier v. Michigan Pub. Sch. Employees’ Retirement Bd., 698 N.W.2d 350, 356–57 (Mich. 2005).

In other words, article IX, § 24 is an impermeable imperative, and its place in the pantheon of Michigan constitutional rights is akin to the prohibition on taking property without just compensation, Mich. Const. art. X, § 2, or any other constitutional prohibition on the power of a government to affect the life, liberty, and property of its citizenry. Constitutional provisions of this nature are innate to the People of Michigan—not subject to discharge by exigency including a Chapter 9 proceeding under the federal Bankruptcy Code. The City and its emergency manager therefore cannot jettison article IX, § 24 when they propose a reorganization plan.³

Importantly, article IX, § 24 is not an absolute bar on the City's ability to adjust its debts in a Chapter 9 proceeding. The City may negotiate to adjust contractual terms under pension plans and retirement systems. Cranford v. Wayne County, 402 N.W.2d 64, 66 (Mich. 1986); see also Stone v. State, 651 N.W.2d 64 (Mich. 2002).

³ The same is true for similar reasons with respect to the City's role as trustee of the art collection of the Detroit Institute of Arts. Because the collection is held in charitable trust, the beneficial interest in the collection ultimately rests with the People of Michigan and is likewise inviolate. See AG Op. No. 7272, June 13, 2013.

with respect to unaccrued financial benefits. Advisory Opinion re Constitutionality of 1972 PA 258, 209 N.W.2d at 202–03 (1973) (“the legislature cannot diminish or impair accrued financial benefits, but we think it may properly attach new conditions for earning financial benefits which have not accrued.”); see also Seitz, 474 N.W.2d at 127. And § 24 does not implicate the City’s obligation with respect to promised health benefits. Studier, 698 N.W.2d at 358 (“the ratifiers of our Constitution would have commonly understood ‘financial’ to include only those benefits that consist of monetary payments, and not benefits of a nonmonetary nature such as health care benefits”).

These are all constitutionally acceptable ways for the City of Detroit to reduce its liabilities for its pension plans without violating the constitutional rights of existing retirees. But to the extent the City or its manager desire to diminish or impair vested pension benefits, Michigan law prohibits them from even proposing such a plan.

C. The Bankruptcy Code recognizes the State’s constitutional limits on municipalities in Chapter 9 bankruptcy.

Independent of the City’s obligation to act within state-law limits when proposing a plan, article IX, § 24 applies to a Chapter 9 bankruptcy by virtue of 11 U.S.C. § 903. Section 903 guarantees that state law continues to bind a political subdivision’s actions once in bankruptcy:

This chapter [9] does not limit or impair the power of a State to control, by legislation or otherwise, a municipality of or in such State in the exercise of the political or governmental powers of such municipality

11 U.S.C. § 903. In § 903, Congress protected the “States as States” as dual sovereigns under the federal Constitution. State participation in the national political process is the “fundamental limitation that the [United States] constitutional scheme imposes on” the powers granted to the federal government. Garcia v. San Antonio Metro. Transit Auth., 469 U.S. 528, 554 (1985). Section 903 is a result of the states’ place in the constitutional framework and participation in federal government and enacted legislation. Id. at 552. By including § 903 in the Bankruptcy Code, Congress preserved state constitutional protection provisions, like § 24, within the Code’s structure and purpose.

Indeed, nowhere in the Bankruptcy Code provisions applicable to Chapter 9 did Congress expressly provide for the treatment of municipalities' pension plans or retirement systems. Chapter 9's applicable provisions, structure, and purpose do not disclose any Congressional intent to preempt state constitutional protection provisions like § 24.⁴

Moreover, through Chapter 9 Congress has recognized that the bankruptcy of a State's political subdivision is a particular concern of a state and its relations with its political subdivisions. This conclusion is embedded in the preservation of the states of complete control over their political subdivision in the exercise of the political or governmental powers of such subdivisions, 11 U.S.C. § 903.

Consistent with § 903, the Bankruptcy Code imposes strict limitations on the power of this Court to direct municipal action regarding its political process, property, or revenue "unless the debtor consents." 11 U.S.C. § 904. Just as the City lacks the authority under

Michigan law to propose a plan that diminishes accrued pension rights, it similarly lacks power to consent to any proposed action that would violate the Michigan Constitution.

CONCLUSION AND RELIEF REQUESTED

This matter is only at the eligibility stage, and, as noted above, the Attorney General does not take issue with the City's eligibility to file bankruptcy. Michigan Governor Rick Snyder had the authority to and did properly authorize the City's filing, and there is no serious question that the City is insolvent.

But through this submission, the Attorney General seeks to illuminate the legal rights and obligations of the City and its emergency manager as they move forward and exercise their exclusive Chapter 9 authority to propose a plan of reorganization. Those obligations include the requirement to act in accord with State law, including article IX, § 24's prohibition on a Michigan political subdivision's authority to diminish or impair accrued pension rights. In this initial filing, the Attorney General also seeks to apprise the Court of his legal positions, and he will offer additional arguments and support for his positions at the appropriate stages of this important proceeding.

That's true too - but it may be one of the less bad alternatives among the many other bad alternatives. Is her idea that the Bloomberg Foundation would fund part of this exercise? If so, that too only echoes the liberal talking points (as outlined in those news articles) of a fascist takeover of a local government by the right (not that Bloomberg is a right-winger, but, nonetheless, he is big business). I can't see that being a politically popular solution to an already plagued arena of options.

It seems that the ideal scenario would be that Snyder and Bing both agree that the best option is simply to go through an orderly Chapter 9. This avoids an unnecessary political fight over the scope / authority of any appointed Emergency Manager appointed and, moreover, moves the ball forward on setting Detroit on the right track. Appointing an Emergency Manager, whose ability to actually do anything is questionable given the looming political and legal fights, would only serve to kick the can down the wrong path and unreasonably delay any meaningful resolution of Detroit's problems.

Making this a national issue is not a bad idea. It provides political cover for the state politicians. Indeed, this gives them an even greater incentive to do this right because, if it succeeds, there will be more than enough patronage to allow either Bing or Snyder to look for higher callings--whether Cabinet, Senate, or Corporate. Further, this would give you cover and options on the back end to make up for lost time there.

CB,

Thank you for thinking about alternative ways to skin this cat. But I don't think we should look at this right now for at least two reasons. First, the state already has EMs appointed or five cities and four school districts. I wouldn't want it to seem like I have a special deal. Second, in thinking about the EM position I went back and looked at the SIGTARP legislation and the federal law authorizing the creation of the D.C. Control Board in 95. Both gave those managers tremendous powers, but neither was subject to questions about the authority of the Congress to enact them and the President's authority to sign them into law. By contrast Michigan's new EM law is a clear end-around the prior initiative that was rejected by the voters in November. The new EM law gives local governments four choices to fix their financial emergency:

Consent Agreement, in which local leaders remain in charge but must meet certain conditions in an agreement negotiated with the state (Detroit is already under a CA and it sounds like it's not working);
A state appointed EM that has broad authority over local finances;
Chapter 9 bankruptcy with the Governor's approval; and
Mediation, in which the local government and interested parties meet with a neutral party to resolve financial issues, such as employee contracts (this is essentially required to file a Chapter 9 petition).

So although the new law provides the thin veneer of a revision it is essentially a redo of the prior rejected law and appears to merely adopts the conditions necessary for a chapter 9 filing. The news reports state that opponents of the prior law are already lining up to challenge this law.

Nonetheless, I'm going to speak with Baird in a few minutes to see what his thinking is. I'll let you know how it turns out. Thanks.

I had a good conversation with Rich Baird this morning. I explained that although I was interested in the job, there are a number of reasons (not wanting to leave the firm and familial constraints) that made it impractical for me to do so. He suggested that I give it some additional consideration and if, upon reflection, I could say that there was a glimmer of hope that I would take the job, then I should at least take the next step of meeting the Governor, Lt. Governor and the rest of the team. We agreed to get back in touch next week. He also mentioned that irrespective of whether I take the job, as far as he's concerned, he liked our presentation and is pulling for us to represent the city. I then reiterated that even if I did not take the EM position, I and the firm are committed to working in lockstep with the city and I would be more than willing to undertake any role in this respect.

Dear Mr. Herman:

In accordance with the instructions of the Detroit Office of the Emergency Financial Manager (EFM), I request the following information:

1. A copy of the preliminary actuarial analysis, to include a full description of all assumptions relied upon, used to support the revised cost estimates and funding condition of the PFRS and GRS pension systems. Data should show projected normal cost for each plan and the proposed UAAL amortization payment as a percent of payroll.
2. The basis for the cost estimates of retiree health care (OPEB) including a description of all assumptions relied upon (including eligibility for benefits under the plan and benefits under the plan), the annual net OPEB obligation, and projected pay-as-you-go funding requirements for the next ten years.
3. A description of the proposed retiree health care plan that will rely upon Medicare Advantage and the Exchange Marketplace under the Affordable Care Act and the basis for the estimated annual City cost of between $27.5 million and $40 million. To the extent eligibility for benefits is revised from the assumption in item 2 above, please describe the new eligibility criteria.
4. A description of all assumptions, data, and documents relied upon to support the following revenue projections:
 - a. Municipal income tax
 - b. Wagering taxes
 - c. Property taxes
 - d. State revenue sharing
 - e. Utility users' and other taxes
 - f. "Other revenue" (page 52 of the Proposal to Creditors)

5. A description of all projected services and investments included in the "Reorganization (Capital investments and Professional fees)" budget line item in the ten year Restructuring Scenario (page 97 of the Proposal to Creditors). Detail related to the development of major initiatives (for example, investments on technology) should be provided as well. Documents and other supporting data that support the cost projections should be provided as well. If the identity of vendors has been established, please provide that information.

I am assisting AFSCME locals and AFSCME Council 25 with issues related to the Proposal. We have been asked to meet with the EFM's representatives on Thursday. Accordingly, information related to items 1 through 3 should be provided prior to our meeting and the remaining information as soon as possible. I appreciate your cooperation. Re: Retiree Benefit Restructuring Meeting

Dear Mr. McNeil:

As a follow-up to my letter dated May 20, 2013, a meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, June 20, 2013, at 10:00 a.m. at the Coleman A. Young Municipal Center, 2 Woodward Ave., 13th Floor Auditorium, Detroit, Michigan 48226 to review the restructuring plan for retiree benefits developed by Emergency Manager Kevyn Orr. On behalf of the Emergency Manager, I am inviting the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Michigan Council 25 to attend this meeting to learn about the City's restructuring plan. Due to space limitations, we are requesting that only two representatives from each union or retiree association attend the meeting. This meeting is not open to the general public or to the media, and no video devices, phone cameras, or other recording devices will be permitted in the auditorium. Please arrive at least 30 minutes before the start of the meeting to allow enough time to register. Proof of identification and your affiliation is required and will be checked prior to entering the meeting.

Please confirm in writing (including names, contact information, and affiliation) the two representatives of your union or association that will be attending the meeting no later than Tuesday, June 18, 2013. To the extent one or both of your representatives will need to be released from work to attend the meeting, please note this in your response and we will coordinate with the City's labor and employee relations department to ensure such employees are excused from work to attend the meeting.

We appreciate the willingness of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Michigan Council 25 to participate in these discussions and look forward to your input with respect to these important issues.

Re: City of Detroit Restructuring

Dear Mr. Williams:

Thank you for participating in the June 20, 2013 informational meetings pertaining to the City of Detroit's (the "City's") proposals to restructure the City's retiree medical and pension obligations. We appreciated your questions and input and look forward to discussing these issues with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 207 – Non-Supervisory Unit in the coming weeks.

The City recognizes that representatives of active and retired employees will need access to additional information to analyze the restructuring proposals outlined in the June 20 meetings. Information relevant to these proposals will be made available in the on-line data room established for creditors and other stakeholders. If you do not yet have access to the data room, please contact Dan Merrett (dmerrett@jonesday.com/ (404) 581-8476), who will provide you with further instructions.

To the extent you will need additional information beyond that provided in the data room to analyze and provide input with respect to the City's retiree benefits restructuring proposals, please forward requests for such information directly to my attention. We will make every effort to make responsive and relevant information available in a timely manner.

The City is very much looking forward to the unions' feedback with respect to the City's retiree benefits restructuring proposal. As we repeatedly stated during the meeting, to the extent that your organization has additional ideas about restructuring retiree benefits in a manner consistent with the City's financial limitations, the City will consider any such ideas. Please let me know if you would like to set up a time to further discuss these issues.

Sincerely,

Brian West Easley

Dear Mr. Easterly:

You have contacted a number of Local unions affiliated with AFSCME for the purpose of offering information and inviting "feedback" on the Emergency Financial Manager's (EFM) proposal to "restructure" retiree benefits. The undersigned, in conjunction with AFSCME Council 25 President Albert Garrett and Council 25's Assistant to the President Ed McNeil will be representing our affiliated Locals in these matters. We are not representing current retirees.

I have followed the procedures and have been provided access to the on-line data room established by the EFM. I have also been in touch with Kyle Herman from Miller Buckfire as instructed by the EFM in his "Proposal to Creditors" on June 14. As I stated in an e-mail message to Mr. Herman, the electronic data room does not have all of the information I have requested of the EFM in a letter dated June 17, 2013 (copy enclosed). To reiterate, I have requested the following:

1. A copy of the preliminary actuarial analysis, to include a full description of all assumptions relied upon, used to support the revised cost estimates and funding condition of the PFRS and GRS pension systems. Data should show projected normal cost for each plan and the proposed UAAL amortization payment as a percent of payroll. Subsequent to June 17, I have been given access to Milliman analysis of the pension system which is partially responsive to my request.
2. The basis for the cost estimates of retiree health care (OPEB) including a description of all assumptions relied upon (including eligibility for benefits under the plan and benefits under the plan), the annual net OPEB obligation, and projected pay-as-you-go funding requirements for the next ten years.
3. A description of the proposed retiree health care plan that will rely upon Medicare Advantage and the Exchange Marketplace under the Affordable Care Act and the basis for the estimated annual City cost of between $27.5 million and $40 million. To the extent eligibility for benefits is revised from the assumption in item 2 above, please describe the new eligibility criteria.

4. A description of all assumptions, data, and documents relied upon to support the following revenue projections:
 - a. Municipal income tax
 - b. Wagering taxes
 - c. Property taxes
 - d. State revenue sharing
 - e. Utility users' and other taxes
 - f. "Other revenue" (page 52 of the Proposal to Creditors)

5. A description of all projected services and investments included in the "Reorganization (Capital investments and Professional fees)" budget line item in the ten year Restructuring Scenario (page 97 of the Proposal to Creditors). Detail related to the development of major initiatives (for example, investments on technology) should be provided as well. Documents and other supporting data that support the cost projections should be provided as well. If the identity of vendors has been established, please provide that information.

To clarify, we are seeking the data relied upon by the EFM as he developed his retiree benefits restructuring proposal. Detailed information related to reorganization and restructuring initiatives consists of a one page financial summary. I am seeking the data relied upon to develop that summary, especially and including, the back-up data associated with estimated expenditures addressing "blight."

In response to your offer to provide "feedback" on the proposed restructuring of retirement benefits, we hereby request to meet with authorized representatives of the EFM on July 10, 2013 at 10:00 a.m. To date, your representatives have provided presentations, and scheduled an additional presentation on pension benefits for the afternoon of July 10, but the EFM has not provided AFSCME with a meaningful opportunity to engage in a good faith negotiation of these issues. That process should start as soon as possible. We suggest we meet at our offices in Detroit, 600 West Lafayette. It would be extremely helpful if you could provide the requested information in advance of the meeting.

Please contact me at (202)429-1237 or skreisberg@afscme.org to discuss these matters, if necessary, and to confirm our proposed meeting.

Re: City of Detroit Restructuring

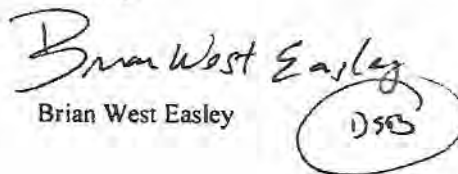

Dear Mr. Kreisberg:

We are in receipt of your letter dated July 2, 2013 in which you, among other things, request a meeting with representatives of Emergency Manager Kevyn Orr on July 10, 2013 at 10:00 a.m. In your letter, you acknowledge that a meeting has been scheduled for July 10, 2013 at 1:00 p.m. to discuss issues related to pension restructuring. However, you suggest that the scheduled meeting will be a "presentation," and state that AFSCME would prefer a meaningful opportunity for discussion.

The meeting currently scheduled for July 10, 2013 will not be a presentation but rather will be a discussion between the Emergency Manager's advisors and a relatively small group of key stakeholders who may include, the GRS and its advisor only team, high level representatives of up to four (4) non-uniform unions, and representatives from the Detroit Retired City Employees Association. The City believes that a discussion between and among these key stakeholders will be most beneficial and efficient for all parties. As such, while we are not available to meet with AFSCME at 10:00 a.m. on July 10, 2013, we encourage AFSCME to attend and participate in the scheduled meeting. Similarly, we are hopeful that AFSCME will attend the meeting regarding retiree health restructuring currently scheduled for 10:00 a.m. on July 11, 2013.

Please confirm whether AFSCME plans to attend the July 10, 2013 meeting at 1:00 p.m. and the July 11, 2013 meeting at 10:00 a.m. and provide the names of your proposed attendees.

Sincerely,

Mr. Garrett and Mr. McNeil:

Following the presentations made on June 20th, outside counsel for GRS reached out to the City of Detroit for more information on, and to discuss, a pension restructuring proposal. GRS and the City of Detroit have tentatively scheduled a meeting on pension restructuring for Wednesday, July 10th, at 1 pm (location to be determined). The City will be prepared to provide more information on its developing pension restructuring proposal. Because the City expects that the proposal will impact the pension benefits of active participants of GRS, who include your members, the City would like to invite you to this meeting on July 10th, at 1 pm to participate in the discussion. We expect the meeting will last approximately 2 hours. GRS will be sending an advisor-only team (attorneys and financial advisors), and the City believes this is a good way to proceed. Please let us know at your earliest convenience if you will attend and the names of the attendees. We will contact you as soon as practicable to provide details about the meeting location.

David

Mr. Evan Miller

Via Email: emiller@jonesday.com

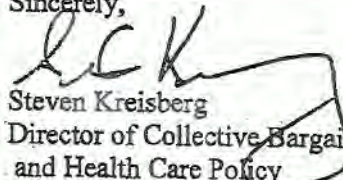

Dear Mr. Miller:

On August 2, 2013 you convened a meeting among local city union representatives to convey, in your capacity as a representative of the City of Detroit, an "Active Employee Health Insurance Proposal." During that meeting, you specifically advised those of us in attendance that the meeting was not a "negotiation" but you requested "feedback" on the proposal. At the meeting, it was brought to your attention that the City of Detroit Coalition Unions (CDCU), led by AFSCME Council 25 Assistant to the President Ed McNeil, had engaged in health benefit negotiations in 2011-12 and had achieved an agreement with the city for health care concessions valued at $60 million annually (at that time). That agreement was never implemented.

In accordance with Michigan Public Employment Relations Act (MERA), MCL 423.201 et seq., AFSCME Council 25, on behalf of the CDCU, hereby demands bargaining in good faith on the City's August 2 health insurance proposal. We see no exemption under Chapter 9 of the bankruptcy code or the Emergency Financial Manager law (Public Act 436) from the City's duty to bargain in good faith with the exclusive representatives of city employees over terms and conditions of employment.

Ms. Samantha Woo from Jones Day has contacted Mr. McNeil to schedule a meeting with him, yourself and Brian West Easterly to discuss active employee health benefits. Attached for your reference is a summary of the CDCU proposal, including cost savings estimates, from the previous negotiations. We suggest we convene a meeting between you and Ed McNeil who will be accompanied by Richard Mack, on August 13, 2013 at 2:00 p.m. to discuss this matter. Msrs. McNeil and Mack were the CDCU's lead negotiators in 2011-12. Please respond to the undersigned at (202) 429-1237 or skreisberg@afscme.org or to Ed McNeil at (313)964-1711 or emcneil@miafscme.org.

Re: City of Detroit and AFSCME Council 25

Dear Mr. Kreisberg:

I am in receipt of your letter dated August 6, 2013 in which AFSCME Council 25, on behalf of the City of Detroit Coalition Unions, "demand[ed] bargaining in good faith on the City's August 2 health insurance proposal." While the City of Detroit (the "City") previously was subject to a statutory duty to "bargain collectively with the representatives of its employees" pursuant to section 15(1) of the Michigan Public Employment Relations Act ("PERA"), the duty to bargain was suspended when the City was placed in receivership under Public Act 436 ("PA 436"). MICH. COMP. LAWS § 423.215(1); § 141.1567(3). Specifically, PA 436 provides that "[a] local government placed in receivership . . . is not subject to section 15(1) of 1947 PA 336, MCL 423.215, for a period of 5 years from the date the local government is placed in receivership or until the time the receivership is terminated, whichever occurs first." MICH. COMP. LAWS § 141.1567(3). As such, the City currently is not subject to a statutory duty to bargain under PERA.

Although the City will exercise its current right not to engage in collective bargaining with AFSCME Council 25, the City is more than willing to meet with representatives of your union to discuss any feedback they may have regarding its health care restructuring plans. We are available to meet with Mr. Ed McNeil and Mr. Richard Mack on Wednesday, August 14, 2013 at 2:00 p.m. to discuss the City's active employee health insurance proposal. Please let me know at your earliest convenience if this date and time are acceptable.

We look forward to working closely with your union as we attempt to restructure the City's finances and operations.

Hon. Rosemarie Aquilina

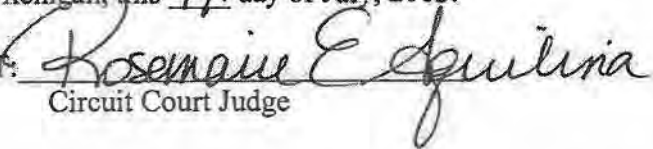

THE STATE OF MICHIGAN;

the State of Michigan,

Defendants.

ORDER OF DECLARATORY JUDGMENT

At a session of said Court held in Ingham County Circuit Court,
State of Michigan, this 19th day of July, 2013.

PRESENT:

Circuit Court Judge

Plaintiffs request declaratory relief pursuant to MCR 2.605 concerning (1) the constitutionality under Article IX Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution of the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act, 2012 PA 436, MCL 141.1541, et seq. ("PA 436"), insofar as PA 436 permits the Governor to authorize an emergency manager to proceed under chapter 9 of the bankruptcy code, chapter 9 of title 11 of the United States Code, 29 USC 901 to 946 ("Chapter 9") in a manner which threatens to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits; and (2) the authority of the Governor and/or State Treasurer to authorize an emergency manager to proceed under Chapter 9 in a manner which threatens to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits.

Plaintiffs have requested, and Defendants have agreed in their Response, that the hearing in this matter may be advanced pursuant to MCR 2.605(D) and the court finds that expedited treatment is appropriate and that final declaratory relief is proper at this time.

The Court having reviewed the parties filings and submissions, and having heard oral argument by counsel for the parties, and being otherwise fully advised in the premises, and for the reasons stated on the record,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

PA 436 is unconstitutional and in violation of Article IX Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution to the extent that it permits the Governor to authorize an emergency manager to proceed under Chapter 9 in any manner which threatens to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits; and PA 436 is to that extent of no force or effect;

The Governor is prohibited by Article IX Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution from authorizing an emergency manager under PA 436 to proceed under Chapter 9 in a manner which threatens to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits, and any such action by the Governor is without authority and in violation of Article IX Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution.

On July 16, 2013, City of Detroit Emergency Manager Kevyn Orr submitted a recommendation to Defendant Governor Snyder and Defendant Treasurer Dillon pursuant to Section 18(1) of PA 436 to proceed under Chapter 9, which together with the facts presented in Plaintiffs' filings, reflect that Emergency Manager Orr intended to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits if he were authorized to proceed under Chapter 9. On July 18, 2013, Defendant

Governor Snyder approved the Emergency Manager's recommendation without placing any contingencies on a Chapter 9 filing by the Emergency Manager; and the Emergency Manager filed a Chapter 9 petition shortly thereafter. By authorizing the Emergency Manager to proceed under Chapter 9 to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits, Defendant Snyder acted without authority under Michigan law and in violation of Article IX Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution.

In order to rectify his unauthorized and unconstitutional actions described above, the Governor must (1) direct the Emergency Manager to immediately withdraw the Chapter 9 petition filed on July 18, and (2) not authorize any further Chapter 9 filing which threatens to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits.

A copy of this Order shall be transmitted to President Obama.

It is so Ordered.

DETROIT FACES STRONG ECONOMIC HEADWINDS

DETERIORATING MACROECONOMIC CONDITIONS.

During the past several decades, the City of Detroit (the “City”) has experienced changes that have adversely affected the economic circumstances of the City and its residents.

Declining Population. The City’s population has declined 63% since its postwar peak, including a 26% decline since 2000:

- June 1950: 1,849,600
- June 1990: 1,028,000
- June 2000: 951,270
- June 2010: 713,777
- December 2012: 684,799

High Unemployment. Despite some recent improvement, the City’s unemployment rate has nearly tripled since 2000:

- June 2000: 6.3%
- June 2010: 23.4%
- June 2012: 18.3%

Number of Detroit Residents Employed.

	2000	2010	2012
Labor force	381,498	361,538	343,856
Employment	353,813	278,063	279,960
Unemployment	27,685	83,475	63,896
Unemployment rate	7.3%	23.1%	18.6%

- The number of employed Detroit residents has dropped more than 53% since 1970.

EMPLOYMENT IN DETROIT

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE IN DETROIT

Eroding Tax Base and Reductions in State Revenue Sharing.

- Property Taxes.
 - Property tax revenues have decreased by approximately 19.7% over the past five years as a result of declining assessed values ($1.6 billion from 2008 to 2012) and lower collection rates (from 76.6% in 2008 to 68.3% in 2011).
 - Projected FY 2013 property tax revenues are $135 million, a reduction of $13 million (or approximately 9%) from FY 2012 levels.
- Income Taxes.
 - Income tax revenues have decreased by $91 million since 2002 (approximately 30%) and by $44 million (approximately 15%) since 2008. The primary cause of these decreases has been high unemployment driving lower taxable income of City residents and non-residents working in the City.
 - Income tax revenues may be showing signs of stabilization. This results from a modest decrease in unemployment, the indefinite deferral of a previously planned decrease of the City's 2.4% resident income tax rate and an increase in the corporate income tax rate from 1% to 2% in January 2012.
 - The income tax rate for residents and non-residents was set to decrease due to criteria set by the City Income Tax Act, but legislation has been put in place to hold the tax rates at the current level (2.4% for residents and 1.2% for non-residents) in order to avoid a loss of income tax revenues.
- Utility Users' Excise Tax.
 - Revenues from the City's utility users' tax have declined from approximately $55.3 million in FY 2003 to approximately $39.8 million in FY 2012 (approximately 28%).
- Wagering Taxes.
 - Annual receipts of wagering taxes have remained steady at about $170–$180 million, but gaming tax receipts are projected to decrease through FY 2015 due to expected loss of gaming revenue to casinos opening in nearby Toledo, Ohio.

- State Revenue Sharing.
 - State revenue sharing has decreased by $161 million since FY 2002 (approximately 48%) and by $76 million (approximately 30.6%) since 2008 due to the City's declining population and significant reductions in statutory revenue sharing by the State.
 - Revenue sharing is calculated based on population; revenue sharing amounts will decrease further if the City's population continues to decline.
- The City is currently levying all taxes at or near statutory maximum rates.

RESIDENTS AND BUSINESSES ARE LEAVING DETROIT TO ESCAPE HIGH TAXES AND INSURANCE COSTS.

Comparative Tax Burden.

- Per Capita Tax Burden. Per capita tax burden on City residents is the highest in Michigan. This tax burden is particularly severe because it is imposed on a population that has relatively low levels of per capita income.
- Resident Income Tax. Income tax burden on residents is greater than that of residents in the surrounding area. The City's income tax — 2.4% for residents, 1.2% for nonresidents and 2.0% for businesses — is the highest in Michigan.
- Property Taxes. Detroit residents pay the highest total property tax rates (inclusive of property taxes paid to all overlapping jurisdictions; e.g., the City, the State, Wayne County) of those paid by residents of Michigan cities having a population over 50,000. The total property tax rate (including property taxes assessed by the City, the State and various special authorities) imposed on Detroit homeowners is approximately 67.07 mills; for businesses the total property tax rate is approximately 85.35 mills.
 - At more than 19.95 mills, the City's property tax rate for general operations is close to the statutory maximum of 20.00 mills.
- Utility Users Tax. Detroit is the only city in Michigan that levies an excise tax on utility users (at a rate of 5%).

Comparative Tax Burden.

City	Population	Per Capita Income	TAX BURDEN
			Per Capita Tax Burden	Resident Income Tax Rates	Resident Property Tax Rates
Detroit	684,799	$15,261	$1,207	2.4%	67.07 mills

Livonia	96,942	$31,959	$590	N/A	36.81 mills
Southfield	71,739	$29,228	$930	N/A	60.70 mills

CONTINUING BUDGET DEFICITS.

Excluding the effect of recent debt issuances (e.g., $75 million in FY 2008, $250 million in FY 2010 and $129.5 million in FY 2013) that funded the City's operating deficits, the City's accumulated general fund deficit has grown continuously over an extended period.

At the end of FY 2012, the City's accumulated general fund deficit was $326.6 million.

The City's operating deficit for FY 2013 (which excludes the impact of the $129.5 million debt issuance in August of 2012) is estimated to be approximately $47 million.

If not for the City's recent debt issuances, the accumulated deficit for FY 2013 would have been approximately $700 million.

THE CITY IS INSOLVENT.

Liquidity Crisis. Absent ongoing cash intervention (primarily in the form of payment deferrals and cost cutting), the City would have run out of cash before the end of FY 2013.

- The City had negative cash flows of $115.5 million in FY 2012, excluding the impact of proceeds from short-term borrowings. In March 2012, to avoid running out of cash, the City borrowed $80 million on a secured basis (of which the City spent $50 million in FY 2012).
- The City is projecting to have positive cash flows of $4.0 million in FY 2013 after deferring approximately $120 million of current and prior year pension contributions and other payments.
- Absent intervention and/or restructuring, the City is projecting to have negative cash flows of $198.5 million in FY 2014.
- As of the end of May 2013, the City had $68 million of cash before property tax distributions, but had outstanding deferrals and amounts due to other funds and entities of approximately $216 million. These are effectively borrowings and must be repaid.

The City is Not Paying Its Debts as They Come Due.

- The City is not making its pension contributions as they come due. The City has deferred payment of its year-end Police and Fire Retirement System contributions (and finances such deferrals at a rate of 8%). As of May 2013, the City had deferred approximately $54 million in pension contributions related to current and prior periods and will defer approximately $50 million on June 30, 2013 for current year PFRS pension contributions. Therefore, by fiscal year end the City will have deferred over $100 million of pension contributions.
- The City will not make the scheduled $39.7 million payments due on its pension-related certificates of participation on June 14, 2013.

Plummeting Credit Ratings.

The City’s credit ratings have continuously declined during the past decade and are well below investment grade. No major U.S. city has lower credit ratings.

CURRENT LEVELS OF MUNICIPAL SERVICES TO RESIDENTS AND BUSINESSES ARE SEVERELY INADEQUATE.

The City Must Reduce High Crime Rates.

- In 2012, the City had the highest rate of violent crime of any U.S. city having a population over 200,000 (based on the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports database). The City's violent crime rate is five times the national average.
- All crime, not just violent crime, is prevalent in the City, with more than 136,000 crimes being reported in 2011.
 - See charts on following pages.
- EMS and DFD response times are extremely slow when compared to other cities (15 minutes and 7 minutes, respectively).
- Residents and business owners have been forced to take their safety into their own hands; some relatively well-off sections of the City have created private security forces.

THE CITY MUST PROVIDE FUNCTIONING STREET LIGHTS.

As of April 2013, approximately 40% of the City's street lights were not functioning. The lights that are functioning are scattered across the City's historical population footprint (and thus are not focused to meet the current population's actual needs).

THE CITY MUST OVERHAUL ITS OPERATIONS.

Police Department.

- Over the last five years, the DPD has had five different police chiefs, all having varying approaches to DPD's operations.
- DPD's efficiency (response times), effectiveness (case closure rate, crime reduction) and employee morale are extremely low.
- Data driven policing has not been fully adopted within DPD. Compstat (i.e., data driven policing) meetings (which would enhance accountability) are not fully implemented.
- DPD receives over 700,000 calls for service annually. DPD response times are extremely high.

DPD	43	56	30.59%

- The national average response time is 11 minutes. Police response times for Dearborn and Livonia are approximately nine minutes and 24 minutes, respectively.
- The DPD's extremely low 8.7% case clearance rate is driven by the DPD's lack of a case management system, lack of accountability for detectives, unfavorable work rules imposed by collective bargaining agreements and a high attrition rate in the investigative operations unit.
- The DPD's manpower has been reduced by approximately 40% over the last 10 years causing constant strain on the organization; the DPD needs to evaluate appropriate uniform staffing levels.
 - Over 450 uniformed DPD employees are eligible for retirement in 2013. An additional 150 officers are eligible for retirement in each of the following five years.
- The DPD has restructured its operations multiple times over the past ten years due to dwindling budgets, severely hampering its operations.
- Employee accountability is limited. Individual employee performance metrics do not exist for either positive or negative police activity. Morale is extremely low. Disciplinary processes are slow and cumbersome, preventing leadership from effectively managing the Department.
- Community policing efforts are underfunded, uncoordinated and have been deemphasized by the DPD. "Citizens Radio Patrol" participants have lost confidence in the DPD's commitment to this important effort.

Assessor's Office and Property Tax Division.

- The City lacks a state-required Level IV Assessor and currently has a former employee contractor in the position, whose contract expires in June 2013. Due to inadequate compensation, among other things, there are no available candidates to fill this position.
- The Assessor's Office has approximately 15,000 parcels per employee. The State recommends 4,000 parcels per employee.
- The City has not updated residential property values on a regular basis. Therefore, residential property values are likely overstated. Due to a significant number of complaints, the Michigan Tax Board is investigating Detroit's allegedly inflated property values.

Detroit Department of Transportation.

- Grant dollars are not maximized. These are typically a significant revenue source for bus transit systems.
- DDOT fares are lower than comparable bus transit systems.
- Maintenance operations are highly inefficient.
- High absenteeism among bus drivers causes inefficiencies and higher costs.

THE PHYSICAL DETERIORATION OF THE CITY MUST BE ADDRESSED.

- There are approximately (i) 78,000 abandoned and blighted structures in the City, nearly half of which are considered “dangerous” and (ii) 66,000 blighted and vacant lots within the City limits.
- The number of City parks is dwindling, and many are in poor or fair condition as a result of neglect due to lack of funding.
 - The closure of 210 parks in the 2008-09 fiscal year reduced the City’s park portfolio by 66% — from 317 parks to 107 parks.
 - The City announced in February 2013 that 50 of its remaining 107 parks would be closed, another 38 parks would shift to limited maintenance, and Belle Isle (already suffering from a lack of funding) would receive decreased services.
 - Thanks to $14 million in civic donations, the 50 parks slated to be closed will temporarily remain open through the summer of 2013.
- Approximately 70 superfund sites have been established in Detroit.
- The City’s electricity grid has not been adequately maintained and is deteriorating.
- The City’s fire stations are old and are not adequately maintained.
 - The average age of the City’s 35 fire stations is 80 years.
 - Maintenance costs often exceed $1 million annually. Major items requiring constant repairs: apparatus doors, plumbing, electrical, boiler and roof problems.
- The vehicles and equipment employed by the City’s police, fire, EMS and transportation personnel are aging, poorly maintained and lack adequate information technology.

THE CITY HAS INCURRED AND CONTINUES TO INCUR ENORMOUS COSTS ASSOCIATED WITH UNOCCUPIED PROPERTY.

Land and Structures.

- The City's population decline and declining property values have resulted in large amounts of abandoned, forfeited or foreclosed land and structures within the City.
 - 85% of the City's land area has experienced population decline over the last decade.
- There are approximately 66,000 vacant and blighted lots within the City limits.
- There are approximately 78,000 vacant structures in the City.
 - Approximately 38,000 structures are considered dangerous buildings. The number of dangerous structures is constantly increasing due to vacancy (particularly foreclosures) and house fires.
 - 16,700 have been inspected and classified as dangerous.
 - 14,263 have open complaints of being dangerous.
 - 6,657 to go before City Council for order of demolition.
 - 1,159 are considered emergency demolitions.
- Blight contributes to fire, crime and depressed property values.
 - The City has seen between 11,000 – 12,000 fires each year for the past decade. Approximately 60% of these occur in blighted or unoccupied buildings.
 - The Fire Department spends a disproportionate (and arguably unnecessary) amount of time and money fighting fires in vacant structures. These incidents could be remedied by blight removal.

- Average cost to demolish a residential structure is approximately $8,500, with an equalized total cost of $5.74 per square foot.

Expense	Amount
Demolition Contract	$5,000
Survey and Abatement	$1,500
Gas Disconnect Fee	$750
Administration Costs	$720
Water Disconnect Fee	$550
Lis Pendens (interest in structure)	$15
Total Cost of Demolition	$8,535*

* Cost will vary depending on size of unit and construction materials used.

ADDITIONAL CHALLENGES FACING BLIGHT REMOVAL EFFORTS.

Addressing blight will require the coordination of several state, county and local agencies (e.g., the State Fast Track Land Bank Authority; Wayne County Treasurer and Land Bank; various City departments; the Detroit Land Bank Authority; the Detroit Housing Commission; and NGOs (e.g., the Detroit Economic Growth Corporation and the Blight Authority)).

Blight removal is governed by multiple codes and regulations and a number of overlapping jurisdictions.

- Code Enforcement and Adjudication (e.g., State of Michigan Housing Law; Zoning Ordinance, Chapter 61; Property Maintenance Ordinance, Chapter 9; Blight Violations Ordinance, Chapters 8.5 and 22; Sale of 1 and 2-family Ordinance).
- Condemnation and Demolition (e.g., State of Michigan Housing Law; City Ordinance 290-H — wrecking structures; Industry Standard Building Officials Code Administration).
- Foreclosure and Land Disposition (e.g., State of Michigan PA 123; various City codes addressing non-federal property).
- The current regulatory framework increases demolition costs and slows the process.

Ordinance and regulatory reform are needed to expedite demolition.

DETROIT HAS ENDURED INADEQUATE INVESTMENT IN INFRASTRUCTURE AND EQUIPMENT FOR YEARS.

Fire Department.

- Fire Apparatus. The Detroit Fire Department (“DFD”) fleet includes (i) 26 engines; (ii) 15 ladder trucks; (iii) six squads (specialized rescue vehicles with no watering or laddering capacity); (iv) one hazardous material apparatus; (v) one TAC unit (a mini-pumper for use in low-clearance structures such as parking garages) and (vi) 36 ambulances and other light vehicles.
- DFD’s fleet has “many mechanical issues,” contains no reserve vehicles and lacks equipment ordinarily regarded as standard.
 - The Apparatus Division’s mechanic to vehicle ratio of 1:39 (once staffed with 63 people; currently 26) results in an inability to complete preventative maintenance on schedule.
 - Detroit firefighters frequently operate shorthanded due to a lack of serviceable equipment; one DFD captain recently called his equipment “junk,” and expressed frustration at the lack of working trucks, pumps and other essential equipment across many City neighborhoods.
 - In February 2013, Detroit Fire Commissioner Donald Austin ordered firefighters not to use hydraulic ladders on DFD ladder trucks except in cases involving an “immediate threat to life” because the ladders had not received safety inspections “for years.” On May 15, 2013, AAA Michigan donated $23,500 towards inspections of fire ladders on trucks and ground ladders because the City could not afford required inspections.
- Fire Stations. DFD operates 35 fire station buildings (average age = 80 years).
 - DFD has difficulty accommodating the size of modern firefighting equipment in older stations.
- EMS Fleet.
 - During the first quarter of 2013, frequently only 10 to 14 of the City’s 36 ambulances were in service.
 - Some of the City’s EMS vehicles have been driven 250,000 to 300,000 miles, and break down frequently.
 - In March 2013, a group of corporations pledged to donate $8 million to the City, a portion of which will be used to upgrade the city’s fleet of EMS vehicles. The donation is expected to add 23 new leased EMS vehicles to the City’s fleet as replacements for older vehicles.

Police Department.

- Age of Police Cars.

- The DPD operates with an “extremely old fleet” of 1,291 vehicles. Most DPD police cruisers lack necessary information technology.
- A majority of vehicles in the fleet have reached replacement age (a typical replacement cycle is three years). Operating with an aged fleet drives up maintenance costs.
- The combination of an aging fleet of police cruisers and layoffs of city-employed auto mechanics has resulted in delayed maintenance and a reduction in the number of police cruisers on patrol.
- As part of the approximately $8 million pledged by a group of corporations in March 2013, DPD expects to receive 100 new leased cruisers in 2013.

- Facilities.

- The DPD has not invested in or maintained its facility infrastructure for many years. DPD has closed or consolidated multiple precincts.
- The DPD’s facility infrastructure has reached a critical level of disrepair and no longer meets its needs, contributing to low employee and citizen morale.

Information Systems

- Challenges generally:

- Old and outdated technology assets and applications must be updated.
- Information technology infrastructure is not integrated between departments and functions (e.g., there is no integration between core City finance system and Department level systems) or even within Departments (e.g., police precincts and districts cannot share information across their systems).
- The City urgently needs to upgrade or replace the following IT systems, among others: payroll; financial; budget development; property information and assessment; income tax; and DPD operating system.
- The City lacks a formal documented IT governance structure (development of structure in process).

- DPD, DFD and EMS

- DPD, DFD and EMS information technology systems are obsolete; vendors do not provide full support; core functions are sporadic.
- DPD, DFD and EMS have non-integrated solutions that result in redundant data entry, no meaningful reporting and limited query capabilities.
 - DPD's IT systems, in particular, are outdated with multiple disparate systems with limited information sharing capability and requiring highly manual processes. The result is highly inefficient DPD operations.
 - DPD has no IT systems for jail management, electronic ticketing and activity logs. DPD vehicles lack necessary IT infrastructure.

- Payroll System.

- The City currently uses multiple, non-integrated payroll systems. A majority of employees are on an archaic payroll system that has limited reporting capability and no way to clearly track, monitor or report expenditures by category.
- The cost of payroll administration for the City is significantly higher than for comparable entities. Current cost to process payroll is $62 per check ($19.2 million per year), which is more than 4 times more costly than the overall average of $15 per paycheck, and almost 3.5 times more costly than other public sector organizations, which average $18 per paycheck.
 - The primary driver of excess cost is labor, which is more than 70% of the total cost for the City.
 - 149 full-time employees are involved in the payroll process, 51 of which are uniformed officers (i.e., high-cost personnel performing clerical duties).
- Current process is highly manual (some done by hand) and prone to human error, including erroneous payments to individuals.

- Income Tax Division

- Income tax collection and data management are highly manual.
- The City's Income Tax System is outdated (purchased in the mid-1990s), has little to no automation capability and is "catastrophic" per an IRS audit completed in July 2012.

- Updating the current Income Tax System could (i) increase revenues for the City through improved revenue tax processing, tax compliance and collection and (ii) improve reporting, efficiency and accuracy.
 - A new tax system that allows for automated processing and e-filing capability will free up City resources to focus on compliance.

- Property Tax Division.
 - The City's billing, processing and collection of property taxes is inefficient.
 - Recommendations made by consultant in 2011 have not been followed, even though implementation promises to increase efficiency of collection process.

- Budgeting, Accounting & Financial Reporting Systems.
 - Oracle-based Financial Reporting system (DRMS) was implemented in 1999. It is not being utilized to its full capabilities and is no longer supported by its manufacturer.
 - Budget Development system (BRASS) is over ten years old and requires a manual interface with DRMS.
 - Approximately 70% of journal entries are booked manually.
 - The City lacks a true fail-over and backup system.
 - The integration of Accounting, Budget Development and Financial Reporting systems into a single process is necessary to provide for improved reporting, efficiency, accuracy and accountability.

- Grant Management System.
 - Grant tracking systems are fragmented. Thus, the City is unable to comprehensively track citywide grant funds and status.
 - Grant reporting is not standardized, such that the City is unable to prevent disallowed costs.

- Permitting.

- The Buildings, Safety Engineering and Environmental Department’s system for licensing and permitting is more than ten years old and needs to be upgraded.
- The Fire Marshall Division’s system for inspections and permitting is more than 20 years old and needs to be replaced.
- Current information technology system deficiencies lead to bottlenecks in permit invoicing and collection of fees.

- Department of Transportation.

- To improve service and safety, both on buses and at DDOT facilities, DDOT requires technology updates (e.g., automatic vehicle location systems; bus cameras).

Electrical Transmission Grid and Fixtures.

- The City’s Public Lighting Department (“PLD”) is responsible for operating and maintaining 88,000 streetlights and owns and operates a distribution-only electricity grid providing power for lighting and serving 114 customers.
- The City-owned Mistersky power plant has been idle for 2-3 years, but has not been decommissioned. In addition, the City has 31 sub-stations that would need to be decommissioned. The City is in the process of obtaining estimates for decommissioning costs.
- Approximately 40% of Detroit’s 88,000 streetlights are not functioning due, in large part, to disrepair and neglect; outages exist on both DTE Energy Company (“DTE”) and PLD-powered lights.
 - Outages affecting DTE-powered lights are primarily bulb-related. Outages on PLD-powered lights are partly bulb-related. Others are caused by problems related to PLD’s obsolete grid and wiring.

THE CITY'S DEBT AND LEGACY LIABILITIES HAVE GROWN CONSIDERABLY OVER TIME.

Balance Sheet Liabilities.

The City estimates that, as of the close of its 2013 fiscal year (i.e., June 30, 2013), the City will have liabilities reflected on its balance sheet of approximately $9.05 billion, including approximately:

- $5.85 billion in special revenue obligations (e.g., Enterprise Fund debt);
- $1.43 billion in pension-related Certificate of Participation (“COPs”) liabilities;
- $343.6 million in marked-to-market swap liabilities related to COPs (as of May 31, 2013 valuation);
- $1.13 billion in unlimited and limited tax general obligation bond liabilities and notes and loans payable; and
- $300 million in other liabilities.

Off-Balance Sheet Liabilities.

- OPEB Liabilities. Unfunded OPEB liabilities increased from $4.8 billion to $5.7 billion from June 30, 2007 through June 30, 2011 (the most recent actuarial data available).
- Pension Liabilities.
 - As described in further detail below, the City’s reported pension UAAL (based on 2011 actuarial valuations) of $643,754,109 is substantially understated.
 - Estimated UAAL for FY 2012 was $829.8 million (for the General Retirement System (“GRS”) and $147.2 million (for the Police and Fire Retirement System (“PFRS”)), based on 2011 actuarial assumptions.
 - Further analysis by the City using more realistic assumptions (including by reducing the discount rate by one percentage point) suggests that pension UAAL will be approximately $3.5 billion as of June 30, 2013.
 - UAAL under the GRS and the PFRS increased by over $1 billion between June 30, 2007 and June 30, 2011, even (i) using the actuarial assumptions used to calculate 2011 UAAL and (ii) after consideration of the contribution of the COPs proceeds in 2005 and 2006.

- For the five years ending with FY 2012, pension payments exceeded contributions and investment income by approximately $1.7 billion for the GRS and $1.6 billion for the PFRS, resulting in liquidation of pension trust principal.

System	Benefit Payments	Contribution / Investment Income	Net Trust Loss
GRS	$1,601,193,045	($60,113,101)	$1,661,306,146
PFRS	$1,445,581,026	($127,803,339)	$1,573,384,365

- Increasing Legacy Liabilities. During FY 2012, more than 38% of the City’s actual revenue was consumed servicing legacy liabilities. Going forward, legacy liabilities are expected to consume increasing portions of City revenues.
 - Projected unfunded OPEB liabilities for FY 2013 are currently being evaluated. As of the most recent valuation (June 30, 2011), OPEB unfunded liabilities totaled $5.7 billion and are expected to grow absent restructuring.
 - Required pension contributions are projected to increase in light of (i) an increasingly mature population already in pension pay status, (ii) deferral of recognition of prior losses, (iii) the anticipated revision of actuarial assumptions used in the past and (iv) past deferrals of contributions.
 - In addition, the Governmental Accounting Standards Board has issued a statement (No. 67), effective during the City’s 2014 fiscal year, requiring municipalities to recognize their unfunded pension benefit obligation as a liability and to more comprehensively measure the annual costs of pension benefits.
 - Even if the City were not to change prior actuarial assumptions, pension UAAL is projected to grow to nearly $2 billion by 2017. The adoption of realistic actuarial assumptions would result in a significantly higher number for UAAL.
- Debt service for the City’s general fund, including payments related to unlimited tax general obligations and COPs, is projected to exceed $240 million in FY 2013.

Obligations Secured by Special Revenues

- The City estimates that, as of the end of FY 2013 (i.e., June 30, 2013), it will have:
 - $5.34 billion in outstanding principal amount of revenue bonds; and
 - $494 million in related state revolving loans.
- The revenue bonds and the revolving loans are related to the following funds:
 - Sewage Disposal Fund
 - $2.82 billion in outstanding principal amount of notes maturing July 1, 2013 through July 1, 2039, as of June 30, 2013.
 - $472.8 million in outstanding principal amount of state revolving loans, as of June 30, 2013.
 - Substantially all revenues of the sewage disposal system, net of operating expenses, pledged to secure payment of principal and interest. Net system revenues of $227,447,337 versus debt service requirements of $199,990,125 in FY 2012.
 - A schedule of the sewage disposal system bonds and related state revolving loans as of June 30, 2012 is attached hereto as Appendix A.
 - Water Fund
 - $2.52 billion in outstanding principal amount of various series of notes maturing July 1, 2013 through July 1, 2041, as of June 30, 2013.
 - $21.4 million in outstanding principal amount of state revolving loans, as of June 30, 2013.
 - Substantially all of the revenues of the City's water system, net of operating expenses, pledged to secure payment of principal and interest. Net system revenues of $178,842,057 versus debt service requirements of $153,441,666 in FY 2012.
 - A schedule of the water system bonds and related state revolving loans as of June 30, 2012 is attached hereto as Appendix B.

- Automobile Parking Fund
 - $9.3 million in outstanding principal amount of Detroit Building Authority Revenue Refunding Bonds: Parking System, Series 1998-A maturing July 1, 2013 through July 1, 2019, as of June 30, 2013.
 - Substantially all revenues of the parking system, net of operating expenses, pledged to secure payments of principal and interest.
 - Net system revenues of $2,708,223 versus debt service requirements of $2,923,454 in FY 2012.
- A chart setting forth the annual debt service on the foregoing special revenue obligations is attached hereto as Appendix F.

General Fund Obligations

- The City estimates that, as of the close of FY 2013 (i.e., June 30, 2013), it will have $1.01 billion in outstanding principal amount of limited and unlimited tax general obligation bonds, consisting of:
 - $469.1 million in outstanding principal amount of unlimited tax general obligation (“UTGO”) bonds maturing from April 1, 2013 through November 1, 2035.
 - $100 million of the foregoing bonds are secured by a second lien on distributable state aid.
 - $540.3 million in outstanding principal amount of limited tax general obligation (“LTGO”) bonds maturing April 1, 2013 through November 1, 2035.
 - Issuance of LTGO bonds do not require voter approval. They are payable from general non-restricted funds.
 - $249.8 million of the LTGO bonds are secured by a first lien on distributable state aid. $129.5 million of the LTGO bonds are secured by a third lien on distributable state aid.

- The City estimates that, as of June 30, 2013, the City will have $121.5 million in other outstanding installment notes and loans payable related to various public improvement projects.
 - $87.8 million in notes payable, which notes were issued in connection with the “Section 108” HUD Loan Guarantee Program and are secured by future “Block Grant” revenues.
 - $33.7 million in loans payable ($33.6 million of which is a non-interest bearing unsecured loan payable to the Downtown Development Authority as general operating funds become available).
- On August 23, 2012, the City issued $129.5 million of LTGO bonds at a $9.1 million premium (generating $137 million in proceeds after issuance costs) in part to defease short term bonds issued March 2012. The remaining proceeds of this issuance were set aside with a trustee bank in an escrow account to provide funds for reforms and liquidity in FY 2013. The current amount of the escrow is approximately $80 million.
- A schedule of the secured general obligation bonds and secured notes and loans payable as of June 30, 2012 is attached hereto as Appendix D. A schedule of the unsecured general obligation bonds and unsecured loans payable as of June 30, 2012 is attached hereto as Appendix E. A chart setting forth the annual debt service on the foregoing general fund obligations (and other liabilities) is attached hereto as Appendix G.

Certificates of Participation (Pension).

- In 2005, service corporations established by the GRS and PFRS created a trust that issued the COPs. The proceeds of the COPs were contributed to the City’s pension trusts.
- Principal and interest on the COPs is payable solely from payments made by the City to the service corporations pursuant to service contracts.
- The City estimates that, as of the close of FY 2013 (i.e., June 30, 2013), the following amounts were outstanding under the COPs:
 - $480.3 million in outstanding principal amount of $640,000,000 Certificates of Participation Series 2005 A maturing June 15, 2013 through 2025; and
 - $948.54 million in outstanding principal amount of $948,540,000 Certificates of Participation Series 2006 A and B maturing June 15, 2019 through 2035.

- The City has allocated portions of the COP liabilities among the transportation, sewage disposal, water and library funds based on each fund's share of the aggregate UAAL determined at the time of issuance of the COPs.
- The City has identified certain issues related to the validity and/or enforceability of the COPs that may warrant further investigation.
- A schedule of the COPs and related swap liabilities as of June 30, 2012 is attached hereto as Appendix C.

Swap Liabilities Related to Certificates of Participation.

- In connection with the COPs, the City entered into eight pay-fixed, receive-variable interest rate swap contracts, effective as of June 12, 2006, with a total notional amount of $800 million.
 - Recent valuations establish the negative fair value of the swaps at approximately $343.6 million (as of May 31, 2013).
 - January 2009 — The City received notice from the swap contract counterparties that downgrading of the COPs and certain swap insurers would constitute an “Additional Termination Event” under the swap contracts if not cured.
 - June 2009 — The City and the swap contract counterparties agreed on an amendment to the swap agreements, eliminating the Additional Termination Event and the potential for an immediate demand for a termination payment. Pursuant to the amendment:
 - The swap counterparties waived their right to termination payments; and
 - The City agreed to:
 - direct certain wagering tax revenues to a trust as collateral for the quarterly payments owing to the swap counterparties;
 - increase the interest rate of the swap agreements by 10 basis points effective July 1, 2010; and
 - include new termination events, including if COP ratings were withdrawn, suspended or downgraded.
 - March 2012 — COPs were further downgraded which triggered another Termination Event; City and the swap counterparties are in negotiations regarding the Termination Event.
 - March 2013 — Appointment of Emergency Manager constitutes an event of default triggering another Termination Event.

- Although this proposal reflects treating the swap obligations as special revenue debt secured by the wagering tax revenues, that treatment is still being reviewed by the Emergency Manager.
- A chart setting forth the annual debt service on the COPs and related swap liabilities is attached hereto as Appendix H.

UNSUSTAINABLE RETIREE BENEFITS.

OPEB Liabilities Are Large and Unfunded.

- The OPEB plans consist of the Health and Life Insurance Benefit Plan and the Supplemental Death Benefit Plan.
- As of June 30, 2011 (the most recently published actuarial valuation), there were 19,389 retirees eligible to receive benefits under the City's OPEB plans. The number of retirees receiving benefits from the City is expected to increase over time.
- 99.6% of the City's OPEB liabilities are unfunded.
- Health and Life Insurance Plan
 - Defined benefit plan providing hospitalization, dental care, vision care and life insurance to current employees and substantially all retirees.
 - City generally pays for 80% to 100% of health care coverage for eligible retirees.
 - $5,718,286,228 in actuarial liabilities as of June 30, 2011. An updated actuarial valuation based on more recent census data is currently being developed by third party professionals.
 - The Health and Life Insurance Plan is 0% funded; financed entirely on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.
 - $177,460,627 cost to the City on account of retiree benefits during FY 2012 provided under the Health and Life Insurance Plan.
 - City's contribution is in addition to $23,516,879 in FY 2012 contributions by retirees.

- The City's OPEB costs are expected to increase as a result of the City's growing number, and young age, of retirees (pension and health care plans have no age restrictions and early vesting ages) as well as increases in health care costs, particularly hospitalization costs.
- Health and Life Insurance Plan is secondary to Medicare for eligible employees over the age of 65; however, many retired police/fire employees are not eligible to receive free Medicare Part A benefits due to State-regulated social security "opt-out" provisions.
- Supplemental Death Benefit Plan
 - Pre-funded single-employer defined benefit plan providing death benefits based upon years of creditable service.
 - $34,564,960 in actuarially accrued liabilities as of June 30, 2011.
 - 74.3% funded; UAAL of $8.9 million.

OPEB Obligations Arise Under a Multiplicity of Plans

- The City's OPEB obligations arise under 22 different plans (15 different plans alone for medical/Rx) having varying structures and terms. This creates a high level of complexity and cost in benefit administration.

Weiler Class OPEB Benefits.

- In July 2006, the City made a number of unilateral changes to the healthcare benefits for unionized police and firefighter retirees. Retiree Alan Weiler filed a class action lawsuit on behalf of approximately 7,000 retirees alleging violations of collective bargaining agreements.
- The City and the Weiler class settled before trial, and the court entered a Consent Judgment approving the parties' settlement agreement. The settlement agreement requires the City to provide Weiler class members with generous health benefits for as long as class members receive a City pension.
- The Weiler plaintiffs are expected to assert that the settlement restricts the ability of the City to alter the benefit provisions included in the settlement.

- The Weiler class retirees/beneficiaries currently cost the City approximately $75 million per year, representing over 40% of retiree benefits costs under the Health and Life Insurance Plan.

Pension Liabilities Are Not Fully Funded – Shortfall Has Been Understated.

Aggressive Actuarial Assumptions Generate a Perception that Pensions are Modestly Underfunded.

- GRS: Reported UAAL of $639,871,444 out of $3,720,167,178 in accrued liabilities as of June 30, 2011 (82.8% funded).
- PFRS: Reported UAAL of $3,882,665 out of $3,808,642,553 in accrued liabilities as of June 30, 2011, as a result of awards received under Public Act 312 of 1969 (99.9% funded).
- These funding levels were based on the following assumptions:

	GRS	PFRS
Amortization Period	30 years (refinanced anew each year)	30 years
Asset valuation method	7-year smoothed market	7-year smoothed market
Investment rate of return (net of expenses)	7.9%	8.0%
Projected salary increases	4.0%-8.9%	5.0%-9.2%
Inflation rate	4.0%	0% for four years; 4.0% thereafter
Cost-of-living pension adjustments	2.25%	2.25%

More Realistic Assumptions Reveal That Funding Levels Have Been Overstated.

- The combined reported UAAL of approximately $644 million for the GRS/PFRS (estimated at $977 million as of June 30, 2012) is substantially understated.
- Current actuarial valuations project aggressive and unrealistic annual rates of return on investments net of expenses (GRS — 7.9%; PFRS — 8.0%).

- Pension plan funding levels calculated based upon assumed annual rates of return of 7%, or even 7.5%, would further reduce funding levels.
- Smoothing of funding levels over seven years masks funding shortfall — pension plan funding levels calculated based on the current market value of the plans’ assets show substantially reduced funding levels (GRS – 65% funded; PFRS – 78% funded).
- A 30-year amortization period for unfunded liabilities — which in GRS is applied anew each year to the full amount of unfunded liability, akin to annually refinancing a 30-year mortgage — allows unfunded liabilities to continue to grow rapidly (due to compounding).
- Although many governmental plans have significant amortization periods for unfunded benefits (e.g., MERS applies a 27-year amortization period with a goal of moving down to 20 years by the December 31, 2017 valuation), 30 years is longer than most and is far too long for these mature plans. Especially in the case of GRS, such a long period has the effect of deferring efforts to meaningfully reduce underfunding into the future.
- The City has consistently deferred payment of its year-end PFRS contributions (and finances such deferrals at a rate of 8%). As of June 30, 2012, the City owed the PFRS its full contribution for FY 2012 in the amount of approximately $50 million. As of May 2013, the City had deferred approximately $58 million in pension contributions owing for FY 2013. Contributions made in the form of notes have been treated as timely funding contributions made to the pension trust during the applicable financial year.
- The City was granted a funding credit by PFRS in the amount of $25 million for each of the fiscal years 2008 through 2010 resulting in under-contributions by the City toward its pension liabilities for each of those years.

Past Pension Practices. Certain past trustee practices contributed to the pension plans’ significant underfunding (e.g., annuity savings accounts; “13th checks”; ad hoc “sweeteners”; and various changes to eligibility (e.g., lowered years of service, combined years of employment)).

- For example, in both pension plans (and especially GRS), hundreds of millions of dollars contributed by the City and invested to support the defined benefit arrangement have instead been used to fund investment returns selected (but not actually earned) on employee contributions made under a separate defined contribution arrangement known as the Annuity Savings Accounts.

Anticipated Increase in Pension Contributions. Using current actuarial assumptions, the City’s required pension contributions are projected to grow from 25% (for GRS) and 30% (for PFRS) of eligible payroll expenses in FY 2012 to 30% (for GRS) and 60% (for PFRS) of such expenses by FY 2017. Changes in actuarial assumptions would result in further increases to the City’s required pension contributions.

OTHER LIABILITIES

The City estimates that, as of the end of FY 2013, the City will have $300 million in other liabilities outstanding.

As of June 30, 2012, the City owed at least $264.6 million in other liabilities, consisting primarily of:

- $101.2 million in accrued compensated absences, including unpaid, accumulated vacation and sick leave balances;
- $86.5 million in accrued workers’ compensation for which the City is self-insured;
- $63.9 million in claims and judgments, including lawsuits and claims other than workers’ compensation claims; and
- $13.0 million in capital leases and accrued pollution remedies.

HIGH LABOR COSTS AND RESTRICTIVE EMPLOYMENT TERMS

High Labor Costs.

Despite recent headcount reductions, labor costs related to General Fund active employees (i.e., wages, pension and benefits) represent more than 41% of the City's estimated FY 2013 gross revenues. Accordingly, savings related to such costs are a critical component of any restructuring.

- Estimated General Fund FY 2013 Wages: $333.8 million (29.8% of estimated FY 2013 revenues).
- Estimated General Fund FY 2013 Benefit Costs (fringes including health for active employees): Approx. $66.5 million (5.9% of estimated FY 2013 revenues).
- Estimated General Fund FY 2013 pension contributions (including normal and UAAL portion): $66.0 million (5.9% of estimated FY 2013 revenues).
 - While pension contributions are based on active payroll, some portion of the contribution is intended to cover the unfunded actuarial accrued liability which technically benefits all participants in the plan, including retirees.
 - Benefit and pension costs per active employee have increased from ~$18,000 in FY 2000 to ~$24,000 in FY 2013.
- Increasing Benefit Costs. Some of the savings related to medical benefits achieved through the City Employment Terms (the "CETs") will be offset by anticipated medical cost inflation.

Collective Bargaining Landscape.

The City's unionized employees are represented by 47 discrete bargaining units. The CBAs covering 44 of those bargaining units were expired as of September 30, 2012, and the majority of the employees represented thereby are subject to the CETs. The CBAs with the three remaining bargaining units expire as of June 30, 2013, at which point the employees represented thereby will become subject to the CETs as well. See Appendix I (identifying all City employee bargaining units).

Restrictive Employment Terms.

The City's CBAs impose work rules and other restrictions that have impaired the efficient functioning of City government. The CETs provide some relief from work rules and other restrictions (in part through incorporation of a broad management rights clause).

- “Bumping” Rights. Employees have been permitted to transfer across departments based solely on seniority (without regard to merit, relevant qualifications or experience for the new position). The City has amended the criteria for transfers and assignments and based them upon experience, attendance, work performance, sick time use and demonstrated ability rather than seniority.
 - The CETs also negated seniority protections in various CBAs by changing shifts, hours of operation and overtime procedures; and revising or eliminating job classifications.
- Limitations on Management Rights. The City's ability to manage policies, goals and the scope of operations for many City departments (most notably with respect to the right to implement and modify disciplinary policies) have been impaired by limitations on management rights and responsibilities. The CETs have replaced these limitations with a broad management rights clause, granting the City broad discretion with respect to the design and implementation of work rules.
- Arbitration Rights. The CETs curtail the ability of arbitrators to uphold future grievances based on expired bargaining agreement provisions or past practice.
- Lack of Reimbursement Rights. The unions historically did not (i) reimburse the City for full-time and part-time paid union officials or (ii) pay any fees for the City's collection and remittance of union dues and service fees. Under the CETs, the City is reimbursed for paid officials and collects a 2% administrative fee in connection with efforts related to union dues/service fees.
- In addition to concessions imposed by the CETs, additional concessions have been granted through statutory interest arbitration. These concessions have not been uniformly applied to all bargaining units, and some City employees have not been affected by these measures.
- In some cases, changes to the City Charter and the City Code, or other legislative initiatives, may be necessary to support needed operational enhancements and reduce unnecessary bureaucracy.

DETROIT WATER AND SEWERAGE DEPARTMENT MUST BE RESTRUCTURED.

The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (“DWSD”) is one of the largest municipal water and sewerage departments in the nation, providing water and wastewater services to the City and many suburban communities in an eight-county area, covering 1,079 square miles.

DWSD Capital Expenditures.

- Municipal securities broker/dealers and the City’s advisors’ analyses suggest that DWSD’s cost of capital is inflated due to the DWSD’s association with the City (and its financial circumstances). This increased cost of capital, coupled with the inability to raise rates and other factors, has resulted in significant under-spending on capital expenditures.
- DWSD’s January 2013 Capital Improvement Program totals approximately $1.2 billion over the next four years with approximately $322.4 million budgeted for water and sewer projects for FY 2013-14 and $361.8 million budgeted for FY 2014-15.

The EPA Litigation (E.D. Mich., Judge Cox).

- In 1977, the United States Environmental Protection Agency sued the City and the DWSD, alleging violations of the Clean Water Act (“CWA”). The case remained pending in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan — and the DWSD operated under federal oversight — for more than 35 years owing to “a recurring cycle” of compliance failures with regard to the CWA and National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (“NPDES”) permits required by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (“MDEQ”).

Administrative Consent Order.

- In July 2011, the DWSD agreed to undertake remedial measures pursuant to an Administrative Consent Order (“ACO”) with the MDEQ. The ACO instituted a compliance program with regard to areas of persistent dysfunction (e.g., maintenance; inadequate capital expenditures and related planning; inadequate staffing; restrictive procurement policies).
- Following the dismissal of the EPA Litigation, the ACO is the only order through which the MDEQ maintains oversight of the DWSD.

Root Cause Committee Plan of Action.

- Determining that the ACO, by itself, could not guarantee the DWSD's long-term compliance with CWA and NPDES standards, the district court ordered a "Root Cause Committee" comprised of City/DWSD officials to submit a plan addressing the "root causes" of the DWSD's noncompliance.
- The Root Cause Committee drafted – and the district court adopted – a "Plan of Action," which proposed to restructure the DWSD in order to address systemic dysfunction and achieve long-term compliance with federal and state standards (including, but not limited to, the imposition of changes on DWSD employees otherwise forbidden by applicable CBAs).
- A report submitted by the Root Cause Committee in March 2013 recommended an autonomous DWSD. Implementation of the Root Cause Committee's recommendation would require creation of two unique authorities (with one authority owning the assets and the other authority leasing the assets and making recurring payments to the City in lieu of taxes in the estimated annual amount of $50,000,000 in consideration for the transfer of DWSD assets).

Order Dismissing Case.

- By an order dated March 27, 2013, the district court closed the case, stating that it was satisfied that the court's orders and the ACO "have been substantially implemented." Closing the case was appropriate, the court said, "because the existing [ACO] is a sufficient mechanism to address any future issues regarding compliance with the DWSD's NPDES permit and the [CWA]."
- The district court did not order the implementation of the DWSD transaction proposed by the Root Cause Committee, citing its lack of authority to do so.
- The City appealed the district court's order dismissing the EPA Litigation on May 22, 2013.

OTHER LITIGATION AFFECTING THE CITY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION

The City generally has been successful in defending against legal challenges to its attempts to restructure its financial affairs, but numerous cases have been filed and remain pending and additional cases may well be filed. Some of these cases could affect the ability of the City to successfully restructure its affairs.

Litigation Challenging Consent Agreement.

Decision Voiding CBA-Related Sections of Consent Agreement Reversed on Procedural Grounds.

- In September 2012, the Ingham County Circuit Court struck down Sections 4.1 and 4.3 of the Consent Agreement, which provisions (i) granted the Mayor “authority to negotiate, renegotiate, execute, amend, modify, reject or terminate collective bargaining agreements” (§ 4.1) and (ii) gave the Financial Advisory Board approval rights over CBAs and allowed the Program Management Director to impose CBAs not approved by the City Council (§ 4.3). The Court overturned these provisions on the grounds that they improperly granted powers to Mayor Bing and other officials that are reserved exclusively to emergency managers.
- In October 2012, the Court of Appeals for the State of Michigan reversed the Ingham County court. The Court of Appeals’ ruling was based on procedural grounds (i.e., that the Circuit Court had lacked jurisdiction where the plaintiff had failed to establish standing).

Litigation Regarding Imposition of CETs.

Over 15 legal challenges and grievances related to the imposition of the CETs have been filed in several state courts and before the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (“MERC”). These cases challenge the enforceability of the Financial Stability Agreement and, thus, the legality of the CETs. These challenges generally have not prevented the City’s imposition of the CETs.

- Imposition of CETs on Police Department. In August of 2012, the Wayne County Circuit Court denied the Detroit Police Officers Association’s request for a permanent injunction against imposition of the CETs.
- Imposition of CETs on DWSD Employees. In the long-standing EPA Litigation, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan (i) required that DWSD employees enter into new CBAs with the DWSD (as opposed to with the City) and (ii) clarified that, although its orders did not restrict the DWSD from implementing CETs with respect to DWSD employees prior to negotiation of new CBAs, neither did such orders enjoin employees from challenging the CETs to the extent imposition thereof was inconsistent with applicable law. AFSCME Local 207 – the largest union in the DWSD – has challenged the imposition of the CETs upon DWSD employees before the MERC.
- Restoration of Certain Pay Cuts. In In re City of Detroit and Detroit Police Officers Association, Case No. D12 D-0354, the Detroit Police Officers Association, among other things, sought the restoration of a 10% across-the-board pay cut imposed upon all City police officers pursuant to the CETs. The City argued that such wage cuts were needed in light of the City’s ongoing financial emergency. The MERC panel ordered a 5% restoration of the officers’ wages, effective January 1, 2014 (and encouraged the emergency manager, the Mayor and the State Treasurer to consider instituting the 5% salary restoration effective July 1, 2013).

KEY OBJECTIVES FOR A FINANCIAL RESTRUCTURING AND REHABILITATION OF DETROIT

To the fullest extent possible under all of the circumstances:

- Provide incentives (and eliminate disincentives) for businesses and residents to locate and/or remain in the City.
 - The City cannot stabilize or pay creditors meaningful recoveries if it continues to shrink.
 - Achieving this goal requires improvements in City services, particularly in the area of public safety and tax reform to reduce the cost of living in the City to more closely approximate costs of living in nearby areas.
- Maximize recoveries for creditors.
 - Since the City will not generate sufficient cash to pay all liabilities, alternatives have to be considered.
- Provide affordable pension and health insurance benefits, and restructure governance of pension arrangements.
- Eliminate blight to assist in stabilizing and revitalizing neighborhoods and communities within the City.
- Reform the City government operations to improve efficiency and reduce costs.
 - In many areas, longer term benefits will require immediate increases in capital investment.
- Maximize collection of taxes and fees that are levied or imposed.
- Generate value from City assets where it is appropriate to do so.

The City has made significant progress decreasing operating costs; however, revenues have declined more quickly and legacy costs have increased.

Excluding proceeds from debt issuances, the City's expenditures have exceeded revenues from FY 2008 to FY 2012 by an average of $100 million annually.

Total revenues	$1,397.7	$1,363.3	$1,291.0	$1,316.8	$1,196.9	$1,121.9

Municipal income tax

- Income tax revenues decreased in FY 2009 and FY 2010 primarily due to lower taxable income of City residents and non-residents working in the City as a result of the economic recession. The recovery in the last 3 years was due to increased taxable income as well as the recent increase in the corporate tax rate.

State revenue sharing

- State revenue sharing decreased in FY 2011 primarily due to the 2010 census population decline affecting constitutional revenue sharing payments.
- FY 2009 and FY 2010 include $15 - $20 million payments that were held from the previous year due to late CAFR submission.
- Statutory revenue sharing was replaced by the Economic Vitality Incentive Program funds. The total amount available to be paid to municipalities decreased and the payment method is now based on performance metrics to reward "best practices".

Wagering taxes

- Wagering tax revenues from Detroit’s three casinos have remained steady. Wagering tax receipts are projected to decrease through FY 2015 and beyond due to expected loss of gaming revenue to casinos opening in nearby Toledo, Ohio.
- Beginning January 2006, the City began receiving an additional 1% of adjusted gross receipts as percentage payment revenues. In addition, the City receives $4 million from each casino when the casino reaches $400 million in adjusted gross receipts during the calendar year.

Property taxes

- Property tax revenues have been decreasing primarily due to declining taxable property valuations (~12% since FY 2008) and increasing charge-backs due to delinquency rates (charge-backs have been increasing at a quicker pace than delinquent bills transferred to Wayne County).
- Delinquent property tax bills are transferred to Wayne County and the City receives payment for the full amount submitted, less charge-backs for prior period uncollectible bills, which ultimately the City has to repay.
- Revenues were higher in FY 2011 due to (non-cash) adjustments to property tax distributions and charge-back liabilities that were overstated in prior years.

Salary/overtime/fringe

- The City has significantly reduced its payroll related costs since the peak in FY 2009 based on a variety of cost reduction efforts, including headcount reductions, furlough days, wage reductions, etc.

Other expenses declining

- Other expenditures, including expenses covered by grant revenue, claims for self-insurance, professional/contractual services and purchased electricity and gas/fuel costs have declined by more than $266 million (44%) over the past six years.

Legacy expenditures

Legacy expenditures	$(414.6)	$(462.0)	$(397.9)	$(486.1)	$(461.6)	$(477.3)

Debt service and COP payments

- COP-related payments include swap interest payments and principal and interest.
- COP-related payments have been increasing due to increasing scheduled maturities and increasing swap interest rates through FY 2010.
- Debt service was higher in FY 2009 due to a balloon payment due in 2009 on debt related to the Greater Detroit Resource Recovery Authority.
- COP-related payments are forecast to increase due to a back-loaded amortization schedule.

Pension contributions

- The City has consistently deferred year-end PFRS contributions by using a payment plan financing arrangement paying 8% interest (~$50 million for FY 2012).
- The City was granted a $25 million credit in each of the years 2008, 2009, and 2010. If not for these credits, the contribution would have been $25 million higher in each of those years, thereby saving the City a cumulative $75 million. Therefore, the contributions for 2008, 2009, and 2010 are effectively understated.

Health Benefits - Retiree

- The total cost of healthcare benefits City-wide in FY 2012 was approximately $275 million, of which approximately $177 million related to retirees.
- The General Fund’s portion of healthcare costs in FY 2012 was approximately $204 million, of which approximately $150 million related to retirees.

FY 2013 Cash Flow

FY 2013 Forecast.

- At the end of FY 2012, the City held cash of $29.8 million, subject to accumulated property tax distributions in the amount of $27.9 million, or cash net of distributions of $1.9 million.
- Based upon actual results through May 31, 2013 and forecasted results through the end of FY 2013, the City is projecting positive net cash flow of $4.0 million for FY 2013.
 - However, as of June 30, 2013, the City will have accumulated deferrals of approximately $120 million, primarily related to pension contributions. If not for the deferrals of payments, the City would have already run out of cash.
- In August 2012 (FY 2013), the City issued $129.5 million in self-insurance and capital improvement bonds (proceeds of $137 million) with the assistance of the Michigan Finance Authority; however, $80 million was used to repay a short-term borrowing in FY 2012 and the balance was placed in escrow subject to State Treasury approval of withdrawal.
- In December 2012, the State authorized the City to draw an additional $10 million from the escrowed proceeds.
- The forecast assumes an additional $20 million will be drawn in June 2013.

Interfund Loans and Other Outstanding Amounts Due.

- As of May 31, 2013, the City's general fund had outstanding deferrals and amounts due to other funds and entities of approximately $202.6 million. These are effectively borrowings and must be repaid.
 - Cash owed to other funds: As of May 31, 2013, the General Fund owed approximately $41.2 million to other funds (e.g., Risk Management Fund).
 - Cash commingled with General Fund: As of May 31, 2013, the General Fund held $52.6 million of other funds' cash in its operating account (e.g., Major and Local Street Funds).
 - Property tax distributions: As of May 31, 2013, the General Fund owed $55.1 million to other taxing authorities (e.g., Detroit Public Schools and Wayne County).
 - Deferred pension contributions: As of May 31, 2013, the General Fund owed $53.7 million in delinquent pension contributions to the GRS and PFRS systems.
 - On June 30, 2013, the City will owe an additional $50 million (estimated) related to the FY 2013 required PFRS contribution, which will increase the amount of deferred pension contributions to over $100 million.

Cash conservation measures include:

- Issuance of short-term (RANs & TANs) and long-term debt.
- General fund borrowing from other funds, deferrals of payments to other funds and cash pooling (as described above).
- Deferral of trade payments and management of accounts payable with reference to available cash. Current accounts payable are approximately aged 60 to 75 days. Issues related to unvouchered accounts payable could increase the aging profile of the City's A/P.

IN THE ABSENCE OF A COMPREHENSIVE FINANCIAL RESTRUCTURING, BUDGET DEFICITS WILL CONTINUE FOR THE FORESEEABLE FUTURE.

The City Has Limited Options for Further Revenue Generation and, in the Absence of a Comprehensive Financial Restructuring, Cost-Saving Measures.

- Legacy obligations continue to increase;
- Limited or no access to capital markets;
- Diminishing, if any, returns from further tax increases; and
- Minimal potential for further payroll related reductions.

Absent Structural Changes, the City's Accumulated Deficit is Expected to Grow to Unprecedented Levels.

- At the City's current run rate, its accumulated deficit could grow to 3-4 times its current level of $326.6 million to over $1.35 billion by FY 2017.

A Look at the Future in the Absence of Restructuring Initiatives

Note: The following projections were prepared based solely on the City's current levels of operating expenses and capital expenditures and do not account for (i) increases in expenditures necessary to restore City services to adequate levels, (ii) additional investment by the City in services, assets or infrastructure or (iii) any changes to legacy liabilities.

THE CITY HAS TAKEN ACTION TO ADDRESS ITS FINANCIAL CHALLENGES

The City has already taken numerous steps to improve its financial position including expense savings and revenue increases. These initiatives save the City an estimated $200 million per year but they also impose substantial burdens on the City's workforce and residents.

Headcount Reductions.

- Since 2011, the City has reduced its headcount by more than 2,700 employees (from 12,302 employees as of close of FY 2010 to approximately 9,560 as of May 31, 2013).
- The City's headcount reductions have resulted in annual savings of over $100 million.

Reductions of Labor Costs through Implementation of City Employment Terms.

- On July 12, 2012, the Financial Advisory Board approved the CETs for (i) employees in unions with expired CBAs and (ii) nonunion employees, effective as of July 17, 2012.
- Among other things, the CETs provide for (i) wage reductions (implemented through imposition of furlough days); (ii) caps/reductions on vacation/holiday pay/overtime/sick days; (iii) the reduction of pension multipliers; and (iv) changes to healthcare coverage.
- Implementation of the CETs provides for an estimated $102 million in annual savings.
 - $25 million in savings attributable to wage reductions (24% of savings).
 - $59 million in savings attributable to reduced active and retiree benefits (59% of savings).
 - $9 million in savings attributable to reduced pension costs (9% of savings).
 - $8 million in savings attributable to changes to work rules (8% of savings).

- Police Work Rules. The CETs implement a number of changes to work rules governing the DPD. For example, the CETs implement changes related to (i) the establishment of a joint labor/management committee to determine the assignment of civilians to certain job functions (i.e., “civilianization”); (ii) the ability of the chief of police to hire and deploy personnel; (iii) limitations on court time pay, holiday pay, eligibility for overtime pay, holiday pay and bonus vacation days; (iv) elimination of educational reimbursement programs; (v) elimination of “wage differential” compensation while employees are on roster for promotion; and (vi) delaying separation payments.
- Other Union Rules. The CETs also implement a number of changes to work rules governing those unions with contracts that expired on or before June 30, 2012. For example, the CETs implement changes related to (i) freezing sick leave banks and eliminating reserve sick leave accrual; (ii) elimination of sick time cash payouts for future earned time; (iii) reserving the City’s right to reinstate furlough days; (iv) elimination of the $3-per-day allowance for daily car usage; (v) elimination of four to six annual bonus vacation days; and (vi) reduced vacation accrual to 160 hours from 320 hours.

Revenue Generating Initiatives.

- Increased Corporate Tax Rate. In January 2012, the City’s corporate income tax rate was raised to 2.0% from 1.0%. This increased rate was projected to generate an estimated $6 million in additional annual revenue.
- Enhanced Tax Collection Initiatives. The City has implemented, and is implementing, initiatives designed to (i) improve collection of past due taxes and (ii) enhance collection efforts on a prospective basis. These efforts to enhance collection of taxes could generate an estimated $13 million in additional annual revenue.
- Increased Lighting Rates. In January 2013, the PLD increased its rates to more closely align with market rates/ eliminate practice of charging customers less for power than the City itself was paying. Increased PLD rates could generate an estimated $9 million in additional annual revenue.

Significantly Reduced Operating Expenses.

- Reductions in Vendor Costs. The City is implementing an initiative to reduce its vendor-related costs by 10%. Reductions in vendor costs are expected to save an estimated $10 million annually.
- Reduction in Subsidy to DDOT. In 2012, the City undertook steps to improve the efficiency of the Detroit Dep’t of Transportation (e.g., through route rationalization), thereby reducing the subsidy from the City’s General Fund to the DDOT enterprise fund by approximately $15 million annually.

Deferred Capital Expenditures.

- The City has deferred capital expenditures.
 - Average aggregate capital outlays for the fiscal years 2008 – 2012 were only $82.98 million. Average aggregate capital outlays for the preceding fiscal years 2003 – 2007 were $151.94 million.
 - For fiscal years 2014 – 2023, it is estimated that General Fund necessary capital expenditures will average approximately $145 million.

Demolition Initiative.

Program launched in April 2010 with the goal of demolishing 10,000 vacant structures in 3 years.

- Over 5,000 structures have been demolished; the remaining portion of the 10,000 structures in the program are planned to be demolished by December 2013.
- Despite $72 million in committed and expended funds for this initiative, there is a funding gap of $40 million to complete the demolition of 10,000 structures and achieve the program's goal.
- Demolition initiative only addresses 13% of the vacant buildings in the City and 26% of such buildings that are classified as dangerous.
 - Ancillary demolition initiative in partnership with State allocated $10 million related to mortgage-related settlement to targeted demolition of 1,234 structures around schools. 179 structures demolished as of February, 28, 2013 (with another 56 under contract).

Execution of Consent Agreement/Creation of Financial Advisory Board.

- Early 2012: City and State negotiate a “Financial Stability Agreement” (often referred to as the “Consent Agreement”) in an effort to achieve (i) financial stability for the City and (ii) a stable platform for future growth.
- The City Council approved the Consent Agreement on April 4, 2012. The Consent Agreement was executed by the Mayor, the members of a State-appointed Financial Review Team, the State Treasurer and the Governor as of April 5, 2012.

- The Consent Agreement created a “Financial Advisory Board” (the “FAB”), of nine members selected by the Governor, the State Treasurer, the Mayor and City Council.
 - Under the Consent Agreement, the FAB had an oversight role and limited powers over certain City reform and budget activities.
 - The FAB has held, and continues to hold, regular public meetings and continues to exercise its oversight functions consistent with the Consent Agreement.
- To implement the reform efforts set forth in the Consent Agreement, the positions of “Chief Financial Officer” and “Program Management Director “were established. Each report to the Mayor.

Legislation Authorizing Appointment of an Emergency Manager (“EM”).

- In 1990, the Michigan Legislature enacted Public Act 72 (“PA 72”), which empowered the State to intervene in municipalities facing financial crisis through the appointment of an EM who, once appointed, assumed many of the powers ordinarily held by local elected officials.
- Effective March 16, 2011, the Legislature repealed PA 72 and enacted Public Act 4 (“PA 4”). PA 4 enhanced the State’s power to intervene in financially troubled municipalities by, for example, giving EMs the authority to unilaterally modify, reject or terminate municipal contracts.
- Michigan voters rejected PA 4 by referendum on November 5, 2012.
- The Michigan Court of Appeals ruled that the rejection of PA 4 automatically revived PA 72.
- Effective March 28, 2013, the Legislature enacted Public Act 436 (“PA 436”), which repealed and replaced the revived PA 72.
 - Like PA 4, PA 436 empowers EMs to modify, reject or terminate municipal contracts.
 - PA 436 contains an appropriations provision that immunizes the law from referendum.

Appointment of EM.

- Pursuant to PA 72, on December 19, 2012, Governor Snyder appointed a Financial Review Team to examine the City's financial situation.
- On February 19, 2013, the Financial Review Team issued a report concluding that Detroit was in a state of financial emergency.
- Based upon the Financial Review Team's findings, on March 1, 2013, the Governor determined that a financial emergency existed in Detroit — a determination that, under PA 72, required the Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board (“LEFALB”) to appoint an EM for Detroit.
- On March 14, 2013, the LEFALB appointed Kevyn Orr as EM for Detroit.
 - Mr. Orr's first employment contract became effective on March 25, 2013, the day Mr. Orr began work as EM. Three days later, on the date PA 436 repealed and replaced PA 72, Mr. Orr and the State entered into a second contract.

Litigation Relating to Detroit EM Appointment.

- In Davis v. Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board, pending in the Ingham County Circuit Court, the plaintiff (i) alleges violations of Michigan's Open Meetings Act by the LEFALB in connection with Mr. Orr's appointment as Detroit EM and (ii) requests that the court invalidate that appointment.
 - Case law indicates that the LEFALB is not a public body subject to the Open Meetings Act.
 - Parties are currently engaged in various discovery disputes and dispositive motion practice; answer yet to be filed.
- In Citizens United Against Corrupt Government v. Local Emergency Financial Assistance Loan Board, pending in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, the plaintiff (i) argues that Mr. Orr could not have been appointed under PA 72, because that law could not have been in effect and (ii) asks the court to reverse its previous opinion that voter rejection of PA 4 revived PA 72.

Litigation Challenging PA 436

- In Phillips v. Snyder, pending in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, the plaintiffs seek, among other things, (i) declaratory relief that PA 436 violates, among other things, the U.S. Constitution and the Voting Rights Act; and (ii) injunctive relief, among other things, preventing the Defendants and any EMs from exercising rights under PA 436. A hearing on the defendants' motion to dismiss is scheduled for August 21, 2013.
- In Detroit NAACP v. Snyder, pending in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, the plaintiffs seek an order declaring that PA 436 violates the Due Process and Equal Protection clauses of the U.S. Constitution. The plaintiffs assert that the Michigan Legislature violated the pre-clearance requirement of section 5 of the Voting Rights Act in passing PA 436. The plaintiffs seek injunctive relief against any actions taken pursuant to PA 436, including all actions initiated by EMs.

Litigation Concerning Actions Taken by Other EMs.

- Since 1990, EMs have been appointed to restructure the finances of Hamtramck, Highland Park, Flint, Three Oaks, Pontiac, Ecorse, Benton Harbor, Allen Park — and now Detroit. Except for Hamtramck, Highland Park, Ecorse and Three Oaks, each of these municipalities remains under the control of an EM. The school districts of Detroit, Highland Park and Muskegon Heights also are currently operating under EM control.
- Opponents have challenged various EM actions in administrative proceedings, arbitration and lawsuits with mixed results.
 - Litigation Relating to Actions Affecting CBAs. Under PA 4, EMs have ordered unilateral modifications to CBA provisions. Plaintiffs have challenged such modifications on federal and state law grounds, including constitutional challenges based on Contracts Clause and Due Process arguments.
 - Limitation on EM Power to Modify CBAs. On March 29, 2013, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan enjoined an EM's unilateral modifications to CBAs with unions representing municipal retirees. The EM had shifted certain health care costs from the municipality to retirees. The court granted the plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction on Contracts Clause and Due Process Clause grounds. An appeal is pending before the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals.

- Litigation Relating to Changes in Salaries of Local Elected Officials.
 - EMs have reduced the compensation paid to mayors and city council members, at least on a temporary basis. Courts have held that local elected officials do not have property rights to continued compensation at a pre-existing level, and that an EM can eliminate elected officials' salaries entirely.
- Litigation in Connection with Termination of Unelected Municipal Employees with “For Cause” Contracts.
 - While an EM's broad power to hire and terminate at-will municipal employees has not been subject to any legal challenges, the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals recently affirmed a ruling that, under PA 72, an EM did not have authority to fire a municipal employee who was not a department head, and whose employment contract provided for dismissal only “for cause,” without first providing notice and an opportunity to be heard.
- Litigation in Connection with Modification or Termination of Municipal Contracts.
 - PA 4 contained a provision authorizing an EM to “[r]eject, modify, or terminate 1 or more terms and conditions of an existing contract.” PA 436 contains identical language.
 - Although no ruling to date has invalidated the statutory authority of an EM to modify or reject contracts, a Michigan circuit court recently ruled PA 4's contract-modification provision unconstitutional as applied.
 - The U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan recently rejected cross-motions for summary judgment and scheduled a bench trial to resolve a claim that an EM's termination of real estate leases violated the Contracts Clause of the U.S. Constitution.
- Litigation in Connection with Bidding Processes for Municipal Contracts.
 - Recent litigation regarding the fairness and transparency of a contract bidding process instituted by an EM was settled prior to decision (and after denial of injunctive relief).
- Litigation Concerning Michigan's Open Meetings Act.
 - The Michigan Court of Appeals has held that an EM is not subject to the state Open Meetings Act, even when the EM assumes the duties of a body that is subject to the act (e.g., the city council).
- Litigation Concerning Restructuring a Municipal Pension Board.
 - In a case that may be particular to PA 72, displaced pension board members and others obtained an injunction staying an EM's decision to restructure a city's largest pension board (reducing its membership from 11 to 5) in Michigan circuit court. The defendants have moved for leave to appeal in the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Continuing Role of Mayor and City Council.

- Under PA 436, Mr. Orr acts for and in the place of the Detroit mayor and city council.
- PA 436 prohibits Detroit's local elected officials from exercising any powers except as expressly authorized by PA 436 or as authorized in writing by Mr. Orr and subject to any conditions he may impose.
- Nevertheless, both the Mayor and the City Council have continuing legal roles and rights under PA 436. Maintaining such offices should help ensure that the executive and legislative branches of City government can resume full functioning upon the City's transition out of receivership.
- On March 25, 2013, Mr. Orr issued an order restoring the full salaries and benefits of the mayor and city council, which compensation otherwise would have been automatically eliminated on PA 436's effective date of March 28, 2013.
- On April 11, 2013, Mr. Orr issued an order authorizing the mayor and city council to continue conducting the day-to-day business of the City, subject to limitations imposed by PA 436 and Mr. Orr's ultimate approval.
- Since Mr. Orr's appointment, the FAB continues to serve, but its responsibilities and powers remain subject to modification.

RESTRUCTURING AND REINVESTING IN CITY GOVERNMENT

To address the crises confronting the City and remedy the deficiencies in services addressed above (including, in particular, deficiencies in services relating to public safety), and to achieve a sustainable restructuring that promotes the longterm health, safety and growth of the City, the City must aggressively pursue – and devote substantial resources to – the objectives described below.

The City proposes to spend approximately $1.25 billion over the next ten years to, among other things, (i) improve the performance and infrastructure of its Police, Fire, EMS and Transportation Departments, (ii) comprehensively address and remediate urban blight, (iii) modernize its information technology systems on a City-wide basis and (iv) address lingering issues plaguing the City’s electrical grid and lighting.

A detailed summary of the reinvestments to be made in the City – and the associated costs – is attached hereto as Appendix J.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Police.

- Key Issues and Deficiencies to Be Addressed.
 - Exceedingly high crime rates.
 - Outdated and obsolete information technology.
 - Poor quantitative performance (e.g., low response times; low case closure rates)
 - Inadequate staffing, low employee morale and lack of employee accountability.
 - Aging infrastructure (e.g., fleet and facilities).

- Measurable Objectives.

- Reduce response times to the national average.
- Improve closure rates and first responder investigations.
- Update and overhaul police fleet and facilities.
- Modernize the Department’s information technology.
- Achieve compliance with federal consent decrees.
- Refine structure, staffing and organization of department to better serve citizens; hold all members (sworn and civilian) of the department accountable to effectively maintain core responsibilities of policing.

- Expected impact on restructuring/reinvestment expenses in FY 2014 and going forward

(numbers in brackets represent increases in expenditures):

($ in millions)	FY 2014	FY 2015	FY 2016	FY 2017	FY 2018
Total Restructuring/Reinvestment
Facility Costs	(5.7)	(5.5)	(4.3)	(3.4)	(3.9)
Fleet Update - Repairs & Maintenance	(11.6)	(11.0)	(10.7)	(10.6)	(9.8)
Technology/Other	(9.0)	(6.2)	(1.1)	(1.1)	(1.1)
Total	(26.3)	(22.7)	(16.1)	(15.1)	(14.8)

- Initiatives To Be Undertaken to Achieve Objectives.

- Hiring of new police chief to drive DPD restructuring (in process).
- Implement Compstat (i.e., data-driven policing) model to increase accountability of command staff; evaluate outsourcing crime analysis to a third party with deep statistical analysis capabilities; implement key performance metrics driven by crime data.
- Restructure department and streamline cumbersome processes to improve operational efficiency; evaluate precincts, districts and special units; utilize accountability metrics and IT systems to eliminate non-productive policing time.
- Enhance DPD collaboration with all facets of community (e.g., individuals, neighborhood groups, clergy, schools, private social service agencies); facilitate relationships with all facets of government.
- Expand “Citizens Radio Patrol” to serve as extended eyes and ears of the DPD, thereby increasing law enforcement effectiveness; deploy to all areas of Detroit. A recently-implemented “Broken Windows” pilot project has achieved positive results in the 8th Precinct’s Rosedale Park neighborhood. This pilot project could be expanded City-wide.
- Restructured operations and deficient sworn staffing levels will be addressed by a comprehensive workload analysis and crime statistics trends; redeploy sworn members based on data-driven approach.
- Civilianize eligible administrative functions and redeploy sworn officers.
- Hold all members (sworn and civilian) of the department accountable; redesign disciplinary process and ensure it is transparent, consistent and effective.
- Develop strategy to address low employee morale.
- Provide adequate operational and technological resources to officers (e.g., uniforms, vests, tasers, vehicles, IT, etc.).
- Better utilize police reserves.
- Develop detailed recruiting strategy (with respect to both new recruits and experienced hires); explore outsourcing all or a portion of Police Academy training to local MCOLES certified academic institutions; continue to provide training courses on DPD rules, regulations, policies, and City ordinances; develop overall training plans for metrics, financials and operations.

- Evaluate location, number and condition of facilities (owned and leased); refresh vehicle fleet; increase facility and fleet maintenance expenditures to appropriate levels.
- Select and implement a fully integrated IT system; implement Jail Management System.
- Develop contracts and memoranda of understanding with neighboring law enforcement agencies for the sharing of resources (police, fire and EMS); enhance regional public safety with local and state public safety community cooperation.
- Increase fees for service ($2-3 million potential opportunity); expedite Eticketing implementation; identify additional grant funding to support public safety initiatives; pursue opportunities for donations; evaluate improving/outsourcing collections efforts.
- Restructure budget process to eliminate silos; implement budget to actual process; transfer budget and actual financial ownership to Command officers.
- Implement outsourcing contract with the Michigan Department of Corrections (“MDOC”) to consolidate all DPD pre-arraignment jail operations into one centralized jail.

Fire and EMS.

- Key Issues and Deficiencies to Be Addressed.

- Aging infrastructure (e.g., fleet and facilities).
 - Inadequate maintenance and faulty equipment.
 - Outdated and obsolete information technology.

- Measurable Objectives.

- Modernize fleet and facilities to ensure that DFD has adequate and reliable infrastructure and equipment to perform its duties.
- Modernize information technology.
- Improve operating efficiency and cost structure.

- Expected impact on restructuring/reinvestment expenses in FY 2014 and going forward
(numbers in brackets represent increases in expenditures):

($ in millions)	FY 2014	FY 2015	FY 2016	FY 2017	FY 2018
Total Restructuring/Reinvestment
Facility Costs	(4.5)	(4.0)	(4.1)	(18.4)	(1.1)
Fleet Update - Repairs & Maintenance	(0.6)	(1.9)	(2.0)	(2.0)	(2.1)
Technology/Other	(1.3)	(0.2)	(0.2)	(0.2)	(0.2)
Total	(6.3)	(6.1)	(6.2)	(20.6)	(3.4)

- Initiatives To Be Undertaken to Achieve Objectives.

- Substantial investments in assets and new information technology are required to improve delivery of services.
- Evaluate and implement revenue enhancements to improve and streamline billing and collections processes, increase charges and fees and enhance grant identification and management.
- Take steps to improve operating efficiency and cost structure, including:
 - Implementing flexible labor work rules and employment terms;
 - Evaluating opportunities to more fully integrate fire-fighting and EMS;
 - Civilianizing administrative functions;
 - Transferring apparatus maintenance to General Services Department in an effort to more efficiently manage the fleet; and
 - Increasing the use of technology to drive efficiencies.
 - Seek assistance from independent experts to assist with designing and vetting DFD-specific restructuring plan.
 - Evaluate opportunities to share administrative costs within public safety structure.
 - Evaluate opportunities to combine fire and/or EMS services with other local municipalities.

Blight Removal.

- Key Issues and Deficiencies to Be Addressed.

- Large numbers of abandoned and blighted structures.
- Contribution of blight to high fire and crime levels and depressed property values.
- High cost of demolition of blighted structures.
- Cumbersome statutes and regulations governing blight removal efforts.

- Measurable Objectives.

- Stabilize and revitalize neighborhoods and communities within the City and improve quality of life.
- Decrease incidence of crime and fire in blighted buildings and areas.
- Increase property values and property taxes.
- Improvement in appearance of City.
- Reduce migration from City.

- Expected impact on restructuring/reinvestment expenses in FY 2014 and going forward

- Costs associated with blight removal include demolition, brush removal, recycling centers, disposal of debris, logistics, administration, and legal costs associated with clearing title and preserving the City's right to reimbursement of costs.

Total Blight Costs	50.0	50.0	100.0	100.0	100.0

- Initiatives to Be Undertaken to Achieve Objectives.

- The City has begun and will continue to remediate blight within the City by partnering with public and private initiatives and utilizing a mix of Federal, State, municipal and private (commercial and non-profit) resources.
- The City's will participate in broader State initiatives coordinated by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) and focus on collaboration across public entities holding underutilized lands; effective and appropriate blight removal policies and regulation; efficient and safe demolition and clearing activities from publicly owned properties; and returning properties to the private tax base to create value.
- To the extent that resources become available to remediate blight within the City, the City may be able to accelerate its residential, commercial and industrial blight remediation, or reallocate budgeted resources to other initiatives or spending items, including supporting its liabilities.
- Pursue grant funds to pay for the demolition of abandoned structures.
- Review and, where appropriate, revise ordinances and regulations to speed and reduce the cost of the demolition process.
- Support construction of recycling centers for local demolition materials via volume or other commitments.
- Consolidate and integrate Police and Fire activity data to use strategic demolition activities as a means to reduce crime and arson.

Electrical Transmission Grid.

- Key Issues and Deficiencies to Be Addressed.
 - Inadequate maintenance and deterioration of grid.
 - Need to de-commission segments of the grid, sub-stations and the Mistersky power plant.
 - Inefficient billing and collection efforts.
- Measurable Objectives.
 - Improvement in performance of grid and services to citizens.
 - Decommissioning of grid, sub-stations and power plant.
 - Increased revenue collection from customers.
- Initiatives to Be Undertaken to Achieve Objectives.
 - The City is considering alternatives to exit the electricity business.
 - An alternative being considered consists of migrating customers to an alternative provider over a five- to seven-year period with the alternative provider providing reimbursement to the City to maintain the distribution grid on the provider's behalf.
 - Five- to seven-year build-out:
 - i. Year 1 — meters changed to alternative provider's system and customers transitioned. PLD continues to operate and maintain the system during the transition period.
 - ii. Years 2-7 — customers migrate to alternative provider's grid on a substation by substation basis as the PLD operation is simultaneously scaled down.
 - Customers (including City) would pay alternative provider's rate book (which could be higher than the current rate charged/incurred by City).
 - PLD workers and/or third party contractors will operate and maintain City grid until build-out is finished (cost reimbursed by alternative provider subject to negotiation). Requires regulatory approval.

Street lights

- Key Issues and Deficiencies to Be Addressed.
 - High percentage of non-functioning streetlights.
 - Working lights not adequately serving current population footprint.
 - Dated infrastructure requiring upgrade and modernization.
- Measurable Objectives.
 - Implementation current population-based streetlight footprint.
 - Outsource operations and maintenance to the newly-created Public Lighting Authority structure (in consultation with the City).
 - Improved service to citizens and better cost management.
- Initiatives to Be Undertaken to Achieve Objectives.
 - Short term: address outages systematically in an effort to restore light and facilitate the transition of streetlights to the new structure.
 - Long term: newly-established authority to upgrade, operate and maintain streetlights, resulting in an approximately 46,000-55,000 light footprint servicing today's Detroit.
 - Three year build-out (1/3 of lights each year).
 - Alternative provider will potentially manage project for Authority (subject to competitive bid).
 - Authority or City will negotiate special rate for operations and maintenance/electricity of lights as no regulated rate exists for operations and maintenance of municipal-owned system.
- Expected impact on restructuring/reinvestment expenses in FY 2014 and going forward.
 - Under the proposed structure, the PLD's net tax cost is expected to be approximately $12 million annually.
 - The $12.5 million of utility users' tax will be directed to the Authority as per statute. The Authority may seek to issue debt of $160 million secured by tax receipts to fund its activities.

Information Systems Upgrades

- Investment by the City in upgraded information technology is an indispensable aspect of the restructuring and reinvestment proposals and is critical to achieving almost all of the objectives described herein.
- Key Issues and Deficiencies to Be Addressed.
 - Old and outdated technology assets and applications.
 - Lack of integration of IT infrastructure between departments and functions.
 - Deficiencies in IT infrastructure present throughout City government.
- Measurable Objectives.
 - Enhance City-wide IT infrastructure to assist with effectuating change and augmenting workflows.
 - Increase integration between finance and operational systems City-wide resulting in lower labor costs and improved efficiencies.
 - Improve financial and operational reporting, resulting in:
 - Ability to monitor and improve operating performance.
 - More timely and accurate financial reporting to interested parties.
 - Improve revenue and collection efforts as a result of streamlined processes.
- Initiatives to Be Undertaken to Achieve Objectives.
 - DPD, DFD & EMS.
 - DPD has identified a fully integrated public safety solution (SunGard/OSSI) that can provide DPD, DFD and EMS (all of which support the solution) with integrated computer aided dispatch, records management and reporting.
 - Regional solution that integrates the City of Detroit with Wayne County, Detroit Public Schools, Wayne State University, Down River communities, etc.
 - Costs to implement Public Safety IT solution: approximately $5 million.
 - An integrated product will allow for much-needed data exchanges between agencies and will improve efficiency and operations.

- Payroll System Upgrade.

- In November 2012, the City contracted to transition its payroll (and benefits and human resources) operations to ADP Payroll Services. The transition is expected to be complete in March 2014.
- Benefits of payroll system upgrade:
 - Approximately $10 million annual reduction in payroll processing costs.
 - Approximately $10 million annual reduction to payroll inflation from errors.
 - Improved reporting, efficiency and accuracy.
 - Approximately 50+ uniformed policemen to be re-deployed.

- Overhaul and Centralize Grant Management System.

- City receives approximately $293 million in grants related to its services each year.
- City may invest in an overhaul of the administration of its grant management system, including centralizing oversight and support and standardizing information technology.
- City may appoint an auditor general to screen for potential mismanagement of grant funding.
- Benefits:
 - Implementing a centralized and standardized grant IT system is expected to result in the City receiving more grant funds with better compliance at a lower cost.
 - Ability to comprehensively track Citywide grant funds and status.
 - Citywide accountability structure to prevent disallowed costs and improve service delivery.
 - Improved relations with federal, state and private funders.
 - Ability to discover and apply for more grant opportunities.

- Costs:
 - Training modules to migrate system (cost TBD).
 - Implementation of grants IT module and related training.
 - Potential operating costs for grants management operating unit are approximately $700,000.
- Assessor's Office and Property Tax Division.
 - Recommendations made by consultant in 2011 have not been followed, even though implementation promises to increase efficiency of collection process.
 - A consultant is currently engaged to identify issues and make recommendations at Assessor's Office Division. The consultant's Property Tax Transformation Project engagement includes a review and assessment of operations and related recommendations, assistance with the Property Tax software upgrade and assistance with the preparation of the Summer Tax Bill for mail and distribution on July 1, 2013.
 - Preliminary recommendations to improve the Assessor's Office functionality include additional resources to create a more robust valuation function, additional employee training and updated technology to increase efficiency and improve customer service.
- Integrate Budgeting, Accounting & Financial Reporting Systems.
 - Integration of Accounting, Budget Development and Financial Reporting systems into a single process would provide for improved reporting, efficiency, accuracy and accountability.
 - Costs to implement such an integration initiative are not currently known.

- Permitting.
 - Implement “Enterprise Resource Planning” system to replace the two systems currently being utilized.
 - Total costs to implement Enterprise Resource Planning system: approximately $3 million.
- 36th District Court.
 - State legislature is currently evaluating ability of all courts to go paperless; if accepted, paperless solution would provide many advantages to 36th District Court.
 - Transition to paperless court requires substantial investments in assets and new information technology.
 - Perform process mapping to determine workflow improvements and implement full use of JIS.
- Income Tax Division.
 - Update the current Income Tax System, which will result in (i) increased revenues for the City through improved revenue tax processing, tax compliance and collection; and (ii) improved reporting, efficiency and accuracy.
 - A new tax system that allows for automated processing and e-filing capability will free up City resources to focus on compliance.

Detroit Department of Transportation.

- Key Issues and Deficiencies to Be Addressed.

- Grant dollars not maximized.
- Poor maintenance.
- Relatively low rate for fares.
- High employee absenteeism.

- Measurable Objectives.

- Reduce general fund subsidy through increased revenue and reduced costs.
- Determine best strategic direction for DDOT.

- Initiatives to Be Undertaken to Achieve Objectives

- A consultant is currently identifying short and long-term efficiencies. Preliminary identified efficiencies include:
 - Grants for preventative maintenance (Summer 2013).
 - Increased fares (long-term potential).
 - Less overtime in vehicle maintenance (long-term potential).
 - Less bus operator overtime (long-term potential).
- City could transition DDOT to new Regional Transit Authority (“RTA”) at some point in the future.
 - No change in DDOT’s status is currently included in restructuring plan or budget; foregoing discussion contemplates restructuring of DDOT as a continuing Department within the City.
 - DDOT could be merged with SMART or another private carrier prior to potential transition into RTA.
 - Outsourcing certain portions or all of DDOT operations:
 - Would likely require certain regulatory approvals.
 - City of Detroit would have to subsidize third party operations, which subsidy may be less than current general fund subsidy.

- Outsourcing could assist in creating appropriate incentive structure to discourage status quo operations.
 - Some City employees would still be required to oversee transferred bus operations.
 - Allow for easier potential transition to RTA.
 - Limited labor and financial resources could be deployed to other city core services.
 - Bus service could improve for residents (e.g., on-time; safety) at lower cost to the City.
- Expected impact on restructuring/reinvestment expenses in FY 2014 and going forward – not including outsourcing of operations or transition to a regional authority (numbers in brackets represent increases in expenditures):

($ in millions)	FY 2014	FY 2015	FY 2016	FY 2017	FY 2018
Total Restructuring/Reinvestment
Facility Costs	(6.3)	(8.0)	(1.5)	(2.0)
Fleet Update - Repairs & Maintenance	(1.0)	(1.0)	(1.0)
Technology/Other	(3.5)
Total	(10.8)	(9.0)	(2.5)	(2.0)	–

Leases and Contracts.

- The City’s restructuring will entail a comprehensive review of the City’s contracts (vendor; employee; construction; financial) and recommendations regarding modification/termination in various restructuring contexts.
 - The City will review its key leases and contracts to determine if such agreements are the most cost-effective approach to managing Detroit’s infrastructure
 - City currently working to assemble database of unexpired contracts and leases.
 - City to analyze and overhaul procurement process to ensure ability to acquire goods and services necessary to restructuring initiatives.

Labor Costs and Terms and Conditions.

As part of the City's overall financial restructuring, reductions in costs associated with represented and unrepresented workers will be necessary. The adoption of modifications to wages and work rules similar to those imposed pursuant to the CETs will serve as a baseline position for the City in its union negotiations (although the City may seek (i) cuts/ changes beyond those included in the CETs and (ii) different language that that used in the CETs). Key elements of the strategy for making these modifications include the following:

- Collective Bargaining Agreements.

- Significant modifications to CBAs and labor-related obligations will be necessary to optimize staffing and reduce employment costs.
- The City currently does not have agreements with the majority of labor unions representing its employees. Instead, most employees are working under the CETs. As part of its restructuring effort, the City will work cooperatively with organized labor to improve existing relationships and, where possible, reach agreements to implement changes in terms and conditions of employment that mirror the changes included in the CETs.
- The City will attempt to structure all new labor agreements using a common form of agreement that will promote ease of administration and enable a known, measurable basis for cost evaluation and comparison.
- If it is not possible to reach agreements with labor representatives to restructure employment liabilities, the City will retain the authority to unilaterally implement restructuring initiatives pursuant to the emergency manager powers established under PA 436.
- Pursuant to Section 13(c) of the Federal Transit Act, the City is required to engage in collective bargaining with labor unions representing transportation workers and has certain limitations in terms of its rights to make unilateral changes to employment terms. The City will work within the framework established by the FTA to achieve any labor cost reductions for these workers through collective bargaining.

- Salaries and Wages.

- The City must reduce employment costs for both represented and unrepresented workers as part of its restructuring. However, the potential for reductions in wages and salaries must be balanced against likely reductions in benefits and the City's need to attract and retain skilled workers.
- Both represented and unrepresented City workers have already been subjected to salary and wage reductions; most City workers covered by CETs already have taken 5-10% salary and/or wage reductions. As a result, the City will need to carefully evaluate the utility of any additional reductions.
- Reductions in non-wage compensation, overtime and premium payments may be achievable.
- Other areas where the City is evaluating potential cost reductions include: (i) attendance policies; (ii) leaves of absence; (iii) vacation days; (iv) holidays; (v) union reimbursement of City costs associated with paid union time and dues check off; (vi) tuition reimbursement and other loan programs; (vii) overtime; (viii) shift scheduling; (ix) shift premiums; (x) creation of new positions (and establishment of wage scale for new positions); and (xi) temporary assignments.

- Operational Efficiencies/Work Rules.

- Significant labor cost reductions may be possible by restructuring jobs and streamlining work rules for both represented and unrepresented workers using the work rule changes implemented pursuant to the CETs as a template.
- The City will work with labor representatives to make these improvements, including restructuring the Police Department, Fire Department, and other groups to improve operating efficiency and effectiveness.
- Dispute resolution procedures under the City's CBAs will be simplified and expedited to achieve predictability for both sides. Further, the City will attempt to eliminate undesirable practices and assure that these practices cannot be revived through dispute resolution procedures.
- The City will attempt to restructure CBAs so that employment decisions including promotions, transfers and assignments will be based upon the quality of the employee (e.g., performance, attendance, experience, skill, ability, etc.) rather than by seniority.

- The City will attempt to (i) reduce lateral transfers by limiting bumping rights in its CBAs to job classifications that an employee currently holds or held within the prior year and (ii) increase flexibility to assign employees to work out of classification.
- Joint labor-management committees, if any, will be patterned in structure and role after the committees included in the State's CBAs.
- Staffing Levels and Headcount.
 - Significant labor cost savings may be achievable by rationalizing staffing levels and reducing employee headcounts. Consolidation of departments and elimination of redundant functions will be implemented where service improvements or cost savings can be achieved.
 - If necessary, the City will retain the right to reduce salary and wage costs by implementing unpaid furlough days.
 - The City will work with labor representatives to minimize the effects of any headcount reductions and enter into effects bargaining agreements in connection with headcount reductions when appropriate.
- Outsourcing.
 - Where cost savings or service improvements can be achieved, the City will explore potential outsourcing of functions.
 - The City will provide unions with advance notice of competitive bids and allow the unions to bid on the work.
 - The City will work with labor representatives to minimize the effects of any headcount reductions resulting from outsourcing initiatives and enter into effects bargaining agreements when appropriate.

REVENUE ADJUSTMENTS AND TAX REFORM

EXPANDING THE TAX BASE.

- The personal income tax base can be increased through economic growth, for example, more people working, higher wages, or both.
- Expansion of the property tax base results from appreciation in the value of existing real estate, adding newly constructed buildings to the tax rolls, or expanding the universe of property included in the base (e.g., parcels that are currently exempt, such as churches and public schools).

RATIONALIZING NOMINAL TAX RATES.

- The City's already high tax rates are widely believed to have contributed to its population loss and economic decline. For a number of reasons, higher tax rates could have a negative effect on revenue.
- The City is currently levying taxes at or near the statutory maximums.
- The City believes that lowering selected tax rates – primarily income and property tax rates – to levels that are at least competitive with surrounding jurisdictions is critical to reversing the City's crippling population and job losses.
- Although tax rate reform will likely lead to decreased revenue in the short term (which decreases may be partially offset by improved collection efforts), the City anticipates that the long term benefits promise to render such reform at least revenue neutral over a reasonable time frame.
- The City's analysis of necessary tax reforms is ongoing.

INCREASING COLLECTION RATES.

- The City is implementing and will continue to implement initiatives designed to (i) improve collection of past due taxes and (ii) enhance collection efforts on a prospective basis.
- Income Tax Collection Initiatives:
 - Efforts to Improve Collection of Past Due Taxes
 - Compuware has identified historical non-filers with outstanding tax obligations totaling approximately $250 million. The City is pursuing the collection of these taxes.
 - The City loses approximately $30 million to $45 million of income tax revenue annually (approximately 15% to 20% of the total tax collected) from reverse commuter non-filers.
 - As of March 2013, approximately 50,000 letters were sent to individual and business nonfilers. Goal is to send 100,000 letters total by the end of FY 2013.
 - As of January 31, 2013, the City had received approximately $870,000 in collections as a result of letters sent to non-filers.
 - Income Tax Amnesty Program: between January 22, 2013 and March 2, 2013, parties with outstanding income tax balances for tax years 2011 and prior could pay their back taxes without penalty.
 - Expected to result in $3 million in collections and $1.5 million in payment agreements as of March 2013.
 - Efforts to Enhance Collection Going Forward
 - Tax Compliance & Enforcement Unit created in October 2012.
 - Business on-line registration initiative to electronically capture W-2 data from employers launched in January 2013.
 - City considering purchasing a new tax system and moving to a common form.
 - Purchase of new income tax system — $2 million to $3 million one-time cost — would improve reporting, efficiency and accuracy.

- 19 of 22 cities in Michigan that collect taxes currently are using the “common form.” Moving to the common form could result in a potentially smoother transition to a new income tax system, although the cost of such a move presently is unknown.
- City also intends to pass legislation to require withholding of City income taxes for reverse commuters.

- Property Tax Collection Initiatives:

- Only 53% of City property owners paid their 2011 property taxes. Approximately $246.5 million in taxes and fees went uncollected for 2011, of which $131 million was due to the City.
- Treasury Department received recommendations for process improvements from an outside consultant and the City’s own audit department in 2011.
- Subsequently, the City engaged a consultant to conduct a four-week pro bono review of the City’s property tax process. The consultant recommended that the City create an actionable work place using existing recommendations supplemented with the consultant’s recommendations.
- As described above, in December 2012, the City engaged a different consultant to implement improvements in the Property Tax and Assessors Offices.

- Permitting and Licensing Collection Initiatives:

- Efforts to Collect on Past Due Invoices

- City is developing a structured collection effort for the $50 million outstanding accounts receivable owed to the Buildings, Safety Engineering and Environmental Department (BSEED).
 - City has identified, and is seeking payment of, approximately $8 million due from Wayne County for past due bills for permits and licenses (among other similar fees).
 - Updates to information technology systems (discussed earlier) should alleviate bottlenecks in invoicing and collections for permitting and licensing.

- Efforts to Improve Going Forward

- The goal is to increase the revenues derived from permits and licenses issued by the City.
 - City ceased waiving permit fees in March 2012.
 - City is developing recommendations for action, including a possible survey of businesses operating in the City and their outstanding permit and license requirements.
 - Currently, only 30% of businesses operating in the City have valid licenses. As of July 26, 2012, approximately 2,000 businesses were identified as being without a proper license.

REALIZATION OF VALUE OF ASSETS

DETROIT WATER AND SEWERAGE DEPARTMENT.

The form of transaction described herein is based upon the form of transaction contemplated in the Root Cause Committee report. Any transaction would be contingent upon the City and relevant third parties reaching agreement on many matters, including, but not limited to, governance, amounts to be paid to the City, and the form and terms and conditions of such transaction. Thus, all of the terms and conditions of the transaction described below may change and it is possible that the current structure will not change.

Creation of New Metropolitan Area Water and Sewer Authority. The City may form an authority (the Metropolitan Area Water and Sewer Authority, or “MAWSA”) to conduct the operations currently conducted by the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (“DWSD”).

- MAWSA would operate as a standalone public authority and, depending on the form of any transaction, may be the employer of the employees engaged in operating the water/sewer systems who are employed by DWSD as of the effective date of any DWSD Transaction (defined below).
- MAWSA would be governed by a Board of Commissioners. The Mayor would have the authority to appoint four of the Board’s members in accordance with the provisions of the February 2011 stipulated order entered in the EPA Litigation (the “February Order”), except that one of the four mayoral appointments would be made from a list of three names presented by the Detroit City Council. The other three Board members would be appointed as set forth in the February Order. The bylaws of MAWSA would include provisions to allow major customers to appoint additional Board members upon a super-majority vote of MAWSA’s Board.
- MAWSA would have all of the powers of a public body corporate in Michigan including, but not limited to, the power to:
 - Hold property in its own name;
 - Contract in its own name;
 - Collect water and sewer fees;
 - Issue taxable and tax exempt revenue bonds or incur other indebtedness;

- Apply for and receive loans from local, private, State and/or Federal sources including SRF loans;
 - Sue and be sued in its own name;
 - Subject to applicable approvals, apply for NPDES and any and all other permits required to operate the water and sewer systems;
 - Subject to applicable approvals, if any, implement the powers delegated by prior Court orders; and
 - Act on its own with respect to local ordinances and regulations that impact MAWSA operations (i.e., downspout disconnects, etc.).
- All other powers granted or reserved to the City, the Mayor or the City Council with respect to DWSD under the State constitution, State statutes, the City's Charter (as it may be revised as part of the City's comprehensive restructuring) or Court orders that are not expressly continued would be eliminated for as long as MAWSA continues to operate.
 - The Detroit City Council would have the authority to appoint each year an individual to serve as a customer advocate for Detroit retail customers. The advocate's compensation would be set by the director of MAWSA or MAWSA's Board of Commissioners in accordance with MAWSA's procurement policy.

Benefits and Legacy Liability Treatment (applicable where MAWSA is the employer of persons operating the water and sewer system).

- From and after the effective date of the City's comprehensive restructuring plan, for new hires and current employees, MAWSA would establish and serve as its own plan sponsor and administrator with respect to the establishment of a new, separate pension or retirement plan. The new pension or retirement arrangement would govern the future pension or retirement rights of current DWSD employees and the pension or retirement rights of future MAWSA employees, consistent with applicable future CBAs and/or other terms and conditions of employment.
- From and after the effective date of the City's comprehensive restructuring plan, for new hires and current employees, MAWSA would determine whether to provide healthcare to future retirees, and at what level.

- From and after the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan, current DWSD retirees and beneficiaries who have vested benefits in the City’s General Retirement System would remain in GRS and receive the same treatment afforded to all other retirees in the GRS as part of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan. Current DWSD active employees who have accrued vested pensions in GRS would, as to those accrued pensions, receive the same treatment afforded to all other active participants in the GRS as part of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan. GRS would continue to be liable for pension benefits accrued as of the date of the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan, consistent with that restructuring plan.
- From and after the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan, current DWSD retirees and beneficiaries who are receiving, or entitled to receive in the future, retiree healthcare benefits from the City would receive the treatment afforded to all other similarly-situated participants as part of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan. Current DWSD employees who are entitled to receive in the future retiree healthcare benefits from the City would no longer be entitled to such healthcare as of the Effective Date of the comprehensive restructuring plan, and would receive whatever retiree healthcare program is established by MAWSA from and after the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan.
- As indicated above, the City would retain DWSD’s accrued pension liabilities and retiree healthcare liabilities as of the effective date of the City’s restructuring plan, as both will be modified by such plan (collectively with DWSD’s allocable portion of the COP payments, “DWSD Legacy Benefits Obligations”). As consideration for being relieved of those obligations, from and after the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan, MAWSA would include an amount attributable to the value of such relief from the DWSD Legacy Benefits Obligations as part of the Transaction Payment (as defined below).

Potential Asset Transaction.

- The City would either permit MAWSA to operate the DWSD assets through a concession agreement or lease the assets of DWSD to MAWSA pursuant to a lease agreement (either form of agreement for purposes of this document will be referred to as the “City/MAWSA Agreement”). If a transaction were effected pursuant to a lease agreement rather than a concession agreement, the City/MAWSA Agreement would be structured as a capital lease, and the initial term of the City/MAWSA Agreement would (i) be tied to the length of MAWSA’s bonded indebtedness (but would not exceed 40 years) and (ii) automatically be extended as new bonds are issued by MAWSA as long as MAWSA remains in compliance with the terms of the City/MAWSA Agreement. To the extent that additional value may be obtained for the City, MAWSA could accept the sewer or water assets of other governmental entities. All of the foregoing is collectively referred to herein as the “DWSD Transaction.”

- In exchange for the concession for/lease of the DWSD assets in favor of MAWSA and for the relief from DWSD Legacy Benefits Obligations, MAWSA would pay to the City a monthly PILOT, lease or other form of payment (the “Transaction Payment”).
- The Transaction Payment would be paid to the City monthly and would be an amount equal to the sum of (i) an amount calculated on either the basis of the value of the DWSD assets or a percentage of water and sewer rates plus (ii) an amount calculated by reference to the value of the relief from DWSD Legacy Benefits Obligations plus (iii) any other amount based on relevant factors as agreed to by the parties in connection with the negotiation of the DWSD Transaction.
- The City would have customary market remedies in the event that MAWSA fails to make payment or otherwise defaults under the City/MAWSA Agreement.
- The City’s use of the new payment stream from the Transaction Payment would be unrestricted, and the City could encumber or otherwise monetize all or a portion of that revenue stream.
- The effective date of the DWSD Transaction would be the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan.
- On the effective date of the DWSD Transaction, the existing bond debt of the DWSD would either be refinanced and redeemed or holders of the existing bond debt would receive new or restructured tax-exempt bonds. See Section IX (Restructuring Proposal) infra.

COLEMAN A. YOUNG AIRPORT.

- Coleman A. Young International Airport is a two-runway general aviation airport located within and operated by the City. It includes approximately 263 acres.
- The airport has not offered commercial passenger service since 2000 (runways are too short to serve standard economic carrier traffic); approximately 225 corporate and private flights originate from, or terminate at, the airport daily.
- The airport’s 2012-13 annual budget was $275,000.

- In November 2012, a consultant prepared a 10-year capital improvement program for the airport which included several rehabilitation plans, ranging from approximately $55 million (for upgrades to facilities other than runways) to $273 million (for a rehabilitation including a replacement runway funded in part by federal grants).
- Revitalization of the airport is a long-term project that will be addressed at a later date. The City will continue to subsidize operations as closing of airport would terminate certain federal subsidies and require the repayment of certain FAA grant monies previously received.

DETROIT-WINDSOR TUNNEL.

- The 83-year-old Detroit-Windsor Tunnel is an automotive tunnel (i.e., cars only; no trucks) connecting Detroit and Windsor, Ontario. Approximately 2 million vehicles pass through the tunnel annually.
- The City of Detroit owns the U.S. portion of the tunnel; the City of Windsor owns the portion located in Canada.
- Detroit Windsor Tunnel LLC leases the City's portion of the tunnel for an annual rental payment equal to 20% of the average annual revenue derived from the operations of the Detroit side of the tunnel over the most recent five years, which recently has been less than $1 million per year. Operating revenue for the Detroit side of the tunnel is less than $5 million per year. The lease runs through 2020.

BELLE ISLE PARK.

- The City owns Belle Isle Park, a 982-acre park on an island in the Detroit River featuring a museum, a conservatory, golf courses and other attractions. The Detroit Recreation Department manages Belle Isle Park at a cost of approximately $6 million per year in maintenance and operating expenses.
- In January 2013, Governor Snyder proposed that the City lease Belle Isle Park to the State of Michigan, turning it into a state park and charging an admission fee to cover maintenance costs. Mayor Bing supported the proposal, but the offer was rescinded after the Detroit City Council failed to vote on the proposal.
- The City intends to enter into lease transaction with State on generally the same terms as the State's prior proposal.

DETROIT INSTITUTE OF ARTS.

- As has been widely reported, representatives of the Emergency Manager met with representatives of the nonprofit corporation (“DIA Corp.”) that currently operates the Detroit Institute of Arts to discuss the art collection exhibited there.
- It has also been reported that DIA Corp. contends that the collection is held by a public trust and cannot be used for any purpose other than exhibition or to maintain and enhance the collection itself.
- Further dialogue is anticipated.

CITY OWNED LAND.

- An estimated 22 square miles of land within City limits is government-owned, including parcels owned by the City, Wayne County and the State of Michigan. The vast majority of this property has limited current commercial value.
- The City will continue to participate in broader initiatives consistent with the Consent Agreement, focusing on collaboration across public and private entities, blight removal and returning properties to the private tax base to create value.

PARKING OPERATIONS.

Parking Garages/Lots.

- The City’s Municipal Parking Department (“MPD”) manages nine parking garages containing a total of 8,688 spaces, and two public parking lots together containing 1,240 spaces.
- The City owns certain of these parking facilities; others are owned by the Detroit Building Authority.

Parking Meters.

- MPD also operates 3,404 on-street metered parking spaces; tickets collected through a private vendor.

- MPD's projected revenue for 2012-13 is $12,900,314. Expenses are projected to be approximately $19 million (with the General Fund's portion being approximately $6 million).
- The City intends to market its parking related assets to private operators through a sale, long term lease or concession arrangements (and shutter the related departments) and use any proceeds that may be received to pay down $10 million in related special revenue debt.
- Transaction involving parking assets could potentially be consummated within six months of commencement of marketing process.

JOE LOUIS ARENA.

- Joe Louis Arena is an indoor arena located in downtown Detroit, Michigan and is the home to the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League. Completed in 1979, the 20,058 seat arena is Detroit's largest indoor venue and regularly hosts professional sports, college hockey, concerts, ice shows, circuses and other entertainment.
- It has been reported that the Illitch Holdings, owner of the Detroit Red Wings, is looking to build a new downtown arena for the team.
- The City is evaluating alternatives for Joe Louis Arena.

ASSUMPTIONS IN TEN-YEAR PROJECTIONS

Revenues

- Municipal Income Tax.
 - Based on State employment, wage and corporate income tax growth estimates adjusted for Detroit specific trends; population estimates considered as well. Increases due to improved employment outlook. Income tax policy is under review and income tax rate could be reduced as a part of the final restructuring plan.
- State Revenue Sharing.
 - Increases due to anticipation of higher taxes collected/distributed by State; based on estimates provided by the State.
- Wagering Taxes.
 - Decreases through FY 2015 due to competition from Ohio casinos and recovers thereafter due to improved economic outlook.
- Sales and Charges for Services.
 - Primarily consists of court fees, public safety service charges, electrical and personal service fees. Declines primarily due to transition of Health and Wellness and Public Lighting Department Distribution business.
- Property Taxes.
 - Based on Michigan home sales, new construction and population data adjusted for Detroit specific trends. Decreases through FY 2017 due to declining values and collection rate with modest increases beginning FY 2021.
- Utility Users' & Other Taxes.
 - Decreases beginning FY 2014 due to the annual allocation of $12.5 million to the Public Lighting Authority (half-year impact in FY 14). 1% annual increase beginning FY 2017 due to assumed increase in utility usage and inflation.

- Other revenue.
 - Licenses/Permits/Inspection Charges. Primarily consists of business licenses, street use permits and fire marshal and construction inspections charges. Based on recent trends. FY 2013 includes one-time permit and inspection revenues from utility providers.
 - Revenue from Use/Sale Assets. FY 2012 includes loss from sale of asset. FY 2014 includes proceeds from sale of Veteran's building.
 - Parking/Court Fines & Other Revenue. Primarily consists of traffic, criminal and parking fines. Based on recent trends.
 - Grant Revenue. Decreases in FY 2014 due to transition of Health and Wellness department and expiration of certain public safety grants.
 - General Fund reimbursements. Reflects reimbursements from other departments for expenses incurred by the General Fund. FY 2012 includes $16 million one-time contribution from DDOT.
 - UTGO Property Tax Millage. Property tax millage for UTGO debt service. Revenues and associated expenses offset.
 - COP Allocation (Governmental). Transfer from general City, non General Fund for allocated COP debt service. Revenues and associated expenses offset.
 - COP Allocation (Enterprise Funds (excl. DDOT)). Transfer from enterprise funds for allocated COP debt service. Revenues and associated expenses offset.

Operating Expenditures

- Salaries & Wages.
 - Includes CET changes implemented in FY 2013 and continuing through the projection period. 10% wage reduction for uniformed employees beginning FY 2014 for contracts expiring FY 2013; 2% wage inflation assumed for all City employees beginning FY 2015. Headcount changes in projection period primarily due to PLD transaction and transition to ADP payroll and benefits administration services.
- Overtime.
 - Decreases due to wage cuts and FY 2013 run rates. Increases beginning FY 2015 due to wage inflation.
- Health Benefits (Actives).
 - Includes CET changes implemented in FY 2013 and continuing during the projection period. Average 6% inflation assumed annually for hospitalization costs.
- Other operating expenses
 - Other Benefits. Based on recent trends.
 - Professional/Contractual Services. Assumes higher costs in election years (FY 2014 and every four years thereafter).
 - Materials/Supplies. Decreases due to transition of PLD distribution business. 1% cost inflation assumed beginning in FY 2015.
 - Utilities. Based on recent trends with minimal changes with 1% cost inflation assumed beginning in FY 2015.
 - Purchased Services. Increases beginning in FY 2014 due to costs associated with payroll processing management and prisoner pre-arraignment functions. 1% cost inflation assumed beginning in FY 2015.
 - Risk Management/Insurance. Includes costs related to worker's compensation, litigation and other claims. 1% cost inflation assumed beginning in FY 2015.
 - Maintenance Capital (current run rate). Represents the General Fund payment for capital expenditures based on recent spend levels. 1% cost inflation assumed beginning in FY 2015.

- Other Expenses. Primarily includes printing, rental and other operating costs. 1.0% cost inflation assumed to certain costs beginning FY 2015.
- Contributions to Non-Enterprise Funds. Represents General Fund transfers to Municipal parking, the vehicle fund, Museum of African American History, etc. Increases beginning FY 2014 primarily due to contributions to operations to the Public Lighting Authority.
- DDOT Subsidy. Reflects the General Fund contribution to cover the DDOT deficit. Excludes DDOT related legacy expenditures shown below the line. Increases primarily due to personnel and operating cost inflation.
- Grant-Related Expenses. Decreases in FY 2014 due to transition of Health and Wellness Department. Increases primarily due to wage and operating cost inflation.

Legacy Expenditures

- Debt Service (UTGO & LTGO).
 - Reflects currently scheduled principal and interest payments.
- COPs (Principal, Interest & Swaps).
 - Reflects principal, interest and swap payments as currently scheduled.
- Pension.
 - Per preliminary actuarial analysis. Subject to further analysis. Starting in FY 2014, significant increases attributable to use of more realistic actuarial assumptions and use of closed, 15-year amortization period for PFRS and closed, 18-year period for GRS rather than current open 30-year amortization period.
- Retiree Health Benefits.
 - Includes impact of CET changes implemented in FY 2013 and continuing during the projection period. Average 6% inflation assumed annually for hospitalization costs.

Financing Proceeds.

- FY 2013 includes $137 million in refunding bond proceeds.

Operational Restructuring Initiatives/Reinvestment in the City.

- Department revenues initiatives.
 - Reflects increases to fees, improved billing and collection efforts and collection of past due receivables.
- Additional Operating Expenditures.
 - Primarily reflects increases to headcount in order to improve and provide adequate level of City services. Potential efficiencies not reflected.
- Capital investments (Technology).
 - Reflects costs associated with information systems upgrades and maintenance.
- Capital investments (Capital Expenditures).
 - Primarily reflects City's capital improvement plan to invest in facilities and vehicles.
- Capital investments (Implementation Costs).
 - Primarily reflects non-recurring costs associated with implementing technology initiatives.
- Blight.
 - Reflects costs associated with demolition and clean-up efforts of residential and light commercial. Heavy commercial blight removal would require significant additional funding.

CONCLUSIONS BASED UPON PROJECTIONS.

- The City acknowledges that it must exert reasonable efforts to maximize recoveries for all creditors.
- As demonstrated by the 10-year projections, however, the City's expected revenues will fall significantly short of the levels required to fund the City's operations and fully satisfy its liabilities.
- Given the City's (i) substantial debt levels (LTGO; UTGO; COPs; Swaps), (ii) significant labor related liabilities and (iii) continuing operating expenses, shared sacrifice will be required from all stakeholders to achieve the City's dual (and complementary) goals of maximizing returns for its stakeholder constituencies while simultaneously establishing the framework for a healthy and growing Detroit moving forward.
- All of the City's stakeholders can benefit from a restructured and revitalized Detroit.

SUMMARY OF TREATMENT OF DEBT.

Secured Debt.

DWSD Debt. The existing DWSD water and sewer bond debt may be divided into two classes, if applicable:

- DWSD Class A Debt Claims.
 - DWSD Class A Debt Claims shall consist of claims under or evidenced by certain debt that may be paid prior to the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan without incurring a material premium or penalty.
 - On the effective date of the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan, accrued principal and interest for DWSD Class A Debt Claims accrued through the restructuring plan’s effective date will either (i) be repaid in full in cash or (ii) receive such treatment as may be agreed upon by the parties.
 - Source of funds for repayment: New longterm bond issuances with MAWSA as the issuer.
 - New Series A Bond Principal: An amount equal to the sum of the principal of the outstanding debt that was issued to redeem the DWSD Class A Debt Bonds plus interest thereon accrued through the restructuring plan effective date and fees incurred in connection with the new financings.
 - New Series A Bond Collateral: Lien on net revenues generated by MAWSA assets with the same priorities as the DWSD Class A Debt, but subordinate to the operating and maintenance costs of the system, including the Transaction Payment.
 - New Series A Bond Interest Rate: Prevailing market rate for similar long-term municipal bonds at the time of issuance.
 - New Series A Bond Maturities: The various series of new municipal bonds would have long-term maturities determined at the time of issuance on the basis of then-existing market conditions.

- DWSD Class B Debt Claims.

- DWSD Class B Debt Claims shall consist of all claims under or evidenced by each series of existing water or sewer bond debt (whether callable or not) that are not DWSD Class A Debt Claims.
 - On the effective date of the City's comprehensive restructuring plan, holders of DWSD Class B Debt Claims shall receive Series B Restructured Bonds or such treatment as may be agreed upon by the parties.
- Series B Restructured Bond Terms: Series B Restructured Bonds would be issued by MAWSA to holders of outstanding DWSD Class B Debt Claims.
 - Series B Restructured Bond Principal: For each series of Series B Restructured Bonds, an amount equal to the sum of the principal of the outstanding DWSD Class B Debt Bonds for which such Series B Restructured Bonds are to be exchanged plus interest thereon accrued through the restructuring plan Effective Date.
 - Series B Restructured Bond Collateral: Lien on net revenues generated by MAWSA assets in the same priorities as currently exist for the DWSD Class B Debt Bonds for which such Series B Restructured Bonds are to be exchanged, subordinate to the operating and maintenance costs of the system, including the Transaction Payment.
 - Series B Restructured Bond Interest Rate: Prevailing market rate for similar long-term municipal bonds at the time of issuance.
 - Series B Restructured Bond Maturities: The same maturity dates as the DWSD Class B Debt Bonds for which the Series B Restructured Bonds will be exchanged.

Secured General Obligation Debt.

- There are six series of secured General Obligation Debt:
 - $100,000,000 original principal amount Distributable State Aid Second Lien Bonds (Unlimited Tax General Obligation), Series 2010(A) (Taxable-Recovery Zone Economic Development Bonds-Direct Payment).
 - $249,790,000 original principal amount Distributable State Aid General Obligation Limited Tax Bonds, Series 2010.
 - $38,865,000 original principal amount Self-Insurance Distributable State Aid Third Lien Bonds (Limited Tax General Obligation), Series 2012(A)(2).
 - $30,730,000 original principal amount Self-Insurance Distributable State Aid Third Lien Refunding Bonds (Limited Tax General Obligation), Series 2012(B2).
 - $6,405,000 original principal amount General Obligation Distributable State Aid Third Lien Capital Improvement Refunding Bonds (Limited Tax General Obligation), Series 2012(B).
 - $53,520,000 original principal amount Self-Insurance Distributable State Aid Third Lien Bonds (Limited Tax General Obligation), Series 2012(A2-B).

- Total annual debt service is approximately $39 million per year from FY 2015 through FY 2033.

- Treatment: Subject to negotiation with holders.

Secured Claims Arising in Connection with Installment Notes Payable.

- The City has issued $87.8 million in installment notes related to various public improvement projects, which notes were issued in connection with the “Section 108” HUD Loan Guarantee Program and are secured by future “Block Grant” revenues.
- Treatment: Subject to negotiation with holders.

Secured Claims Arising under Service Agreements Related to COP-Related Interest Rate Swaps.

- Eight interest rate swaps (the “COP Swaps”) were entered into by the Service Corporations in reference to the COPs.
- The City entered into Service Contracts with the Service Corporations that purport to obligate the City to pay the Service Corporations, among other things, amounts equal to the amounts the Service Corporations are obligated to pay under the COP Swaps.
- The following table shows the estimated amounts due annually under the COP Swaps to maturity:

$ in millions

Secured Automobile Parking Fund Claims.

- $9.3 million in outstanding principal amount of Detroit Building Authority Revenue Refunding Bonds: Parking System, Series 1998-A are secured by a pledge of all revenues of the parking system, net of operating expenses.
- Treatment: In the event that the City executes a sale of its parking-related assets, principal and interest accrued through the effective date will be paid in full in cash using proceeds of sales of City’s parking-related assets. In the event that sales are not negotiated and consummated prior to the effective date, treatment of such claims will be subject to negotiations with holders.

Unsecured Debt.

Consideration for Unsecured Claims.

- Limited Recourse Participation Notes (the “Notes”).
 - Relevant Definitions:
 - “Adjusted Base Covered Revenues” means for a Fiscal Year following the Initial Revenue Participation Year, Base Covered Revenues adjusted for inflation for the period beginning on the first day of the Initial Revenue Participation Year and ending on the first day of the Fiscal Year using the positive change, if any, in the Consumer Price Index during such period.
 - “Base Covered Revenues” means one half of the sum of Covered Revenues for the first two Fiscal Years beginning after the Effective Date.
 - “Covered Revenues” means amounts actually collected by the City’s General Fund in a Fiscal Year on account of (a) Property Taxes, Income Taxes and Gaming Taxes levied for such Fiscal Year and (b) Revenue Sharing Payments, determined based upon the City’s audited financial statements.
 - “Dutch Auction” means a method for pricing the Notes whereby the price of the Notes offered by the City is the lowest price (the “Auction Price”) at which there are bids to sell Notes for an aggregate purchase price equal to the amount the City is required to pay in respect of Revenue Participation Payments and/or Asset Disposition Proceeds then due and payable. During bidding, each Noteholder will indicate how many Notes it is willing to sell to the City and the price such Noteholder is willing to accept. All Notes offered at the Auction Price or at a lower price will be sold to the City at the Auction Price.

- “Effective Date” means the closing date of a comprehensive restructuring of the City’s finances on which the Notes shall be issued.
- “Final Participation Year” means the Fiscal Year beginning on the 20th anniversary of the first day of the Initial Participation Year.
- “Fiscal Year” means a period commencing on July 1 of a year and ending on June 30 of the following year. For greater certainty, the Fiscal Year beginning on July 1, 2014 and ending on June 30, 2015 is the 2015 Fiscal Year.
- “Initial Participation Year” means the second full Fiscal Year following the Effective Date.
- “Trustee” means an indenture trustee or other agent for the Noteholders as defined in definitive documentation for the Notes.
- Terms:
 - Initial Principal Amount: $2,000,000,000.00.
 - Interest Rate: 1.5% per annum on the outstanding principal amount of the Notes, payable semiannually. No interest shall be paid or accrued for any period following the end of the Final Participation Year.
 - Maturity Date: The first September 30 following the Final Participation Year. The City shall have no obligation to pay any amounts other than the Revenue Participation Payment in respect of the Final Participation Year on the maturity date. The Notes may be prepaid in whole or in part at any time without premium or penalty.
 - Revenue Participation Payments: On the September 30 after the end of each Fiscal Year beginning with the Initial Participation Year, an amount equal to the product of (a) 30% (0.30), multiplied by (b) (i) the amount by which Covered Revenues for such Fiscal Year exceed (ii) Adjusted Base Covered Revenues shall be applied to reduce the principal amount of the Notes. No Revenue Participation Payments shall be made for any Fiscal Year after the Final Participation Year.

- Grants and Other Amounts Received to Offset Costs of Addressing Blight: If the City receives any cash grants or other cash payments after the Effective Date and before the Maturity Date from the State of Michigan, the Federal government, or any other government or nonprofit entity not affiliated in any way with the City for the purpose of funding programs or activities to address blight that are included in the 10 Year Plan (“Blight Revenues”) and that can be utilized in place of the General Fund sums in the 10 Year Plan projections, an amount equal to 75% of the General Fund revenues that would otherwise be spent on blight but for the outside funds shall be applied to reduce the principal amount of the Notes.
- Asset Disposition Proceeds: If the City receives cash consideration in connection with the transfer of Specified Assets after the Effective Date and before the Maturity Date, an amount equal to 75% of such cash shall be applied to reduce the principal amount of the Notes. For greater certainty, the assumption of indebtedness shall not constitute cash consideration.
- The City shall make distributions of Blight Revenues and Asset Disposition Proceeds when the amount of such payments that are due equal or exceed $50 million or at the time a Revenue Participation Payment is due, whichever is sooner.
- Dutch Auctions. Any Revenue Participation Payment, Blight Revenues, Asset Disposition Proceeds and other amount made available by the City may be used to fund offers to purchase Notes through a Dutch Auction process. The City shall give notice of its intent to conduct a Dutch Auction using a Revenue Participation Payment on or before the July 15th following the end of the pertinent Fiscal Year and shall conclude the auction and purchase notes offered and accepted in the auction no later than the 90 days following the date such notice is given. The City shall give notice of its intent to conduct such a Dutch Auction using Asset Disposition Proceeds or Blight Revenues on or before the 30 days following the date when the City becomes obligated to make apply Asset Distribution Proceeds and shall conclude the auction and purchase notes offered and accepted in the auction no later than 90 days following the date such notice is given. The City may give notice of its intent to conduct a Dutch Auction using funds provided by the City which are not otherwise required to be applied to repayment of the Notes at any time.
- Limited Recourse. The City’s obligation to pay interest on the Notes shall be a general obligation of the City. The City shall have no obligation to pay the principal amount of the Notes except to the extent that Revenue Participation Payments, Blight Revenues, or Asset Disposition Proceeds become due in accordance with the terms hereof.
- Requirements of Law. The terms of the Notes may be revised to conform with requirements of law.

Claims Under Unsecured General Obligation Bonds/Notes.

- Aggregate amount: Approximately $650 million.
- Treatment: Exchanged for a pro rata (relative to all unsecured claims) principal amount of new Notes.

Claims of Service Corporations (or affiliated trusts) on Account of COPs.

- Aggregate amount: Approximately $1.4 billion.
- Treatment: Exchanged for a pro rata (relative to all unsecured claims) principal amount of new Notes

Claims for Unfunded OPEB Liabilities.

- Current retirees will receive modified medical benefits plans utilizing either the exchanges to be created by January 1, 2014 under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act or Medicare, as applicable. The proposed replacement program is preliminarily estimated to have a cost to the City of between $27.5 million and $40 million annually depending on choices to be made.
- Claims will result from the modification of benefits. The amount of such claims has not been finally determined.
- Treatment for Allowed Claim: Exchanged for a pro rata (relative to all unsecured claims) principal amount of new Notes.

Claims for Unfunded Pension Liabilities.

- As set forth above, preliminary analysis indicates that the underfunding in the GRS and the PFRS is approximately $3.5 billion. At this level of underfunding, the City would have to contribute approximately $200 million to $350 million annually to fully fund currently accrued, vested benefits. Such contributions will not be made under the plan.
- Claims for the underfunding will be exchanged for a pro rata (relative to all unsecured claims) principal amount of new Notes.
- Because the amounts realized on the underfunding claims will be substantially less than the underfunding amount, there must be significant cuts in accrued, vested pension amounts for both active and currently retired persons.

Claims on account of Other Liabilities.

- Aggregate Amount: Approximately $300 million.
- Treatment: Exchanged for a pro rata (relative to all unsecured claims) principal amount of new Notes.

CEMENTING THE CITY’S RESTRUCTURING: DETROIT AFTER THE EMERGENCY MANAGER

In accordance with PA 436 – and similar to post-receivership governance structures established in other municipalities (e.g., New York) – Emergency Manager Orr intends to adopt various measures and impose certain requirements to ensure that the restructuring achieved by the City is sustainable.

APPOINTMENT OF “TRANSITION ADVISORY BOARD”

In accordance with Section 23(1) of PA 436, the Emergency Manager may recommend that the Governor appoint a “receivership transition advisory board” (a “Transition Advisory Board”) to monitor the affairs of the City prior to removing it from receivership.

- The Transition Advisory Board would consist of (i) the State Treasurer (or his/her designee), (ii) the director of the Department of Technology, Management and Budget (or his/her designee) and (iii) in the Governor’s discretion, one or more individuals with relevant professional experience.
- The Transition Advisory Board would be empowered to do any of the following:
 - Require the City to annually convene a consensus revenue estimating conference for the ensuing fiscal year;
 - Require the City to provide monthly cash flow projections and a comparison of actual and budgeted revenues and expenditures;
 - Review and approve the City’s proposed and amended budgets;
 - Review requests by the City to issue debt under applicable law;
 - Review and approve proposed CBAs negotiated under applicable law;.
 - Review the City’s compliance with any deficit elimination plan; and
 - Perform any other duties assigned by the Governor at the time the Transition Advisory Board is appointed.

Revisions to Model Charter.

- Consistent with Section 22(4)(b) of PA 436, the Emergency Manager may recommend that the Governor require the City to adopt a model City Charter or model charter provisions developed by the Emergency Manager.

Development of Two-Year Budget.

- Pursuant to Section 21 of PA 436, before the conclusion of the Emergency Manager’s term (or before the appointment of a Transition Advisory Board), the Emergency Manager must adopt and implement a two-year budget (including all contractual and employment agreements) for the City, which budget commences upon the termination of the City’s receivership.
- The City Council is prohibited by Section 21(2) of PA 436 from
 - amending the Emergency Manager’s two-year budget (absent the approval of the State Treasurer); and
 - revising any order or ordinance implemented by the Emergency Manager prior to one year after termination of the receivership.

Potential Appointment of New Emergency Manager.

- Pursuant to Section 24 of PA 436, the Governor may, at his own initiative or at the recommendation of a Transition Advisory Board, determine that the City’s financial condition has not been corrected in a sustainable fashion and appoint a new emergency manager.

6 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 921.04[2]
(Alan N. Resnick & Henry J. Sommer eds. 16th ed. 2013)69
DETROIT CITY CHARTER § 1-10239
1 RESTATEMENT (SECOND) OF JUDGMENTS § 28 (1982)36

The City of Detroit (the "City" or the "Debtor") respectfully submits this consolidated reply to the objections (each, an "Objection")¹ to the entry of an order for relief in this chapter 9 case (any such order, an "Order for Relief").

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Confronting a state-declared "financial emergency" that includes approximately $18 billion in debt, over 100,000 creditors, over 100 discrete bond issuances and related loans (as well as multiple insurers of such bonds) and nearly 50 union bargaining units representing the City's employees – all of which rendered any out of court solution impracticable – the City commenced this chapter 9 case on July 18, 2013 (the "Petition Date") by filing a Petition for Relief (the "Petition"). The financial condition of the City is detailed in the Memorandum in Support of Statement of Qualifications Pursuant to Section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code (Docket No. 14) (the "Eligibility Memorandum") and the City's first-day declarations.² These documents demonstrate the City's overwhelming need for debt relief.

² Capitalized terms not otherwise defined herein have the meanings given to them in the Declaration of Kevyn D. Orr in Support of City of Detroit,

Despite these realities, over 100 persons and entities objected to the City's eligibility for relief under chapter 9 and to the entry of an Order for Relief. Most Objectors rely on anticipated treatments of their claims as a platform to argue that the City is not authorized to be a chapter 9 debtor. However, as this Court has observed,³ neither the determination of claim amounts nor the potential treatment of claims in a plan of adjustment are before the Court at this time.

Notwithstanding the Objectors' arguments, the City is eligible to be a chapter 9 debtor and has demonstrated that an Order for Relief should be entered. First, the City is authorized to be a chapter 9 debtor because:

- After the fulfillment of certain conditions, PA 436 – which was validly passed by the Michigan legislature⁴ – "empowers the local government for which an emergency manager has been appointed to become a debtor

Michigan's Statement of Qualifications Pursuant to Section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code (Docket No. 11) (the "Orr Declaration"), filed on the Petition Date.

³ Order Regarding Eligibility Objections, Notices of Hearings and Certifications Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2403(a) & (b) (Docket No. 642) (the "Eligibility Scheduling Order"), entered on August 26, 2013.

under title 11 of the United States Code ... as required by section 109 of title 11 of the United States Code" (see MCL § 141.1558(1));

- Each of the requirements of PA 436 relating to the authorization of the commencement of the City's chapter 9 case – i.e., a recommendation by the Emergency Manager to the Governor and Treasurer that the City be authorized to proceed under chapter 9 and the written approval of that recommendation by the Governor – were satisfied prior to the filing of the Petition;
- Following the satisfaction of the foregoing conditions, PA 436 specifically authorizes emergency managers to commence chapter 9 cases (see MCL § 141.1558(1));
- The actual text of the Michigan Constitution does not prohibit the commencement of chapter 9 cases by municipalities or condition the steps that might be taken by any State or municipal official in connection with authorizing or effecting such a filing;
- The actual text of the Michigan Constitution does not create or require the imposition of any condition on actions the City might take in this chapter 9 case; and
- No statute passed by the Michigan legislature prohibits the commencement of chapter 9 cases by municipalities.

None of the Objections contest any of the foregoing points. Instead, the Objectors invent additional requirements, not found in the Michigan Constitution, and then allege that these additional requirements have not been met. We demonstrate below that there are no conditions to the City's becoming a debtor under chapter 9 other than those identified above. Accordingly, the City satisfied section 109(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code prior to the commencement of this case.

Moreover, objections contending that the City does not desire to adjust its debts, that the City may not be insolvent, that negotiations to adjust debts owed to more than 100,000 holders were practicable and that the City did not file the Petition in good faith likewise fall short. The Objections:

- do not include any evidence contradicting or undermining the extensive showing of the City's insolvency included in the Eligibility Memorandum (indeed, the majority of relevant Objectors do not actually state a cognizable objection on the issue, thereby conceding that no information available to them as of the objection deadline supports their Objection);
- (A) implicitly admit that none of the Objectors represent all of the City's more than 20,000 retirees in prepetition negotiations and some Objectors that claim to represent retirees do not represent any of the active employees who have vested pension benefits, (B) ignore certain Objectors' prepetition refusal to represent retirees in negotiations concerning pension and retiree healthcare benefits and (C) ignore the impracticability of negotiations with the City's bondholders altogether, all of which are facts that demonstrate that it was impracticable for the City to negotiate an out of court settlement of its debts and other legacy liabilities;
- mischaracterize and omit inconvenient facts relevant to the City's demonstrated efforts to negotiate in good faith a restructuring of its debts with its creditors; and
- misapply the standards governing whether the Petition was filed in good faith to side-step the demonstrated reality that the City intends to file a chapter 9 plan to adjust the City's unsustainable $18 billion debt burden.

Accordingly, as set forth in the Statement of Qualifications, the Eligibility Memorandum and herein, the City is eligible to be a debtor under chapter 9, and the Court should promptly enter an Order for Relief.

II. THE COURT HAS AUTHORITY AND JURISDICTION TO DETERMINE THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF CHAPTER 9 AND PA 436

There is no doubt that this Court has the authority and jurisdiction to determine whether the City is eligible to be a debtor under chapter 9. Eligibility is a question of federal law, governed by section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code, relevant only for purposes of accessing the federal bankruptcy scheme and the determination of which is specifically committed to the bankruptcy court by section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code. As the United States Supreme Court (the "Supreme Court") made clear in Stern v. Marshall, 131 S. Ct. 2594 (2011), non-Article III courts, such as bankruptcy courts, have traditionally been permitted to enter judgment in cases involving "public rights," which are matters "susceptible of judicial determination, but which congress may or may not bring within the cognizance of the courts of the United States, as it may deem proper." Stern, 131 S. Ct. at 2612 (quoting Murray's Lessee v. Hoboken Land & Improvement Co., 59 U.S. 272, 284 (1856)). Included within this category are cases that "can be pursued only by grace of the other branches" of the federal government (id. at 2614) because "[i]n those cases 'it depends upon the will of congress whether a remedy in the courts shall be allowed at all,' so Congress could limit the extent to which a judicial forum was available." Id. at 2612 (quoting Murray's Lessee, 59 U.S. at 284).

The eligibility proceeding fits squarely within this category of "public rights" cases recognized by the Supreme Court. The City's ability to adjust its debts in a federal bankruptcy case is, of course, only possible because Congress enacted the Bankruptcy Code. Because a chapter 9 case "can be pursued only by grace" of Congress (Stern, 131 S. Ct. at 2614), Congress can control access to chapter 9 by tasking a non-Article III judge with determining a municipality's eligibility, as it has done. 11 U.S.C. §§ 109(c), 921(c). Stern, therefore, poses no obstacle to bankruptcy court resolution of the City's eligibility to access chapter 9.

Indeed, no Objector has challenged the Court's ability to make a final determination regarding the City's eligibility for chapter 9. However, by selective quotation to Stern, some Objectors argue that this Court is powerless to rule on certain objections to the City's eligibility for chapter 9 that involve federal or state constitutional questions. See AFSCME Objection, at ¶ 70 (substituting Stern's actual reference to "common law counterclaims such as Vickie's" with "constitutional questions such as this one; misleadingly quoting Stern's actual language "on a common law cause of action" as "on a [constitutional] cause of action").⁵ Such a radical expansion of Stern is unsupported by that case or any subsequent authority.

⁵ See Stern, 131 S. Ct. at 2615 ("The 'experts' in the federal system at resolving common law counterclaims such as Vickie's are the Article III

Stern involved a statutorily core, state common law counterclaim asserted by the debtor against a creditor. Stern, 131 S. Ct. at 2620. The Supreme Court contrasted this "state law action independent of the federal bankruptcy law and not necessarily resolvable by a ruling on the creditor's proof of claim in bankruptcy" with claims "that were themselves federal claims under bankruptcy law, which would be completely resolved in the bankruptcy process of allowing or disallowing claims." Id. at 2611. While the former required the bankruptcy court to impermissibly exercise the judicial power of the United States, the latter "stem[med] from the bankruptcy itself" and could, as a result, be resolved by the bankruptcy court. Id. at 2618; see also id. ("Vickie's claim, in contrast, is in no way derived from or dependent upon bankruptcy law; it is a state tort action that exists without regard to any bankruptcy proceeding.").⁶

courts, and it is with those courts that her claim must stay.... What is plain here is that this case involves the most prototypical exercise of judicial power: the entry of a final, binding judgment by a court with broad substantive jurisdiction, on a common law cause of action....") (emphasis added). See also Crittendon Objection at ¶¶ 9-10.

⁶ The Supreme Court was careful to clarify that its holding should be interpreted narrowly. Stern, 131 S. Ct. at 2620 ("We do not think the removal of counterclaims such as Vickie's from core bankruptcy jurisdiction meaningfully changes the division of labor in the current statute; we agree with the United States that the question presented here is a 'narrow' one."); id. (noting that Congress had exceeded constitutional limitations "in one isolated respect").

Stern poses no obstacle for the Court in this case because there are no state or federal constitutional claims before the Court on which it could even purport to enter a final judgment. What is before the Court is a determination regarding the eligibility of the City of Detroit to be a chapter 9 debtor – a question that unquestionably "stems from the bankruptcy itself."⁷ Id. at 2618. That this determination requires the Court to consider federal and state constitutional questions does not implicate Stern. Even if the Court were to conclude that chapter 9 or PA 436 is unconstitutional, it has not been called upon – indeed, it would not be permitted – to issue any relief based on those arguments beyond declaring that the City is ineligible for chapter 9 and dismissing the Petition.

For the foregoing reasons, Stern is simply not implicated by the Objectors' constitutional arguments against eligibility. See First Horizon Home Loan Corp. v. Apostle (In re Apostle), 467 B.R. 433, 436 (Bankr. W.D. Mich. 2012) ("[T]he Stern decision is extremely narrow; except for the types of counterclaims addressed in Stern v. Marshall, a bankruptcy judge remains empowered to enter final orders in all core proceedings.").

⁷ Even if federal or state constitutional claims were before the Court, Stern would still pose no obstacle to this Court's ability to resolve the City's eligibility for chapter 9 in the first instance because the constitutionality of PA 436 is a pure legal issue, which will be reviewed de novo on appeal. Thus, none of the concerns regarding deferential review of bankruptcy court judgments animating Stern would be present (see Stern, 131 S. Ct. at 2611), and any error would be harmless after appellate review.

III. CHAPTER 9 IS CONSTITUTIONAL UNDER LONGSTANDING SUPREME COURT PRECEDENT

The constitutionality of chapter 9 has been settled for more than 70 years. In United States v. Bekins, 304 U.S. 27 (1938), the Supreme Court upheld against constitutional challenge the municipal bankruptcy provisions of the Bankruptcy Act of 1937, the predecessor of the current chapter 9. Although the relevant statutory provisions have remained substantially unchanged since then, the Objectors argue nevertheless that intervening developments in the Supreme Court's jurisprudence on both the Contracts Clause of the United States Constitution (the "Contracts Clause")⁸ and federalism have "effectively overruled" Bekins and that chapter 9 is no longer constitutional.⁹ The Objectors' argument is wrong for two reasons. First, because the Supreme Court does not overrule binding precedents by mere implication, Bekins remains good law. Second, nothing in the Supreme Court's developing jurisprudence on either the Contracts Clause or federalism casts even the slightest doubt on the fundamental soundness of Bekins and the constitutionality of chapter 9.

⁸ U.S. Const., art. I, § 10 ("No State shall ... pass any ... Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts").

⁹ See AFSCME Objection, at ¶¶ 44-46 (emphasis added).

A. The Supreme Court's Decision in Bekins Remains Binding Precedent

AFSCME contends that chapter 9 is unconstitutional in light of federalism principles because it "allows Congress to set rules controlling State fiscal self-management – an area of exclusive state sovereignty."¹⁰ This argument is nothing short of an attempt to relitigate an issue that the Supreme Court resolved over seven decades ago.

In Bekins, the Supreme Court specifically addressed "whether the exercise of the federal bankruptcy power in dealing with a composition of the debts of [a municipality], upon its voluntary application and with the State's consent, must be deemed to be an unconstitutional interference with the essential independence of the State as preserved by the Constitution." Bekins, 304 U.S. at 49. Two years earlier, in Ashton v. Cameron County Water Improvement District Number One, 298 U.S. 513 (1936), the Supreme Court had held that municipal bankruptcy was unconstitutional because it "might materially restrict [the subdivision's] control over its fiscal affairs," such that it would "no longer [be] free to manage [its] own affairs." Ashton, 298 U.S. at 530-31. Responding to the Supreme Court's concerns, Congress enacted a slightly revised version of the municipal bankruptcy statute. Bekins, 304 U.S. at 50; In re City of Stockton, 486 B.R. 194, 198 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2013).

This revised statute was challenged and upheld in Bekins. The Supreme Court concluded that the revised statute was "carefully drawn so as not to impinge upon the sovereignty of the State." Bekins, 304 U.S. at 51. Specifically, the Court explained that the "State retains control of its fiscal affairs" and that the "bankruptcy power is exercised in relation to a matter normally within its province and only in a case where the action of the [political subdivision] in carrying out a plan of composition approved by the bankruptcy court is authorized by state law." Id.

Central to the Court's reasoning was its observation that "the essence of sovereignty" is the ability to "give consents bearing upon the exertion of governmental power." Id. at 51-52. Because the adjustment of debts "was not available under state law by reason of the [Contracts Clause]," the Court held that the "bankruptcy power [was] competent to give relief," and "if there [was] any obstacle to its exercise ... it [was] in the right of the State to oppose federal interference." Id. at 54.

The Objectors do not point to any subsequent change in the text of chapter 9 that would warrant a different outcome than Bekins.¹¹ None of the cases cited by the Objectors addresses the constitutionality of chapter 9 or casts doubt on Bekins.¹² Nevertheless, the Objectors invite this Court to treat Bekins as having been implicitly overruled. To do so, however, would violate the fundamental and well-established precept that "[i]f a precedent of [the Supreme Court] has direct application in a case, yet appears to rest on reasons rejected in some other line of decisions, [courts] should follow the case which directly controls, leaving to [the Supreme Court] the prerogative of overruling its own decisions." Rodriguez de Quijas v. Shearson/Am. Express, Inc., 490 U.S. 477, 484 (1989); see also Agostini v. Felton, 521 U.S. 203, 237 (1997) (same). Because Bekins directly controls the Objectors' constitutional challenge to chapter 9, the Court must follow it and hold that chapter 9 is constitutional.

¹² Indeed, only one of the cases cited by the Objectors – Faitoute Iron & Steel Co. v. City of Asbury Park, 316 U.S. 502 (1942) – so much as mentions Bekins.

B. Subsequent Legal Developments
Have Not Undermined the Soundness of Bekins and the Constitutionality of Chapter 9

Although Bekins is dispositive of the Objectors' constitutional claim, it is also evident that legal developments since Bekins do not undermine the Bekins decision, the soundness of its reasoning or the constitutionality of chapter 9.

First, contrary to the Objectors' contention,¹³ States are not generally free to adjust municipal debts by unilateral state action. If the Objectors were correct, the Contracts Clause would be a dead letter, but the Supreme Court has made clear that "[w]hen a State itself enters into a contract, it cannot simply walk away from its financial obligations." Energy Reserves Grp., Inc. v. Kansas Power & Light Co., 459 U.S. 400, 412 n.14 (1983). When a State seeks to impair its own contracts, "complete deference to a legislative assessment of [the] reasonableness and necessity [of the impairment] is not appropriate because the State's self-interest is at stake." United States Trust Co. of N.Y. v. New Jersey, 431 U.S. 1, 26 (1977). For that reason, "a state is not completely free to consider impairing the obligations of its own contracts on a par with other policy alternatives." Id. at 30-31.

In chapter 9, by contrast, there is no risk of state self-interest because the impairment can be carried out only by an impartial federal judge. Indeed, as one bankruptcy court put it: "A financially prostrate municipal government has one viable option to resolve debts in a non-consensual manner. It is in a bankruptcy case. Outside of bankruptcy, non-consensual alteration of contracted debt is, at the very least, severely restricted, if not impossible." In re Jefferson Cnty., 474 B.R. 228, 279 (Bankr. N.D. Ala. 2012), aff'd, No. CV-12-J-2203-5, 2012 WL 3775758 (N.D. Ala. Aug. 28, 2012).

It comes as no surprise, therefore, that Faitoute Iron & Steel Co. v. City of Asbury Park, 316 U.S. 502 (1942), the case so prominently relied upon by the Objectors, is the only case "in this and the last century when the Supreme Court of the United States has sustained the alteration of a municipal bond contract outside a bankruptcy case." In re Jefferson Cnty., 474 B.R. at 279 n.21; see also United States Trust Co., 431 U.S. at 27. In Asbury Park, the Court rejected a Depression-era Contracts Clause challenge to a state-law-approved plan of adjustment pursuant to which certain defaulted bonds could only be converted into new bonds with the same principal amount but bearing a lower interest rate. Asbury Park, 316 U.S. at 504-07. Clarifying that "[w]e do not go beyond the case before us" and that "[d]ifferent considerations may come into play in different situations" (Asbury Park, 316 U.S. at 516), the Court was careful not to extend its holding beyond the facts of the case.

Therefore, far from being an authoritative pronouncement of the States' sweeping authority to adjust municipal debts, Asbury Park is an outlier and stands only for the unremarkable point that States may adjust municipal debts in very limited ways under extraordinary circumstances without violating the Contracts Clause. "In almost every case," however, "the Court has held a governmental unit to its contractual obligations when it enters financial or other markets." Energy Reserves Grp., 459 U.S. at 412 n.14 (citing United States Trust Co., 431 U.S. at 25-28; W.B. Worthen Co. v. Kavanaugh, 295 U.S. 56 (1935); Murray v. Charleston, 96 U.S. 432 (1877)); see also, e.g., Mascio v. Public Emps. Ret. Sys. of Ohio, 160 F.3d 310, 313-15 (6th Cir. 1998) (barring the enforcement of a State law impairing vested pension benefits).

States must seek the aid of federal bankruptcy courts under chapter 9 precisely because they are not at liberty under the Contracts Clause to impair their own contracts. See Bekins, 304 U.S. at 54. For this reason, the Objectors' next contention – that a State unconstitutionally relinquishes its sovereignty to the Federal Government by authorizing chapter 9¹⁴ – is also fundamentally flawed. As the Bekins Court explained: when a State authorizes chapter 9, it "acts in aid, and not in derogation, of its sovereign powers. It invites the intervention of the bankruptcy power to save its agency which the State itself is powerless to rescue. Through its cooperation with the national government the needed relief is given. We see no ground for the conclusion that the Federal Constitution, in the interest of state sovereignty, has reduced both sovereigns to helplessness in such a case."

Bekins, 304 U.S. at 54. The irony of the Objectors' argument is that it would actually impede, rather than protect, the States' sovereignty.

The Objectors also rely on the Supreme Court's anti-commandeering cases – New York v. United States, 505 U.S. 144 (1992), and Printz v. United States, 521 U.S. 898 (1997) – which involved involuntary federal regulatory regimes that "commandeered" State legislative processes or officials. In New York, the challenged statute required States either to take title to low-level radioactive waste or to enact legislation regulating the waste pursuant to Congress's direction. New York, 505 U.S. at 174-75. In Printz, the challenged statute required State law enforcement officers to participate in the administration of a federal regulatory scheme. Printz, 521 U.S. at 903-04. The Supreme Court invalidated both statutes because "[t]he Federal Government may not compel the States to enact or administer a federal regulatory program." Id. at 933 (quoting New York, 505 U.S. at 188).

Chapter 9, by contrast, does not compel the States to enact, administer or otherwise participate in the federal bankruptcy scheme. Most fundamentally, chapter 9 is "administered" by the federal bankruptcy court, not by States. Moreover, States cannot be "forced" to participate in chapter 9 because their participation is completely voluntary. By extending the benefits of bankruptcy to consenting States, chapter 9 operates much like federal programs that extend the benefits of federal money to States that voluntarily submit to federal requirements. E.g., South Dakota v. Dole, 483 U.S. 203, 205-06 (1987) (conditioning federal transportation funds on the States' adoption of a national minimum drinking age). Such programs are not constitutionally problematic where the "State has a legitimate choice whether to accept the federal conditions in exchange for federal funds." Nat'l Fed'n of Indep. Bus. v. Sebelius, 132 S. Ct. 2566, 2602-03 (2012) (plurality opinion).

Because States have a "legitimate choice" whether to allow their municipalities to invoke chapter 9, chapter 9 is not an unconstitutional infringement of State sovereignty. Nor is there any danger of misplaced political accountability.¹⁵ Where, as here, the State has a "legitimate choice" whether to participate in the federal scheme, "state officials can fairly be held politically accountable for choosing to accept or refuse the federal offer." Nat'l Fed'n of Indep. Bus., 132 S. Ct. at 2603 (plurality opinion).

Indeed, even after a State authorizes its municipalities to proceed under chapter 9, the bankruptcy court's powers are designed "to preserve the niceties of the state-federal relationship." Ass'n of Retired Emps. v. City of Stockton (In re City of Stockton), 478 B.R. 8, 20 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012). For that reason, the

Objectors are wrong to suggest that State consent to chapter 9 is a futile effort to cure "an otherwise unconstitutional infringement of state sovereignty."¹⁶ Even if there is some non-delegable core of sovereign state functions that cannot be ceded to the federal government by State consent, chapter 9 itself prohibits the bankruptcy court from intruding on those core functions. 11 U.S.C. § 903 (prohibiting the bankruptcy court from "limit[ing] or impair[ing] the power of a State to control, by legislation or otherwise, a municipality of or in such State in the exercise of the political or governmental powers of such municipality").

Finally, the Objectors also argue that chapter 9 violates the uniformity requirement of Article I, § 8, clause 4 of the United States Constitution.¹⁷ "[B]y ceding to each state the ability to define its own qualifications for a municipality to declare bankruptcy," argue the Objectors, "Chapter 9 permits the promulgation of non-uniform bankruptcies within states." Id. The very case that the Objectors cite, Hanover National Bank v. Moyses, 186 U.S. 181 (1902), proves otherwise. In Hanover National Bank, the Supreme Court approved federal bankruptcy provisions that relied on state law for determining exempt property. Id. at 188-90. The Supreme Court held that such a system was, "in the constitutional sense, uniform throughout the United States," even though "it may result in certain particulars differently in different States." Id. at 190. Insofar as the Objectors contend that chapter 9 is unconstitutional because PA 436 is non-uniform within Michigan, that argument is erroneous because the uniformity requirement is "only controlling as to the congressional exercise of power," not as to the underlying state law. In re Vasko, 6 B.R. 317, 320 (Bankr. N.D. Ohio 1980). In any event, the process set forth in PA 436 is plainly uniform because it applies to all local governments. E.g., MCL § 141.1558. Notwithstanding the Objectors' speculation that PA 436 might have "wildly divergent effects on different cities" (AFSCME Objection, at ¶ 58), "it is not the outcome that determines the uniformity, but the uniform process" by which a defined class of debtors is treated. Richardson v. Schafer (In re Schafer), 689 F.3d 601, 611 (6th Cir. 2012).

IV. THE CITY WAS PROPERLY AUTHORIZED TO COMMENCE THIS CHAPTER 9 CASE

On July 16, 2013, consistent with MCL § 141.1558, the Emergency Manager provided the Governor and Treasurer with his written recommendation that the City be authorized to file for chapter 9 relief.¹⁸ The recommendation was predicated upon, among other things, the Emergency Manager's:

¹⁸ Orr Declaration, at Exhibit J (copy of Emergency Manager's written recommendation); MCL § 141.1558(1) ("If, in the judgment of the emergency manager, no reasonable alternative to rectifying the financial emergency of the local government which is in receivership exists, then the emergency manager may recommend to the governor and the state treasurer that the local government be authorized to proceed under chapter 9.").

(A) determination that the City could not adopt a feasible financial plan that can satisfactorily rectify its financial emergency in a timely manner; and (B) judgment that no reasonable alternative to chapter 9 would allow him to rectify the City's financial emergency in a timely manner.¹⁹

On July 18, 2013, the Governor approved in writing the Emergency Manager's recommendation to commence this chapter 9 case.²⁰ Finally, also on July 18, 2013, consistent with the Governor's written approval, the Emergency Manager issued a written order directing the City to commence this chapter 9 case.²¹ Accordingly, under applicable State law and pursuant to the specific approval of the Governor in accordance with MCL § 141.1558(1), the City has been specifically authorized to be a debtor under chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code.

¹⁹ MCL § 141.1558(2)(a) (requiring that an emergency manager's recommendation include, among other things, "[a] determination by the emergency manager that no feasible financial plan can be adopted that can satisfactorily rectify the financial emergency of the local government in a timely manner.").

²⁰ Orr Declaration, at Exhibit K (copy of Governor's written approval of Emergency Manager's recommendation); MCL § 141.1558(1) ("the governor shall inform the state treasurer and the emergency manager in writing of the decision [to approve]....").

V. THE STATE'S AUTHORIZATION OF CHAPTER 9 DID NOT VIOLATE THE PENSIONS CLAUSE

Several of the Objectors claim, in one form or another,²² that the State's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing violated Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution (the "Pensions Clause").²³ They are mistaken. As explained below, the Pensions Clause itself makes no mention of bankruptcy or chapter 9 authorization. Nor does the State's authorization of a chapter 9 filing, or even the City's becoming a chapter 9 debtor, "diminish[] or impair[]" any pension. These are simply steps that begin the bankruptcy process, where pensions may be impaired by order of a federal bankruptcy court at some later date.

A. The Authorization of Chapter 9 Does Not "Diminish or Impair" Pension Benefits

In authorizing the City to file for chapter 9, the State did not violate the Pensions Clause because it did not "diminish[] or impair[]" any pension.

The authorization was merely one of several conditions to the City's becoming a chapter 9 debtor. After the Governor authorized the City to file this case, and even after the City filed the Petition, the City's pension obligations have remained unimpaired. The Objectors frame their argument as if nothing stands between authorization and the confirmation of a plan that may reduce pension benefits. The only way pensions could be impaired without the consent of the pertinent beneficiaries, however, is by an order of this Court at some future date. As another court has recently indicated, the "main event" of pension impairment is not properly addressed until well after the eligibility stage – at the time of plan confirmation. In re City of Stockton, 493 B.R. 772, 797 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2013).

For the same reason, there is no merit to the Objectors' argument that the enactment of PA 436 violated the Pensions Clause (and, thus, that PA 436 is unconstitutional as a threshold matter)²⁴. The enactment of the underlying statute empowering the Governor to authorize (and the Emergency Manager to file) a chapter 9 case is even further removed from any possible impairment of pensions than the Governor's authorization itself.

B. The Pensions Clause Simply Extends the Protection of the Federal and State Contracts Clauses to Cover Public Pensions

The unmistakable function of the Pensions Clause is to extend the protection of the federal and state contracts clauses to cover public pensions by treating them as contractual obligations.²⁵ The text of the Pensions Clause states that "[t]he accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby." Mich. Const. art. IX, § 24 (emphasis added). As the Michigan Supreme Court has recognized, "[t]he obvious intent of § 24 ... was to ensure that public pensions be treated as contractual obligations that, once earned, could not be diminished." In re Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 806 N.W.2d 683, 694 (Mich. 2011) (emphasis added).

It is important to note that prior to the adoption of the Pensions Clause in 1963, "[i]t had long been the general rule that pensions granted by public authorities were not contractual obligations but gratuitous allowances which could be revoked at will by the authority because the pensioner was not deemed to have had any vested right in their continuation." In re Enrolled Senate Bill (Advisory Opinion re Constitutionality of 1972 PA 258), 209 N.W.2d 200, 202 (Mich. 1973). Against this backdrop, public employees in Michigan sought "[t]o gain protection of their pension rights," and thus "effectively lobbied for a constitutional amendment granting contractual status to retirement benefits." Kosa v. State Treasurer, 292 N.W.2d 452, 454-55 (Mich. 1980) (emphasis added). The result was the Pensions Clause, which elevated public pensions to the same level of constitutional protection that applied to "obligations of contract" under the Contracts Clause.

While the Contracts Clause prohibits States from impairing contracts, it does not pose any obstacle to chapter 9. As the Supreme Court has recognized, a State's authorization of municipal bankruptcy does not itself constitute an impairment of contracts but merely "invites the intervention of the bankruptcy power to save its agency which the State itself is powerless to rescue." Bekins, 304 U.S. at 54. Consequently, Bekins makes clear that the Contracts Clause is perfectly consistent with chapter 9 proceedings from start to finish. This is true for two reasons. First, a State does not impair contracts merely by authorizing a municipality to file for bankruptcy, because no contracts are impaired at the time of authorization. Second, any impairment of contracts that occurs in chapter 9 does not implicate the Contracts Clause, because the Contracts Clause only prohibits impairment by the State, while chapter 9 only allows impairment by the federal bankruptcy court. As one court has observed, "the Bankruptcy Code ... permits the federal courts through confirmation of a Chapter 9 plan to impair contract rights ... and such impairment is not a violation by the state or the municipality of [the Contracts Clause] which prohibits a state from impairing such contract rights." In re Sanitary & Improvement Dist., No. 7, 98 B.R. 970, 973 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1989) (emphasis added). Indeed, if chapter 9 truly involved an impairment of contractual obligations by the State, then the Contracts Clause would prevent the impairment of any contract in municipal bankruptcy (or at least require a stringent Contracts Clause analysis for every contractual impairment).

Like the Contracts Clause, the Pensions Clause applies only to impairments that are imposed "[]by" the State and its political subdivisions. Mich. Const. art. IX, § 24. Thus, as with the Contracts Clause, chapter 9 is not limited by the Pensions Clause because the impairment of pensions and other contractual obligations in chapter 9 can only occur by order of a federal bankruptcy court.

The framework of chapter 9, including the role of States in authorizing municipal bankruptcy, was well established when the Pensions Clause was ratified in 1963. Nevertheless, the Pensions Clause does not include any restriction on the authorization or filing of municipal bankruptcy cases. Given the absence of any language regarding bankruptcy in the Pensions Clause, and the well-established principle that constitutional protection for "contractual obligations" is not a bar to chapter 9, there is no basis for concluding that the Pensions Clause was intended to give pensioners a right to block municipal bankruptcy. Cf. In re Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 806 N.W.2d at 697, n.24 ("Given that neither the actual language of § 24 nor the Address to the People mentions [a right to tax-free pension benefits], the ratifiers would have had absolutely no reason to suppose that, by adopting § 24, they would be creating" such a right).

Indeed, when the Pensions Clause was ratified in 1963, Michigan law specifically authorized instrumentalities of the State to commence cases under the Bankruptcy Act of 1898. See Public Act 72 of 1939, MCL § 141.201(1) (repealed in 1982) ("Any ... instrumentality in this state as defined in [the Bankruptcy Act of 1898 and amendments thereto] ... may proceed under the terms and conditions of such acts to secure a composition of its debts.... The governing authority of any such ... instrumentality, or the officer, board or body having authority to levy taxes to meet the obligations to be affected by the plan of composition may file the petition and agree upon any plan of composition authorized by said act of congress"). It seems extremely unlikely that, by enacting the Pensions Clause, the framers of the Michigan Constitution intended to overrule Public Act 72 of 1939, which remained on the books for another 20 years, without so much as mentioning the Act's existence.

No court has ever held that a State's constitutional protection of pensions poses any obstacle to a municipality's eligibility to be a chapter 9 debtor. For example, in California, the state Constitution prohibits the diminishment or impairment of pension benefits unless some "new comparable or offsetting benefit appear[s] in the modified plan." Olson v. Cory, 636 P.2d 532, 541 (Cal. 1980). Nonetheless, California courts have found municipalities eligible to be chapter 9 debtors in several recent cases where pensions might be vulnerable to impairment in the bankruptcy process. E.g., Stockton, 493 B.R. 772; Int'l Ass'n of Firefighters, Local 1186 v. City of Vallejo (In re City of Vallejo), 408 B.R. 280 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009). Similar constitutional protection for pensions applies in Alabama (see Bd. of Trs. v. Cary, 373 So.2d 841 (Ala. 1979)), where chapter 9 has not only been authorized but, consistent with constitutional protections for contracts, has also been used to reduce pensions (see In re City of Prichard, No. 99-13465 (Bankr. S.D. Ala. Oct. 6, 2000) (Docket No. 123), at pp. 6-7 (order confirming plan of adjustment reducing all existing and future pension benefits payments by 8.5%)). As in these cases, the Pensions Clause does not prohibit the State from authorizing the City to be a debtor under chapter 9.

Indeed, if the mere prospect of impairing pensions in bankruptcy were enough to violate the Pensions Clause, then the same prospect of impairing contracts in bankruptcy would be enough to violate the State Contracts Clause (and, for that matter, the federal Contracts Clause). If that were true, no Michigan municipality (or any municipality in any other State throughout the nation) could ever enter chapter 9, where the impairment of contracts is always on the table.

That absurd result proves that the authorization of a chapter 9 case does not equate to an impermissible impairment under the Pensions Clause.

C. The Pensions Clause Does Not Require Chapter 9 Authorization to Be Conditioned on the Non-Impairment of Pensions

The Objectors fare no better in their argument that the Pensions Clause allows the State to authorize chapter 9 only on the condition that pensions not be impaired.²⁶ Once again, the Objectors cite no authority in support of this novel argument, which has no basis in text or precedent.

To begin, the only relevant question at the eligibility stage is whether the State has specifically authorized the City "to be a debtor under ... chapter [9]." 11 U.S.C. § 109(c)(2). If the State has granted authorization, it is entirely irrelevant for eligibility purposes whether the State has also purported to impose some further conditions.

Perhaps conceding this point, the Objectors appear to argue that the State has not validly authorized the City to become a chapter 9 debtor because the State violated the Pensions Clause by failing to make the non-impairment of pensions a condition of authorization.²⁷ This argument, too, is incorrect. As we have already seen, the Pensions Clause nowhere mentions bankruptcy in general or chapter 9 authorization in particular. It also does not say anything about conditions that must be imposed on the authorization of chapter 9. As discussed above, the Pensions Clause simply has the same effect as the Contracts Clause, which has never been interpreted by any Court to require any conditions on the authorization of chapter 9.

Apparently dissatisfied with the actual wording of the Michigan Constitution, the Objectors base their argument on a constitutional provision of their own imagining. Instead of adhering to the plain terms of the Pensions Clause that require the State to refrain from impairing pensions, the Objectors contend that the Pensions Clause should be read to require State officials to take affirmative steps to prevent even the possibility of the federal bankruptcy court from impairing pensions in chapter 9. This is not an interpretation of the Pensions Clause but a complete rewriting of it.

Even if the Pensions Clause could be interpreted so broadly as to require that limits be placed on the authorization of a chapter 9 case in order to restrict a municipality's use of various provisions of the Bankruptcy Code once in chapter 9, any such limits would be both prohibited and preempted by federal law. The Bankruptcy Clause of the United States Constitution empowers Congress to "establish ... uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States." U.S. Const. art. I, § 8, cl. 4. Pursuant to that authority, Congress has enacted chapter 9 as a comprehensive scheme for municipal bankruptcy, including various powers that a municipal debtor may invoke to adjust its debts. Under the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution,²⁸ this comprehensive federal scheme displaces any contrary state-law provisions that purport to alter or impair a debtor's powers under the Bankruptcy Code. "The federal bankruptcy power ... by operation of the Supremacy Clause, trumps the ... state constitution." Stockton, 478 B.R. at 16. Thus, while the State may act as a gatekeeper in determining whether to authorize a chapter 9 filing, State law cannot alter or override the federal scheme for determining the tools of debt adjustment that a municipal debtor may use once it is in bankruptcy.

In light of the comprehensive scheme that Congress has enacted, "[i]ncorporating state substantive law into chapter 9 to amend, modify or negate substantive provisions of chapter 9 would violate Congress' ability to enact uniform bankruptcy laws." In re City of Vallejo, 403 B.R. 72, 76-77 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2009), aff'd sub nom. Int'l Bhd. Of Elec. Workers, Local 2376 v. City of Vallejo (In re City of Vallejo), 432 B.R. 262 (E.D. Cal. 2010); see also Cnty. of Orange v. Merrill Lynch & Co. (In re Cnty. of Orange), 191 B.R. 1005, 1020 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996) (deviating from federal scheme would "violate the constitutional mandate for uniform bankruptcy laws" by determining creditor priorities based on factors that vary from state to state).²⁹ Thus, a State "must accept chapter 9 in its totality; it cannot cherry pick what it likes while disregarding the rest." Cnty. of Orange, 191 B.R. at 1021; see also Stockton, 478 B.R. at 16 (holding that "[a] state cannot ... condition or [] qualify, i.e. to 'cherry pick,' the application of the Bankruptcy Code provisions that apply in chapter 9 cases after such a case has been filed"); Vallejo, 432 B.R. at 267-68 (same); Mission Indep. Sch. Dist. v. Texas, 116 F.2d 175, 178 (5th Cir. 1940) (same).

²⁸ U.S. Const. art. VI, cl. 2 ("[T]he Laws of the United States ... shall be the supreme Law of the Land ... any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the Contrary notwithstanding.").

For these reasons, the Pensions Clause by its plain terms did not require the Governor to impose any of the conditions sought by the Objectors, and in any event, such conditions would be prohibited by federal law.³⁰

²⁹ In establishing uniform bankruptcy laws, it is for Congress to determine how and whether State law will be incorporated. See In re Schafer, 689 F.3d at 611 (noting that Congress "may" incorporate state law in bankruptcy). In chapter 9, Congress has chosen to allow state law to govern the question of whether a municipality is authorized to become a debtor but not to govern the powers that debtors may invoke to adjust their debts.

³⁰ The City raises these arguments not to seek the Court's determination today whether pension benefits can or should be modified in this case but merely to respond to the Objectors' argument that the Governor's authorization of this case must necessarily have placed a condition on the filing. It need not have. It could not have.

In this vein, the Court – consistent with its findings at Section VI of the Eligibility Scheduling Order – should reject the request that any Order for Relief require that all actions taken by the Emergency Manager, including the eventual proposal of a plan of adjustment, "comply with the State

VI. COLLATERAL ESTOPPEL DOES NOT PRECLUDE THIS COURT FROM DETERMINING THE CITY'S ELIGIBILITY FOR CHAPTER 9

Pointing to the declaratory judgment entered in Webster v. Michigan, No. 13-734-CZ (Ingham Cnty. Cir. Ct.), certain of the Objectors contend that the City is barred by collateral estoppel from litigating whether the City's authorization to file for chapter 9 bankruptcy was valid under the Michigan Constitution.³¹ The Objectors' collateral estoppel argument fails for numerous reasons.

Collateral estoppel applies only to issues that have been "actually litigated and determined by a valid and final judgment." Monat v. State Farm Ins. Co., 677 N.W.2d 843, 845 (Mich. 2004). But the judgment in Webster was not "valid" because the state court lacked jurisdiction at the time the judgment was entered. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(a), federal district courts have "exclusive" jurisdiction over "all cases under title 11." An essential component of that exclusive

Constitution." See AFSCME Objection, at ¶¶ 82-84. Such amorphous and premature requests, including requests that the Court decide questions related to section 943 of the Bankruptcy Code months in advance of the filing of a plan of adjustment, are wholly unrelated to eligibility and unwarranted at this stage.

jurisdiction is to determine whether a municipality was "specifically authorized ... to be a debtor under [chapter 9] by State law." 11 U.S.C. § 109(c)(2); see also 11 U.S.C. § 921(c) (instructing the court, as part of the bankruptcy case, to determine whether "the petition ... meet[s] the requirements of this title"); Transcript of Hearing, dated July 24, 2013, at pp. 71-72 ("The Court concludes that the issue of eligibility and each of the elements relating to eligibility are within this Court's exclusive jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C., Section 1334(a). Under that statute, United States District Courts have original and exclusive jurisdiction of all cases under Title 11, that original and exclusive jurisdiction referred to the Bankruptcy Courts of each jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C., Section 157. Our District Court has referred all matters relating to bankruptcy jurisdiction to the Bankruptcy Court under Local Rule 83.30. This is not a proceeding within 28 U.S.C., Section 1334, over which Bankruptcy Courts would have concurrent jurisdiction with the state courts.").

In Webster, after the City had already filed the Petition, the state court purported to determine that the City was not validly authorized to be a debtor under State law. See Order of Declaratory Judgment, at 2, Webster, No. 13-734-CZ (July 19, 2013) (declaring that the State could not "authoriz[e] an emergency manager ... to proceed under Chapter 9 in a manner which threatens to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits"). By passing judgment on the validity of the City's authorization to proceed under chapter 9, the Webster court purported to adjudicate an issue that fell squarely within this Court's exclusive jurisdiction. Because the Webster court lacked jurisdiction, the judgment is void. See Twin City Fire Ins. Co. v. Adkins, 400 F.3d 293, 299 (6th Cir. 2005) ("Where a federal court finds that a state-court decision was rendered in the absence of subject matter jurisdiction or tainted by due process violations, it may declare the state court's judgment void ab initio and refuse to give the decision effect in the federal proceeding.").

Even if the Webster court had been able to exercise jurisdiction over eligibility questions (which it was not), the declaratory judgment in Webster would still be invalid because it was entered in violation of the automatic stay imposed by section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code as of the time of the filing of the Petition. The Objectors argue that the automatic stay did not apply to suits against the Webster defendants – the State of Michigan, the Governor, and the Treasurer – until the stay was extended to those defendants on July 25, 2013.³²

As the City made clear in its motion to extend the automatic stay, certain prepetition lawsuits – including Webster – violated the automatic stay imposed as of the Petition Date to the extent that such suits sought "directly or indirectly to enforce the plaintiffs' claims against the City or to exercise control over the City's property rights, including its powers and rights under chapter 9." Motion of Debtor for Entry of Order Extending the Chapter 9 Stay (Docket No. 56) at p. 15 n.4; see Amedisys, Inc. v. Nat'l Century Fin. Enters., Inc. (In re Nat'l Century Fin. Enters., Inc.), 423 F.3d 567, 578 (6th Cir. 2005) (holding that "[a]n action taken against a nondebtor which would inevitably have an adverse impact upon the property of the estate must be barred by the [§ 362(a)(3)] automatic stay provision") (quoting Licensing by Paolo, Inc. v. Sinatra (In re Gucci), 126 F.3d 380, 392 (2d Cir. 1997)). By entering judgment – a day after the Petition Date – declaring that the City's bankruptcy filing was not properly authorized under the Michigan Constitution, the Webster court sought to exercise control over the City's legal and property rights in violation of the automatic stay. Such a judgment is likely void ab initio (see Easley v. Pettibone Mich. Corp., 990 F.2d 905, 911 (6th Cir. 1993) (holding that "actions taken in violation of the [automatic] stay are invalid and voidable and shall be voided absent limited equitable circumstances")) and, thus, would be invalid for purposes of collateral estoppel. See Control Module, Inc. v. Morello (In re Morello), No. 07-02052, 2012 WL 1945509, at *18 (Bankr. D. Conn. May 30, 2012) (holding, where a state court entered a postpetition "supplemental judgment" against a debtor, that "because the Supplemental Judgment was issued after the filing of the Debtor's bankruptcy, the judgment of the [state] court is void and neither side may claim that the [state] court's finding[s] are entitled to collateral estoppel....").

Collateral estoppel further fails because the City did not have "a full and fair opportunity to litigate the issue." Monat, 677 N.W.2d at 845 (quotation marks and alteration omitted). "A new determination of the issue is warranted by differences in the quality or extensiveness of the procedures followed in the two courts...." Id. at 845 n.2 (quoting 1 RESTATEMENT (SECOND) OF JUDGMENTS § 28, at 273 (1982)). The state court in Webster took the unusual step of issuing a final declaratory judgment on an expedited basis after the Petition had already been filed and without the benefit of full briefing on the merits. At the time of the declaratory judgment, the Webster case was little more than two weeks old, and the defendants' briefs had focused mainly on justiciability issues and the preliminary injunction standard rather than the merits of the plaintiffs' arguments. Indeed, the Webster court's failure to provide a well-reasoned explanation for its decision attests to the gross inadequacy of the process afforded to the defendants. Thus, even if (somehow) collateral estoppel otherwise could apply, the abbreviated nature of the proceedings in the state court would warrant a fresh determination of the issue by this Court.

Finally, even if (A) the Michigan state court's postpetition exercise of jurisdiction over Webster had been proper (which it was not), (B) the automatic stay did not apply to the Webster litigation (which it did) and (C) the City had a full and fair opportunity to litigate (which it did not), collateral estoppel still would not apply because the City was not a party to the Webster lawsuit and was not otherwise in privity with the Webster defendants. Collateral estoppel "precludes relitigation of an issue in a different, subsequent action between the same parties or their privies...." Dearborn Heights Sch. Dist. No. 7 v. Wayne Cnty. MEA/NEA, 592 N.W.2d 408, 411 (Mich. Ct. App. 1998). "In its broadest sense, privity has been defined as mutual or successive relationships to the same right of property, or such an identification of interest of one person with another as to represent the same legal right." Sloan v. City of Madison Heights, 389 N.W.2d 418, 422 (Mich. 1986) (internal quotation marks omitted).

The Objectors contend that, although the City was not a party to the Webster litigation, the City was in sufficient privity with the Webster defendants to trigger collateral estoppel,³³ but the Objectors cannot have it both ways. They cannot maintain that there is an insufficient identity of interest between the Webster defendants and the City for purposes of the automatic stay but a sufficient identity of interest between the two for purposes of collateral estoppel. If there was sufficient privity between the City and the Webster defendants for collateral estoppel to apply, then, by necessity, that privity would have triggered the protections of the automatic stay.

VII. PA 436 IS CONSTITUTIONAL

The Objectors also claim that PA 436 violates the Michigan Constitution because: (A) the enactment of PA 436 violated the Pensions Clause by authorizing a chapter 9 filing without prohibiting the impairment of pension obligations therein; (B) PA 436 violates Michigan's home rule doctrine; and (C) PA 436 unconstitutionally delegates power to the Emergency Manager. PA 436's consistency with the Pensions Clause is addressed at Section V.A supra. The remaining objections to PA 436's constitutionality generally have nothing to do with eligibility, and, where they might, are baseless.

A. PA 436 Does Not Conflict with Home Rule and Reflects the State Legislature's Power To Address Local Fiscal Emergencies

The home rule provisions of Michigan law give municipalities and their residents rights of self governance by empowering residents to elect their own officials (e.g., People ex rel. Le Roy v. Hurlbut, 24 Mich. 44, 46-47 (1871)), and by according "the electors of each city" with "the power and authority to frame, adopt and amend [the municipality's] charter." Mich. Const. art. VII, § 22. The Objectors contend that PA 436 violates home rule provisions by placing the

Emergency Manager in the shoes of local officials and allowing the Emergency Manager to take actions that are arguably inconsistent with the city's charter.³⁴

The Objectors are mistaken. As an initial matter, most of the Objectors' challenges – such as their concerns about the Emergency Manager's ability to set budgets and pass ordinances – have nothing to do with the Emergency Manager's authority to file for chapter 9 and thus need not be addressed here. Moreover, there is, in fact, no conflict because Detroit's charter recognizes that its provisions are "subject ... to the limitations ... imposed by statute." DETROIT CITY CHARTER § 1-102; see Detroit City Council v. Mayor of Detroit, 770 N.W.2d 117, 124 (Mich. Ct. App. 2009) (recognizing that by its own terms Detroit's Charter gives way to statutes).

Even if there were a conflict between PA 436 and Detroit's Charter regarding the Emergency Manager's authority to commence this chapter 9 case, PA 436 would prevail. "Where a city charter provision conflicts with general statutory law, the statute controls in all matters which are not of purely local character." Bd. of Trs. v. City of Detroit, 373 N.W.2d 173, 175 (Mich. Ct. App. 1985); see also Public Act 279 of 1909, the Home Rule City Act, MCL § 117.36 ("No provision of any city charter shall conflict with or contravene the provisions of any general law of the state."). General laws are those capable of covering new localities over time. See, e.g., Houston v. Governor, 810 N.W.2d 255, 257 (Mich. 2012).

PA 436, including its authorization to file for chapter 9, is most certainly a general state law. As the Michigan legislature's findings with respect to the impact of local financial emergencies on the rest of the State make clear (MCL § 141.1543), how financially distressed local governments overcome their situation is decidedly not a matter of "purely local" character or concern. See, e.g., Brimmer v. Village of Elk Rapids, 112 N.W.2d 222, 226 (Mich. 1961) (statutes involving municipal utility rates, municipal debt limitations and municipal tax rates are general rather than purely local). Indeed, the Michigan Constitution itself instructs the State legislature to pass "general laws ... restrict[ing] the powers of cities and villages to borrow money and contract debts." Mich. Const. art. VII, § 21.

Nor does temporarily substituting the Emergency Manager for Detroit's elected officials violate home rule by eliminating Detroit's residents' right to choose their officials. "[A] municipal corporation[']s ... existence is entirely dependent on the legislation that created it, and the Legislature that may also destroy it." Bd. of Cnty. Road Comm'rs v. Mich. Prop. & Cas. Guar. Ass'n, 575 N.W.2d 751, 760 (Mich. 1998). Accordingly, the Michigan Supreme Court has long recognized that the legislature must have authority to temporarily replace local officials when exercising its undisputed power to "supervis[e] and control in matters of municipal regulation." Hurlbut, 24 Mich. at 111 (opinion of Cooley, J.). That is all PA 436 does: it authorizes the Governor to appoint an emergency manager in a fiscal crisis (MCL § 141.1549(1)), but the emergency manager's term ends once the crisis ends or, if he has been in office more than 18 months, if an elected local government votes him out (MCL §§ 141.1549(6)(b), (c)).

B. PA 436 Does Not Delegate Power to Pass Local Legislation

Article IV, Section 29 of the Michigan Constitution provides that "[t]he legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable" and that "[n]o local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected." Because PA 436 grants the Emergency Manager authority to adopt local ordinances (MCL § 141.1552(1)(dd)), the Objectors contend it unconstitutionally authorizes the Emergency Manager to enact local legislation that not even the State legislature could pass.³⁵

Once again, this objection has nothing to do with the City's eligibility for bankruptcy: filing a chapter 9 case is not passing legislation, the only conduct covered by Article IV, Section 29. In any event, Article IV, Section 29 restricts only the State legislature; municipalities are free to enact "local" laws as they see fit. When the Emergency Manager acts, he exercises the local government's powers, not the State legislature's, so the legislature did not (and could not) violate Article IV, Section 29 when it enacted PA 436. See, e.g., MCL § 141.1552(1)(dd); see also MCL § 141.1552(2) (allowing local leaders to repeal the Emergency Manager's ordinances after his term ends).

C. PA 436 Does Not Violate the Non-Delegation Doctrine

Under Michigan's non-delegation doctrine, the legislature may not task executive officials with formulating "legislative policy" unless the legislature provides "sufficient standards and safeguards" to "check[] the exercise of delegated power." Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mich. v. Milliken, 367 N.W.2d 1, 27 (Mich. 1985). The Objectors argue that PA 436 runs afoul of this rule by giving the Emergency Manager authority to act for the City in chapter 9 without providing guidance as to what he should do.³⁶

The Objectors are again mistaken. First, as explained above, the Emergency Manager exercises the local government's authority, not powers of the State legislature's. The Emergency Manager acts for the City, not the State. Thus the anti-delegation principles that govern when the State legislature delegates the State legislature's powers do not apply here.

³⁶ See AFSCME Objection, at ¶¶ 98-99.

Second, when deciding whether the legislature has provided "reasonably precise" standards (Blue Cross, 367 N.W.2d at 27) in delegating its powers, Michigan courts have emphasized that the statute "must be read as a whole" and "carries a presumption of constitutionality." Id. As a result, the "reasonably precise" test is easy to satisfy (see, e.g., Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mich. v. Demlow, 270 N.W.2d 845, 854 (Mich. 1978) (approving delegation using a "fair and reasonable" standard)); Mich. State Highway Comm'n v. Vanderkloot, 220 N.W.2d 416, 419 (Mich. 1974) (approving use of eminent domain upon an executive finding of "necessity")).

PA 436 contains sufficient standards to guide the Emergency Manager in seeking bankruptcy protection. It clearly tells the Emergency Manager to look at various possibilities for fixing the City's financial problems and instructs him to recommend bankruptcy only if "no reasonable alternative to rectifying the financial emergency ... exists." MCL § 141.1558(1). PA 436 also instructs the Emergency Manager to ameliorate those problems while "assur[ing] the fiscal accountability of the local government and the local government's capacity to provide ... necessary governmental services essential to the public health, safety, and welfare." MCL § 141.1549(2).

The Objectors also contend that PA 436 unconstitutionally delegates authority by not providing for judicial review of the Emergency Manager's actions in bankruptcy.³⁷ The Objectors, however, ignore the fact that, in many circumstances, this Court will review actions of the Emergency Manager.³⁸ The Objectors argue that the Emergency Manager can escape judicial review because, under 11 U.S.C. § 904, municipalities need not seek court approval of settlements. Yet, if the City does not seek this Court's approval of a particular settlement, that settlement does not escape scrutiny forever: "the day of reckoning comes at the plan confirmation hearing," where any "untoward settlements" would shed considerable light on whether a cram-down plan "discriminate[s] unfairly," is "fair and equitable," and has been "proposed in good faith." Stockton, 486 B.R. at 199-200 (quoting 11 U.S.C. § 1129(a)(2), (b)(1)).

In sum, PA 436 neither violates Michigan's home rule doctrine nor unconstitutionally delegates authority to the Emergency Manager. To the extent, if any, that such claims have anything to do with eligibility, the Objectors' arguments in support of these claims lack merit, and this Court should determine that PA 436 is constitutional.

³⁷ See AFSCME Objection, at ¶100.

VIII. THE CITY SATISFIES SECTION 109(c)(5) OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE BECAUSE IT WAS IMPRACTICABLE TO BARGAIN WITH THOUSANDS OF BONDHOLDERS AND OVER 20,000 RETIREES

In the Eligibility Memorandum, the City demonstrated the impracticability of conducting negotiations with its very numerous creditors and that the requirement for eligibility set forth at section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code was satisfied. Specifically, the City explained that: (A) the "impracticability" requirement was added to the Bankruptcy Code to facilitate relief under chapter 9 for major American cities (i.e., precisely this circumstance); (B) the numerosity and fragmented nature of the City's creditors made negotiations with the creditor body impracticable; (C) in many instances, the City was unable to negotiate with representatives with authority to bind creditors because there were no such representatives; and (D) the City did not have time to conduct extended creditor negotiations. See Eligibility Memorandum, at pp. 40-53. None of the Objectors succeeds in undermining any of the foregoing.

As a threshold matter, certain facts that, by themselves, establish impracticability under section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code are ignored by the Objectors. Thousands of separate entities hold the City's billions of dollars in bond debt. For the reasons set forth in the Eligibility Memorandum (i.e., the inability to restructure key terms of the City's bond debt absent unanimous bondholder consent and the lack of any representatives with authority to bind all such bondholders) (Eligibility Memorandum, at pp. 46-47), negotiations with the City's bondholders were impracticable. No Objection disputes this. Moreover, no holder of bonds has objected to the City's eligibility on the ground that negotiations with bondholders were practicable. These realities demonstrate that the requirements of section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code have been met.

Many of the Objectors explicitly or implicitly assert that section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code cannot be satisfied if negotiations with any creditor constituency (specifically, the City's retirees) were potentially practicable. This cannot possibly be the law. It would be an absurdity to interpret the phrase "is unable to negotiate with creditors" to mean "[can negotiate with some creditors but] is unable to negotiate with [other] creditors" as there will always be some creditor with which a municipality could negotiate.³⁹ Thus, courts have consistently determined that the "impracticability" requirement of section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code is satisfied where negotiations with any significant creditor constituency is impracticable. See Vallejo, 408 B.R. at 298 (holding that the impracticability of debtor's negotiations with its unions satisfied section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code because "labor costs comprised the largest slice of Vallejo's budget [and] it would have been futile to negotiate with other creditors without an agreement with the Unions"); In re Vills. at Castle Rock Metro. Dist. No. 4, 145 B.R. 76, 85 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1990) (holding that negotiations were impracticable for purposes of 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code where negotiations with single class of bondholders holding one third of the debtor's total bond debt would have been futile).

³⁹ For example, if such an interpretation were credited, a municipality would be required to delay filing its chapter 9 petition while it engaged those creditors with whom it could negotiate despite the facts that (a) negotiations with other creditors were impracticable and (b) the municipality ultimately would have to file and effectively restart the negotiation process.

In any event, the Objections fail to rebut the City's showing that negotiations with its pension beneficiaries were impracticable. For example, the RDPFFA and the DRCEA characterize themselves as "the natural representative capable of bargaining on [the retirees'] behalf" and argue that the City's alleged failure to engage the RDPFFA/DRCEA in negotiations forecloses the City's ability to argue that negotiations with its retiree constituency were impracticable. See Retiree Association Objection, at ¶¶ 64-74. The premise that the RDPFFA and the DRCEA are the natural representatives of retirees is not self evidently correct. First, the RDPFFA and the DRCEA are but two of at least five associations purporting to represent City retirees.⁴⁰ Neither the RDPFFA nor the DRCEA have any greater claim to being the natural representative of the retirees than any other informal retiree association (and the Retiree Association Objection offers no such reason). Second, neither the RDPFFA nor the DRCEA are "the" anything. They are two separate organizations, and there is no reason to believe that the RDPFFA and the DRCEA will agree on every – or any – relevant issue. Third, the RDPFFA and the DRCEA are not the only entities claiming to be natural bargaining representatives for the City's retirees. The City's unions now claim to be appropriate bargaining representatives for their retirees as well.⁴¹ These competing claims to bargaining authority undermine the RDPFFA/DRCEA's assertion that they are "the natural bargaining representatives" for retirees. Fourth, the Retiree Association Objection concedes that the RDPFFA and the DRCEA lacked – and still lack – the authority to bind the City's retirees. See Retiree Association Objection, at *14 (noting that the RDPFFA and the DRCEA are just now in the process of obtaining proxy forms from their retiree members and have collected only 5,000 such proxies to date (there are over 20,000 retirees and active employees that have vested pension benefits)). RDPFFA/DRCEA's assertion that they are the "natural representative[s] capable of bargaining on [the retirees'] behalf" cannot be reconciled with their recognition of a lack of legal authority to bind retirees absent express authorization. Fifth, even if the RDPFFA and the DRCEA had been able to bind their retiree members (which they could not), the associations themselves only purport to represent "approximately 70% of all City retirees." Retiree Association Objection, at ¶ 9. Accordingly, there was no possibility that negotiations with the RDPFFA and the DRCEA – or, for much the same reasons, any other party – could have bound the more than 20,000 City retirees to a proposed restructuring, thus rendering the City's good faith attempt at such negotiations impracticable.⁴² Finally, even if there were a "natural bargaining representative" of all retirees, that would still not make negotiations concerning pension benefits practicable; approximately 8,225 active employees have vested pension benefits too. Neither the RDPFFA nor the DRCEA even purports to represent the interests of these people and it is not clear that active employees would rely on such representation even if the RDPFFA and DRCEA both declared that they were "natural representatives of active employees having vested benefits."

⁴¹ See AFSCME Objection, at ¶ 123 (stating that "creditors such as AFSCME and similar union representatives ... could have negotiated regarding the largest portion of the City's unsecured debt"); Objection (Docket No. 506) filed by the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America (the "UAW"), at ¶ 9 (stating that the "UAW is representing the interests of active and retired employees in this case."). As set forth below, these claims are directly at odds with these Objectors' prepetition refusal to negotiate on behalf of retirees.

⁴² Moreover, the RDPFFA and the DRCEA attended multiple meetings at which the City set forth its restructuring proposals and solicited counter-proposals and other feedback. Neither the RDPFFA nor the DRCEA responded to any proposals made by the City.

The AFSCME Objection's similar argument that negotiations with "creditors such as AFSCME and similar union representatives that could have negotiated regarding the largest portion of the City's unsecured debt" (AFSCME Objection, at ¶ 123) would have been practicable rewrites the history of those negotiations. In fact, the City did reach out to AFSCME and the City's other Unions regarding their willingness to represent the interests of their respective retirees in negotiations over the City's restructuring proposal.

As set forth in the Eligibility Memorandum, the majority of the Unions either expressly indicated unwillingness or legal inability to represent retirees or neither agreed nor refused to represent retirees. Only eight Unions (comprising 10 of the City's 47 bargaining units) agreed to represent retirees in connection with the City's restructuring. See Eligibility Memorandum, at p. 51. Notably, both AFSCME and the UAW – each of which filed Objections challenging the impracticability of negotiations with retirees – expressly declined to represent retirees.⁴³ It is difficult to see how it would be practicable for the City to conduct

⁴³ Letter from Edward L. MacNeil, Special Assistant to the President of AFSCME to Brian Easley of Jones Day, dated May 24, 2013 (advising that AFSCME "has no authority in which to renegotiate the Pension or Medical Benefits that members of our Union currently receive."); Letter from Laurie Townsend Stuart, President of UAW Local 2200, to Brian Easley of Jones Day, dated May 23, 2013 (stating that the UAW would represent the interests only of "current employees" of the local Union); Letter from Robyn Brooks, President of UAW Local 2211, to Brian Easley of Jones Day, dated negotiations with AFSCME and other Unions that refused to negotiate with the City on retirees' behalf.

Both the AFSCME and the UAW argue that, because the City allegedly made no effort to negotiate with creditors in good faith, the City should not be able to claim that such negotiations were impracticable.⁴⁴ Thus, AFSCME and the UAW essentially argue that, if the City cannot satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code (which requires good faith negotiations with creditor constituencies), then the City cannot satisfy the disjunctive requirement for eligibility set forth in section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code either. Neither the UAW nor AFSCME offer any precedent or citation for this reading of the Bankruptcy Code and the plain meaning of the statute (which connects the clauses of section 109(c)(5) with the word "or") contradicts such a reading. Indeed, the courts that have considered section 109(c)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code have ⁴⁴ AFSCME Objection, at ¶¶ 121-123; UAW Objection, at ¶ 46, n.19 and Public Safety Unions Objection (Docket No. 512), at p. 17 ("It should also be axiomatic that an entity should not be able to claim that it is impracticable to negotiate if, as here, there is no sincere intent to negotiate....").

determined that it is sufficient for a chapter 9 debtor to demonstrate the existence of one of the four alternatives included in that section. In re Valley Health Sys., 383 B.R. 156, 162, 163 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2008) (noting that "§ 109(c)(5) is written in the disjunctive" and, as such, must be construed "as setting out separate and distinct alternatives;" holding that "[t]here is nothing in the language of § 109(c)(5)(C) that requires a debtor to either engage in good faith pre-petition negotiations with its creditors to an impasse or to satisfy a numerosity requirement before determining that negotiation is impracticable under the specific facts and circumstances of a case.").

Finally, the argument that the City "manufactured" impracticability through the imposition of artificial time constraints is just false.⁴⁵ If anything, the fact that the City could not delay filing its Petition in light of its financial and operational crises – and thus extend its opportunity for negotiation – supports the City's impracticability arguments. See Valley Health Sys., 383 B.R. at 163 ("Negotiations may also be impracticable when a municipality must act to preserve its assets and a delay in filing to negotiate with creditors risks a significant loss of those assets."). That the City's cash was rapidly dwindling and public health and safety would have been threatened by any further delay in the filing of the Petition (Eligibility Memorandum, at pp. 52-53), (A) mandated a shorter time frame for determining if good faith negotiations with creditors could generate an agreement capable of implementation outside chapter 9 and (B) is a separate ground showing satisfaction of section 109(c)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code. They are not reasons for reading that section out of the Bankruptcy Code.

For all of the foregoing reasons (and those set forth in the Eligibility Memorandum), the City has satisfied the requirements of section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code.

IX. THE CITY'S GOOD FAITH NEGOTIATIONS WITH ITS CREDITORS SATISFY SECTION 109(c)(5) OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE

Numerous objections assert that the City failed to negotiate in good faith with its creditors within the meaning of section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code.⁴⁶ The Objections generally sound a common theme: that the City's restructuring proposals were presented to creditor constituencies at non-interactive

⁴⁶ E.g., AFSCME Objection, at ¶¶ 101-114; UAW Objection, at ¶¶ 44-46; Joinder of Local 324, International Union of Operating Engineers as Interested Party to Objections to Detroit's Eligibility for Relief Under Sections 109(c) and 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code (Docket No. 484) (stating, without reference to or inclusion of supporting affidavits, that "the City consistently and continuously refused to engage in any bargaining with representatives of Local 324, and presented its proposals only on a 'take it or leave it' basis.").

meetings on a "take it or leave it" basis that precluded any prospect of actual "negotiation."⁴⁷ The Objections' characterization of the discussions initiated by the City and the multiple meetings that the City conducted with its creditors is false and misleading. The City did not present its restructuring proposal as an immutable, "take it or leave it" proposition with respect to which the City had no intention of honestly engaging its creditors. Rather, the evidence demonstrates that the City (A) actively sought continuing dialogue with, and counter-proposals from, its counterparties but (B) received no concrete proposal or comprehensive feedback from any Objector prior to the commencement of this case.⁴⁸

⁴⁷ See id.

⁴⁸ Also false and misleading is the attempt by certain Objectors to characterize statements made by the Emergency Manager in connection with the issuance of his "Financial and Operating Plan," dated May 12, 2013, as having been made within the context of negotiations with creditors over the restructuring of their claims. See, e.g., AFSCME Objection, at p.2 (quoting the Emergency Manager as having stated, on May 12, 2013, that "The public can comment [on the City's proposed financial restructuring plan], but it is under the statute, it is my plan and it's within my discretion and obligation to do it. This isn't a plebiscite, we are not, like, negotiating the terms of the plan. It's what I'm obligated to do.") (bracketed text in original; emphasis removed from original). As the Objectors know, the "proposed financial restructuring plan" addressed by the foregoing quote is not the June 14 Creditor Proposal (i.e., the starting point for creditor negotiations), but a discrete "Financial and Operating Plan" issued a month earlier (which plan did not address the specific treatment of creditors' claims against the City). As the Objectors also know, the "statute" referenced in the foregoing quote is not section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code, but section 11 of PA 436. See MCL § 141.1551(2) (requiring an emergency manager to submit a financial and operating plan 45 days after appointment). Put

As set forth at pages 55-59 of the Eligibility Memorandum, in addition to the June 14 Creditor Meeting (at which the City initially presented its restructuring proposal to all creditors in attendance and answered every question asked), the City held numerous additional meetings with creditors in the weeks prior to the Petition Date. At these meetings (including the City's meetings with its unions and four retiree associations), the City repeatedly stated that it welcomed its creditors' feedback with respect to its proposed restructuring and invited counter-proposals from all parties. E.g., Letter from Brian Easley to James Williams, President, AFSCME, dated June 27, 2013) (the "June 27 Easley Letter") (noting the City's appreciation of questions and input received from AFSCME at the June 20 Union/Retiree Meeting; offering access to City data room; requesting feedback and additional ideas with respect to the City's restructuring proposal), attached hereto as Exhibit D.⁴⁹ The City urged that any feedback and/or counter-proposals be simply, the foregoing quote is completely unrelated to the City's negotiations with creditors over the treatment of their claims. The Objectors' flagrant misuse of the Emergency Manager's words out of context speaks volumes about the sincerity of their protests that the City refused to negotiate in good faith.

⁴⁹ The complaint that the City refrained from characterizing its discussions with its unions as "negotiations" is a red herring. The City has generally avoided characterizing its meetings and discussions with its unions as formal "bargaining negotiations" to avoid any argument that it has triggered obligations to collectively bargain under Michigan law that are currently consistent with the City's financial condition but otherwise placed no restrictions on the form or substance of any counter-proposal. See, e.g., id. (requesting "additional ideas about restructuring retiree benefits in a manner consistent with the City's financial limitations"; offering access to the Data Room and assistance acquiring any additional information); Letter from Evan Miller to Dennis McNamara, President Detroit Fire Fighters Association, et al., dated July 17, 2013 ("We are interested in hearing any pension benefit redesign thinking and proposals that come from key union leadership, including ideas to avoid a freeze."), attached hereto as Exhibit E.

Accordingly, comparisons between the City's good faith negotiation efforts and the facts of In re Ellicott School Building Authority, 150 B.R. 261 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1992), are inapposite. The Ellicott court held that, in addition to its failure to satisfy sections 109(c)(1), 109(c)(2), 109(c)(3) and 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code, the putative debtor failed to satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy suspended by PA 436. See MCL § 141.1567(3) ("A local government placed in receivership under this act is not subject to section 15(1) of 1947 PA 336, MCL 423.215, for a period of 5 years from the date the local government is placed in receivership or until the time the receivership is terminated, whichever occurs first."). The City's reticence to jeopardize its legal rights under PA 436, however, does not alter the fundamental character of the meetings conducted by the City (as described herein), nor the fact that its requests for feedback and counter-proposals were unanswered.

Code where (A) its efforts at prepetition negotiation were limited to three public meetings and (B) the debtor conceded that it had presented its proposed plan of restructuring as non-negotiable. Ellicott, 150 B.R. at 266. In this case, however, (A) in addition to the public June 14 Creditor Meeting (i.e., the analogue to the three public meetings held by the Ellicott debtor), the City held numerous, non-public meetings with representatives of creditors, and (B) the City never presented its restructuring proposal as "non-negotiable." Indeed, the City solicited responses and counter-proposals from other parties.

Moreover, it is especially significant that no Objector transmitted a written counter-proposal on any aspect of the City's restructuring proposal. Some of the City's invitations for further dialogue were essentially rebuffed (and in a manner that seemed designed to support a future objection to eligibility rather than actually engage in discussions with the City). See Letter from Steven Kreisberg, Director of Collective Bargaining and Health Care Policy, AFSCME, to Brian Easley, dated July 2, 2013 (meeting the City's request for feedback with respect to its restructuring proposal with a request for further meetings and statements that the City "has not provided AFSCME with a meaningful opportunity to engage in a good faith negotiation of these issues"), attached hereto as Exhibit F.

Of course, good faith negotiation is a two-way street. All of the City's creditors – including each of the Objectors – had more than a month to provide the City with counter-proposals to, or other ideas concerning, the restructuring plan set out and supported in the June 14 Creditor Proposal. All of those entities had multiple opportunities to meet with the City's representatives to discuss the restructuring proposal and access to the information necessary to formulate an informed response. That none of the Objectors chose to respond to any aspect of the June 14 Creditor Proposal does not render the City's efforts to engage and negotiate with its creditors as having been undertaken in anything other than good faith.

Finally, the Court should reject the argument that the City is unable to satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code unless it can demonstrate that the terms of its restructuring proposal constitute a confirmable plan of adjustment under section 943(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. No Objector cites to any authority that supports this proposition in any way.⁵⁰ Consistent with Section VI of the

⁵⁰ AFSCME's citation to In re Sullivan County Regional Refuse Disposal District, 165 B.R. 60 (Bankr. D.N.H. 1994), and In re Cottonwood Water & Sanitation District, 138 B.R. 973 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1992), in support of this argument is misleading. Neither of those cases addresses the confirmability of the debtors' proposed restructuring plan within the context of section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code at all. Rather, each case requires only that negotiations be based on "some sort of comprehensive plan." Sullivan Cnty., 165 B.R. at 78 (noting that the debtor need not even propose a "formal plan," but finding that debtor's failure to propose any plan could not satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code); Cottonwood, 138 B.R. at 978 (addressing the requirements of section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code with no reference to whether a proposed plan must satisfy

Eligibility Scheduling Order, the eligibility requirements of section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code simply do not oblige the City to demonstrate that the as-yet-undetermined terms of whatever plan of adjustment it may ultimately propose will be confirmable.

For the reasons set forth above and in the Eligibility Memorandum, the City has satisfied the requirements of section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code.

X. THE CITY IS INSOLVENT

The Eligibility Memorandum demonstrates that, unfortunately, the City meets all of the disjunctive tests for municipal insolvency contained in section 101(32)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code. Specifically, the City demonstrated that: (A) it was not paying its debts as they came due; (B) it was "cash insolvent," "budget insolvent" and "service delivery insolvent;" (C) applicable law does not require it to exhaust all possible opportunities for revenue generation or adopt every conceivable cost-cutting measure prior to seeking relief under chapter 9; (D) it has experienced and, absent restructuring, will continue to experience negative cash flows for years; (E) its revenues cannot be meaningfully increased; and (F) its expenditures cannot be further reduced. Eligibility Memorandum, confirmation standards). In re Sanitary & Improvement District, Number 7, 98 B.R. 970 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1989), cited by multiple Objectors on this point, does not address the standards governing eligibility at all.

at pp. 12-35. All of the foregoing is supported by evidence, including the extensive data contained in or accompanying the Orr Declaration and Malhotra Declaration.

No Objector challenges any of this with evidence. Indeed, the Objections offer little more than innuendo and supposition.⁵¹

For example, multiple Objectors accuse the City of having "deliberately budgeted and spent itself into insolvency (so as to qualify under § 101(32)(C)(ii)), when other realistic avenues and scenarios were possible." AFSCME Objection, at ¶ 137; RDPMA Objection, at p. 22. Of course, no Objection offers any ⁵¹ The City notes that, despite a wealth of financial information having been available to all interested parties for months (e.g., the City's cash flow projections and other financial data were set forth in the June 14 Creditor Proposal and contained in the Data Room (which was accessible to and accessed by many of the Objectors, including AFSCME and the Retirement Systems), none of the Objectors cite any facts already known to support their Objections to insolvency. Although the City is aware that, pursuant to Section VII of the Eligibility Scheduling Order, the Court has permitted discovery with respect to the matter of the City's insolvency, the filing of placeholder objections to insolvency is inconsistent with the direction provided by the Court during a colloquy with the City's counsel at a hearing on August 2, 2013. See Transcript of Hearing, dated August 2, 2013, at pp. 26-27 ("Mr. Bennett: We fully understand that facts currently unknown could conceivably surface later, and we would certainly not object if a fact unknown today found its way into a subsequent brief, but we think the August 19th deadline should require and call for an objection – all grounds stated and facts then known to support the objection.... The Court: I agree, counsel. There certainly are circumstances in which the law permits amendments to pleadings. They are limited. They apply here, but as a general matter, the Court wants to set a firm deadline for the filing of objections to eligibility.").

examples of "realistic avenues and scenarios" that might have allowed the City to have avoided insolvency. The AFSCME Objection essentially recommends a more aggressive approach to the collection of unspecified accounts receivable, and the RDPMA Objection does no more than cite to examples of revenue generation applicable in an entirely different case. There is no suggestion how these "realistic avenues and scenarios" might eliminate the negative cash flows identified in the Orr and Malhotra Declarations.

Moreover, none of the Objections contests the City's financial data beyond the citation of press reports and references to old financial data irrelevant to the determination of insolvency as of the Petition Date. Thus, the data presented by the City demonstrating its insolvency within the meaning of section 109(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code stands unrebutted by any evidence.

All Objections to the City's eligibility based on speculation that the City may be solvent should be overruled.

XI. THE CITY DESIRES TO EFFECT A PLAN TO ADJUST ITS DEBTS

At Section VI of the Eligibility Scheduling Order, this Court determined that, despite the "extraordinary importance of the pension rights of the City's employees and retirees in this case and of how the City will ultimately propose to treat those rights," (A) section 109(c)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code does not "obligate the City to prove that any particular plan that it might later propose is confirmable" and

(B) "the Court will not consider the issue of the treatment of pension rights" when considering objections to eligibility based on the City's alleged failure to satisfy section 109(c)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code. Eligibility Scheduling Order, at § VI.

Only two objections – the UAW Objection and the RDPMA Objection – argue that the City does not satisfy section 109(c)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code.⁵² Each of these Objections, however, is based on the contention that the City will not be able to confirm a plan that impairs vested pension benefits. Thus, in light of Section VI of the Eligibility Scheduling Order, no Objection challenges the City's eligibility to be a debtor under section 109(c)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code on grounds that the Court will consider, and the Court should find that eligibility requirement satisfied for the reasons set forth in the Eligibility Memorandum.

XII. THE CITY FILED ITS PETITION IN GOOD FAITH

Certain Objectors have challenged the City's Petition on the grounds that it was not filed in "good faith" within the meaning of section 921(c) of the ⁵² Three other Objectors – (a) Local 324, International Union of Operating Engineers (Docket No. 484); (b) Local 517M, Service Employees International Union (Docket No. 486); and (c) Robbie Flowers, Michael Wells, Janet Whitson, Mary Washington and Bruce Goldman (Docket No. 504) – filed joinders in the UAW Objection, but their Objections do not contain any additional facts related to section 109(c)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Bankruptcy Code.⁵³ These challenges generally rely on the following arguments:

(A) the filing of the Petition in advance of a hearing in Michigan state court requesting a temporary restraining order is evidence of the City's hasty decision to file the Petition and, thus, of its bad faith (AFSCME Objection, at ¶ 130; RDPMA Objection, at p.13); and (B) the City never investigated alternatives that might have avoided the need to file the Petition (AFSCME Objection, at ¶ 131; RDPMA Objection, at p.13). Even if taken at face value (which they should not be), neither of these arguments demonstrate any lack of good faith on the part of the City in filing the Petition.

⁵³ The brief attached to the Public Safety Unions Objection (the "Public Safety Unions Brief") states that "[t]his Objection focuses on the requirements of § 109(c)(2) and (5) and the good faith requirement of Section 921(c)." Public Safety Unions Brief, at p. 2. However, at no point in the Public Safety Unions Objection or the Public Safety Unions Brief is any standard for "good faith" identified or applied to the City's conduct or Petition. Rather, the Public Safety Unions Objection appears to regard an analysis of "good faith" within the meaning of section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code as co-extensive with the determination of whether the City has satisfied the eligibility requirements set forth in section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code. The Retirement Systems Objection also incorrectly equates these differing standards. See Retirement Systems Objection, at p.16, n.10 ("While the arguments in this Objection focus on the City's inability to satisfy the eligibility requirements under sections 109(c)(2) and (5) of the Bankruptcy Code, the same arguments support a dismissal of the City's petition for lack of good faith."). Because the Public Safety Unions Objection and the Retirement Systems Objection rely on the City's alleged failure to satisfy such requirements as evidence of the City's lack of good faith in filing the Petition, those Objections should be overruled.

The purpose of the "good faith" requirement set forth in section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code is to ensure that debtors are seeking relief under chapter 9 for purposes consistent with the Bankruptcy Code. Stockton, 493 B.R. at 794 (observing that the good faith requirement "serves a policy objective of assuring that the chapter 9 process is being used in a manner consistent with the reorganization purposes of the Bankruptcy Code."); In re Cnty. of Orange, 183 B.R. 594, 608 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1995) ("[T]he purpose of the filing must be to achieve objectives within the legitimate scope of the bankruptcy laws."); Sullivan Cnty., 165 B.R. at 80 (looking to chapter 11 case law for guidance and stating that "[t]he primary function of the good faith requirement has always been to ensure the integrity of the reorganization process by limiting access to its protection to those situations for which it was intended."); Vills. at Castle Rock, 145 B.R. at 81 (good faith "prevents abuse of the bankruptcy process by debtors whose overriding motive is to delay creditors without benefitting them in any way or to achieve reprehensible purposes").

A municipality's good faith "is assessed on a case-by-case basis in light of all the facts, which must be balanced against the broad remedial purpose of chapter 9." Stockton, 493 B.R. at 794. "Relevant considerations in the comprehensive analysis for § 921 good faith include whether the City's financial problems are of a nature contemplated by chapter 9, whether the reasons for filing are consistent with chapter 9, the extent of the City's prepetition efforts to address the issues, the extent that alternatives to chapter 9 were considered, and whether the City's residents would be prejudiced by denying chapter 9 relief." Id.;⁵⁴ see also Cnty. of Orange, 183 B.R. at 608 (applying chapter 11 case law and finding the debtor's financial condition and motives, local financial realities and whether the debtor was seeking to "unreasonably deter and harass its creditors or attempting to effect a speedy, efficient reorganization on a feasible basis" as relevant factors).

In light of the foregoing, the City's good faith in filing the Petition is manifest. The City's reasons for filing – to adjust its debts and resolve its liquidity crises – are perfectly congruent with the rehabilitative purposes of chapter 9.⁵⁵ The Objectors' suggestion that the City's Petition was prompted not by its financial collapse, but rather by the hurried and urgent need to evade an adverse ruling from a Michigan state court is wrong as a matter of fact. As the Objectors are aware, the Emergency Manager had always indicated that the commencement of a chapter 9

⁵⁴ Both the AFSCME Objection (at ¶ 128) and the RDPMA Objection (at p.12) cite the factors set forth by the Stockton court as the relevant considerations under the "good faith" analysis.

case was an option for the City if its negotiations with creditors regarding an out-of-court restructuring proved impracticable or fruitless. Once the City determined that it was impracticable for the City to negotiate with all of its creditors and achieve a settlement that could be implemented outside of chapter 9 and that some creditors were unwilling to either accept the necessary adjustments to the City's debts or to engage the City at all, a chapter 9 filing became the City's only feasible option. Moreover, the process for authorizing the City's chapter 9 filing had been set in motion in advance of the state court hearing that ostensibly prompted the City's actions. The Emergency Manager sent his written recommendation that the City be authorized to file for chapter 9 relief to the Governor and the Treasurer on July 16, 2013 – two days in advance of the emergency, ex parte hearing before the Michigan state court.⁵⁶

Finally, even if the state court hearing were a factor in the timing of the City's Petition, that fact would not render the filing as having been made in bad faith. In re McCurtain Municipal Authority, No. 07-80363, 2007 WL 4287604 (Bankr. E.D. Okla. Dec. 4, 2007), is instructive on this point. In McCurtain, a creditor sought the dismissal of the debtor's petition under section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code on the grounds that "the Debtor demonstrated a lack of good faith because its purpose in filing for bankruptcy relief was to avoid the appointment of a receiver." McCurtain, 2007 WL 4287604, at *5. An application for the appointment of a receiver for the debtor had been filed the day before a previously-noticed meeting at which the debtor's board of trustees voted to retain a bankruptcy attorney. Id. The McCurtain court determined that "[w]hile the appointment of a receiver certainly was a concern to the Debtor, it was not the only reason for filing bankruptcy," citing testimony from the chairman of the debtor's board of trustees that the motivation for the filing of the debtor's petition was its economic circumstances (specifically, its inability to pay a large judgment). Id.

The reasoning of the McCurtain court translates to the City's circumstances. Even if the state court hearing were a factor in the timing of the City's decision to file its Petition, it could scarcely be considered either (A) the city's primary motivation for commencing this case in light of the City's well-established financial crisis or (B) evidence of any bad faith on the part of the City.

The Objectors' remaining argument – that the City did not adequately explore alternatives to bankruptcy prior to the filing of the Petition – is easily dispatched. The Orr Declaration is filled with examples of actions taken by the City to stave off insolvency and avoid the need for bankruptcy protection. See Orr Declaration, at ¶¶ 58-73 (describing various measures taken by the City over the past 16 months to address its financial challenges and avoid bankruptcy, including, but not limited to: the execution of a consent agreement with the State of Michigan and creation of a financial advisory board; employee headcount reductions; reduction of labor costs through the implementation of CETs; the increase of corporate tax rates; and the implementation of tax collection initiatives). The Objections, on the other hand, fail to identify even one unexplored alternative that might demonstrate a lack of good faith on the part of the City.

Finally, there can be no question that the residents of the City would be prejudiced by the dismissal of the Petition. As set forth in the Orr Declaration and the Eligibility Memorandum, the City's ability to provide even the most basic municipal services to its citizens has been crippled by its dire financial circumstances. See Orr Declaration, at ¶¶ 31-44 (describing how acute underfunding of the City's core services has contributed to a violent crime rate that is the highest of any large U.S. city and five times the national average, compromised EMS and fire-fighting capabilities, resulted in a lack of adequate lighting and prevented the city from adequately addressing blight); Eligibility Memorandum, at pp. 2-3, 23-26 (describing how massive debt and other legacy liabilities have prevented the City from adequately addressing shortfalls in its provision of basic services for years, and establishing that the City is "service delivery insolvent").

This chapter 9 case is the City's sole remaining option to address its financial condition and enhance its ability to provide its citizens with core municipal services. As COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY states:

For the financially distressed municipality, chapter 9 may be the only forum for protecting the long-term interests of the municipality and its residents.... A finding that a municipality did not file its chapter 9 petition in good faith will result in the municipality's not being able to impair its contractual obligations, and may result in considerable prejudice to the residents of the municipality. Accordingly, a finding that a municipality did not file in good faith should be reserved for those situations in which the evidence is compelling.

6 COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 921.04[2] (Alan N. Resnick & Henry J. Sommer eds. 16th ed. 2013). Here, the evidence that the City filed the Petition in anything other than good faith is not only not compelling, it is non-existent. The arguments that the City did not file its Petition in good faith should be rejected.

XIII. NOTICE OF THE DEADLINE FOR OBJECTIONS TO ELIGIBILITY WAS PROPER AND SUFFICIENT

Numerous Objections argue that the notice of the deadline for objections to the Petition and the Statement of Qualifications (the "Eligibility Objection Deadline") – i.e., August 19, 2013 – was inadequate. See, e.g., Objection (Docket No. 384) filed by Krystal Crittendon, at ¶ 8 ("This Notice provides inadequate notice and opportunity to be heard by the date of August 19, 2013 when objections may be filed, as the Notice was received less than two (2) weeks before the date by which Objections must be filed.").

All Objections related to the alleged inadequacy of notice of these proceedings should be overruled. A motion setting forth a preliminary timeline for eligibility issues – which schedule proposed a deadline for objections to eligibility that was consistent with the Eligibility Objection Deadline ultimately adopted by the Court – was filed by the City on the day after the Petition Date, and all interested parties had ample opportunity to object. See Motion of Debtor for Entry of an Order (A) Directing and Approving Form of Notice of Commencement of Case and Manner of Service and Publication of Notice and (B) Establishing a Deadline for Objections to Eligibility and a Schedule for Their Consideration (Docket No. 18). The order granting that motion (Docket No. 296) (the "Case Commencement Order") established the form of the notice of commencement of this chapter 9 case, which notice (A) conspicuously identified the Eligibility Objection Deadline and (B) was served on all interested parties within three business days of its entry. Certificate of Service re: Documents Served on August 6, 2013 (Docket No. 325).

The adequacy of notice of the Eligibility Objection Deadline is further demonstrated by the number and substance of the Objections received. Over 100 parties filed Objections to the Petition and Statement of Qualifications, many of which are elaborately argued (as indicated above). Accordingly, all interested parties were provided sufficient notice of the Eligibility Objection Deadline, and Objections to any alleged inadequacy of notice should be overruled.

XIV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court should promptly enter an Order for Relief in this case.

TERM	DESCRIPTION	CITY'S RESPONSE
ARGUMENTS THAT CHAPTER 9 VIOLATES THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION
Federal Structure Violation	Chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code is an unconstitutional violation of federalism because chapter 9 allows Congress to set rules controlling state fiscal self-management, which is an area of exclusive state sovereignty. The Supreme Court's justifications for upholding a municipal bankruptcy statute in United States v. Bekins, 304 U.S. 27 (1938), are no longer valid because: (i) a federal municipal bankruptcy statute is no longer necessary to accomplish an adjustment of municipal debts, where states are permitted to pass their own municipal debt adjustment legislation; and (ii) the Supreme Court's development of constitutional federalism doctrine has effectively overruled Bekins. Chapter 9 eviscerates the accountability of Michigan to its citizens and creditors. Chapter 9's requirement of state consent cannot cure its violation of individual constitutional rights under the Tenth Amendment.	The Supreme Court's decision in Bekins — to uphold the constitutionality of a municipal bankruptcy statute that (i) provided for states to retain control of their fiscal affairs and (ii) constrained the bankruptcy power to cases authorized by state law — remains binding precedent. The Objecting Parties do not point to any change in statutory text that would warrant a different outcome than Bekins, and binding Supreme Court precedent cannot be overruled by mere implication. See Reply, at § III.A. Subsequent legal developments have not undermined the Bekins decision, the soundness of its reasoning or the constitutionality of chapter 9. States are not at liberty under the Contracts Clause of the United States Constitution to impair their own contracts. States must seek the aid of federal bankruptcy courts to impair contracts by authorizing chapter 9. In making the decision to do so, states exercise their sovereignty rather than relinquish it. Once a state authorizes a municipality to proceed under chapter 9, the bankruptcy court's powers are designed to preserve the state-federal relationship and prohibit intrusion on the state's core functions. See Reply, at § III.B. Chapter 9 relies on state law for determining which municipalities are authorized to seek bankruptcy protection. Although this rule may result in differences in and among states, the rule itself is "uniform throughout the United States," such that chapter 9 does not violate the uniformity requirement of Article I, § 8, clause 4 of the United States Constitution. See Reply, at § III.B.

Lack of Jurisdiction: Stern	The Bankruptcy Court lacks jurisdiction to decide whether chapter 9 violates the United States Constitution as a result of Stern v. Marshall .	The Court has the authority and jurisdiction to determine whether the City is eligible to be a debtor under chapter 9. As the Supreme Court made clear in Stern, non-Article III courts, such as bankruptcy courts, have traditionally been permitted to enter judgment in cases involving "public rights." Included within the category of "public rights" are cases that "can be pursued only by grace of the other branches" of the federal government. Here, the City's ability to adjust its debts in a federal bankruptcy case is only possible because Congress enacted the Bankruptcy Code and, thus, this case involves "public rights." As such, Stern poses no obstacle to bankruptcy court resolution of the City's eligibility to access chapter 9. See Reply, at § II. The argument that the Court is powerless to rule on certain objections to the City's eligibility that involve federal or state constitutional questions would constitute a radical expansion of Stern that is unsupported by that case or any subsequent authority. Under Stern, while state law actions independent of the federal bankruptcy law cannot be decided by the bankruptcy courts, federal claims stemming from the bankruptcy itself can be. Here, there are no state or federal constitutional claims before the Court; what is before the Court is a determination regarding the eligibility of the City of Detroit to be a chapter 9 debtor – a question that unquestionably "stems from the bankruptcy itself." Thus, Stern simply is not implicated by the Objectors' constitutional arguments against eligibility. See Reply, at § II.

THE CITY HAS NOT SATISFIED 11 U.S.C. § 109(C)(2)
Governor's Authorization Invalid	The Governor's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing violated Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution, which provides that the "accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby." This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The authorization violated the Michigan Constitution by failing to condition the City's chapter 9 petition on the complete preservation of vested pension rights; • The Governor is required to uphold the Michigan Constitution and cannot abrogate provisions of the Michigan Constitution directly or indirectly; • The Governor's unconditional authorization of the City's bankruptcy was ultra vires and void ab initio; and • The power of the Bankruptcy Court to entertain a municipal bankruptcy is constrained by the dual sovereignty principles embodied in the Tenth Amendment and, as such, chapter 9 petitions should be scrutinized. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Chapter 9 requires strict adherence to principles of state sovereignty such that the Court must (a) find that the filing of the petition was authorized by, and consistent with, the Michigan Constitution and applicable state law; and (b) find that the debtor's plan of adjustment is consistent with state law; ○ Section 903 of the Bankruptcy Code makes clear that nothing in chapter 9 should be construed to limit a state's power to control its municipalities. 	The State's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing did not violate the Pensions Clause because it did not "diminish[] or impair[]" any pension. The only way pensions can be impaired is by an order of the Court at some future date. For the same reason, the enactment of PA 436 did not violate the Pensions Clause. See Reply, at § V.A. The function of the Pensions Clause is to extend the protection of the federal Contracts Clause to cover public pensions by treating them as contractual obligations, where they had previously been treated as "gratuitous allowances" that could be revoked at will by the authority. While the Contracts Clause prohibits states from impairing contracts, it does not pose any obstacle to chapter 9, as made clear by Bekins: a state does not impair contracts merely by authorizing a municipality to file for bankruptcy, and any impairment of contracts that occurs in chapter 9 is imposed by the federal bankruptcy court, not the state. See Reply, at § V.B. When the Pensions Clause was ratified in 1963, (i) the framework of chapter 9, including the role of states in authorizing municipal bankruptcy, was well established and (ii) Michigan law specifically authorized instrumentalities of the State to commence cases under the Bankruptcy Act of 1898. Nevertheless, the Pensions Clause includes no restrictions on the authorization or filing of municipal bankruptcy cases. Moreover, no court has ever held that a state's constitutional protection of pensions poses any obstacle to a municipality's eligibility to be a chapter 9 debtor. See Reply, at § V.B. The Pensions Clause does not require chapter 9 authorization to be conditioned on the non-impairment of pensions. If the State has specifically authorized the City to be a debtor under chapter 9, it is irrelevant for eligibility whether the State also has purported to impose further conditions, and the Pensions Clause says nothing about conditions that must be imposed on the authorization of chapter 9. See Reply, at § V.C.

TERM	DESCRIPTION	CITY'S RESPONSE
Emergency Manager's Commencement Invalid	The Emergency Manager's commencement of the City's chapter 9 case was invalid / violated Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution because: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Governor's authorization was invalid, for the reasons discussed above; • The Emergency Manager is required to uphold the Michigan Constitution, but has stated that he intends to modify pension benefits, notwithstanding Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution; and/or • The Emergency Manager's authorization of the City's bankruptcy without imposing conditions prohibiting the diminishment or impairment of accrued pension benefits violated the Municipal Code of the City of Detroit. 	As discussed above, the State's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing was valid; as such, the Emergency Manager's commencement of the City's chapter 9 case also was valid. See Reply, at § V. Consistent with its findings at Section VI of the Eligibility Scheduling Order, the Court should reject the request that any Order for Relief require that all actions taken by the Emergency Manager, including the eventual proposal of a plan of adjustment, comply with the State Constitution. Such requests are unrelated to eligibility and unwarranted at this stage. See Reply, at § V.C. Detroit's Charter recognizes that its provisions are subject to the limitations imposed by statute. Even if there were a conflict between PA 436 and Detroit's Charter, PA 436 would prevail because, where a city charter provision conflicts with general statutory law, the statute controls. PA 436, including its authorization to file for chapter 9, is a general state law. As the Michigan legislature's findings with respect to the impact of local financial emergencies on the rest of the State make clear, how financially distressed local governments overcome their situation is not a matter of "purely local" character or concern. See Reply, at § VII.A.

TERM	DESCRIPTION	CITY'S RESPONSE
Michigan Law Not Preempted	Explicit and implicit arguments that the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution and concepts of preemption do not apply because Congress gave the states the authority to regulate their municipalities' access to chapter 9, such that compliance with the Michigan Constitution and other Michigan law is required. This include arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Section 109(c)(2) expressly reserves the question of eligibility to state law, and where the Bankruptcy Code reserves authority to the states, the Supremacy Clause and preemption do not apply; • Even if the City is eligible to proceed under chapter 9 pursuant to PA 436, the City remains subject to applicable state laws and the Michigan Constitution, in particular its prohibition on the impairment of accrued pension benefits; • The continued application of state constitutional law during a chapter 9 case is consistent with state sovereignty principles; • Pensioners have a contractual right to their pensions; • Pensions should not be considered a debt; • Pension benefits should not be modified; • Michigan's constitutional protection of pensions is broader than that afforded to ordinary contracts; and • The Bankruptcy Code (sections 903 and 904) recognizes the state's constitutional limits on municipalities in chapter 9. 	Even if the Pensions Clause could be interpreted so broadly as to require that limits be placed on the authorization of a chapter 9 case in order to restrict a municipality's use of various provisions of the Bankruptcy Code once in chapter 9, any such limits would be both prohibited and preempted by federal law. Pursuant to the Bankruptcy Clause of the United States Constitution, Congress has enacted chapter 9 as a comprehensive scheme for municipal bankruptcy. Under the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution, this comprehensive federal scheme displaces any contrary state-law provisions that purport to alter or impair a debtor's powers under the Bankruptcy Code. Thus, while the State may act as a gatekeeper in determining whether to authorize a chapter 9 filing, State law cannot alter or override the federal scheme for determining the tools of debt adjustment that a municipal debtor may use once it is in bankruptcy. In light of the comprehensive scheme that Congress has enacted, "[i]ncorporating state substantive law into chapter 9 to amend, modify or negate substantive provisions of chapter 9 would violate Congress' ability to enact uniform bankruptcy laws." Thus, the Objectors' arguments that compliance with the Michigan Constitution and other Michigan law is required in chapter 9 fail. See Reply, at § V.C.

PA 436 Unconstitutional	PA 436 itself is unconstitutional. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If PA 436 permits the impairment of accrued pension benefits, PA 436 is unconstitutional and the Governor's authorization thereunder was, therefore, ultra vires and void ab initio; and • PA 436 violates the strong "home rule" provisions of the Michigan Constitution because it: (a) violates the right of Detroiters to select their own local officers and to structure their own government via the City Charter; (b) purports to delegate authority to the Emergency Manager in excess of that possessed by the legislature; and (c) unconstitutionally delegates legislative authority to the Emergency Manager because it lacks adequate standards to guide the Emergency Manager's actions in bankruptcy, which are not subject to judicial review. 	The State's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing did not violate the Pensions Clause because it did not "diminish[] or impair[]" any pension. The only way pensions can be impaired is by an order of the Court at some future date. For the same reason, the enactment of PA 436 did not violate the Pensions Clause. See Reply, at § V.A. PA 436 does not conflict with the home rule provisions of Michigan law because (i) Detroit's Charter recognizes that its provisions are subject to the limitations imposed by statute, and (ii) even if there were a conflict between PA 436 and Detroit's Charter, PA 436 would prevail because where a city charter provision conflicts with general statutory law, such as PA 436, the statute controls. Temporarily substituting the Emergency Manager for Detroit's elected officials also does not violate the home rule because the legislature has the authority to temporarily replace local officials when exercising its undisputed power to supervise and control matters of municipal regulation. See Reply, at § VII.A. The argument that because PA 436 grants the Emergency Manager the authority to adopt local ordinances, it unconstitutionally authorizes the Emergency Manger to enact local legislation that not even the state legislature could pass, fails. Filing a chapter 9 case is not passing legislation, and this argument has nothing to do with the City's eligibility. See Reply, at § VII.B. PA 436 does not violate Michigan's non-delegation doctrine. The anti-delegation principles that govern when the State legislature delegates its powers do not apply here because the Emergency Manager exercises the local government's authority. Moreover, PA 436 contains sufficient standards to guide the Emergency Manager in seeking bankruptcy protection to satisfy the requirement that "reasonably precise" standards be provided when the legislature delegates it powers. In addition, because the Court will review many actions of the Emergency Manager, he cannot escape judicial review. See Reply, at § VII.C.

THE CITY HAS NOT SATISFIED 11 U.S.C. § 109(C)(3)
Insolvency	The City has not satisfied section 109(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code because the City has not demonstrated that it is insolvent. The City could have taken steps that would have avoided insolvency. Most Objecting Parties either (a) reserved their right to argue Insolvency after discovery or (b) raised general questions about whether the City has satisfied section 109(c)(3).	The data presented by the City demonstrating its insolvency within the meaning of section 109(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code stands unrebutted by any evidence, and all Objections to the City's eligibility based on speculation that the City may be solvent should be overruled. The Objections offer little more than innuendo and bald supposition. For example, several Objectors accuse the City of having "deliberately budgeted and spent itself into insolvency," but offer no examples of how the City might have avoided insolvency. Moreover, none of the Objections contests the City's financial data beyond the citation of press reports and references to old financial data irrelevant to the determination of insolvency as of the Petition Date. See Reply, at § X.
THE CITY HAS NOT SATISFIED 11 U.S.C. § 109(C)(4)
Desires to Effect a Plan to Adjust Debts	The City has not satisfied section 109(c)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code — which requires the debtor to desire to effect a plan to adjust its debts — because the City has proposed a restructuring plan that cannot be confirmed under section 943(b)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code, which provides that a plan can be confirmed only if "the debtor is not prohibited by law from taking any action necessary to carry out the plan."	At Section VI of the Eligibility Scheduling Order, the Court determined that (i) section 109(c)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code does not "obligate the City to prove that any particular plan that it might later propose is confirmable" and (ii) "the Court will not consider the issue of the treatment of pension rights" when considering objections to eligibility based on the City's alleged failure to satisfy section 109(c)(4). The Objections that argue that the City does not satisfy section 109(c)(4) are based on the contention that the City will not be able to confirm a plan that impairs vested pension benefits. Thus, no Objection challenges the City's eligibility to be a debtor under section 109(c)(4) on grounds that the Court will consider, and the Court should find that eligibility requirement satisfied for the reasons set forth in the Eligibility Memorandum. See Reply, at § XI.

THE CITY HAS NOT SATISFIED 11 U.S.C. § 109(C)(5)
No Good Faith Negotiations	The City did not negotiate with creditors in good faith as required by section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code because the prepetition meetings were not truly negotiations involving collaboration and concessions from both sides, but rather discussions regarding the City's "take it or leave it" proposal.	The evidence demonstrates that the City actively sought continuing dialogue with, and counter-proposals from, the various parties to its multi-faceted negotiations, but received no concrete proposal or comprehensive feedback from any Objector prior to the commencement of the case. The Ellicott case relied upon by the Objectors is distinguishable, where the City held numerous non-public meetings with representatives of creditor constituencies and never presented its restructuring proposal as non-negotiable. It is also important to note that no Objectors transmitted a written counter-proposal on any aspect of the City's restructuring proposal, and, in certain circumstances, the City's invitations for further dialogue were rebuffed. See Reply, at § IX.

TERM	DESCRIPTION	CITY'S RESPONSE
Negotiations Not Impracticable	The City has not satisfied section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code because the City has not proven that it was unable to negotiate with creditors because such negotiation is impracticable. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The proper standard is whether there is a "natural representative capable of bargaining" on a creditor's behalf (not whether a party can bind creditors); that the City's retiree associations are such natural representatives; and that the City cannot argue that it would have caused extreme and unreasonable difficulty to engage in negotiations with such associations; • The City predetermined that negotiations would fail and should not be able to claim that negotiations were impracticable where it had no sincere intent to negotiate and the time for negotiations was limited; • The City has in the past negotiated for retiree health and pension benefits outside of a chapter 9 proceeding; and • The City created an impediment to negotiations based on the artificial time constraint created by the filing on July 18. 	The Objectors have not succeeded in undermining the City's showing that it has satisfied section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code. The Objections fail to rebut the City's showing that negotiations with its pension beneficiaries were impracticable. For example, even if the City's retiree associations are the "natural representatives of retirees" (which is incorrect), they cannot bind the City's 20,000 plus retirees, rendering the City's good faith attempt at such negotiations impracticable. The City could not have conducted practicable negotiations with its unions where only 8 unions (comprising 10 of the City's 47 bargaining units) agreed to represent their retirees in connection with the City's restructuring and many unions expressly declined to represent their retirees. Section 109(c)(5) is written in the disjunctive, such that section 109(c)(5)(C) (regarding impracticability) can be satisfied even if section 109(c)(5)(B) (regarding good faith negotiations) is not. Section 109(c)(5)(C) can be satisfied even if negotiations with certain creditors, such as retirees, are potentially practicable. The argument that the City manufactured impracticability through the imposition of artificial time constraints also fails. To the contrary, the fact that the City could not delay filing its petition in light of its financial and operational crises – and thus extend its opportunity for negotiation – supports the City's impracticability arguments. See Reply, at § VIII.

ARGUMENTS RELATING TO 11 U.S.C. § 921(C)
Filing Not in Good Faith	The City's petition should be dismissed pursuant to section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code because the City did not file the petition in good faith. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The City rushed to file its petition to avoid the impending temporary restraining orders that ultimately were entered in various prepetition lawsuits; • The prepetition actions of the Emergency Manager indicate that, at all times since his appointment, the City was planning on commencing a chapter 9 case; and • The filing was in bad faith for the same reasons that the City failed to satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) (failure to negotiate in good faith). 	The purpose of the "good faith" requirement set forth in section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code is to ensure that debtors are seeking relief under chapter 9 for purposes consistent with the Bankruptcy Code. The City's reasons for filing – to adjust its debts and resolve its perennial liquidity crises – are perfectly congruent with the rehabilitative purposes of chapter 9. Even if the state court hearing on the request for a temporary restraining order were a factor in the timing of the City's decision to file its Petition, it could scarcely be considered either the city's primary motivation for commencing its case in light of the City's well established financial crisis. The argument that the City did not adequately explore alternatives to bankruptcy prior to commencing its case also fails, where the Orr Declaration is replete with examples of actions taken by the City to stave off insolvency and avoid the need for bankruptcy protection. Lastly, there is no evidence – much less the compelling evidence that is required – that the City filed its petition in anything other than good faith, and the City's residents would be prejudiced by the dismissal of the petition. See Reply, at § XII.
ARGUMENTS RELATING TO 11 U.S.C. § 943
Best Interests of Creditors	The City's proposed restructuring plan could not be confirmed pursuant to the "best interests of creditors" test set forth at section 943(b)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code and, thus, the City has failed to satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B).	No Objector cites to any authority that supports this proposition in any way. Consistent with Section VI of the Eligibility Scheduling Order, the eligibility requirements of section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code simply do not oblige the City to demonstrate that the as-yet-undetermined terms of whatever plan of adjustment it may ultimately propose will be confirmable. See Reply, at § IX.

TERM	DESCRIPTION	CITY'S RESPONSE
Unconfirmable Plan	The City's proposed restructuring plan cannot be confirmed under section 943(b)(4) of the Bankruptcy Code — which provides that a plan can be confirmed only if "the debtor is not prohibited by law from taking any action necessary to carry out the plan" — such that the City has failed to satisfy either section 109(c)(2) or (c)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code.	Requests that the Court decide questions related to section 943 of the Bankruptcy Code months in advance of the filing of a plan of adjustment, are wholly unrelated to eligibility and unwarranted at this stage. See Reply , at § V.C.
OTHER ARGUMENTS
Collateral Estoppel	Collateral estoppel precludes the City from relitigating the issue of whether the City received valid authorization from the Governor to commence the chapter 9 case because that issue has already been litigated and a declaratory judgment rendered. This includes arguments that (a) the declaratory judgment entered in the state court Webster litigation is entitled to full faith and credit; (b) the preclusive effect of the declaratory judgment is governed by Michigan law; and (c) the elements for collateral estoppel under Michigan law are satisfied.	Collateral estoppel applies only to issues that have been "actually litigated and determined by a valid and final judgment." The Webster court exceeded its jurisdiction by entering its declaratory judgment after the commencement of the City's case because the Bankruptcy Court has original and exclusive jurisdiction over the case, including questions related to eligibility. As such, the declaratory judgment is void and not "valid" for purposes of collateral estoppel. In any event, the declaratory judgment in Webster is void ab initio and not "valid" for purposes of collateral estoppel because it was entered in violation of the automatic stay imposed by section 362 of the Bankruptcy Code. In addition, other elements of collateral estoppel are not satisfied. The City did not have a full and fair opportunity to litigate the issue where the declaratory judgment was issued on an expedited basis, and the City was not a party to the Webster lawsuit and was not otherwise in privity with the Webster defendants. See Reply, at § VI.

ARGUMENTS THAT CHAPTER 9 VIOLATES THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION
Due Process	The notice of the commencement of the City's bankruptcy case (the " Case Commencement Notice ") did not provide adequate notice or opportunity to be heard.	The Case Commencement Notice conspicuously identified the Eligibility Objection Deadline and, consistent with the Case Commencement Order, was served on all interested parties within three business days of its entry. The adequacy of notice of the Eligibility Objection Deadline is further demonstrated by the fact that over 100 parties filed Objections to the Petition and Statement of Qualifications, many of which are elaborately argued. See Reply, at § XIII.

THE CITY HAS NOT SATISFIED 11 U.S.C. § 109(C)(2)
Governor's Authorization Invalid	The Governor's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing violated Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution, which provides that the "accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby." This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The authorization violated the Michigan Constitution by failing to condition the City's chapter 9 petition on the complete preservation of vested pension rights; • The Governor is required to uphold the Michigan Constitution and cannot abrogate provisions of the Michigan Constitution directly or indirectly; • The Governor's unconditional authorization of the City's bankruptcy was ultra vires and void ab initio; and • The power of the Bankruptcy Court to entertain a municipal bankruptcy is constrained by the dual sovereignty principles embodied in the Tenth Amendment and, as such, chapter 9 petitions should be scrutinized. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Chapter 9 requires strict adherence to principles of state sovereignty such that the Court must (a) find that the filing of the petition was authorized by, and consistent with, the Michigan Constitution and applicable state law; and (b) find that the debtor's plan of adjustment is consistent with state law; ○ Section 903 of the Bankruptcy Code makes clear that nothing in chapter 9 should be construed to limit a state's power to control its municipalities. 	The State's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing did not violate the Pensions Clause because it did not "diminish[] or impair[]" any pension. The only way pensions can be impaired is by an order of the Court at some future date. For the same reason, the enactment of PA 436 did not violate the Pensions Clause. See Reply, at § V.A. The function of the Pensions Clause is to extend the protection of the federal Contracts Clause to cover public pensions by treating them as contractual obligations, where they had previously been treated as "gratuitous allowances" that could be revoked at will by the authority. While the Contracts Clause prohibits states from impairing contracts, it does not pose any obstacle to chapter 9, as made clear by Bekins: a state does not impair contracts merely by authorizing a municipality to file for bankruptcy, and any impairment of contracts that occurs in chapter 9 is imposed by the federal bankruptcy court, not the state. See Reply, at § V.B. When the Pensions Clause was ratified in 1963, (i) the framework of chapter 9, including the role of states in authorizing municipal bankruptcy, was well established and (ii) Michigan law specifically authorized instrumentalities of the State to commence cases under the Bankruptcy Act of 1898. Nevertheless, the Pensions Clause includes no restrictions on the authorization or filing of municipal bankruptcy cases. Moreover, no court has ever held that a state's constitutional protection of pensions poses any obstacle to a municipality's eligibility to be a chapter 9 debtor. See Reply, at § V.B. The Pensions Clause does not require chapter 9 authorization to be conditioned on the non-impairment of pensions. If the State has specifically authorized the City to be a debtor under chapter 9, it is irrelevant for eligibility whether the State also has purported to impose further conditions, and the Pensions Clause says nothing about conditions that must be imposed on the authorization of chapter 9. See Reply, at § V.C.

Emergency Manager's Commencement Invalid	The Emergency Manager's commencement of the City's chapter 9 case was invalid / violated Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution because: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Governor's authorization was invalid, for the reasons discussed above; • The Emergency Manager is required to uphold the Michigan Constitution, but has stated that he intends to modify pension benefits, notwithstanding Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution; and/or • The Emergency Manager's authorization of the City's bankruptcy without imposing conditions prohibiting the diminishment or impairment of accrued pension benefits violated the Municipal Code of the City of Detroit. 	As discussed above, the State's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing was valid; as such, the Emergency Manager's commencement of the City's chapter 9 case also was valid. See Reply, at § V. Consistent with its findings at Section VI of the Eligibility Scheduling Order, the Court should reject the request that any Order for Relief require that all actions taken by the Emergency Manager, including the eventual proposal of a plan of adjustment, comply with the State Constitution. Such requests are unrelated to eligibility and unwarranted at this stage. See Reply, at § V.C. Detroit's Charter recognizes that its provisions are subject to the limitations imposed by statute. Even if there were a conflict between PA 436 and Detroit's Charter, PA 436 would prevail because, where a city charter provision conflicts with general statutory law, the statute controls. PA 436, including its authorization to file for chapter 9, is a general state law. As the Michigan legislature's findings with respect to the impact of local financial emergencies on the rest of the State make clear, how financially distressed local governments overcome their situation is not a matter of "purely local" character or concern. See Reply, at § VII.A.

TERM	DESCRIPTION	CITY'S RESPONSE
Michigan Law Not Preempted	Explicit and implicit arguments that the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution and concepts of preemption do not apply because Congress gave the states the authority to regulate their municipalities' access to chapter 9, such that compliance with the Michigan Constitution and other Michigan law is required. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Section 109(c)(2) expressly reserves the question of eligibility to state law, and where the Bankruptcy Code reserves authority to the states, the Supremacy Clause and preemption do not apply; • Even if the City is eligible to proceed under chapter 9 pursuant to PA 436, the City remains subject to applicable state laws and the Michigan Constitution, in particular its prohibition on the impairment of accrued pension benefits; • The continued application of state constitutional law during a chapter 9 case is consistent with state sovereignty principles; • Pensioners have a contractual right to their pensions; • Pensions should not be considered a debt; • Pension benefits should not be modified; • Michigan's constitutional protection of pensions is broader than that afforded to ordinary contracts; and • The Bankruptcy Code (sections 903 and 904) recognizes the state's constitutional limits on municipalities in chapter 9. 	Even if the Pensions Clause could be interpreted so broadly as to require that limits be placed on the authorization of a chapter 9 case in order to restrict a municipality's use of various provisions of the Bankruptcy Code once in chapter 9, any such limits would be both prohibited and preempted by federal law. Pursuant to the Bankruptcy Clause of the United States Constitution, Congress has enacted chapter 9 as a comprehensive scheme for municipal bankruptcy. Under the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution, this comprehensive federal scheme displaces any contrary state-law provisions that purport to alter or impair a debtor's powers under the Bankruptcy Code. Thus, while the State may act as a gatekeeper in determining whether to authorize a chapter 9 filing, State law cannot alter or override the federal scheme for determining the tools of debt adjustment that a municipal debtor may use once it is in bankruptcy. In light of the comprehensive scheme that Congress has enacted, "[i]ncorporating state substantive law into chapter 9 to amend, modify or negate substantive provisions of chapter 9 would violate Congress' ability to enact uniform bankruptcy laws." Thus, the Objectors' arguments that compliance with the Michigan Constitution and other Michigan law is required in chapter 9 fail. See Reply, at § V.C.

TERM	DESCRIPTION	CITY'S RESPONSE
PA 436 Unconstitutional	PA 436 itself is unconstitutional. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If PA 436 permits the impairment of accrued pension benefits, PA 436 is unconstitutional and the Governor's authorization thereunder was, therefore, ultra vires and void ab initio; and • PA 436 violates the strong "home rule" provisions of the Michigan Constitution because it: (a) violates the right of Detroiters to select their own local officers and to structure their own government via the City Charter; (b) purports to delegate authority to the Emergency Manager in excess of that possessed by the Legislature; and (c) unconstitutionally delegates legislative authority to the Emergency Manager because it lacks adequate standards to guide the Emergency Manager's actions in bankruptcy, which are not subject to judicial review. 	The State's authorization of the City's chapter 9 filing did not violate the Pensions Clause because it did not "diminish[] or impair[]" any pension. The only way pensions can be impaired is by an order of the Court at some future date. For the same reason, the enactment of PA 436 did not violate the Pensions Clause. See Reply, at § V.A. PA 436 does not conflict with the home rule provisions of Michigan law because (i) Detroit's Charter recognizes that its provisions are subject to the limitations imposed by statute, and (ii) even if there were a conflict between PA 436 and Detroit's Charter, PA 436 would prevail because where a city charter provision conflicts with general statutory law, such as PA 436, the statute controls. Temporarily substituting the Emergency Manager for Detroit's elected officials also does not violate the home rule because the legislature has the authority to temporarily replace local officials when exercising its undisputed power to supervise and control matters of municipal regulation. See Reply, at § VII.A. The argument that because PA 436 grants the Emergency Manager the authority to adopt local ordinances, it unconstitutionally authorizes the Emergency Manger to enact local legislation that not even the state legislature could pass, fails. Filing a chapter 9 case is not passing legislation, and this argument has nothing to do with the City's eligibility. See Reply, at § VII.B. PA 436 does not violate Michigan's non-delegation doctrine. The anti-delegation principles that govern when the State legislature delegates its powers do not apply here because the Emergency Manager exercises the local government's authority. Moreover, PA 436 contains sufficient standards to guide the Emergency Manager in seeking bankruptcy protection to satisfy the requirement that "reasonably precise" standards be provided when the legislature delegates it powers. In addition, because the Court will review many actions of the Emergency Manager, he cannot escape judicial review. See Reply, at § VII.C.

THE CITY HAS NOT SATISFIED 11 U.S.C. § 109(C)(3)
Insolvency	The City has not satisfied section 109(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code because the City has not demonstrated that it is insolvent. The City could have taken steps that would have avoided insolvency. Most Objecting Parties either (a) reserved their right to argue Insolvency after discovery or (b) raised general questions about whether the City has satisfied section 109(c)(3).	The data presented by the City demonstrating its insolvency within the meaning of section 109(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code stands unrebutted by any evidence, and all Objections to the City's eligibility based on speculation that the City may be solvent should be overruled. The Objections offer little more than innuendo and bald supposition. For example, several Objectors accuse the City of having "deliberately budgeted and spent itself into insolvency," but offer no examples of how the City might have avoided insolvency. Moreover, none of the Objections contests the City's financial data beyond the citation of press reports and references to old financial data irrelevant to the determination of insolvency as of the Petition Date. See Reply, at § X.
THE CITY HAS NOT SATISFIED 11 U.S.C. § 109(C)(5)
No Good Faith Negotiations	The City did not negotiate with creditors in good faith as required by section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code because the prepetition meetings were not truly negotiations involving collaboration and concessions from both sides, but rather discussions regarding the City's "take it or leave it" proposal.	The evidence demonstrates that the City actively sought continuing dialogue with, and counter-proposals from, the various parties to its multi-faceted negotiations, but received no concrete proposal or comprehensive feedback from any Objector prior to the commencement of the case. The Ellicott case relied upon by the Objectors is distinguishable, where the City held numerous non-public meetings with representatives of creditor constituencies and never presented its restructuring proposal as non-negotiable. It is also important to note that no Objectors transmitted a written counter-proposal on any aspect of the City's restructuring proposal, and, in certain circumstances, the City's invitations for further dialogue were rebuffed. See Reply, at § IX.

ARGUMENTS RELATING TO 11 U.S.C. § 921(C)
Filing Not in Good Faith	The City's petition should be dismissed pursuant to section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code because the City did not file the petition in good faith. This includes arguments that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The City rushed to file its petition to avoid the impending temporary restraining orders that ultimately were entered in various prepetition lawsuits; • The prepetition actions of the Emergency Manager indicate that, at all times since his appointment, the City was planning on commencing a chapter 9 case; and • The filing was in bad faith for the same reasons that the City failed to satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) (failure to negotiate in good faith). 	The purpose of the "good faith" requirement set forth in section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code is to ensure that debtors are seeking relief under chapter 9 for purposes consistent with the Bankruptcy Code. The City's reasons for filing – to adjust its debts and resolve its perennial liquidity crises – are perfectly congruent with the rehabilitative purposes of chapter 9. Even if the state court hearing on the request for a temporary restraining order were a factor in the timing of the City's decision to file its Petition, it could scarcely be considered either the city's primary motivation for commencing its case in light of the City's well established financial crisis. The argument that the City did not adequately explore alternatives to bankruptcy prior to commencing its case also fails, where the Orr Declaration is replete with examples of actions taken by the City to stave off insolvency and avoid the need for bankruptcy protection. Lastly, there is no evidence – much less the compelling evidence that is required – that the City filed its petition in anything other than good faith, and the City's residents would be prejudiced by the dismissal of the petition. See Reply, at § XII.

Re: Letter from Brian West Easley Dated 5/20/13 Entitled "City of Detroit Restructuring"

Dear Mr. Easley:

This communication is sent in response to your letter concerning the above stated matter, in which you requested to meet concerning restructuring of Pension and Retiree Medical Benefit liabilities. Please be advised that in accordance with Michigan law, we have no authority in which to renegotiate the Pension or Medical Benefits that members of our Union currently receive. However, we are willing to meet with you per your request. Please propose several alternative dates in which you are available.

Further you should be aware that for the first time in history, over 30 Unions came together in negotiating concessions. The cost-savings and revenues within this proposed Coalition Contract reached hundreds of millions of dollars annually. The Contract also contained many restructuring ideas for the City to engage. Ernst & Young participated during every facet of the negotiations and approved the final deal on behalf of the State. The Unions then ratified the concessions. The Coalition and the City celebrated the Ratification.

Unfortunately, the City did not execute the Coalition Contract. The Mayor claimed the State ordered him not to do so. City Council was not permitted to vote to ratify the Contract. By doing this, the City lost tens of millions of dollars in actual savings that the City should have realized from these concessions. This has been acknowledged by the City's financial expert.

Indeed, the Milliman Company being used by the City now, acknowledged that the City could have saved well over 50 million dollars by the healthcare package called for in the Tentative Agreement. Given that the changes were not implemented as of July 1, 2012, as called for in the Contract, the City lost the savings. Even when the City did unilaterally impose a healthcare plan, it botched the implementation with an excessive amount of plans and problematic rollouts.

We have repeatedly asked the reason why the Governor ordered the City not to execute and implement the Tentative Agreement. Indeed, during a hearing in Federal Judge, Arthur Tarnow's courtroom, he asked the City and State attorneys the same question, as well as what were the work rule changes they were seeking. The lawyers could give no answer.

You should know that we stand ready to meet and negotiate in an effort to save the City. We have been doing so for decades. We hope; however, that the City takes a look at the concessions our Unions already offered in lengthy negotiations last February. The Governor and the Mayor have talked frequently about "shared sacrifices." However, employees are the only ones who have "truly sacrificed."

I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Sincerely yours,

Edward L. McNeil

Re: City of Detroit

Dear Mr. Easley:

Thank you for your letter of May 20, 2013, regarding the City of Detroit's restructuring efforts. I write to confirm that this Union – Local No. 2211 of the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America ("UAW") – represents active employees, and thus future retirees, within its bargaining unit. This Union does not, however, represent current retirees and has no authority to negotiate on their behalf. On behalf of the active employees it does represent, I accept your invitation to participate in the discussions concerning health care and pension benefits. Because these issues are so vital to members, this Union requests bargaining with respect to any changes which the Emergency Manager (or City) might propose to make in those benefits. The Union requests the earliest possible dates for meeting, and proposes that the meetings be held at the Office of Labor Relations, on the third floor of the Coleman A. Young Municipal Center, where bargaining has taken place to date.

Please advise me of possible dates and location for our meeting at your earliest convenience.

Also, if the City has developed any proposals, potential options, or possible modifications to health care or pension plans applicable to this bargaining unit, please advise and provide me with a copy of same in advance of our meeting. Also in advance of our meeting, please provide documents showing any calculations relating to health care costs and pension costs (both present and future) as well as the assumptions upon which the calculations are based.

Sincerely,

Robyn Brooks
President

Dear Mr. Easley:

I am in receipt of your letter dated May 20, 2013 regarding City of Detroit Restructuring.

Today I spoke with Ms. Ms. Samantha Woo in your office. I gave her my verbal reply that UAW LU 2200 will participate in discussions and represent the interests of current employees at the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department's Wastewater Treatment Plant who are members of this Local Union.

Please contact me at your earliest convenience with proposed dates and times for the discussions. Telephone: 313-706-0081 or email: mimilaurie@yahoo.com.

RE: City of Detroit

Dear Mr. Easley:

Thank you for your letter of May 20, 2013, regarding the City of Detroit's restructuring efforts. I am writing to confirm that Local No. 412 and Local No. 212 of the International Union, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement workers of America ("UAW") represent active employees, and thus future retirees, within their bargaining units. These locals do not, however, represent current retirees and have no authority to negotiate on their behalf. On behalf of the active employees we do represent, I accept your invitation to participate in discussions concerning healthcare and pension benefits. Because these issues are so vital to members, the locals request bargaining with respect to any changes which the Emergency Manager (or city) might propose to make in those benefits. We request the earliest possible dates for meeting, and propose that the meetings be held at the Office of Labor Relations on the third floor of the Coleman A. Young Municipal Center, where bargaining has taken place to date.*

Please advise me of possible dates and location of our meeting at your earliest convenience.

Also, if the city has developed any proposals, potential options or possible modifications to healthcare or pension plans applicable to this bargaining unit, please advise and provide me with a copy of same in advance of our meeting. Any calculations regarding healthcare and pension costs (both present and future) are likewise requested.

Sincerely,

John Cunningham

Re: City of Detroit Restructuring

Dear Mr. Williams:

Thank you for participating in the June 20, 2013 informational meetings pertaining to the City of Detroit's (the "City's") proposals to restructure the City's retiree medical and pension obligations. We appreciated your questions and input and look forward to discussing these issues with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 207 – Non-Supervisory Unit in the coming weeks.

The City recognizes that representatives of active and retired employees will need access to additional information to analyze the restructuring proposals outlined in the June 20 meetings. Information relevant to these proposals will be made available in the on-line data room established for creditors and other stakeholders. If you do not yet have access to the data room, please contact Dan Merrett (dmerrett@jonesday.com/ (404) 581-8476), who will provide you with further instructions.

To the extent you will need additional information beyond that provided in the data room to analyze and provide input with respect to the City's retiree benefits restructuring proposals, please forward requests for such information directly to my attention. We will make every effort to make responsive and relevant information available in a timely manner.

The City is very much looking forward to the unions' feedback with respect to the City's retiree benefits restructuring proposal. As we repeatedly stated during the meeting, to the extent that your organization has additional ideas about restructuring retiree benefits in a manner consistent with the City's financial limitations, the City will consider any such ideas. Please let me know if you would like to set up a time to further discuss these issues.

Sincerely,

Brian West Easley

Re: City of Detroit Pension Restructuring

Gentlemen:

Thank you for your letter of July 12, 2013, and thank you further for continuing to discuss in good faith the difficult issue of pension restructuring. The Office of the Emergency Manager appreciates your strong cooperation.

Consistent with the position Dave Heiman and I expressed at the meeting, we still think it makes sense to first try to reach common ground with key unions and association leaders on actuarial assumptions and methods, and the amount of PFRS underfunding, and then tackle contributions and attendant benefit changes. Nonetheless, we are interested in hearing any pension benefit redesign thinking and proposals that come from key union leadership, including ideas to avoid a freeze. We stand ready to meet to discuss such ideas.

We also took seriously the concern expressed at our meeting last Thursday on two issues: (1) that the City's retiree health proposal for uniform retirees should include amounts for pre-age 55 early retirees and not begin at age 55; and (2) if there were to be a hard freeze at PFRS, active employees who do not have sufficient service at the freeze date to obtain a vested pension be given an opportunity to earn such service and not lose their entire pensions. The City's advisors are looking hard at those issues and we intend to report back to you shortly.

Via Fax: (312) 782-8585

Dear Mr. Easterly:

You have contacted a number of Local unions affiliated with AFSCME for the purpose of offering information and inviting "feedback" on the Emergency Financial Manager's (EFM) proposal to "restructure" retiree benefits. The undersigned, in conjunction with AFSCME Council 25 President Albert Garrett and Council 25's Assistant to the President Ed McNeil will be representing our affiliated Locals in these matters. We are not representing current retirees.

I have followed the procedures and have been provided access to the on-line data room established by the EFM. I have also been in touch with Kyle Herman from Miller Buckfire as instructed by the EFM in his "Proposal to Creditors" on June 14. As I stated in an e-mail message to Mr. Herman, the electronic data room does not have all of the information I have requested of the EFM in a letter dated June 17, 2013 (copy enclosed). To reiterate, I have requested the following:

1. A copy of the preliminary actuarial analysis, to include a full description of all assumptions relied upon, used to support the revised cost estimates and funding condition of the PFRS and GRS pension systems. Data should show projected normal cost for each plan and the proposed UAAL amortization payment as a percent of payroll. Subsequent to June 17, I have been given access to Milliman analysis of the pension system which is partially responsive to my request.
2. The basis for the cost estimates of retiree health care (OPEB) including a description of all assumptions relied upon (including eligibility for benefits under the plan and benefits under the plan), the annual net OPEB obligation, and projected pay-as-you-go funding requirements for the next ten years.
3. A description of the proposed retiree health care plan that will rely upon Medicare Advantage and the Exchange Marketplace under the Affordable Care Act and the basis for the estimated annual City cost of between $27.5 million and $40 million. To the extent eligibility for benefits is revised from the assumption in item 2 above, please describe the new eligibility criteria.

4. A description of all assumptions, data, and documents relied upon to support the following revenue projections:
 - a. Municipal income tax
 - b. Wagering taxes
 - c. Property taxes
 - d. State revenue sharing
 - e. Utility users' and other taxes
 - f. "Other revenue" (page 52 of the Proposal to Creditors)

5. A description of all projected services and investments included in the "Reorganization (Capital investments and Professional fees)" budget line item in the ten year Restructuring Scenario (page 97 of the Proposal to Creditors). Detail related to the development of major initiatives (for example, investments on technology) should be provided as well. Documents and other supporting data that support the cost projections should be provided as well. If the identity of vendors has been established, please provide that information.

To clarify, we are seeking the data relied upon by the EFM as he developed his retiree benefits restructuring proposal. Detailed information related to reorganization and restructuring initiatives consists of a one page financial summary. I am seeking the data relied upon to develop that summary, especially and including, the back-up data associated with estimated expenditures addressing "blight."

In response to your offer to provide "feedback" on the proposed restructuring of retirement benefits, we hereby request to meet with authorized representatives of the EFM on July 10, 2013 at 10:00 a.m. To date, your representatives have provided presentations, and scheduled an additional presentation on pension benefits for the afternoon of July 10, but the EFM has not provided AFSCME with a meaningful opportunity to engage in a good faith negotiation of these issues. That process should start as soon as possible. We suggest we meet at our offices in Detroit, 600 West Lafayette. It would be extremely helpful if you could provide the requested information in advance of the meeting.

Please contact me at (202)429-1237 or skreisberg@afscme.org to discuss these matters, if necessary, and to confirm our proposed meeting.

¹ Pursuant to Section VII. of the Scheduling Order, “[b]ased on evidence obtained during discovery, any objecting party may file an amended objection by October 11, 2013. Any such amended objection shall supersede the party’s original objection.” Given that this objection supersedes AFSCME’s original eligibility brief (The Michigan Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO and Sub Chapter 98, City of Detroit Retirees’ Objection to the City Of Detroit’s Eligibility to Obtain Relief Under Chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code [Docket No. 505] (the “Original AFSCME Objection”)), AFSCME has included all legal and factual arguments asserted in the Original AFSCME Objection in this Objection, and further has supplemented and added additional arguments based, inter alia, on developments in the discovery process. Given that discovery remains ongoing, and AFSCME continues to learn new facts and information daily, AFSCME reserves the right to assert additional factual and legal arguments at trial.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

“The public can comment [on the City’s proposed financial restructuring plan], but it is under the statute, it is my plan and it’s within my discretion and obligation to do it. This isn’t a plebiscite, we are not, like, negotiating the terms of the plan. It’s what I’m obligated to do.” --Kevyn D. Orr, May 12, 2013²

1. The City’s petition for relief under chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code should be dismissed. First, chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code violates federalism under the United States Constitution through an unholy alliance permitting federal encroachment on the states’ governance rights over fiscal affairs in exchange for an unlawful extension of state powers in excess of those the state would otherwise possess under the law and which denies Michigan citizens their constitutional right to make the rules for their own bankruptcy. Second, Michigan Public Act 436 of 2012, the Local Financial Stability and Choice Act, MCL § 141.1541, et seq. (“PA 436”), purportedly authorizing the Emergency Manager to file for chapter 9 protection runs afoul of the Michigan Constitution as applied in this chapter 9 case by not explicitly prohibiting the diminishment or impairment of vested pension rights in bankruptcy, which rights are prescribed in the Michigan Constitution, and further offends the Constitutional rights of individual Detroit citizens to local self-governance. Third, the City fails to establish that it engaged in good faith negotiations with the City's creditors or that these negotiations were impracticable under section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code, and indeed the entire chapter 9 petition was filed in bad faith. Fourth, the City does not qualify for chapter 9 relief because it failed to establish that it is insolvent. Further, the Bankruptcy Court lacks authority or jurisdiction over matters related to the federal constitutionality of chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code or the state constitutionality of PA 436.

2. The City, led by its unelected, politically appointed Emergency Manager, Kevyn D. Orr ("Orr" or the "EM"), hastily commenced this unconstitutional, unlawfully authorized chapter 9 proceeding seeking the haven of bankruptcy to illegally attempt to slash pension and other post-employment benefit obligations and cram such reductions down the throats of current and former City employees such as the AFSCME Detroit Employees. These proceedings were commenced without any good faith negotiations with the City's retirees or unions such as AFSCME, and the chapter 9 filing was a fait accompli long prior to the appointment of Orr as the City's EM – in fact, at a time when Orr was still a partner at the City's lead counsel's law firm.

3. While AFSCME expects that the City's witnesses will testify that chapter 9 bankruptcy was always the last option and the City preferred an out-of-court settlement, those are nothing more than talking points. In reality, the City's strategy of holding "check the box" meetings with creditors pre-petition at which the City purposefully refused to bargain in good faith was for the sole purpose of "making its record". Indeed, the City's eventual strategy (under the leadership of Orr) was first suggested by the City's lead bankruptcy counsel (the "Law Firm") beginning with a "pitch" presentation made by the Law Firm to the City on January 29, 2013 (the “Pitch Presentation”, a copy of which is attached to the Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit B) in the presence of State of Michigan (the “State” or “Michigan”) officials who wanted to steer the City towards chapter 9. As part its presentation, the Law Firm provided a roadmap to chapter 9. The Pitch Presentation provided in part:

- an out-of-court restructuring was “[e]xtremely difficult to achieve in practice” (Pitch Presentation, p. 13);
- “Ultimately, the Emergency Manager could be used as political cover for difficult restructuring decisions.” (Pitch Presentation, p. 16);
- “Bolster Eligibility for – and Success in – Chapter 9 By Establishing Good-Faith Record of Seeking Creditor Consensus” (Pitch Presentation, p. 17);
- “[a] good-faith effort to pursue an out of court restructuring plan will establish a clear record of seeking creditor consensus before seeking chapter 9 relief. This will deflect any eligibility complaints based on alleged failure to negotiate or bad faith.” (Pitch Presentation, p. 18);
- “Include All Constituents in Planning and Negotiations” (Pitch Presentation, p. 22);
- “Establish a Strong Record of Inclusiveness and Consideration of All Options” (Pitch Presentation, p. 22);
- “Input should be obtained from all sources, documented and treated seriously, even if proposals appear unrealistic. Good listening skills are helpful.” (Pitch Presentation, p. 23);
- “Establish a strong record (i.e., for future litigation) of (i) inclusiveness with respect to all constituencies and (ii) consideration of all options and proposals received.” (Pitch Presentation, p. 23);
- “A record should be established that all avenues have been explored . . . to support the City’s case for debt reduction if a Chapter 9 ultimately is commenced.” (Pitch Presentation, p. 28);
- “unique and creative structures for asset monetization can and should be explored. . . Regional initiatives also could be explored (joint redevelopment, sharing of services, joint purchasing arrangements). Note: Asset monetization outside of bankruptcy may implicate eligibility requirement that City be insolvent (e.g., measured by short-term cash).” (Pitch Presentation, p. 17); and

- “OPEB [retiree health benefits] has less legal protections under state law than pensions, providing a greater ability to cut and equitably restructure” and “[i]f needed, chapter 9 could be used as a means to further cut back or compromise ‘accrued financial benefits’ [i.e. accrued pension obligations] otherwise protected under the Michigan Constitution.” (Pitch Presentation, pp. 39; 41).

4. Apparently, as discussed further below, the State officials at the January 29, 2013 pitch (including the Governor’s Transformation Manager, Richard Baird (“Baird”)) liked what they heard and decided that the Law Firm would be their firm of choice, with Orr and his extensive bankruptcy experience being utilized as the EM to complement the Law Firm’s legal ability to move the City swiftly into chapter 9. Thus, the day after the Pitch Presentation was given, on January 30, 2013, Baird reached out to The Law Firm about the potential of hiring Orr as the EM, and this led to discussions between the Governor, Baird, Orr, other State officials and the Law Firm, and the ultimate hiring of both Orr and the Law Firm to guide the City into chapter 9.

5. This is all against the backdrop of:

- The average non-uniformed employee pension currently averages slightly less than $18,000 per year (according to a June 30, 2012 General Retirement System of the City of Detroit pension valuation report); and
- The AFSCME Retirees and AFSCME Active Employees look to their government pension and City-provided medical benefits for retiree benefits. Unlike private sector employees and retirees with defined benefit pension benefits, whose pension benefits are protected even in bankruptcy by government insurance through the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, or those with multiemployer pension benefits, where even if one employer withdraws or goes bankrupt the vested pension benefits to the retirees continue unchanged by that withdrawal, the AFSCME Retirees and AFSCME Active Employees’ pensions are not backstopped. Therefore, if this Court allows the chapter 9 proceeding to go forward with the ultimate result of the pension or other retiree benefits being lost, they are lost without a safety net.

6. In light of recent Supreme Court precedent, chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code violates the United States Constitution and should be struck down by an Article III Court with authority and jurisdiction to make this crucial Constitutional law determination. Under Stern v.

Marshall, 131 S. Ct. 2594 (2011), such a decision is plainly outside the realm of authority properly delegated to an Article I tribunal like this Court.

7. However, to the extent this Court disagrees and determines that it has jurisdiction to uphold the Constitutionality of chapter 9 generally, this Court should find that the City is not eligible for relief under chapter 9 pursuant to sections 109(c) and 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code for the following reasons.

8. First, under section 109(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code, as already determined by at least one state court ruling issued against Michigan Governor Richard D. Snyder (the “Governor”) prior to entry of the Stay Extension Order [Docket No 166], the purported authorization by the Governor permitting the chapter 9 filing by the EM was and remains an overt act by the Governor and others in violation of the Michigan Constitution, as the filing seeks to impair or diminish the AFSCME Detroit Employees’ pension benefits. Indeed, the very law purporting to allow the EM to unconditionally file for chapter 9 protection, PA 436, violates several provisions of the Michigan Constitution as applied in this chapter 9 case, including (i) Article IX, Section 24 because PA 436 does not explicitly prohibit the diminishment or impairment of vested pension rights in bankruptcy, which is the goal sought in this chapter 9 proceeding; (ii) Article VI, Section 29 because PA 436 delegates power to the EM in excess of that possessed by the legislature; and (iii) Article VII because PA 436 strips power from the electors of each city and village and runs ramshackle over the principles of local self-government firmly embedded in Michigan law.

9. Second, despite factual arguments to the contrary in the City’s Eligibility Brief and Debtor’s Reply, the City has failed to establish that it has negotiated in good faith or that such negotiations were impracticable as required under section 109(c)(5) of the Bankruptcy

Code. In fact, AFSCME submits (and AFSCME expects to show further at trial) that the City conducted no good faith negotiations with significant unions such as AFSCME prior to the filing. Rather, the City commenced this proceeding in bad faith and in haste in violation of section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code, with the sole goal of preventing a “bad” state court ruling (i) upholding the Michigan Constitution and (ii) preventing the City from taking the very inappropriate and unconstitutional journey it now seeks to embark on.

10. If the Court ultimately were to find that the City satisfied the eligibility requirements, the EM will seek (i) to unconstitutionally and illegally abridge vested pension and other AFSCME Detroit Employee benefits; (ii) to proceed under section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code and illegally seek to reject vested pension and other retiree benefits; and/or ultimately (iii) to propose a chapter 9 plan of adjustment that reduces vested pension and other benefits but that cannot possibly be better for creditors like AFSCME Detroit Employees than the alternative of staying out of chapter 9 where pensions are guaranteed protection under the state constitution - a clear breach of the chapter 9 “best interests test.” Such an outcome should not be countenanced.

11. Finally, AFSCME submits that the City has failed to satisfy its high burden of proving – through expert evidence or otherwise – insolvency pursuant to section 109(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code. In reality, the evidence reveals (and AFSCME expects to further demonstrate at trial) that the City may well be solvent, particularly when (i) discounting the City’s unproven assertions regarding the unfunded amount of the City’s pension and other retiree benefits actuarial underfunding; (ii) taking into account un-monetized assets that the City purposefully ignored (as suggested in the Pitch Presentation given by the City’s lead counsel) to make the City appear insolvent; (iii) considering the possibility of funding sources not included in the City's financial projections, which projections lack any expert evidence as to their reliability and indeed do not have any reliable evidentiary basis; and (iv) considering the significant swap deal reached and finalized by the City immediately prior to the chapter 9 filing which itself helped significantly with cash flow issues. The City filed for chapter 9 protection on July 18, 2013 not because of any true budgetary insolvency or inability to pay its debts as they came due, rather because the City (i) disliked the direction in which the various pre-petition state court litigations (including the Webster Litigation, as defined below) were proceeding and (ii) worried that failure to file when it did – despite having failed to negotiate in good faith – would potentially limit or forestall the City's clear goal, as guided by the Law Firm, the EM, and other high ranking State officials, of attacking the City's pension obligations in chapter 9. It is telling (and should be shocking to all citizens of Detroit and Michigan) that despite spending millions of dollars of taxpayer funds on the City's chapter 9 cases to hire a multitude of bankruptcy and restructuring professionals, the City fails to offer even one person to stand up as an expert and testify to the City's insolvency.

12. In addition the City, by proceeding on its current course, has ignored some of the advice provided by its own counsel that that the “City should characterize its residents as ‘customers,’ a class of constituents that ordinarily is accorded significant benefits in business reorganizations” and that “[a] viable restructuring for a strong and vibrant Detroit must treat its citizens with respect, just as a successful business in the private sector treats its customers.” Pitch Presentation, p. 27. Based on all of the reasons set forth herein, this Court (to the extent it finds that it has authority and/or jurisdiction) should deny the Debtor's requested eligibility for chapter 9. By doing so, the ordinary residents and citizens of Detroit (including the many dedicated AFSCME Detroit Employees) will regain their voices in government and be protected from the mistaken path of the EM.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

13. Orr currently serves as the EM of the City under PA 436.

14. The Governor appointed Orr as EM for the City on March 14, 2013, effective as of March 25, 2013. On March 28, 2013, upon the purported effectiveness of PA 436, Orr became, and continues to act as, EM for the City under PA 436.

15. On June 14, 2013, Orr issued a “Proposal for Creditors” which expressly stated that “there must be significant cuts in accrued, vested pension amounts for both active and currently retired persons.” The same day, Orr publicly threatened, in an interview with the Detroit Free Press Editorial Board,³ that vested pension benefits would not be protected in a chapter 9 proceeding authorized by the Governor pursuant to PA 436, and that any state laws protecting vested pension benefits would “not . . . protect” retirees in bankruptcy court. The EM stated as follows in the interview:

Q You said in this report that you don't believe there is an obligation under our state constitution to pay pensions if the city can't afford it?

A. The reason we said it that way is to quantify the bankruptcy question. We think federal supremacy trumps state law. Which the Ninth Circuit agrees with for now.

A. It is what it is - so we said that in a soft way of saying, “Don't make us go into bankruptcy.” If you think your state-vested pension rights, either as an employee or a retiree - that's not going to protect you. If we don't reach an agreement one way or the other, we feel fairly confident that the state federal law, federalism, will trump state law or negotiate. The irony of the situation is we might reach a deal with creditors quicker because employees and retirees think there is some benefit and that might force our hand. That might force a bankruptcy.

16. As discussed below, the Governor (and other State officials) and the EM were well aware both prior to and subsequent to the issuance of the letter on July 18, 2013 from the Governor to the EM authorizing the EM to have the City commence its chapter 9 case without any conditions or limits (the “Governor’s Authorization Letter”) of the City’s intentions to modify and/or terminate vested pension obligations in chapter 9 without limit in derogation of the Michigan Constitution.

A. The Webster Litigation And The Governor’s Unconditional Authorization

17. On July 3, 2013, against the backdrop of the threatening statements made by Orr regarding Michigan state law and protected pension benefits, plaintiffs (the “Webster Plaintiffs”) Gracie Webster (a City retiree) and Veronica Thomas (a current employee of the City vested in her pension) commenced a lawsuit against the State of Michigan, the Governor and the State Treasurer seeking: (a) a declaratory judgment that PA 436 violated the Constitution of the State of Michigan to the extent that it purported to authorize chapter 9 cases within which vested pension benefits might be sought to be compromised; and (b) an injunction preventing the defendants from authorizing any chapter 9 case for the City within which vested pension benefits might be sought to be reduced. See Webster v. State of Mich., No. 13-734-CZ (Ingham County Cir. Ct. July 3, 2013) (the “Webster Litigation”).⁴

18. In briefing submitted in support of a preliminary injunction and declaratory order against the Governor, the Webster Plaintiffs explained that Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution provides that “[t]he accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby;” that there could not be a more clear and plain constitutional mandate; and that Article IX, Section 24 means what it says: accrued pension benefits shall not be reduced.

19. Further, as the Webster Plaintiffs noted, the Official Record of the 1963 Michigan Constitutional Convention makes clear that no governmental entity or its officials can do anything to diminish or impair vested pension benefits: “This is a new section that requires that accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions be a contractual obligation which cannot diminished or impaired by the action of its officials or governing body.” 2 Official Record, Constitutional Convention 1961, p. 3402.

20. The Webster Plaintiffs also noted that PA 436 explicitly recognizes that accrued pension benefits shall not be diminished or impaired outside the bankruptcy context. For example:

- Section 11 of PA 436 requires that an emergency manager develop a written financial and operating plan for the local government and that such plan “shall provide” for “the timely deposit of required payments to the pension fund for the local government.”
- Section 13 of PA 436 authorizes the emergency manager to eliminate the salary, wages or other compensation and benefits of the chief administrative officer and members of the governing body of the local government, but expressly provides that “[t]his section does not authorize the impairment of vested pension benefits.”
- Section 12(m) of PA 436 authorizes an emergency manager under certain circumstances to be appointed as the sole trustee of a local pension board and to replace the existing trustees, and requires that “the emergency manager shall fully comply with . . . Section 24 of Article IX of the state constitution . . .” when acting as the sole trustee.

21. But, in violation of Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution, PA 436 fails to similarly forbid the Governor explicitly from authorizing a chapter 9 bankruptcy filing if accrued pension benefits may be sought to be diminished or impaired as a consequence of that filing. Section 18 of PA 436, which purportedly empowers the Governor to authorize a municipality to file for bankruptcy under chapter 9, nowhere prohibits the Governor from authorizing such a filing if accrued pension benefits may be sought to be diminished or impaired. Clearly, the Legislature understood and honored the Michigan constitutional mandate not to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits outside of bankruptcy. Just as clearly, the Legislature omitted any constitutional protection against the impairment or diminishment of accrued pension benefits when the Governor purports to authorize a chapter 9 bankruptcy filing under Section 18 of PA 436.

22. In other words, if accrued pension benefits may be diminished or impaired, in violation of Article IX Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution, the section of PA 436 purporting to authorize this bankruptcy, Section 18, must be unconstitutional as applied.

23. On July 18, 2013, the same date this chapter 9 case was commenced, the Ingham County Circuit Court for the State of Michigan (the “State Court”) entered a temporary restraining order (the “TRO”, attached to the Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit A) enjoining the Governor, the State Treasurer and the other defendants in the Webster Litigation from authorizing a chapter 9 filing and taking any further action “with respect to any filing which has already occurred” including the authorizing of an “unconditional” chapter 9 filing (i.e. one in which the EM would represent himself as having authority to modify and/or terminate pension obligations without limit in derogation of the Michigan Constitution).

24. Despite the issuance of the TRO and the State Court's clear directive to the Governor regarding not authorizing any further filings by the City, the Governor did not seek to prevent the City from filing all of its "first day pleadings." Indeed, the Governor authorized and the EM directed the chapter 9 filing just minutes before the July 18, 2013 TRO hearing was set to begin (and during a brief delay in the TRO hearing requested by the Governor's attorney) in order to potentially "cut off" any argument that the filing was not properly authorized (because the Governor knew and the EM expected that the State Court Judge was prepared to grant the TRO).

25. On July 19, 2013, the State Court held a further hearing on the Webster Litigation and entered an Order of Declaratory Judgment (the "Declaratory Judgment," attached to the Kreisberg Declaration as Exhibit B). The Declaratory Judgment (a) finds PA 436 unconstitutional and of no force and effect to the extent it permits the Governor to authorize the EM to proceed under chapter 9 in any manner that threatens to diminish or impair pension benefits and (b) rules that the Governor must direct the EM "to immediately withdraw the chapter 9 petition ... and ... not authorize any further chapter 9 filing which threatens to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits." See Declaratory Judgment at 3.

26. To the extent there was any authorization for the chapter 9 filing, the State Court clearly ordered that the Governor revoke it to the extent it was intended to lead to the diminishment or impairment of accrued pension benefits. However, subsequent to the issuance of the Declaratory Judgment, on July 25, 2013, this Court granted the City's motion to extend the automatic stay, which, inter alia, stayed pending appeals of the Declaratory Judgment (and other similar state court proceedings). See Docket No. 166.

(i) The Governor (And Other State Officials) And City Intended Through The Chapter 9 Filing To Impair And/Or Terminate

Pension Obligations, And The Governor Was Aware Of This Prior To His Authorizing The Chapter 9 Filing

27. The evidence obtained to date (as will be further demonstrated at trial) reveals that the Governor (and other State officials) and the EM were well aware both prior to and subsequent to the issuance of the Governor's Authorization Letter of the City's intentions to modify and/or terminate vested pension obligations in chapter 9 without limit in derogation of the Michigan Constitution.

28. First, the June 14 Restructuring Plan (defined below) expressly provided that "there must be significant cuts in accrued, vested pension amounts for both active and currently retired persons", and the Governor has admitted in deposition testimony to (i) having viewed drafts of the June 14 Restructuring Plan; (ii) being specifically aware that the Restructuring Plan provided for significant cuts to accrued, vested pensions for active and retired employees; and (iii) being specifically aware when he signed the July 18 letter authorizing the City's chapter 9 filing that Orr's position was "that there had to be significant cuts in accrued pension benefits." See Governor Snyder October 9, 2013 Transcript (the "Governor 10/9 Transcript", a copy of which is attached to the Artz Declaration, Exhibit A),⁵ at 46:3-23; 63:9-64:18. Furthermore, in a letter dated July 16, 2013 from Orr to the Governor (and Treasurer Andy Dillon) recommending that the City be authorized to immediately commence a chapter 9 bankruptcy case, Orr noted that the City met with all of the City's unions and four retiree associations to "solicit the unions and retirees' view on their preferred way to address the dramatic, but necessary, benefit modifications." See Orr Declaration, Exhibit J, p. 8

⁵ Throughout this Objection, AFSCME has cited deposition testimony provided by various witnesses in connection with the City's chapter 9 eligibility litigation. AFSCME relies on the relevant portions of these various depositions as evidence, and will be attaching copies of the full deposition transcripts to the Artz Declaration filed contemporaneously with this Objection.

(emphasis added). The Governor admitted to reading this letter. See Governor 10/9 Transcript, at 52:13-15.

29. Additionally, the City has unequivocally admitted that it intends to impair or diminish pension benefits of City active and retired employees through this chapter 9 proceeding. See, e.g., City of Detroit, Michigan's Objections and Responses to Detroit Retirement Systems' First Requests for Admission Directed to the City of Detroit Michigan [Docket No. 849], at p. 12 (admitting that "City intends to seek to diminish or impair the Accrued Financial Benefits of the participants in the Retirement Systems through this Chapter 9 Case."); see also Kevyn Orr September 16, 2013 Transcript (the "Orr 9/16 Transcript", a copy of which is attached to the Artz Declaration, Exhibit B), at 252:25-253:16; 288:2-9 (admitting that City intended to diminish or impair accrued pension benefits of Detroit pensioners, preferably through a consensual plan but preserving all rights to do so possibly through the use of the cramdown provisions of the bankruptcy code).

B. The City's Pre-petition Machinations And Subsequent Meetings (But Not Negotiations) With Creditors Such As AFSCME

(i) The City's Bankruptcy Was Orchestrated Based On The Advice Of The City's Lead Bankruptcy Counsel And Discussed Before The EM Was Even Hired

30. In emails, documents and deposition testimony that surfaced following the City's chapter 9 filing going back to late January 2013, long prior to any alleged good faith negotiations with creditors (more about this point below), secret discussions were being held between Detroit and officials in the Governor's office and the City's legal counsel suggesting that the best course for the City would be to send it through chapter 9 bankruptcy. These facts collectively expose Orr's and the City's charade of pre-petition "negotiations" (in reality, one-sided meetings) in the month prior to the City's chapter 9 filing. In fact, all along, the clear goal was for the City to end up in chapter 9.

31. For example, the Law Firm was among a number of firms to provide a "pitch" presentation made to the City on January 29, 2013 in the presence of State officials. See Pitch Presentation (dated January 29, 2013); see also Orr 9/16 Transcript, at 18:12-21:20 (discussing how Orr came with the Law Firm in late January to pitch for the City's restructuring work before a "restructuring team [of] advisors"). During that pitch, Orr (among other lawyers that would be working on the proposed engagement) was presented primarily as a "bankruptcy and restructuring attorney." Orr 9/16 Transcript, at 21:3-6. As part of the Pitch Presentation, as discussed extensively supra, ¶ 3, the City's lead bankruptcy counsel presented, in part, the following playbook for the City's road to chapter 9: (i) the difficulty of achieving an out of court settlement and steps to bolster the City's ability to qualify for chapter 9 by establishing a good faith record of negotiations (Pitch Presentation, pp. 13; 16-18; 22-23; 28); (ii) the EM could be used as political cover for difficult decisions such as an ultimate chapter 9 filing (Pitch Presentation, p. 16); (iii) warning that pre-chapter 9 asset monetization could implicate the chapter 9 eligibility requirement regarding insolvency, thus effectively advising the City against raising money in order to will itself into insolvency (Pitch Presentation, p. 17); and (iv) describing protections under state law for retiree benefits and accrued pension obligations and how chapter 9 could be used as means to further cut back or compromise accrued pension obligations otherwise protected by the Michigan constitution ((Pitch Presentation, pp. 39; 41).

32. Following the Law Firm's pitch in late January 2013, State officials (including Baird) informed attorneys at the Law Firm and Orr that they were interested in bringing Orr on board as EM, and Orr began to consider the offer. See Orr 9/16 Transcript, at 24:24-25:31:5).

Orr commented regarding his proposed consideration for appointment as EM and discussed with his law firm at the time how to go about leading the City into chapter 9. In an email (attached to the Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 1) dated January 31, 2013, Orr's colleague at the firm stated in an email to Orr that the "ideal scenario would be that [Michigan Governor] Snyder and [Detroit Mayor] Bing both agree that the best option is simply to go through an orderly Chapter 9. This avoids an unnecessary political fight over the scope/authority of any appointed Emergency Manager appointed and, moreover, moves the ball forward on setting Detroit on the right track." *Id.*⁶. Indeed, this was the exact suggestion by the City's current lead bankruptcy counsel in its pitch presentation. See Pitch Presentation, p. 16 ("Ultimately, the Emergency Manager could be used as political cover for difficult restructuring decisions.").

33. Orr's colleague then stated his own reservations about whether an emergency manager would be useful outside of bankruptcy where his "ability to actually do anything is questionable given the looming political and legal fights" Id. In contrast, he observed in an earlier email, "[m]aking this a national issue . . . provides political cover for the state politicians" and gives them an "incentive to do this right" because "if it succeeds, there will be more than enough patronage to allow [them] to look for higher callings—whether Cabinet, Senate, or Corporate." See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 2.⁷

34. As noted above, others involved in the discussions prior to the chapter 9 filing included Baird, the Governor's Transformation Manager. In an email also dated January 31, 2013, Orr, in anticipation of a conversation he was to meet with Baird "in a few minutes" about whether to accept the EM position, observed that PA 436 “is a clear end-around the prior initiative” to repeal the previous Emergency Manager statute, Public Act 4, “that was rejected by the voters in November.” See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 3.⁸ According to Orr “although the new law provides the thin veneer of a revision it is essentially a redo of the prior rejected law and appears to merely adopt the conditions necessary for a chapter 9 filing.” Id.

35. In a further email dated January 31, 2013, Orr indicated that Baird wanted Orr to be hired as the EM and his firm to represent the City (regardless of whether Orr took the EM job), and that Orr indicated that he would be glad to work together with the City, even if not as EM, indicating that “I [Orr] and the firm are committed to working in lockstep with the [C]ity.” See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 4.⁹

(ii) No Good Faith Negotiations Took Place Following The Appointment Of The EM With Parties Such As AFSCME Prior To The City’s Chapter 9 Filing

36. As indicated above, the die was cast for the City’s inevitable chapter 9 filing prior to the March appointment of Orr as EM. Following Orr’s appointment, the City and Orr maneuvered to establish the veneer of formal pre-petition creditor negotiations, when in reality, Orr and the Governor knew all along that the non-interactive meetings would be held on a pro forma basis so the City could attempt to establish alleged good faith negotiations.

37. The facts belie the notion of any pre-filing negotiations, whether in good faith or otherwise. Indeed, the City itself admitted both in letters and at the meetings held in the month or so prior to the filing that the City was only interested in one-way discussions, not negotiations. As discussed below, evidence obtained in discovery reveals that while these meetings were ongoing – indeed, before ever meeting face-to-face with union representative alone – the City had already made a determination as early as the beginning of July 2013 that it would be filing for chapter 9 protection on or about July 19, 2013.

38. On June 14, 2013, the City held a meeting of representatives of the City’s creditors (the “June 14 Meeting”) to present the City’s comprehensive restructuring plan/ “Proposal for Creditors” (the “Restructuring Plan”, attached to the Kreisberg Declaration as Exhibit C). Even prior to these meetings, Orr confirmed that the City’s discussions of a predecessor to its ultimate Restructuring Plan, the EM’s May 12, 2013 “Financial and Operating Plan”, would not involve any negotiations, explaining that “it is under the [PA 436] statute, it is my plan and it’s within my discretion and obligation to do it. This isn’t a plebiscite, we are not, like, negotiating the terms of the plan. It’s what I’m obligated to do.” See Kevyn Orr Interview to Detroit WWJ Newsradio 950/AP, Detroit EM Releases Financial Plan; City Exceeding Budget By $100M Annually, May 12, 2013, available at <http://detroit.cbslocal.com/2013/05/12/kevin-orr-releases-financial-plan-for-city-of-detroit/> (emphasis added).

39. On June 17, 2013, Steven Kreisberg, AFSCME’s director of collective bargaining and health care policy, submitted a letter requesting from the EM various categories of information, assumptions, and data for AFSCME to honestly review all the information presented and begin good faith negotiations. See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 5. AFSCME made this request prior to a scheduled June 20, 2013 meeting with unions (including AFSCME) representing the City’s non-uniform employees regarding the City’s pensions. At that meeting, the City represented that the meeting was “not a negotiation.” See Kreisberg Declaration, ¶ 17. Furthermore, the letter inviting AFSCME to the June 20 meeting characterized the purpose of the meeting as being to “review” the Restructuring Plan (not negotiate it) and to have AFSCME “learn” about the Restructuring Plan. Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 6.

40. In a letter dated June 27, 2013 to an AFSCME local union, the City indicated that it was posting certain information to a data room and was looking forward to the unions’ “feedback” (again not negotiation) with respect to the EM’s retiree benefits restructuring proposal. See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 7.

41. In a follow up letter to the City dated July 2, 2013, Mr. Kreisberg again reiterated his request for information and data, including the backup data supporting the City retiree benefits proposal (support for which previously consisted of only a one-page financial summary). AFSCME requested relevant information and the opportunity (in conjunction with a meeting scheduled with the City’s unions on July 10-11) to begin meaningfully engaging “in a good faith negotiation of these issues.” See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 8.

42. In a response letter to Mr. Kreisberg on July 3, 2013, the City advised that it would not meet separately with AFSCME, and that the July 10, 2013 scheduled meeting with the unions would be a “discussion” (again not a negotiation). See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 9. Similarly, in an email dated June 28, 2013, the City confirmed that it wanted to meet on July 10, 2013 to “discuss” its “developing pension restructuring proposal,” clearly implying that the proposal itself was not even complete yet. See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 10. Additionally, and tellingly, at that July 10, 2013 meeting, counsel for the City attempted to invoke Rule 408 confidentiality provisions stating that doing so was a tool used in every bankruptcy, so it should be invoked that day. See Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, ¶ 7. This statement made more than a week before bankruptcy was authorized or filed further demonstrating that the City intended to file for bankruptcy in any event.

43. At the July 10, 2013 meeting, the City announced at the inception that the meeting would be a discussion but not a negotiation. See Kreisberg Declaration, ¶ 18. At a similar meeting with AFSCME and certain and other unions held on July 11, 2013, again there was no negotiation.

44. Despite this evidence, it appears that the City now seeks to characterize its limited requests to creditors for feedback – but admitted refusal to bargain with them – on the Restructuring Plan at the four meetings held regarding that plan as satisfying chapter 9’s good faith negotiation requirement. Yet, in the City’s reply brief regarding eligibility and recent deposition testimony by Orr, the City and Orr have explicitly denied that the City’s discussions with creditors were negotiations. See Debtor’s Reply, at p. 55 n.49; Orr 9/16 Transcript, at 137:25-138:8 (“Q. And was there any bargaining that took place at those sessions [on June 20th, July 10th, and July 11th] where the City said it would be willing to agree to something that was different from what was in June 14? A. Here again, I’m going to stay away from bargaining as a legal conclusion, duty to bargain is suspended. I will say there was a back and forth and my understanding discussions and invitations for further information.”).

45. Furthermore, and critically, Orr recently testified that media reports prior to the City’s chapter 9 filing that the City was planning on filing on July 19, 2013 were inaccurate. Orr 9/16 Transcript, at 301:19-302:8 (indicating that there was no plan for the City to file on July 19, 2013 and that Orr’s plan was “to have the permission, the authority, to file them and make that call at some point after I transmitted my letter of July 16 [requesting authorization from the Governor to file for chapter 9].”). Yet, evidence produced in discovery includes an Excel/spreadsheet document attached to e-mails circulated (i) to and from Bill Nowling (who works in the EM's office) sent to individuals in the Governor's office, entitled "Chapter 9 Communications Rollout" which makes clear that during the same time period that the City was purporting to conduct ongoing "good faith negotiations" with creditors regarding the Restructuring Plan, in fact the City was, as early as July 1, 2013 planning on filing for chapter 9 on Friday, July 19, 2013. See Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit C (spreadsheet document dated July 4, 2013 attached to e-mail from EM's office to State officials entitled "Chapter 9 Communications Rollout" indicated that Friday, July 19, 2013 was "FILING DAY").

(iii) The City's Bad Faith Refusal To Negotiate With Unions Such As AFSCME Has Continued Following The City's Bankruptcy Filing

46. The City's pattern of bad faith refusal to negotiate any of its proposals regarding pensions or health insurance benefits changes has continued post-petition.

47. For example, on August 2, 2013, the City convened a meeting of local union representatives and discussed active health insurance. See Kreisberg Declaration, ¶ 19. However, during that meeting, the City specifically advised those in attendance (including AFSCME representatives) that the meeting was not a negotiation. Id at ¶ 20. Mr. Kreisberg sent a follow up letter to the City on August 6, 2013 requesting good faith bargaining, and referenced cost savings estimates which AFSCME previously proposed in prior negotiations with the City before the development of the Emergency Manager's initial financial restructuring plan in May. See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 11. In an August 8, 2013 response, the City advised that it would not engage in collective bargaining with AFSCME, but rather simply "discuss any feedback they may have regarding its health care restructuring plans." See Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 12.

48. On August 14, 2013, the City held a follow up meeting with AFSCME on the subject of active medical benefits but did not accept any counterproposals or suggestions, but simply responded by further explaining its current intention with respect to active medical benefits.

49. Given Orr's repeated statements to the media about the City's willingness to bargain with its unions, AFSCME has been surprised by the City's unwillingness to negotiate, pre or post-petition. While AFSCME has repeatedly stated its desire to move forward with constructive negotiations with the City on behalf of all AFSCME Detroit Employees, AFSCME cannot negotiate with an employer that is unwilling to come to the table for arms-length talks.

(iv) The City Has Previously Negotiated Labor Concessions With Unions That Modified Both Active And Retiree Benefits

50. The City argues, in part, that negotiations with its retirees were impractical or impossible as the City could not bind the disparate group of retirees in any agreement. However, the City should be well aware (and indeed its advisors have admitted) that in February 2012, City labor negotiators reached a tentative agreement (the "Tentative Agreement") with a "Coalition of City of Detroit Unions", including several AFSCME local bargaining units. See Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, ¶ 4, Exhibit A (attaching copy of the Tentative Agreement). Pursuant to deposition testimony given by Gaurav Malhotra of Ernst & Young ("E&Y") on September 20, 2013 (one of the City's restructuring advisors), E&Y was actively involved "in assisting quantify some of the savings in conjunction and collaboration with the City as the City negotiated with the – its unions [regarding the Tentative Agreement]." See Gaurav Malhotra September 20, 2013 Transcript (the "Malhotra 9/20 Transcript", a copy of which is attached to the Artz Declaration, Exhibit C), at 86:20-23.

51. While the Tentative Agreement was never implemented, changes with respect to benefits in the proposed Tentative Agreement would have directly impacted retiree benefits, and indeed, based on projections at the time, AFSCME understands that the Tentative Agreement could have saved the City approximately $50 million annually, a number which included retiree health benefit changes. See Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, ¶¶ 5-6.

52. Despite this evidence, Orr has now testified that he was unaware of the Tentative Agreement (and, thus implicitly, unaware of the City's prior success at bargaining in good faith with the City's unions, which led to changes to both active and retired employees' benefits):

- 15 Q. Are you aware of a coalition among certain of the
16 City's unions put together in order to try and deal

21 Q. Not the retire committee. A coalition of unions with

3 Q. Well, I think your answer indicates to me that perhaps
4 the answer is no.
5 A. Yeah. Okay.

Orr 9/16 Transcript, at 237:15-237:5. Given that Orr himself was unaware of the City's ability to negotiate deals affecting both active employees and retirees outside of bankruptcy, the City's assertion that negotiations regarding changes to retiree and pension benefits were "impracticable (if not impossible)" is misguided. Orr could not possibly have attempted to negotiate in good faith if he had not done even the most preliminary investigation as to whether Detroit's several unions had ever negotiated with the city collectively in the past, indeed the very recent past.

C. The City Has Failed to Establish It Is Insolvent, And The City's Chapter 9 Case Was Not Commenced Due to Any Imminent Financial Emergency, Rather To Avoid The Webster Litigation (And Other State Court Proceedings)

53. The City at first glance seems to provide thick volumes which it calls evidence regarding its alleged insolvency. See, e.g., Orr Declaration, ¶¶ 52-57; Malhotra Declaration, ¶¶ 10-26; Moore Declaration, ¶¶ 9-20. However, what becomes apparent from reviewing these declarations (which serve as the basis for the City's insolvency arguments) is that (i) each often cross-relies (as purported evidence as to the truth of particular statements) on other (non-expert) testimony, other documents prepared by the City, or other assumptions/evidence convenient to the City but without any real foundation. See, e.g., Orr Declaration, ¶¶ 52-57 (citing, in part, the June 14 Restructuring Plan and Malhotra Declaration as evidence); Moore Declaration, ¶¶ 13-14 (estimating pension underfunding using what the "City" believes are more realistic assumption)); Malhotra Declaration, ¶¶ 11; 15; 21-22 (discussing manner in which City's financial forecasts and projections were prepared based on certain complex assumptions, calculations and input from other City officials). Furthermore, the City offers no expert witness to testify regarding the City's asserted insolvency despite the City having spent millions of dollars and having gone out and hired a multitude of legal, financial, actuarial and restructuring advisors. Ultimately, the fact remains that despite the pile of "evidence" submitted by the City, the City does not have a single witness who can stand up as an expert and testify as to the City's insolvency.

54. Furthermore, the City misleadingly cited its insolvency as what drove its chapter 9 filing, not the imminent state court rulings in the Webster Litigation and other state court proceeding, further casting doubt on the reality of its conclusion that it is insolvent. See, e.g., Debtor's Reply, at pp. 65-66. Yet, in reality (and as will be further demonstrated at trial), the discovery process has revealed several interesting facts that cut against insolvency as the true basis for the filing (see Debtor's Reply, at p. 65-66), and indeed Orr's recent testimony indicates that insolvency was not the driving factor behind the filing on July 18, 2013, rather the filing at that time was driven by the state court litigations. Orr testified:

19 When did you decide that the timing of the
20 Chapter 9 filing should be July 18th or July 19th?
21 A. Well, I didn't. I decided to make the request and my
22 intent was to have the ability to file available and
23 possibly executed as soon as I got it. It was without

Orr 9/16 Transcript, at 220:19-221:6-10.

55. In addition, the City's evidence regarding insolvency is built upon unproven assertions regarding, inter alia, the alleged unfunded amount of the City's pension and other retiree benefits. Indeed, in the June 14 Restructuring Plan discussing the actuarial accounting underfunding on the City's pension plans, the City suggested that such underfunding using more “realistic assumptions” would be approximately $3.5 billion, up from the $644 million from the City’s 2011 reported underfunding. Restructuring Plan, pp. 23, 109 (noting that “preliminary analysis indicates that the underfunding in the GRS and the PFRS is approximately $3.5 billion); see also Orr Letter Dated July 16, 2013 to Governor Snyder and Treasurer Dillon (copy attached as Exhibit J to Eligibility Brief (recommending chapter 9 filing and discussing $3.5 billion in underfunding of pension liabilities)).

56. However, these allegedly “realistic assumptions” were directly dictated by the City to their actuarial advisor, Milliman, Inc. For example, Charles Moore of Conway MacKenzie admitted in his deposition that the City really had no idea what the underfunded portion of the pension obligations might be (as of September 18, 2013) because “until the City completes its analysis [which is had not yet done] and completes its own actuarial valuation, neither the City nor its actuary [Milliman] nor I would be able to say what all the assumptions are that could be used to either overstate or understate the funded position [of the pensions].” See Charles Moore September 18, 2013 Transcript (the “Moore 9/18 Transcript”, a copy of which is attached to the Artz Declaration, Exhibit D), at 62:2-7; see also Moore 9/18 Transcript, at 63:10-12 (indicating that 7 percent rate of return figure used by Milliman in running certain calculations regarding pension underfunding “was used for illustrative purposes” only and was not recommended by any specific actuary). Furthermore, in an e-mail dated July 9, 2013 from Treasurer Dillon to the Governor and others regarding a meeting Orr would be having with the Detroit retirement systems on July 10, 2013, Treasurer Dillon indicated that “[b]ecause pensions have such a long life there are a lot of creative options we can explore to address how they [the pensions] will be treated in a restructuring.” See Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit D. In fact, experts that reviewed the actuarial assumptions of Detroit's pension systems conclude that the current assumptions generally fall within industry standards. See, e.g., Detroit's Current Pension Assumptions Fall Within Standards: Morningstar, available at <http://www.mandatepipeline.com/news/detroits-current-pension-assumptions-fall-within-standards-morningstar-242817-1.html> (last visited October 8, 2013).

57. Furthermore, as discussed above, the Law Firm highlighted at the January 29, 2013 pitch that "Asset monetization outside of bankruptcy may implicate eligibility requirement that City be insolvent (e.g., measured by short-term cash)" (Pitch Presentation, p. 17), and the City accordingly chose not to monetize certain assets prior to the filing to limit the appearance of short-term cash on the books. This is evidenced, in part, by the (i) recent announcement by the EM of the deal to lease Belle Isle to the Governor and (ii) Orr's strong hints that he is considering monetizing artwork at the Detroit Institute of Arts.¹⁰

58. Additionally, the City's financial projections which serve, in part, as the City's basis for establishing insolvency (which themselves were built on various assumptions not established by any expert testimony) fail to consider the possibility of possible funding sources outside those included in the City's financial projections. For example, Malhotra testified that the City's financial projections assume that the City will have no other funds beyond the City's general fund and that the water and sewer fund was not incorporated into the City's projections. See Malhotra 9/20 Transcript, at 44:21-45:17. Yet, Orr testified that with respect to the pension underfunding (which is cited throughout the City's Eligibility Brief and included as one of the major factors in the City's insolvency in numerous documents and pleadings), of the estimated $644 million in underfunding (based on the pensions funds' 2012 calculations), the majority of that underfunding is attributable to the water and sewer fund which generates its own revenue and which “does have some capacity” to raise rates to generate more funds. See Kevyn Orr October 4, 2013 Transcript (the “Orr 10/4 Transcript”, a copy of which is attached to the Artz Declaration, Exhibit E), at 377:1-380:13.

59. Finally, it bears noting that on July 16, 2013, the City reached a deal with its swap counterparties, which provided for such parties to (i) forbear from pursuing remedies and (ii) allowed the City to redeem the swaps until October 31, 2013 which would result in the City saving between $70 and $85 million. See Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit E (e-mail from Ken Buckfire dated July 17, 2013). Given these immediate savings and other possible avenues (noted above) for the City avoiding bankruptcy, it is clear that the City’s filing had very little to do with any purported insolvency and everything to do with the City’s plan to impair or modify its pension obligations.

ARGUMENT

I. THE CITY’S PETITION VIOLATES THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION

A. Chapter 9 Violates The Federal Structure Of Government

60. Chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code is an unconstitutional violation of federalism because chapter 9 allows Congress to set rules controlling State fiscal self-management – an area of exclusive state sovereignty – as part of an unholy alliance in which the State receives in exchange powers in excess of those it would otherwise possess under the law. The losers here are citizens, such as the AFSCME Employees, who, particularly as creditors of the State, benefit from the State and Congress acting within their constitutionally defined roles so that the State remains accountable during the trying process of a municipal debt adjustment.

61. The Supreme Court recognized this violation explicitly in 1936 when the Court declared the first federal municipal bankruptcy statute unconstitutional for the following two independent reasons: (1) the goal of a municipal bankruptcy is to enable state governments to unconstitutionally escape their debts, but states cannot accomplish the “end” of an unconstitutional act simply “by granting any permission necessary to enable Congress to do so”; and (2) municipal bankruptcy represents an incursion by Congress into the “sovereignty of the State” and its political subdivisions, which renders them “no longer free to manage their own affairs” independent of “interference” by Congress, yet the Constitution does not permit Congress to “pass laws inconsistent with the idea of sovereignty.” Ashton v. Cameron County Water Improvement Dist. No. 1, 298 U.S. 513, 530-32 (1936).

62. Ashton applies with even greater force to chapter 9 than it did to the first federal bankruptcy statute. Chapter 9, like the municipal bankruptcy statute struck down in Ashton, is designed to empower municipalities – whose “fiscal affairs are those of the State, not subject to control or interference by the National Government,” id. at 528 –to “change, modify or impair the obligation of their contracts” in ways not permissible outside of bankruptcy. Id. at 530-31. Under chapter 9 but not under the prior federal municipal bankruptcy statute at issue in Ashton, states are explicitly barred from designing their own process for municipal debt adjustment, further infringing on the constitutionally defined role of the states to manage their own financial affairs. See 11 U.S.C. § 903.

63. As Ashton recognized, that municipalities may not, unlike states, be immune from suit under the 11th Amendment is entirely unrelated to the question of whether their essential role in the federal system of government has been unconstitutionally diminished by an act of Congress. Ashton, 298 U.S. at 531. The Supreme Court recently reaffirmed this distinction in Printz v. United States: “[T]he distinction in our Eleventh Amendment jurisprudence between States and municipalities . . . is peculiar to the question of whether a governmental entity is entitled to Eleventh Amendment sovereign immunity, [and does not] apply [] to the question of whether a governmental entity is protected by the Constitution's guarantees of federalism, including the Tenth Amendment.” 521 U.S.898, 531 n. 15 (1997) (citations omitted).

64. To take just one extremely salient example, the City seeks to reduce its retiree health care obligations permanently in bankruptcy, which the Michigan Court of Appeals has held it could not do under state or federal law. See AFT Michigan v. State, 297 Mich. App. 595, 825 N.W.2d 595 (2012). Thus, under chapter 9 the City seeks to skirt the laws governing its debts outside of bankruptcy in exchange for submitting to the rules enacted by Congress for a chapter 9 filing, thereby ceding sovereign control over some of its own fiscal affairs to the federal judiciary during the bankruptcy process.

65. Neither of the justifications provided by the Supreme Court less than two years after Ashton when it upheld Congress’s next, substantially similar, municipal bankruptcy statute in United States v. Bekins, 304 U.S. 27 (1938) – (1) that the contracts clause of the federal constitution makes the passage of a state law adjusting municipal debts impossible and thus the need for a federal law providing for municipal bankruptcy pressing, and (2) that a State has a right to consent to federal intrusion into its own fiscal affairs – remains valid. This is because intervening Supreme Court precedent holds that states can fashion their own municipal reorganization statutes but cannot consent to any derogation of their sovereign powers.

(i) A Federal Municipal Bankruptcy Statute Is No Longer Necessary To Accomplish An Adjustment Of Municipal Debts

66. As a threshold matter, the Supreme Court has held since Bekins that states can pass legislation to adjust municipal debts in a financial emergency. See Faitoute Iron & Steel Co. v. City of Asbury Park, 316 U.S. 502 (1942). In doing so, the Supreme Court scoffed at the presumption that the federal government could “completely absorb” from a State a power “so peculiarly local as the fiscal management of its own household.” Asbury Park, 316 U.S. at 508-09. See also United States Trust Co. of N.Y. v. New Jersey, 431 U.S. 1 (1977) (recognizing that state legislation repealing a contractual obligation of a state may not violate the contracts clause under certain circumstances). For this reason alone, Bekins, which relied heavily on the Supreme Court’s perception that some mechanism was needed to permit states to adjust their debts during the “[e]conomic disaster” of the Great Depression, 316 U.S. at 53-54, is no longer binding.

(ii) The Supreme Court’s Development Of Constitutional Federalism Doctrine Has Effectively Overruled Bekins

67. Over the past two decades the Supreme Court issued a series of opinions clarifying both the importance of the federal system of government to individual liberty and, concomitantly, the inability of a state to consent to an affront by Congress to that federal system. The fountainhead of these cases is New York v. United States, 505 U.S. 144 (1992). There, Justice O’Connor, writing for the majority, explained at length that any statute exercising federal control over a power which “is an attribute of state sovereignty” – as is the case here with respect to a state’s management of the fiscal affairs of its political subdivisions, see Ashton, supra – is “necessarily” an exercise of “a power the Constitution has not conferred on Congress” and therefore unconstitutional. 505 U.S. at 156. “The States ‘form distinct and independent portions of the supremacy, no more subject, within their respective spheres, to the general authority than the general authority is subject to them, within its own sphere.’” Alden v. Maine, 527 U.S. 706, 714 (1999) (quoting The Federalist No. 39, p. 245 (C. Rossiter ed. 1961) (J. Madison)). Thus the Supreme Court’s duty, Justice O’Connor has explained, is to “invalidate[] measures deviating from” the federalist “form of government” set forth in the Constitution, however “formalistic” the result may appear in light of “the era’s perceived necessity.” New York, 505 U.S. at 187.

(a) Chapter 9 Impinges On The AFSCME Employees’ Individual Rights To Federalism By Eviscerating The Accountability Of Michigan To Its Citizens And Creditors

68. New York and its progeny represent a direct rebuff to Bekins and other Depression-era cases, which softened the requirements of federalism in moments of perceived peril, by setting forth since then a robust vision of federalism which “divides authority between federal and state governments for the protection of individuals.” New York, 505 U.S. at 181. That vision begins with the “incontestable” truth “that the Constitution established a system of ‘dual sovereignty,’” under which the sovereignty reserved to a State and its citizens is “‘inviolable.’” Printz, 521 U.S. at 918-20 (quoting The Federalist No. 39, at 245 (J. Madison)) (other citations omitted). “Residual state sovereignty was also implicit, of course, in the Constitution’s conferral upon Congress of not all governmental powers, but only discrete, enumerated ones, Art. I, § 8, which implication was rendered express by the Tenth Amendment’s assertion that ‘[t]he powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.’” Printz, 521 U.S. at 920.

69. The premise of the federal constitutional structure is that “Congress would exercise its legislative authority directly over individuals rather than over States.” New York, 505 U.S. at 166 (citing 1 Records of the Federal Convention of 1787, p. 313 (M. Farrand ed. 1911) (explaining the “rejection of the New Jersey Plan in favor of the Virginia Plan”)). As a corollary, individual citizens possess a vested right in the guarantee of a strongly demarcated separation of power between the state and federal government to ensure that each remains responsible to the citizens for the tasks with which it was charged:

The great innovation of this design was that “our citizens would have two political capacities, one state and one federal, each protected from incursion by the other”—“a legal system unprecedented in form and design, establishing two orders of government, each with its own direct relationship, its own privity, its own set of mutual rights and obligations to the people who sustain it and are governed by it.” [Printz, 521 U.S. at 920 (quoting U. S. Term Limits, Inc. v. Thornton, 514 U. S. 779, 838 (1995) (Kennedy, J., concurring)).]

70. This structural separation of powers protects individual liberty in myriad ways by creating a “double security as to the rights of the people.” Printz, 521 U.S. at 922 (quoting The Federalist No. 51, at 323 (J. Madison)). It ensures that neither branch will accumulate “excessive power,” thereby reducing “the risk of tyranny and abuse from either front.” Printz, 521 U.S. at 921 (quotation omitted). The separation of powers principle further “contemplates that a State’s government will represent and remain accountable to its own citizens.” Printz, 521 U.S. at 920 (citations omitted). For “[i]f, as Madison expected, the Federal and State Governments are to control each other, see The Federalist No. 51, and hold each other in check by competing for the affections of the people, see The Federalist No. 46, those citizens must have some means of knowing which of the two governments to hold accountable for the failure to perform a given function.” United States v. Lopez, 514 U.S. 549, 576-77 (1995) (Kennedy, J., concurring). See also United States v. Morrison, 529 U.S. 598, 615-16 (2000) (citing the bulk of Justice Kennedy’s concurrence in Lopez and holding that Congress may not “use the Commerce Clause to completely obliterate the Constitution’s distinction between national and local authority”). Accordingly, “[t]he Framers thus ensured that powers which ‘in the ordinary course of affairs, concern the lives, liberties, and properties of the people’ were held by governments more local and more accountable than a distant federal bureaucracy.” Nat. Fed’n of Indep. Business v. Sibelius, 132 S. Ct. 2566, 2578 (2012) (Roberts, C.J.) (quoting The Federalist No. 45, at 293 (J. Madison)).

71. Chapter 9 does unconstitutional violence to the federal structure by obfuscating the system of direct accountability protected by federalism. By outsourcing to the federal judiciary the problem of a state reorganizing its obligations, chapter 9 provides states with unconstitutional – as well as unnecessary, given Asbury Park – cover from its citizens by confusing them as to whom to accord “blame” and “credit” for the results. Printz, 521 U.S. at 931; New York, 505 U.S. at 169. See also Gregory v. Ashcroft, 501 U.S. 452, 459 (“These twin powers will act as mutual restraints only if both are credible.”). “The resultant inability to hold either branch of the government answerable to the citizens is more dangerous even than devolving too much authority to the remote central power.” Lopez, 514 U.S. at 576-77 (Kennedy, J., concurring) (citations omitted).

72. In point of fact, on January 31, 2013, Orr’s colleague himself touted the deflection of accountability for state and city politicians as a benefit. “Making this a national idea is not a bad thing,” he wrote, because “[i]t provides political cover for the state politicians. Indeed, this gives them an even greater incentive to do this right because, if it succeeds, there will be more than enough patronage to allow either [Mayor] Bing or [Governor] Snyder to look for higher callings—whether Cabinet, Senate or Corporate.” Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 2. In a subsequent reply to Orr later that day, Orr’s colleague provided a clear indication of his idea of the “right” way to do “this,” stating: “the ideal scenario would be that Snyder and Bing both agree that the best option is simply to go through an orderly chapter 9.” Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit 1.

73. This veil over accountability is woven into the very structure of chapter 9. While the City must consent to a chapter 9 filing and retains some control over the chapter 9 process, even before the City proposes a plan the Bankruptcy Judge is able to commandeer the City's operation in exchange for the protection of the Bankruptcy Code by using its equitable powers, as it already has in this case, to order the City to, inter alia, turn over documents and engage in mediation and negotiations which the City would not need to submit to outside of Bankruptcy. See Mediation Order [Docket No. 322] ("the Court concludes that it is necessary and appropriate to order the parties to engage in the facilitative mediation of any matters that the Court refers in this case," moreover, the mediator is "authorized to enter any order necessary for the facilitation of mediation proceedings", including regarding discovery issues).

74. Moreover, Bankruptcy Code section 926 provides that "[i]f the debtor refuses to pursue a cause of action under section 544, 545, 547, 548, 549(a) or 550 of this title, then on request of a creditor, the court may appoint a trustee to pursue such cause of action." 11 U.S.C. § 926(b). In at least one reported case, In re Alabama State Fair Authority, 232 B.R. 252 (N.D. Ala. 1999), the bankruptcy court appointed a trustee to pursue preference actions. Thus, the bankruptcy court has discretion, despite a municipal debtor having made the policy choice to settle a pre-petition debt, to appoint a third-party trustee to ignore the municipality's decision and pursue avoidance of such a settlement. With regard to preference avoidance, this is a power an individual creditor could not independently assert under state law. This power also exerts a strong effect on the City throughout bankruptcy as to what actions it can and cannot take, long before ever proposing a plan, without being rebuked by the bankruptcy judge.

75. If the City wishes to obtain the true spoils of bankruptcy – a plan of adjustment – it must submit to a much greater degree of federal interference, thus further blurring the line between Congress and the State as to who is to blame for the contents of that plan. This is because, in order for a debtor's plan to receive approval under chapter 9, it must incorporate priorities of distribution according to the Bankruptcy Code. The tension between chapter 9 and state law rights was highlighted in In re County of Orange, 191 B.R. 1005 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1996), where the court, on preemption grounds, invalidated California's law providing for the establishment of a trust with respect to certain securities. Relying on the doctrine of preemption alone, the County of Orange court held that "The California legislature cannot rewrite the bankruptcy priorities." Id. at 1017.

76. If the people of Michigan were to enact their own laws for adjusting municipal debts – as is their constitutional right, but which they have been unconstitutionally prevented from doing by chapter 9 as amended since Asbury Park – those laws might have very different priorities than chapter 9. Chapter 9, for instance, allows administrative expenses under Bankruptcy Code section 503 and gives them priority under Bankruptcy Code section 507(a)(2), and adopts the definition of secured claims from Bankruptcy Code section 506, to name a few. 11 U.S.C. § 901(a). Importantly, in contrast, the people of Michigan might very well decide to treat issues such as claim priority quite differently. For instance, they might choose to place unsecured retiree health claims before administrative expenses, thus benefitting the AFSCME retirees. This is, after all, a state whose constitution explicitly protects pension rights. But chapter 9 prevents the AFSCME employees from exercising their right to petition their state government to enact a municipal debt adjustment law of this nature, in turn allowing the state to shirk its responsibility to the voice of its citizens by blaming any unjust result in bankruptcy on the claim priorities, rules, and procedures of the Bankruptcy Code. Until chapter 9 is struck down as unconstitutional, state officials can tell their constituents that they had no other choice besides chapter 9 to adjust municipal debts

77. That the City retains some autonomy over its affairs under chapter 9 is irrelevant, for the mere incursion into territory reserved to the states is sufficient to violate the Constitution. “[W]here, as here, it is the whole object of the law to direct the functioning of the state [government], and hence to compromise the structural framework of dual sovereignty . . . a ‘balancing’ analysis is inappropriate. It is the very principle of separate state sovereignty that such a law offends, and no comparative assessment of the various interests can overcome that fundamental defect.” Printz, 521 U.S. at 932.

78. Ultimately, the allocation of state resources as between competing creditors of the City should be determined “by the political process established by the citizens of the State, not by judicial decree mandated by the Federal Government.” Alden, 527 U.S. at 751. “When the Federal Government asserts authority over a State's most fundamental political processes, it strikes at the heart of the political accountability so essential to our liberty and republican form of government.” Id. While the road to adjusting the City’s debts may be longer if it must first involve “greater citizen involvement in democratic processes . . . in shaping the destiny of” the City’s reorganization process via state law, rather than accessing the process set forth in chapter 9, as a result of “the political processes that control a remote central power,” Bond v. United States, 131 S. Ct. 2355, 2364 (2011), “the Constitution protects us from our own best intentions: It divides power among sovereigns and among branches of government precisely so that we may resist the temptation to concentrate power in one location as an expedient solution to the crisis of the day.” New York, 505 U.S. at 187.

79. The unconstitutionality of chapter 9 is further confirmed by its unsuccessful attempt to preserve some independence for state sovereigns within the constraint of the grant of power to Congress by Article I, Section 8 Clause 4 (the “Bankruptcy Clause”) to establish “uniform” bankruptcy laws. Although the bankruptcy code for private debtors may treat debtors differently in different states due to variations in state law and still pass muster as “uniform,” within a state there must be “geographical” uniformity for debtors. Hanover Nat’l Bank v. Moyses, 186 U.S. 181, 188 (1902). But by ceding to each state the ability to define its own qualifications for a municipality to declare bankruptcy, chapter 9 permits the promulgation of non-uniform bankruptcies within states – as in Michigan, where Act 436 has wildly divergent effects on different cities, whose authority to declare bankruptcy purports to rest on the discretion of a Governor who can attach whichever contingencies he wishes. See MCL 141.1558. As a result, nationwide the basic eligibility for an entire class of debtors – municipalities – has no uniform federal law. This is not a question of which state substantive law applies to a class of debtors which is universally eligible for chapter 9, rather it is a foundational problem of who among the class of debtors is even covered by the federal statute in the first place.

80. It is no surprise that this attempt to elude the demands of federalism thereby fails for this additional reason of non-uniformity, for municipal bankruptcy would have been an entirely foreign concept to the framers who modeled much of our federal Constitution on British law which did not then, and still does not today, even contemplate municipal bankruptcy. See, e.g., Janie Anderson Castle, The People’s Mayor for London?, 5 J. Loc. Gov’t L. 29, 32 (2002); Annerose Tashiro, Sovereign Insolvency, 99 Eur. Law. 5 (2010)

(“There is no such thing today anywhere in Europe as a sovereign insolvency regime.”) (advocating implementation of a bankruptcy regime mirroring that of chapter 9 in the EU).

81. It cannot be adequately emphasized that under Asbury Park the State has the authority to amend its own laws to allow for its municipalities to adjust their debts without resorting to a coercive federal statute which unconstitutionality denies the state that right, obscures accountability and is not a uniform bankruptcy law. The State could even, furthermore, seek federal financial assistance to help meet those debts – as indeed it already has. See, e.g., South Dakota v. Dole, 483 U.S. 203, 207 (1987) (Rehnquist, C.J.) (“[O]bjectives not thought to be within Article I’s enumerated legislative fields may nevertheless be attained through the use of the spending power and the conditional grant of federal funds.” (internal quotation omitted)). What the State cannot do – but what chapter 9 demands – is to submit to federal rules which would not merely incentivize the State’s use of lawful power, but engorge that power at the expense of its citizens’ inviolable right to control the operation of their sovereign by setting the rules by which it adjusts its own debts.

(b) Chapter 9’s Requirement Of State Consent Cannot Cure The Violation Of Individual Rights

82. The Supreme Court squarely held in New York that “[t]he constitutional authority of Congress cannot be expanded by the ‘consent’ of the governmental unit whose domain is thereby narrowed, whether that unit is the Executive Branch or the States.” 505 U.S. at 182. Even when such consent is accomplished by statute. See, e.g., Buckley v. Valeo, 424 U.S. 1 (1976) (Congress infringed the President’s appointment power via a law signed by the President); INS v. Chadha, 462 U.S. 919 (1983) (legislative veto violated the constitutional requirement of presentment even where President signed law with legislative veto provision).

83. The decision in Bekins therefore erred in concluding that the then-operative municipal bankruptcy statute was not unconstitutional simply because the statute required the municipality's petition and plan of composition to be authorized by state law. 304 U.S. at 52. To the contrary, the conclusion in Bekins that the only "obstacle" to the exercise of federal bankruptcy over state political subdivisions "lies in the right of the State to oppose federal interference," 304 U.S. at 52-54, is squarely foreclosed by the Court's subsequent decision in New York. Thus the prior rule from Ashton – "Neither consent nor submission by the States can enlarge the powers of Congress," and therefore states cannot "accomplish" an unavailable "end by granting any permission necessary to enable Congress to do so," 298 U.S. at 531 – remains the correct one.

84. The Court concluded in New York that State consent cannot cure an otherwise unconstitutional infringement of state sovereignty for the same reason that municipal bankruptcy violates constitutional federalism in the first place: the design of federalism is meant "for the protection of individuals," not States. New York, 505 U.S. at 181 ("The Constitution does not protect the sovereignty of States for the benefit of the States or state governments as abstract political entities, or even for the benefit of the public officials governing the States."). State government officers may even have "powerful incentives" to consent to a diminishment of state sovereignty to evade one of the core benefits federalism promises to individual citizens: direct accountability of political officials for actions taken in their clearly demarcated domains of authority. Id. at 182-83 ("[I]t is likely to be in the political interest of each individual official to avoid being held accountable to the voters."). Therefore state consent cannot not be allowed to dismantle the delicate balance of powers protecting the accountability of each dual sovereign to its citizens.

(iii) AFSCME Does Not Seek To Relitigate Bekins And The City's Reply Brief Arguments Regarding The Constitutionality Of Chapter 9 Ignore And Misapply The Relevant Authority Discussed Above

85. While the City argues (see Debtor's Reply, at p. 10) that AFSCME (among other objectors) seeks to "relitigate" Bekins, this is simply not the case. As a threshold matter, when the Supreme Court decided Bekins, it reasoned that a federal municipal bankruptcy statute was constitutional in large part because "[t]he natural and reasonable remedy through composition of the debts of the district was not available under state law by reason of the restriction imposed by the Federal Constitution upon the impairment of contracts by state legislation." 304 U.S. 27 at 54. Four years later, the Supreme Court reversed course and held that states can pass state statutes for composition of municipal debts, an area of law it now deemed to be "peculiarly local" because it involved "the fiscal management of its own household." Asbury Park, 316 U.S. at 309. Had Asbury Park been decided at the time of Bekins, certainly the litigation of the issues would have taken a very different form.

86. Nor have the "relevant statutory provisions remained substantially unchanged" since Bekins. Debtor's Reply, at p. 9. To the contrary, the federal municipal bankruptcy statute has been amended numerous times, most notably four years after Asbury Park to undo the victory for states' rights won by the city of Asbury Park in that case. Since then, the federal municipal bankruptcy has prohibited state composition procedures such as those upheld in Asbury Park. See 6-903 Collier on Bankruptcy P 903.LH[2]; 11 U.S.C. § 903(1) ("[A] State law prescribing a method of composition of indebtedness of such municipality may not bind any creditor that does not consent to such composition."). The harm, emphasized by AFSCME above and below, is that chapter 9 after Asbury Park represents "an unholy alliance in which the State receives in exchange [for its consent] powers in excess of those it would otherwise possess under the law.” See supra, ¶ 60. See also infra, ¶¶ 100-103 (“[B]ecause chapter 9 allows the City a process for adjusting its debts which is not identical to the process for doing so under state law – either as it currently exists or if the state were to pass its own municipal composition law” – AFSCME’s members rights to the protection of dual sovereign governments have been violated). This harm is enhanced by the provision of chapter 9 forbidding the states from adopting their own municipal debt adjustment laws, which coerces states into accessing chapter 9 just to receive a constitutional right it already possesses under Asbury Park.

87. With respect to the continued constitutionality of chapter 9, the City’s core contentions are that (1) the Court’s ruling in Asbury Park provides no meaningful opportunity for debt adjustment to municipalities, (2) chapter 9 is essential to states because they need it to sidestep the otherwise-applicable constitutional limit that “they are not at liberty under the Contracts Clause to impair their own contracts”; and (3) chapter 9 cannot violate federalism principles because it does not compel state or local governments to take any action. Debtor’s Reply at 13-15. The first two of these arguments only further confirms the unconstitutionality of chapter 9, and the third is off-target.

88. First, the City is technically correct that a chapter 9 bankruptcy is currently the “one viable option” for a “financially prostrate municipal government” wishing to “resolve debts in a non-consensual manner,” (Debtor’s Reply. at pp. 13-14 (citation omitted)), but that is only because chapter 9 itself unconstitutionally bars – as a matter of statute – the type of state statute approved by the Supreme Court in Asbury Park which would allow adjustment of municipal debts over the objections of creditors under state law. The municipal debt adjustment legislation in Asbury Park, for example, required that any plan of adjustment only be “approved by 85 percent in amount of the creditors” of the municipality. 316 U.S. at 505.

89. It is for this reason – and not, as the City misleadingly contends, for any reason of constitutional law stemming from the United States Trust line of cases – that it “comes as no surprise” that Asbury Park is the only case sustaining the alteration of a municipal bond contract outside a bankruptcy case. See Debtor’s Reply at 13-14. United States Trust did not consider the constitutionality of a state municipal reorganization statute enacted “for the purpose of benefiting” creditors by adjusting their debts – the issue in Asbury Park – but rather the statutory “repeal” of a discrete contractual promise made by state obligors to bondholders, with no state-law process for the bondholders to adjust their debts. United States Trust Co. of NY v. New Jersey, 431 U.S. 1, 28 (1977).

90. The City is thus wrong to argue that AFSCME’s argument “would actually impede, rather than protect, States’ sovereignty.” Debtor’s Reply, at p. 16. Rather, it is Bankruptcy Code section 903 that impedes state sovereignty. Prior to the addition of section 903 to chapter 9 of the federal municipal bankruptcy statute, the Supreme Court held in Asbury Park that that statute could not preempt New Jersey’s state municipal reorganization law because New Jersey was not “powerless in [the] field” of “the autonomous regulation of problems so peculiarly local as the fiscal management of its own household[.]” 316 U.S. at 509. The “explicit limitation” on state municipal reorganization statutes now found at Section 903 “was added to overturn the holding in Asbury Park.” See Michael W. McConnell & Randal C. Picker, When Cities Go Broke: A Conceptual Introduction to Municipal Bankruptcy, 60 U. Chi. L. Rev. 425, 462 (1993). As such, it represents “congressional overreaching in violation of the Tenth Amendment.” 6-903 Collier on Bankruptcy P 903.03[2]. In the wake of Asbury Park and its subsequent Congressional overruling, the states' sovereign power to control municipal reorganization are not aided by chapter 9, they are unconstitutionally limited.

91. Second – after misleading the Court to believe that Asbury Park represents a jurisprudential “outlier” whose rule has been ineffective rather than a watershed decision which Congress rushed to nullify by statute only four years later in “one of the more interesting turnabouts in the history of bankruptcy legislation,” 6-903 Collier on Bankruptcy P 903.LH[2] – the City pivots to argue that because the state municipal adjustment statute sanctioned in Asbury Park must still satisfy the Contracts Clause of the United State Constitution, U.S. Const., Article I, § 10 (the “Contracts Clause”), states need chapter 9 “to impair their own contracts” in violation of the Contracts Clause. Debtor’s Reply, at p. 15. AFSCME, in contrast, maintains that the Contracts Clause continues to constrain all municipal bankruptcies.

92. Having thus conceded, in a surprising display of candor, that the purpose of the City’s bankruptcy filing is not merely to accomplish what it cannot accomplish under a state municipal composition law as a matter of preemption by Section 903, but what it is expressly prohibited from accomplishing as a matter of unconstitutionality by the Contracts Clause, the City’s papers effectively also concede that chapter 9 and/or PA 436 are unconstitutional. The reason: the State of Michigan cannot “impair contracts” beyond what the Contracts Clause allows, and Congress lacks the power under Article I to consent to Michigan doing so.

93. Neither Bekins nor Asbury Park directly addressed this question: whether Congress exceeded its Article I powers by passing a municipal bankruptcy law purporting to empower states to violate the Contracts Clause. Bekins, instead, considered “whether the exercise of the federal bankruptcy power in dealing with a composition of the debts of [a municipality] . . . must be deemed to be an unconstitutional interference with the essential independence of the State,” i.e., the federalism question raised in Ashton and at issue in Bekins. 304 U.S. at 49; see also When Cities Go Broke, supra, at 451-52 (noting that “a plausible argument against the Act might have been based on the rights of the creditors” to complain “that Congress could not extend its own Contracts Clause immunity to a state or local government,” but that argument was not raised in Ashton). Asbury Park, meanwhile, unequivocally held that the Contracts Clause applied to state municipal reorganization legislation, and also gave every indication that a state’s authority to pass municipal reorganization laws was coextensive with Congress’s. 316 U.S. at 507-08. The only time a member of the Supreme Court has ever identified a potential Contracts Clause problem with the federal municipal bankruptcy statute is found in Justice Cardozo’s dissent in Ashton but the Court in Bekins declined to follow Justice Cardozo’s lead. See 298 U.S. at 541-42 (rejecting argument that federal municipal bankruptcy law violated Contracts Clause). This leaves the majority opinion in Ashton – which effectively rejected Justice Cardozo’s argument, and which was not explicitly overruled by Bekins – as the only evidence consideration by a majority of the Court.

94. The Constitution does not simply disappear once a bankruptcy petition is filed, even for holders of unsecured claims. See, e.g., City of New York v. New York, N. H. & H. R. Co., 344 U.S. 293 (1953) (unsecured creditors possess right to notice and hearing under Fifth Amendment before debts can be discharged). So too with the Contracts Clause found at Article I, Section 10 of the U.S. Constitution. Article I, Section 10 contains three clauses, the last two of which permit Congress to consent to a number of otherwise-unconstitutional state acts, for example the right to “enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State,” an example of which was the contract at issue in United States Trust. The Contracts Clause, however, is found in the first clause of Section 10, which grants Congress no right to consent to a violation thereof. Thus, assuming arguendo that the City is correct that the intent of chapter 9 and PA 436 are both to skirt the constraints of the Contracts Clause by means of Congressional consent, Congress lacks the authority under Article I to grant that consent, and the Contracts Clause further prevents the State from passing a law like PA 436 intending to end-run the Contracts Clause. The result would be equally unconstitutional, and absurd, if Congress were to pass a statute, under its Section 8 power to coin money, which set up Article I courts to approve applications from individual states to coin their own money despite the blanket prohibition in Article I, Section 10 against states doing so.

95. Third, no state, as argued supra, can “consent” to “enlarge the powers of Congress; none can exist except those which are granted.” Ashton, 298 U.S. at 531. The City’s attempt to distinguish the Court’s line of federalism cases since New York v. United States completely misses this point by insisting that chapter 9 does not violate the federalism principles articulated in those cases merely because “chapter 9 is ‘administered’ by the federal bankruptcy court, not the States.” Debtor’s Reply, at p. 16. But these cases cannot be oversimplified and read in a vacuum as the City suggests. The Court’s new federalism stands not for the narrow proposition that Congress cannot force states to administer federal regulatory programs, but for a broader constitutional rule: “if a power is an attribute of state sovereignty reserved by the Tenth Amendment, it is necessarily a power the Constitution has not conferred on Congress,” and “the Constitution has never been understood to confer upon Congress the ability to require the States to govern according to Congress’ instructions” even with “the ‘consent’ of the governmental unit whose domain is thereby narrowed.” New York, 505 U.S. at 156, 162, 182.

96. As described supra, chapter 9 does exactly that – if a state consents, a federal bankruptcy judge enforces a set of instructions from the Code, most notably the requirements for plan confirmation, and takes over municipal decision-making during the bankruptcy by controlling the municipality’s right not to engage in discovery or mediation and by wielding the power to appoint a trustee to recover preferential transfers over the municipality’s objection. These elements of chapter 9 – which the City entirely ignores in its brief – violate the Supreme Court’s clear direction that “[t]he Constitution’s division of power among the three branches is violated where one branch invades the territory of another, whether or not the encroached-upon branch approves the encroachment.” Id. at 182. The City points to general language in Section 903 prohibiting interference with “political or governmental powers,” (Debtor’s Reply, at p. 18), but that language is belied by other provisions of the Code explicitly permitting interference by the bankruptcy judge.

97. The City’s related argument that “chapter 9 operates much like federal programs that extend the benefits of federal money to States that voluntarily submit to federal requirements,” (Debtor’s Reply, at pp. 16-17) is inapposite because the state does not obtain money in exchange for taking some action clearly within its power but desired by the federal government, rather the state reacquires its inherent power under Asbury Park to access a process for adjusting its debts. In exchange for a power it already would possess in the absence of chapter 9, the state is forced to give the federal government control over state sovereign functions not available to Congress under the Constitution.

98. This aspect of chapter 9 – its nullification of all state laws for municipal debt adjustment in favor of an exclusive federal remedy which subjects state and local officials to federal rules – highlights the accountability problem of allowing state and local officials to represent to their constituents that the only way to escape financial catastrophe is to access chapter 9 and accept the rules therein, such as claim priorities in the Code, which voters in the state might wish to alter. For if a state declines Congress's offer of access to chapter 9, it has no recourse to adjust municipal debts en masse as a result of Section 903. Yet if a municipality is as financially distressed as the City contends it is, it faces the problem which motivated the Court in Asbury Park to find that states can design their own debt adjustment statutes consistent with the Contracts Clause: the City has no reasonable alternative.¹¹ Under such circumstances, state and local government officials face an unconstitutional conundrum: accept federal interference with their sovereign fiscal self-management, or default on municipal debt in violation of the Contracts Clause. If the former is chosen, the City accepts rules and instructions from a federal judge, which state and local officials can refer to when attempting to shift blame for the hard decisions of municipal reorganization instead of confronting a local debate over legislation at the state level about how to adjust municipal debt.

99. Finally, the City is incorrect that chapter 9 is a uniform bankruptcy law. As noted supra – but ignored in the City's reply – a municipal bankruptcy law would have been inconceivable to the framers. But even had they imagined the unimaginable, they surely would have recognized that chapter 9 is a non-uniform law because it fails to “apply uniformly to a defined class of debtors.” Railway Labor Executives Ass'n v. Gibbons, 455 U.S. 457, 473 (1982). Surely, as the City notes, the Code can give way to state substantive law, such as the exemptions at issue in Hanover National Bank, which apply generally within a state as to all debtors in the same class. But by outsourcing to the states the decision of who is eligible for chapter 9 protection, Congress has enacted a bankruptcy law that, rather than “define classes of debtors and . . . structure relief accordingly,” Gibbons, 455 U.S. at 473, fails to define a class of debtors under federal law. This yields statutes like PA 436, which is not uniform within Michigan because it does not grant the right to file for bankruptcy to all municipalities who meet defined criteria, but rather leaves the eligibility question to the unchecked discretion of the Governor. See MCL § 141.1558 (placing no standards on gubernatorial decision whether or not to grant permission to file). Whether on its face because it allows such a result, or as applied here in the context of PA 436, chapter 9 therefore violates the limitation that Congress only pass bankruptcy laws which are uniform.

B. AFSCME’s Active And Retired Members Have Individual Standing To Assert That Chapter 9 Violates Their Individual Rights To A Federal System Of Government

100. The Supreme Court has squarely held that individuals – and not just states – have standing to challenge that Congress has “exceeded its powers under the Constitution, thus intruding upon the sovereignty and authority of the States.” Bond v. United States, 131 S. Ct. 2355 (2011). As also analyzed supra, individuals have their “own constitutional interests” to “assert injury from governmental action taken in excess of the authority that federalism defines,” and their “rights in this regard do not belong to the State.” Id. at 2363-64.

101. Two aspects of the Court’s conclusion in Bond are of special relevance to the instant case. First, the Court emphasized that federalism protects not just “the integrity of the [state and federal] governments themselves,” but also, distinctly, “the people, from whom all governmental powers are derived.” Id. at 2464. Individual citizens’ interests in pressing federalism complaints include the “liberties that derive from the diffusion of sovereign power,” such as (1) “greater citizen involvement in democratic processes” and citizens’ consequent ability to use their voices “in shaping the destiny of their own times without having to rely solely upon the political processes that control a remote central power”; and (2) the promise that “laws enacted in excess of delegated governmental power cannot direct or control their actions” and the consequent protection of citizens from the “arbitrary power” caused by giving any one government too much sway over “the concerns of public life.” The City’s chapter 9 petition threatens AFSCME’s members with both of these harms insofar as it (1) shields the City from a democratic process of resolving its fiscal crisis by rejecting the accountability of local politicians responsive to Detroit’s citizenry in favor of an unelected federal judiciary, and (2) allows the federal government to concoct rules for the resolution of disputes in an “area of traditional state concern.” Lopez, 514 U.S. at 580 (Kennedy, J., concurring).

102. Second, the Bond Court rejected the argument, pressed by the respondent, that a state’s waiver of any interference with its sovereignty should trump objections by individual citizens on Tenth Amendment grounds. See Brief for the Amicus Curiae Appointed to Defend the Judgment Below at 25, Bond v. United States, 131 S. Ct. 2355 (2011) (No. 09-1227) (“Particularly when the private party’s interests are not aligned with those of the State, as may well be true in this very case . . . private party suits have the potential to frustrate and undermine state policies and decisions.”). To the contrary, the Court held, a claim that “a law was enacted in contravention of constitutional principles of federalism . . . need not depend on the vicarious assertion of a State’s constitutional interests, even if a State’s constitutional interests are also implicated.” Bond, 131 S. Ct. at 2365. Whether the State has invited the federal incursion upon State authority is irrelevant. Only whether the individual claimant’s injury so much as “might not have come about if the matter were left for the [State] to decide” on its own matters to the analysis. Id. at 2366.

103. No doubt exists that if the State of Michigan were left to devise its own scheme for adjusting municipal debts – as is squarely within its authority under Asbury Park – the State might devise a system different from the United States Bankruptcy Code. Under the microscope of “greater citizen involvement” at the local level, the City, fulfilling the promise of federalism to its citizens, would be more directly constrained to create a process responsive to their needs – including, perhaps, the same needs which prompted the passage of the state constitutional amendment protecting the very diminishment or impairment of vested pension rights which the City now seeks to accomplish under the cover of chapter 9. Regardless, because chapter 9 creates for the City an exclusive process for adjusting its debts which is not identical to the process for doing so under state law – either as it currently exists or as it would exist if the state were to pass its own municipal composition law – AFSCME’s members, as creditors of the City, have standing to object to the City’s use of chapter 9 on federalism grounds.

C. This Court Lacks The Authority Or Jurisdiction To Decide Whether Chapter 9 Violates The United States Constitution Or Whether Pa 436 Violates The Michigan Constitution

104. This Court lacks jurisdiction to decide whether chapter 9 violates the U.S. Constitution (or for that matter whether PA 436 and the authorization for the City’s chapter 9 filing violates the Michigan constitution). As the Supreme Court recently explained in Stern v. Marshall, Article III of the Constitution assigns the job of resolving questions of constitutional law to the “judicial power of the United States.” 131 S. Ct. at 2609. Because bankruptcy judges are appointed under Article I—unlike judges appointed under Article III, who have life tenure and protection from removal or diminishment of salary – Congress may not grant to bankruptcy judges the right to exercise that power. Id.

105. No doubt exists either that the resolution of federal constitutional questions comes under the “judicial power” and is not subject to any exception thereto. Stern, building on the Court’s decisions in Northern Pipeline Construction Co. v. Marathon Pipe Line Co., 458 U.S. 50 (1982), and Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 (U.S. 33) (1989), held that any narrow “public rights” exception permitting bankruptcy judges to issue certain final orders does not apply to any legal claim “independent of the federal bankruptcy law and not necessarily resolvable by a ruling on the creditor’s proof of claim in bankruptcy.” 131 S. Ct. at 2611. The federal constitutional claims of AFSCME’s members stem from the Constitution, not the Bankruptcy Code, and cannot be resolved by the very claims process whose legality is the subject of the constitutional challenge. Though technically an objection to eligibility, AFSCME’s state and federal constitutional claims in fact sound as affirmative allegations that their constitutional rights have been violated by the City’s filings, such as would be brought under Section 1983 (and were brought in the Webster Litigation) but for the automatic stay and its extension by this Court pursuant to Section 105 of the Code

106. Moreover, the instant constitutional challenges have nothing to do with a federal regulatory scheme. Stern is quite clear that the “public rights” exception is limited to claims asserting rights “integrally related to particular federal government action,” i.e., claims challenging action undertaken pursuant to “a federal regulatory scheme” or whose resolution “by an expert government agency is deemed essential to a limited regulatory objective within the agency’s authority.” Id. at 2613. Where, as is the case with this purely constitutional argument, the determination of a legal question has nothing to do with the contours of federal regulations or expert agency fact-finding, the argument must be resolved by an Article III judge.

107. At its core, the “public rights” exception is designed to address situations where – unlike here – a party seeks to enforce rights which Congress has created by statute. See Granfinanciera, 492 U.S. at 51 (citations omitted). The constitutional challenges raised herein invoke no such public right; “Congress has nothing to do with it.” Stern, 131 S. Ct. at 2613. Nor do bankruptcy judges possess any special expertise at resolving constitutional challenges to their own authority or jurisdiction. “The experts in the federal system at resolving” constitutional questions such as this one “are the Article III courts, and it is with those courts that [this] claim must stay.” Id. at 2615. The words of the Supreme Court in Stern apply with equal force here:

What is plain here is that this case involves the most prototypical exercise of judicial power: the entry of a final, binding judgment by a court with broad substantive jurisdiction, on a [constitutional] cause of action, when the action neither derives from nor depends upon any agency regulatory regime. If such an exercise of judicial power may nonetheless be taken from the Article III Judiciary simply by deeming it part of some amorphous “public right,” then Article III would be transformed from the guardian of individual liberty and separation of powers we have long recognized into mere wishful thinking. [Id.]

108. While the City argues (See Debtor’s Reply, at pp. 5-8) that AFSCME seeks to radically expand Stern and that no private rights are at issue in this Court’s determination regarding the federal constitutional issues raised above and the state constitutional issues raised extensively below, in fact, critical private rights (including rights of City pension plan participants) are ultimately at issue here, including rights specifically raised prior to the City’s filing of its chapter 9 petition by parties in, inter alia, the Webster Litigation (and other state court proceedings).

109. The arguments against this Court’s authority or jurisdiction to render any decision regarding the constitutionality of chapter 9 or, for that matter, the constitutionality of PA 436 have (since the filing of the Original AFSCME Objection) been extensively briefed in the Official Committee of Retiree's (the "Retiree Committee") (i) Motion to Withdraw the Reference [Docket No. 806] (the "Withdrawal Motion") and (ii) Reply Memorandum of Law in support of the Withdrawal Motion (Case No. 13-cv-13873, Docket No. 12] (the "Reply Withdrawal Motion"). The Withdrawal Motion is now pending before the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan and rather than duplicate efforts, AFSCME hereby adopts as if fully set forth herein all of the arguments raised by the Retiree Committee in both the Withdrawal Motion and Reply Withdrawal Motion in support of why this Court lacks the authority or jurisdiction to render any decision regarding the federal constitutional questions raised above or the state constitutional issues raised below.

110. Accordingly, and with respect, this Court should immediately refer this constitutional challenge to chapter 9 along with the state constitutional challenges (raised below) to the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan for adjudication.

II. THE CITY IS NOT ELIGIBLE TO FILE FOR CHAPTER 9 PROTECTION UNDER SECTION 109(C) OF THE BANKRUPTCY CODE

111. The City, as a purported municipal debtor, bears the burden of establishing it is eligible for relief under chapter 9. See, e.g., In re City of Stockton, 475 B.R. 720, 725-26 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012) (citing cases); In re Valley Health Sys., 383 B.R. 156, 161 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2008); In re County of Orange, 183 B.R. 594, 599 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1995); In re Sullivan County Regional Refuse Disposal Dist., 165 B.R. 60, 72 (Bankr. D.N.H. 1994). "[A]ccess to Chapter 9 relief has been designed to be an intentionally difficult task." Sullivan County, 165 B.R. at 82; see also In re Cottonwood Water and Sanitation Dist., 138 B.R. 973, 979 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1992) (explaining that, although the Bankruptcy Code, as remedial legislation, is generally broadly construed, "municipal bankruptcies involve significant problems . . . not encountered in the private sector” and raise important constitutional issues, so that “Congress consciously sought to ‘limit accessibility to the bankruptcy court’ by municipalities.” (internal citation omitted)). As a result, “[t]he bankruptcy court’s jurisdiction should not be exercised lightly in chapter 9 cases.” Sullivan County, 165 B.R. at 82.

112. As demonstrated below and as will be further demonstrated at trial, the City necessarily fails to carry its burden with respect to the following eligibility requirements: (i) valid authorization under Michigan state law (section 109(c)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code); and (ii) good faith negotiations or impracticability of such negotiations (section 109(c)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code). Further, as has become apparent through discovery and as shown below (and AFSCME expects will be further shown at trial), the City’s evidence regarding insolvency is woefully inadequate, supported by no expert testimony or other reliable evidence, and accordingly the City fails to satisfy the insolvency requirement under section 109(c)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code.

113. Finally, the evidence reveals that the City’s bankruptcy petition was filed in bad faith and not motivated by a proper purpose under chapter 9 and should be dismissed pursuant to section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code. See e.g., In re McCurtain Municipal Authority, 2007 WL 4287604 at *3 (Bankr. E.D. Okla. Dec. 4, 2007) (holding that “the inability to pay debts as they become due depend[s] upon the inescapable quality of the obligation and the certainty that it cannot be met. Mere possibility or even speculative probability is not enough.”) (citations omitted).

114. Before proceeding to address the merits of each of these arguments regarding (i) valid authorization, (ii) good faith negotiations/impracticability of such negotiations, and (iii) bad faith filing, it bears noting that during Orr’s original deposition on September 16, 2013

(and subsequent October 4, 2013 deposition), Orr continued to hide behind the common interest privilege to essentially cover up any discussions or communications Orr had with State government officials under an alleged common interest privilege.

115. While this Court determined the common interest privilege may apply to such communications, AFSCME believes that the discussions and deliberations between City and State officials leading up to the City's filing for chapter 9 in the period prior to July 18, 2013 – discussions which the City and State have clearly worked hard to keep secret – relate to the crux of AFSCME's (and other objectors') arguments set forth below that the City filed its chapter 9 petition in bad faith, without real negotiations with significant creditors, and that the authorization was tailored by City and State officials to circumvent the Michigan constitution's Pensions Clause. Given the presumption that government is supposed to be transparent (e.g., FOIA statutes), and the fact that significant e-mails between the State, City and the Law Firm (including between the State and Orr) were already produced in this and other litigations, to the extent that the common interest ever applied, such privilege has been waived and AFSCME asserts its continued objection to the City and State refusing to give deposition testimony or provide documents (some of which may have been waived by prior documents produced and deposition testimony given by the State and City in this and other proceedings) subject to an asserted common interest privilege.

116. AFSCME believes that it already has sufficient evidence to rebut the City's case regarding authorization, good faith negotiations, general bad faith filing, and insolvency, but notes that the City and State's continued reliance on a purported common interest should be reconsidered and AFSCME provided further testimony and documents prior to trial so AFSCME can have proper due process.¹²

A. The City Is Not Authorized By Michigan State Law To Be A Debtor Under Chapter 9

117. The City contends that it is authorized to be a debtor under state law because Section 18 of PA 436, M.C.L. 141.1558, provides that “[u]pon receipt of the written approval [of the Governor], the emergency manager is authorized to proceed under chapter 9,” and further “empowers the emergency manager to act exclusively on the local government’s behalf in any such case under chapter 9.” See Eligibility Brief, p. 10. However, the Governor’s blanket grant of permission to file for bankruptcy under Section 18 of PA 436 violated the Michigan Constitution because it failed to explicitly prohibit the impairment or diminishment of vested pension rights, which the Governor was fully aware was the intention of the instant chapter 9 petition. Moreover, the appointment of the Emergency Manager under PA 436 violates the “strong home rule” provisions of the Michigan Constitution. Where, as here, a state constitution bars the purported state law authorization, a chapter 9 petition must be dismissed. See In re City of Harrisburg, PA, 465 B.R. 744 (Bankr. M.D. Pa. 2011) (analyzing Pennsylvania Constitution to determine whether city was authorized to file under chapter 9).

(i) Governor Snyder’s Authorization Of The City’s Petition Under Section 18 Of PA 436 Violated Article IX, Section 24 Of The Michigan State Constitution

118. As a Michigan Circuit Court Judge has already held, Michigan State law forbids authorization of the City’s bankruptcy petition insofar as it seeks to reduce accrued pension benefits in violation of the State Constitution. Yet the Emergency Manager has been very clear that he intends to use this chapter 9 proceeding to do just that. Indeed, the Emergency Manager had made that intent known well prior to requesting the Governor's permission to file under chapter 9. For instance, on June 14, 2013 he both (a) issued a "Proposal for Creditors" expressly stating that "there must be significant cuts in accrued, vested pension amounts for both active and currently retired persons," and (b) publicly threatened, in an interview with the Detroit Free Press Editorial Board, that vested pension benefits will not be protected in a chapter 9 proceeding authorized by the Governor pursuant to PA 436, and that any state laws protecting vested pension benefits will "not . . . protect" retirees in bankruptcy court.

¹² AFSCME did not appeal the Court’s common interest ruling which was interlocutory, but reserves the right to argue on appeal that the City and State’s failure to testify and produce documents on relevant subject matters, including regarding the EM and State’s plans for the EM commencing the City’s chapter 9 case, prevent AFSCME from a full and fair opportunity to litigate its objections to the City’s eligibility. Accordingly, AFSCME reserves all rights in this regard, including all appellate rights upon entry of a final appealable order regarding the City’s eligibility.

119. Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution (the "Pensions Clause") provides: "The accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby." It means what it says: "[U]nder Art. 9, § 24, a retirement benefit cannot be reduced." Seitz v. Probate Judges Retirement System, 189 Mich. App. 445, 474 N.W. 2d 125, 128 (1991) (emphasis added); see also id. at 127 ("Article IX, § 24 protects those persons covered by a state or local pension or retirement plan from having their benefits reduced." (citing Detroit Police Officers Ass'n v. Detroit, 391 Mich. 44, 69, 214 N.W.2d 803 (1974))).

120. Article IX, Section 24 completely protects the "receipt of pension benefits related to work already performed by" any City employees, whether active or retired – i.e., any pension benefits which have "accrued" and thus become "vested pension benefits" – from being diminished at all. APTE v. Detroit, 154 Mich. App. 440, 398 N.W.2d 436, 439-40 (1986); Advisory Opinion re Constitutionality of 1972 PA 258, 389 Mich. 659, 663 (1973)

(holding that “the intention of the people in adopting” Article 9, Section 24 was that “the benefits of pension plans are in a sense deferred compensation for work performed . . . which should not be diminished by the employing unit after the service has been performed.” (quoting 1 Official Record, Constitutional Convention 1961, 770-71)). Vested pensions rights covered by Article IX, Section 24 differ in this important respect from contractual benefits protected solely by Article I, Section 10 of the Michigan Constitution (the State’s “Contracts Clause”), which in a narrow set of cases may not prohibit the State from effecting “a modest, temporary impairment” of those other types of “governmental contracts . . . as a matter of last resort to address a fiscal emergency.” AFT Michigan v. State, 297 Mich. App. 597, 602, 825 N.W.2d 595 (2012) (noting that “[a]ll parties agree that . . . accrued financial benefits under Const. 1963, art. 9, § 24 . . . may not be impaired,” but concluding that the retiree health benefits in question were not “accrued financial benefits” within the wholesale protection of Article IX, Section 24 and thus proceeding to consider whether they could be impaired under the Contracts Clause); BCBSM v. Governor, 422 Mich. 1, 22-23, 367 N.W.2d 1 (1985) (“The federal balancing approach has been adopted by our Court for purposes of adjudicating state Contract Clause claims as well as federal Contract Clause claims.”).

121. Governor Snyder violated Article IX, Section 24 – and with it the requirement, set forth at 11 U.S.C. § 109(c)(2), that he be “empowered by State law to authorize” the City to become a debtor – when he failed to condition the City’s chapter 9 petition on the complete preservation of vested pension rights despite the Governor’s clear knowledge (admitted to by the Governor in deposition testimony provided on October 9, 2013, see supra, ¶28) that the Emergency Manager intended to use the Governor’s authorization to diminish constitutionally sacrosanct pension benefits. Section 18 allows the Governor to “place contingencies on a local government in order to proceed under Chapter 9,” but does not explicitly require that compliance with Article IX, Section 24 be one of those contingencies. In this case, the Governor explicitly chose “not to impose such contingencies.” See Docket No. 1 at p. 16.

122. Section 18 is unconstitutional as applied where, as here, the Governor has abused his discretion by purporting to authorize a bankruptcy which “would violate the constitution.” Taxpayers of Michigan Against Casinos v. State, 478 Mich. 99, 107-08 & n.3 (2007) (even “broad discretion” granted to Governor by statute to act unilaterally must be exercised “within the limits of the constitution”). Moreover, Governor Snyder’s authorization has itself unconstitutionally caused an “immediate, concrete injury” to Council 25’s members by creating a “contingent liability” that their inviolable rights will be disregarded, causing them to reorder their financial affairs. See Clinton v. New York, 524 U.S. 417 (1998) (plaintiffs had standing to challenge constitutionality of executive action which, if left unchecked, would leave undisturbed potential future harm posing, by virtue of its magnitude, immediate and direct financial consequences to plaintiffs).

123. The strings left unattached to the Governor’s sign-off speak volumes because PA 436 is not ignorant of Article IX, Section 24. To the contrary, other sections of the Act explicitly reiterate that accrued pension benefits shall not be diminished or impaired outside the bankruptcy context. See, e.g., MCL 141.1551(1)(d) (requiring that the Emergency Manager’s financial and operating plan provide for “[t]he timely deposit of required payments to the pension fund for the local government”); MCL 141.1552(i)(m)(ii) (allowing the Emergency Manager in certain circumstances to serve as the sole trustee of a municipality’s pension fund, but requiring that he “fully comply with . . . section 24 of article IX of the state constitution”); MCL 141.1553 (eliminating the “the accrual of postemployment benefits” of local government officers but prohibiting “the impairment of vested pension benefits”). Thus the Governor’s contingency-free permission reads like an open invitation to the Emergency Manager to violate the State Constitution in bankruptcy, and therefore is unconstitutional.

124. In the alternative, this Court should hold that any authorization the Governor sought to provide under Section 18 carried with it the implicit contingency that all actions taken pursuant to it by the Emergency Manager, including the proposal of any plan of adjustment under 11 U.S.C. § 943, must comply with the State Constitution, including Article IX, Section 24. In his letter to the Emergency Manager giving unconditional permission to file under chapter 9, Governor Snyder observed that the Bankruptcy Code “contains the most important contingency – a requirement that the plan be legally executable” under 11 U.S.C. § 943(b)(4). Docket No. 1 at p. 16. Because a plan of adjustment which would reduce vested benefits would not be legally executable under the Michigan Constitution – and because, as Governor, Snyder is forbidden from authorizing any violation of the state constitution – his letter to the EM should, in the alternative, be construed as requiring compliance with Article IX, Section 24.

125. AFSCME and its members must not be made to wait to raise a § 943(b)(4) argument until the moment a plan is proposed – though of course they reserve the right to do so – because of the harm being suffered by the AFSCME Detroit Employees now as a result of their credible fear that the Emergency Manager will force them to accept the unconstitutional impairment or diminishment of their vested pension rights - the threat of which he is attempting to use as leverage against them now. Thus, if this Court plans to find the City eligible to file for bankruptcy under chapter 9, it should hold on the record now that any plan proposed by the City will have to comply with Article IX, Section 24 because the Governor could not have given permission to file under chapter 9 without including the implicit contingency that the City's plan of adjustment not reduce vested pension benefits. Otherwise creditors with vested pension rights will continue to suffer an unconstitutional injury throughout the course of this bankruptcy as a result of the threats of the Emergency Manager , and the Court will be virtually powerless to prevent that harm unless and until the City proposes its plan of adjustment. To prevent that harm now, the Court at the very least should clarify, as a preliminary condition of eligibility, that these bankruptcy proceedings cannot reduce vested pension benefits. Cf. Seitz, 189 Mich. App. at 456 (declining to “throw out” a pension-reform statute in its entirety where none of the plaintiff state court judges could show that they would receive reduced pension benefits under said statute, but clarifying that the state was required “to honor its obligations” not to enforce the statute wherever doing so would in fact result in a reduction to a retired judge’s vested pension rights). See also Lansing School Educ. Ass’n v Lansing Bd. of Educ., 487 Mich. 349, 372 n.20; 792 N.W.2d. 686 (2010) (declaratory judgment appropriate under Michigan law to accomplish a “sharpening of the issues raised” (quotation omitted)).

126. Whatever its route – either by holding that the Governor violated Article IX, Section 24 by granting the City blanket permission to file under chapter 9 despite knowing full well that the Emergency Manager plans to use chapter 9 to cram down unconstitutional pension reductions, or that the Governor’s permission carried with it the implicit condition that Article IX, Section 24 not be violated in bankruptcy– this Court must, when applying state law, hold the Governor to the truism that he cannot take actions “that would violate the constitution” even where he is acting with “broad discretion” delegated to him by statute. See Taxpayers of Michigan Against Casinos, supra.

(a) Despite the City’s Arguments to the Contrary, Parties Have Already Been Unconstitutionally Harmed By The Governor’s Authorization

127. Addressing the above arguments, the City in the Debtor’s Reply does not contest that (1) “the Emergency Manager has been very clear that he intends to use this chapter 9 proceeding to” “reduce accrued pension benefits” and “had made that intent known well prior to requesting the Governor’s permission to file under chapter 9,” supra at ¶ 118; (2) Governor Snyder’s grant of permission to file under chapter 9 has caused an “‘immediate, concrete injury’ to Council 25’s members by creating a ‘contingent liability’ that” they will have to “reorder their financial affairs” to address possible diminution to their pensions, supra at ¶ 122; (3) the EM is using this harm, which is being suffered by the AFSCME Detroit Employees now, as leverage against them in this bankruptcy, supra at ¶ 125; and (4) the Governor “cannot take actions that would violate the constitution even where he is acting with broad discretion delegated to him by statute,” supra at ¶ 126. Moreover, since the City filed its reply brief, the Governor has testified to the fact that he was entirely aware that his purported authorization of this bankruptcy was intended to enable the reduction of vested pension benefits which would not be possible outside of bankruptcy court due to Article IX, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution.

128. These four uncontested points, taken together with the Governor’s testimony, are dispositive in answering the City’s chief counterargument – made multiple times in only slightly varied terms (see, e.g., Debtor’s Reply, at pp. 21-22; 28-31) – that the Governor cannot have violated the state constitution’s “Pensions Clause” by granting the City permission for bankruptcy, and the EM could not have done so by filing the chapter 9 petition, because, the City contends, neither act in and of itself impaired or diminished any vested pension rights.

129. Boiled down, the City's claim is that no retiree has yet suffered any injury as a result of the Governor's action. See, e.g., Debtor's Reply, at p. 22 (emphasizing that "the City's pension obligations have remained unimpaired"). Not so. Contrary to the City's argument – and left entirely unaddressed in its briefing – is the fact that the threat of diminishment posed by the Governor's grant of permission is presently causing real economic harm to vested pensioners, diminishing the value of their vested pensions right now due to the uncertainty surrounding continued vitality of those pensions in bankruptcy.

130. An imminent threat of future harm provides standing to assert a constitutional injury, even where that injury stems from the contingent effects caused by a plan of reorganization in bankruptcy. In re Global Indus. Technologies, Inc., 645 F.3d 201, 213 (3d Cir. 2011) (en banc) ("[A]n injury's having a contingent aspect does not necessarily make that injury incognizable."). Thus, in Clinton v. New York, the Supreme Court made crystal clear that where an executive branch officer takes an action which could cost a private party money, but where that cost remains contingent on the actions of another branch of government, the private party has already experienced real, justiciable harm to its "borrowing power, financial strength, and fiscal planning." Clinton, 524 U.S. at 430-31. The Court in Clinton analogized this injury to the injury stemming from a pending trial in a "multibillion dollar" case, id., which is not unlike the harm here. Indeed, the testimony of many individual objectors before this Court on September 19 confirmed the real harm being caused right now to the pension rights of retirees. See generally September 19 Hearing Transcript.

131. For an act of a state to impair a contract, that act need not change the contract terms itself; it is enough that the state act makes impairment possible in the future. Just as "the First Amendment is implicated whenever free speech is either threatened or impaired," so too is “the Contract Clause [i]mplicated whenever the passage of a law impairs the ability to negotiate and enter into contracts” even if no term of a contract currently in effect has yet been altered pursuant to the challenged law. Donohue v. Mangano, 886 F. Supp. 2d 126, 151 (E.D.N.Y. 2012). In Donahue, the County passed a law which, much like PA 436, permitted the cancellation of CBAs upon the order of a county executive. Id. at 134. Although no such executive order had yet been issued, the court found that the underlying law had caused an irreparable harm warranting a preliminary injunction because the specter of future contract cancellation had effectively impaired a number of existing contracts.

132. In reaching its conclusion, the Donahue court made two crucial observations about the harm caused by the law at issue there, despite the law itself not yet having caused the formal cancellation of any actual contracts. First, “[i]f a public employer can gain through legislation what it gave up during good faith negotiations . . . the negotiations that bore [that] agreement become meaningless.” Id. at 153. Second, “even if” no further action is taken to cancel or alter a particular contract, “this law arguably places a knife to the throat of the unions to coerce them into making certain concessions, under the threat of the [government] taking more egregious actions” in the future pursuant to the passed law. Id. The same, of course, is true as a result of the Governor’s grant of permission and the filing of the City’s bankruptcy petition: regardless of what happens to vested pension rights in bankruptcy, the mere availability of bankruptcy to the City “places a knife to the throat of the unions” and retirees “to coerce them into making certain concessions” of their vested pension benefits. The retirees experience this harm whether or not their pensions are cut in bankruptcy pursuant to a voluntary settlement or a cram-down. As such, it violates the Pensions Clause under any reasonable analysis.

133. In any case, this Court can only confirm a plan if “the debtor is not prohibited by law from taking any action necessary to carry out the plan.” 11 U.S.C. § 943(b). In In re Sanitary & Improvement District, No. 7, 98 B.R. 970 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1989), the court held that a plan could not be confirmed where that plan required less than full payment to bondholders, because although such a plan is generally permissible under chapter 9, Nebraska law required full payment to bondholders. Id. at 974-75. The important insight of Sanitary & Improvement District is that implementation of a plan of adjustment ultimately requires “action” attributable to the debtor, which must honor the requirements of state law. Accordingly, any reduction to pension benefits ordered by this Court would ultimately require acts attributable to the City, and thus would violate the Pensions Clause and be unconfirmable under section 943 of the Bankruptcy Code. This is especially true with respect to pension benefits because the state and its instrumentalities are forbidden by the language of the Pensions Clause from reducing vested pensions by any means whatsoever (“shall not be diminished or impaired thereby”). With respect to other contractual rights, the plain language of the contracts clauses of the federal and state constitutions require only that no “law” impairing such rights “be enacted.”

134. No doubt aware that any plan reducing vested pension benefits could be effectively challenged under section 943 of the Bankruptcy Code, the City argues that such a determination must wait until the City proposes a plan, so that the City in the meantime can wield the uncertainty of the outcome of such a challenge as leverage over the retirees to force them to agree to a plan which unconstitutionally reduces their pensions. This is precisely the type of injury which the Donohue court found to constitute an impairment warranting an injunction, and therefore this issue should be addressed now.

135. In re City of Stockton, 493 B.R. 772 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2013) – which the City contends stands for the proposition that “the ‘main event’ of pension impairment is not properly addressed until well after the eligibility stage,” (Debtor’s Reply, at p. 22) – is easily distinguishable. In Stockton, no creditor challenged that the city’s petition was not authorized by state law as it related to pensions. The actual statement which the City relies on is mere dicta in Stockton referring to the fact that there, unlike here, the pension system (CalPERS) was “bellowing and pawing the sidelines during the eligibility phase” rather than challenging eligibility. 493 B.R. at 797. Thus, the Stockton eligibility opinion is completely inapposite. AFSCME, meanwhile, has identified no other bankruptcy court which has held that a state constitutional protection for pensions is not relevant at the eligibility stage. This Court thus writes on a clean slate.

136. Relatedly, the City completely misunderstands AFSCME’s argument as to why the Governor’s failure to attach conditions to his grant of permission to the EM to file under chapter 9 has harmed the Detroit AFSCME Employees’ rights to their vested pensions. Contrary to the City’s mischaracterization, AFSCME’s argument is precisely that the State must “refrain from [diminishing or] impairing pensions,” Debtor’s Reply at 29 – it is just that once the Governor was aware of the unconstitutional threat to pension rights posed by the EM’s plan to file under chapter 9, the Governor failed to refrain from injuring retirees by purporting to authorize the petition without exercising his discretion to avoid an unconstitutional result by attaching contingencies thereto. As noted above, the City has not contested that the Governor’s exercise of his discretion is no excuse for taking actions which violate the state constitution. See ¶ 126, supra.

137. The City’s fallback argument that any such conditions would have been pre-empted by the Bankruptcy Code ignores the requirement in section 903 of the Bankruptcy Code that a State may “control . . . a municipality of or in such State” with respect to chapter 9. Section 903, of course, is the provision on which the City excessively relies in its attempt to ward off AFSCME’s federalism challenge to chapter 9 writ large. But the City cannot have it both ways. Especially if section 903 of the Bankruptcy code is anywhere close to as forceful as the City contends elsewhere in its papers (see, e.g., Debtor’s Reply, at pp. 17-18), the correct rule from Sanitary & Improvement District is as follows: because Section 943(b) ultimately requires that any confirmable plan not cause the debtor to violate state law, state law does definitively constrain a chapter 9 debtor. 98 B.R. at 974-75. Any other rule leads inexorably to an unconfirmable plan, or else redoubles the inherent federalism problems of chapter 9, regardless of pre-emption issues.

(b) Michigan’s Pensions Clause Absolutely Protects Vested Pension Rights

138. The City’s second core counterargument in the Debtor’s Reply – that Michigan’s Pensions Clause does not absolutely protect vested pension rights (Debtor’s Reply, at pp. 22-31) – contradicts both the plain language of the clause and state court decisions based thereon. For starters, the text of the Pensions Clause differs significantly from both the federal and state contracts clauses (together, the “Contracts Clauses”). While the contracts clauses, each found in Article I of its respective constitution, only prohibit any “law impairing the obligation of contract,” the Pensions Clause, found in Article IX of the Michigan Constitution, states that pension benefits “shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby.”

139. As the Attorney General has noted, “[t]he Constitution and the language of § 24 is understood according to its plain meaning,” by virtue of which it “is an impermeable imperative.” See Attorney General Bill Schuette’s Statement Regarding the Michigan Constitution and the Bankruptcy of the City of Detroit [Docket No. 481], at pp. 14-15. Importantly, Section 24 prohibits not only the impairment of pensions – arguably a prohibition coextensive with the contracts clauses, which also speak in terms of impairment – but also their diminishment. Because the drafters of the amendment used the disjunctive word “or” to separate the word “diminished” from the word “impaired” in Section 24, “[c]anons of construction” require that each mean something different. Reiter v. Sonotone Corp., 442 U.S. 330, 339 (1979). As emphasized by AFSCME – but entirely ignored by the City – that difference is reflected in the Michigan Court of Appeals’ holding that “under Art. 9, § 24, a retirement benefit cannot be reduced.” Seitz, 474 N.W. 2d at 18.

140. The City’s “strained construction,” in contrast, “would have us ignore the disjunctive ‘or’ and rob the term” diminished “of its independent and ordinary significance[.]” Reiter, 442 U.S. at 338-39. Had the framers of the Pensions Clause wished it to mirror the Contracts Clause, they could easily have ended the Pensions Clause with the phrase “shall be a contractual obligation.” Or they could have limited the clause to read “shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be impaired thereby.” But they did not.

141. Instead, the framers drafted, and the People of Michigan ratified, broader language, which they placed in an entirely different section of the Constitution – one which expressly controls, in minute detail, the financial decision-making of state and local governments. For example, and further indicating how strongly the people of Michigan sought to protect their pensions through constitutional amendment, Article IX, § 24 also includes an affirmative requirement that all pension benefits “arising on account of service rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during that year and such funding shall not be used for financing unfunded accrued liabilities.” The Pensions Clause must be read in the context of the entirety of Art. IX, § 24, and its comprehensive dual protection of vested pension rights both from diminishment and from underfinancing.

142. Thus properly read, Art. IX, § 24 belies the City’s contention that the limited intent of the Pensions Clause is to make pension benefits akin to any other contract. To the contrary, as explained by one of its chief drafters, § 24 was designed to acknowledge that pension benefits constitute “deferred compensation for work performed . . . which should not be diminished by the employing unit after the service has been performed.” 1 Official Record of the State of Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961, 770–71. As such – and as argued supra in ¶ 120, but, yet again, entirely unanswered by the City – Michigan courts have held that vested pensions are different from other types of “government contracts,” which may be subject to “a modest, temporary impairment . . . as a matter of last resort to address a fiscal emergency.” AFT Michigan, 297 Mich. App. at 602. Ironically, the sole precedential Michigan opinion that the City cites in support of its argument that § 24 merely grants “contractual status” to pension benefits – Kosa v. State Treasurer, 292 N.W. 2d 452 (Mich. 1980) – uses that phrase offhandedly in prefatory language, see id. at 455, and then goes on to emphasize in its substantive discussion “the firmly established right of public employees to receive pension payments as those payments become due.” Id. at 460.

143. Against this overwhelming evidence that the people of Michigan ratified Article IX, Section 24 in order to render public pension benefits inviolable, the City contends that because the amendment fails to mention municipal bankruptcy, it must not have been intended to be able to forestall a filing under chapter 9. Debtor's Reply at 25-26. In support of this argument, the City cites to an advisory opinion of the Michigan Supreme Court holding that the Pensions Clause does not create a right to receive pensions tax-free. Id. (citing In re Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38, 806 N.W.2d at 697, n.24). This argument confuses the right with the remedy. The issue in In re Constitutionality of 2011 PA 38 was the scope of the right protected by the Pensions Clause, not the ability of that constitutional right to trump a particular state statute. As with other constitutional rights, the absolute right to vested pension benefits constrains all state statutes when they come into conflict with the right, as here. With respect to an as applied challenge like AFSCME's, concluding otherwise would be akin to saying that the Governor could grant an emergency manager permission to file under chapter 9 knowing full well that the EM proposed to seek approval from the bankruptcy judge for a plan loaning Detroit's credit to private investors in violation of Art. VII, § 26 – a right only protected by the state constitution.

144. Therefore, even assuming arguendo that the City is correct that the contracts clause in the U.S. Constitution “does not pose any obstacle to chapter 9,” (see Debtor's Reply, at p. 24), these important differences between the contracts clauses and the Pensions Clause would avoid what the City characterizes as the “absurd result” that no Michigan municipality “could ever enter chapter 9, where the impairment of contracts is always on the table.” Debtor's Reply, at pp. 27-28. For as the City admits, Michigan courts interpret Michigan's contracts clause and the federal contracts clause “as having the same effect.” Debtor's Reply, at p. 23 n.25 (citing Fun 'N Sun RV, Inc. v. Michigan (In re Certified Question), 527 N.W. 2d 468, 473-74 (Mich. 1994)). This would also presumably be true in most other states, because contracts clauses in state constitutions have largely been interpreted as “mirroring provision[s]” subject to the same Supreme Court jurisprudence as the federal contracts clause, a result “consistent with the notion that a substantively identical state constitutional protection against impairment could not supplement the federal protection.” See Darryl B. Simko, Emerging Issue in State Constitutional Law: Of Public Pensions, State Constitutional Contract Protection, and Fiscal Constraint, 69 Temple L. Rev. 1059, 1077-78 (1996).

145. When dealing with state law other than a state constitutional provision which only reiterates its federal counterpart, state law constraints on bankruptcy should govern unless expressly rejected by the Code. See In re Sanitary & Improvement Dist., No.7, 98 B.R. 970 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1989). Chapter 9 explicitly recognizes this fact by requiring in Section 109(c)(2) that petitions be “specifically authorized . . . by State law” at the outset, and in Section 943(b)(4) that a plan not be confirmed in the end unless “the debtor is not prohibited by law from taking any action necessary to carry out the plan.” After all, even though federalism concerns are less of a concern for bankruptcies filed under other chapters of the Code, in those proceedings too incorporation of substantive state law constraints is common. See, e.g., Butner v. United States, 440 U.S. 48, 56 (1979) (“[T]he federal bankruptcy court should take whatever steps are necessary to ensure that the mortgagee is afforded in federal bankruptcy court the same protection he would have under state law if no bankruptcy had ensued.”).

146. The recent reported Stockton and Vallejo decisions cited by the City, see Debtor’s Reply at 26-27, are not to the contrary. In the Stockton case, as noted supra, no party contended that a constitutional protection for pensions rendered the state ineligible for chapter 9 for want of state-law authorization under Section 109(c)(2). In fact, the opposite was true at the eligibility stage: prior to bankruptcy, the municipal debtor did not propose “to impair its pension obligation to the California Public Employees’ Retirement System (“CalPERS”),” and other creditors therefore complained that the debtor had failed to negotiate in good faith because the debtor should have been “more aggressively attacking its pensioners by way of CalPERS.” 493 B.R. at 782, 786. Nor was a § 109(c)(2) challenge brought in Vallejo. See In re City of Vallejo, 408 B.R. 280, 285 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009) (addressing eligibility problems solely under §§ 109(c)(4) and 109(c)(5)).

147. Finally, the City is flat wrong that Prichard approved reductions to vested pension benefits despite “[s]imilar constitutional protection for pensions” in Alabama. Debtor’s Reply, at p. 27. In support of the purported similarity between Michigan and Alabama law, the City cites to Bd. of Trs. v. Cary, 373 So. 2d 841 (Ala. 1979), which held that vested pension benefits could not be altered by state legislation by virtue of Art. 1, § 22 of the Alabama Constitution of 1901. 373 So. 2d at 842 (per curiam). But Art. 1, § 22 of the Alabama Constitution is merely Alabama’s catch-all contracts clause, which, like Art. 1, § 10 of the Michigan Constitution, just “reaffirms . . . the inhibitions of the Federal Constitution (art. 1, § 10) against ex post facto laws, or laws impairing the obligations of contracts.” Dunn Const. Co. v. State Board of Adjustment, 234 Ala. 372, 386 (1937). See also Opinion of the Justices, 598 So.2d 1362, 1365 (Ala. 1992) (interpreting Art. I, Section 10 of the United States Constitution and Article I, Section 22 of the Alabama Constitution in tandem); Sweet v. Wilkinson, 252 Ala. 343, 348 (1949) (applying Supreme Court precedent about the federal contracts clause to interpret Article I, Section 22 of Alabama Constitution). Alabama thus has no explicit protection for pensions in its state constitution distinct from the federal contracts clause. Moreover, the City cites no evidence to suggest that pensioners objected either to (a) Prichard’s eligibility to file for chapter 9 due to lack of state-law authorization under § 109(c)(2), or (b) Prichard’s plan of reorganization due to violation of state law under § 943(b).

Accordingly, the City's reliance on Prichard is simply incorrect, and the City's arguments in this regard should be rejected.

(ii) PA 436 Violates The Strong Home Rule Provisions Of The Michigan Constitution

148. "Michigan is strongly committed to the concept of home rule," a structural state-local federalism under which "[t]he charter of a city stands as its 'constitution,'" and "once adopted by a vote of the electors, a city's charter may be amended only by a vote of the electors." Bivens v. Grand Rapids, 443 Mich. 391, 400-01 (1993) (quotations omitted) (striking down local ordinance which conflicted with local charter because local government could not "effectively amend the charter without subjecting the amendment to the scrutiny and approval of the local electorate"). This "strong home rule" regime reflects a bedrock principle of state law, which has been true for each of Michigan's three Constitutions beginning with the Constitution of 1850 and continuing through the current Constitution of 1963: all officers of cities are to "be elected by the electors thereof, or appointed by such authorities thereof," not by the central State Government. See Brouwer v. Bronkema, 377 Mich. 616, 652, 141 N.W.2d 98 (1966) (quoting People ex re. Le Roy v. Hurlbut, 24 Mich. 44, 65 (1871) (Cooley Court)).

149. In blatant disregard of this constitutional mandate, PA 436 – pursuant to which the Emergency Manager contends he has authority to file under chapter 9 on behalf of the City – strips the local electorate of its constitutional right to select its own officials, as well as to "frame, adopt and amend its charter" under Article VII, Section 22; to approve, by a two-thirds majority, any local act of the state legislature under Article IV, Section 9; and to be subject to administrative authority only where that authority is guided by standards created by the legislature and subject to due process of law, see BCBSM v. Governor, 367 N.W. 2d 1, 51 (Mich. 1985). For each of these reasons, PA 436 offends the "strong home rule" of Detroit, and the Emergency Manager is not lawfully authorized to file for bankruptcy on behalf of the City or to act as its representative during chapter 9 proceedings

(a) PA 436 Violates The Right Of The People Of Detroit To Select Their Own Local Officers And To Structure Their Own Government Via Charter

150. In one of its first cases interpreting the meaning of Michigan’s current Constitution, the Michigan Supreme Court reaffirmed the hallmark holding of the legendary Cooley Court: city residents have the state constitutional right to select their own local representatives. Brouwer, 377 Mich. at 651-61. As Justice Cooley held in his seminal Hurlbut opinion – the wellspring of the so-called “Cooley Doctrine” of local government, see David J. Barron, The Promise of Cooley’s City: Traces of Local Constitutionalism, 147 Univ. Penn. L. Rev. 487 (1999) – the right “to choose in some form the persons who are to administer the local regulations” is a right of local electors so basic to the “traditions, practice and expectations” of Michigan that it undergirds the State’s Constitution even in the absence of express constitutional language to that effect. Hurlbut, 24 Mich. at 29-33.

151. Having lived under the Cooley doctrine for 90 years at the time of Michigan’s most recent constitutional convention, the framers of the 1963 Constitution would have understood Hurlbut as an even more foundational constitutional norm than Cooley himself. Indeed, the framers sought, in adopting the strong home rule regime which as now set forth in Article VII, to continue the “trend . . . toward strengthening inherent local government powers” which Justice Cooley “led” when he set forth the “rule” of local self-government in Hurlbut. 1 Official Record, Constitutional Convention 1961, 1052-53. As a result, Article VII provides that “[t]he legislature shall provide by general laws for the incorporation of cities and villages,” Art. VII, § 21; that under those general laws, “the electors of each city and village shall have the power and authority to frame, adopt and amend its charter,” Art. VII, § 22; and that “[t]he provisions of this constitution and law concerning counties, townships, cities and villages shall be liberally construed in their favor,” Art. VII, § 34. (Emphases added.)

152. PA 436 offends Article VII in myriad ways. First, it effectively adopts a new charter for Detroit which substitutes the unelected Emergency Manager for the Mayor and City Council collectively – including by granting the EM the power to, inter alia, issue orders directing the mayor and city council; set the local government budget unilaterally; enter into, and break, contractual agreements for the City, including CBAs, loans, and property transfers; seize control of the pension fund from its trustees; and, most relevant here, act “exclusively on the local government’s behalf in chapter 9.” See MCL 141.1549(2) (“Upon appointment, an emergency manager shall act for and in the place and stead of the governing body and the office of chief administrative officer of the local government.”); MCL 141.1550(1) (“An emergency manager shall issue to the appropriate local elected and appointed officials and employees, agents, and contractors of the local government the orders the emergency manager considers necessary[.]”); MCL 141.1552 (EM may amend local government budget; make contracts; terminate CBAs; enter loan agreements; transfer property); MCL 141.1558 (EM directs bankruptcy).

153. It is a direct violation of Hurlbut and Brouwer that the EM serves in the role of mayor and city council without being selected by Detroit.

154. Moreover, despite the existence of detailed procedures in the Detroit Charter concerning the method of passing local laws and the interplay of authority between the local legislative and executive officers, the EM may even exercise, according to PA 436, all authority of the mayor and city council simultaneously “concerning the adoption, amendment, and enforcement of ordinances or resolutions of the local government” and “[t]ake any other action or exercise any power or authority of any officer, employee, department, board, commission, or other similar entity of the local government, whether elected or appointed, relating to the operation of the local government.” MCL 141.1552(1)(dd-ee).

155. To the drafters of the current Michigan Constitution, PA 436 would appear to parody Article VII. The provisions of Article VII directing the legislature to provide for the incorporation of cities to be governed by charters written by the cities’ voters is “mandatory,” and even before the 1963 Constitution – which increased the home rule powers of cities – it was well-established that, in executing that mandate, ““under the Constitution the legislature [does] not have the power to change the law as embodied in the charter [of a local government] without a ratifying vote of the village electors.” Utica State Sav. Bank v. Village of Oak Park, 279 Mich. 568, 273 N.W. 271, 274 (1937) (state statute retroactively ratifying all contracts for purchase of lands by local governments could not ratify land contract which was unlawful under local charter). This is because “the power vested in the [local] electors by the Constitution” to amend their own charter necessarily requires that “the Legislature does not have the power to alter or amend a [local] charter without the approval of the [local] electors.” Id. at 577. Nor does the Legislature have the power to enter into contracts on behalf of the local government. Id. at 578. Yet PA 436 purports to empower Emergency Manager to assume all the powers of the local charter – including the ability to bind a city by contract for generations to come – without the core structural accountability for those powers baked into the charter in the form of local elections and separation of powers.

156. While it cannot be denied that the state possesses a robust role in demarcating the limits within which a municipality may structure the form of its government via charter, PA 436 swallows whole the rights reserved to local electors in Article VII to execute, within limits, their own vision of local government. For instance, typically “municipal officers can bind a municipality only if they are empowered to do so by the city charter.” Manning v. City of Hazel Park, 202 Mich. App 685, 691; 509 N.W. 2d 874 (1993). The Emergency Manager, however, possesses no such constraint under the terms of PA 436, which grants him his extreme powers “notwithstanding any charter provision to the contrary.” MCL 141.1552(1). Under PA 436, therefore, the Emergency Manager not only violates the charter by purporting to act with all of the power of the entire municipal government simultaneously as a matter of procedure, but also by doing so in direct violation of any substantive limitation that charter places on the local government. In effect, each time the Emergency Manager takes an act which contravenes the City Charter – a charter which, to be clear, has not formally been repealed – he decrees an amendment to that charter. But, as discussed supra, Detroit’s citizens have a constitutional right to be the ones to amend their own charters. Here too PA 436 egregiously violates Article VII.

157. Article VII does not permit such a scorched earth approach to local democracy. The Emergency Manager’s purported statutory authority to act for the City is antithetical to Article VII, and therefore the Emergency Manager was never authorized by state law to file the City’s chapter 9 petition. As fundamentally, the “City” has therefore not voluntarily filed a petition under Section 301 as incorporated by Section 901(a) of the Bankruptcy Code.

(iii) Neither The City Nor State Pleadings Answer How Detroit’s Voters Could Have Constitutionally Lost Their Right To Local Self-Government Entirely, And The Loss Of That Right Invalidates Actions By The Emergency Manager Inextricably Intertwined With The Chapter 9 Petition And The Case Itself

158. Contrary to the City’s assertion in the City’s reply brief (see Debtor’s Reply, at p. 39), the EM’s power to set budgets, pass ordinances, and approve contracts under PA 436 is inextricably intertwined with the lawfulness of the City's chapter 9 petition. The EM wielded these core local government powers as he allegedly endeavored (unsuccessfully, in AFSCME's view) to satisfy the requirements for a chapter 9 filing: negotiations with creditors, work on the City's budget as related to solvency, and so forth. The bankruptcy filing resulted from a process directed by the EM using the virtually absolute powers accorded him by PA 436, despite his having not been elected. The exercise of those powers under PA 436 is not severable from the EM's power to file for bankruptcy under Section 18. Because he lacked the power to take those predicate acts, and for the independent reason that he was not selected by Detroit's voters, the culminating chapter 9 filing was unlawful. For the same reason, the City did not voluntarily file its petition.

159. The pre-filing orders of the EM, which are part of the public record, demonstrate the breadth of the EM's exercise of purely local powers, ranging from his explicit suspension of the City Charter, to discrete financial decisions about City expenditures, to control over potential attempts by the City to raise revenue. For example, the Order No. 10, issued by the EM on July 8, 2013, suspends the Detroit Charter's requirement for filling vacancies on City Council. See <http://www.detroitmi.gov/Portals/0/docs/EM/Order%2010.pdf> (last accessed Oct. 7, 2013). Order No. 6, issued by the EM on May 2, 2013, directs the precise amount of deposits from the City to the Public Lighting Authority. See <http://www.detroitmi.gov/Portals/0/docs/EM/Order%206.pdf> (last accessed Oct. 7, 2013). Order No. 5, issued by the EM April 11, 2013, requires that the EM approve in writing of any transfers of the City's real property. <http://www.detroitmi.gov/Portals/0/docs/EM/Order%205.pdf> (last accessed Oct. 7, 2013).

160. While the State correctly asserts that Article VII, § 21 of the Michigan Constitution subjects municipalities to general laws related to taxation and debt (see State’s Response, at p. 14), the State Constitution contains no like limitation for run-of-the-mill real estate contracts, public service expenditures, and other purely local acts related to the City’s budget and fiscal self-management. Yet, as the State also admits, PA 436 “transfers authority to perform these duties and responsibilities to the Emergency Manager” (see State’s Response, at p. 14), thus diverting municipal self-governance at the purely local level from the City’s elected officials to an unelected “contractor to the State of Michigan” as the EM has described himself. See Orr 10/4 Transcript, at 454:10-14. This is not a case in which a particular local ordinance collides with a statewide regulatory scheme, as in City of Taylor v. Detroit Edison Co., 475 Mich. 109 (2006). It is, instead, a comprehensive seizure of the City’s right to self-governance in all areas, no matter how local the question at hand.

161. Similarly, while the City may be right that, at a broad level, the Detroit Charter, Home Rule Cities Act, and case law recognize limitations on the “exercise of [City] power” stemming from general state laws, Detroit Charter, § 1-102, such general state laws do not determine who exercises the powers granted by the State to the City or inherent to the City’s purely local affairs. Even assuming such limitations make it lawful for the legislature to pass a general statute granting certain powers to city councils rather than mayors, see, e.g., Detroit City Council v. Detroit Mayor, 238 Mich. App. 442 (2009), it is another thing entirely for the state legislature to designate who those city council members are, how they are selected, or who is to manage quintessentially local affairs on a day-to-day basis. These are questions “of purely local character” assigned by Article VII to the will of the Detroit voters regardless of whether PA 436 is a general law. See id. at 175 (As against the City Charter, a general state “statute controls in all matters which are not of purely local character.” (emphasis added)). The EM has nevertheless wielded his power under PA 436 in purely local matters, even suspending the City Charter requirements for the selection of City Council members.

162. On such basic questions of self-determination, the rule remains that the local electors must select their own local government officials, whatever the powers of those officials may be, and retain control over purely local matters. See Brouwer, 377 Mich. at 652. As the State concedes, the powers of the legislature to amend City Charters are limited “to matters of general concern,” and “the power to amend a charter is vested in the local electors in purely local matters.” See State’s Response, at p. 12. Who is to govern them is one such “purely local matter,” firmly established by the Cooley Doctrine as ratified by Article VII.

163. The City’s two attempts to shield PA 436 from the Cooley Doctrine both fail. Its first response – that the State may destroy a municipality entirely (see Debtor’s Reply, at p. 40) – is inapposite, because, of course, the State has done no such thing here, and Detroit retains the rights granted to it by the State Constitution as a municipality.

164. The City’s second response – that the legislature has authority to temporarily replace local officials (see Debtor’s Reply, at p. 40) – mischaracterizes the Hurlbut opinion. In Hurlbut, Justice Cooley stated in dicta that during the “inauguration and modification of local government” forms – i.e., when creating entirely new formats for permanent local government – the State may make “provisional appointments to put the new system in operation.” 1871 WL 3042, at *35. PA 436, in contrast, makes no provision for any new or modified permanent form of municipal government in Detroit. Instead, it simply seizes the existing reins of power from elected officials and transfers them to an unelected individual.

165. Moreover, while the appointment of the EM may prove to be temporary – if, for instance, the financial emergency ends or the City Council removes the EM by a 2/3 vote after he completes 18 months of service (see MCL § 141.1549) – it may also prove to be indefinite if the financial crisis is not deemed to have ended and the local government cannot muster the 2/3 of City Council votes and the mayoral approval which are both required for removal. Where, as here, the EM has asserted the power to suspend the charter as it pertains to the makeup of City Council, the ability of the EM to perpetuate his tenure is all the more real. Moreover, the Governor might simply try to reappoint the EM, as he successfully did the Emergency Manager of the Detroit Public Schools. See Davis v. Emergency Manager for Detroit Public Schools, 491 Mich. 899, 903 (Young, C.J., concurring) (“Neither MCL 141.1501 et seq. nor the statutes applicable to emergency managers preclude reappointment of a person to the office of emergency manager if that person previously held the position.”).

166. As to the State’s Response, it is curious – and telling – that the State’s otherwise comprehensive and strongly worded reply to AFSCME’s home rule objections neglects to cite either the Hurlbut case or the Cooley Doctrine at all. The State does appeal to federal case law holding that local governments are not sovereign entities subject to the “one person, one vote” rule of the federal Equal Protection Clause and are subordinates of the State for federal constitutional purposes. State’s Response, at pp. 15-16. However, the case on which the State relies, Sailors v. Board of Education of Kent County, considered only whether federal constitutional law created a federal right to elect “state or local officers of the nonlegislative character.” See 387 U.S. 105, 108 (1967) (emphasis added). The Cooley Doctrine, in contrast, is a rule of state constitutional law, and Sailors certainly does not cast doubt on the right to elect local officials if state law so provides, as in the case of the Michigan Constitution.

167. Furthermore, because the City Council and Mayor whose duties the EM has captured possess “general government powers over an entire geographic area,” they could in fact be subject to the “one person, one vote” rule. Avery v. Midland County, Texas, 390 U.S. 474, 485-86 (1970) (distinguishing Sailors). If anything, subjecting the people of Detroit to governance by an Emergency Manager who has been appointed by the Governor – over whose election Detroit electors have only a fractional influence – violates the “one person, one vote” rule when compared to other cities in Michigan who still possess the right to elect their own local government.

(b) PA 436 Purports To Delegate Authority To The Emergency Manager In Excess Of That Possessed By The Legislature

168. Section VII is not the exclusive mechanism protecting the “home rule” rights of local electors in the Michigan Constitution. Municipalities are further protected by Article IV, Section 29, which forbids the legislature from passing a local act both (a) “in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and (b) “until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected.” “The requirement of a 2/3 vote of both houses and a majority vote in the area affected protects localities against arbitrary action.” Advisory Opinion on Constitutionality of 1975 PA 301, 400 Mich. 270, 287, 254 N.W. 2d 528 (1977) (quoting 2 Official Record, Constitutional Convention 1961, p 2415).

169. PA 436 allows the Emergency Manager to adopt local ordinances and take purely local legal acts which would otherwise be assigned to the local government. See MCL 141.1552. Before the EM takes a local act of this nature, however, neither he nor the legislature makes any determination whether a general act could accomplish the same purpose; seeks the approval of two-thirds of the legislature; or submits the proposed act to the local electors for ratification. PA 436 therefore delegates to the EM power that the legislature simply does not possess. For even assuming arguendo that PA 436 is a general as opposed to local law, it contemplates the future passage of limitless local ordinances without the prophylactic mechanisms built into Article IV, Section 29 to preserve “the settled purpose of the framers of the [Constitution] and of the people who adopted it to forever insure to the people the right to control their affairs purely local.” Attorney General v. Lacy, 180 Mich. 329, 337, 146 N.W. 871 (1914) (striking down local law passed by legislature).

170. The legislature cannot delegate power beyond that which it possesses. “That the Michigan Legislature may legislate absent constitutional limitations does not mean that it may wield legislative power in a manner other than that carefully prescribed by the Michigan Constitution.” Blank v. Dep’t of Corrections, 462 Mich. 103, 119, 611 N.W.2d 530 (2000). Yet PA 436 does just that, subjecting Detroit’s citizens to purely local acts – including the instant chapter 9 petition – taken by a central authority without the protection of Article IV, Section 29. In this case that local legislation includes not only this illegal bankruptcy, but all of the legislative acts undertaken by the EM leading up to and in support of the chapter 9 petition.

(iv) Despite Arguments To The Contrary By The State And City, The EM Is Not A State Agent And Therefore His Use of Unlimited Power To Pass Local Acts Which Led To This Bankruptcy Violated The State Constitution

171. The City’s reply brief attempts to insulate its chapter 9 petition from these impermissibly local acts of the Emergency Manager (see Debtor’s Reply, at p. 41), in the process again ignoring the crucial fact that the petition was the culmination of the EM’s exercise of total control over the City’s local affairs during the course of four crucial months. See ¶¶ 158 - 159, supra. As demonstrated, the EM pursued a chapter 9 filing for the City as a foregone conclusion. Had the City’s voters, rather than the State, remained in control of Detroit's own local affairs – as required by Article IV, Section 29 of the State Constitution – the City's elected officials could have used that power in ways which might have taken the City off the path to bankruptcy designed by the EM. But the EM explicitly took that power away by Order No. 5, a local act removing from City Council and the Mayor any ability to raise revenue using City property. By delegating the power to legislate locally entirely to the EM, the State effectively robbed the City of its local lawmaking ability and instead transferred that power – a power the State legislature cannot exercise under the State Constitution without approval of the local electors – to the EM.

172. The City concedes that the State legislature may not pass local acts under Article IV, Section 29, but nevertheless contends that there is no violation of that provision when the EM exercises that power because municipalities are free to do so. See Debtor's Reply, at pp. 41-42. The State makes essentially the same argument. See State's Response, at pp. 17-18 (“This is no different from the authority generally granted by law to local elected officials but exercised locally.”). Both are wrong, however, that the EM exercises the “local government's powers, not the State legislature's.” Debtor's Reply, at p. 42; see also State's Response, at p. 18-19.

173. PA 436 gives every indication that the EM exercises power as an officer of the State, not the City. He is appointed by the Governor. MCL § 141.1549(1). The EM serves “at the pleasure of the governor,” making him accountable to the State, not the City. MCL § 141.1549(3)(d). The State pays his salary. MCL § 141.1549(3)(e). The EM is “subject to” the Michigan “Conflict of Interest” statute – which applies to “members of the legislature and state officers,” 1968 PA 318 – “as if he or she were a state officer.” MCL 141.1549(9)(c). That PA 436 elsewhere states that the EM exercises his powers “for and on behalf of the local government,” MCL § 141.1552(1)(d), does not alter the reality of whose authority he exercises. The EM’s powers derive not from the people of Detroit, but from the State Legislature which passed PA 436 to enable the transfer of those powers from Detroit voters to the EM as a state officer – or “contractor to the State of Michigan” as the EM has described himself. See Orr 10/4 Transcript, at 454:10-14.

174. The core issue here is not whether PA 436 itself is a general law, as the State insists (see State’s Response, at pp. 13-14), but instead whether that general law includes within it an additional delegation of power permitting limitless local acts to be undertaken in the future with absolutely no limitation as to scope. The limitation placed on the legislature’s power to pass local legislation by Article IV, Section 29 would be entirely meaningless if the legislature could simply delegate the power to legislate locally, without any limitation, to a State appointee. Yet that is exactly what PA 436 does, and therefore the authority exercised by the EM under PA 436 is unconstitutional and the bankruptcy petition filed as part of the exercise of that authority by the EM in violation of state law.

(c) PA 436 Unconstitutionally Delegates Legislative Authority To The Emergency Manager Because It Lacks Adequate Standards To Guide The Emergency Manager’s Actions In Bankruptcy, Which Are Not Subject To Judicial Review

175. Even assuming arguendo that the legislature had the authority to delegate its illegally asserted control over local self-governance, that delegation must include (1) “sufficient standards and safeguards” to “direct[] and check[] the exercise of delegated power,” as well as (2) “due process requirements” ensuring judicial review of the delegated action. BCBSM v. Governor, 367 NW 2d 1, 51-52 (Mich. 1985). PA 436 lacks both with respect to an Emergency Manager’s control of the City during bankruptcy.

176. First, PA 436 provides no standards whatsoever to the Emergency Manager – other than any “contingencies” which the Governor, and not the legislature, may (but did not in this case) designate – for how to exercise the City’s affairs under chapter 9. MCL 141.1558. Thus the Emergency Manager is unfettered, for example, to enter into settlements resolving claims by creditors – settlements which, under Section 7-5-203 of the Detroit City Charter, are legislative acts of the City which must be approved by the City Council – without following any guidelines provided by the State. While the Bankruptcy Court may apply its own federal law constraints in the course of approving, or not, such settlements – though the authority of a bankruptcy judge to do so is questionable in light of federalism principles, see infra – there is simply no state law standard to refer to evaluate whether the Emergency Manager, in entering the settlements, is effectively legislating in bankruptcy within the intent of the legislature. “This complete lack of standards is constitutionally impermissible.” BCBS, 367 N.W. 2d at 55, and therefore the Emergency Manager is not authorized under state law to carry out the Legislature’s attempted delegation of authority under chapter 9.

177. Second, and relatedly, even assuming arguendo that PA 436 does contain standards constraining the absolute power of the Emergency Manager to act for the City under chapter 9, those standards are not subject to the requisite judicial review. As a result of the automatic stay, the Emergency Manager’s actions during chapter 9 can only be litigated to the bankruptcy court, which itself lacks authority to decide freestanding state-law claims. See 11 U.S.C. §§ 902(a), 362 (automatic stay); Stern v. Marshall, supra (Article I judge prohibited from deciding independent state law claims unhinged from bankruptcy). But the City can arguably enter into settlements with creditors under chapter 9 without receiving approval from the Bankruptcy Judge, even if a competing creditor requests judicial review. See In re City of Stockton, California, Case No. 12-32118-C-9 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. Feb. 5, 2012) (“11 U.S.C. § 904 gives a chapter 9 debtor freedom to decide whether to ignore or to follow Rule 9019 compromise-approval procedure[.]”). The Emergency Manager thus acts in a legal vacuum, accountable neither in state court nor federal court for exercising the legislative power delegated to him by the State. The Michigan Constitution does not permit such insulation.

(v) The City And State Cannot Evade The Non-Delegation Doctrine Because The EM Acts With The State Legislature's Authority In Bankruptcy Without Any Standards Or Judicial Review

178. Here, again, the City and State in their respective reply briefs seek refuge in the assertion that the EM exercises the powers of the City in chapter 9, not the powers of the State Legislature. And here too, for the same reasons explained supra, the City and State arguments fail. The EM may have been tasked by the State with governing the City, but he does so with the authority of the State as delegated by statute, not the authority of Detroit’s voters. Neither the City nor State cites any case in which a Michigan Court has held that the non-delegation doctrine did not apply because the delegated powers were of either an “executive” or “local” character. See, e.g., State’s Response, at p. 19. The simple fact is that whatever powers the EM exercises, he does so by virtue of the State legislature’s delegation of its own authority.

179. The alternative contention by the City and State that PA 436 does provide “reasonably precise” standards to the EM for use in chapter 9 fails because it relies on standards applicable to the EM only outside of bankruptcy. See Debtor’s Reply, at p. 43; State’s Response, at pp. 19-20. The City and State each cite to MCL § 141.1558, but that provision only provides a standard for use by the EM in exercising his discretion to recommend chapter 9 to the Governor. Once the EM makes that recommendation and the Governor approves it, the EM is granted power “to act exclusively on the local government’s behalf in any such case under chapter 9” with no state-law standards whatsoever to guide him, including in the ultimate determination of whether to file for bankruptcy or not after receiving permission. See MCL § 141.1558(1). Nor does MCL § 141.1549(2), which the City and State also rely on, provide the EM any governing standards in bankruptcy. The City only partially quotes MCL § 141.1549(2) (see Debtor’s Reply, at p. 43), but the full relevant quote from MCL § 141.1549(2) grants the EM virtually limitless powers rather than constraining him to any meaningful standards. MCL § 141.1549(2) states: “The emergency manager shall have broad powers in receivership to rectify the financial emergency and to assure the fiscal accountability of the local government and local government’s capacity to provide or cause to be provided necessary government services essential to the public health, safety, and welfare.” Put otherwise: the EM is to do whatever he needs to run the City as he sees fit. This is a grant of absolute power, not a limiting standard.

180. In any case, the City does not explain how either of the standards it asserts as governing the EM’s actions in chapter 9 is enforceable by judicial review during the bankruptcy. The City claims that “this Court will review actions of the Emergency Manager,” (Debtor’s Reply, at p. 44), but does not explain how or whether this Court’s review includes application of any standards contained in PA 436. Instead, the City admits that the only authority this Court has over the City consists of “implementing provisions of the Bankruptcy Code that may involve determination of state law issues.” Debtor’s Reply, at p. 44 n.38. The City cites to no provision of the Code which would require this Court to assess whether the EM has followed the alleged state-law standards in PA 436 for his actions during chapter 9 which have been identified by the City.

181. The State, meanwhile, alone asserts that judicial review is possible because AFSCME can move for relief from the automatic stay to sue the City in state court if the EM violates the standards set forth in PA 436. This argument fails for two reasons. First, the ability to request that the Bankruptcy Judge grant relief from the automatic stay provides no right of judicial review of the EM’s actions during the course of the bankruptcy, as this Court could readily deny the stay and thus foreclose any hearing on the merits of a claim that the EM has violated PA 436. Indeed, this Court has already extended the automatic stay to cover the State precisely to prevent creditors from obtaining judicial review of actions taken by the EM under PA 436. Second, and just as important, PA 436 itself “provides no administrative or judicial review to challenge” the EM’s decisions, either inside or outside of bankruptcy. See BCBSM, 367 N.W.2d at 53. Thus, even if relief from the stay were to be granted, there is no sure route to judicial review of actions undertaken by the EM pursuant to PA 436.

B. The City Failed To Participate In Any Good Faith Negotiations With Creditors Prior To Filing For Bankruptcy As Required For Eligibility Under Chapter 9

182. The City cannot meet its burden under section 109(c)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code of proving that it conducted good faith negotiations with its creditors or that such negotiations were impracticable.

183. Congress enacted the “negotiation” requirement of section 109(c) to prevent capricious filings of chapter 9 petitions, and Courts do not “view lightly the negotiation requirements of 11 U.S.C. § 109(c)(5).” See In re Villages at Castle Rock Metro. Dist. No. 4, 145 B.R. 76, 85 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1990); In re Town of Westlake, Tex., 211 B.R. 860, 867-68 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1997) (suggesting that section 109(c)(5) requires that a municipality have an intent to negotiate with creditors it intends to impair). “The ‘creditor protection’ provided by section 109(c)(5). . . insures that the creditors have an opportunity to negotiate concerning a plan on a level playing filed with the debtor before their rights are further impaired by the provisions of section 362 of the Code.” Sullivan County, 165 B.R. at 78-79).

184. In Cottonwood Water, the Court explained the good faith negotiation requirement under section 109(c)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code as follows:

Congress consciously sought to limit accessibility to the bankruptcy court by municipalities [by requiring] . . . the municipal entity, before rushing to . . . Court, to first seek to negotiate in good faith concerning the treatment the creditors may be expected to receive under a plan to be filed under section 941 of the [Bankruptcy] Code. . . . The ‘creditor protection’ provided by section 109(c)(5) . . . insures that the creditors have an opportunity to negotiate concerning a plan on a level playing field with the debtor before their rights are further impaired by the provisions of section 362 of the [Bankruptcy] Code.

138 B.R. at 979.

185. Accordingly, the burden is on the City to demonstrate (i) that it engaged in good faith negotiations with its creditors concerning the possible terms of a plan or (ii) why it was unable to engage in such negotiations. ASFSCME respectfully submits that the City cannot demonstrate any negotiations with creditors such as AFSCME, let alone “good faith” negotiations, and further given that the City conducted no pre-petition negotiations with significant creditors such as AFSCME, the City should not be heard to argue that negotiations were impracticable.

(i) The City Failed To Negotiate With Creditors Such As AFSCME

186. The City claims it satisfies the section 109(c)(5)(B) requirement for negotiating with its creditors prior to the bankruptcy filing by negotiating with creditors, including unions such as AFSCME, in a few meetings held with its unions where the City discussed its restructuring proposals and took certain questions. See Eligibility Brief, pp. 53-61 (citing, inter alia, Orr Declaration, ¶¶ 90-96). What the City fails to mention is that, as discussed extensively above and as indicated by Orr himself prior to the scheduling of these meetings, it was made clear throughout these series of 3 or 4 relatively short meetings that the meetings were “discussions” and the City was not willing to conduct any negotiations. The City argued that the EM “openly invited the City’s creditors to contact the City and its advisors to begin negotiations.” Eligibility Brief, p. 55. In fact, the City rebuffed negotiations, which require concessions from both sides and collaboration between the debtor and its significant creditors. The City (acting through Orr) simply was not interested in negotiations (and as Orr indicated regarding the predecessor to the ultimate Restructuring Plan, the EM’s May 12, 2013 “Financial and Operating Plan”, “[t]his isn’t a plebiscite, we are not, like, negotiating the terms of the plan”).

187. In re Ellicott School Building Authority is directly on point. There, the debtor held three public meetings with large creditors regarding its proposed restructuring, although creditors were advised that the economic provisions of the proposed plan were not negotiable. 150 B.R. 261, 266 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1992). The court held that even though the debtor conducted three public meetings explaining its proposed plan of restructuring to bondholders, it did not negotiate in good faith because it indicated that the economic terms of its proposed plan were non-negotiable. Id. (debtor must be open to negotiating the substantive terms of a proposed plan); cf. Int’l Ass’n of Firefighters, Local 1186 v. City of Vallejo (In re City of Vallejo), 408 B.R. 280, 289 (9th Cir. B.A.P. 2009) (finding that the city did not satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) because it “never negotiated with Unions or any of its creditors over the possible terms of a plan of adjustment.”); Sullivan County, 165 B.R. at 78-79 (“The ‘creditor protection’ provided by section 109(c)(5) . . . insures that the creditors have an opportunity to negotiate

188. The City’s a “take it or leave it” Restructuring Plan proposal that was not really open to any negotiations (good faith or otherwise) should be rejected as the court did in Ellicott School. The City failed to engage in any negotiations with its significant creditors such as AFSCME regarding the Restructuring Plan. Flatly refusing to conduct any negotiations (despite repeated requests by AFSCME both prior to and subsequent to the City’s bankruptcy filing) falls far short of the standard required under section 109(c)(5) of the Bankruptcy Code.

189. The City has publicly proclaimed its willingness to negotiate, yet it and its representatives’ (i) statements that the meetings held to discuss the Restructuring Plan were not negotiations and (ii) continued bad faith refusal for a period of time post-petition (until required mediation began) to hold negotiations (despite requests from AFSCME to jump start negotiations) makes it more than clear that the City has conducted no good faith negotiations with AFSCME and similarly situated creditors.

190. Moreover, as described extensively supra (¶¶ 3, 36, 45), to the extent that the City held a series of pre-petition meetings with creditors to discuss its Restructuring Plan, such meetings were simply scheduled as part of the EM and City’s plan to bolster the City’s “record (i.e. for future litigation)” as suggested by the City’s lead bankruptcy counsel in the Pitch Presentation back in January 2013. In addition, the evidence further reveals that the City had planned on filing for chapter 9 as of early July 2013 by the specific date of Friday, July 19, 2013 – even as alleged creditor “negotiations” were ongoing – regardless of how the discussions were progressing. See Supp. Kreisberg Declaration, Exhibit C (spreadsheet document dated July 4, 2013 attached to e-mail from EM’s office to State officials entitled “Chapter 9 Communications Rollout” indicated that Friday, July 19, 2013 was “FILING DAY”). This evidence further establishes that the City was not really interested in any serious negotiations.

(a) Despite The City’s Creative Arguments To The Contrary, The City Cannot Escape The Fact That It Refused To Negotiate In Good Faith

191. In the City’s reply brief and in recent deposition testimony provided by Orr on October 4, 2013, the City and Orr have now taken the position that while the City may have made statements that its pre-petition meetings with the unions regarding its Restructuring Plan were not a “negotiation”, such characterizations were simply to avoid any argument that the City triggered obligations to collectively bargain, which obligations may be suspended by PA 436. See Debtor’s Reply, at p. 55 n.49; supra, ¶ 44. The City now argues that it was flexible in its negotiations and willing to consider other proposals, but received no counter-proposals from creditors, despite requests for same. The City’s statements in that regard, however, do not establish the good faith negotiations required by the Bankruptcy Code. Requesting “feedback” or “invitations for further information” simply does not satisfy the City’s burden of proof.

192. AFSCME (and other objectors) offered on more than one occasion to engage in good faith bargaining and negotiations which were continually rebuffed by the City, and indeed as of late June/early July 2013, the City did not even have any complete proposal with respect to the restructuring of pension and other retiree benefits. Rather, the City’s proposal to its creditors was no more than an ultimatum, with the City showing no real intention of negotiating economic or substantive terms. As noted, the City was interested in and spent months mapping out its path to chapter 9, and never had any real intention of bargaining in good faith.

(ii) Even Assuming That The City Engaged In Negotiations, Such Negotiations Did Not Relate To A Plan That Is In The Best Interests Of Creditors As Required By Section 109(c)(5)(B)

193. While AFSCME submits that the City did not engage in any good faith negotiations with creditors such as AFSCME prior to the City's chapter 9 filing, even assuming this Court were to find otherwise, the City also has not satisfied section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code because the plan or terms of a plan being negotiated must be a plan that can be effectuated in chapter 9. See Sullivan County, 165 B.R. at 78 (debtor failed to meet burden of showing that it negotiated in good faith because the plan that was proposed was not a plan that could be effectuated in chapter 9); Cottonwood Water., 138 B.R. at 979 (finding that "in order for this Debtor to be entitled to the entry of an order for relief, it must be prepared to show that it engaged in good faith negotiations with its creditors concerning the possible terms of a plan to be effected pursuant to section 941 of the Bankruptcy Code.").

194. Here, the proposed Restructuring Plan is patently unconfirmable because it unconstitutionally looks to reduce or eliminate guaranteed vested pension benefits pursuant to a plan that would presumably be crammed down on creditors, including those City retirees and employees that participate in the various pension and other retirement benefit plans, without their consent. Given that creditors owed pension obligations have absolute rights to those vested pension benefits under Michigan law as set forth extensively above, and one of the main goals of this proceeding is to modify vested pension and other retiree benefits, the City has no ability to confirm any plan of adjustment modifying such rights. See 11 U.S.C. §943(b)(4) (stating that the Court shall confirm a chapter 9 plan only if "the debtor is not prohibited by law from taking any action necessary to carry out the plan.").

195. Additionally, the Restructuring Plan is not in the "best interests of creditors" and thus could not be confirmed pursuant to section 943(b)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code. The "best interests of creditors” test in the context of a chapter 9 case does not compare treatment under a plan of liquidation, but rather to other alternatives to creditors to the plan. See, e.g., In re Sanitary & Improvement Dist., #7, 98 B.R. 970, 974 (Bankr. D. Neb. 1989); (“Section 943(b)(7) [with respect to the best interest of creditor’s provision] ... simply requires the court to make a determination of whether or not the plan as proposed is better than the alternatives.”); In re Mount Carbon Metropolitan Dist., 242 B.R. 18, 34 n.50 (Bankr. D. Colo. 1999) (“The ‘best interest’ requirement of § 943(b)(7) is generally regarded as requiring that a proposed plan provide a better alternative for creditors than what they already have.”) (citing 4 Collier on Bankruptcy, 943.03[7] (Lawrence P. King, ed., 15th ed.1999)).

196. Had there been no chapter 9 filing by the City, pension creditors could not be impaired under the Michigan Constitution, and any impairment of those rights under a plan of adjustment would violate Michigan law and be patently non-confirmable. Accordingly, because the Restructuring Plan proposes to unconstitutionally wipe out guaranteed vested pension benefits, the proposal cannot satisfy the requirements of good faith negotiations over a plan that could be effectuated in chapter 9.

197. Orr failed to consider before filing for bankruptcy protection or since the filing, an equitable argument for the pension fund beneficiaries that other creditors extending debt after funding concerns surfaced publically should be subject to equitable subordination/fraudulent conveyance under Bankruptcy Code sections 510(c) and 544(b)/548(a) and pension benefits should take priority over those claims.

198. Further, under Bankruptcy Code section 928(b), Orr should be exploring whether certain other creditors should bear the burden of some of the City’s operating expenses during bankruptcy process, before benefit cuts are implemented.

199. The City in its reply brief (see Debtor’s Reply, at p. 58 n.50) argues that AFSCME is incorrect that to satisfy the good faith negotiation requirement of section 109(c)(5)(B), negotiations must be conducted regarding the terms of a confirmable plan. The City cites no authority for rejecting AFSCME’s arguments in this regard, and the weakness of the City’s argument is belied by its relegation to a footnote. There can be no doubt that the reference to good faith negotiations of the terms of a plan in section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code is to negotiations of the terms of a plan that can be effectuated in chapter 9, i.e., a confirmable plan, as argued above. It is illogical for the statute to reference negotiations regarding an unconfirmable plan. Were that the case, then the whole point of good-faith negotiations would be meaningless and rendered moot, or simply, be deemed bad faith. As one recent court has explained in the chapter 9 context:

The structure of the sentence [i.e. section 109(c)(5)(B)] strongly implies that in the negotiations, municipalities are seeking the creditors’ agreement to a bankruptcy plan. What other agreements can they be seeking?

In re Mendocino Coast Recreation and Park District, No. 12-cv-02591-JST, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 139697, at *19 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 27, 2013) (emphasis in original; emphasis added).

200. The City attempts to rebut AFSCME’s reliance on Sullivan County and Cottonwood, supra, with respect to the meaning of a plan in section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code. Debtor’s Reply, at p. 58 n.50. Although Sullivan does acknowledge that a formal plan is not required, that court states that, to be in good faith, negotiations must “revolve around the negotiating of the terms of a plan that could be effectuated if resort is required to chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code.” Sullivan, at 78. For a plan to be effectuated under chapter 9, it clearly must satisfy the parameters of and be confirmable under section 943(b) of the Bankruptcy Code and be in the best interests of creditors. The Sullivan court’s statement that the plan need not be a “formal plan”, id., at 78, is underscored by the language that follows (and conveniently omitted by the City):

While the statutory requirement does not require a formal plan as such, some sort of comprehensive plan is required as one of the ‘screening factors’ to avoid a too early and rapid resort to the bankruptcy courts by municipalities.

Sullivan, 165 B.R. at 78 (emphasis added). This language is telling and clearly negates the City’s position with respect to the nature of the “plan.” Both the Sullivan, supra, and Cottonwood, supra, courts concluded that, even where the parties engaged in good-faith pre-petition negotiations, the municipality failed to satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) because the negotiations did not include the terms of a plan under chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code. The City would further have this Court ignore the finding in Ellicott, adopting the well-reasoned analysis of Cottonwood, that a municipality must establish that “‘it engaged in good faith negotiations with creditors concerning the possible terms of a plan to be effected under section 941 of the Bankruptcy Code.’” Ellicott, 150 B.R.at 266 (citing Cottonwood, 138 B.R at 138) (emphasis added). The City failed to negotiate in good faith as any purported negotiations were not related to a plan that could be effectuated under section 941 and 943(b) of the Bankruptcy Code. The City, therefore, does not satisfy section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code.

(iii) Negotiations With Certain Categories Of Creditors Such As AFSCME Were Not Impracticable

201. The City alleges that it alternatively qualifies for eligibility under section 109(c)(5)(C) of the Bankruptcy Code because negotiations were impracticable.

202. As with the other eligibility requirements, the burden of proving impracticability rests with the City. See In re Pierce County Housing Authority, 414 B.R. 702, 713 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 2009); Vallejo, 408 B.R. at 289 (citing Valley Health, 383 B.R. at 161). Courts considering section 109(c)(5)(C) define the ordinary meaning of “impracticable” as “not practicable; incapable of being performed or accomplished by the means employed or at command; infeasible.” See, e.g., Vallejo, 408 B.R. at 298 (citing Valley Health, 383 B.R. at 163). Whether negotiations were impracticable is fact specific and depends upon the circumstances of the case. See Vallejo, 408 B.R. at 298.

203. The City alleges that negotiations were impracticable because, in part, the City had (i) numerous series of bonds and indebtedness held by multiple holders and (ii) approximately 20,000 retirees not represented by any formal agent or committee and other potential involuntary creditors. Furthermore, the City claims that the refusal of certain creditor constituencies to engage in good faith negotiations rendered negotiations impracticable.

204. In fact, AFSCME believes that the exact opposite is true here. The City predetermined that its pre-bankruptcy negotiations (which, as discussed above, were not negotiations) would fail. As discussed extensively above, the Governor and his staff orchestrated for several months prior to the hiring of Orr as EM to bring in Orr, as an experienced bankruptcy attorney, to lead the City on a clear path towards a chapter 9 filing, and any negotiations were a façade – the City went through the motions of pre-petition meetings but, as is evident from its pre-petition conduct vis a vis AFSCME, never had any intention of negotiating outside of bankruptcy.

205. While the City alleges that it has over 100,000 creditors, it is clear that the main creditors the City had to negotiate with were the unions, its retirees, and the bond trustees.

206. Moreover, as discussed extensively supra (¶¶ 50-51), The City itself has in the past negotiated with its unions with respect to concessionary agreements which changes impacted retiree benefits outside of a chapter 9 proceeding (even where such unions were not explicitly representing their retirees). Thus, it is a red herring to say that negotiating medical benefits or pensions is impractical per se.

207. While courts have made clear that impracticability can be demonstrated by the volume of creditors to negotiate with, in no case AFSCME is aware of did a court find that negotiations were impracticable where the Debtor did not even attempt to negotiate pre-petition with its largest creditors such as AFSCME (and after repeated requests to do so). In Ellicott School, the court determined that the debtor holding “public meetings to which all bondholders were invited” showed that negotiations were practicable.

208. AFSCME is not suggesting that pre-petition negotiations could have bound everyone or must have involved all of the City’s thousands of creditors. Rather, some level of negotiation with principal creditors could have led the City to a non-bankruptcy solution. By way of analogy, section 109(c)(5)(B) of the Bankruptcy Code contemplates pre-bankruptcy negotiations with creditors that municipality intends to impair, not all creditors.¹³

209. Given the City’s lack of negotiations with creditors such as AFSCME and similar union representatives that could have negotiated regarding the largest portion of the City’s unsecured debt, the City’s arguments that negotiations were impracticable should be rejected.

210. In the City’s reply brief, the City cites only one case (and no cases to support its rejection of AFSCME’s arguments supra) to support its position that negotiations were impracticable, and mainly relies on, in part, various facts, including (i) the large number of unrepresented entities holding substantial amounts of bond debt which required unanimous consent to restructure; and (ii) the apparent refusal of certain parties, including AFSCME, to negotiate on behalf of retirees. See Debtor's Reply, at pp. 45-46; 50-52.

211. However, the City ignores that serious bargaining and negotiations with bond trustees (even where bondholders could not have been bound 100%) and the City's unions could have yielded the major deals necessary to prevent the crash landing in chapter 9 that occurred. Additionally, while local unions may have refused to represent the interests of retirees, AFSCME never refused to bargain or negotiate in connection with the City's Restructuring Plan;¹⁴ to the extent that the City had other organizations actively representing retirees, the City could have negotiated in good faith with such parties. In reality, the City was not truly interested in negotiating in good faith (whether or not such negotiations were impractical) because the City strongly desired a swift landing in chapter 9.

C. The City's Petition Should Be Dismissed Under Section 921(c) As Filed In Bad Faith

212. The City's bankruptcy petition is subject to dismissal pursuant to section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code because the filing was in bad faith. Section 921(c) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that "[a]fter any objection to the petition, the court, after notice and a hearing, may dismiss the petition if the debtor did not file the petition in good faith or if the petition does not meet the requirements of this title."

¹⁴ The City (Debtor's Reply, at p. 50 n.43) cites a May 24, 2013 letter sent by Ed McNeil on AFSCME Council 25's behalf several weeks prior to any good faith negotiations of the actual Restructuring Plan began as evidence of AFSCME's refusal to negotiate. Mr. McNeil indicated that at that time, AFSCME had "no authority in which to renegotiate the Pension or Medical Benefits that members" of AFSCME currently receive, but would be willing to meet with the City anyway. The letter then went on to indicate that "we stand ready to meet and negotiate in an effort to save the City." Furthermore, the fact that AFSCME as of early July 2013 was not formally representing retirees did not mean that AFSCME could not negotiate an agreement on behalf of actives or retirees. Other parties were explicitly representing retirees, and AFSCME had previously (in 2012 via the Tentative Agreement and in earlier agreements) negotiated agreements which effectuated changes that affected both active and retired employees. Subsequently, AFSCME attended all of the public meetings offered it by the City and attempted to engage the City. Thus, the City clearly had parties to negotiate with if it truly desired to reach a negotiated non-bankruptcy solution.

213. “Good faith is not defined in the Bankruptcy Code.” In re McCurtain Mun. Auth., No. 07-80363, 2007 WL 4287604, at *4 (Bankr. E.D. Okla. Dec. 4, 2007). Courts have determined, however, that the primary function of the good faith requirement in chapter 9 is to “ensure the integrity of the reorganization process by limiting access to its protection to those situations for which it was intended.” Sullivan County, 165 B.R. at 80 (citation omitted); see also In re City of Stockton, California, 493 B.R. 772, 794 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2013) (“Section 921(c) “good faith” serves a policy objective of assuring that the chapter 9 process is being used in a manner consistent with the reorganization purposes of the Bankruptcy Code”); Villages at Castle Rock, 145 B.R. at 81 (describing good faith as requirement that “prevents abuse of the bankruptcy process by debtors whose overriding motive is to delay creditors without benefiting them in any way or to achieve reprehensible purposes”) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

214. While good faith in the chapter 9 context is not defined in the Bankruptcy Code, courts have looked to discussions of good faith in the chapter 11 context to determine whether a chapter 9 petition has been filed in good faith. McCurtain Mun. Auth., 2007 WL 4287604, at *4 (referencing chapter 11 good faith standards to determine whether chapter 9 petition was filed in good faith) (quoting Villages at Castle Rock, 145 B.R. at 81); County of Orange, 183 B.R. at 608 (observing that “courts have ... applied to chapter 9 cases the judicial reasoning that developed in chapter 11 cases” regarding good faith); Sullivan County, 165 B.R. at 82 (examining and applying chapter 11 good faith requirements to chapter 9 petition)).

215. In the chapter 11 context, courts explain that the requirement of good faith prevents abuse of the bankruptcy process by debtors whose overriding motive is to delay creditors without benefitting them in any way or to achieve reprehensible purposes. Moreover, a good faith standard protects the jurisdictional integrity of the bankruptcy courts by rendering their powerful equitable weapons . . . available only to those debtors and creditors with ‘clean hands.’

In re Little Creek Dev. Co., 779 F.2d 1068 (5th Cir. 1986).

216. Relevant considerations regarding good faith under chapter 9 include “whether the City’s financial problems are of a nature contemplated by chapter 9, whether the reasons for filing are consistent with chapter 9, the extent of the City’s pre-petition efforts to address the issues, the extent that alternatives to chapter 9 were considered, and whether the City’s residents would be prejudiced by denying chapter 9 relief.” Stockton, 493 B.R. at 794.

217. Here, a review of the various relevant factors considered by courts when analyzing good faith under section 921(c) lead to the inescapable conclusion that the City’s chapter 9 case was filed in bad faith and with unclean hands.

218. First, the City’s filing came several minutes prior to a Michigan State Court issuing a TRO enjoining the Governor from authorizing the filing. The State lawyers at the hearing on the TRO asked for a short delay when they realized that an adverse ruling was forthcoming with respect to the City’s ability to authorize any chapter 9 authorization which did not proscribe the reduction of pension benefits violated the Michigan constitution. During that recess, the City filed for chapter 9 protection. Thus, the City commenced this proceeding “in the dark of night” to avoid a ruling it viewed as not in its favor. Such a filing is the antithesis of the careful, deliberative decision to file required under chapter 9, as “[t]he legislative history indicates that the strict hurdles to filing Chapter 9 were implemented to ensure that it was considered by a municipality only as a last resort.” Pierce County, 414 B.R. at 714 (citation omitted) (noting debtor decided to file a chapter 9 petition only after several years of failed negotiations and attempts at mediation); cf. Valleo, 408 B.R. at 295 (“The evidence needs to show that the ‘purpose of the filing of the chapter 9 petition not simply be to buy time or evade creditors.’”). The City filed chapter 9 to evade what it viewed as an imminent negative state court ruling – enjoining this very filing.

219. Moreover, as discussed above, while the City was purporting to negotiate with its creditors in good faith by holding several meetings, such meetings were employed as a mere strategy to bolster the record and never truly given the chance to succeed. The City simply does not have “clean hands”.

220. Additionally, as discussed extensively above, the City did not reasonably consider any alternatives to chapter 9, did not give negotiations any real chance to succeed, and was preparing for a chapter 9 filing months before any creditor meetings to discuss restructuring options even started (and indeed had finalized a decision to file as of early July 2013 well before significant creditor meetings were scheduled to take place), and refused to negotiate with major creditors such as AFSCME as required. Simply put, the predetermined filing was done in bad faith and should be dismissed.

221. The City argues in its reply brief that the reason for filing the chapter 9 petition was not the imminent entry of the State Court TRO, but rather “to adjust its debts and resolve its liquidity crises [consistent] with the rehabilitative purposes of Chapter 9.” Debtor’s Reply, at p. 65. The City states further that it was no secret that Chapter 9 was an option if negotiations with creditors proved impracticable (which, of course, AFSCME disputes as set forth supra). Id. at 65-66. However, the City has not and cannot establish that negotiations with its creditors were impracticable under Section 109(c)(5)(C). Thus, any reliance by the City on the impracticability of negotiations with creditors to establish good faith is misplaced.

222. Moreover, the City’s attempts to lay blame on the movants in the state court TRO proceeding by suggesting that it was the City’s preparation for bankruptcy that prompted the request for the TRO (see City Reply, at 66, n. 56), rather than the opposite (i.e. that the imminent entry of the TRO prompted the chapter 9 filing) is incorrect. Indeed, as discussed above, Orr admitted that the filing was being driven by the state court litigations and that he was being “irresponsible” by not authorizing the filings when he did.

223. The City relies on the McCurtain Municipal Authority, decision to support its position regarding the timing of its filing and the state court TRO hearing. In McMurtain, a creditor filed an application for the appointment of a receiver the day before the trustees of the municipal authority met to discuss a chapter 9 filing. Notice of the trustees’ meeting was provided before the filing of the application for the receiver. The municipal authority argued that the potential appointment of a receiver may have been a concern, but it was not the only reason for the authority to ultimately file its petition. McCurtain at *5 (identifying other concerns considered by the authority trustees that precipitated the chapter 9 filing).

224. Here, in contrast, the evidence show that the City very much sought to avoid the effects of the State Court litigation and a ruling that the Governor could not authorize a filing that did not place contingencies on the EM from changing pension benefits in a chapter 9. The City likely would have considered giving creditors more time to negotiate (as was required for any significant bargaining to take place), and there was no cash crisis and the City had actually as of July 17, 2013 inked a deal with its swap counterparties which helped the City’s anticipated liquidity. The City has simply not proceeded in good faith.

D. The City Has Failed To Meet Its Burden Of Proving Its Insolvency, And Only Does So Based On Assumptions Used By The City To Show Its Insolvency

225. The Bankruptcy Code does not offer relief to a city simply because it is suffering economic difficulties. See, e.g., In re City of Bridgeport, 129 B.R. 332, 339 (Bankr. D. Conn. 1991) (although City projected $16 million budget deficit, it was not insolvent, and “financial difficulties short of insolvency are not a basis for chapter 9 relief”); In re Hamilton Creek Metro. Dist., 143 F.3d 1381, 1386 (10th Cir. 1998) (debtor not eligible for relief simply because it was severely economically distressed).

226. In order to carry its burden on insolvency, the City must prove either that it is “(i) generally not paying its debts as they become due unless such debts are the subject of a bona fide dispute; or (ii) unable to pay its debts as they become due.” 11 U.S.C. § 101(32)(C). The test under the first prong requires current non-payment of obligations, but the test under the second prong is prospective, looking to the debtor’s future inability to pay. Bridgeport, 129 B.R. at 336-37. Solvency is measured as of the petition date. See, e.g., In re Town of Westlake, Texas, 211 B.R. 860, 866 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1997) (citing cases).

227. The purposeful refusal to make a few payments comprising a relatively small part of the City’s budget does not satisfy the definition of “insolvent” under 11 U.S.C. § 101(32)(C)(i). See, e.g., Uecker & Assocs. v. Tenet Healthsystem Hosps., Inc. (In re West Contra Costa Healthcare Dist.), No. 06-41774 T, 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 994, at *8 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. Mar. 26, 2010) (failure to pay $1.3 million out of $10-$11 million total operating expenses did not mean the debtor was “generally not paying its debts”)

228. First, the City “deliberately budget[ed and] spen[t] itself into insolvency (so as to qualify under § 101(32)(C)(ii)), when other realistic avenues and scenarios [were] possible.” Town of Westlake, 211 B.R. at 867. Second, “[t]he mere fact that a municipality has adopted a budget that reflects a cash flow shortfall is not independently sufficient to meet the requirement of the ‘unable to pay’ test.” COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 900.02[2][c][i] (16th ed. 2011). A municipal budget “must be evaluated in light of past and current practices, the practices of similar municipalities, and the extant facts and circumstances.” Id.

229. The City puts forward three declarations from Orr, Malhotra and Moore which appear to provide a voluminous amount of data to “establish” the City’s insolvency, including on the basis of budget and service delivery insolvency, negative cash flows and inability to increase revenues or reduce expenses.

230. However, as discussed above, when one digs into all of the “facts” cited by these three declarants, it becomes apparent that the City failed to provide this Court or the citizens of Detroit evidence to establish insolvency.

231. It is telling (and should be shocking to all citizens of Detroit and Michigan) that despite spending millions of dollars of taxpayer funds on the City’s chapter 9 cases to hire a multitude of bankruptcy and restructuring professionals, the City fails to offer even one person to stand up as an expert and testify to the City’s insolvency. Courts in the non-chapter 9 context note that “[i]t is generally accepted that whenever possible, a determination of insolvency should be based on . . . expert testimony . . .” Brandt v. Samuel, Son & Co., Ltd. (In re Longview Aluminum, L.L.C.), Case No. 03B12184, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1312, at *18-*19 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. July 14, 2005); see also Lawson v. Ford Motor Co. (In re Roblin Indus.), 78 F.3d 30, 38 (2d Cir. 1996); Klein v. Tabatchnick, 610 F.2d 1043, 1048 (2d Cir. 1979) (stating that “a finding on the issue of insolvency often depends upon the factual inferences and conclusions of expert witnesses”).

232. Here, the insolvency “evidence” offered by the City focuses on the non-expert testimony of Orr, Malhotra, and Moore. This testimony relies on unaudited and unfounded assumptions, unsupported statements and a complete lack of expert opinion. For example, as purported evidence for the City’s insolvency, Orr (see Orr Declaration, ¶¶ 52-57) cites to the June 14 Restructuring Plan prepared by the City and to conclusory statements by Malhotra, one of the City’s restructuring advisors (who of course all had one goal in mind: demonstrating insolvency).

233. While the City alleges that it was forced to suspend certain payments to “conserve its dwindling cash”, the main portion of the payments not made revolve around the City’s pension obligations, and those obligations are subject to dispute as to the ultimate amount required to be paid, and indeed evidence (discussed supra, ¶ 53-59) shows that (i) the City may have funds (or be able to raise funds from other sources such as revenues generated from the water and sewer fund) not calculated as part of its financial projections to cover such shortfalls and (ii) the City apparently chose to not actually calculate through an expert report the correct underfunding liability with respect to the pension obligations (despite presenting “definitive” numbers of such underfunding in the Restructuring Plan and other documents produced by the EM and his staff). Thus, the City “deliberately budget[ed and] spen[t] itself into insolvency (so as to qualify under § 101(32)(C)(ii)), when other realistic avenues and scenarios [were] possible.” Town of Westlake, 211 B.R. at 867.

234. Second, “[t]he mere fact that a municipality [adopts] a budget that reflects a cash flow shortfall is not independently sufficient to meet the requirement of the ‘unable to pay’ test.” COLLIER ON BANKRUPTCY ¶ 900.02[2][c][i] (16th ed. 2011). The City’s budget “must be evaluated in light of past and current practices, the practices of similar municipalities, and the extant facts and circumstances.” Id.

235. Here, the City’s past and current practices, as well as current facts and circumstances, not only show that the City has many available (but unexplored) options to enable it to pay its debts as they become due, but also that the City chose to deliberately not monetize certain assets (or explore the value of such assets) prior to the filing to limit the appearance of cash or revenue on its books. It is telling that the City's prized artwork collection and potential deal to lease Bell Isle are only now on the table – if these assets and other possible increased tax revenue collection could have collectively solved all of the City's short term cash issues. But, as indicated above, the City did not want such assets monetized because the City's goal and clear path was to end up in chapter 9, which the City believed provided the only means to attack its vested pension obligations.

236. Thus, in light of all of the above, the information provided in the City's current budget provides at most only "insufficient credible proof" of insolvency. Town of Westlake, 211 B.R. at 867; see also Bridgeport, 129 B.R. at 338 (requiring concrete proof "that [the city] will be unable to pay its debts as they become due in its current fiscal year or, based on an adopted budget, in its next fiscal year" and noting that "[o]bviously, it is necessary for cities to make informed financial projections").

237. The City's current financial difficulties currently are actually less severe than in some prior years, the City entered into a deal prior to the chapter 9 filing with its swap counterparties which potentially freed up significant cash and did not make the filing imminent, and AFSCME believes (and as will be further demonstrated at trial) that there are numerous means already show to be available to solve the City's current financial difficulties and generate sufficient funds to pay its debts coming due in the coming fiscal year. AFSCME recognizes that all parties (including current and former employees) will be required to sacrifice, but reasonable concessions outside of bankruptcy – which is not necessary and which the City does not and cannot qualify for based on all the reasons discussed above – from all significant creditors would easily bring the City back to financial stability.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth herein, AFSCME respectfully requests that this Court issue an order dismissing the City's chapter 9 petition and granting such other and further relief as is just and proper under the circumstances.

MR. WERTHEIMER: William Wertheimer on behalf of the Flowers Plaintiffs.

I would like to put on the record the fact that the order that Judge Rhodes entered under which we're conducting this and the other State depositions provides at Paragraph 7 that the State would complete its document production by October 5 provided the parties could mutually agree to extend that date.

That date has not been extended by agreement. As late as last night at 10:15 -- I woke up this morning to find that the State had produced a fourth production that is not in compliance with the order.

I want to make clear on the record that we may take the position that we may need to continue the Governor and the other State's depositions after we have reviewed those documents as we have not looked at any of those documents as of now.

MS. NELSON: This is Margaret Nelson on behalf of the State.

1 The fourth production of documents was made
 2 under the State's continuing obligation to
 3 supplement its discovery responses. So the fact
 4 that our production was completed by the fifth,
 5 pursuant to the court order, is irrelevant to the 6 fact that we have an ongoing duty to supplement, and 7 that was the purpose for the additional document
 8 production yesterday.
 9 MR. WERTHEIMER: I'll leave further
 10 argument for later.
 11 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Today's date -- hold on.
 12 I have to start over again. Give me a second.
 13 (A pause was had in the proceedings.)
 14 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Today's date is 15 October 9th, 2013, and we're on the record at 16 8:42 a.m.
 17 This is the video deposition of Governor
 18 Richard Snyder. We're at the Romney Office
 19 Building, 111 South Capitol Avenue in Lansing,
 20 Michigan.
 21 Could the reporter administer the oath to 22 the Governor, please.

 24 -GOVERNOR RICHARD D. SNYDER-
 25 called as a witness, being first duly sworn, was

Page 10

1 examined and testified as follows:
 2 EXAMINATION
 3 BY MS. LEVINE:
 4 Q. Good morning, Governor.
 5 A. Good morning.
 6 Q. My name is Sharon Levine. I'm with the law firm of 7 Lowenstein Sandler. I'm here on behalf of AFSCME,
 8 and we appreciate your appearing for your deposition
 9 today, so thank you.
 10 Just for the record, when did you take
 11 office as Governor of the State of Michigan?
 12 A. January 1, 2011.
 13 Q. And at the time you took office, was the State
 14 providing greater financial -- a greater level of 15 financial support to the City of Detroit than it is
 16 today?
 17 A. I would have to check that.
 18 Q. Would you be willing to support having the State
 19 provide a greater level of financial support than it
 20 is today in order to help the City of Detroit with 21 its plan of adjustment and particularly in order to 22 help fund the pension issues?
 23 A. In terms of we have many competing interests for the 24 State of Michigan with respect to our budget. I
 25 don't make those decisions by myself. It goes

1 through the appropriations process with the
 2 legislature and the Governor.
 3 Q. My question was would you support an additional
 4 level of support?
 5 A. I said I've been supportive of improved services for
 6 citizens, not necessarily the repayment of debts.
 7 Q. That might have been responsive so I don't mean to 8 be argumentative, but the narrower question is would 9 you support an additional level of support for 10 Detroit in order to help deal with the so-called 11 underfunding pension issue?
 12 MS. NELSON: Asked and answered. Go ahead.
 13 Go ahead.
 14 THE WITNESS: Oh. I view that as a --
 15 that's a question that I couldn't answer because 16 it's a hypothetical. It would depend on the entire 17 situation for the facts depending on the potential
 18 plan of adjustment for the debts.
 19 BY MS. LEVINE:
 20 Q. Well, between March 28, 2013 and June 14, 2013, did
 21 you have discussions with Kevyn Orr about a business
 22 plan or a restructuring plan or a redevelopment plan
 23 for the City of Detroit?
 24 A. Kevyn Orr was building a plan for creditors they 25 presented in June of this year.

1 Q. Did you have discussions with him with regard to
 2 that plan before the June presentation?
 3 A. I had discussions that would have been subject to
 4 attorney-client privilege.
 5 Q. Is it your understanding that that plan includes a
 6 two billion dollar note for unsecured creditors?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. And what's your understanding of what that plan
 9 includes with regard to vested pension benefits for 10 the citizens of Detroit?
 11 A. The proposal includes some portion of that note
 12 being allocated towards pensioners.
 13 Q. So the plan does not include just leaving the vested
 14 pension benefits alone, does it?
 15 A. Well, with respect to the funded piece of pension
 16 plans, that's available. There's an open question
 17 with respect to the unfunded portion.
 18 Q. Do you understand that in a Chapter 11 corporate
 19 bankruptcy case that the Pension Benefit Guaranty
 20 Corporation or the PBGC provides federal insurance
 21 for beneficiaries of a pension if a defined benefit
 22 plan is terminated?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. And is it your understanding that in a Chapter 9
 25 bankruptcy case there is no similar protection for

1 vested pension benefits?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. What's your understanding of how the Detroit
 4 citizens, the AFSCME retirees will support
 5 themselves assuming that there's a diminution in the 6 current level of pension benefit provided?
 7 A. Could you clarify your question because you had
 8 conflicting statements.
 9 You asked about the citizens of Detroit and
 10 then you asked about the retirees.
 11 Q. Well, let's go with the retired citizens of Detroit
 12 first.
 13 To the extent that their pensions are
 14 diminished and there is no PBGC or federal 15 protection for them, what's your understanding under 16 the plan of -- the proposed plan how they will
 17 support themselves?
 18 MS. NELSON: Objection; calls for
 19 speculation, form, foundation.
 20 THE WITNESS: Given that we're in the 21 Chapter 9 process, there's been no plan presented at 22 this point in time.
 23 BY MS. LEVINE:
 24 Q. We already had a little bit of a discussion that 25 you're aware of the plan that was presented to

1 creditors in June of 2013, correct?
 2 A. That was part of going through a process from the
 3 City of Detroit asking its creditors for good faith
 4 negotiations.
 5 Q. Right. And under that plan, to the extent there was
 6 an underfunding with regard to the pensions, there
 7 was going to be some change made to the pension
 8 benefits, correct?
 9 A. That would depend on mutual agreement between the
 10 parties.
 11 Q. Well, assuming that there is a reduction for the 12 moment in pension benefits, have you had any 13 conversations with Kevyn Orr with regard to whether 14 or not there would be any other benefit or provision
 15 made to the retirees of the City of Detroit that 16 were going to lose pension benefits as a result of 17 that plan?
 18 A. Those discussions would have been subject to
 19 attorney-client privilege.
 20 Q. What's your understanding of the options that are 21 available to the City of Detroit?
 22 A. Well, again, we're in bankruptcy now so there's been
 23 no plan presented by the City at this point in time,
 24 so that's a hypothetical.
 25 Q. Do you believe it's fair to have the bankruptcy

Page 15

1 attorney and other bankruptcy professionals paid
 2 ahead of retirees in connection with the Chapter 9
 3 process?
 4 A. I view that as a legal matter because that's a
 5 subject matter of how Chapter 9 bankruptcies work.
 6 Q. The question I was asking was whether or not you
 7 believe it's fair. I'm not asking you whether or 8 not it's a legal matter.
 9 A. Well, I view it as just speculation on my part
 10 because we're in Chapter 9, so that would be part of 11 the legal process.
 12 Q. Is it your understanding that the Wall Street
 13 creditors, municipal bond holders will share in this
 14 two billion dollar note alongside of the retirees
 15 with regard to their unsecured claims?
 16 A. Again, there has been no plan presented in 17 bankruptcy, so that would be a hypothetical. If you
 18 go back to the proposal to the creditors, that was 19 to be part of good faith negotiations, and there was 20 an attempt to do that so that would have all been 21 consensual.
 22 Q. Do you believe it's fair to pay Wall Street-type
 23 municipal bond creditors ahead of retirees?
 24 A. Again, that's part of the mutual negotiations that 25 were part of the proposal for creditors.

1 Q. Prior to the time that Detroit filed for bankruptcy,
 2 is it your understanding that House Speaker Bolger
 3 had any involvement or discussions with Kevyn Orr
 4 with regard to the bankruptcy filing?
 5 A. I don't recall.
 6 Q. Did he have discussions with you with regard to the
 7 bankruptcy filing?
 8 A. In terms of speaking to Speaker Bolger, occasionally
 9 I would give updates on what was going on with the
 10 City of Detroit.
 11 Q. And did he express any views with regard to the
 12 Chapter 9 filing?
 13 A. Not that I recall.
 14 Q. Did you have any conversations with Randy
 15 Richardville prior to the Chapter 9 filing?
 16 A. It would be the same with Speaker Bolger, that as 17 part of the normal process I would give updates on 18 where the situations stood.
 19 Q. Do you have any recollection of what he said to you
 20 with regard to those updates?
 21 A. No.
 22 Q. On or about July 18, when you authorized Detroit's
 23 Chapter 9 filing, what was your understanding of the 24 dollar amount of the pension obligations that were 25 underfunded?

Page 17

1 A. It would be in the approximate three-and-a-half
 2 billion dollar range based on the financial
 3 statements.
 4 Q. What was your source of the underfunding figure when
 5 you say financial statements? What financial 6 statements are you referring to?
 7 A. The statements that would have been provided by the 8 City of Detroit that would have been included in the 9 review team report.
 10 Q. As we sit here today, do you -- is it your 11 understanding that that number is still the number
 12 that you're working with?
 13 A. My understanding is that there's been further work
 14 done by actuaries and consultants that have come up
 15 with differing numbers.
 16 Q. And as you sit here today, what's your understanding
 17 of what the underfunding obligation is with regard
 18 to the Detroit pensions?
 19 A. Potentially, these other reports could say the 20 underfunded amount was significantly larger.
 21 Q. And by significantly larger, do you have a dollar
 22 figure or an estimate that you could give us?
 23 A. I wouldn't want to speculate. That's known in the 24 report.
 25 Q. And what reports specifically are you referring to?

Page 18

1 A. I believe there's a report that Kevyn Orr had
 2 commissioned with respect by actuaries to assess the
 3 Detroit pension plans.
 4 Q. And were those actuaries Milliman?
 5 A. I believe so.
 6 Q. Do you recall the date of the report?
 7 A. No.
 8 Q. Was it commissioned after the Chapter 9 filing?
 9 A. Again, I didn't -- I was not partaking in the 10 commissioning of the plan itself. You'd have to ask
 11 Kevyn Orr.
 12 Q. Are you familiar with the litigations, specifically
 13 three lawsuits commenced on or around July 3, 2013,
 14 challenging the constitutionality of the appointment
 15 of the emergency manager and/or certain aspects of 16 the emergency manager law, PA 436?
 17 A. Generally, yes.
 18 Q. During the period from July 3 to July 18, did you
 19 follow this litigation?
 20 A. To some degree.
 21 Q. Did there come a point in time between July 3 and 22 July 18 that you learned that Kevyn Orr was putting 23 together a request for authorization to file
 24 bankruptcy for Detroit?
 25 A. That would have been subject to attorney-client

1 privilege.
 2 Q. Well, actually, I'm asking you your understanding
 3 and not anything that you've discussed with your
 4 lawyers.
 5 I'm asking you your understanding of
 6 whether sometime between July 3 and July 18 you
 7 learned that Kevyn Orr was putting together a
 8 request for authorization to file Detroit's
 9 Chapter 9 petition?
 10 A. He was considering a Chapter 9 request to me.
 11 Q. Do you recall when you first learned that he was 12 considering a Chapter 9 request to you?
 13 A. It would have been sometime between those dates. I
 14 don't recall what specific date.
 15 Q. But it was sometime between July 3 and July 18?
 16 A. It would have been closer to the 18th.
 17 Q. And the request came to you on July 16; is that
 18 correct?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Did you ask Kevyn Orr to send you that request?
 21 A. I left it to Kevyn Orr to make the decision.
 22 Q. At the time that you received the request, did you
 23 agree with the request for the authorization?
 24 A. I wanted to review the request.
 25 Q. On July 16, was it your understanding that the filed

1 state court lawsuits, the so-called Flowers and
 2 Webster litigations, were requesting injunctions
 3 against among other things your authorizing the
 4 Chapter 9 filing?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. Did you believe that if the injunctions were granted
 7 it would have interfered with Kevyn Orr's efforts at 8 restructuring Detroit?
 9 A. I didn't consider that.
 10 Q. You didn't consider at all the impact of whether or 11 not injunctions issued in those lawsuits would
 12 impact the restructuring effort made by Kevyn Orr?
 13 A. My concern was is when I received a request from 14 Kevyn, I wanted to make sure I appropriately
 15 reviewed that request and in a thoughtful fashion
 16 and responded appropriately was my primary concern.
 17 Q. Was one of the criteria you used in your thoughtful
 18 deliberation the status of those pending
 19 litigations?
 20 A. Not with respect to injunctions but with respect to 21 the sheer fact of many cases of litigation were 22 going on and that we were ending up in potentially 23 many different courts over many issues that could go
 24 beyond the scope of just those lawsuits.
 25 Q. So it's your testimony that you -- that although you

1 took into account the volume of litigation, you did
 2 not take into account the impact of the injunctions
 3 which were being sought in those particular
 4 litigations?
 5 A. I view those as speculative. Again, there were 6 requests -- and those are common requests in many
 7 lawsuits.
 8 Q. Changing topics for a minute. NERDs, is that an 9 acronym for New Energy to Reinvest Diversity Fund?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. Do you know who the donors are to the NERDs Fund?
 12 MS. NELSON: Objection; outside the scope
 13 of the protective order and the eligibility
 14 objections for purposes of this deposition.
 15 MS. LEVINE: You can answer.
 16 MS. NELSON: No, he can't answer. It's 17 outside the protective order and the scope of this
 18 deposition.
 19 MS. LEVINE: How is it outside the 20 protective order?
 21 MS. NELSON: The protective order limits
 22 the scope of the deposition to the issues identified
 23 in the eligibility objections, and there's nothing
 24 in AFSCME's eligibility objections related to the 25 NERD Fund or specifically the donors to the NERD

1 Fund.
 2 MS. LEVINE: Okay. Well, I'm going to run
 3 through my questions for the record, and if at the 4 end of the series of questions on the NERDs Funds
 5 your position is the same, then we can have the 6 Governor not answer, but for the record since we
 7 only have three hours I'm going to go through it.
 8 BY MS. LEVINE:
 9 Q. Do you know who any of the donors are?
 10 MS. NELSON: Same objection.
 11 BY MS. LEVINE:
 12 Q. Was Kevyn Orr a donor?
 13 MS. NELSON: Same objection.
 14 BY MS. LEVINE:
 15 Q. Is Jones Day a donor?
 16 A. (No response.)
 17 Q. Do you know if any of the retained professionals by 18 the City of Detroit, either the firms or the 19 individuals, are donors or any of the creditors of 20 Detroit donors or any of the SWOP party's donors?
 21 A. (No response.)
 22 Q. Would you be willing to produce those names?
 23 A. (No response.)
 24 Q. If it's not within your control, would you be 25 willing to ask NERDs to produce those names?

Page 23

1 A. (No response.)
 2 Q. Do you know if any of the emergency manager's costs
 3 or expenses are being paid for or reimbursed by the 4 NERDs Fund?
 5 A. (No response.)
 6 Q. Do you know if NERD made any other payments to or on 7 behalf of Kevyn Orr?
 8 A. (No response.)
 9 Q. Do you know if any of the NERDs donors also made
 10 political contributions to your campaign? If so,
 11 whom and how much?
 12 A. (No response.)
 13 Q. Do you know if any of the NERDs donors also 14 contributed to the campaign against PA 4, and, if 15 so, which donors were those?
 16 A. (No response.)
 17 MS. LEVINE: Is it still the State's
 18 position that this is unrelated to eligibility?
 19 MS. NELSON: Yes. Unless you can identify
 20 specifically the objections in your eligibility
 21 statement that they relate to.
 22 MS. LEVINE: It's good faith. It goes to 23 good faith and it goes to conflict of interest with 24 regard to good faith.
 25 MS. NELSON: In what context?

Page 24

1 MS. LEVINE: Well, I'm not going to use my
 2 three hours to have that --
 3 MS. NELSON: No, I understand that. I -- I
 4 don't believe that it is -- if you'll let me confer
 5 with my client, I'll ask him.
 6 MS. LEVINE: I've learned how to use my
 7 timer, so that's good my daughter taught me that.
 8 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Going off the record
 9 then?
 10 MS. LEVINE: Yes. Yes.
 11 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Off the record 8:58 a.m.
 12 (A brief recess was taken.)
 13 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: We are back on the 14 record at 9 a.m.
 15 MS. NELSON: I've conferred with my client,
 16 and in the spirit of cooperation and to move these 17 proceedings along, he's agreed to respond to your 18 questions and can do so fairly quickly.
 19 THE WITNESS: Yeah, with respect to your 20 questions as to who the donors were and those --
 21 that category of questioning, my answer would be I
 22 don't know. There's an independent board that does
 23 that work.
 24 With respect to the question of expenses,
 25 Kevyn Orr's agreement is such that some of his

Page 25

1 expenses can be reimbursed by the NERD Fund because
 2 it was created to offset the burdens of government
 3 and does similar things such as process auditorium
 4 upgrades, help with expenses for travel.
 5 BY MS. LEVINE:
 6 Q. Do you know whether or not the NERD Fund contributed
 7 to the campaign against PA 4?
 8 A. I don't know.
 9 Q. Or in favor of PA 4?
 10 A. I don't know.
 11 Q. Did you prepare for today's deposition?
 12 A. I had time with my counsel.
 13 Q. And who was that counsel?
 14 A. The fine group you're seeing on the other side of 15 this table.
 16 Q. Just because we have a transcript, and I don't know
 17 if everybody's going to be seeing the videotape but 18 the lawyers aren't on the videotape, so for the 19 record could you just give the names of your
 20 lawyers?
 21 A. Yeah. My attorney, Margaret, who has already been 22 identified; Matthew Schneider and Mike Gadola and 23 Peter Ellsworth.
 24 Q. Did you also meet with attorneys for the City of 25 Detroit to prepare for today's deposition?

Page 26

1 A. No.
 2 Q. Did you review any documents to prepare for today's
 3 deposition?
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. And what documents did you review?
 6 MS. NELSON: Objection. That's privileged
 7 and work product.
 8 MS. LEVINE: Are you directing the witness
 9 not to answer?
 10 MS. NELSON: Yes.
 11 BY MS. LEVINE:
 12 Q. Was anybody else present at any of the meetings that 13 you had to prepare for the deposition besides you
 14 and your counsel?
 15 A. No.
 16 Q. Is it your understanding that Kevyn Orr was 17 appointed emergency manager effective March 28,
 18 2013?
 19 A. I don't recall the specific date, but it sounds like 20 you have that.
 21 Q. Do you recall whether or not Kevyn Orr was appointed
 22 in or around March of 2013?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. Is it your understanding that PA 436 became 25 effective in or around March of 2013?

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. Is it your understanding that PA 436 was enacted in
 3 December of 2012?
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. Is it your understanding that PA 4 was struck by 6 voter referendum in November of 2012?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. Are you familiar with press coverage that indicates
 9 that there's some sentiment that PA 436 was 10 criticized as a dictatorship or takeover mechanism
 11 when it was enacted?
 12 A. I'm aware there were many comments with respect to 13 many pieces of legislation.
 14 Q. I'm asking specifically about those comments with 15 regard to PA 436.
 16 A. Yes.
 17 Q. Did you have any involvement in bringing PA 436 into 18 law?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. What was your understanding of the purpose of PA
 21 436?
 22 A. It was to be responsive to the voters to actually
 23 improve on a process that goes back a very long
 24 time. It goes back to 1988 originally; that in 1990
 25 Public Act 72 came into law under Governor

1 Blanchard. That was an emergency manager law that
 2 was in effect for a very long time and had been
 3 utilized by several prior governors.
 4 Q. So was --
 5 A. Then beyond that --
 6 Q. I'm sorry.
 7 A. Excuse me. Public Act 72 came into place and was
 8 used for quite a few years including my predecessor
 9 who had appointed a number of the emergency managers
 10 that were in place when I took office.
 11 Following Public Act 72, I thought it was 12 important to make improvements to Public 72 because 13 it had two major challenge points. One, emergency
 14 managers could be in place for too long, and there
 15 was no early warning system to help avoid ever
 16 needing an emergency manager.
 17 So Public Act 4 was an improvement on 18 Public Act 72 to put in an early warning system
 19 again --
 20 Q. Let me -- I appreciate the commentary, but I only 21 have an hour and a half. Let me ask a more pointed 22 question. My mistake for not narrowing the
 23 question.
 24 A. Uh-huh.
 25 Q. Was PA 436 enacted in part to overcome what were

Page 29

1 perceived to be the deficiencies or the cause for
 2 the voter referendum with regard to PA 4?
 3 A. Plus additional improvements over what was Public
 4 Act 4 or Public Act 72.
 5 Q. Did you have any involvement in drafting PA 4?
 6 A. Yes.
 7 Q. Was the hope that PA 436 would avoid a referendum by 8 the voters striking it down as well?
 9 A. No.
 10 Q. Is one of the differences between PA 4 and PA 436
 11 the treatment of vested pension benefits?
 12 A. Not that I recall.
 13 Q. Is it your understanding that PA 436 prohibits any 14 changes to vested pension benefits?
 15 A. Could you state that again because I'm not sure PA
 16 436 really references pension benefits in terms of 17 what it covers.
 18 Q. Okay. Is it your understanding that PA 436
 19 authorizes the Governor, you, to authorize the 20 emergency manager to file for bankruptcy protection
 21 under Chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. Is it your understanding that PA 436 among other
 24 things authorizes the Governor to place
 25 contingencies on the municipal proceeding under

1 Chapter 9?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. Is it your understanding as we sit here today that
 4 one of the challenges to Detroit's Chapter 9
 5 bankruptcy filing is that it was filed without 6 imposing as a condition a prohibition against
 7 modifying the existing pension benefits?
 8 A. Yes. I understand that's one of the elements of 9 objections.
 10 Q. Is it your understanding that Article 9 Section 24
 11 of the Michigan Constitution prohibits tampering
 12 with the vested pension benefits?
 13 A. That's not my understanding of what the Constitution
 14 says. It does not literally say that.
 15 Q. What's your understanding of what the Constitution
 16 says with regard to vested pension benefits?
 17 A. It talks about accrued financial benefits from the 18 State or a political subdivision being treated as 19 contractual obligations, and in that context they 20 shouldn't be impaired or diminished, which is 21 different than what you stated.
 22 Q. Did you include -- using your definition, did you
 23 include that limitation in -- let me ask this
 24 differently.
 25 Using your statement, why didn't you

Page 31

1 include that as a contingency or limitation on your
 2 authorization to Kevyn Orr with regard to the 3 Chapter 9 filing for Detroit?
 4 A. In terms of -- I didn't believe it was appropriate
 5 to put contingencies in it because, as I stated in
 6 my letter authorizing it, I believe that the process
 7 is required to be a legal process, which would
 8 address any legal questions through the bankruptcy
 9 process, either through the plan or the judge's
 10 review of the plan.
 11 Q. So is it your understanding that any limitation on 12 the ability to impair or change vested pension
 13 benefits under state law would also apply to the 14 Chapter 9 process?
 15 A. That's starting to get into legal opinions, and I
 16 thought it was best to leave to the judicial branch,
 17 particularly a bankruptcy judge.
 18 Q. I'm actually asking you what your understanding is.
 19 A. My understanding is that would be resolved through 20 the bankruptcy process with the bankruptcy judge.
 21 Q. Did you take an oath of office when you became
 22 Governor?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. Wasn't part of that oath to uphold the law?
 25 A. It was to uphold the Constitutions of Michigan and

Page 32

1 the United States.
 2 Q. Isn't this a provision of the Constitution of
 3 Michigan?
 4 A. And it also involves the Constitution of the United
 5 States when you're talking Chapter 9 bankruptcy, and 6 I thought it best to leave to a judge, the judicial
 7 branch, to make a determination of a legal question.
 8 Q. When you signed the authorization letter, were you
 9 concerned about how the pension issue would
 10 ultimately get resolved through the Chapter 9
 11 process?
 12 A. It involved citizens of the State of Michigan, so
 13 yes.
 14 Q. Did you have any involvement in the selection of 15 Kevyn Orr as emergency manager or emergency
 16 financial manager for Detroit?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 Q. When did the emergency manager or the emergency
 19 financial manager process that resulted in Kevyn
 20 Orr's selection begin?
 21 A. You can argue that began sometime back in 2011. It
 22 was a continuation of a process that goes back to a
 23 preliminary review that started in 2011, that went
 24 to a review team in 2012, that resulted in a consent
 25 agreement in early 2012. It continued throughout

1 that year.

2 When it was clear the consent agreement

3 wasn't working, there was a subsequent review

4 started in December of late 2012. The review team

5 came up with a determination that there's a

6 financial emergency without a sufficient plan. I

7 agreed with that conclusion. There was then a

8 hearing and a review process of that. That was

9 appropriately done.

10 I reaffirmed my review after receiving a

11 report that concluded the same measure, that there

12 was a financial emergency without a sufficient plan.

13 And given that circumstance, then we had a need for 14 an emergency manager.

15 Q. Okay. So the last step in that process, was that

16 the point at which you were interviewing candidates

17 that resulted in the selection of Kevyn Orr?

18 A. We started some -- the interview process prior to 19 that to be prepared as a contingency in case that

20 was the outcome of the review and the hearing

21 process.

22 Q. Were you involved personally in that selection

23 process?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Who else was involved with you?

Page 34

1 A. Rich Baird and several other people from the staff.

2 The Mayor of Detroit was involved in the process.

3 Q. Mayor Bing was involved?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Was Mr. Dillon involved?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Was your chief of staff involved?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. Did you rely on any outside consultants, bankruptcy

10 attorneys, financial advisors in making this

11 decision also?

12 A. I didn't personally during that process.

13 Q. Did you establish a list of criteria or

14 qualifications that you were looking for that you'd

15 think favorably upon in making the selection as to 16 who should be the emergency manager for Detroit?

17 A. There was criteria we discussed to go through this

18 process.

19 Q. Did that criteria include familiarity with

20 bankruptcy?

21 A. It wasn't necessarily required. It could be viewed

22 as a positive and not in the context of bankruptcy

23 but bankruptcy and restructuring experience.

24 Q. Did you view as a positive ties to Detroit?

25 A. Yes.

1 Q. Were you looking at residency?

2 A. Not necessarily residency but familiarity with

3 Detroit.

4 Q. Did you take into account political affiliations?

5 A. No.

6 Q. Race?

7 A. Again, that would be a factor that could be of some

8 consideration.

9 Q. Did you take into account any history of political

10 party ties, political involvement or political

11 appointments?

12 A. What I would say, those would be viewed as

13 negatives.

14 Q. Did you take into account any municipal

15 redevelopment background?

16 A. In terms of restructuring or having municipal

17 experience, that would be a positive.

18 Q. Would that also include municipal budgeting or 19 financial planning?

20 A. It could.

21 Q. Did you take into account any land use or zoning

22 experience?

23 A. We didn't get to that degree of specificity, as I

24 recall.

25 Q. Were there in-person interviews in connection with

Page 36

1 the selection process that resulted in the selection

2 of Kevyn Orr?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. Who ran that process for you?

5 A. Rich Baird.

6 Q. And were you personally involved in the in-person

7 interviews?

8 A. Some.

9 Q. Did you personally interview Kevyn Orr?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. Where did that interview take place?

12 A. I met with him more than once. I believe -- I don't

13 recall specifically which location.

14 Q. Was there a list or a slate of candidates that you

15 personally interviewed for the emergency manager

16 position?

17 A. I interviewed more than one candidate in person.

18 Q. How many candidates did you interview in person?

19 A. I recall two for sure.

20 Q. Were there more than two?

21 A. Not that I recall.

22 Q. Was Kevyn Orr a candidate before Jones Day was 23 interviewed as counsel for Detroit?

24 A. I don't believe so.

25 Q. Was he asked to be -- to consider the emergency

Page 37

1 manager position during the Jones Day interview?
 2 A. I wasn't part of the Jones Day interview process.
 3 Q. No. My question, was it your understanding that he
 4 was asked to consider the emergency manager position
 5 during the Jones Day interview?
 6 A. Again, I couldn't speak to a process that I wasn't a
 7 participant in.
 8 Q. Do you know if he was offered by Jones Day as a
 9 candidate?
 10 A. He was not offered by Jones Day as a candidate. We 11 asked permission if we could talk to Kevyn Orr.
 12 Q. Why in your mind was he better than the other
 13 candidates you were considering?
 14 A. That was an extensive process. What I would say is 15 a number of candidates sort of withdrew their 16 interest in participation also during this process.
 17 But I think Kevyn Orr had very strong
 18 criteria and a very strong background in terms of he 19 had ties to Michigan and Detroit both in terms of 20 family and school, he had extensive experience in 21 restructuring and bankruptcy, and he had very fine
 22 communication skills.
 23 Q. Isn't it true that Kevyn Orr also expressed a
 24 hesitancy about accepting a position as emergency
 25 manager?

1 A. That would be speculative.
 2 Q. Did he ever express to you a concern that he was
 3 perhaps uncertain about accepting the position of 4 emergency manager if it was offered to him?
 5 A. I would say -- I wouldn't -- I can't speak for 6 Kevyn. I think this is one of the most challenging
 7 positions, to be emergency manager, in the United
 8 States, and I think that most people would have some 9 degree of concern about taking this position.
 10 Q. While he was grappling with that decision, did you
 11 personally reach out to him and have any 12 conversations with him with regard to why you wanted
 13 him to take the position?
 14 A. I had several discussions with Kevyn about the 15 challenges of this position. And, to be open, I
 16 made quite clear to him that I viewed this as one of 17 the most challenging positions in our country.
 18 Q. Did you indicate to him that you thought it was 19 important that he accept because of his bankruptcy
 20 experience?
 21 A. In terms of emphasizing his bankruptcy experience as 22 a reason to do this, no. I viewed it as his overall
 23 experience in terms of being a person dealing with 24 turnarounds, restructuring and bankruptcy was very 25 relevant to this situation.

1 His experience with Chrysler I thought was
 2 very helpful in terms of dealerships, of
 3 understanding how to turn around a situation and see
 4 it be successful.
 5 Q. When did you make the final decision on Kevyn Orr?
 6 A. I didn't make the final decision. I recommended
 7 someone. The decision was made by the Emergency
 8 Loan Board.
 9 Q. Did anybody else recommend Kevyn Orr to the 10 Emergency Loan Board?
 11 A. Well, I think some of the other people as part of 12 the interview process probably did, but I think I
 13 was the one really making the recommendation.
 14 Q. Were you involved in the decision to retain Jones
 15 Day as restructuring attorneys to the City?
 16 A. That was a decision by the City of Detroit.
 17 Q. Try again. Were you involved in the decision to 18 retain Jones Day as restructuring attorneys for the 19 City?
 20 A. No.
 21 Q. Was Mr. Baird, Mr. Dillon or any other State
 22 official involved in the interview process or the 23 decision-making process with regard to the retention
 24 of Jones Day by the City of Detroit?
 25 A. I don't know.

Page 40

1 Q. From June 2012 through the present, does Jones Day
 2 provide any services or is it retained or an
 3 approved attorney for the State?
 4 A. I don't know. My understanding is Jones Day's
 5 relationship is with the City of Detroit.
 6 Q. Did you ever consider disqualifying either Jones Day
 7 or Kevyn Orr because Kevyn Orr was a partner at 8 Jones Day?
 9 A. They were separate processes. That the City of 10 Detroit was making a determination to retain Jones
 11 Day, and they were making that through their own
 12 decision-making processes.
 13 We were looking for candidates for
 14 emergency manager, and we specifically asked
 15 permission if we could contact Kevyn Orr and have 16 that discussion. So I viewed them as separate
 17 discussions.
 18 Q. Did you ever consider that the close relationship
 19 between Kevyn Orr and Jones Day created a conflict
 20 or appearance of conflict?
 21 A. Kevyn Orr, part of the requirement was is he 22 resigned as a partner and severed his ties with the 23 firm as part of becoming emergency manager to avoid 24 any conflict of interest.
 25 Q. Well, were you concerned that he might be

Page 41

1 deferential to his partners or recent former
2 partners at Jones Day?
3 A. No. Because, in fact, the City of Detroit made the 4 determination to hire Jones Day, and they went
5 through with that process, and that was a separate
6 independent process that I believe actually occurred
7 prior to Kevyn Orr joining the City of Detroit as
8 emergency manager.
9 Q. Did you consider whether it would be difficult for 10 Mr. Orr to favor the interests of the City over the 11 interests of Jones Day?
12 A. I don't understand your question because I don't 13 understand why Jones Day would be in conflict with 14 the City of Detroit. They're representing the City
15 of Detroit.
16 Q. And aren't they being compensated by the City of
17 Detroit?
18 A. They are being compensated by the City of Detroit.
19 Q. Isn't there less of an appearance of conflict if it
20 had been a different law firm that had been retained
21 by the City of Detroit than Kevyn Orr's prior firm?
22 A. And that's why it was important that he resigned and 23 severed all ties.
24 Q. During the discussions that you had with Kevyn Orr
25 prior to the time that he was appointed as emergency

Page 42

1 manager or after he was appointed as emergency
2 manager but before July 18th, did you ever discuss
3 with Kevyn Orr outsourcing for the City of Detroit?
4 A. Could you explain what you mean by outsourcing?
5 Q. As part of the business plan for the City of 6 Detroit, the City of Detroit is looking at --
7 potentially looking at outsourcing some of the 8 services that are currently performed by City
9 employees; is that correct?
10 A. They're looking at the most efficient ways to 11 deliver services to the citizens of Detroit.
12 Q. Is that yes?
13 A. That would include that. In terms of looking at 14 other alternatives, some of those were outlined, in 15 fact, during the consent agreement in terms of 16 looking at opportunities such as having the Detroit
17 Economic Growth Corporation handle the planning and 18 zoning activities of the City of Detroit, and that
19 was done in the context of the Mayor and the City
20 Council approving that consent agreement.
21 Q. I'm going to try again.
22 Did you have any conversations with Kevyn
23 Orr prior to the time that he was appoint -- prior 24 to the time that he was -- during the interview
25 process, prior to the time that he was appointed as

Page 43

1 emergency manager or at any time during the period
2 of time that he was appointed as emergency manager
3 on July 18th with regard to outsourcing?
4 A. I don't recall with respect to the interview
5 process, and there has been discussions about 6 looking at providers of services in both internal
7 and external services for the City of Detroit since
8 that date.
9 Q. For that same period of time, during the interview
10 process and up to and including July 18th or 19th,
11 did you have any conversation with Kevyn Orr with 12 regard to selling or monetizing assets such as the 13 art, Belle Isle and water and sewer and other assets
14 of Detroit?
15 A. Those discussions would have been subject to
16 attorney-client privilege.
17 Q. Is it your understanding that the sale of assets are 18 one of the things that are under consideration in 19 connection with the restructuring plan that Kevyn
20 Orr proposed during June of 2013?
21 A. I don't recall that portion of the proposal.
22 Q. What's your view on monetizing these assets as part
23 of a restructuring plan including the art, Belle 24 Isle and water and sewer and some of the other
25 assets of Detroit?

1 A. Again, that's a hypothetical discussion because it
2 would really come down to what's presented in the 3 plan of adjustment within the context of the 4 bankruptcy court, and it hasn't been done at this
5 point.
6 Q. Well, I'm asking your view of whether or not those 7 items should be on the table in connection with the 8 structuring of that plan?
9 A. I view those as primarily Kevyn Orr's decisions
10 because he's the emergency manager for the City of
11 Detroit.
12 Q. During the interview process, prior to Kevyn Orr's
13 selection but during the period of time you were 14 talking to him, did you ever express a view that 15 vested pension benefits should not be modified by 16 the emergency manager for the City of Detroit?
17 A. I don't recall.
18 Q. Did you have discussions prior to the time that
19 Kevyn Orr was selected with regard to your views
20 about whether or not vested pension benefits should 21 be modified?
22 A. I think that's just what -- what's different than 23 the prior question?
24 Q. Are you saying you don't recall?
25 A. I don't recall.

Page 45

1 Q. After the time that Kevyn Orr was engaged but before
2 July 18th, did you have any conversations with Kevyn
3 Orr with regard to your views on whether vested
4 pension benefits should be modified or not modified
5 as part of a restructuring for Detroit?
6 A. Those would have been subject to attorney-client
7 privilege.
8 Q. As we sit here today, what is your view of whether 9 vested pension benefits should be modified or not 10 modified as a result of a restructuring or plan of 11 adjustment for Detroit?
12 A. I view that that's part of the bankruptcy process.
13 Those are not my decisions to make. There's a plan
14 of adjustment that will be presented by the City,
15 assuming Chapter 9 goes forward, and that would be
16 adjudicated by Judge Rhodes.
17 Q. So is it your testimony today that you do not have a
18 view?
19 A. I would -- I'm not a decisionmaker in that process
20 with respect to deciding that the plan would be 21 adopted or not, and there has not been a plan even 22 presented at this point in time, so anything else
23 would be speculative.
24 Q. I'm asking you your view as to whether as part of 25 that process vested pension benefits should be

1 modified or should not be modified?
2 A. Again, I view those as primarily legal questions.
3 Q. Did you review the June 14 proposal made by Kevyn
4 Orr before the June 14 meeting with the creditors of
5 Detroit?
6 A. I'd seen drafts.
7 Q. Did you approve it?
8 A. It wasn't mine to approve or not approve. That was 9 a decision of Kevyn Orr and the City of Detroit.
10 Q. Did you express a view about it before it was 11 presented?
12 A. I don't recall. Not any significant discussions, in 13 my view.
14 Q. Did you tell them not to present any aspect of it?
15 A. I don't recall.
16 Q. Did you participate at all in the development of the 17 proposal?
18 A. Those discussions would have been subject to 19 attorney-client privilege in terms of any meetings.
20 Q. I'm not asking what was said. I'm asking if you
21 participated in the development of the proposal.
22 A. Again, I saw early drafts. I don't -- I wouldn't 23 describe that as developing the proposal.
24 Q. Is it your understanding that the proposal complies
25 with the Michigan Constitution?

1 A. The proposal was an effort to go talk to creditors.
2 It wasn't a plan of adjustment. It was simply a
3 document to say here's a beginning point to have 4 mutual negotiations over issues. That would have to 5 be consensual to arrive at a conclusion.
6 Q. At any time during the interview process for Kevyn
7 Orr did you discuss with Kevyn Orr the potential for 8 federal assistance in order to assist Detroit with 9 its restructuring efforts?
10 A. I don't recall.
11 Q. Do you believe it would be appropriate to seek 12 federal assistance to assist Detroit with its 13 restructuring efforts?
14 A. I'm publicly on the record saying that I didn't 15 believe it would be appropriate to go ask the 16 federal government for a bailout with respect to the 17 debts of the City of Detroit; that I thought it
18 would be appropriate to say are there normal
19 assistance procedures available to help improve
20 services to citizens.
21 Q. Have you assisted Kevyn Orr in going after federal 22 assistance in the places where you've identified it
23 as appropriate?
24 A. I have been part of that process, not only with 25 Kevyn Orr but with Mayor Bing.

1 Q. Specifically, how have you been part of that
2 process?
3 A. Well, in fact, we just had a press conference where
4 several cabinet members came to Detroit along with
5 Gene Sperling from the Whitehouse and they announced
6 a package of federal programs. I was present
7 through that process.
8 Q. Was Mayor Bing present through that process as well?
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. And Kevyn Orr?
11 A. Yes.
12 Q. Do you believe there should be state assistance with 13 regard to the restructuring plan for Detroit?
14 A. We have been providing assistance with improved
15 services to the citizens.
16 Q. Give some examples of some of that assistance.
17 A. Sure. We've been active on the blight front in 18 terms of dealing with removing structures. We've 19 put significant resources towards that.
20 Another one is we did the new Detroit
21 Detention Center. The Department of Corrections did
22 that in partnership with the Detroit Police
23 Department.
24 Q. Have you looked at any avenues to use state
25 assistance to deal with the pension underfunding

1 issue?
 2 A. Not at this point in time.
 3 Q. During the interview process with Kevyn Orr, did you
 4 discuss the potential for a Chapter 9 filing?
 5 A. In terms of those discussions, what I would say is 6 as a last resort we had to be aware that Chapter 9
 7 might be the only available option.
 8 Q. Did you discuss with Kevyn Orr whether vested
 9 pension benefits could be reduced or modified in
 10 Chapter 9?
 11 A. I don't recall.
 12 Q. Do you recall any discussions with Kevyn Orr during 13 the interview process with regard to vested pension
 14 benefits?
 15 A. I don't recall.
 16 Q. During the period of time that you were interviewing
 17 Kevyn Orr for emergency manager, did you have any 18 discussions with Mayor Bing with regard to your
 19 proposed selection of Kevyn Orr?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. What was discussed?
 22 A. In terms of working relationships and did Mayor Bing
 23 think Kevyn Orr could be a good candidate to be
 24 emergency manager.
 25 Q. And what did Mayor Bing say to you?

Page 50

1 A. I didn't speak to him specifically after that, but I
 2 helped talk to him during that process. My
 3 understanding was is he was supportive of Kevyn Orr.
 4 Q. Were you personally involved in those discussions or
 5 was it somebody on your behalf?
 6 A. In terms of I had spoken to Mayor Bing about Kevyn
 7 Orr being part of the process and some of the 8 feedback that he had early in the process, but by 9 the end of the process there were other people also 10 participating in that such as Rich Baird.
 11 Q. Did you meet with Mayor Bing personally?
 12 A. I spoke to him on the phone, as I recall.
 13 Q. Prior to the time that you selected Kevyn Orr, did
 14 you meet with any of the unions for the City of 15 Detroit to solicit their input with regard to the 16 selection of the emergency manager?
 17 A. No.
 18 Q. Did you speak with any retiree groups?
 19 A. No.
 20 Q. Did you speak to any of the City's so-called
 21 Wall Street creditors, bond holders, larger
 22 creditors?
 23 A. No.
 24 Q. Did you speak to the pension funds?
 25 A. No.

 11 EXAMINATION
 12 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
 13 Q. Good morning, Governor. My name is Peter DeChiara.
 14 I'm an attorney with the law firm of Cohen, Weiss
 15 and Simon LLP. We represent the United Auto Workers
 16 International Union in this proceeding.
 17 I'd like to show you a document that I've
 18 asked the court reporter to mark as Exhibit Number
 19 1. It's -- I'll identify it for the record. It's a
 20 July 16th, 2013 letter that was from Emergency
 21 Manager Kevyn Orr to you and to Treasurer Andrew
 22 Dillon.
 23 You're familiar with this letter; are you
 24 not?
 25 A. Yes.

1 Q. I'd like you to turn to the second page of the
 2 letter and in particular the bottom of the letter.
 3 The third line from the bottom in the middle of the
 4 line there's a sentence that I'll read out loud. It
 5 says "The City has over $18 billion in accrued
 6 obligations, including: (a) 3.5 billion in 7 underfunding pension liabilities based on the most
 8 recent actuarial analysis;..."
 9 I'll finish the quote there. The sentence
 10 goes on, and you can feel free to read the rest of 11 the sentence, but I just want to ask you about the 12 portion that I quoted.
 13 When you received this July 16th letter
 14 from Mr. Orr, did you read it?
 15 A. Yes.
 16 Q. Okay. And did you read this line that I just 17 quoted?
 18 A. Yes.
 19 Q. And did you take it as true that the City had over
 20 $18 billion in accrued obligations, including 3.5
 21 billion in underfunding pension liabilities?
 22 A. The answer is yes, but it was also in the context of 23 the most recent evaluation, to say that there was an 24 open question did there need to be more evaluations
 25 or additional work done.

1 Q. I'm sorry. Your answer is yes, you did take that
2 statement as true?
3 A. Yes. Uh-huh.
4 Q. Okay. Did you undertake any independent
5 investigation or cause any independent investigation
6 to be undertaken to determine whether the statement
7 that I quoted was true?
8 A. I also looked back to prior review team reports
9 which in many cases had very similar information.
10 Q. Did -- were you aware that at the time this
11 July 16th letter was written, the pension funds
12 themselves were disputing the statement that the 13 amount of underfunding of the pension liabilities
14 was 3.5 billion? Were you aware of that fact?
15 A. I was aware that people were disputing it in terms
16 of both being higher or lower.
17 Q. Were you aware that the pension funds themselves
18 were saying the number was lower?
19 A. I don't recall that.
20 Q. Did Mr. Orr ever tell you that?
21 A. I don't recall.
22 Q. He might have told you that?
23 A. Again, I don't recall.
24 Q. Okay. Do you think it was important in your 25 determination as to whether to authorize Detroit to

1 file for bankruptcy to know the correct amount of
2 the City's underfunded pension liabilities? Did you
3 think that was important?
4 A. I think that was one element of a much larger
5 question.
6 As you pointed out in the sentence, the
7 sentence talks about $18 billion of liabilities.
8 Q. But my question, Governor, is did you think at the 9 time you made your decision about whether or not to 10 authorize the Detroit bankruptcy filing that it was 11 important to know the amount of the City's 12 underfunded pension liabilities?
13 A. I would say it was important to know that there was 14 an underfunded amount of an order of magnitude in 15 relationship to the $18 billion. Again, people were 16 saying that number could be lower, it could be 17 higher, so I didn't assume that was necessarily the 18 exact number.
19 But in the context of $18 billion of
20 liabilities, there was clearly a problem that I
21 concurred with the recommendation.
22 Q. Well, if the amount of the underfunded pension
23 liabilities had been lower, the overall accrued
24 obligations would have been lower as well, correct?
25 A. One of the things I looked at --

Page 55

1 Q. Am I correct, Your Honor? I mean Governor.
2 A. The overall number would be lower. In terms of
3 context, though, one of the things I looked at was 4 prior reports that showed the current -- the City of 5 Detroit was paying $.38 on the dollar towards
6 historic or legacy liabilities; that there were 7 projections to show that by 2017 that number would
8 raise to $.60 on the dollar.
9 Q. Do you know whether -- at the time that you received
10 the July 16th letter from Mr. Orr, do you know
11 whether Mr. Orr or his staff at that time had 12 undertaken an analysis of the assets of the City of 13 Detroit to see what assets could be monetized to 14 address the City's financial problems?
15 A. There was -- it was clear that there was a need to 16 do a survey of assets and valuation of the assets of 17 the City whether those were to be monetized or not,
18 but there was a need to do an inventory of assets
19 and value those assets.
20 Q. My question is at the time you received the 21 July 16th letter, were you aware of whether Mr. Orr
22 or his staff had undertaken an analysis of the 23 assets of the City of Detroit to see which might be 24 monetized?
25 A. My understanding was a lot of that work still needed

Page 56

1 to be done.
2 Q. Okay. Did you think when you received the
3 July 16th, 2013 letter that it would be important to 4 know whether the City had assets that could be
5 monetized, and if so what those assets might be?
6 Did you think that was something important
7 to know?
8 A. Can you repeat that again?
9 Q. Sure. At the time you received the July 16th, 2013
10 letter from Mr. Orr, did you think at that time that 11 it would be important to know whether the City had 12 assets that could be monetized? And when I say
13 important, I mean important in the context of your 14 making your decision on whether to authorize the 15 bankruptcy filing.
16 A. I didn't view the valuation of assets being nearly 17 as relevant as understanding what the liabilities
18 were because the issue was were the liabilities so
19 large that there needed to be something done to 20 address them.
21 Understanding that, again, we had a $18
22 billion give or take kind of number that needed to 23 be addressed and that it would take some time to 24 understand what assets, what values they may have 25 and what might be available.

Page 57

1 Q. Have you ever been involved in a business, Governor
2 Snyder?
3 A. Yes.
4 Q. Isn't it true to assess the financial picture of a
5 business you need to know both the assets and the 6 liabilities of the business?
7 A. This is a different situation in terms --
8 Q. Could you answer my question?
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. The answer to my question is yes?
11 A. Yes.
12 Q. Okay. At the time you received Mr. Orr's July 16th,
13 2013 letter, do you know whether Mr. Orr or his 14 staff had undertaken an analysis such that they knew
15 with specificity the City's cash flow?
16 A. There had -- there was extensive work done doing
17 cash flow analysis of the City. Some of that work
18 was included in the proposal to creditors back in
19 June --
20 Q. Okay.
21 A. -- in addition to reports that had been provided
22 under his obligation as emergency manager.
23 Q. But at the time that you received the July 16th,
24 2013 letter, do you know whether Mr. Orr or his 25 staff had done an analysis which allowed them to

Page 58

1 know with specificity the extent of the City's cash
2 flow?
3 A. I believe they had.
4 Q. Okay. Did you ever discuss that with Mr. Orr?
5 A. That would be a matter of attorney-client privilege.
6 Q. Well, whether it's a matter of attorney-client
7 privilege is a legal question, and you have counsel
8 here who can object if she believes that a question
9 infringes on the attorney-client privilege, so I
10 would ask you to answer the question.
11 MS. NELSON: You can answer yes or no.
12 THE WITNESS: Yes.
13 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
14 Q. Yes, you did have discussions?
15 A. Yeah.
16 Q. And were those discussions -- were other people
17 present other than you and Mr. Orr in those 18 discussions?
19 A. Yes.
20 Q. Isn't it true you had one-on-one conversations with 21 Mr. Orr prior to the bankruptcy filing?
22 A. Yes.
23 Q. Okay. In any of those one-on-one conversations with 24 Mr. Orr did you ever have a discussion of the City's 25 cash flow?

Page 59

1 A. Not that I recall.
2 Q. Do you know whether a significant portion of 3 Detroit's unfunded pension liability is allocable to 4 the City's Water and Sewer Department?
5 A. I'm not aware of that relationship.
6 Q. Okay. Is that something that you think would be 7 relevant to a determination about whether or not the 8 City should pursue a bankruptcy?
9 A. I haven't considered that as a question.
10 Q. Okay. Let me now refer you to page six of 11 Exhibit 1, and at the bottom paragraph of the page
12 there's a reference to the June 14th creditor
13 proposal. Do you see that?
14 A. Yes.
15 Q. Okay. And you were familiar with that proposal when 16 you received this letter on July 16th?
17 A. Generally familiar. It's a 128-page document.
18 Q. Okay.
19
20 (Deposition Exhibit 2 was marked.)
21
22 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
23 Q. I'd like to mark as -- well, I've already marked as 24 Exhibit 2, and I'll ask you to identify what I'll 25 identify for the record as a July 18th, 2013 letter

Page 60

1 from you to Mr. Orr and Mr. Dillon.
2 Is Exhibit 2 your response to what's been
3 marked as Exhibit 1?
4 A. Yes.
5
6 (Deposition Exhibit 3 was marked.)
7
8 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
9 Q. Governor, I've had the court reporter mark as 10 Exhibit 3 a document which bears the title City of 11 Detroit Proposal for Creditors, June 14th, 2013.
12 Let me represent to you that this document
13 was attached to the Orr Declaration that was filed
14 in the bankruptcy proceeding as the City's proposal
15 for creditors.
16 Let me -- did you see this document in any
17 prior form before it was made public on or about
18 June 14th, 2013?
19 A. Yes.
20 Q. And do you plan -- were you shown drafts of the 21 document?
22 A. I'd seen a draft or so. I can't recall whether it
23 was one or more.
24 Q. Okay. And who showed them to you?
25 A. Again, I don't recall.

Page 61

1 Q. Okay. Did you comment on the draft?
 2 A. I generally reviewed it and just gave general
 3 feedback.
 4 Q. To whom did you give feedback?
 5 A. It would have been subject to attorney-client
 6 privilege.
 7 Q. Well, again, that's a legal question.
 8 A. Yeah, it would have been to Kevyn Orr.
 9 Q. To Kevyn Orr. Okay.
 10 A. Yeah.
 11 Q. How did you convey your comments to Kevyn Orr? Did
 12 you speak to him?
 13 A. Yes.
 14 Q. Okay. By phone?
 15 A. I don't recall.
 16 Q. Okay. You don't recall whether it was by phone or 17 in person?
 18 A. Correct.
 19 Q. Okay. Do you recall who if anyone else was present
 20 either on the phone or in person when you had those
 21 communications?
 22 A. There could have been several people including legal
 23 counsel.
 24 Q. Okay, but you don't know that for a fact; is that
 25 correct?

1 A. I know there would have been other people including
 2 legal counsel.
 3 Q. So you're sure that -- well, let's talk about in 4 the -- so the conversation you say may have been on
 5 the phone?
 6 A. Yeah.
 7 Q. Are you sure that while you were on the phone with
 8 Kevyn Orr speaking about the proposal for creditors
 9 that there were legal counsel on the phone?
 10 A. Yeah, I'm quite confident of that. Typically,
 11 again, almost every time or every time I recall
 12 there were a group of people, there was legal 13 counsel present. The only time I met separately
 14 with Kevyn Orr was on subject matters that didn't 15 relate to matters like this.
 16 Q. What did you tell Kevyn Orr when you spoke to him
 17 about the June 14th, 2013 proposal?
 18 MS. NELSON: Objection; attorney-client
 19 privilege.
 20 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
 21 Q. Are you refusing to answer the question, Governor?
 22 A. Yeah. There was counsel present.
 23 Q. All right. Just for the record, to be clear, you're 24 refusing to answer the question?
 25 A. Yes.

1 Q. Okay. Let me direct your attention -- strike that.
 2 Let me back up.
 3 Did you put your comments in writing to
 4 anyone -- your comments about the June 14th, 2013
 5 proposal, did you put your comments in writing to 6 anyone whether by letter or email or phone text or 7 in any other written format?
 8 A. I don't believe so. I don't believe so.
 9 Q. Let me now turn your attention to page 109 of 10 Exhibit 3, and I'm going to in particular read the 11 second line of the third bullet point from the 12 bottom. It says "There must be significant cuts in 13 accrued vested pension amounts for both active and 14 currently retired persons."
 15 Were you aware that the proposal said this?
 16 A. I'm aware the proposal said that in the context that 17 this was to be a negotiation and a mutual agreement
 18 between parties.
 19 Q. My only question was --
 20 A. Yeah.
 21 Q. -- were you aware that this proposal said this?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. And you were aware that at the time that you signed
 24 what's been marked as Exhibit 2, the July 18th
 25 letter, you were aware that the proposal contained

1 the language I just read, correct?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. So you were aware when you signed the July 18th,
 4 2013 letter that it was Kevyn Orr's view that there
 5 had to be significant cuts in accrued pension
 6 liabilities, correct?
 7 A. I would say it was Kevyn Orr putting a proposal out
 8 to parties to say he believed this was necessary to 9 achieve an outcome, that they would need to agree to
 10 that.
 11 Q. I'm not sure that was responsive. Let me try that 12 question again.
 13 A. Okay.
 14 Q. Isn't it correct that at the time that you signed
 15 your July 18th letter that you were aware that it
 16 was Kevyn Orr's position that there had to be 17 significant cuts in accrued pension benefits?
 18 A. Yes.
 19 Q. Did you speak to Kevyn Orr about -- strike that.
 20 Did you agree with that position as of 21 July 18th? And by the position I mean that there
 22 had to be significant cuts in accrued pension
 23 liabilities?
 24 A. The approval of my letter was not addressing that as 25 an issue. It was about authorizing a bankruptcy.

1 It doesn't say I agree with that or disagree with
 2 that. It simply says I authorized it to go forward
 3 where a plan would be presented to a judge that
 4 could be the result of further negotiations,
 5 mediations, all kinds of work that ultimately a
 6 judge would decide.
 7 Q. Okay. I'm not addressing your July 18th letter.
 8 A. Yeah.
 9 Q. I'm just pegging the question --
 10 A. Okay.
 11 Q. -- by time frame as of July 18th.
 12 A. Okay.
 13 Q. So as of July 18th, did you share Mr. Orr's view
 14 that there had to be significant cuts in pension
 15 liabilities?
 16 A. Based on the current situations with negotiations,
 17 that continued to be the position that would be on 18 the table going into bankruptcy.
 19 Q. Again, I'm not sure that was responsive.
 20 A. Uh-huh.
 21 Q. As of July 18th, 2013, did you share Mr. Orr's view
 22 that whether through negotiation or other means that 23 there as an end result had to be significant cuts in 24 accrued pension liabilities?
 25 A. I wouldn't use the word had to be but likely could

Page 66

1 be.
 2 Q. Okay. Well, Mr. Orr used the word "there must be".
 3 A. Uh-huh.
 4 Q. Did you share that view that there had to be?
 5 A. Not necessarily.
 6 Q. Okay.
 7 A. Just as I said.
 8 Q. Okay. So did you think about this issue as of -- or 9 as of the July 18th, 2013 time frame, had you given
 10 thought to whether or not there had to be cuts to 11 accrued pension benefits?
 12 A. I gave thought to the issue because I have concern
 13 for the retirees, and that was why one of the 14 important questions in my view was to have a retiree
 15 representative in the bankruptcy.
 16 Q. And what was your -- since you said you gave thought
 17 to it, can you articulate what your position was as 18 to whether or not there had to be cuts in accrued
 19 pension liabilities? And I'm focusing on your views
 20 on the matter as of July 18th, 2013.
 21 A. My view going back prior to that is I had hoped 22 that there would be negotiations to resolve this
 23 short of bankruptcy because bankruptcy was a last 24 resort; that I hoped that people could come to the 25 table and come up with a mutual understanding and

1 negotiation that would be satisfactory to the
 2 parties involved.
 3 That didn't happen in terms of that regard
 4 but I still had hope to say that as you go through
 5 the bankruptcy process I viewed it as likelihood
 6 that there was less flexibility under the bankruptcy
 7 process just because of the nature of federal
 8 bankruptcy law than there probably was before.
 9 Q. Was it your view that as of July 18th in the 10 bankruptcy one way or another accrued pension
 11 liabilities would have to be reduced?
 12 A. Based on the facts going into it, it was one of 13 those questions, as you said, there was a likelihood 14 of that happening.
 15 Q. That's not my question.
 16 A. Yes. Yeah, I believe there's a likelihood there
 17 could be reductions in unfunded pension liabilities.
 18 Q. Okay. I'm not asking --
 19 A. Yeah.
 20 Q. Governor, I'm not asking you to predict the 21 likelihood of what might have happened.
 22 A. Okay.
 23 Q. I'm asking you whether you believed that in 24 bankruptcy there would have had to be one way or 25 another reductions in Detroit's accrued pension

1 liabilities?
 2 A. I would say it's not a hundred percent belief.
 3 Q. But was it a less than 100 percent belief that there
 4 had to be reductions?
 5 A. Again, if you looked at the numbers, as we discussed
 6 earlier, those are significant numbers, and it would
 7 be hard to see how it could be a hundred percent.
 8 Q. Let me -- did you discuss with anyone other than 9 your legal counsel and Mr. Orr whether there had to 10 be cuts to Detroit's accrued pension liability?
 11 A. When you say other people, there would be people
 12 from the administration in the meetings that we had.
 13 Q. Who did you discuss that issue with?
 14 A. There could be any number of people that would
 15 include my chief of staff, Andy Dillon, and other
 16 people of the administration.
 17 Q. And what did you and Andy Dillon discuss on that
 18 issue?
 19 MS. NELSON: I'm going to object on the 20 grounds of attorney-client privilege. These 21 discussions occurred in the meetings with Mr. Orr
 22 and his counsel.
 23 MR. DeCHIARA: Well, there hasn't been
 24 testimony to that effect.
 25 MS. NELSON: He just said it.

Page 69

1 THE WITNESS: Yeah. I said those were
2 meetings -- in those same meetings.
3 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
4 Q. The discussions you had with Mr. Orr, were those in
5 the presence of legal counsel?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. Did you have any discussions with Mr. -- I'm sorry,
8 the discussions you had with Mr. Dillon, were those
9 in the presence of legal counsel?
10 A. They were in the same meeting in terms of --
11 Q. Did you have any discussions with Mr. Dillon outside
12 of the presence of legal counsel?
13 A. Mr. Dillon would on occasion bring forward ideas and 14 thoughts.
15 Q. On whether or not the pension liabilities had to be
16 cut?
17 A. On pensions in general. In terms of valuation and
18 pension plans.
19 Q. And did you discuss those with him?
20 A. I listened to him.
21 Q. Did you -- well, what did he say? What was his 22 views?
23 A. I don't recall all the details.
24 Q. Give me the best that you can recall.
25 A. Again, it was a question of them being underfunded

1 and were there other alternatives or other ways to
2 deal with this and being concerned about retirees.
3 Q. Did Mr. Dillon say that in his view the pension
4 liabilities had to be cut?
5 MS. NELSON: Outside of this meeting you
6 mean?
7 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
8 Q. Yeah, I'm talking about meetings outside of the 9 presence of legal counsel the Governor has testified
10 occurred.
11 A. He was trying to bring forward ideas and thoughts
12 about were there other alternatives.
13 Q. That's not my question. It's actually a yes or no
14 question.
15 Did Mr. Dillon express to you the view that 16 the pension liabilities had to be cut?
17 A. I don't recall in terms of all the pieces. Again,
18 in some ways yes, but also he was trying to be 19 creative in saying are there other options or 20 alternatives.
21 Q. Was he saying that the pension liabilities had to be
22 cut but that alternatives to doing it --
23 A. Yeah.
24 Q. -- had to be explored?
25 A. It was more exploring alternatives.

Page 71

1 Q. Okay.
2 A. That's why I'm not trying to be difficult here.
3 It's more the --
4 Q. I appreciate it, and I'm not suggesting you're
5 trying to be difficult, Governor. I appreciate your
6 effort. And I know I'm posing questions that, you
7 know, take careful response, so I'm not suggesting
8 you're being difficult.
9 But we spoke over each other, and I'm not 10 sure the record was clear so let me just try it one
11 more time.
12 Is it fair to characterize Mr. Dillon's
13 comments to you on the subject to say that he said
14 to you that he thought the pensions had to be cut
15 but that there should be alternatives that should be 16 explored in connection with the pensions?
17 A. Yes.
18 Q. And did you respond to him when he said that?
19 A. I thanked him for his confidence.
20 Q. Did you say anything more substantive than that?
21 Did you express your own view?
22 A. What I did is I appreciated him coming forward with 23 trying to solve problems and that I said I would 24 follow up. And my followup was to make sure that 25 his comments were shared in the broader meeting

Page 72

1 context that we discussed earlier with Kevyn Orr,
2 other people and counsel.
3 Q. Did you -- are you aware that Attorney General Bill
4 Schuette has taken the position that --
5 A. Schuette.
6 Q. Schuette, thank you. I'm not from Michigan so
7 please excuse my mispronunciation. Schuette. Let
8 me write that down. I'll just say the Attorney
9 General.
10 Are you aware that the Attorney General has
11 taken the position that the Michigan Constitution
12 prohibits the reduction of accrued pension
13 liability?
14 A. I was aware the Attorney General filed a brief on 15 pensions.
16 Q. Okay. Before he filed that brief, were you aware --
17 well, do you know whether he had that position
18 before he filed the brief?
19 A. He contacted me before he filed the brief.
20 Q. How long before he filed the brief?
21 A. I don't -- it could have been a day, a few days.
22 Q. Okay. And did he before he -- did you speak to him
23 on that occasion?
24 A. Yes.
25 Q. Was it a telephone call?

Page 73

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. Who else was on the phone, if anyone?
 3 A. Just the two of us.
 4 Q. Okay. Before that phone call, did you speak to the 5 Attorney General on any prior occasion about his
 6 position on whether the Michigan Constitution
 7 prohibited the cutting of pension benefits?
 8 A. I don't recall.
 9 Q. What was said in that phone call?
 10 A. I don't recall the specific exchange. The basic 11 gist of the call was is he was looking to file a
 12 brief on this and he wanted to make sure I was aware
 13 of it, and I thanked him for that because I said
 14 you're exercising what you believe is appropriate as 15 a constitutional officer of the State of Michigan; I
 16 appreciate you sharing that with you [verbatim], and 17 you should follow through with your duties just as 18 I'm responsible for following through with my 19 duties.
 20 Q. Do you believe that the opinion of the Attorney
 21 General of the State of Michigan on questions of 22 Michigan state law are entitled to weight?
 23 A. Well, that's a separate issue. This was not an 24 opinion of the Attorney General. This was a brief
 25 filed in a case.

1 Q. Well, if you could answer my question, Governor.
 2 MS. NELSON: Well, I'm going to object
 3 because an Attorney General opinion has very
 4 specific meaning here in Michigan under state law,
 5 and that's what you're asking is an opinion, and
 6 that's not what this is.
 7 MR. DeCHIARA: Okay. Okay. I'm not --
 8 when I use opinion I don't mean it in the sense of a
 9 formal legal opinion.
 10 THE WITNESS: Oh, that's why I take it when 11 you said that --
 12 MR. DeCHIARA: I'm sorry, miscommunication.
 13 It's miscommunication.
 14 THE WITNESS: Because he does do formal
 15 opinions.
 16 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
 17 Q. Okay. Let me use the word view. Okay?
 18 A. Uh-huh.
 19 Q. Do you believe that the view of the Attorney General
 20 on questions of interpretation of Michigan state law
 21 are -- should be accorded weight?
 22 A. In terms of -- I respect the Attorney General. Many 23 parties submit briefs, and I assume The Court will 24 make the decision as to how to weight the brief of 25 the Attorney General.

Page 75

1 Q. I'm not sure you answered my question.
 2 A. Yeah.
 3 Q. Do you think the view of the Attorney General of the 4 State of Michigan on questions of Michigan state law
 5 should be accorded weight?
 6 A. Again, that's a very subjective thing. I don't view
 7 them as being the same as Michigan law.
 8 Q. No, I'm not suggesting they are. I'm asking in your
 9 view should they be accorded weight?
 10 A. Again, I would just hold out I have respect for the 11 Attorney General and their work product. They're 12 representing me here today.
 13 MR. DeCHIARA: Let me ask the court
 14 reporter to mark as Exhibit 4 an article that 15 appeared in the Detroit Free Press on July 29th,
 16 2013.
 17
 18 (Deposition Exhibit 4 was marked.)
 19
 20 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
 21 Q. And in the middle of the article that's Exhibit 4,
 22 there's a -- the sixth paragraph, there's a quote at 23 the end of the paragraph. And the article purports
 24 to quote the Attorney General as saying "The 25 Michigan Constitution is crystal clear on this.

Page 76

1 Article 9 Section 24 says pensions may not be
 2 impaired, and I will fight to defend the
 3 Constitution and the citizens it protects."
 4 Governor, are you prepared to fight to
 5 defend the Constitution and the citizens it
 6 protects?
 7 A. I do that every day.
 8 Q. Are you prepared to revoke your authorization for 9 the bankruptcy filing of the City of Detroit?
 10 A. I don't know why I would do that.
 11 Q. Let me refer you back to Exhibit 1, and in -- it's 12 the July 16th letter, and in particular let me refer
 13 your attention to the top of page 11.
 14 On the second line starting in the middle
 15 of the line and going onto the next line it says,
 16 and I'm reading the middle of a sentence but feel
 17 free, Governor, to read the entire sentence or the 18 entire document, but let me just quote what I want
 19 to draw your attention to.
 20 A. Which paragraph?
 21 Q. It's page 11.
 22 A. Yeah.
 23 Q. The very top paragraph.
 24 A. Okay.
 25 Q. It's the -- I'm going to start reading from the

Page 77

1 middle of the second line on the top of page 11. It
 2 says "The City has negotiated in good faith with the 3 creditors willing to engage in a discussion..."
 4 And then I'll stop the quote there but,
 5 again, feel free to read the rest of the sentence.
 6 My question is did you accept as true
 7 Mr. Orr's representation to you that the City had 8 negotiated in good faith with the creditors willing 9 to engage in discussions?
 10 A. Yes. Excuse the delay. I just wanted to make
 11 sure -- I was going to point out that in the letter
 12 he actually gave examples of where they tried to do
 13 that on page eight.
 14 Q. Okay. Okay. Apart from the letter -- well, first
 15 of all, did you think when you received and read
 16 this letter on July 16th that it was important to 17 your decisionmaking whether or not the City had, in 18 fact, engaged in good faith negotiations?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Okay. And did you undertake any independent
 21 investigation or cause to be undertaken any 22 independent investigation to determine whether, in 23 fact, Mr. Orr's representation to you that there had 24 been good faith negotiations, whether that was a
 25 true representation?

Page 78

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. What was your -- what independent investigation did
 3 you cause to be undertaken?
 4 A. What I would say is I looked at this in addition to 5 the facts of what had been publicly filed, which
 6 would include the lawsuits that -- I apologize, I
 7 can't remember who's representing which lawsuits,
 8 but it showed that rather than people continuing
 9 negotiations that some of the parties that were in 10 negotiations with the City elected to go file
 11 lawsuits, which showed there was a breakdown in 12 negotiations, that people were going to court rather 13 than continuing dialogue.
 14 Q. Okay. So just so I understand your answer, your 15 acceptance of the truth of the assertion that there
 16 had been good faith negotiations were based on what
 17 you read in the July 16th letter?
 18 A. Uh-huh.
 19 Q. And also the fact that certain lawsuits had been 20 filed?
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. Okay. Was there anything else that you relied on to 23 conclude that there had been good faith
 24 negotiations?
 25 A. No.

Page 79

1 Q. Okay. Were you expecting to receive the July 16th,
 2 2013 letter before you received it?
 3 A. It was a work in process in terms of I didn't know
 4 it was coming for sure, but I knew he was putting
 5 together a letter.
 6 Q. Who told you that -- I assume when you say he you
 7 mean Mr. Orr?
 8 A. Yes.
 9 Q. Who told you Mr. Orr was putting together a letter?
 10 A. That would have been Kevyn Orr himself.
 11 Q. Okay. And how did he tell you that? Was it in 12 writing or spoken words?
 13 A. It would have been in a meeting where we had 14 attorneys present.
 15 Q. Okay. And at this meeting, he indicated to you that 16 he was going to be sending you a letter seeking
 17 authorization to file for bankruptcy?
 18 A. He said he was going to begin work on that.
 19 Q. Okay. Apart from that communication at that 20 meeting, did you receive any other heads up, if I
 21 can use that term, that the letter was on its way?
 22 A. Well, again, there were people in that meeting that
 23 were also aware of that, so there were discussions
 24 if a letter was to come how would we respond.
 25 Q. Okay. But apart from that meeting where you

Page 80

1 testified Mr. Orr told you that he was going to send
 2 the letter -- first of all, when was that meeting,
 3 do you know?
 4 A. It was in the prior week.
 5 Q. So it was a week before July 16?
 6 A. Yeah.
 7 Q. Okay. Between that meeting -- do you remember the 8 day?
 9 A. No.
 10 Q. Do you remember the date?
 11 A. No.
 12 Q. Okay. Between that meeting and when you received
 13 the letter, did anyone else communicate to you that 14 the letter was coming?
 15 A. Again, the context I would put it in is is there
 16 were people looking -- people on my staff that were 17 looking to say if a letter was to come, how would we 18 communicate that in terms of if I was to respond and 19 what time would I respond to the public.
 20 So it was more looking at the timeline of a
 21 communications plan.
 22 Q. I'm sorry, I'm not sure I understood.
 23 A. So --
 24 Q. Let me just ask a more specific question.
 25 After the meeting that you've testified

1 about and before you got the letter, did anyone tell
 2 you that the letter was coming?
 3 A. They didn't give me any information different than I
 4 had received from Kevyn Orr.
 5 Q. And the information from Kevyn Orr is what you
 6 received at the meeting?
 7 A. Yeah, an updated -- well, again, we continued to 8 talk after that so that wouldn't have been the only
 9 discussion.
 10 Q. Okay. You and Kevyn Orr continued to talk after the 11 meeting?
 12 A. Yes.
 13 Q. Was it a one-on-one conversation?
 14 A. No.
 15 Q. Was it in the context of subsequent meetings?
 16 A. Or calls.
 17 Q. Were there attorneys on those calls?
 18 A. Yes.
 19 Q. On each of the calls?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. Okay. When you received the July 16th letter, which 22 asked for you to approve a bankruptcy filing, did
 23 you immediately upon reading the letter know how you
 24 were going to respond?
 25 A. No.

Page 82

1 Q. And did you give consideration to anything before
 2 you made the decision that is set forth in your
 3 July 18th letter?
 4 A. I contemplated. Actually, I said this was a major
 5 decision, a very significant decision about Detroit
 6 and implications for our state and for a number of
 7 parties.
 8 Q. And what were your -- what did you -- what were your 9 contemplations on?
 10 A. It was, again, reviewing the letter that had been
 11 provided. It included going back to the review team
 12 reports. It had been looking at the totality,
 13 because this is a situation again -- let me know if 14 you want to stop, but this is a process that I've 15 been addressing since becoming Governor that goes
 16 back to 2011 going through preliminary reviews,
 17 reviews, consent agreements. This has been a highly 18 structured process for close to three years.
 19 Q. Between the time you received the July 16th letter
 20 and when you signed your July 18th letter, did you
 21 speak to anyone about your decisionmaking thinking
 22 outside of the context or outside of the presence of 23 legal counsel?
 24 A. No.
 25 Q. Did you undertake or cause anyone to undertake any

Page 83

1 investigation of any facts or legal conclusions that
 2 were in the July 16th letter before you made your
 3 decision to sign the July 18th letter?
 4 A. Well, I mentioned the lawsuit issue, but besides
 5 that it was more looking at the consistency of what
 6 was in this letter with prior reports from Kevyn Orr
 7 and prior reports from the review team. Review
 8 teams I should say.
 9 Q. Let me refer you to page four of the July 18th
 10 letter. At the top there's a paragraph that bears
 11 the heading contingencies.
 12 A. Uh-huh.
 13 Q. And I'm going to read the first sentence. It says
 14 "2002 PA 436 provides that my approval of the 15 recommendation to commence a Chapter 9 proceeding
 16 may place contingencies on such a filing." That's 17 the end of the sentence. Then there's a legal 18 citation, and then the next sentence says "I am
 19 choosing not to impose any such contingencies
 20 today."
 21 Did you consider at any point after you
 22 received the July 16th letter placing any
 23 contingencies on the City's bankruptcy filing?
 24 A. My legal counsel made me aware that contingencies
 25 were permitted under the law, but I chose not to

Page 84

1 place any.
 2 Q. Okay.
 3 A. Yeah.
 4 Q. It's clear from your letter that you chose not to
 5 place any.
 6 My question is before you made that
 7 decision not to place any, was there any period when 8 you considered placing any -- any contingencies on
 9 the filing?
 10 A. I'm not trying to be difficult, but the matter was 11 brought to my attention and I dismissed it without 12 major discussion with my legal counsel because the 13 way I viewed it was placing contingencies could only
 14 cause -- most likely cause more delay or confusion
 15 in the bankruptcy process; that I have confidence in 16 the bankruptcy process itself in terms of being a
 17 legal process, an appropriately legal process; and 18 that's why, in fact, I wanted that sentence added.
 19 Q. What sentence are you referring to?
 20 A. The sentence about federal law already contains the 21 most important contingency, a requirement that the 22 plan be legally executable.
 23 Q. Okay. And I'm going to ask you about that in a
 24 minute, but I just want to focus first on your 25 decision not to place any contingencies.

Page 85

1 A. Well, that's why I didn't. I simply said I thought
2 that was the one contingency that was appropriate,
3 that it be in line with being legal.
4 Q. Okay. You were aware as of July 18th that some
5 people, some entities, argued that the Michigan
6 Constitution prohibited the reduction of accrued
7 pension benefits?
8 Were you aware of that as of July 18th?
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. Did you consider making the Detroit City bankruptcy
11 filing contingent on the City not seeking to cut
12 accrued pension liabilities? Did you consider that?
13 A. I considered it by adding this sentence, which 14 basically says it's a matter -- it's a legal 15 question to say Michigan Constitution versus federal 16 law versus other Michigan statutes, and I was going
17 to leave that, that's a legal question that I
18 thought best left to the courts.
19 Q. So is it your testimony that you did consider 20 putting that contingency on but you decided not to 21 because of the reason you just said?
22 A. Well, again, I viewed this as an overriding
23 statement that I thought whatever came out of this 24 process through the bankruptcy needed to be a legal
25 answer, because I do follow the law.

Page 86

1 Q. Okay. I just want to be clear --
2 A. Yeah.
3 Q. -- I'm understanding your testimony.
4 You did consider at some point before you
5 signed -- is it true that at some point before you
6 signed the July 18th letter that you considered
7 making the bankruptcy filing contingent on the City
8 not seeking to cut accrued pension benefits?
9 A. I would say -- I wouldn't describe it that way. I
10 would describe it not just on pensions or anything
11 else, just the totality of the situation to say that 12 there are many legal questions that are being 13 litigated through this bankruptcy process, as you
14 can see.
15 In terms of objections and my overriding
16 concern is that anything that should come out of 17 this needed to be legal. So that's where I did
18 basically -- rather than specifically even
19 considering contingencies on one area or another,
20 because I viewed that as a troublesome area to say
21 should there -- if you put one contingency could you
22 end up with 15 contingencies versus saying the 23 overriding concern is that this plan be legal, and 24 that's already provided for under federal bankruptcy
25 law.

1 Q. Was it your understanding that you could have placed
2 just one contingency on the filing which is that the
3 City could not seek to cut accrued pension benefits?
4 A. Again, my concern is --
5 Q. I'm not asking your concern.
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. Was it your understanding that you, if you had
8 chosen to, could have placed just one contingency?
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. Okay. Let me now refer you to the last sentence of 11 the paragraph that says "Federal law already
12 contains the most important contingency, a
13 requirement that the plan be legally executable, and 14 then it cites 11 USC 943(b)(4)."
15 What was your understanding, if you had one
16 as of July 18th when you signed this letter, of what 17 11 USC 943(b)(4) was?
18 A. The statement was my primary concern. I had very 19 good legal counsel. My legal advisors work on the 20 citation. They thought it would be helpful.
21 Q. Okay. So whose -- I should have asked you earlier.
22 Who prepared this letter that's the
23 July 18th letter?
24 A. I did in conjunction with my legal counsel.
25 Q. Okay. Was it just you and legal counsel that

Page 88

1 prepared the letter?
2 A. Yes.
3 Q. Okay. And so it was legal counsel that suggested
4 putting in this citation to Section 943(b)(4)?
5 A. Yeah.
6 Q. And whose idea was it that -- to say that federal
7 law already contains the most important contingency,
8 a requirement that the plan be legally executable?
9 Was that your idea to put that in or was
10 that legal counsel's?
11 A. I'm not sure if we're getting into an area where 12 this would be more attorney-client privilege.
13 MS. NELSON: Absolutely. In terms of 14 actual analysis of what was going on, it's 15 attorney-client privilege. The letter stands for 16 itself.
17 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
18 Q. Did you think that making the -- the requirement
19 that the plan be legally executable was more
20 important than protecting the pensions of the 21 employees and retirees of the City of Detroit?
22 A. I don't view those as conflicting statements. I
23 view that as the legal process, there are legal 24 questions that needed to be addressed and that the 25 plan needed to be legal. Just what it says.

1 Q. Did you -- why did you within two days of receiving
2 the July 16th letter issue your response? Why
3 didn't you -- if it was a major decision, as you
4 said, why didn't you wait longer?
5 A. That was an appropriate time period. When I got the 6 letter, I actually said I was going to wait some 7 time in terms of a day or two to look at it, and in 8 fact I did.
9 Q. Did you speak to Mr. Orr about the timing of when 10 the bankruptcy petition should be filed?
11 A. Again, we had -- there were general discussions,
12 yes.
13 Q. And was it more than one discussion with Mr. Orr on 14 that subject?
15 A. Yes.
16 Q. And were these -- were any of these in the 17 presence -- outside the presence of legal counsel?
18 A. No.
19 Q. I'd like to read to you from the transcript of the 20 deposition that Mr. Orr gave in this case on 21 September 16th, 2013, and I'm going to read from 22 page 210 of the transcript beginning line nine.
23 And this is Mr. Orr's testimony. It says
24 "I think we generally -- and he's referring to 25 discussions with you, Governor Snyder.

Page 90

1 He says "I think we generally discussed
2 the ongoing operational restructuring, the status
3 at a very high level. The Governor, you know, we 4 don't -- we typically do not discuss how many
5 meetings, who attended, what was said went back and
6 forth, it was just a very high level of how things
7 were going with the restructuring efforts and that
8 the lawsuits, this is just with the Governor, were 9 beginning to create the risk that we would lose the 10 initiative and I might be unable to discharge my 11 obligations under 436."
12 Did you have a one-on-one conversation just 13 with Mr. Orr, as he testified, in which you
14 discussed certain lawsuits beginning to create a 15 risk that Mr. Orr would lose the initiative and 16 might be unable to discharge his obligations under 17 436?
18 A. Yeah, I'm not sure what time frame you're talking to 19 with respect to -- you did mention that you were 20 giving me some quote.
21 Q. And let me represent that the questioning put the 22 time frame as best as I can tell as between July 3rd
23 and July 17th, 2013.
24 Did you have a one-on-one conversation with 25 Mr. Orr during that time frame in which you

1 discussed certain lawsuits in connection to when the
2 bankruptcy filing should take place?
3 A. I don't recall that.
4 Q. Okay. Do you dispute Mr. Orr's testimony that he
5 had that discussion with you?
6 A. I -- I have a -- I don't recall any discussion of
7 lawsuits.
8 We would talk about how is he doing in
9 terms of the position, you know, the challenges, the 10 stress and operational issues when we did our
11 one-on-ones.
12 Q. But is your testimony that Mr. Orr is wrong when he
13 testified that this conversation with you occurred
14 or is your testimony that it might have occurred,
15 you just don't remember?
16 A. I wouldn't dispute him, but I clearly don't recall
17 that.
18 Q. Okay. You were aware of certain lawsuits that were 19 being filed against Mr. Orr in the time period of 20 July -- the first half of July of 2013, correct?
21 A. Yes.
22 Q. Okay. And you were aware that in those lawsuits
23 injunctive -- interim injunctive relief was being 24 sought?
25 MS. NELSON: I'm going to object because it

Page 92

1 mischaracterizes -- and I'm not exactly sure what
2 lawsuits you are referencing. In that time period
3 there was only one lawsuit filed against Mr. Orr,
4 and that was General Retirement System. I believe,
5 and perhaps we can correct for the record, on the
6 Flowers and Webster lawsuits were against -- only
7 against the Governor and the Treasurer.
8 MR. DeCHIARA: Okay. Let me just question
9 the Governor on the best of his memory.
10 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
11 Q. Governor, were you aware of there being one or more
12 lawsuits against Mr. Orr?
13 A. Again, I'm not sure which party was being sued, but 14 there were lawsuits, yes.
15 Q. Okay. You were aware -- and let me speak more 16 generally. You were aware that in the first part of 17 July there were certain lawsuits filed concerning 18 issues related to Detroit's ability to file for 19 bankruptcy?
20 A. Yes.
21 Q. Okay. And in those lawsuits, were you aware --
22 strike that.
23 Were you aware that in those lawsuits there
24 was interim injunctive relief sought by the 25 plaintiff or plaintiffs?

Page 93

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. Okay. And did that knowledge have any impact on 3 your view about when the bankruptcy petition should 4 be filed?
 5 A. No.
 6 Q. Okay. Did you ever discuss with anyone those --
 7 apart from your legal counsel the fact that in one
 8 or more of those lawsuits there were requests for 9 interim injunctive relief?
 10 A. Again, those discussions would have been subject to
 11 attorney-client privilege.
 12 Q. Well, again, without the legal conclusion --
 13 A. Yeah.
 14 Q. -- were those -- did you have any discussions about 15 that subject outside of discussions with legal
 16 counsel?
 17 A. They're discussions about the lawsuits.
 18 Q. Yes.
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. We're speaking past each other.
 21 A. Yeah. Yeah.
 22 Q. Did you have any conversations outside of the 23 presence of your legal counsel about the fact --
 24 A. No. Legal counsel was --
 25 Q. Let me finish just to clarify.

Page 94

1 MS. NELSON: Let him -- Governor, let him
 2 finish the question again so that it's clear on the
 3 record what he's asking.
 4 THE WITNESS: Okay. Okay.
 5 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
 6 Q. Okay. Apart from any conversations you may have had
 7 with your legal counsel, did you have any
 8 discussions with anyone else about the fact that in 9 these lawsuits there were requests for injunctive
 10 interim relief?
 11 A. In any meeting, legal counsel would have been
 12 present.
 13 Sorry, there's a lot of attorneys involved
 14 here.
 15 Q. Goes with the territory.
 16 MR. WERTHEIMER: We can all agree on that.
 17 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
 18 Q. Are you aware that -- this is going back a few
 19 months -- on January 29th, 2013, there was a meeting
 20 at which various law firms made a pitch to be hired
 21 by the City of Detroit as their restructuring
 22 counsel?
 23 A. Could you repeat that?
 24 Q. Were you aware that on or about January 29th, 2013,
 25 there was a meeting at which various law firms made

Page 95

1 a pitch to be hired by the City of Detroit as the
 2 City's restructuring counsel?
 3 A. I couldn't speak to the specific date but,
 4 generally, yes.
 5 Q. Okay. You were aware that there was this meeting at 6 which certain law firms made pitches?
 7 A. Yeah, and I wasn't sure it was one meeting or more
 8 meetings because I was not part of that process, but 9 I was aware the City of Detroit was talking to law
 10 firms.
 11 Q. Okay. Richard Baird was part of that process,
 12 correct?
 13 A. I'm -- I'm not sure. I don't know.
 14 Q. You don't know whether Richard Baird attended any 15 meetings at which --
 16 A. I know he attended some meetings involving that 17 process, but I don't know if he had attended that
 18 meeting.
 19 Q. Okay. Well, do you know whether Richard Baird
 20 attended a meeting at which the Jones Day law firm
 21 made a pitch to be hired by the City of Detroit?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. Okay. And did Mr. Baird speak to you about the 24 meeting at which Jones Day made a pitch to be hired
 25 by the City of Detroit?

Page 96

1 A. I don't recall him coming to me about the meeting
 2 per se with Jones Day and what they pitched.
 3 Q. Did he ever show you what's been referred to in this
 4 case and other depositions as a pitch book, a series
 5 of slides that Jones Day presented at that meeting?
 6 Did he ever show you that? Any document
 7 like that?
 8 A. I don't recall that.
 9 Q. Okay. Let me show you a document I'll ask to have
 10 marked as Exhibit 5.
 11
 12 (Deposition Exhibit 5 was marked.)
 13
 14 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
 15 Q. Governor, have you ever -- let me just identify for 16 the record that Exhibit 5 is a document that says
 17 Presentation to the City of Detroit; Detroit,
 18 Michigan; January 29, 2013. There's date stamp on 19 it DTMI 00128731.
 20 Governor, have you ever seen Exhibit 5?
 21 A. I don't recall it.
 22 Q. Okay. Did Mr. Baird speak to you about -- strike
 23 that.
 24 Did Mr. Baird express to you any views he
 25 had about whether or not the City should hire Jones

Page 97

1 Day?
 2 A. I don't recall that.
 3 Q. Okay. Do you remember speaking to him about that
 4 subject, about whether or not the City should hire
 5 Jones Day?
 6 A. No.
 7 Q. Okay. Did Mr. Baird ever speak to you about whether 8 Kevyn Orr should be the emergency manager of
 9 Detroit?
 10 A. That was the context that I spoke to Mr. Baird
 11 about. It was not being the emergency manager but 12 being a candidate for emergency manager.
 13 Q. Okay. And were these discussions you had with 14 Mr. Baird about the subject of Mr. Orr's candidacy,
 15 where did those discussions take place?
 16 A. I don't recall.
 17 Q. Were they phone calls or face-to-face meetings?
 18 A. That's where I don't recall. I do many meetings and 19 phone calls.
 20 Q. Do you recall with any certainty whether legal 21 counsel was present in any discussions you had with 22 Mr. Baird concerning the candidacy of Mr. Orr?
 23 A. They very likely could have been for some of those 24 but I don't recall.
 25 Q. Okay. Is it likely that there were at least some

Page 98

1 where it was just you and Mr. Baird speaking?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. Okay. Do you recall in any of the meetings you had
 4 with Mr. Baird what you two discussed when it was
 5 just the two of you about Mr. Orr's candidacy?
 6 A. Generally, what I would say is I was not involved in
 7 this process at all other than understanding that
 8 generally the City of Detroit was looking for 9 attorneys and that in that context Mr. Baird
 10 identified Kevyn Orr as a potential candidate to be 11 emergency manager, and he brought up the concept of 12 going to the firm at some point and asking their
 13 permission to -- on whether he could speak to him
 14 separately in that capacity.
 15 Q. Did Mr. Baird when he said that to you indicate why
 16 he thought Mr. Orr should be contacted and spoken to 17 as a potential candidate?
 18 A. Very impressed with his credentials and
 19 presentation.
 20 Q. Did Mr. Baird say anything, discuss with you at all
 21 the views that Jones Day had or that Mr. Orr had 22 about Detroit's pension liabilities?
 23 A. I don't recall any.
 24 Q. Okay. Did Mr. Baird speak to you at all about any 25 views that Jones Day may have had or that Mr. Orr

Page 99

1 may have had about the Michigan Constitution?
 2 A. I don't believe so.
 3 Q. After Mr. Orr was appointed as emergency manager,
 4 you had regular meetings with him, correct?
 5 A. Correct.
 6 Q. And those were formal meetings with legal counsel
 7 and staff present, correct?
 8 A. Yes, and informal meetings.
 9 Q. Okay. At the informal meetings, were legal counsel
 10 present?
 11 A. No.
 12 Q. Okay. Who was present at the informal meetings?
 13 A. Generally, it was just Kevyn and myself.
 14 Occasionally, it could have been Dennis Muchmore
 15 with Kevyn and I. That would be much less frequent,
 16 and more recently, potentially Greg Tedder.
 17 Q. Who were the two people you just named?
 18 A. Dennis Muchmore is chief of staff.
 19 Q. Who was the other person?
 20 A. Greg Tedder is essentially the person from our 21 office that's working with Kevyn Orr on his staff --
 22 Q. Okay.
 23 A. -- as a liaison between the Governor's office and 24 the City of Detroit.
 25 Q. Okay. In any of the informal meetings, as you

Page 100

1 refer to them, were Mr. Muchmore and Mr. Tenor
 2 acting as --
 3 A. Tedder. Tedder. T-E-D-D-E-R. Sorry, I'm --
 4 Q. Okay. Thank you. I appreciate it.
 5 A. A lot like being out of state with the names.
 6 Q. At any of the informal meetings, were Mr. Muchmore
 7 and Mr. Tedder acting in the capacity as attorneys
 8 for the City or the State?
 9 A. No.
 10 Q. Okay. Would there -- how often were these informal
 11 meetings?
 12 A. As I said, most of the meetings were just Kevyn Orr
 13 and myself. The frequency was probably about every 14 two weeks or so.
 15 Q. Over what period of time?
 16 A. Since his appointment as emergency manager, and when 17 I say two weeks it wasn't necessarily every two 18 weeks but that was sort of the normal schedule
 19 process.
 20 Q. And when was he appointed emergency manager? Do you
 21 remember the date?
 22 A. March.
 23 Q. Do you remember the date, specifically?
 24 A. Again, there's appointment dates, effective dates.
 25 Q. Right. Gets confusing.

1 And up -- so it began -- these informal
 2 meetings that occurred every two weeks or so began
 3 in March, and have they continued through the 4 present?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. Okay. In the informal meetings you had with Mr. Orr
 7 prior to July 18th, 2013, did you ever speak with 8 him about the issue of Detroit's pension
 9 liabilities?
 10 A. In those meetings, no.
 11 Q. What did you speak to him about in those meetings?
 12 A. Two general topics that were reserved for those 13 meetings. One is is just personally how he's 14 dealing with the position that he's in and in terms
 15 of how he's interacting with staff, his family
 16 challenges given that his family is in Washington
 17 D.C.
 18 So it was more as an advisor helper kind of 19 person to help him support through that process and 20 then on operational matters, because the way it's 21 traditionally defined in our meetings, there are 22 three tracks that get discussed. One is the 23 bankruptcy process, one is the operational process,
 24 and the third is about what would happen
 25 posttransition when he is no longer emergency

Page 102

1 manager.
 2 And so the tracks discussed in those other
 3 meetings, the meetings we've just been discussing,
 4 would tend to be on the operational track. And we
 5 wouldn't discuss matters on the bankruptcy track
 6 because, again, those should be reserved for where
 7 there was legal counsel present.
 8 Q. In the informal meetings, did you speak to Mr. Orr
 9 about the prospect of the City filing for
 10 bankruptcy?
 11 A. Again, those would have been in the bankruptcy track
 12 meetings with legal counsel present.
 13 The operational track meetings, the topics
 14 that would be -- things that would be discussed
 15 potentially would be there's a request for proposal
 16 for solid waste garbage pickup. Topics like that 17 that are important to the citizens in terms of 18 improved services.
 19 Q. I'd like to read testimony by Mr. Orr from his 20 September 16th deposition. It's on page 84 of the 21 September 16th deposition. I'll begin on line 13.
 22 Question: Now, at some point after you
 23 became the emergency manager, did you have
 24 discussions with the Governor about a Chapter 9
 25 filing to among other things get out of the pension

Page 103

1 obligations that the City owed?
 2 Mr. Shumaker: Objection to form.
 3 Answer: Yes, I believe so.
 4 Question: And when did those take place?
 5 Answer: Since becoming emergency manager
 6 on the 25th, I've had regular conversations with the 7 Governor, typically weekly. I don't recall the 8 specific conversations when they came up. I will 9 say that it wasn't within our initial conversations.
 10 Did -- having heard me read Mr. Orr's
 11 testimony, let me ask you, Governor, did you have 12 discussions with Mr. Orr about a Chapter 9 filing to 13 among other things get out of the pension
 14 obligations that the City owed?
 15 A. Again, in terms of getting out of pension
 16 obligations, we had discussions that were these 17 larger meetings or meetings where counsel was 18 present that would discuss the prospect of 19 bankruptcy, and in many cases during the earlier
 20 days it was how to avoid bankruptcy by going through 21 a negotiation process.
 22 Q. In any of the informal meetings where counsel
 23 wasn't present, was there any discussion about a
 24 bankruptcy -- a possible bankruptcy filing?
 25 A. Again, the topic would come up, but then we would

Page 104

1 try to move back to operational issues and not get
 2 into bankruptcy track issues because they were
 3 reserved for the other meetings.
 4 Q. But sometimes the topic came up at the informal
 5 meetings?
 6 A. Well, again, that it's something that's been out
 7 there because it would most likely be in the context
 8 of press accounts.
 9 Q. My question is in your informal meetings with 10 Mr. Orr, did the topic come up, the topic of 11 Detroit's bankruptcy filing?
 12 A. Did the word bankruptcy come up, yes. In terms of 13 discussing bankruptcy, no.
 14 Q. Well -- okay. You interviewed Mr. Orr, did you not,
 15 in the middle of February 2013?
 16 A. Yes.
 17 Q. I believe you went out to lunch with him with
 18 Mr. Baird?
 19 A. I don't believe I went out to lunch with him but I
 20 did interview him.
 21 Q. Okay. Thank you. I may have misspoken.
 22 In that meeting, did you speak about
 23 Detroit's pension liabilities?
 24 A. I don't recall.
 25 Q. Did you speak about Detroit's -- possibility of

Page 105

1 Detroit filing for bankruptcy?
 2 A. Generally, yes.
 3 Q. And what was your recollection of what you and
 4 Mr. Orr said about that subject during the 5 interview?
 6 A. A big part of it was making sure he understood the 7 history here, that this had been a process going on 8 for over two years and in a very methodical way;
 9 again, review teams, consent agreement, going
 10 through that whole process so he'd get the context
 11 and make sure it was clear that bankruptcy was to be 12 a last resort; that the real question here is is 13 there a way to work this out in a mutual fashion;
 14 that would be extremely challenging because there
 15 are a large number of parties, but we should make a
 16 very good faith effort to work this out.
 17 Q. Governor, I'd ask you to focus on what words you
 18 said in the interview on that subject --
 19 A. Yeah.
 20 Q. -- and what words Mr. Orr said.
 21 Do you have a recollection of what words
 22 you said?
 23 A. I just recounted generally this has been my position
 24 that I wanted to really make it clear to him. I
 25 also made it clear to him that I viewed it as he was

Page 106

1 the -- in this context, not in terms of just
 2 bankruptcy, but he was responsible for really
 3 helping make those decisions for the City of Detroit
 4 in terms of going through the negotiation process,
 5 working with people, working through the process;
 6 that I was to be a supportive resource.
 7 Q. Did you speak to him about or did he speak to you in 8 that interview when a bankruptcy filing might take
 9 place?
 10 A. Again, it would be after a good faith effort to try
 11 to resolve these issues short of bankruptcy.
 12 Q. And who said those words that you just said?
 13 I'm focusing on what was said in the 14 interview. So did someone say that?
 15 A. Yeah. I couldn't tell you who said them first, but 16 we both -- I believe -- my recollection is we would 17 both agree that was a very important criteria.
 18 MR. DeCHIARA: Could we go off the record
 19 for a second?
 20 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Off the record
 21 10:47 a.m.
 22 (A brief recess was taken.)
 23 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: We're back on the record
 24 at 10:58 a.m.
 25 EXAMINATION

Page 107

1 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 2 Q. Governor, we met before. My name is
 3 Bill Wertheimer, and I represent the Flowers group
 4 of plaintiffs who were plaintiffs in one of those 5 early state court lawsuits and are now creditors in 6 the bankruptcy proceeding.
 7 A. Uh-huh.
 8 Q. I'd like to ask you a couple of follow-up questions.
 9 You were asked early on about conversations
 10 you had with Mr. Bolger and Mr. Richardville.
 11 A. Uh-huh.
 12 Q. They are Republican political figures in Michigan;
 13 are they not?
 14 A. Yes.
 15 Q. I just don't know who is who --
 16 A. Okay.
 17 Q. -- so I'm not trying to be pejorative.
 18 A. No. Jase Bolger is Speaker of the House and Randy
 19 Richardville is the Senate Majority Leader.
 20 Q. And you did indicate that you had some conversations
 21 with them early on about the possibility of Detroit
 22 going into bankruptcy?
 23 A. It wasn't in the context of Detroit being bankrupt.
 24 I would try to give them regular updates on what was 25 going on over the last two or three years; for

Page 108

1 example, going back to the review team, going on the
 2 consent agreement, the whole process.
 3 Q. In any of these conversations did either or both of 4 them ever communicate to you that they would not be
 5 in favor of the State taking any responsibility for 6 the pension benefits of the City?
 7 A. I don't recall.
 8 Q. They might have -- one or both of them might have,
 9 you just don't recall one way or the other?
 10 A. I don't recall one way or the other.
 11 Q. Okay. Fair enough.
 12 You were asked a couple of questions about
 13 your preparation for this deposition.
 14 On how many occasions did you prepare?
 15 A. I believe it was two. Or three. I'm sorry, three.
 16 Q. Three? And when did they occur? When were they?
 17 A. One was a couple weeks ago and then yesterday and 18 then this morning.
 19 Q. And how long in total did you take to prepare, if 20 you can add up the time, or we can go through the 21 three.
 22 A. In terms of meeting with counsel?
 23 Q. Yes. Yes.
 24 A. Yeah.
 25 Q. I'm not going to get into the content, but I'd like

Page 109

1 to know how long you met with your attorneys talking
2 about your deposition.
3 A. Yeah. No, that's fine. I just wanted to make sure
4 I ask.
5 Q. Yes. Yes.
6 A. I would say probably three hours, three and a half
7 hours.
8 Q. Total?
9 A. Total.
10 Q. Okay. Now, you were asked some questions about
11 conversations you had with Mr. Orr, and counsel read
12 you a question and answer which indicated that 13 Mr. Orr recalls a conversation after he became 14 emergency manager but before the Chapter 9 filing
15 where, quoting, "Among other things, the talk was to 16 get out of the pension obligations that the City
17 owed."
18 Do you recall that subject coming up with 19 Mr. Orr after he became emergency manager and before
20 the Chapter 9 filing?
21 A. Yeah, I don't recall that outside the context of a
22 meeting where we would have had counsel present.
23 Q. Well --
24 A. And, again, I don't believe I would characterize it
25 as getting out of pension obligations.

Page 110

1 Q. But a discussion of the fact that you would -- it
2 would be easier to deal with the pension issue in
3 bankruptcy than not in bankruptcy? Did you have any
4 such discussions like that with Mr. Orr?
5 A. Again, those would have been in attorney-client
6 meetings.
7 Q. Well, for the record, Mr. Orr has testified as to 8 those -- that conversation, at least one, and has 9 not asserted the attorney-client privilege. So it's 10 my position that any attorney-client privilege would 11 have been waived.
12 A. I don't recall anything outside those meetings.
13 Q. No, I understand.
14 A. Okay.
15 Q. But what I'm suggesting to your counsel is that you
16 should answer the question even as to those meetings
17 because Mr. Orr, who is asserting a common interest
18 privilege with the State of Michigan, has answered
19 that question and has not asserted the
20 attorney-client privilege.
21 So I'd ask you to answer the question as to 22 the meeting the attorneys were present at.
23 MS. NELSON: I disagree with that analysis,
24 number one. Number two, the context in which that 25 conversation occurred has not been explained, the

Page 111

1 foundation for it, or when that meeting happened or
2 who else was present.
3 I disagree that it waives attorney-client
4 privilege, and having read the deposition it was 5 very clear that Mr. Orr on the 16th of September and 6 in his next subsequent deposition on October 4th was 7 very careful to preserve attorney-client privilege.
8 The question of whether there was a
9 specific discussion about getting out of pensions
10 was answered by the Governor just now. He did not
11 recall it in that context, so ask your next
12 question.
13 MR. WERTHEIMER: No, but he -- the Governor
14 excluded conversations with attorneys present.
15 And you're correct, Mr. Orr was very 16 careful to assert the attorney-client privilege at 17 his deposition. He did not assert it as to this 18 question. And your characterization that the 19 context isn't clear is wrong.
20 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
21 Q. As counsel read the Governor, the question was: At 22 some point after you became emergency manager, did
23 you have discussions with the Governor about a
24 Chapter 9 filing to among other things get out of 25 the pension obligations that the City owed?

Page 112

1 Object to form.
2 Answer: Yes, I believe so.
3 Question: And when did these take place?
4 Answer: Since becoming emergency manager.
5 Which is exactly how I phrased my question;
6 that is, between the time that Mr. Orr became
7 emergency manager and the time of a Chapter 9
8 filing, do you recall any conversations including 9 conversations at which attorneys were present in 10 which you and Mr. Orr discussed among other things
11 getting out of the pension obligations that the City
12 owed?
13 MS. NELSON: You can answer yes or no to 14 that. That's the question. Yes, do you recall it;
15 no, you don't recall it.
16 THE WITNESS: Well, I wish it was that 17 simple. I sort of object. I don't believe I had 18 discussions about getting out of pension
19 obligations. We had discussions regarding pension
20 obligations.
21 That would be yes to discussing pension
22 obligations, and the context of getting out of --
23 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
24 Q. Okay. Fair enough.
25 A. -- I'm not -- I would not accept that as a

1 characterization.

2 Q. Let me rephrase the question then or ask another

3 question.

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Do you recall any conversations you had with Mr. Orr

6 with or without attorneys present between the time

7 that he became emergency manager and the Chapter 9

8 filing relating to the pension issue that he might

9 have construed in such a way that he would answer

10 affirmatively a question about getting out of the 11 pension obligations that the City owed?

12 MS. NELSON: Objection; form, foundation,

13 calls for speculation. He can't testify about how

14 Mr. Orr might have thought or formed or understood a

15 question.

16 MR. WERTHEIMER: Go ahead, you can answer,

17 Governor.

18 MS. NELSON: Go ahead.

19 THE WITNESS: I just want to make sure I

20 understand it. You're saying whether it was

21 potentially covered by privilege or not.

22 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:

23 Q. Yes, whether it's covered by privilege or not.

24 A. Yes. Was there a discussion on pension liabilities?

25 Q. Well, yes, or any other kind of discussion where

Page 114

1 somebody of Mr. Orr's sophistication might have as a

2 result of that conversation answered a question

3 affirmatively about getting out of pension

4 obligations.

5 MS. NELSON: Same objection. Go ahead.

6 THE WITNESS: Yes.

7 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:

8 Q. Okay. And what do you remember you said and what

9 did he say relative to that, as best you remember?

10 MS. NELSON: If you --

11 THE WITNESS: Okay.

12 MS. NELSON: You can answer that.

13 THE WITNESS: I'm just checking. I'm

14 sorry.

15 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:

16 Q. No, no. That's okay.

17 A. You guys have been objecting enough, I'm trying to 18 figure out --

19 Q. For what it's worth, after she makes an objection

20 unless she instructs you not to answer --

21 A. Yeah.

22 Q. -- she's making an objection for the record.

23 A. No, I was just double-checking.

24 Q. I understand, yeah. No, that's fine.

25 A. Could you run it by me one more time then, and I

Page 115

1 won't look at her this time.

2 Q. Feel free to look at her.

3 I'd like to know what you can tell me you

4 said and Mr. Orr said in the conversation you did

5 have, the one or more conversations you had, between

6 the time he became emergency manager and the

7 Chapter 9 filing relative to the pension obligations

8 that the City owed?

9 A. Yeah, I would say there would be two or three pieces

10 to that. One is a concern about who is representing

11 the retirees.

12 Q. Who's saying what -- to the extent you can,

13 Governor, and I understand you're not going to

14 remember exact words, but to the extent you can I'd

15 like you to break down what you're saying and what

16 Mr. Orr is saying so that we can identify who is 17 saying what to the extent you remember.

18 A. Okay.

19 Q. Go ahead.

20 A. Sure. Well, let me start at the terms of the 21 discussion. One is there is clearly a concern

22 for the retirees. These are people that worked for

23 the City for many years. And I shared this thought

24 that I am concerned about the retirees.

25 The second piece ties into what was the

Page 116

1 situation about representing the retirees. Mr. Orr

2 brought that to my attention because he was having

3 difficulty finding people to represent the retirees.

4 The way it was described to me is there are a number

5 of unions that were not willing to potentially

6 represent the retirees versus their active members;

7 that all the retirees were not going to have

8 representation in some capacity during the

9 negotiation process with creditors. And that was a

10 concern because there are many parties to this.

11 This is very complex. We're talking potentially

12 20,000 retirees.

13 In terms of that, again, I'm kind of --

14 time frame, we had a general discussion about that

15 being a problem. When it ultimately came down to

16 looking at the bankruptcy -- possibility of a

17 bankruptcy filing, one of the things that he brought

18 forward and I really pushed was the issue about

19 asking very quickly that there be representation for

20 the retirees as part of the bankruptcy process

21 because I believe it's important.

22 And I've been public with that in addition

23 to those private discussions that it's very

24 important that they have a seat at the table so

25 their voice can be heard during this process and

Page 117

1 they can have adequate legal representation. So
 2 that would be one track in terms of that.
 3 In terms of the pension liabilities
 4 themselves, there was discussion about the funding
 5 in terms of the actuarial assessment of the pension.
 6 The stated numbers according to the review team and
 7 the other reports was approximately three and a half
 8 billion dollars. Again, there was work to be done
 9 following that to say -- I can't remember if 10 Milliman or whoever was doing the report, to do an 11 assessment, other people are doing assessments,
 12 there's a real issue of the valuation of the pension
 13 plans and how the pension plans were operated.
 14 Again, there's many questions. Again,
 15 there's other litigation going on about 13 Month
 16 Checks.
 17 Q. Okay. But it's pretty clear, isn't it, from the 18 question and answer that was posed to Mr. Orr that 19 he recalls a conversation in one way or another
 20 where there's an advantage to a Chapter 9 filing?
 21 He's not talking about I understand the 22 advantage of then you can deal with the retirees
 23 because you set up a committee and you have somebody
 24 to bargain with. I get that. But he's answering 25 affirmatively a question that just ties the

Page 118

1 Chapter 9 filing to getting out of pension
 2 obligations.
 3 Do you recall any conversation you had with 4 Mr. Orr in any way, shape or form that related to 5 that subject; that is, Chapter 9 would give you some
 6 advantages vis-a-vis getting out of pension
 7 obligations that another route would not have?
 8 MS. NELSON: Objection; asked and answered.
 9 Go ahead, answer it again.
 10 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 11 Q. Go ahead.
 12 A. Yeah, the context of something that would -- could 13 be viewed as a positive during the process is it
 14 could be -- there could be certainty as to 15 resolution by going through a bankruptcy in the 16 sense that the judge addressing the plan and 17 approving the plan could resolve it as opposed to 18 having multiple continuing lawsuits that could go on 19 even if it was done in a consensual fashion if some 20 party didn't agree or some party had a different
 21 version; that one of the potential advantages of 22 bankruptcy, again viewing bankruptcy as a last
 23 resort, could be is there could be more a finality
 24 of a resolution to this issue as opposed to having 25 lawsuits continue for multiple years.

Page 119

1 Q. Do you recall anything anymore specific than that
 2 that would relate at all to Mr. Orr's view that the
 3 discussion related to getting out of the pension
 4 obligations that the City owed or not?
 5 A. Again, in terms of looking at it, there could be --
 6 this is -- are there other options or alternatives
 7 in terms of looking at the pension plans. Again,
 8 waiting for an assessment of how these reports come
 9 back, and what I hope could be mediations during 10 this process.
 11 Are there other things possible in terms of 12 continuing the existing pension plans, looking at 13 alternatives to the pension plan versus health care
 14 liabilities or other liabilities. Again, this is 15 where I view it as hopefully an open discussion that 16 would be reviewed by a judge because this then gets 17 into legal opinions as to the relative class of 18 different types of creditors.
 19 And this is beyond my area of expertise.
 20 One of my concerns about not going into bankruptcy,
 21 wanting to avoid it, is I was concerned you could
 22 have less flexibility in bankruptcy than outside
 23 because if mutual parties agreed and everyone agreed
 24 you could have a resolution.
 25 Q. Well, in terms of your background, you did -- you've

Page 120

1 graduated from law school, correct?
 2 A. Thank you.
 3 Q. I meant it -- I phrased it that way only because I
 4 understand that you've not --
 5 A. I've never --
 6 Q. You don't practice law, correct?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. Or have never practiced law.
 9 A. Yes.
 10 Q. Sorry for wording. Unintentional.
 11 At the time you were talking to Emergency
 12 Manager Orr between the time he's an emergency
 13 manager and you file Chapter 9 --
 14 A. Yes.
 15 Q. -- you knew, did you not, that Article 9 Section 24
 16 of the State Constitution existed?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 Q. And that it provided certain rights for pensioners?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Didn't you also know at that point in time that the 21 best way to reconcile Article 9 Section 24 -- let me
 22 rephrase it.
 23 Didn't you know at the time you were
 24 talking to Mr. Orr that bankruptcy was the only 25 place where you could at least even arguably, in the

Page 121

1 words of Mr. Orr, trump that state constitutional
 2 provision? Didn't you kind of know that as a
 3 general matter?
 4 A. No.
 5 Q. Okay. Did you think there were other places where 6 you could -- other ways in which you could trump
 7 Article 9 Section 24 other than getting the
 8 agreement of the retirees, which you've acknowledged
 9 had not happened and was going to be very difficult
 10 given trying to deal with thousands of people
 11 outside the bankruptcy arena?
 12 A. I'm trying to see if that was a yes no question or 13 you were asking for --
 14 (Reporter read pending question.)
 15 MS. NELSON: Objection; form, foundation,
 16 use of the word trump. You can answer the question
 17 if you can.
 18 THE WITNESS: Yeah, in terms of one area
 19 that this is a legal question that I thought would 20 be good to get resolved and could be resolved inside
 21 or outside of bankruptcy. I don't believe it had to 22 go to bankruptcy to solve the question, and that is 23 in regard to what the constitutional provision
 24 actually says which treats it as a contractual
 25 obligation, which in many cases -- we've seen cases

Page 122

1 with emergency managers they could set aside
 2 contractual obligations.
 3 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 4 Q. Well, let's move to that. If you were looking for a
 5 legal answer, you knew as of July 3rd or shortly
 6 thereafter that you were going to get a legal answer
 7 in state court; did you not?
 8 A. I was not going to speculate as to the timing of how
 9 State lawsuits get resolved.
 10 Q. Well, you knew, did you not, that the Flowers
 11 plaintiffs filed their suit on July 3rd. You knew 12 that shortly after that; did you not?
 13 A. Yes.
 14 Q. I mean --
 15 A. Or one of those.
 16 Q. -- it was all over the press?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 Q. And that Webster and another group of individuals
 19 filed suit the same day, July 3rd, correct?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. It was also all over the papers that the same day
 22 that suit was filed Judge Aquilina signed orders to
 23 show cause why injunctive relief should not issue
 24 and scheduled those hearings for July 22nd.
 25 You knew that at least generally; did you

Page 123

1 not? That is, that there was going to be a date at 2 which the judge would make a preliminary decision as
 3 to the issues in front of her?
 4 A. A preliminary decision on an injunction is much
 5 different than an adjudication of a legal issue that
 6 would be resolved through a court trial process.
 7 Q. But you did know that there would be a state court
 8 resolution -- that the issue you were concerned
 9 with, that is the relationship between Article 9
 10 Section 24 of the State Constitution and these 11 efforts to try and bring the City back, were going
 12 to be resolved in state court based on these 13 lawsuits if nothing else was done; did you not?
 14 A. That could take a year or longer to get that 15 resolution.
 16 Q. I didn't -- I did not ask you any question about 17 length. I asked you whether you didn't know as 18 someone trained in the law and knowing that these 19 suits were pending and knowing kind of generally
 20 what they were about, you knew that the state courts
 21 were dealing with the issue?
 22 A. I knew I would not get a short-term final answer.
 23 Q. You did understand that in -- and then a few days
 24 after those first two suits were filed, just so
 25 we've got the record -- and your counsel is correct.

Page 124

1 Those two suits were against you as the Governor,
 2 not personally, and the State Treasurer.
 3 And then a few days later the pension
 4 funds, or whatever the technical name is for them,
 5 filed a lawsuit that did include Mr. Orr. Do you
 6 recall that?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. And then at that point there were multiple suits
 9 pending?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. Correct?
 12 A. Yes.
 13 Q. And did you understand that all -- each of those
 14 suits dealt one way or another with Article 9
 15 Section 24 of the State Constitution; that is, the 16 pension issue?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 Q. Okay. Between the time that those suits were filed
 19 and the filing of the bankruptcy, which is about two 20 weeks plus a day or two, did you have any 21 discussions with anyone about what the likely 22 outcome of those cases would be on the merits; that
 23 is, on the issue of does Article 9 Section 24 apply
 24 even if the State goes into bankruptcy?
 25 MS. NELSON: I'm going to object to the

Page 125

1 extent that it calls for a discussion of
 2 conversations he had with his legal counsel, as
 3 those are attorney-client privilege.
 4 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 5 Q. Outside of conversations you had with attorneys
 6 present, did you have any conversations -- well, let 7 me ask specifically.
 8 Did you have any conversations with
 9 Treasurer Dillon without attorneys present about 10 what the chances were as to the results of these 11 state court suits?
 12 A. No, I don't recall.
 13 Q. Did you have conversations with anyone else
 14 excluding conversations you had either with 15 attorneys or with attorneys present between the time
 16 those suits were filed and the filing of the 17 bankruptcy?
 18 A. I'm sorry, without attorneys present?
 19 Q. Without attorneys present.
 20 A. Yeah, I don't recall.
 21 Q. Okay. You did know, did you not, shortly after 22 those suits were filed, it was all over the papers,
 23 that Judge Aquilina was going to hold a hearing on 24 whether to issue an injunction Monday, July 22nd;
 25 did you not?

Page 126

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. And the initial plan was to file the bankruptcy
 3 Friday the 19th; was it not?
 4 A. There was a timetable for communications that said
 5 it would be on Friday the 19th.
 6 Q. And that timetable came out of your office or was 7 done for you --
 8 A. Yes.
 9 Q. -- as the Governor of the State, correct?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. And that timetable was written up on the 17th, was 12 it not, at least one version of it?
 13 I've got it here as an exhibit. I can show
 14 you if -- I'm not trying to --
 15 A. No, I don't -- I -- that's fine. I would say yes.
 16 Q. Okay. Fair enough.
 17
 18 (Deposition Exhibit 6 and 7 marked.)
 19
 20 MR. WERTHEIMER: And let's just -- I'll
 21 move the admission of Exhibit 6, Margaret.
 22 MS. NELSON: May I see Exhibit 6?
 23 MR. WERTHEIMER: That's the one I think you
 24 took.
 25 MS. NELSON: No, you gave me Exhibit 7.

Page 127

1 MR. WERTHEIMER: I'm sorry, I apologize,
 2 yes.
 3 MS. NELSON: I don't have Exhibit 6.
 4 MR. WERTHEIMER: You will.
 5 MS. NELSON: And would you please show it
 6 to the Governor?
 7 MR. WERTHEIMER: Yeah, sure. Absolutely.
 8 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 9 Q. Okay.
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. That's consistent with your memory?
 12 A. Yes.
 13 Q. And this is the document or something like it is 14 what you were just referring to?
 15 A. Yes.
 16 Q. Would I be correct in reading the upper right
 17 V71713 is indicating that this document was prepared
 18 on that date? Is that what that is?
 19 A. I can't speak to that.
 20 Q. Oh, okay. You don't know?
 21 A. Yeah, I didn't do the document so I can't speak to
 22 that.
 23 Q. You -- this is a normal document that is used in 24 your role as Governor to deal with --
 25 A. I would say this was not a normal circumstance so

Page 128

1 this would not be a normal document.
 2 Q. Okay. The only reason I ask that is I did see some
 3 other kind of rollout documents.
 4 A. Yeah.
 5 Q. For example, there's a similar document, is there
 6 not, for the June 14th creditors proposal that
 7 Mr. Orr was coming out with? There's a similar 8 document from your end; is there not?
 9 A. Yeah. I'm not aware of that.
 10 Q. Oh, okay. Fair enough. Fair enough.
 11 A. Yeah.
 12 Q. So you don't know whether the 717 up in the upper 13 right is the normal place that the author of the 14 document would advise people reading it as to its 15 date of its origin?
 16 A. Yeah, I'd have to say I don't know.
 17 Q. You don't know. Okay.
 18 In any event, the document gives a lot of 19 detail as to what's going to happen before and after 20 this filing, which the document assumes is going to 21 be on the 19th, correct?
 22 A. Uh-huh. Yes.
 23 Q. Now, there are -- were press reports that indicated
 24 that the reason for the 19th filing was to have it
 25 precede the 22nd hearing in front of Judge Aquilina.

Page 129

1 Do you have any knowledge first or
2 secondhand as to whether that is true or not?
3 A. I don't recall that.
4 Q. Do you recall a reason that the 19th was selected as
5 the date that Mr. Orr would file bankruptcy?
6 A. One of the factors most likely was probably my 7 schedule, because this was a major media rollout, in 8 terms of availability.
9 Q. Okay.
10 A. At that -- the letter was coming and I wanted time
11 to contemplate and then we would look at the 12 schedule to say when is there a good opportunity to 13 have good communications.
14 Q. Leaving aside conversations you had with your 15 attorneys --
16 A. Uh-huh.
17 Q. -- in the days preceding the 17th say, say earlier
18 that week --
19 A. Yeah.
20 Q. -- were you privy to any conversations where the 21 idea was thrown out that if we have the filing on 22 the 19th that would oust Aquilina of jurisdiction on 23 the 22nd? Do you understand what I'm asking, or 24 words to that effect?
25 A. Yeah, I don't recall it.

Page 130

1 Q. You don't recall?
2 A. And again, that would be -- this is where we're back
3 to if there were other discussions, it would've been
4 attorney-client privilege, but I don't recall even
5 in that context.
6 Q. We know that, in fact, the filing was made on the
7 18th?
8 A. Uh-huh.
9 Q. Correct?
10 A. Correct.
11 Q. That would be an unusual circumstance; would it not?
12 That is, that you put together this very detailed
13 rollout down to what's going to happen at 11 a.m. a
14 couple days later and what's happening at noon and 15 1:30. It would be rare in terms of your work as 16 Governor for a significant event like this for the 17 date to move at the last minute; would it not?
18 A. Well, this is a unique circumstance.
19 Q. Yeah. On that we agree.
20 Was the unique circumstance the fact that 21 the litigants in the three cases were in court on 22 the 18th in front of Judge Aquilina in the afternoon
23 seeking emergency injunctive relief?
24 A. I had signed my letter prior to that.
25 Q. It's not what I asked you, Governor.

Page 131

1 A. Well, you did ask me. You said they were in the
2 courtroom, did then I act. And I acted prior to
3 them being in the courtroom.
4 Q. No. Okay. Fair enough.
5 A change was made between the 19th and the 6 18th as to the filing itself. You understand that?
7 A. Uh-huh.
8 Q. Correct?
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. And I'll represent to you that at Mr. Orr's
11 deposition he confirmed that the typed in date of 12 the 19th on the bankruptcy petition, the handwritten 13 eight was his handwriting.
14 Do you know anything about why the change
15 was made from the 19th to the 18th?
16 A. Yes.
17 Q. What do you know about it? Just tell me.
18 A. I made the decision that I was comfortable in my 19 conclusion that it was appropriate to file.
20 When the letter came to me on the 16th in 21 terms of recommending bankruptcy, I had set aside to 22 say I wanted an extended period of time to review
23 and to contemplate the situation. So I actually set
24 aside enough time that would have led to the Friday
25 morning situation to say I wanted more than one

Page 132

1 night to sleep on this because the importance of
2 this act.
3 And as I proceeded through the thought
4 process to say do I concur, am I going to authorize
5 the bankruptcy, I started discussions with my legal 6 counsel on how we would prepare a letter, how we
7 would go through that process and my thought
8 process, and I felt I didn't need to wait. I had 9 made my decision, I had consulted with legal 10 counsel, we had prepared a letter authorizing 11 bankruptcy, and I said we should just go ahead and 12 get this done.
13 Q. And as far as you know, that decision, the fact that
14 there was -- were requests for immediate injunctive
15 relief on that day in state court had nothing to do
16 with moving up the time?
17 A. People showed up in state court after that, and what 18 I would say is the consideration I had was the 19 filing of -- the lawsuits being filed in the prior 20 week or two weeks had some impact on my 21 decision-making process.
22 Q. Right.
23 A. And the reason I said that is because I could see 24 lawsuits being filed not only on pension issues but 25 could be filed by other creditors, by financial

Page 133

1 institutions, by many other parties to say it is
 2 clear there's a breakdown of what I believe were
 3 good faith negotiations, and given that there is a
 4 breakdown of good faith negotiations we were at that
 5 last resort point.
 6 And this is a financial emergency, I'm
 7 concerned about the citizens of Detroit, and I was
 8 going to move forward with this because I'm stepping
 9 up for the citizens of Detroit and Michigan.
 10 Q. You've talked generally about the lawsuits and the 11 role they played?
 12 A. Uh-huh.
 13 Q. I'm trying to get your recollection specifically as 14 to the fact that parties were in court on the 18th
 15 and that the Pension Board was there formally with a
 16 request for an injunction that day.
 17 A. That was after the fact, and I don't speculate on 18 what happens in court hearings.
 19 Q. What is your basis for saying that that was after 20 the fact?
 21 A. Well, you told me that.
 22 Q. No.
 23 MS. NELSON: I'm going to object at this
 24 point. He's asked and answered.
 25 Your question was was the unique situation

Page 134

1 the result of the fact that attorneys were in the
 2 courtroom seeking a TRO and he answered no and he
 3 signed the authorization before the attorneys were
 4 in the courtroom.
 5 So what is it that you're now asking? He's 6 already answered that question, so asked and
 7 answered.
 8 MR. WERTHEIMER: Are you done?
 9 MS. NELSON: I'm done.
 10 MR. WERTHEIMER: Okay.
 11 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 12 Q. Do you have any -- are there any documents that the 13 State has that can confirm the time of day that your 14 letter was signed on the 18th? Do you know?
 15 A. I'm happy to attest when I signed that.
 16 Q. You already have.
 17 A. I'm under oath. I signed that --
 18 Q. What time did you sign it?
 19 A. I signed it in the afternoon.
 20 Q. What time in the afternoon?
 21 A. It was earlier rather than later, but I don't have 22 the specific time.
 23 Q. Okay. I believe the Pension Board had filed their 24 papers the day before and were scheduled to go into 25 court that afternoon. So it was out there that at

Page 135

1 least in one of those lawsuits that a request was
 2 going to be made that afternoon.
 3 MS. NELSON: Objection.
 4 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 5 Q. And you moved up your filing -- or you moved up --
 6 well, the filing was moved up from the 19th to the
 7 18th.
 8 MS. NELSON: Objection; assumes facts not
 9 in evidence. There had not been any motion filed
 10 with the -- if you're referring to the General
 11 Retirement System case, that was filed on the 17th,
 12 but there had not been a TRO filed with the 13 Complaint, and that was not filed until late in the 14 afternoon on --
 15 MR. WERTHEIMER: Margaret --
 16 MS. NELSON: I'm correcting your facts.
 17 There had not been a TRO filed the day before when 18 the General Retirement System Complaint was filed.
 19 MR. GALLAGHER: Objection to counsel's
 20 testimony.
 21 MR. WERTHEIMER: Margaret.
 22 MS. NELSON: I'm objecting to form and
 23 foundation and speculation.
 24 MR. WERTHEIMER: No, you're providing 25 testimony and you're providing facts which are not

Page 136

1 accurate.
 2 MS. NELSON: Well, you are too,
 3 Mr. Wertheimer. So if you're going to ask
 4 speculative inappropriate questions, at least have
 5 your facts correct.
 6 So my objection is form, foundation, calls
 7 for speculation.
 8 The Governor has answered this question in
 9 terms of his understanding of the timing.
 10 MR. WERTHEIMER: Margaret, I would not
 11 otherwise testify, but I will tell you that the 12 Pension Board was in front of Aquilina in the 13 morning and that I drove from Detroit to Lansing and 14 got there about three in the afternoon; that the 15 AG's office asked us to please delay, and we ended
 16 up in front of Judge Aquilina eight minutes after 17 the bankruptcy petition was filed, and I'm entitled 18 to find out from the Governor whether all that is 19 coincidental.
 20 MS. NELSON: Well, I will correct you --
 21 MR. WERTHEIMER: Now, if you're done, I'll
 22 ask --
 23 MS. NELSON: No. Well, I will correct you
 24 then also because the AG's office did not learn of 25 the TRO applications and anybody coming to court

1 until after 3:00 in the afternoon.
 2 It was approximately 3:05 when I received
 3 the phone call that attorneys were coming to court
 4 to present motions for TRO to the judge. There was
 5 no conversation or information about anything being
 6 filed that morning. It was after 3:00 when the call
 7 was made to our office and attorneys were sent over
 8 to respond if appropriate.
 9 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 10 Q. What time did you sign on the 18th, Governor?
 11 A. Again, the specific time -- one of the ways to look
 12 at that is I would have signed it prior to the email
 13 transmission to Kevyn Orr.
 14 Q. And do you recall when the email transmission was?
 15 A. No, but that's --
 16 Q. That's somewhere that we can find out?
 17 A. Yes. Yes.
 18 Q. Okay. Fair enough.
 19 When was it that Attorney General Schuette
 20 called you to let you know what legal position he 21 was going to be taking in the bankruptcy? He filed
 22 it August 19th, if that helps.
 23 A. It would have been a couple -- again, within the two 24 or three days before that.
 25 Q. I take it it sounds like it's kind of a courtesy

Page 138

1 call?
 2 A. It was a courtesy call because we have a working
 3 relationship.
 4 Q. Had you ever consulted with Attorney General
 5 Schuette about this issue of whether Article 9
 6 Section 24 would apply in bankruptcy before that
 7 courtesy call?
 8 A. I don't recall.
 9 Q. You may have?
 10 A. I don't recall.
 11 Q. Do you recall whether when Attorney General Schuette
 12 made his position public or when he told you about 13 it that you were surprised in any way?
 14 In other words, was it news to you at that 15 point that the Attorney General was going to take 16 the position that Article 9 Section 24 applied in
 17 bankruptcy?
 18 A. I would say -- could you repeat the question?
 19 Q. Do you recall whether --
 20 A. Yeah.
 21 Q. -- you knew any time before this courtesy call that
 22 the Attorney General's position was that Article 9
 23 Section 24 applied in bankruptcy; in other words,
 24 that bankruptcy would not trump it but that rather,
 25 according to the Attorney General, Emergency Manager

Page 139

1 Orr would be required to propose a plan consistent
 2 with Article 9 Section 24?
 3 Did you know that or anything like it any
 4 time before he made this courtesy call to you?
 5 A. Yeah, I'm not being difficult. I started becoming 6 more aware as the call was being scheduled. Why was 7 the Attorney General wanting to talk, because I was 8 out on the road.
 9 Q. Okay. So you may have learned just before?
 10 A. Again, it's like I was traveling in the upper 11 peninsula, as I recall, and I need to talk to 12 call -- I need to talk to the Attorney General.
 13 That gets my attention.
 14 Q. You knew before this that this was a serious issue,
 15 did you not, that is how -- what's the interplay
 16 between the State constitutional provision and any 17 potential filing? As a general matter, you knew
 18 that; did you not?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Did you ever consult with the Attorney General about
 21 that?
 22 A. Not directly.
 23 Q. Did you consult indirectly?
 24 A. Again, my legal counsel may have had discussions. I
 25 didn't participate in those.

Page 140

1 Q. Do you recall asking either directly or indirectly
 2 for the Attorney General's opinion?
 3 A. I don't recall.
 4 Q. Could you identify Exhibit 7 for me?
 5 A. This is an email from Greg Tedder to me regarding a
 6 Power Point presentation that Kevyn Orr was going to 7 use as part of his 45-day plan that he was going to
 8 do I believe from later on it appears two public
 9 meetings.
 10 Q. And would I be correct in reading it as indicating 11 that you were involved in detail to the extent that 12 you didn't like a particular slide; that is, slide
 13 22?
 14 A. I believe, if my email is incorporated in this, that 15 they --
 16 Q. I think it is.
 17 A. Yeah. They sent me the Power Point presentation and 18 I made a very brief review and just gave them three 19 points of feedback.
 20 Q. And those are indicated on the exhibit?
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. Okay. Do you recall communications you had with 23 Treasurer Dillon in early July after the suits were 24 filed but before the bankruptcy?
 25 A. I don't recall.

Page 141

1 MS. NELSON: Which one is which?
 2 MR. WERTHEIMER: Eight is July 8th.
 4 (Deposition Exhibit 8 and 9 marked.)
 5
 6 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 7 Q. Since we're doing it this way, why don't you take a
 8 look at Exhibit 8, Governor, please. It's a July 8
 9 email that was produced in discovery from Treasurer
 10 Dillon to you.
 11 Might as well just read it and then I'll
 12 ask you a question or two about it.
 13 A. Okay. Want me --
 14 Q. Yes. If you would, just read it to yourself.
 15 A. Thanks. I was trying to figure out what --
 16 Q. No, that's fine. I understand.
 17 As to the July 8 email, do you recall
 18 receiving it?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Do you know what -- can you explain to us what the 21 reference is to the pension fund recent suits
 22 against he and you? Is that a reference to the 23 suits we've been talking about?
 24 A. I would assume so, but I can't definitively say that
 25 because I didn't write the email.

Page 142

1 Q. Fair enough. Did you talk to Treasurer Dillon about
 2 it?
 3 A. Yes, I believe so.
 4 Q. Did the conversation relate at least in part to 5 those lawsuits?
 6 A. No. Well, it was really he was just re -- as I
 7 recall, he was recalling what's in that second
 8 paragraph, just to say that there's an issue here,
 9 that the consultants were coming up with a different
 10 answer.
 11 Q. And he was indicating the pensions -- the 12 consultants were saying that pensions were going to 13 have to be cut significantly; was he not?
 14 A. Again, yes.
 15 Q. Okay. And you knew at that point in time, did you
 16 not, that the only practical way you were going to 17 be able to cut those pensions would be by filing a
 18 Chapter 9; did you not?
 19 At that point, in other words, July 8
 20 Treasurer Dillon tells you we're going to have to 21 cut pensions significantly. You knew that that 22 meant you've got to file Chapter 9; did you not?
 23 A. I wouldn't necessarily conclude that. I would, in 24 fact, cite the second email you gave us, Exhibit 9,
 25 towards the bottom where the bottom paragraph second

Page 143

1 sentence and third sentence: In my view, which is
 2 Andy Dillon speaking, it's way too early in the 3 process to respond to hypothetical questions, remain
 4 in many ways at the informational stage.
 5 Q. Well, isn't that just his effort to kind of deal
 6 with the politics and say there's no reason you have
 7 to get out there publicly and say that pensions are 8 going to be reduced?
 9 A. Not necessarily. Again, this is --
 10 Q. Okay. Isn't that one reading of his --
 11 A. I'm not going to speculate on his reading.
 12 Q. All right.
 13 A. I'm saying this is the information from consultants
 14 that's in the early stages. It's informational, and 15 he was giving me a heads up to know that there could 16 be an issue ultimately coming about because of work
 17 of consultants that had not been fully reviewed and 18 vetted.
 19 Q. Do you recall this second email?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. Did you have any conversations with Treasurer Dillon
 22 about either of these emails at around this time?
 23 A. As I mentioned earlier --
 24 Q. I'm sorry, go ahead.
 25 A. I recall a phone call that night of the 8th after

Page 144

1 the first email.
 2 Q. Go ahead.
 3 A. Sort of reiterating what's in the email, saying he's
 4 concerned about this, and then the second email
 5 said -- sort of answered a lot of the questions to 6 say that the meeting's going ahead and there's work
 7 to be done, that we're in the early stages.
 8 Q. Okay. He's calling you?
 9 A. I believe he called me.
 10 Q. Okay.
 11 A. I can't tell you whether I had to call him back or 12 not but I believe we had a conversation that night.
 13 Q. He initiated it as a followup to his first email?
 14 A. Yes. Yes.
 15 Q. And then he sent you another email the next day?
 16 A. Sort of answering a number of questions he raised
 17 the night before and in the email.
 18 Q. Fair enough. And there were no other lawsuits that 19 you can think of that were out there that he could 20 have been referencing as far as you know than the 21 three we've been talking about?
 22 A. As far as I know.
 23 Q. Okay. Just a couple more questions.
 24 We have requested what's called a 30(b)(6)
 25 deposition of the State; that is, that the State

Page 145

1 produce a witness -- one or more witnesses on
 2 various issues. And on a couple of them the State
 3 has indicated that they -- without designating you
 4 as a 30(b)(6) witness and requiring you to do the 5 kind of preparation that would be involved with that
 6 otherwise, that you would be the best person to ask
 7 these questions.
 8 A. Okay.
 9 Q. So I'd like to ask the question exactly as it's 10 framed in the deposition notice and have you answer
 11 that question as best you can.
 12 A. Okay.
 13 Q. Okay? The question is or the matter for examination
 14 is "The reason or reasons the Governor decided not 15 to place contingencies on this bankruptcy filing, as 16 expressly permitted by Section 18(1) of 2012 Public
 17 Act 436; particularly why no contingency related to 18 Article 9 Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution
 19 was placed on the filing.
 20 Can you answer that?
 21 A. Yes. I had -- I placed no contingencies because I
 22 had a concern that it would add complexity,
 23 confusion or delay to the bankruptcy process given
 24 that this is an emergency situation.
 25 It's about taking care of the best

Page 146

1 interests of the citizens of Detroit. And the
 2 reason I felt confident and comfortable in doing
 3 that act is why we reviewed -- I reviewed with my 4 legal counsel and added that statement to say any 5 plan that has to come out of this process of the 6 bankruptcy has to be legally executable.
 7 Q. That's going to be the next question, but okay.
 8 Let me just ask a followup.
 9 A. Sorry I was giving you --
 10 Q. That's okay. We're on the same wavelength.
 11 At the time you authorized the filing, you
 12 knew, did you not, that if you placed the 13 contingency relating to Article 9 Section 24 on the 14 filing it would make it more difficult for the 15 Detroit emergency manager to deal with the pension
 16 issue; did you not?
 17 A. I did not know that. That would be a legal
 18 conclusion.
 19 Q. But didn't you generally understand that?
 20 I understand it technically may be a legal
 21 conclusion, but didn't you understand that if you
 22 had done a contingency that said as to this 3.5
 23 billion in unfunded liabilities, the Michigan
 24 Constitution says you're going to have to -- you're 25 not going to be able to get any relief from that?

Page 147

1 A. No, I didn't believe that. Again, you asked my
 2 question. I answered it.
 3 Q. I'm just not sure I got an answer to that. Could
 4 you -- and I apologize if I'm asking the same
 5 question, but --
 6 A. No, I didn't believe -- again, I believed -- I
 7 didn't -- state your question again so we can make
 8 sure we get this.
 9 Q. Didn't you understand at the time you authorized the 10 filing that if you had placed a contingency on the 11 filing telling the Detroit emergency manager that in 12 bankruptcy, for example, consistent with Schuette's
 13 opinion, that any plan he proposed would have to 14 recognize the applicability of Article 9 Section 24?
 15 Didn't you understand that if you did
 16 something like that it would make Emergency Manager
 17 Orr's job more difficult?
 18 A. I did not consider that.
 19 Q. Okay. What did you consider relative to not
 20 including Article 9 Section 24 as a contingency?
 21 A. I viewed it as is that's something that the legal 22 questions were being appropriately framed by 23 lawsuits, by parties, by various people being 24 represented in this process, and that as Governor of 25 the State of Michigan I take my responsibility

Page 148

1 seriously. It's to execute the laws of the State of
 2 Michigan.
 3 That these were multiple legal questions
 4 that were being framed through multiple lawsuits
 5 that were going to continue in the bankruptcy
 6 process, and I thought the best answer is the 7 judicial branch should be resolving these questions
 8 to give me clarity as to best how to follow through
 9 in implementing what comes out of this process.
 10 Q. You did not check with Attorney General Schuette at 11 the time you filed to determine what his view was as
 12 to whether any contingency related to Article 9
 13 Section 24 should put -- should be put on your 14 authorization, did you?
 15 A. I did not.
 16 Q. The -- back to the 30(b)(6) Notice.
 17 A. Uh-huh.
 18 Q. And you partially answered this, but again, I think
 19 it would be helpful if I just read the question and 20 you answer it in full. And don't assume that you've 21 already answered part of it even though you have.
 22 A. Okay.
 23 Q. The reason or reasons the Governor included the 24 following statement in his 18 July 2013
 25 authorization to commence Chapter 9 bankruptcy

Page 149

1 proceeding "Federal law already contains the most
 2 important contingency - a requirement that -- a
 3 requirement that the plan be legally executable,
 4 11 USC section number."
 5 Can you answer that?
 6 A. Yeah. I thought it was important to include that 7 because coming out of this process, I thought the 8 bankruptcy judge would go through an analysis and 9 make decisions that would come out with a plan that
 10 was appropriate in the context of the legal process
 11 in terms of answering these difficult legal 12 questions with certainty and resolution, so then
 13 there could be a plan because this is a crisis.
 14 The City of Detroit is having huge issues,
 15 and I wanted to make sure that it was being done in 16 a thoughtful fashion, being reviewed by the 17 judiciary that then could be executed so we could 18 provide the best services to the citizens, take care
 19 of the citizens of the State as quickly and as best
 20 possible.
 21 Q. At the time you put that contingency on --
 22 A. I didn't put a contingency on.
 23 Q. I'm sorry. At the time you -- I stand corrected.
 24 A. Okay.
 25 Q. At the time you made the reference to the federal

Page 150

1 law contingency, shall we say --
 2 A. Uh-huh.
 3 Q. -- you knew, did you not, that Emergency Manager Orr
 4 was publicly stating that federal law would trump
 5 the State Constitution? Trump, that that was the 6 word he used. It was in the Free Press, I believe
 7 in the News. It was all over.
 8 You knew that at the time you thought that 9 this language about federal law being the most
 10 important contingency was put in your authorization;
 11 did you not?
 12 A. Yes. But, ultimately, Judge Rhodes makes that 13 decision, not Kevyn Orr.
 14 Q. Did you know at the time that only -- that under 15 Chapter 9 only the debtor can propose a plan?
 16 A. Subject to approval by the judge.
 17 Q. And the debtor is represented by Kevyn Orr, correct?
 18 A. He represents the City of Detroit, yes.
 19 Q. And you knew that the debtor was taking the position
 20 that the pensions would have to be cut; did you not?
 21 A. That's not a correct statement. There had been no
 22 plan proposed and there still has not been a plan
 23 proposed. Until there is a plan proposed, it would 24 be speculative on anything with respect to how the 25 City is going to present a plan.

Page 151

1 Q. Well, in the creditor's plan back in June, didn't
 2 Emergency Manager Orr make very clear that to the 3 extent the pension benefits were funded that those 4 monies couldn't be touched, which is legally of 5 course correct, but to the extent that they weren't
 6 funded that the retirees would become unsecured
 7 creditors like everybody else?
 8 Wasn't that part of the June presentation?
 9 A. The June presentation was to be part of a mutual
 10 negotiation that would require consent of all
 11 parties.
 12 Q. Are you saying --
 13 A. That was not a plan of adjustment and bankruptcy.
 14 Q. Are you saying, Governor, that at the time you put 15 this provision in your authorization that you --
 16 that there was some question in your mind as to 17 whether Emergency Manager Orr would honor or not
 18 honor Article 9 Section 24 in the bankruptcy?
 19 Let me ask it a different way.
 20 A. Okay.
 21 Q. I think it was a little confusing.
 22 Wouldn't you have had every reason to know
 23 by the point you put this language in that Emergency
 24 Manager Orr was going to propose a plan that did not 25 recognize the fact that pensions could not be

Page 152

1 reduced because of Article 9 Section 24?
 2 A. I don't necessarily come to that conclusion because
 3 a plan has not been presented.
 4 Q. But this -- the guy who is going to present the plan
 5 is publicly stating that federal law trumps
 6 Article 9 Section 24. You knew that; did you not?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. Wouldn't you suppose that that means that one of the 9 reasons -- one of the things that Emergency Manager
 10 Orr is going to do in the bankruptcy is make an 11 argument to Judge Rhodes that federal law trumps
 12 Article 9 Section 24?
 13 A. It is possible for him to make that argument.
 14 Again, I view this as legal speculation because 15 there are multiple mediations going on and multiple 16 discussions going on short of going to the judge and 17 asking for opinions.
 18 Q. And you now know that that speculation is 19 inconsistent with the Attorney General of the State
 20 of Michigan's position, which is that Orr has no
 21 right to do that. You know that now; do you not?
 22 MS. NELSON: Objection; form, foundation.
 23 What do you mean by speculation?
 24 MR. WERTHEIMER: I was using the word the 25 Governor used, so I was using however he used it. I

Page 153

1 was trying to be helpful, Margaret.
 2 Can you read it back? Let me just look at
 3 it and maybe I can just rephrase it.
 4 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 5 Q. You now know that the Attorney General is of the 6 view that Article 9 Section 24 applies in
 7 bankruptcy?
 8 A. He filed a brief to that effect.
 9 Q. Okay. That's all I have. Thank you. I have no
 10 further questions.
 11 MS. NELSON: Okay.
 12 MR. WERTHEIMER: Just take a minute. I
 13 assume there will be other questions. I just want
 14 to make sure that I'm done.
 15 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Off the record
 16 11:55 a.m.
 17 (A brief recess was taken.)
 18
 19 (Deposition Exhibit 10 was marked.)
 20
 21 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Back on the record at
 22 11:59 a.m.
 23 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 24 Q. Let me show you what's been marked, Governor, as 25 Exhibit 10. Would you take a look at -- actually,

Page 154

1 you'll see the -- it's a transmittal letter of your
 2 July 18 letter.
 3 A. Uh-huh.
 4 Q. Are you with me?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. And you had indicated in your earlier testimony that
 7 we should find the email transmission, and I'm
 8 wondering if this is it. That is, is this the email
 9 transmission where you communicate to Emergency
 10 Manager Orr that you have signed the authorization?
 11 A. Actually, it would have been much earlier, so this
 12 is where -- just to clarify I would say is I
 13 don't -- I would have to double-check. Normally, it
 14 could have been by email, but it might have been 15 faxed or otherwise communicated, but I know it was 16 much earlier than this during the day because this
 17 says 7:47 at night.
 18 Q. And it's within 13 minutes of what your rollout
 19 communications plan indicates when you're going to 20 sign. That is, it indicates 8 p.m. correct?
 21 A. Again, are you going to the earlier exhibit?
 22 Q. I'm sorry. That exhibit with the rollout indicates 23 that you're going to actually sign the letter at 24 8 p.m. on the 18th, correct?
 25 A. I signed it much earlier than that.

Page 155

1 Q. That's not what I asked.
 2 A. Yes.
 3 MS. NELSON: Here, you have it.
 4 BY MR. WERTHEIMER:
 5 Q. The communications rollout plan document indicates
 6 that the filing was going to be on the 19th but that 7 you were going to sign the letter at 8 p.m. on the 8 18th, correct?
 9 A. That's what this exhibit says.
 10 Q. All right. And you indicated in earlier testimony
 11 when I asked you if you could give me the time that 12 you signed the letter that I should look for the 13 email where you transmitted it. Did you not?
 14 A. Yes.
 15 Q. Okay. And I have found that email, have I not, or 16 someone on this side has found that email. And it
 17 indicates that you sent the authorization letter to 18 Emergency Manager Orr at 7:47 p.m.; does it not?
 19 A. Yes. And that's why I wanted to clarify.
 20 Apparently, our main transmission would have been 21 earlier in that day and it would have been done by 22 some other means.
 23 So I'd want to clarify and correct that to 24 say we should go look to find out when the earliest 25 transmission was.

Page 156

1 Q. I agree, and I assume your counsel will do that, and
 2 I would make that request on the record that you
 3 provide --
 4 A. Yeah.
 5 Q. -- whatever documentary support in whatever form it
 6 is.
 7 A. I apologize for having you go through an effort to 8 find --
 9 Q. That's okay. We need to get straight on it and 10 that's fine.
 11 A. Yeah.
 12 Q. With that I have nothing further. Thank you,
 13 Governor. I appreciate it.
 14 MS. NELSON: To the best of my knowledge
 15 it's in the production that we sent out.
 16 MR. WERTHEIMER: Well, Margaret, no offense
 17 but there's X hundred thousand --
 18 MS. NELSON: No, I understand that, but so
 19 it has been produced. It's my understanding it has 20 been produced.
 21 MR. WERTHEIMER: I am not suggesting that 22 it has not been produced, but it would be helpful
 23 if --
 24 MS. NELSON: Hold it. We have a hand up.
 25 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: No, I was just moving

1 the camera.
 2 MR. WERTHEIMER: It would be helpful if you
 3 could identify it for us. Right now all we have on 4 the record is 7:47 p.m.
 5 MS. GREEN: I will say on the record that
 6 that email was given to me by Jones Day in response
 7 to the request made by Retirement Systems that the 8 City produce the email that transmitted the 9 authorization letter to Kevyn Orr.
 10 That was the only email that was 11 specifically produced.
 12 MS. NELSON: Well, it might not have been 13 an email. It could have been a fax earlier in the 14 afternoon. So I guess we'll produce the document
 15 that we have but obviously it was transmitted before
 16 the filing and the filing was at 4:06 p.m.
 17 So we'll find it. If you want us to search
 18 for it, we will look amongst and get it to you.
 19 MR. WERTHEIMER: Why?
 20 MS. NELSON: Well, it could have been by 21 other than an email.
 22 MR. WERTHEIMER: Margaret, no offense.
 23 MS. NELSON: No, I'm saying --
 24 MR. WERTHEIMER: We want you to look for 25 it. We now have on the record that the Governor

1 said it was in an email and we have the email being
 2 7:47 so I would suggest --
 3 MS. NELSON: He just corrected that. He
 4 indicated it could have been by some other means and
 5 that it was earlier than this time frame, so we'll
 6 get it to you.
 7 MS. LEVINE: Let's talk for a second. We
 8 have a lot of attorneys testifying. I think they 9 should stop it.
 10 MS. NELSON: Correct.
 11 MS. LEVINE: To the extent that there's a
 12 transmittal other than this one that exists, we'll 13 ask the State to produce it to us. In response to 14 the direct request, we've got the production from 15 Jones Day with regard to the transmittal.
 16 MR. GADOLA: I'm confident we can do that.
 17 MR. SCHNEIDER: That's fine.
 18 MR. WERTHEIMER: Thank you.
 19 MS. NELSON: Absolutely.
 20 MR. WERTHEIMER: Thank you, Governor.
 21 THE WITNESS: All done?
 22 MR. WERTHEIMER: All done.
 23 THE WITNESS: Okay. Thank you.
 24 VIDEO TECHNICIAN: Deposition's concluded
 25 at 12:04 p.m.

Page 159

1 MS. GREEN: The Retirement Systems join the
 2 prior objection and reservation of rights placed on
 3 the record earlier. We also received documents late
 4 last night from the City, and those documents relate
 5 to both City and State officials.
 6 To the extent our rights have been
 7 prejudiced and those documents reveal a need for 8 further deposition testimony, we hereby join the 9 prior objection placed on the record by counsel.

Page 9

1 appreciate if you wait until I finish before you
2 answer; and likewise, I'll wait until you finish
3 answering before starting the next question.
4 A. Yes.
5 Q. And if there's any question of mine you don't
6 understand, please let me know and I'll rephrase it.
7 A. Okay.
8 Q. You were appointed Emergency Manager on March 14th,
9 2013; is that right?
10 A. No.
11 Q. Okay, technically you were appointed Emergency
12 Financial Manager on March 14th; is that right?
13 A. No.
14 Q. Okay. When were you appointed the Emergency Financial
15 Manager?
16 A. I think the final papers were signed on March 25th or 17 the 26th. The announcement or rollout was on the 13th
18 and 14th.
19 Q. Okay. So it was announced on the 13th or 14th that 20 you were going to be the Emergency Manager?
21 A. Yes, effective March 25th.
22 Q. And then when -- you're familiar with PA 436?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. So your original appointment was as the Emergency
25 Financial Manager; is that right?

Page 10

1 A. Yes.
2 Q. And then when PA 436 became effective, you became the
3 financial manager?
4 A. No.
5 Q. I'm sorry, the Emergency Manager; is that right?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. And PA 436 became effective on March 28th; is that
8 right?
9 A. Yes, I believe so.
10 Q. Okay. And PA 436 followed PA 4. Are you familiar
11 with PA 4?
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. And were you aware that PA 4 was struck by 14 referendum -- by voter referendum in Michigan in 15 November 2012?
16 A. Yes.
17 Q. Now, did you have any involvement in Public Act 4 in 18 Michigan?
19 A. No.
20 Q. Was there any involvement by Jones Day to your 21 knowledge?
22 A. Not to my knowledge.
23 Q. Now, PA 436 was enacted in December of 2012; is that
24 right?
25 A. I believe the statute speaks for itself, but I do

Page 11

1 believe that's right.
2 Q. Okay. And among other things it authorized the
3 governor to give authorization to the Emergency
4 Manager to file for bankruptcy under Chapter 9; is
5 that right?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. And the text authorizes but does not require the 8 governor to place contingencies on the municipalities
9 proceeding under Chapter 9; is that right?
10 A. Statute speaks for itself, but I believe that's
11 correct.
12 Q. And when did you first became aware of those
13 provisions in PA 436?
14 A. Probably mid to late January or February.
15 Q. Now, did you have any involvement in the drafting of 16 PA 436?
17 A. No, none whatsoever.
18 Q. Did Jones Day to your knowledge?
19 A. No, none whatsoever.
20 Q. Now, prior to the enactment of 436 did you have any 21 communications, written or oral, with anyone from the 22 city of Michigan -- I'm sorry, the City of Detroit or 23 the State of Michigan regarding PA 436?
24 A. I believe that's a compound question, but I'll answer
25 it. No.

1 Q. Now, at the time that you indicated you were
2 effectively made the -- became known that you would be
3 the Emergency Manager around the 13th or 14th of 4 March, you were a practicing lawyer; is that right?
5 A. Yes.
6 Q. And you were at Jones Day; correct?
7 A. Yes.
8 Q. And you've been engaged in the practice of law for a
9 number of years prior to 2013; correct?
10 A. Yes, since 1983. I was licensed in February 1984.
11 Q. And your expertise was bankruptcy law; is that right?
12 A. Started out as a trial attorney, eventually became a 13 bankruptcy litigator, eventually into all aspects of 14 bankruptcy law.
15 Q. So as of 2013 is it fair to say that you have 16 expertise with bankruptcy law?
17 A. Yes.
18 Q. In fact that's what you're best known for; isn't it?
19 A. At this point I think so.
20 Q. And you worked on the Chrysler bankruptcy in 2009; is
21 that right?
22 A. Yes, 2008 through 2013.
23 Q. Okay.
24 A. Okay.
25 Q. And you also spent a number of years at the office for

Page 13

1 the US trustee; is that right?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. And what was your role there?
 4 A. I was initially brought in as deputy director of the 5 US Trustee's office and upon the retirement of my 6 mentor and prior director, Jerry Patchan, I became
 7 director of that office.
 8 Q. Okay. And was your role there in a legal capacity in 9 terms of working with the department?
 10 A. No, I was one of -- I was a component head of one of 11 the 36 components in the United States Department of 12 Justice, which was more in the nature of managerial as 13 opposed to legal responsibility.
 14 Q. Okay. So did you ever serve as an actual trustee in a
 15 bankruptcy case?
 16 A. At the US Trustee's office?
 17 Q. Yes.
 18 A. No.
 19 Q. And you also work for the RTC; is that right?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. And that was in a litigation capacity?
 22 A. Yes, litigation and supervisory.
 23 Q. Now, you've never -- prior to becoming the Emergency
 24 Manager you never ran a city; did you?
 25 A. No.

Page 14

1 Q. Did you -- prior to becoming the Emergency Manager did
 2 you have any position that had responsibility for the
 3 operations of a municipality?
 4 A. I'm just thinking through the various career positions
 5 I had. Let me correct something. I think your
 6 question was was I ever receiver or bankruptcy
 7 receiver? Which one was it?
 8 Q. I think I asked whether you were ever a trustee.
 9 While you were at the --
 10 A. Not as the US Trustee, but I had served in Florida as 11 a receiver and a trustee in a matter whose name
 12 escapes me, it was some years ago. Had I ever done
 13 anything in the operations of a city inside? No.
 14 Q. And as of 2013 did you have any experience or 15 expertise with local or state budgeting?
 16 A. Yes.
 17 Q. What was that?
 18 A. At various times in my practice in Florida I was also 19 a land use attorney and from time to time would be 20 involved with various officials regarding planning and 21 zoning issues.
 22 Q. Okay, but -- and the involvement was limited to 23 planning and zoning?
 24 A. No, planning, land use and zoning, not inside the 25 government as a private practitioner.

Page 15

1 Q. Okay. Did you have any involvement or experience in
 2 actual budgeting for general, state or local
 3 operations for all the various departments that are
 4 involved in the running of a state or a city?
 5 A. I'm trying to be accurate without overstating my prior 6 experience.
 7 Q. Uh-huh.
 8 A. There were times where I was involved in various
 9 campaigns, political campaigns, and as I said, land
 10 use, planning and zoning, which would look at various 11 functions, but not for an entire city.
 12 Q. Okay, not for budgeting the various operations for 13 sanitation, for police, for all the functions that go
 14 into a city or a state?
 15 A. No, let me be clear. If your question is was I ever
 16 responsible for budgeting all the operations like in 17 Detroit, which has 44 departments, the answer is no.
 18 Q. Did you ever run a corporation?
 19 A. I actually think I did.
 20 Q. What was that?
 21 A. With the RTC I was appointed as an officer for one of 22 the financial institutions.
 23 Q. Okay, and when was that?
 24 A. I was at the RTC from '91 through '96 so sometime in 25 that period.

Page 16

1 Q. And what position did you hold?
 2 A. I don't recall.
 3 Q. And what were your responsibilities; do you remember
 4 -- first of, all do you remember what corporation it
 5 was?
 6 A. I don't. It was one of the many savings and loans
 7 that we had. I think it was in New Orleans. The head
 8 of the division sent me down to take it over with a
 9 team.
 10 Q. Do you remember the name of the S&L?
 11 A. I do not.
 12 Q. How long that lasted?
 13 A. I think I was commuting off and on for two to four
 14 years.
 15 Q. Do you recall how many people worked for you at the 16 S&L?
 17 A. Several hundred.
 18 Q. And that was obviously focused solely on the business
 19 of that particular S&L; correct?
 20 A. Yeah, there were a bunch of other issues, regulatory 21 issues, liability issues, insurance, but the business
 22 of a savings and loan or holding -- could have been
 23 the holding company for a savings and loan.
 24 Q. Outside of that have you ever worked in business?
 25 A. At a managerial level?

Page 17

1 Q. Yeah.
2 A. As I said, I think I was a receiver in another case in
3 Florida and perhaps a special master in another matter
4 in Florida.
5 Q. But just as a regular, working for a company?
6 A. No, I've been an attorney all my professional career.
7 Q. Do you have any particular expertise in finance?
8 A. Other than being a bankruptcy attorney, no, my degrees
9 are in political science and law.
10 Q. And you indicated that you served as a trustee or 11 receiver once in Florida and what was the nature of 12 the company that you acted as receiver for?
13 A. I don't recall. I would be speculating. It was 14 affiliated with real estate in some fashion.
15 Q. Okay. And do you have an accounting degree?
16 A. No.
17 Q. Are you an actuary?
18 A. No.
19 Q. Is it fair to say that as of the time of your
20 appointment as Emergency Manager, your sole expertise
21 was in law and particularly in bankruptcy law?
22 A. No. I think that while my principal expertise was in 23 law and bankruptcy law that in that capacity we 24 obviously as bankruptcy professionals deal with 25 financial issues and requirements that require us to

Page 18

1 make judgment calls. I would not say that that
2 typically would include the level of expertise as an
3 actuary.
4 Q. Okay. And your sole -- your involvement in financial 5 issues as you indicated was gained in your capacity as 6 a bankruptcy lawyer; is that right?
7 A. Well, gained in my capacity as I said through the arc
8 of my career having to do with first trial attorney,
9 business law, banking and finance at the FDIC, then
10 the RTC, then the Department of Justice and
11 bankruptcy.
12 Q. Now, you had discussions with the governor of Michigan
13 or people working with or for him prior to becoming
14 Emergency Manager; is that right?
15 A. Yes.
16 Q. Can you tell me about those?
17 A. Yeah, I believe when you say people either working
18 with or for him, the initial discussion was at the end
19 of January, could have been early February, but I
20 think it was the end of January when we came in to 21 pitch for the restructuring work for the City of 22 Detroit before a restructuring team of advisors, which 23 excluded -- the governor was not involved in that
24 presentation.
25 Q. And when was it first discussed -- when was the

Page 19

1 possibility of your acting as Emergency Manager first
2 raised?
3 A. I believe it was raised within a few days of us coming
4 back from that presentation.
5 Q. And how did that come about? What was said?
6 A. Someone called my managing partner, as I understand
7 it, I wasn't on that call, and asked if I might be
8 interested in serving as Emergency Manager and my then
9 managing partner relayed that conversation to me.
10 Q. And that -- is that the first time that you became 11 aware that you were being considered for the Emergency
12 Manager position?
13 A. Yes, I believe that was in February.
14 Q. Now, you had attended the presentation or the pitch
15 for Jones Day that you just referred to before the 16 restructuring committee of advisors?
17 A. Yes, Jones Day was one of I believe 21 law firms that 18 made presentations to that group about representing
19 the City.
20 Q. And what were the qualifications of Jones Day that 21 were presented at that presentation?
22 A. We had prepared a book of the qualifications of the 23 various attorney and the law firm and other
24 representations both in court and out of court
25 restructuring, having to do with healthcare, employee

Page 20

1 benefits, labor issues, having to do with
2 environmental, bankruptcy, litigation, analyses,
3 negotiations, mediation, the full panoply of work that
4 the firm did.
5 Q. And did you make any personal presentation at that
6 meeting, did you pitch anything?
7 A. We all spoke.
8 Q. Okay, and what did you speak about as regards what you
9 would bring to the table?
10 A. No, there were no presentations made so much with 11 regard to what I personally might bring to the table.
12 Q. Okay.
13 A. Although we did discuss the experience of the team.
14 There was no presentation for why any of us, for 15 instance, should be Emergency Manager. There was 16 discussion about what we perceived to be the difficult
17 status of the City and how our law firm could provide
18 representation to the City.
19 Q. And was anything said to the committee at the meeting
20 either through the book or orally as to your 21 particular credentials and expertise?
22 A. My credentials were included in the book, as were the 23 other attorneys at the presentation.
24 Q. Okay. And your --
25 A. Please.

Page 21

1 Q. Did I -- were you done?
 2 A. No, no, I was done, yeah.
 3 Q. Okay. And were your credentials presented that
 4 presented you as primarily as a bankruptcy lawyer?
 5 A. As primary as a bankruptcy and restructuring attorney,
 6 yes.
 7 Q. And was there any discussion specifically of the 8 possibility of a Chapter 9 filing at this
 9 presentation?
 10 A. I don't think so. I don't recall -- I don't -- I
 11 don't -- I don't recall, and the reason I say I don't 12 recall is there -- no, wait a minute. I don't know if 13 there was a discussion about the City. There was a
 14 discussion about other Chapter 9 cases, other cities.
 15 Q. And what specifically do you recall being said about 16 the Chapter 9 filings in the other cases? Let me put 17 it this way. Did Jones Day refer to experience it had 18 in doing other Chapter 9 filings?
 19 A. Yes, yes, various members of the team referred to that 20 experience, yes.
 21 Q. And is it fair to say that the Chapter 9 experience
 22 was a substantial part of the pitch that Jones Day was 23 making to this committee?
 24 A. No.
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.

Page 22

1 A. No, it was a component of the presentation.
 2 Q. That -- you said there was a written presentation or
 3 written material?
 4 A. There was a book, yes, there were written materials.
 5 Q. And do you know whether that's been produced?
 6 A. I do not.
 7 MR. ULLMAN: I would like to call for the
 8 production of that, please.
 9 MR. SHUMAKER: We'll look into it. I would
 10 ask here that if you're going to ask for documents
 11 throughout the deposition, that you follow-up with a
 12 letter and email.
 13 MR. ULLMAN: Sure.
 14 Q. And do you recall whether there was any discussion at 15 this presentation as to the major problems that were 16 facing Detroit at the time?
 17 A. I think there were discussions about Detroit's issues,
 18 various issues at the time, yes.
 19 Q. And do you recall any discussion about the issues that 20 Detroit was facing regarding its pension liabilities?
 21 A. I don't recall specific discussions and -- no, I don't 22 recall specific discussions but there may have been.
 23 Q. Okay. And the same question for retirement benefits
 24 in general apart from pension benefits. Do you recall
 25 any discussion of that?

Page 23

1 A. I don't recall specific discussions, but there may
 2 have been. The discussions were more at a high level
 3 as opposed to detailed level.
 4 Q. And do you recall at a general level there being
 5 discussion that Detroit was facing major issues
 6 regarding its pension and other retirement benefit
 7 liabilities?
 8 A. I know, to be candid with you, the pitch book
 9 contained the information regarding employee benefits
 10 and labor attorneys. One of the attorneys on the team
 11 was a labor attorney, but I don't recall there being 12 specific discussions in detail about those issues.
 13 Q. Do you recall in general at the committee discussion
 14 being raised that Detroit was in fact facing
 15 substantial issues concerning its pension and other
 16 retirement benefits and needed to find a way to deal
 17 with those?
 18 A. Here again I don't recall specific discussions. There
 19 may have been. I just don't recall.
 20 Q. Okay. Let me show you some documents, Mr. Orr.
 21 A. Thank you.
 22 Q. You can't thank me until you've seen the documents.
 23 A. It may refresh my recollection. I just don't recall.
 24 MR. ULLMAN: Let's mark the first one as 25 Orr 1.

Page 24

1 (Marked Exhibit No. 1.)
 2 Q. Are there other copies of that? Thanks.
 3 A. Okay.
 4 Q. Okay, what we're marked as Orr Number 1 is an email,
 5 bears the Bates stamp ending in 113.
 6 A. Yes.
 7 Q. Now, these either -- there are a couple of emails on
 8 this chain from January of 30 -- January 30, 2013.
 9 A. Yes.
 10 Q. And the bottom one states that it's from Richard Baird
 11 to Corinne Ball. Who is Richard Baird?
 12 A. Richard Baird is the governor's transition manager on 13 contract to the State of Michigan.
 14 Q. And he says -- the message is to Corinne, sorry I
 15 missed your call. Basically says, I'm inquiring about 16 the potentiality of actually hiring a member of your
 17 team for the Detroit EM spot.
 18 A. Yes.
 19 Q. And is this what you were referring to before in your
 20 testimony?
 21 A. Yes. Says, was on the phone with Steve Brogan. He 22 can fill you in, but basically thinking about
 23 potential -- yes, that's what I was talking about.
 24 Q. And it's your testimony that prior to this you had not
 25 had discussions with anyone from the State of Michigan

1 or the city of Michigan (sic) about the possibility of
2 becoming Emergency Manager?
3 A. Absolutely not.
4 Q. And at the top it says, bet he asked if Kevyn could be
5 EM, and that in fact is why he was calling?
6 A. Yes, I see that.
7 Q. And then that's what happened? He did call and -- he
8 had called Corinne Ball to ask about you being the EM?
9 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
10 A. This document -- I don't know. My testimony is that I
11 believe Rich had called my managing partner, who was 12 Steve Brogan. I don't know if he called Corinne Ball.
13 This seems to be an email exchange between him and 14 Corinne Ball and then Heather Lennox and Amy Ferber.
15 Q. Okay, fair enough. But you recall around that day
16 someone telling you that Baird had called talking
17 about the EM position and then shortly thereafter you
18 in fact got a call; is that right?
19 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
20 A. Yeah. I don't know if it was -- it was soon
21 thereafter. I don't know if it was that specific day,
22 but it was soon thereafter.
23 Q. And you then got -- did you get a call from Mr. Baird
24 directly?
25 A. No.

Page 26

1 Q. Who did you get a call from?
2 A. Steve Brogan.
3 Q. Okay, that's your managing partner?
4 A. Yes.
5 Q. And he told you that Baird wanted you to be the EM?
6 A. He told me that they had inquired whether I was
7 interested in applying to become the EM.
8 Q. Okay, and your response was?
9 A. No.
10 Q. Okay. And I take it there were further conversations?
11 A. Yes. That conversation was no. I did not want to 12 leave the firm and that we would tell them that.
13 Q. And did you have a conversation with Richard Baird
14 concerning the possibility of your becoming the EM on 15 or about this time frame at the end of January of 16 2013?
17 A. Yeah, I don't know if it was end of January, here
18 again being in February, but I recall having a
19 conversation with Rich Baird soon thereafter.
20 Q. Okay, let's look at the next document, which we'll
21 mark as Orr 2.
22 (Marked Exhibit No. 2.)
23 Q. What we've marked as Orr 2 is a document ending in 24 Bates number 303.
25 A. Yes.

Page 27

1 Q. You've seen this email chain before, Mr. Orr?
2 A. Yes.
3 Q. And in fact you are on both emails; are you?
4 A. I think I wrote the top one.
5 Q. Okay. Now, what is the role of Jones Day at this
6 time? Does it have an official role with Detroit or 7 with the State of Michigan?
8 A. No, at this time, as far as I recall, Jones Day was a
9 candidate to be the attorneys for the City.
10 Q. Now, starting with the bottom email, this is from 11 Corinne Ball to you.
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. And she goes on to talk about food for thought for 14 your conversation with Baird. Obviously referring to 15 a conversation expected between you and Baird. She 16 makes reference to the Bloomberg Foundation and 17 talking about whether someone should ask Baird about 18 financial support for the project and in particular 19 the EM. Can you tell me what that's referring to?
20 A. This is Corinne's email to me and I think she was 21 talking in some form about the Bloomberg Foundation
22 supporting Detroit efforts with the EM. And I think
23 -- I don't know if in this email or subsequently said
24 something along the lines of I don't want anything to 25 be extraordinary, but I think at that point -- as I

Page 28

1 said, on the 31st, so it wasn't on the 30th, it was
2 the 31st -- that I wasn't interested in the job.
3 Q. Do you know what financial support she's referring to?
4 Did you have a conversation with her about this?
5 A. He we did not have a -- well, we may have had a
6 subsequent conversation about financial support. We
7 -- I don't want to speculate but there may have been a
8 conversation about supplementing the EM salary.
9 Q. An additional salary that would be funded privately?
10 Is that what you're saying?
11 A. Yeah, I think the statute allows the EM to have 12 additional compensation and that may have been what 13 this was referring to or it may have been about the 14 Bloomberg Foundation helping Detroit directly. I'm 15 not sure, but there may have been that discussion.
16 That seems to remind me of something along those 17 lines.
18 Q. The next statement from -- or the last sentence in 19 Ms. Ball's email says, I can ask Harry for contact
20 information. This kind of support in ways
21 nationalizes the issue in the project.
22 Do you have an understanding of what she's
23 referring to?
24 A. I do not.
25 Q. You don't know what she meant when she said -- she

Page 29

1 used the word nationalized?

2 A. No, I don't know if she meant raises the profile of

3 the issues to help Detroit, I don't know.

4 Q. And you never asked her what she meant?

5 A. I don't recall asking her what she meant.

6 Q. In the top email in this exhibit you say that you had

7 a good conversation with Rich Baird this morning.

8 This is the 31st of January?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. So obviously either you called him or you called him

11 as of the 31st of January?

12 A. Yes, yes.

13 Q. It says in this email that you told him you were

14 interested in the job but there were some things that 15 made it impractical. Is that a fair summary of 16 your --

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. -- your conversation with Baird?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And then he suggested you give it additional

21 consideration and you said you could say that there's 22 a glimmer of hope you would take it?

23 A. Right.

24 Q. And then you agreed to get back in touch next week?

25 A. Right.

1 Q. He said -- you go on to say that he tells you, he

2 Baird, that he likes your presentation, he's pulling

3 for us to represent the City.

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Is that what he told you?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Do you remember anything else about that conversation

8 with Mr. Baird?

9 A. No, I remember we had a conversation. I said I was

10 flattered, but I really wasn't interested in the job,

11 I was very comfortable at Jones Day, didn't want to 12 leave my family, I had young children, but I would

13 give it some consideration and I think we ended it by

14 saying, you know, I probably don't want to take the

15 job but I am committed to working and I did say

16 working in lockstep with the City and would be willing

17 to take any role in this respect.

18 Q. And was there any discussion during this conversation

19 as to what you would do if you ultimately did take the 20 job of EM?

21 A. No. As I recall in this conversation based upon this,

22 the discussion was very high level and I think

23 Mr. Baird asked me to at least give it some reflection

24 and consideration and not turn it down outright.

25 Q. And you accommodated that request; right?

Page 31

1 A. I started considering it, yes.

2 Q. Now, when he says we're pulling for us to represent

3 the City, that's as a restructuring counsel as you

4 talked about before?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And there was a program, wasn't there, that had been

7 designed to solicit counsel to act as restructuring

8 counsel for Detroit?

9 A. I don't know if it was a program. I know that there

10 was a process that we and 20 other firms participated

11 in. I believe it was one day, maybe two, where we

12 flew out to the airport and presented our credentials

13 over 45 minutes.

14 Q. And was there a particular firm that had designed or 15 that oversaw that process?

16 A. I don't know.

17 Q. Were you aware that Buckfire -- are you familiar with 18 Buckfire?

19 A. I know Miller Buckfire. They were at the 20 presentation. I don't know if they designed it.

21 Q. Were you aware they were playing a role in the --

22 A. Selection process?

23 Q. -- in the selection process?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. And are you aware that they were in fact effectively

Page 32

1 assigning points to the various firms that

2 participated and doing some sort of tally to help a

3 decision be made?

4 A. Yes.

5 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation.

6 Q. And is it correct that Miller Buckfire was a banker

7 for Chrysler in the Chrysler bankruptcy?

8 A. No.

9 Q. They weren't?

10 A. No. I'm trying to think. Did Miller Buckfire play a

11 role in Chrysler? I -- let's put it this way, I had

12 not met anyone from Miller Buckfire in the Chrysler

13 representation.

14 Q. Okay. Let me show you the next document, which we'll 15 mark as, what are we up to, 3?

16 (Marked Exhibit No. 3.)

17 Q. What we've marked as Exhibit 3 is a chain of emails,

18 the first page ends in Bates number 300. Have you

19 seen these before, Mr. Orr?

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Let's first look at the first three emails in this

22 chain.

23 A. Uh-huh.

24 MR. SHUMAKER: The last chronologically or

25 the first ones?

Page 33

1 MR. ULLMAN: No, the 207.
 2 A. These are follow-on from the prior email?
 3 Q. Uh-huh.
 4 A. Okay.
 5 Q. If we look at the one that's at the bottom of Bates
 6 300 that carries over to the next one, this is an
 7 email from Mr. Moss, from Daniel Moss, to you?
 8 A. Yes.
 9 Q. And I take it Mr. Moss is someone you worked with at 10 Jones Day; is that right?
 11 A. Yes.
 12 Q. And were you still at Jones Day at this time?
 13 A. Yes.
 14 Q. And Mr. Moss writes that nationalizing this -- making
 15 this a national issue is not a bad idea. He goes on 16 to say it gets political cover for the State
 17 politicians. He goes on to say that if it succeeds,
 18 there will be more than enough patronage to allow
 19 either Bing or Snyder to look for higher callings
 20 whether a cabinet, senate or corporate. Further this 21 would give you cover and options on the back end to 22 make up for lost time there.
 23 Can you tell me what he's referring to?
 24 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, form, foundation.
 25 A. Yeah, I would have to say that the document speaks for

Page 34

1 itself. I think it also says that indeed this gives
 2 them either greater incentive to do this right. I
 3 think my response says no.
 4 Q. Let me ask you questions about this. Mr. Moss says,
 5 making this a national issue is not a bad idea. Do
 6 you have an understanding as to what he's referring to 7 when he says making this a national issue?
 8 A. No. What I think he's probably referring to is 9 raising the profile of Detroit and the crisis it's in 10 so it can get some help.
 11 Q. Did you have any conversations with Mr. Moss about 12 what he meant when he wrote this email?
 13 A. No, other than this email exchange I don't recall any.
 14 I think we probably did, though. We talk on a regular 15 basis.
 16 Q. Do you recall anything more specific about what he 17 meant when he wrote this is a national issue based on 18 the conversations you had with him?
 19 A. No. There were emails going back and forth and I
 20 think my email back to him approximately eight minutes
 21 later addressed the issue.
 22 Q. Well, he goes on to say that if this gives them -- it
 23 provides political cover to state politicians and it
 24 gives them even greater incentive to do this right.
 25 Do you have an understanding as to what the this is,

Page 35

1 to do what right?
 2 A. I think this is trying to fix Detroit right in a broad
 3 sense.
 4 Q. And is that based on your conversations with Mr. Moss
 5 or is that based on your reading of this email?
 6 A. That's based on probably my reading of this email.
 7 But let me think about conversations. It could have 8 meant to do this process right, whatever that is,
 9 restructuring, out of court or in court.
 10 Q. So as you sit here now, you don't have a specific 11 recollection or understanding as to exactly what
 12 Mr. Moss meant; is that right?
 13 A. I have worked closely with Dan Moss for a number of 14 years. We have conversations about a number of 15 issues, but when you say do this right, I don't want
 16 to give the wrong impression that there was some 17 conversation about what this right exactly meant. I
 18 assumed it meant to do the process right, whatever
 19 that is.
 20 Q. But you don't know what specifically Mr. Moss had in 21 mind because you never actually asked?
 22 A. No. If you're trying to ascribe a specific thing or 23 process to it, no.
 24 Q. In the last sentence Mr. Moss writes, this would give 25 you cover and options on the back end to make up for

Page 36

1 lost time there.
 2 A. Yeah.
 3 Q. Do you have an understanding as to what he was
 4 referring to when he wrote that, he Mr. Moss?
 5 A. No, but I think what my -- my impression is, I think
 6 what he was trying to say is if you can get -- make
 7 the issue a national issue and elevate it so that you
 8 get national support, that you may have greater
 9 success and be able to get back to my life.
 10 Q. You mean success as Emergency Manager?
 11 A. Success for the City of Detroit, yeah.
 12 Q. Well, he writes this would give you cover and options
 13 on the back end, you Kevyn Orr --
 14 A. Yeah, but I think if you read it in conjunction -- I'm 15 sorry, I didn't mean to cut you off.
 16 Q. So my question was is he talking about you, Kevyn Orr,
 17 in the context of being an Emergency Manager as you
 18 understood it?
 19 A. No, I don't want to parse the email and try to ascribe
 20 meaning to it that's not true. You asked for my 21 understanding and my testimony is I think this is Dan
 22 saying to me if you nationalize the issue, that it
 23 brings greater attention and perhaps the opportunity
 24 for people to do this, meaning the project, right and 25 if it succeeds, then the other political members will

Page 37

1 be given acknowledgment for the success. Further, it
 2 might give me the ability to come back to the firm and
 3 make up for the time that I'd lose if I did this job.
 4 Q. The job being the Emergency Manager job?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. Okay. Now, in the next email that's going up the 7 chain that is on the first page you say you wouldn't 8 do it.
 9 A. Yes.
 10 Q. And when you say you wouldn't do it, again, do you
 11 have -- what is the it that's being referred to? So
 12 far no one's ever really identified what nationalizing
 13 meant.
 14 A. I'm telling you what I can think, what I meant by this
 15 writing.
 16 Q. Okay.
 17 A. What I meant was I wouldn't necessarily make it a
 18 national issue and I think I say it would just bring 19 in the Demo/Republican polarization on a national 20 scale and make Detroit a fall for the agendas of both 21 sides, meaning that people would try to use it as an 22 allegory for whatever their particular perception was.
 23 I go on to say that the president would have to 24 criticize the trampling of democracy, and that's been 25 done here, not by the president I might add, and the

1 filing?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. And was this something that you discussed specifically
 4 with Mr. Moss?
 5 A. We probably did.
 6 Q. Okay. And did you discuss the possibility -- so at 7 this point it was understood that one possibility, one
 8 potential route of action, would be to file a Chapter
 9 9 for Detroit if you took the Emergency Manager job;
 10 is that right?
 11 A. Yeah, I think that since we have been reviewing 12 background information on Detroit and the possibility
 13 of a Chapter 9 filing had been mentioned in 2005,
 14 2006, 2009, 2011, 2012, up until this point, in fact I
 15 think it was, as I said, I testified earlier this
 16 morning, the possibility of Chapter 9s in other cities
 17 have been discussed, that the issue of a potential
 18 Chapter 9 filing for the City of Detroit was not a 19 particularly surprising discussion. That had been 20 discussed on many levels in the national press, in the 21 local press, it had been recommended by a prior -- in
 22 2005 I think it was recommended by a prior employee --
 23 senior employee of the City, so I think that 24 discussion was the typical type of discussion that 25 you'd have with your colleagues.

Page 38

1 Republicans would rail against any further federal
 2 bailouts and that's been said, plus if the feds did
 3 anything for Detroit, a number of other municipals
 4 would have their hands out at a time when no one's in 5 the mood to dole out federal largess. I think I go on 6 to say this is a morass of problems.
 7 So my thought was there, to be clear, that
 8 I did not think it, meaning to try to give the issues
 9 of Detroit national prominence, was particularly 10 productive.
 11 Q. Now, in the top email you write -- or I'm sorry,
 12 Mr. Moss writes back to you and in the second
 13 paragraph he goes on to say, it seems the ideal
 14 scenario would be that Snyder and Bing both agree that 15 the best option is simply to go through an orderly
 16 Chapter 9. And then he goes on to say that that 17 avoids a political fight over the scope of any
 18 appointed Emergency Manager, moves the ball forward.
 19 And then he goes on to say, appointing Emergency
 20 Manager whose ability to actually do anything is 21 questionable, would only serve to kick the can down
 22 the wrong path.
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. And can you tell me -- obviously this is -- Mr. Moss
 25 here is referring to the possibility of a Chapter 9

Page 40

1 Q. And were you in fact at this time having those types
 2 of discussions with your colleagues at Jones Day as to
 3 the possibilities of a Chapter 9 filing if you took
 4 the Emergency Manager job and how that would be
 5 implemented?
 6 A. Yes, but I don't want to give you the wrong impression
 7 because I think based upon what I've seen from some of 8 the briefing and some of the interrogatories the 9 impression is that that was predetermined and that's
 10 not true. The reality is there was much discussion
 11 about what the alternatives would be and the need to 12 bring something that would bring order and efficiency
 13 to the process given the number of interests that were 14 involved.
 15 Q. But it was certainly one of the possibilities that was 16 on the table as a course that might need to be
 17 followed; is that right?
 18 A. Oh, sure, it had been discussed for the better part of 19 the prior decade.
 20 Q. And in fact, Mr. Moss is recommending the simplest
 21 thing, the best option would be to have the -- Snyder
 22 and Bing, the mayor and the governor, both agree to go
 23 through an orderly Chapter 9?
 24 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to form, calls for
 25 speculation.

Page 41

1 Q. That's what it says here; doesn't it?

2 A. Well, I mean, the document speaks for itself.

3 Q. My question is did you agree with that?

4 A. No. In fact, I think we had discussions back and
5 forth about, one, me not wanting to take the job and
6 two, whether or not the parties could reach concession
7 short of a Chapter 9, which would provide benefit to 8 the City in an orderly way.

9 Q. And ultimately that didn't happen; did it? The City
10 did file Chapter 9; didn't they?

11 A. Well, I mean, I think that we took a lot of time, I
12 took 30 days when I came into the City, I said --

13 Q. Mr. Orr, I don't mean to interrupt you, but I don't
14 want to waste time. My question was pretty simple. I
15 was simply asking ultimately the City did file a
16 Chapter 9; didn't it?

17 A. Yes, and I was giving you an explanation for why that 18 occurred.

19 Q. I'll get to that later.

20 A. Okay.

21 Q. Now, in this email Mr. Moss goes on to say, appointing
22 of Emergency Manager whose ability to do anything
23 questionable would only serve to kick the can down the 24 wrong path. And he's referring there to the can of 25 the Chapter 9 filing; isn't he?

Page 42

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, form. Calls for
2 speculation.

3 A. No, no.

4 Q. Now, in this email Mr. Moss recommends or suggests the 5 best path would be for Snyder and Bing to voluntarily
6 go through a Chapter 9 and not go through the 7 Emergency Manager process; is that right?

8 A. No, you've asked that question before but you put a
9 little color on it this time and I don't think that's 10 accurate.

11 Q. Well --

12 A. Perhaps you can rephrase it.

13 Q. Certainly. He says, he Moss says, it seems the ideal
14 scenario would be that Snyder and Bing both agree that
15 the best option is to simply go through an orderly
16 Chapter 9. This avoids an unnecessary political fight
17 over the scope of authority of any appointed Emergency
18 Manager. I'm not going to read the rest.

19 You see his recommendation, his advice, his 20 belief that the best option is for Bing and Snyder to 21 file Chapter 9?

22 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.

23 A. I think you're coloring the email. As I said before,
24 this is pretty typical banter between co-workers and 25 colleagues about what could happen. You said it was

Page 43

1 advice and recommendation. To the best of my
2 knowledge we hadn't been retained then and we were
3 just going back and forth about potential options.

4 Q. Okay.

5 A. So I don't want to give -- my testimony to give this 6 email more import and lead to the conclusion as some
7 have already said in this litigation, that there was a
8 predetermination to file Chapter 9.

9 Q. But ultimately it was the Emergency Manager, the 10 appointed Emergency Manager, who filed the Chapter 9,
11 not Bing and Snyder; is that right?

12 A. Yes, after he had been sued multiple times and didn't
13 get a comprehensive proposal from any interested party
14 or creditor.

15 Q. Let me show you another document, which we'll mark as
16 Exhibit 4.
17 (Marked Exhibit No. 4.)

18 Q. This is a chain of emails, it starts with Bates number 19 295.

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. Have you seen this before, Mr. Orr?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. In fact, you wrote some of this; didn't you?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. If we focus on the top email --

Page 44

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. -- you're talking again -- at this point in time had
3 you decided whether to accept the Emergency Manager
4 job? This is later in the afternoon on January 31.

5 A. No, I didn't. I -- no, there was no time in the 6 initial two days that this came up that I decided to 7 accept the Emergency Manager job.

8 Q. Okay. And in this email you're giving some thoughts
9 on some of the issues that pertain to that; aren't
10 you?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. And in particular you start talking about the 13 legislation that pertains to the EM position. You
14 said you went back and reviewed various laws; do you
15 see that?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And you talked about some laws in DC control board and 18 then you go on in the last sentence -- or I'm sorry,
19 the second to the last sentence to write, and I quote,
20 "By contrast Michigan's new EM law is a clear 21 end-around the prior initiative that was rejected by 22 the voters in November."
23 You wrote that?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. And by the new EM law, you were referring to PA 436?

Page 45

1 A. Yes, I believe so.

2 Q. And by the end run you're talking about the voter --

3 the fact that PA 436 was enacted in response to the

4 fact that the voters had rejected the prior law, PA 4;

5 is that right?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. And PA 436 was able to avoid another referendum by

8 including tacking onto it a relatively minor

9 appropriation provision; is that right?

10 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for

11 speculation.

12 A. I don't know if that's the sum total of the difference

13 between 436 and the prior law, but that was one of the 14 components, yes.

15 Q. And when you wrote this question, Michigan's new EM

16 law is a clear end-around the prior initiative, it was

17 rejected by the voters in November, were you writing

18 truthfully?

19 A. I think I was writing my opinion at that time, yes.

20 Q. And then you go on and you say, the -- and that was

21 based on the analysis that you had done as of that

22 date?

23 A. Yeah, I think you would recognize that between the 24 30th when this first came up and the 31st, I think

25 this is later that afternoon, I spent some time just

Page 46

1 going through the other laws on a very cursory basis

2 to try to get a better understanding of what was being

3 asked.

4 Q. And the conclusion you reach is what you set out in

5 the email here; correct?

6 A. At that time.

7 Q. You go on to say, the new EM law gives local

8 governments four choices and you go on to list them?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. And that is the list of the four choices you have,

11 that comes from the statute PA 436; doesn't it?

12 A. I believe so. I don't have it in front of me, I have

13 it here, but I believe so without looking at it.

14 Q. And so at that point in time you obviously were

15 familiarizing yourself with 436 and had read it;

16 correct?

17 A. Yes, I think what happened during this day is that I

18 initially thought of rejecting the concept of being an

19 EM, I then went back and said let me start informing

20 myself on what's required EM in looking under the law,

21 and then I was providing musings and streams of 22 consciousness about what my initial conclusions were.

23 Q. And you mention that in your writing here that one

24 option is a Chapter 9 bankruptcy with the governor's

25 approval; correct?

Page 47

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. And you also make note that another option is

3 Emergency Manager; is that right? State appointed EM

4 is what you say?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And under PA 436 the Emergency Manager also had the 7 authority with the governor's approval to file for

8 Chapter 9; is that right?

9 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal

10 conclusion.

11 A. Yeah, the statute speaks for itself, but yes.

12 Q. And you were aware of that at the time you wrote this

13 email; correct?

14 A. I don't know if I read through the entire statute at 15 this time. As I said, I have trying to get some 16 familiarity. I think it's fair to say that I at some

17 point pretty close -- if I wasn't aware of it at that

18 time, I pretty closely became aware of it.

19 Q. Because you would certainly want to know what powers

20 the Emergency Manager would have if you decided to 21 take the job; correct?

22 A. I began to inform myself about the powers that the 23 Emergency Manager would have. But please understand

24 here again at this time I was trying to avoid taking

25 the job.

1 Q. And you go on then in the -- and you were -- I guess

2 -- were you aware that for either the case of the

3 Chapter 9 being filed with the governor's approval

4 without the Emergency Manager being involved or the

5 Chapter 9 filing with the Emergency Manager, that in

6 either case PA 436 did not require the governor to

7 impose any contingencies on the bankruptcy filing?

8 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal

9 conclusion.

10 A. I don't recall if I had done a deep dive in that

11 question at this time. Please understand, counselor,

12 at this time I was doing a preliminary review of the 13 statute based upon I believe some published reports

14 and a look at it online. I may have gotten to that

15 point, I just don't recall if at this time during that 16 day I had.

17 Q. Okay.

18 A. But I did at some point.

19 Q. But you certainly knew that ultimately?

20 A. At some point I did, sure.

21 Q. Obviously. And then you go on in the next sentence in

22 this email to say, "So although the new law provides

23 the thin veneer of a revision, it is essentially a

24 redo of the prior rejected law and appears to merely

25 adopt the conditions necessary for Chapter 9 filing."

Page 49

1 A. Yes, I said that.

2 Q. And were you writing truthfully when you said that?

3 A. Yeah, and I think the balance of the paragraph, the 4 news reports state that opponents of the prior law are 5 already lining up to challenge this law. So as I just 6 testified, this was my preliminary analysis based upon
7 a number of sources, some of them were the news
8 reports.

9 Q. And you were aware in fact that as you just indicated
10 that there were either challenges already made or that 11 were going to be made to the law?

12 A. I was not aware that there were challenges already 13 made. I was aware the news report states that 14 opponents of the prior law were already lining up to 15 challenge the law.

16 Q. And did you have any understanding at this time as to 17 what those grounds of challenge were or may be?

18 A. No. As I said, this was, you know, within the span of 19 a day when this was going back and forth about what it
20 may require, I was beginning to familiarize myself to 21 some degree with the statute.

22 Q. Your email goes on to say you're going to speak with 23 Baird in a few minutes and see what his thinking is.

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Did you speak with Mr. Baird that day?

Page 50

1 A. I don't recall, but I probably did.

2 Q. And do you recall any discussions with Mr. Baird that
3 day on the subject of the possibility of a Chapter 9
4 filing by the City?

5 A. No. I don't recall any discussions with Rich Baird
6 about the possibility of a Chapter 9 filing at this
7 point, no.

8 Q. Okay. But clearly at this point in time one of the 9 things you were focused on was the possibility of a
10 Chapter 9 filing and the legal issues that might 11 pertain to that as reflected in this email; correct?

12 A. As I have said before, the issue of a Chapter 9 filing
13 had been discussed many, many times with regard to 14 Detroit for the better part of the prior decade, so in 15 doing my sort of due diligence of what the statute
16 required, part of what I was doing was reading some of 17 those very articles that I mentioned earlier today
18 where some of the prior City employees were 19 recommending that there was a filing in 2005 in 20 connection with the cops, 2006 with the cops, 2009
21 with the SWAPs, so yes, Chapter 9 had been discussed
22 many, many times in the papers I was reading.

23 Q. And from all the discussions that you had to date with 24 various people including those at Jones Day, were you
25 aware that one of the issues with PA 436, one

Page 51

1 potential ground for challenge, was that it allowed
2 the governor to authorize a bankruptcy filing without
3 imposing a condition that would prevent pension
4 obligations from being impaired?

5 A. I don't know if I was aware of that issue at this
6 time, no.

7 Q. Well, were you aware -- you became aware of it if not
8 then at some point shortly thereafter; correct?

9 A. Yeah, let me say this. There was no broad based
10 concern at this point about with what the authority
11 was with regards to pensions so any sort of 12 insinuation that that was the focus at this point is 13 just inaccurate. That wasn't true. This as I said
14 before was a very cursory and initial sort of review
15 of what I was being asked to do so when I had a
16 discussion with Mr. Baird later I would have some 17 information and that's what I gleaned based upon a few
18 hours since apparently I got the call -- I was 19 informed that day, that morning or the day before to 20 the time I was going to have a call that afternoon.

21 Q. But I take it at some point in time you became aware
22 that Article 9, Section 24 of the Michigan
23 Constitution protects pension benefits from being
24 diminished or impaired?

25 A. I believe at some point in time I became aware that

Page 52

1 Article 9, Section 24 purports to protect pensions and
2 benefits in certain circumstances, yes.

3 MR. ULLMAN: Let's mark Exhibit 5.
4 (Marked Exhibit No. 5.)

5 Q. Exhibit 5 is just a printout of Article 9, Section 24
6 of the Michigan Constitution. Do you recognize it as 7 such?

8 A. I mean, the document speaks for itself, but that
9 appears to be what it is, yes.

10 Q. Okay, and I think your last answer you said that in 11 your view Section 24, Article 9 purports to protect 12 pensions and benefits in certain circumstances.

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And are you contending that the words of Article 9,
15 Section 24 means something other than what they say?

16 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
17 conclusion.

18 A. Yeah, I -- here again, I think the document speaks for 19 itself. I think that my response to that issue is 20 throughout the arc of my career, whether in federal
21 government or in private practice at the Chrysler
22 case, there have been many state laws, some of them
23 quite sacrosanct, that have been abrogated by federal 24 law, not just bankruptcy law. At the RTC we preempted
25 state, New York state, rent control litigation, law;

Page 53

1 we preempted California state escheat law; we
 2 preempted -- and that was the model for 50s. In
 3 Chrysler, we preempted 50 states have dealer franchise
 4 laws that were preempted. So when I said I recognize
 5 this, there are federal laws that preempt state laws.
 6 MR. ULLMAN: I'm going to move to strike as
 7 nonresponsive.
 8 Q. Mr. Orr, I appreciate your perhaps trying to be
 9 helpful, but my question was really very limited and I
 10 would appreciate it if you could just answer it.
 11 MR. ULLMAN: Could I have my question read
 12 back, please?
 13 (Record read back as requested.)
 14 A. I think that calls for a legal conclusion and I
 15 contend that they speak for themselves.
 16 Q. Now, you made mention in your -- I think when you were 17 giving your prior response, you made some allusion to 18 federal law.
 19 A. Uh-huh.
 20 Q. Is there any question in your mind that apart from 21 anything that may come into play under federal law,
 22 that the constitution of Michigan, Article 9, Section
 23 24, prohibits pension rights from being diminished or 24 impaired?
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal

Page 54

1 conclusion.
 2 A. The document, as I said, speaks for itself. Certainly
 3 I think I've said before that parties can negotiate a
 4 resolution of contracts.
 5 Q. That's -- that's not my question.
 6 MR. ULLMAN: Could you -- can you read my
 7 question back? If there's anything about it you don't
 8 understand, I would be glad to rephrase.
 9 THE WITNESS: Uh-huh.
 10 (Record read back as requested.)
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form, calls for 12 legal conclusion. You can answer.
 13 A. Yeah, I think it does call for legal conclusion, but 14 as I said, contractual obligations can be negotiated
 15 at any time.
 16 Q. Let me rephrase it.
 17 You understand what the constitution is 18 talking about is diminishing or impairing is 19 nonconsensual; correct?
 20 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
 21 conclusion.
 22 Q. Let me rephrase it so there can't be any ambiguity.
 23 Clearly parties can if they so choose change their 24 contract; rights?
 25 A. Yes.

Page 55

1 Q. Is there any question in your mind that Article 9,
 2 Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution protects
 3 pension rights from being diminished or impaired if
 4 the beneficiaries of those rights do not agree
 5 consensually to such diminishment or impairment?
 6 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
 7 conclusion.
 8 A. I think I've answered that before. I think there's 9 certain federal laws that allow for preemption --
 10 Q. I'm asking about independent of any federal law. The 11 Michigan Constitution on its own, apart from any 12 overlay that you say may apply from federal law, is 13 there any question that the Michigan Constitution,
 14 assuming that the beneficiaries of the retirement
 15 obligations don't consent, any question that in that 16 circumstance the Michigan Constitution prohibits
 17 pension rights from being diminished or impaired?
 18 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
 19 conclusion.
 20 A. Here again, Mr. Ullman, you're asking me -- I'm a fact
 21 30(b)(6) witness, you're asking me for a legal 22 conclusion about what the statute says. I'll say that 23 the statute speaks for itself and I certainly have 24 heard that people take that position.
 25 Q. Okay, and I'm asking you -- I'm not asking you to give

Page 56

1 a legal view. You took the position as an Emergency
 2 Manager, which is a nonlegal position; correct?
 3 A. Yes.
 4 Q. And I'm asking whether in your position as Emergency
 5 Manager you came to an understanding as to what the 6 Michigan Constitution provides in the course of 7 carrying out your duties as a Michigan -- or City of 8 Detroit Emergency Manager.
 9 A. Let me put it to you this way. I certainly have heard
 10 that parties maintain that you cannot diminish based 11 upon this constitutional provision. For a whole host
 12 of reasons whether that's accurate or not there are 13 legal arguments being made. I understand you want me
 14 to say that I understand what this statute says or 15 what the constitution says and I say the language
 16 speaks for itself. I understand what it says in plain
 17 language.
 18 Q. So you really just won't answer the question; will
 19 you?
 20 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.
 21 A. No, I've answered your question the best I can.
 22 Q. So is it your contention that apart from getting
 23 advice from others, from counsel, as to what it means,
 24 it the Michigan Constitution, you yourself have no
 25 independent view as to what the import of the Michigan

Page 57

1 Constitution is as regards pension rights?
 2 A. I think the Michigan Constitution speaks for itself
 3 and as I've said many times, I have a view in other
 4 matters I've been involved with where state laws have
 5 been preempted and I have a view that people can
 6 negotiate contractual obligations. If you're asking
 7 for a legal conclusion as to what the constitution, I
 8 don't think that's appropriate for me to make. I do
 9 understand what the statute says, though.
 10 Q. Fair enough.
 11 Let's go onto the next email, which is --
 12 will be marked as Exhibit 6.
 13 (Marked Exhibit No. 6.)
 14 Q. This is an email, you were involved in it.
 15 A. Uh-huh.
 16 Q. It ends -- the first page ends in Bates number 216.
 17 These are emails between Richard Baird and you; do you
 18 see that?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Now, is it correct that as of this time it had been at 21 least informally decided that you would take the EM
 22 position?
 23 A. I don't know if that's correct as of February 20th.
 24 What I do know -- let me -- well, let me read the 25 email.

Page 58

1 I don't know if I had actually informally
 2 agreed to take the job at that time. What I do know
 3 is that there were discussions about me taking the job
 4 and that I believe the mayor had said that he wanted
 5 to meet me and have a discussion about what the 6 relationship between the Emergency Manager and the 7 mayor would be.
 8 Q. Let me look -- and direct your attention to the bottom
 9 email, second sentence. This is from Baird to you.
 10 A. Yeah.
 11 Q. It's talking about a conversation Baird had with the 12 mayor. He says, he Baird, writes, told him, the 13 mayor, that there were certain things I would not
 14 think we could agree to without your review.
 15 He's writing to you?
 16 A. Yes.
 17 Q. So this is Kevyn Orr's review?
 18 A. Yes.
 19 Q. Assessment and determination (such as keeping the 20 executive team in its entirety).
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. Aren't those -- the ability to have the mayor's
 23 executive team kept on in its entirety, isn't that
 24 something that's within the authority of the Emergency
 25 Manager?

Page 59

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. And so in saying that we can't make this determination
 3 without Kevyn Orr's review and determination, does
 4 that not indicate that by this time that you had at
 5 least told them you would take the position of EM?
 6 A. No.
 7 Q. So if that's the case, why, as you understand it,
 8 would Mr. Baird be telling the mayor that there are 9 things he couldn't agree with without getting your 10 sign-off on?
 11 A. As I recall at this time, we were still discussing
 12 whether or not I would take the job. I don't recall
 13 how it came up, but there was some discussion about 14 what the EM's, quote unquote, partnership would be 15 like with the mayor. I also recall at this time I was 16 told that there were other candidates that were being
 17 reviewed, but that they wanted to, meaning Rich,
 18 wanted to continue to have discussions going forward
 19 and this is one of the issues that came up in those
 20 discussions.
 21 Q. You agree that he, Baird, is writing this email that
 22 he couldn't agree to changing the mayor executive team
 23 without your, Kevyn Orr's, review and determination;
 24 correct?
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, form.

Page 60

1 A. I think the document speaks for itself. That's what
 2 it says, but in February, as I said, it was still
 3 preliminary and in fact I think the discussion that we
 4 were having at that time was that even the mayor
 5 wanted to meet me, I have certainly interested in
 6 meeting him, prior to me deciding to take the job.
 7 Q. And this email does not say that Baird can't make --
 8 may reach an agreement without the assessment, review
 9 and determination of whoever it is that ends up taking 10 the EM position; does he?
 11 A. No, the document speaks for itself, but I have no way
 12 of knowing if similar emails were sent to other
 13 candidates. I don't know.
 14 Q. Now, at the end of this email Mr. Baird writes, we'll 15 broker a meeting via note between you and the mayor's
 16 personal assistant that is not FOIAble.
 17 Do you have an understanding of what that
 18 means to be nonFOIAble?
 19 A. I think that means that whatever discussions they have 20 aren't subject to the Freedom of Information Act
 21 either state or federal.
 22 Q. And you have an understanding as to why Mr. Baird
 23 wanted meetings between you and the mayor's personal
 24 assistant to be not subject to FOIA?
 25 A. I don't -- I don't read this email as saying a meeting

Page 61

1 meeting between me and the mayor's personal assistant.

2 Q. He says, we'll broker a meeting via note between you

3 and the mayor's personal assistant who is not FOIAble?

4 A. Yeah, as I read this email -- I never met with the

5 mayor's personal assistant so let's get that out of 6 the way. As I read this email, we were talking about

7 a meeting between me and the mayor.

8 Q. Right, and isn't he -- fair enough. And isn't Baird

9 saying that he wants to set up a meeting via going

10 through the mayor's personal assistant who is not

11 FOIAble?

12 A. I think that's a fair reading.

13 Q. And do you know why he wanted to go through the route

14 of setting up this meeting through someone who is not

15 FOIAble?

16 A. No.

17 Q. Did you subsequently have a meeting with the mayor?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And what was said at that meeting?

20 A. I think the first meeting was -- my impression of the 21 first meeting was just a meet and greet. I think the

22 mayor wanted to get an assessment of who I was as

23 potentially coming into the City as a potential

24 Emergency Manager and to sort of get to know me, start

25 to get to know me.

1 Q. How many meetings were there with the mayor before you

2 became the EM?

3 A. At least two.

4 Q. Do you recall when they took place?

5 A. I do not.

6 Q. Okay.

7 A. Somewhere around this time frame.

8 Q. And was the subject of Chapter 11 filing discussed at 9 either of those meetings?

10 A. No.

11 Q. Was the subject of a potential Chapter 11 filing

12 discussed at either of those meetings? I'm sorry.

13 Let me rephrase my question.

14 A. I can answer your question. No, neither Chapter 9 nor

15 Chapter 11.

16 Q. So you didn't discuss even the potentiality of a

17 Chapter 9 filing at either of those meetings with the 18 mayor; is that your testimony?

19 A. Yes. I don't recall -- let me. We may have -- I was

20 a bankruptcy attorney, we may have discussed it, but I

21 don't recall discussing specific issues regarding

22 Chapter 9 or to the extent people are suggesting that

23 that was predetermined. I don't recall those kinds of

24 discussions.

25 Q. Do you recall any discussion with the mayor as to the

Page 63

1 issues that the City faced as a result of the pension

2 obligations?

3 A. No. Frankly, our first meeting was more me telling

4 him how happy I was to meet him, I was a basketball

5 fan, particular fan of his for many years, getting his

6 understanding of the City --

7 Q. I'm sorry, Mr. Orr, I don't mean to interrupt you, but

8 that really wasn't responsive. My question was really

9 a yes or no question. I didn't ask tell me everything

10 you said. I asked a specific question.

11 MR. ULLMAN: Why don't you read it back?

12 THE WITNESS: What was your question again?

13 (Record read back as requested.)

14 A. No, I don't recall that discussion.

15 Q. And the same question for both meetings, so I'm not

16 sure if that question was limited to the first

17 meeting.

18 A. I don't recall having those discussions in either

19 meeting.

20 Q. Do you recall any discussion in either meeting with

21 the mayor about the issues the City was facing with

22 its obligations for healthcare benefits for retirees?

23 A. No, I don't recall either meeting having those

24 discussions.

25 Q. Show you the next document, which we'll mark as

Page 64

1 Exhibit 7.

2 (Marked Exhibit No. 7.)

3 Q. And I would like you to in particular if you would to

4 focus on the email at the top of -- let me identify

5 this first. This is an email chain beginning at Bates

6 page 459 and what I would like you to do, Mr. Orr, is

7 focus on Bates page 461, the email at the top of that

8 page.

9 A. 461?

10 Q. Please.

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. You see at the top there's an email from you to

13 Mr. Baird?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. Eight o'clock, 8:17 at night?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And you talk among other things about what would be 18 expected on day one. Do you see that at the bottom?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. So is it fair to say that by this time you had already

21 known that you were going to take the EM job?

22 A. No.

23 Q. So why were you then asking about what you can expect

24 on day one?

25 A. Because at this point I was still considering whether

Page 65

1 or not I would take the job, but I was doing my due
 2 diligence. As you can see from the email, there was
 3 this proposed partnership agreement that the mayor
 4 submitted. I say that my intent is not to undermine
 5 the mayor's role or the good faith with which I
 6 suspect all parties will move forward, but I wanted to 7 include qualifications not just from my role as EM but
 8 also for the future. So there was still no
 9 determination that I would take the job, but I was 10 moving forward on trying to get an idea of what was 11 expected of me if I were to take the job and also, for 12 instance, when I look at the documents, representative
 13 samples of the CBAs and the SWAP and related
 14 agreements.
 15 Q. You write in the last paragraph that you've been 16 pouring over the law and the board's findings to 17 assure that you have some idea about what's 18 permissible and expected on day one; correct?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. And by permissible and pouring over the law you meant
 21 you wanted to understand and be aware of what was 22 permissible under the law; is that right?
 23 A. Yes. As I said earlier today, my initial look was 24 very high level and cursory and then as this 25 discussion evolved, I started digging down more into

Page 66

1 the law.
 2 Q. And on the attachment that we have here, which begins
 3 at Bates page 463, the attachment to this email chain;
 4 do you see that?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. And this is a list of various items that are under
 7 discussion; is that right?
 8 A. Yes.
 9 Q. And you see item 7?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. It says labor, retiree and benefit initiatives will be 12 pursued jointly by the mayor and the manager to the 13 extent permitted by law?
 14 A. Yes.
 15 Q. And that was part of the current thinking at the time,
 16 was it, that that's one of the things the EM was going
 17 to do?
 18 A. Yes, I think it was envisioned in the statute and this
 19 I believe came off of the mayor's initial proposal,
 20 but yes.
 21 Q. And the retirees and benefit initiatives, those 22 included initiatives to deal with pension and 23 healthcare costs; is that right?
 24 A. To be honest with you, as you can see from my email on 25 page 461, I was still trying to get an idea of exactly

Page 67

1 what they included by asking for the CBAs and the
 2 background documentation so I don't want to give you
 3 the wrong impression that item number 7 has the level
 4 of specificity that you seem to be suggesting. I was 5 still getting an idea of what they were.
 6 Q. I'm -- I wasn't suggesting anything. I was asking
 7 whether the retiree and benefit initiatives that are 8 referred to in item 7 included initiatives related to 9 the pension and retirement healthcare costs?
 10 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, form.
 11 A. They might, but to be honest with you, at this time
 12 there wasn't that level of specificity. They 13 certainly -- the document speaks for itself. Seven 14 says labor retiree and benefits initiative, but to the 15 extent your question is trying to suggest that there
 16 were detailed levels, no, I was still doing my due
 17 diligence.
 18 Q. There was some general understanding that there were 19 issues pertaining to pension and healthcare benefits;
 20 is that right?
 21 A. I -- yes, I think there had been issues concerning
 22 pension and healthcare benefits for years as I poured
 23 over the consent decree and the various reports made
 24 by the State from 2010 forward, yes.
 25 Q. You were aware that the pension costs and healthcare

Page 68

1 costs were among the more pressing issues that the
 2 City of Detroit was facing at the time?
 3 A. I'm not sure I was aware that they were among the more
 4 pressing issues at that time. I certainly knew that 5 they were significant. Frankly, at that time I was 6 looking at debt.
 7 Q. And at this point in time did you do any analysis as
 8 to what was permissible under law regarding retiree
 9 benefits?
 10 A. No, I think my prior email at Bates stamp 461 says I
 11 needed to get more documentation to get an
 12 understanding.
 13 Q. And your email here at the top of page 461 says, I've 14 been pouring over the law --
 15 A. Yes.
 16 Q. -- to find out about what is permissible. And my 17 question was did that involve any consideration of 18 what was permissible under the law as regards pension
 19 and healthcare benefits?
 20 A. It might have, but the permissible that I was 21 referring to was permissible writ large as far as what 22 were the Emergency Manager's duties, which necessarily 23 could have included, but I don't want to give you the 24 wrong impression that that was the fundamental focus
 25 or the primary focus of what I was saying here. It

Page 69

1 wasn't. It was the Emergency Manager's duties writ
2 large.
3 Q. And when you say you were pouring over the law, you
4 yourself were doing legal analysis, reading various
5 laws; is that right?
6 A. Yes, I was trying to get background information, yes.
7 Q. And as part of that background information did you
8 read Article 9, Section 24 of the Michigan
9 Constitution?
10 A. I may have.
11 Q. Is there any question in your mind that you didn't?
12 A. I -- if you have a document to refresh my 13 recollection, I'm happy to look at it. Sitting here
14 on this day on February 20th, I don't recall whether 15 or not I read that article of the constitution.
16 Q. There's no question that at some point after February
17 20th you read Article 9, Section 24 of the Michigan
18 Constitution; correct?
19 A. My testimony is it may have been before or after the 20 20th. I don't recall whether I did that sitting here
21 today.
22 Q. Okay, but it was either one or the other, but you
23 certainly have read it?
24 A. Yes, I've read it. I read it today.
25 Q. And you read it before you became Emergency Manager;

Page 70

1 didn't you?
2 A. Yes.
3 Q. One other question on this document actually. As you
4 look at page 460, at the bottom there's a February 21
5 email.
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. And it refers to point 8 of the attachment. This
8 again has to do with the mayor's existing executive
9 team; right?
10 A. Yes.
11 Q. And in this time -- this is from Mr. Baird again;
12 right?
13 A. Yes.
14 Q. And he's really explicit. He says, other than a few
15 grammatical nits, and some more language around point
16 8, so we can manage expectations if Kevyn needs to 17 make some personnel changes. So he's clearly
18 referring here to you making personnel changes that 19 could affect the mayor's existing executive team;
20 isn't he?
21 A. Yes, this wasn't written to me, but I'll read it. I
22 mean to myself. Yes, document speaks for itself, but 23 that seems to say that.
24 Q. Isn't it clear at this point that it was envisioned
25 and understood that Kevyn Orr, you Mr. Orr, were in

Page 71

1 fact going to be the Emergency Manager for the City of
2 Detroit?
3 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for
4 speculation.
5 A. No.
6 Q. And you agree the document speaks for itself; don't
7 you?
8 A. I just said that.
9 MR. ULLMAN: Maybe this would be a good
10 time for a break.
11 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
12 11:28 a.m.
13 (A brief recess was taken.)
14 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record
15 at 11:42 a.m.
16 BY MR. ULLMAN:
17 Q. Mr. Orr, is it correct that prior to the official
18 announcement that you said was in March -- on March
19 13th or 14th you had had conversations with the State
20 where you said that you would take the OM job -- I'm 21 sorry, the EM job?
22 A. I think at that time in all fairness it was EFM.
23 Q. Correct.
24 A. Prior to the official announcement? I think at some 25 point I became the candidate select, but I don't think

Page 72

1 that I actually accepted the job -- that I was going
2 to take the job until the day I resigned, which was
3 March 15th. I mean, I may have said yes, I'm all in 4 or something like that, subject to background
5 investigation and stuff like that.
6 Q. And that would have been sometime prior to March 13th?
7 A. I think I became the finalist sometime prior to March
8 13th, yes.
9 Q. And that's when it became final subject to passing the 10 background, yes?
11 A. Right, and resigning from the firm and some other
12 things.
13 Q. Now, at that point and time and up to the time that it
14 became official that you were going to be the EM, did
15 you have any conversations with anyone at the state or 16 city level about the possibility of the Chapter 9
17 filing?
18 A. Probably, yes.
19 Q. And can you tell me with whom those conversations took 20 place and when?
21 A. No, I don't think I had them -- those types of 22 conversations with Rich Baird, those were more about 23 the job requirements and background. If you have 24 something to refresh my recollection.
25 Q. I'm just asking a question.

Page 73

1 A. Yeah, I don't recall -- I may have had about filing a
 2 Chapter 9 or about the possibility of a Chapter 9?
 3 Q. Either, both.
 4 A. Okay. I don't recall.
 5 Q. Okay. Now, at some point you -- when you became the 6 Emergency Manager or the Emergency Financial Manager,
 7 you became an officer of the state and subject to the
 8 state laws; is that right?
 9 A. No. I am a contractor to the state.
 10 Q. But you do -- you are subject to the state laws; are 11 you not?
 12 A. Yes, I think --
 13 Q. And in fact, you're obligated to uphold the state
 14 laws; are you not?
 15 A. I don't know if my contract says that I'm obligated --
 16 I think my contract says I'm obligated to do my duties
 17 to the best of my abilities and I think it requires me
 18 not to have any obligations due to the state, but I
 19 don't know if it requires me to uphold state laws.
 20 Q. Is it your view that as Emergency Manager you are not 21 required to comply with state laws and obey state
 22 laws?
 23 A. I think it's my view as the Emergency Manager that I'm 24 required to discharge my duties as the best of my 25 ability to rectify the financial emergency of the

Page 74

1 City.
 2 Q. Okay, thank you.
 3 MR. ULLMAN: Can you have my question read
 4 back, please? And I would like an answer.
 5 (Record read back as requested.)
 6 A. The reason I said what I said is because I think the 7 statute allows me to abrogate certain state laws and
 8 so when you say you comply with state laws, 436
 9 clearly allows me not to comply with certain laws,
 10 so --
 11 Q. And -- okay, so it's your view that under PA 436 you
 12 have the ability not to comply with certain state
 13 laws?
 14 A. Yes.
 15 Q. And what section of 436 gives you that ability?
 16 A. There's section 12 gives me the authority to abrogate
 17 contracts, to readdress financial agreements, there
 18 are a number of powers in the statute, take over
 19 underfunded pensions, if that's what you're looking
 20 for. There are a number of provisions in the statute
 21 that mean I don't have to comply with state law.
 22 Q. Okay. And PA 436 is itself part of state law; right?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. So if you did something that's specifically authorized
 25 under PA 436, would it be in violation of state law?

Page 75

1 A. No.
 2 MR. ULLMAN: Objection, calls for legal
 3 conclusion.
 4 Q. So I'm asking you is there anything in PA 436 that
 5 specifically says that you're entitled to not comply
 6 with state law?
 7 A. I -- we're being somewhat circular here.
 8 Q. It's like cat and mouse. Is there a general provision
 9 in PA 436 that says the Emergency Manager need not 10 comply with the laws of Michigan State?
 11 A. My testimony is --
 12 Q. Can you just answer my question? You could say yes,
 13 no or I don't know.
 14 A. I'm trying to answer your question, if you let me.
 15 Q. No, I would like a direct answer to my question, not a
 16 speech.
 17 A. I'm trying to give you a direct answer.
 18 Q. Okay, let's hear it.
 19 A. I was going to give it to you. The statute allows the 20 Emergency Manager to take certain actions which by 21 definition would impact certain state laws. Your 22 question was whether there's a general prohibition
 23 that exempts. That may be a legal conclusion, because 24 there are many powers under 436 and someone may 25 conclude, the Court for instance, that generally the

Page 76

1 intent is to allow the Emergency Manager to do certain
 2 things in a financial emergency. I'm trying to
 3 respond to your question as the Emergency Manager.
 4 There are certain laws that clearly under 436 I have
 5 the authority to abrogate.
 6 Q. Is the constitution of the State of Michigan one of
 7 those?
 8 A. I think that's a legal conclusion.
 9 Q. No, I'm asking your understanding as the Emergency
 10 Manager.
 11 A. My understanding is that's a legal conclusion.
 12 Q. You -- apart from saying it's a legal conclusion, do
 13 you have a view on that one way or the other? I'm not 14 asking for your legal opinion, I'm asking for your
 15 view in your capacity as Emergency Manager whether PA
 16 46 allows you to disregard the strictures of the 17 Michigan Constitution?
 18 A. I think that's a legal conclusion. I'll explain it,
 19 if you want me to.
 20 Q. I'm just asking whether you have a view.
 21 A. Yes, I think it's a legal conclusion.
 22 Q. And what is the legal conclusion that you believe
 23 exists?
 24 A. Without going into discussions with attorneys and 25 others, the legislature of the State of Michigan is

Page 77

1 presumed to have an active 436 with a full
 2 understanding of other state laws including the 3 constitution prohibition you're focusing on.
 4 Q. I didn't focus on the constitution prohibition.
 5 A. Well, you focused on it today.
 6 Q. In my question I asked a general question. I did not
 7 focus on a specific provision.
 8 A. Okay, then we'll do it generally. My understanding is 9 that the Michigan legislature is presumed to have 10 understood the requirement of other state laws and in 11 choosing to enact 436 gave the Emergency Manager
 12 certain powers which may conflict with those state
 13 laws.
 14 Q. I'm asking about the constitution now.
 15 A. Including the constitution. I said it was.
 16 Q. Does the legislature of the State of Michigan have the 17 power through an enacted law to allow people acting
 18 for the state or for the local governments of the 19 state to disregard the Michigan Constitution?
 20 MR. ULLMAN: Object to form, calls for
 21 legal conclusion.
 22 A. Here -- that's why I started this discussion by saying
 23 to you that calls for a legal conclusion. In fact,
 24 some of those issues are being briefed now.
 25 Q. And it's your position that the Michigan legislature

Page 78

1 does have that authority?
 2 A. It's my position that that calls for a legal
 3 conclusion.
 4 Q. Okay, so you won't answer my question?
 5 A. No, I think it calls for a legal conclusion.
 6 Q. That's an objection your counsel can make. I'm asking
 7 you what your view is. I'm entitled to your view.
 8 Whether it's a legal conclusion goes to the weight of
 9 it.
 10 A. I just gave you my view.
 11 Q. Your only view is that it's a legal conclusion?
 12 A. No, my view is that the Michigan legislature is 13 presumed to have understood what it was doing when it
 14 enacted it --
 15 Q. That's not my --
 16 A. You're not allowing me to answer.
 17 MR. ULLMAN: Why don't you read the
 18 question again?
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: Why don't you read the 20 question back?
 21 (Record read back as requested.)
 22 Q. That is, the authority to allow people acting for the 23 state or the local governmental units to disregard the 24 constitution of the State of Michigan?
 25 MR. ULLMAN: Objection, calls for a legal

Page 79

1 conclusion.
 2 A. I would suggest that since these issues are being
 3 briefed, my opinion is that I am acting within my
 4 authority as Emergency Manager that allows me to 5 abrogate certain provisions, which may or may not
 6 include the constitution.
 7 Q. And I'm simply asking for your understanding as to the 8 question I asked which is whether it is your 9 understanding, your understanding and belief, that the 10 legislature of Michigan has the power to allow those 11 acting for the state or the local governments to 12 disregard the Michigan Constitution. Your 13 understanding, Mr. Orr.
 14 A. I think the legislature might, but here again, that's
 15 a legal conclusion.
 16 Q. Now, we have been talking more specifically about
 17 Section 24 of Article 9 of the Michigan Constitution;
 18 is that right?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Is there anything in PA 436 that makes specific 21 reference to the Emergency Manager being able to 22 disregard the strictures of Article 9, Section 24?
 23 A. I'm going to say again, within the powers afforded the 24 Emergency Manager one of those powers is to abrogate
 25 contracts. The Article 9, Section 24 you're speaking

1 to says it's contractual obligation. That's what it
 2 said. The reason I'm saying it calls for legal
 3 conclusion is because 436 says the Emergency Manager
 4 can break contracts and you're talking in Article 9,
 5 Section 24 about a contractual obligation. Judges
 6 will ultimately have to decide this issue, I suppose,
 7 but the way the statute is written it could be
 8 interpreted that way.
 9 Q. Are you aware that there are provisions in PA 436 that 10 specifically require the Emergency Manager not to 11 violate Article 9, Section 24, do anything that would 12 diminish pension rights that are protected by that 13 article?
 14 A. If you could point me to a specific provision.
 15 Q. Okay. So you're not aware is your answer?
 16 A. No, I'm -- that's why I keep telling you. This area
 17 that you're in calls for legal conclusions that are 18 currently being briefed and quite frankly I'm 19 reluctant to give you a legal conclusion as far as my 20 understanding. My understanding is 436 gives the 21 Emergency Manager certain powers. My understanding is 22 that the statute that you're talking about, Article 9,
 23 Section 24, speaks for itself. But amongst those 24 powers in 436 is the ability to breach contracts.
 25 Q. Let me ask you this and then we'll move on. Are you

Page 81

1 aware of any words in PA 436 that specifically
 2 authorize the Emergency Manager to disregard the
 3 strictures of Article 9, Section 24? I'm asking about
 4 words, in haec verba, I'm not asking interpolations or
 5 extrapolations. I'm asking whether to your knowledge
 6 if there is anything in PA 436 that explicitly says
 7 that.
 8 A. I'm going to stay away from explicitly, but I'll try
 9 to answer your question. If your question is is there
 10 anything in 436 that says the Emergency Manager is 11 exempt from Article 9, Section 24, I've not read that 12 in the statute. But when you say explicitly, as I've 13 said several times now, those interpretations require 14 legal conclusions that are in fact being discussed and 15 briefed as we want, so I'm being very careful not to 16 give an interpretation as the Emergency Manager that's 17 contrary to what the statute provides. Ultimately I
 18 suspect a jurist will have to resolve that issue.
 19 Q. You took an oath of office when you became the 20 Emergency Manager; did you not?
 21 A. Yes, yes, I did.
 22 Q. And I think these are the words you swore. You said,
 23 I do solemnly swear that I will support the 24 constitution of the United States and the constitution
 25 of this state and that I will faithfully discharge the

Page 82

1 duties of the office of Emergency Financial Manager,
 2 City of Detroit, according to the best of my ability.
 3 Do you remember giving that oath?
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. And were you speaking truthfully when you gave that
 6 oath?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. And did the oath you give apply equally to how you've
 9 conducted yourself as Emergency Manager when PA 436
 10 became effective?
 11 A. I believe so.
 12 Q. Now, after you became the Emergency Manager, you
 13 certainly specifically considered the question of a
 14 Chapter 9 filing; right?
 15 A. Yes.
 16 Q. Okay. And did you consider specifically the issue of 17 whether the City had in the course of a Chapter 9
 18 filing the right to seek relief that would adversely
 19 affect pensions that were vested?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. And isn't it correct that the retirement obligations
 22 were among the largest obligations that are facing the
 23 City of Detroit?
 24 MR. ULLMAN: Objection, form.
 25 A. Retired -- retired obligations meaning both OPEB and

Page 83

1 what we call unfunded pension obligations.
 2 Q. Both, I'm asking collectively.
 3 A. Yes, they're the largest cohort of unsecured claims.
 4 Q. And at the time that you became the EM, how large did
 5 you understand the un -- I'm sorry?
 6 A. No, I'm just saying at the time it came to me, how 7 large I understand the unfunded amount to be?
 8 Q. The unfunded retirement obligations to both the 9 pension and what you call OPEB.
 10 A. It was unclear, because at the time I became Emergency
 11 Financial Manager, there were reports issued by the 12 State that put the total debt of the City at 13 12 billion I believe it is, then there were subsequent 14 reports that followed on that and put it at 15 14 billion. So at various times the figure grew.
 16 Q. And the two aspect components I've asked about, the 17 pension and the OPEB, those were very large; were they 18 not?
 19 A. I don't think they're large. There were still several 20 billions of dollars.
 21 Q. They were in the billions of dollars?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. And those were among -- there were obviously a number
 24 of issues but those were among the financial issues
 25 that were impediments to Detroit's fiscal health; is

1 that right?
 2 A. I believe so.
 3 Q. And did the governor share that view with you?
 4 A. No.
 5 Q. He thought that the pension and OPEB obligations were
 6 not impediments to Detroit's fiscal health?
 7 A. No, the governor -- the only discussion I had with the
 8 governor was at a very high level about the dire
 9 straits of the City and the need for some -- it was 10 actually the dire straits of the City and the need for 11 some reform. There was no specific discussion about 12 pension or OPEB.
 13 Q. Now, at some point after you became the Emergency
 14 Manager, did you have discussions with the governor
 15 about a Chapter 9 filing to among other things get out
 16 of the pension obligations that the City owed?
 17 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to form.
 18 A. Yes, I believe so.
 19 Q. And when did those take place?
 20 A. Since becoming Emergency Manager on the 25th I've had 21 regular conversations with the governor. Typically 22 weekly. I don't recall the specific conversation when 23 they came up. I will say that it wasn't within our 24 initial conversations.
 25 Q. Okay. And we're talking -- these conversations, are

Page 85

1 we talking about from the time you became the
 2 Emergency Financial Manager or the EM? In other
 3 words, would it be -- are we talking about the early
 4 or the late March time frame?
 5 A. Yeah, I don't think after the rollout and me becoming 6 effective on the 25th, I think the new statute came 7 into play within days of that. I don't think the 8 governor and I had any discussions from the -- I'm not
 9 trying to draw a gap between EFM and EM.
 10 Q. So this would have been within a few weeks?
 11 A. Yes.
 12 Q. After you became the EM would it be fair to say by 13 then you certainly had the discussions with the
 14 governor?
 15 A. Yeah, but here again they weren't specific discussions
 16 about pension and OPEB, they were more discussions
 17 about getting to what the numbers were and the initial
 18 processes of getting into the City.
 19 Q. Okay. And in the course there were discussions that 20 you indicated about the possibility of filing a
 21 Chapter 9?
 22 A. Yes, those discussions came on later.
 23 Q. And one of the things the Chapter 9 filing would 24 potentially allow you to do is get out of the pension
 25 obligations; is that right?

Page 86

1 A. Yes.
 2 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to form.
 3 Q. Now, I take it after you became Emergency Manager you
 4 explored what the issues and the options were with,
 5 among other things, the pension liabilities that the 6 City faced?
 7 A. Not -- no, the initial thing we started to do was to
 8 try to drill down on the extent of the City's 9 financial obligations.
 10 Q. That really wasn't my question. I didn't ask what the 11 first thing you did was.
 12 MR. ULLMAN: So why don't you just read
 13 back my question?
 14 (Record read back as requested.)
 15 A. At some point.
 16 Q. And do you recall when -- scratch that.
 17 And did you look at various options that
 18 were available to you as EM to reduce the pension
 19 liabilities that existed for the City?
 20 A. Among other things.
 21 Q. And did you look at what avenues existed under state
 22 law without recourse to any federal law? In other
 23 words, independent of what any federal law might 24 apply, what remedies or relief if any was available
 25 under state law only?

Page 87

1 A. I'm taking my time because I'm trying to remember.
 2 There were a number of different analyses and briefing
 3 papers and -- that would come across the desk and I'm
 4 not sure any of them focused solely on state law.
 5 Q. Okay. And what else -- what other law did they focus
 6 on if not solely state law?
 7 A. They may have focused on state law and federal law.
 8 Q. So you don't recall if there was any analysis that
 9 just looked at state law?
 10 A. No, sitting here today, I don't recall. There may 11 have been, but I don't recall.
 12 Q. And were you aware prior to the bankruptcy filing that 13 under state law alone the pension obligations could
 14 not be diminished or impaired?
 15 A. This is the discussion we had about five to ten
 16 minutes ago about whether or not state law permitted
 17 it and I will go back to my answer with that. It
 18 seems to suggest a legal conclusion based upon what 19 the statute 436 provides and the intent of the 20 legislature.
 21 Q. Let me ask you a different question.
 22 Is there anything in PA 436 that allows in 23 your view the Emergency Manager to impact or adversely
 24 affect pension rights in the absence of a Chapter 9
 25 bankruptcy filing?

Page 88

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
 2 conclusion.
 3 A. It's the same discussion we had five to ten minutes
 4 ago that I want to be very careful with and I don't
 5 want to draw legal conclusion that says there's
 6 nothing there. It's a discussion we had about 436,
 7 the intent of the legislature and Article 9.
 8 Q. I'm asking independent of Article 9, Mr. Orr. Please
 9 focus on the question.
 10 A. I don't -- I don't understand your question because 11 parties can negotiate anything.
 12 Q. I'm asking -- okay, putting aside negotiation --
 13 A. Uh-huh.
 14 Q. -- I'm asking apart from the possibility of a Chapter
 15 9 filing, and by the way when we talk about impair or 16 diminish, understand that if the state is impairing or 17 diminishing, it's nonconsensual. Right? That's the 18 whole point?
 19 A. No, that's -- that's a conclusion that you're making.
 20 Parties can agree to I am -- an impaired class can
 21 agree to diminish their interests. If you're reading
 22 it that way that says it's nonconsensual, that's a
 23 conclusion you're drawing but the language itself --
 24 Q. We don't need to get into this.
 25 A. Okay.

Page 89

1 Q. Let's put aside consensual reduction in benefits.
 2 A. Okay.
 3 Q. Is there anything in PA 436 as you understand it that
 4 allows the Emergency Manager without going through a
 5 Chapter 9 filing -- so I'm taking Chapter 9 off the
 6 table; okay? Anything in PA 436 without consideration
 7 of Chapter 9 that allows the Emergency Manager to 8 reduce or adversely affect pension rights?
 9 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
 10 conclusion.
 11 A. It's the discussion we had a few minutes ago that it
 12 might and subject to briefing and a conclusion, the 13 Court could conclude that 436 after it was enacted --
 14 duly enacted by the legislature intended to have that 15 very result.
 16 Q. Can you point to any provision in PA 436, and I can 17 show you the statute if you would like to take a look,
 18 that specifically says that the Emergency Manager can 19 abrogate or impair pension rights, again without 20 reference to either consensual diminishment or the 21 filing of a Chapter 9 bankruptcy?
 22 MR. SHUMAKER: When you say explicitly, do
 23 you mean expressly?
 24 MR. ULLMAN: Yes, those words.
 25 A. We discussed that ten minutes ago.

Page 90

1 Q. And I never got a straight answer. So are you aware
 2 of any --
 3 A. I'll give you the same answers that I gave then.
 4 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to form. Calls for
 5 legal conclusion.
 6 Q. Why don't we get out the statute? We can take a quick
 7 look.
 8 MR. SHUMAKER: Sure.
 9 Q. I've highlighted some parts but that won't affect 10 anything. You can take a quick look and tell me if 11 there's anything that you can point to that allows the 12 Emergency Manager, again this is without the regard to 13 the possibility of a Chapter 9 filing and putting 14 aside consensual diminishment of pension rights, that 15 allows the Emergency Manager to abrogate or diminish
 16 vested pension rights.
 17 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
 18 conclusion.
 19 A. We had this discussion a few minutes ago and I'll try
 20 to be responsive. I said that within certain 21 provisions of the statute you had --
 22 Q. Just for the record I see that Mr. Orr has his own
 23 copy --
 24 A. I do.
 25 Q. -- of PA 436 with his own annotations.

Page 91

1 A. I do.
 2 Q. Okay, could we have that introduced as an exhibit?
 3 A. No.
 4 Q. Well, you're looking at it.
 5 A. Well, no, it's confidential. I'll tell you what --
 6 MR. ULLMAN: It's not confidential now that
 7 he's looked at it as a deposition exhibit.
 8 THE WITNESS: No.
 9 MR. ULLMAN: Mr. Shumaker, I would request
 10 that you please have that marked as a deposition
 11 exhibit.
 12 THE WITNESS: That has interlineations and 13 comments. It wasn't intended to --
 14 MR. ULLMAN: I would like that marked as an
 15 exhibit.
 16 THE WITNESS: I would say we go to the 17 judge with that. This is my private copy and I was 18 trying to assist you and --
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: And it will reflect
 20 communications with -- attorney-client communications.
 21 So if you want to ask questions based upon that
 22 exhibit, please do.
 23 MR. ULLMAN: Okay, we're reserving our
 24 rights to have that document produced to us and so we
 25 don't hold up the deposition, I'll show you another

Page 92

1 copy.
 2 THE WITNESS: Okay. I was just trying to
 3 help you. Okay. And your question is?
 4 Q. Is there anything in PA 436, and putting aside
 5 consensual diminishment of pension rights or the 6 possibility of a Chapter 9 filing, that allows the 7 Emergency Manager to abrogate or diminish pension
 8 rights that are protected by Article 9, Section 24 of 9 the Michigan Constitution?
 10 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
 11 conclusion.
 12 A. I would point out to you and I see you have 13 highlighted in section 12(1)(M)(2), that it says the 14 -- the language speaks for itself. The Emergency
 15 Manager shall fully comply with Public Employee
 16 Retirement System Investment Act; okay? And Section
 17 24, Article 9 of the State Constitution of 1968; okay?
 18 But the provision that you were talking to, talking
 19 about earlier today, okay, has that constitutional
 20 provision. But as I said, and I'll say again, there 21 may be legal reasons; for instance, in section 5 where 22 the legislature specifically talked about pensions;
 23 okay? There may be legal arguments that apply here.
 24 So rather than draw a legal conclusion I'll say to you
 25 again; okay? There may be an explanation for what is

Page 93

1 provided in the statute subject to a determination by
 2 a court. The language of the statute speaks for
 3 itself.
 4 Q. And since it does speak for itself and you have read
 5 it, and putting aside -- I understand your position
 6 that there may be arguments that can be made, did you
 7 see anything in that statute that, putting aside
 8 Chapter 9 and putting aside the possibility of 9 consensual diminishment, states that the Emergency
 10 Manager has the authority to diminish or impair
 11 pension rights that are protected under Article 9,
 12 Section 24?
 13 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, this witness
 14 certainly has not had time to review the entire 15 statute as he sits here. You're talking about ever?
 16 Q. How many -- how many times have you reviewed the 17 statute, Mr. Orr?
 18 A. I don't know. Certainly several dozen.
 19 Q. Okay. And you have your heavily annotated copy there?
 20 A. I have a copy of the statute.
 21 Q. So I assume if there were words in the statute that 22 specifically said, yeah, the Emergency Manager can 23 violate Article 9, Section 24, you would know where 24 they are; wouldn't you?
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.

Page 94

1 A. I don't know if they say violate. But here again, I
 2 keep saying to you again and again these issues calls
 3 for legal conclusions. Statute speaks for itself. I
 4 think we discussed earlier today was there anything
 5 that expressly said that and we said no, but I don't 6 want to be in a position where we foreclose any
 7 potential arguments. I'm being very careful.
 8 Q. In your consideration of the pension issue is it
 9 correct that the conclusion that you reach was that
 10 one way to get -- for the City to diminish and get out
 11 of its pension obligations would be to go through a
 12 Chapter 9 filing?
 13 THE WITNESS: Could you read the question
 14 back?
 15 (Record read back as requested.)
 16 A. Yes, I think at some point that we reached that
 17 conclusion.
 18 Q. And do you recall when that conclusion was reached?
 19 A. No.
 20 Q. Let me show you another document. We'll mark this as,
 21 what are we up to, 8?
 22 A. Uh-huh.
 23 (Marked Exhibit No. 8.)
 24 Q. You're familiar with Exhibit 8; aren't you? It's the 25 financial and operating plan of May 12th, 2013?

Page 95

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. And this is something that you put out; isn't it?
 3 A. Yes.
 4 Q. And this was after you were Emergency Manager; yeah?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. Okay. And do you recall giving an interview on radio
 7 about the plan?
 8 A. I gave many interviews on the radio. Is there a
 9 specific one?
 10 Q. Yeah, there is. There is one that was made on May 11 12th, 2013 on WWJ and there's one piece of it that I
 12 would like to focus on in particular. I'll read it to 13 you. I have the article in which it's quoted, but 14 maybe you remember saying this.
 15 A. Okay.
 16 Q. The quotation is -- about this plan, I believe it's 17 this plan, you said the public can comment but it is 18 under the statute, it is my plan and it's within my 19 discretion and obligation to do it. This isn't a 20 plebiscite. We are not like negotiating the terms of 21 the plan. It's what I'm obligated to do.
 22 Do you recall making that statement on the 23 radio?
 24 A. Yes.
 25 Q. And you were talking about the May 12th plan when you

Page 96

1 said that?
 2 A. Yes, financial and operating plan.
 3 Q. And the May 12th plan referred to the possibility of 4 reducing or eliminating retirement benefits; didn't
 5 it?
 6 A. Yes.
 7 Q. And in fact, just going through this briefly on pages
 8 16 through 17, if I have this right, you're reporting
 9 about 5-point billion in unfunded medical costs; is 10 that right?
 11 A. Yes.
 12 MR. SHUMAKER: Get to the page. I'm sorry,
 13 what page was that, counsel?
 14 MR. ULLMAN: Sixteen.
 15 MR. SHUMAKER: Sixteen. At the bottom.
 16 A. Yes.
 17 Q. Then on the next page you wrote that as part of the 18 comprehensive restructuring plan, the Emergency
 19 Manager will evaluate options to reduce or eliminate
 20 certain healthcare costs for both active and retired
 21 employees?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. And that was a true statement?
 24 A. Yes.
 25 Q. And then if you turn back a little to page 3 of this

Page 97

1 document, I think you indicate that the pension
2 liabilities are underfunded by at least 600 million
3 and possibly more, possibly significantly more?
4 MR. SHUMAKER: Can you direct his
5 attention?
6 MR. ULLMAN: Yeah, it's in the first full
7 paragraph, the last three lines.
8 Q. It says, the city's pensions are underfunded by at 9 least 0.6 billion and perhaps significantly more once
10 appropriate actuarial assumptions and current data are 11 considered?
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. And that was -- you view that as an accurate statement
14 also; correct?
15 A. Yes.
16 Q. And then if you go to page 20 to 21, beginning on page
17 20 you sort of resummarize these obligations, these 18 liabilities and then you make a couple statements on 19 page 21 at the top you say, restructuring the City's 20 liabilities in a fair and equitable manner across all
21 relevant stakeholders is necessary for the City's 22 operational and financial survival. Do you see that?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. You go on to say that the restructuring of the City's 25 debt and other liabilities is essential to provide the

Page 98

1 City with a strong balance sheet and it continues. Do
2 you see that? It's kind of in the middle of that top
3 paragraph.
4 A. Yes.
5 Q. And then the next paragraph that says, this plan
6 recognizes that interest rates, amortization, it
7 mentions some other things, continues with security
8 interests, legacy liabilities and all other aspects of 9 short- and long-term debt must be evaluated as part of 10 the City's comprehensive restructuring. It goes on,
11 significant and fundamental debt relief must be 12 obtained to allow the City's revitalization to 13 continue and succeed?
14 A. Yes.
15 Q. In all those statements they all applied to 16 obligations that were owed as well to retirees; is
17 that right?
18 A. I believe so. I believe we were talking about we 19 needed to do something to address those obligations.
20 Q. And that's what you refer to here as legacy
21 liabilities, the pension and healthcare obligations?
22 A. In part, yes.
23 Q. They're included in legacy liabilities; right?
24 A. Yes.
25 Q. And the plan here was, as you're saying here, that the

Page 99

1 plan is to reduce them; true?
2 A. No, I think what we said here is that they must be
3 adjusted in a fair and equitable manner across all
4 stakeholders which would necessarily mean an
5 adjustment, yes.
6 Q. In your view didn't that mean they had to be adjusted
7 downwards?
8 A. What we have said and what I said at May 12th and 9 subsequently throughout is we needed -- we needed to 10 have a dialogue about what the status of an adjustment
11 would be, because it was clear the City couldn't pay.
12 Q. That's all I'm getting at, Mr. Orr. The question was 13 very simple. That what you are saying here is that 14 you needed to get these benefits reduced?
15 A. Yes, that's what I said.
16 Q. And is it correct that under Michigan law, again just 17 under Michigan law without reference to the bankruptcy
18 statute, you didn't have the authority or the ability
19 to reduce pension benefits?
20 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
21 conclusion.
22 A. This is the same line of inquiry that we've gone
23 through before. I'll state the same response, if you
24 would like.
25 Q. No, I can accept that your response would be the same.

Page 100

1 A. Okay.
2 Q. Let me ask you a different question.
3 A. Thank you.
4 Q. Prior to the bankruptcy filing did you identify any
5 course of action under Michigan law, putting aside the 6 possibility of a consensual resolution, that would
7 allow the Emergency Manager to reduce pension benefits
8 without going through Chapter 9?
9 A. Here again, to the extent it calls for legal 10 conclusion, my prior answer, but I'll try to be
11 responsive. Yes, we did.
12 Q. And what were those alternatives?
13 A. Well, that's why we continued to say to the various 14 interested groups we needed to engage in a dialogue.
15 Q. I'm saying apart from a consensual resolution.
16 A. Okay.
17 Q. Okay. And what I'm asking is apart from the idea that 18 people could get together and agree --
19 A. Uh-huh.
20 Q. -- did you come up with any other course of action
21 under Michigan law that did not involve a bankruptcy
22 filing and that would allow the Emergency Manager to 23 reduce pension benefits to retirees?
24 A. I don't mean to be evasive or trulish, but there were 25 a number of different alternatives that were

Page 101

1 discussed. Some of them, frankly, by keeping the City
2 in a steady state would have effectively reduced those
3 pension obligations, yes.
4 Q. So the course that was considered was simply not
5 meeting the pension obligations as they came due; is
6 that right?
7 A. No, it's just what I said. By keeping it in a steady
8 state we weren't meeting our obligations there
9 currently.
10 Q. And that would include also not meeting the pension
11 obligations?
12 A. Yes. As I said, keeping in a steady state would by 13 definition reduce liabilities. That's what the City
14 was already doing.
15 Q. And was there any other avenue that was considered as 16 potentially viable to reduce the pension benefits
17 apart from what you just said and apart from going
18 through a Chapter 9 filing and again putting aside
19 some sort of negotiated resolution?
20 A. Well, we didn't consider the steady state alternative
21 viable.
22 Q. Uh-huh.
23 A. We thought that was quite problematic. Putting aside
24 the discussion we had earlier this morning about legal 25 conclusions and what we possibly could do under the

Page 102

1 statute, were there any other -- other than
2 consensually inviting resolutions, a potential Chapter
3 9 filing, any other alternatives? And a steady state,
4 those three, any other? I don't think there were any
5 other alternatives.
6 Q. Okay. Let's move on to the next document, which we'll
7 mark as Exhibit 9.
8 (Marked Exhibit No. 9.)
9 (Discussion held off the record.)
10 Q. Okay, let's look at Exhibit 9. This is a proposal for 11 creditors, June 14, 2013. You've indicated you're 12 familiar with it?
13 A. Yes.
14 Q. Now, this document, as I understand it, spells out in 15 general terms what you thought the problems were 16 facing Detroit and what you wanted to do about them?
17 A. Well, it spells out in general terms what we think the 18 problems are and it makes a proposal to what we think
19 we should do about them.
20 Q. Okay. And among the significant issues facing the 21 City were retirement obligations we've discussed;
22 right?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. And the proposal refers to cutting them; correct?
25 A. Point me to a specific page, please.

Page 103

1 Q. Doesn't it say that they need to be reduced? Doesn't
2 it say that?
3 A. Yes.
4 Q. And it says they're unsustainable; doesn't it?
5 A. Yes. I think generally speaking it says that, yes.
6 Q. And we'll go through some of the specifics.
7 A. Okay.
8 Q. I think in here early on, around pages 23 to 24, you
9 note -- I think we discussed this a little bit -- that
10 the unfunded pension liability right now as of June 11 14th is more or less on the books as 643 million, but 12 it could be as large as 3.5 billion; is that right?
13 A. Yes.
14 Q. And that figure, that 3.5 billion figure, that's work
15 that's been done for the City by the Milliman firm; is
16 that right?
17 A. Well, among others, I think Milliman worked off on 18 initial Gabriel Rotors projections and then did their 19 own, yes.
20 Q. And are you aware that that number, the 3.5 billion,
21 has been disputed by various parties or objectors as 22 regards the actuarial assumptions that were used?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. And at least one firm has taken the position that the 25 number should be much less than 3.5 billion?

Page 104

1 A. I think several entities and firms have taken that
2 position yes.
3 Q. And you indicated you're not an actuary; correct?
4 A. That's correct.
5 Q. So you have no expertise in that?
6 A. I rely on our professionals and consultants, yes, who
7 are actuaries.
8 Q. So the accuracy of the 3.5 billion or some other
9 figure will be an issue that's going to be ultimately 10 decided by a court if this matter proceeds; is that
11 right?
12 A. We think it's accurate, but it may ultimately be 13 decided by a court.
14 Q. Now, on pages 90 to 91, if I understand this, and 15 particularly on 91, this is showing the current
16 projections, right, as I understand this particular
17 schedule?
18 A. Yes, it's the ten-year projections.
19 Q. Right. Under what I think has been referred to as a 20 steady state? In other words, this is without the 21 restructuring?
22 A. Yes, I think this is the ten-year steady state General
23 fund only projection.
24 Q. If you look at page 91, it shows, if nothing changes, 25 projections for both pension, contributions and

Page 105

1 healthcare benefits, right, and then the top headings?

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. And for pensions, just using 2014 as an example, we

4 see the number is 199.5 million?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And for the health benefits for 2014 it's

7 140.7 million?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And obviously if you look over the next several years,

10 it goes up?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. Okay. And then so that I understand this, if you look

13 at pages 97 to 98, this is the same spreadsheet but

14 now showing what the figures would look like if this

15 proposal for restructuring were to go through; is that

16 right?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. And so if we look again comparably for 2014, let's

19 see, and let's start with -- I guess we can start with 20 the pensions. On page 97, for 2014, we now see an

21 item DC pension contribution.

22 A. Uh-huh.

23 Q. And that's -- that DC stands for what?

24 A. You mean the DC?

25 Q. Yeah, what do the words stand for?

Page 106

1 A. Defined contribution.

2 Q. Defined contribution?

3 A. Uh-huh.

4 Q. Now, the existing -- the pension plan that exists

5 under the steady state projections, is that defined

6 contribution plan?

7 A. That would be switched over. No, no, defined -- the 8 steady state scenario?

9 Q. That's a defined benefit?

10 A. That's a defined benefit plan.

11 Q. So what you're projecting here is a switch over to a

12 defined contribution program and for 2014 we see the

13 number for the city's contributions is now

14 25.4 million; is that right?

15 A. Yes, that's -- yes.

16 Q. And that compares with the -- what was the figure?

17 199.5 million that we saw under the as is?

18 A. Yes, projections.

19 Q. Yes. So the diminution it looks just on the rough

20 math that the City's pension contributions under the 21 restructuring are being cut by about 80 percent; is

22 that right?

23 A. Under 75 million, 80 percent, sure, roughly.

24 Q. And for health, the health benefits, which we saw that

25 were, what, under the current scenario something like

Page 107

1 147 million?

2 A. Retiree health, yes.

3 Q. For retiree health?

4 A. Uh-huh.

5 Q. Under this proposal, the restructuring proposal, I

6 don't see any line entry for the retiree health

7 benefits.

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. So they're essentially being cut; correct?

10 A. Well, the obligation is being provided with a

11 different program, but yes, the City would not have an

12 obligation going forward of that magnitude.

13 Q. And going back to the pension contributions, you know,

14 we had talked about a diminution on the order of 80

15 percent from the 199.5 figure, and I think it's the

16 City's contention that the 199.5 figure is really

17 understated, right, because the obligations are really

18 a lot higher?

19 A. I think we think the liabilities -- this is the steady

20 state projection on 91. I think we think the 21 liabilities are higher because what we represented on

22 the second page of 98 is the estimated undersecured

23 claims for out years as opposed to a ten-year

24 projection.

25 Q. Right. And if the liabilities were really greater

Page 108

1 than the diminution from the steady state to the

2 restructuring scenario would be greater than 80

3 percent; wouldn't it?

4 A. It might be. I mean, we've said 80 percent. I mean,

5 199.5 less 25, you know, you just roughly cut those in

6 half, that's a 12 and 1/2 percent, but you know, 88

7 percent, somewhere in that neighborhood.

8 Q. Now, the people who are -- the retirees who are

9 getting impacted from these -- by these cuts in the 10 proposed restructuring, these are who? These are men

11 and women who previously served the City and are now

12 retired?

13 A. Yeah, they're two pension plans: one for General

14 services and the other for Police and Fire.

15 Q. And these individuals that serve the City in both

16 public safety and nonpublic safety capacities?

17 A. Uniform and nonuniform, yes.

18 Q. And were these -- I guess the issue comes because the

19 pension liabilities and the healthcare benefits that

20 may be due are not -- there's not sufficient funding

21 that was put into them; correct?

22 A. Well, the healthcare benefit has no funding, the 23 $5.7 billion. And the pension underfunding has our

24 estimate of the level of underfunding, the unfunded

25 portion of the pensions, in them. There are assets

Page 109

1 within both pension funds, it's the level of
 2 underfunding that we're talking to.
 3 Q. Right. And it's the underfunding that's resulting in 4 the cuts to the retirees; correct?
 5 A. Well, this is a proposal I'll say again. We have said
 6 again and again we want to have a discussion so we can 7 figure out what the rightsizing is.
 8 Q. Can you please just answer the question, Mr. Orr?
 9 A. I am, but you say cuts, you say cuts and that has a
 10 different connotation and I'm trying to explain it
 11 fully.
 12 Q. This proposal the benefits get cut substantially;
 13 don't they?
 14 A. Yes, but we need to have a discussion.
 15 Q. Now, the individuals whose rights and expectations and 16 benefits are being impacted under this, they weren't 17 themselves responsible for the lack of funding that's 18 resulted in these problems; were they?
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, form, foundation.
 20 A. That's -- that's a loaded question about 21 responsibility and --
 22 Q. I'm asking if the individual retirees whose pensions
 23 and healthcare benefits may be impacted under this.
 24 A. That's a loaded question.
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Same objection.

Page 110

1 A. I'm going to be very careful here because while
 2 recognizing that these are typically rank and file
 3 employees, there's a whole bunch of issues regarding
 4 responsibility and some of it has been written about
 5 quite extensively.
 6 Q. And you're aware that at least the vast majority of 7 the City employees, the retirees, count on their 8 pension and healthcare benefits in order to help make
 9 ends meet?
 10 A. I don't know if I'm aware of that as a fact. I know
 11 certainly that pensions are important to retirees.
 12 Q. Now, going back to page 98 of this restructuring
 13 proposal, you pointed to a box --
 14 A. Yes.
 15 Q. -- that shows a very large unsecured claim amount for 16 unsecured pension and OPEB?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 Q. And that's 9.2 billion?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. And as I understand this proposal, the retirees who 21 fall into this category whose pensions and healthcare
 22 benefits are being cut back by this would end up with 23 unsecured claims and get a share of the notes that the 24 City is intending to issue; is that right?
 25 A. The retirees whose pensions and healthcare benefits we

Page 111

1 propose to reduce would get a share of the note, yes.
 2 Q. And is there any way to tell from this document how
 3 much any individual retiree would ultimately get if
 4 the notes go ahead and are issued?
 5 A. Not from this document.
 6 Q. There's no way to tell how much cash value any retiree
 7 would receive under this plan that's laid out here
 8 where they get notes?
 9 A. It is my understanding that there are a number of 10 different plans and benefits and factors that go into 11 that determination for any specific retiree.
 12 Q. Okay. Now, Chapter 9 is not referred to in this 13 restructuring plan; is it?
 14 A. I don't think we did.
 15 Q. And I think you indicated before that if this was not 16 agreed to by the various constituencies, then the only 17 way to implement this restructuring plan would be, if 18 at all, would be to try to go ahead and do that
 19 through Chapter 9; is that right?
 20 A. I think what I said before, I think you're referring 21 to the May 12th 45-day operating plan, but I think
 22 what I said before on June 10th and June 14th is we 23 needed to engage in a dialogue, because we didn't want
 24 to go to Chapter 9.
 25 MR. ULLMAN: That wasn't my question. Can

Page 112

1 you read my question back?
 2 (Record read back as requested.)
 3 A. Yeah, I indicated that here today.
 4 Q. I'll just ask the question again. As you understood
 5 it, if the proposal here were not agreed to or some
 6 other consensual resolution was not reached, was there
 7 any way for you as Emergency Manager to implement this
 8 plan other than to try to get it put in place through
 9 a Chapter 9 filing?
 10 A. Subject to the discussion that we've had a couple of 11 times earlier today, what I have said is that Chapter
 12 9 is an option to achieve these goals.
 13 Q. And were you at this point aware of any option to 14 achieve these goals other than Chapter 9 if a
 15 consensual resolution was not reached?
 16 A. There were various briefing memos and discussions, but
 17 given the time frames that we were under, and I said
 18 this at the June 10th meeting and I said it at the 19 June 14th meeting and I want to be responsive, that if
 20 we didn't, Chapter 9 was an alternative.
 21 Q. And I don't think that's fully responsive at this
 22 point. Had you identified anything else as of June 14
 23 to get this plan implemented, any other course,
 24 putting aside consensual resolution, other than a
 25 chapter 9 file?

Page 113

1 A. Nothing that would give us an orderly and
2 comprehensive resolution of these problems.
3 Q. Now, you gave an interview, that I'm sure you're
4 familiar with, with the Detroit Free Press on or
5 around June 14th. Do you remember it? I'll just tell
6 you what -- I believe you said -- and I'm sure you
7 remember this one and you can tell me. If not, I have 8 the quote.
9 A. Yeah, you can give me the quote. There's so many
10 interviews, but I'll trust your quote.
11 Q. Okay.
12 A. Okay.
13 Q. This is the quotation. Question, you said in this
14 report, referring to the June 14th proposal, that you
15 don't believe there is an obligation under our state
16 constitution to pay pensions if the City can't afford
17 it? Answer, the reason we said it that way is to 18 quantify the bankruptcy question. We think federal 19 supremacy trumps state law.
20 A. Yes.
21 Q. You don't deny making that statement?
22 A. No, I think I've said that several times.
23 Q. And the state law you were referring to that you
24 referred to as being trumped was Article 9, Section 24
25 of the state constitution; is that right?

Page 114

1 A. I believe so.
2 Q. There's no other state law that you view as relevant
3 to the pension issue; is there?
4 A. Subject to the discussions that we had earlier today.
5 Q. As being trumped? There's no other state law that you
6 regarded as being trumped; is there?
7 A. No, there's no other as being trumped.
8 Q. Trumped.
9 A. Right.
10 Q. So the answer to my question -- just so the record is 11 clear, the answer to my question is no other?
12 A. We're not referring to another state law.
13 Q. Okay, thank you.
14 A. Okay.
15 Q. Now, ultimately -- so when the subsequent bankruptcy
16 filing was made -- which it was; right?
17 A. Yes.
18 Q. The intention -- specific intention was indeed to 19 trump Article 9, Section 24 of the state constitution;
20 correct?
21 A. That wasn't the only intention.
22 Q. But that was an intention; was it not?
23 A. That was one of the objectives.
24 Q. Now, ultimately you did request authorization for the 25 governor to file; right?

Page 115

1 A. Yes.
2 Q. I'm just going to put these letters into the record so
3 we have them.
4 A. Okay.
5 Q. I'm not sure I'm going to ask you much about them.
6 The first one is what we're going to mark
7 as Exhibit 10.
8 (Marked Exhibit No. 10.)
9 Q. This is 10. This is 10.
10 A. Thank you.
11 MR. ULLMAN: And I might as well mark 11
12 also. They kind of go together.
13 THE WITNESS: Okay.
14 (Marked Exhibit No. 11.)
15 Q. Okay, what we've marked as Exhibits 10 and 11
16 respectively are the July 16th, 2013 letter from you
17 to the governor and to the treasurer and then the 18 governor's response letter of July 18, 2013.
19 A. Yes.
20 Q. And you're obviously familiar with these documents?
21 A. Yes.
22 Q. And you wrote Exhibit 10, you signed it at least?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. And Exhibit 11 is the governor's response; correct?
25 A. Yes.

Page 116

1 Q. Now, did you have discussions with the governor's
2 office or anyone on the governor's team leading up to
3 the request letter that you sent in?
4 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.
5 A. Leading up to?
6 Q. Yeah, before.
7 A. Before that. I think there were discussions with the 8 treasurer and even the governor that if we weren't 9 making progress on negotiations, I might have to 10 submit the letter.
11 Q. Okay. And in those conversations was there any 12 mention of the impact that the bankruptcy filing might 13 have or was intended to have as regards the pension
14 benefits?
15 A. Probably, yes.
16 Q. And do you recall anything specific about that?
17 A. I -- um -- as I said, I had regular meetings of the 18 governor and his staff, we probably discussed this. I
19 don't recall a specific discussion.
20 Q. Do you recall telling the governor and his staff in 21 general that one of the purposes, I'm not saying the 22 only purpose, one of the purposes or intentions of the 23 Chapter 9 filing would be to allow you to cut back the 24 pension benefits?
25 A. Yeah, I don't want to give the misimpression that that

Page 117

1 was the singular focus. I think most of our
2 discussions were about the need for the City to deal
3 overall with its balance sheet and its obligations,
4 which would include pensions.
5 MR. ULLMAN: Uh-huh. Okay, can you read my
6 question back? Listen a little more closely because I
7 was really -- it was a little more specific of a
8 question.
9 THE WITNESS: Okay.
10 (Record read back as requested.)
11 A. We probably had that discussion. I don't recall
12 anything specific, but we probably did.
13 Q. And do you recall any discussion during those same
14 conversations with the governor or anyone from his 15 staff as to the impact, if any, of Article 9, chapter
16 -- Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution as regards
17 pension benefits?
18 A. I don't recall having discussions in that regard. No.
19 Q. Now, if you look at the governor's response letter,
20 okay, and the last page, you see at the top there's a
21 heading called contingencies?
22 A. Yes.
23 Q. And it says 2012 PA 436 provides that my approval of 24 the recommendation to commence a Chapter 9 proceeding
25 may place contingencies on such a filing and it gives

Page 118

1 the citation. It continues, I am choosing not to
2 impose any such contingencies today. Federal law
3 already contains the most important contingency, a
4 requirement that the plan be legally executable,
5 11 U.S.C. Section 943(b)(4). Do you see that?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. And did you have any discussions with the governor or 8 anyone from his staff about that language before you
9 received this letter back?
10 A. No.
11 Q. Were you -- did you have any understanding before
12 receiving this that as to whether or not the governor
13 was going to place any contingencies on the bankruptcy
14 filing?
15 A. No, but I was concerned about it.
16 Q. And what were you concerned about?
17 A. I was concerned that the governor might place some 18 contingency in any regards, not just related to the 19 pensions and others, but that the inner array on 20 limiting what authority I might have would impact what
21 discretion I would have under either 436 or Chapter 9.
22 I was just concerned about contingencies.
23 Q. And was one of the contingencies that you were 24 concerned about the contingency that could impair your 25 ability or restrict your ability to cut back the

1 pensions?
2 A. I was concerned about all contingencies. I didn't
3 know what the governor was going to say.
4 Q. That's really not my question. Can you read my
5 question?
6 A. Yes, I was concerned about all of them. That's what I
7 said.
8 Q. And that includes specifically the one about not being
9 able to affect the pensions; correct?
10 A. All contingencies.
11 Q. Thank you.
12 Had you discussed within your staff the 13 possibility of the governor putting a contingency that 14 would prohibit the Emergency Manager from taking
15 actions that would impair pensions?
16 A. My staff, including my legal counsel and consultants,
17 the entirety of staff at large?
18 Q. Yes.
19 A. Yes.
20 Q. And did you view the risk as substantial, that the 21 governor was going to do that?
22 A. Without disclosing any attorney-client confidences, I
23 don't know if we handicapped the risk. It was just a
24 general discussion. I had submitted a letter, I
25 wasn't sure what I was going to get back.

Page 120

1 Q. And did you have any plan in place as to what you
2 would do if the letter came back that imposed a
3 contingency that in any Chapter 9 filing nothing could
4 be done that would affect pension rights that were
5 protected under the Michigan Constitution?
6 A. No.
7 Q. Now, in his letter the governor -- the portion we've
8 just looked at on the back of page 5, the governor
9 says, having a legally executable plan under Section
10 943(b)(4). That's a reference, 943(b)(4), the 11 bankruptcy code; isn't it?
12 A. I believe so.
13 Q. So he says, he the governor says, having a legally
14 executable plan under Section 943(b)(4) of the 15 bankruptcy code is a contingency for Detroit's filing
16 a bankruptcy petition. Correct?
17 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, document speaks
18 for itself.
19 A. That's -- I was going to say the document speaks for 20 itself. You're sort of reading it, you know, just 21 inverting it, but it says federal law already contains 22 the most important contingency requirement that the 23 plan is legally executable.
24 Q. Right. And this is in the context of him asking or 25 noting that under PA 436 he could, he the governor,

Page 121

1 could place contingencies on a Chapter 9 filing;
2 right?
3 A. Yes.
4 Q. And he goes on to say that federal law also contains 5 what he calls the most important contingency on the 6 Chapter 9 filing, that it be legally executable;
7 correct?
8 A. Yes, the letter speaks -- that's the language of the 9 letter.
10 Q. Did you agree with the governor's analysis here?
11 A. I -- do I agree? Yes, I mean, I agree that that's the 12 most important contingency that we get to, yes.
13 Q. Now, petition was filed -- the bankruptcy petition was 14 filed on July 18th, like at 4 in the afternoon, 4:05, 15 something like that?
16 A. That's what I was told. I don't know the specific
17 time.
18 Q. Now, in doing -- in making your bankruptcy filing,
19 were you intending to do something that was in 20 violation of state law?
21 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
22 conclusion.
23 A. Here again, subject to all the discussions that we had 24 earlier today, I was intending to alevé the City of a
25 very dire situation and provide it with the maximum

Page 122

1 ability to restructure itself.
2 MR. ULLMAN: I'm going to move to strike as
3 nonresponsive. Can you read back my question, please,
4 and can you answer it, Mr. Orr?
5 (Record read back as requested.)
6 A. No.
7 Q. And at this time were you aware that a bankruptcy
8 filing that would allow you to impair pension benefits
9 was at least arguably in violation of state law?
10 A. I was aware that various parties had taken that
11 position, yes.
12 Q. So you were aware there was an argument? I'm not 13 saying you were agreeing with it.
14 A. I didn't agree with it, but there was an argument.
15 Q. Now, did you give consideration to that argument?
16 A. Yes, I suppose I did.
17 Q. And what did you do to give consideration to that
18 argument?
19 A. I discussed it with counsel.
20 Q. Okay, which counsel?
21 A. My legal counsel.
22 Q. Legal counsel being?
23 A. Jones Day.
24 Q. Jones Day.
25 A. Uh-huh.

Page 123

1 Q. Did you make any inquiries of the State Attorney
2 General?
3 A. I know at some point -- and I'm going to be careful
4 here because as a state contractor, I want to be very
5 careful about whether or not the Attorney General also 6 is my counsel. I know at some point I met with the
7 Attorney General, but I don't recall when that was. I
8 don't recall if it was before or it was after the 9 filing. It might have been before.
10 Q. Okay. Well, if it was before, do you recall what 11 advice you got from the State Attorney General as to 12 whether it was legal under Michigan law for you to go
13 ahead with the bankruptcy filing but didn't protect 14 the pensions?
15 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection. I caution the 16 witness that to the extent it calls for 17 attorney-client communication, not to reveal those
18 communications.
19 A. I don't think I can answer the question without going 20 into attorney-client communications.
21 Q. But you don't recall specifically whether you actually
22 consulted the State Attorney General prior to the 23 filing; do you?
24 A. I recall meeting with the Attorney General at one -- I
25 may have had a couple -- I think I've had a couple of

Page 124

1 telephone conversations with him and I recall meeting
2 with him. I don't recall whether it was prior or 3 after the filing. I know from time to time -- I just 4 don't recall when it was.
5 Q. Would there have been any reason for you not to
6 consult the Attorney General prior to the bankruptcy
7 filing on that issue?
8 A. No, I think the State Attorney General made his 9 position known prior to the filing.
10 Q. Now, as of this time the petition was filed there were 11 various state court litigations that had been begun?
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. And those challenged, among other things, PA 436;
14 correct?
15 A. Yes.
16 Q. And its constitutionality?
17 A. Yes.
18 Q. And in fact, the petition was filed just prior to the 19 start of a TRO hearing in one of those state
20 litigations; wasn't it?
21 A. I was told that either that night or the following
22 day.
23 Q. And are you aware that certain objectors in this
24 proceeding have stated that the bankruptcy petition
25 was filed just before the judge in the case was about

Page 125

1 to issue a TRO prohibiting the bankruptcy filing from
2 taking place?
3 A. I heard that after the fact, yes.
4 Q. And are you aware that these objectors have stated
5 that in fact the state lawyers asked for a short delay
6 before the ruling was issued so they could get the
7 bankruptcy filing in before the judge came down with a
8 TRO?
9 A. I don't know if I heard it -- I may have read that 10 later. I don't know if I heard it.
11 Q. Did you have any involvement in those actions?
12 A. No, no.
13 Q. Do you deny that that's what occurred?
14 A. I only know what I've heard and I have no personal 15 knowledge, I just know what I've heard and what I've 16 read.
17 Q. And isn't it correct that you wanted to get the 18 bankruptcy petition filed as soon as possible because 19 you knew there was a risk that the state might rule it
20 was illegal -- the state court might rule it was 21 illegal under state law for the bankruptcy proceeding
22 to be filed?
23 A. No, that wasn't the reason.
24 Q. Is there a particular reason that the bankruptcy
25 filing was made at 4:06 in the afternoon of the same

Page 126

1 day a TRO was being heard in the state court other
2 than to get the jump on the state court ruling?
3 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
4 A. Not to the best of my knowledge.
5 Q. Now, you're aware that the state court in that
6 litigation in fact later issued a ruling that PA 436
7 is unconstitutional to the extent that it authorizes a
8 proceeding under Chapter 9 in the way that could 9 threaten to impair or diminish accrued pension
10 benefits?
11 A. Yes, I was informed that there are I believe three 12 TROs after the bankruptcy filing.
13 Q. And you have proceeded with the bankruptcy petition
14 notwithstanding; correct?
15 A. Well, the bankruptcy petition had been filed. There
16 were open questions about the application of the stay.
17 There was also a question about an appeal, which was 18 taken up I believe by the Attorney General's office.
19 So when you say you proceeded with the petition, we 20 filed the petition, there was a ruling, and there were 21 appeals.
22 Q. Okay. And in light of the state court ruling that 23 PA 436 was unconstitutional, you did not take any 24 steps to withdraw the bankruptcy petition from filing;
25 did you?

Page 127

1 A. No.
2 Q. And you have not taken any steps to stop the
3 bankruptcy proceeding from going forward; have you?
4 A. No.
5 MR. ULLMAN: Would this be a good time to
6 stop for lunch, a quick lunch?
7 MR. SHUMAKER: Sure.
8 MR. ULLMAN: I'm ready to continue but I
9 know --
10 THE WITNESS: You got another -- how much
11 -- do you have another line of inquiry? Whatever
12 everybody --
13 MR. ULLMAN: I'm about to switch subject
14 matters.
15 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
16 12:52 p.m.
17 (Luncheon recess between
18 12:52 p.m. and 1:30 p.m.)
19 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record
20 at 1:35 p.m.
21 BY MR. ULLMAN:
22 Q. Welcome back, Mr. Orr.
23 A. Good afternoon.
24 Q. One other question about the June 14th proposal.
25 Referring to page 98, we talked about the defined

1 contribution benefit plan?
2 A. Yes.
3 Q. Okay. Is it correct that under that plan
4 contributions are being made only for people who would
5 be current City employees?
6 A. Will the plan be closed?
7 Q. Yes.
8 A. Yes, I believe so.
9 Q. So under the restructuring plan there would be no
10 pension contributions made for retirees; correct?
11 A. I believe that's correct.
12 Q. Now, you I believe said that the June 14th proposal
13 was presented at a meeting to representatives of 14 various creditors, I think you said that in your 15 declaration?
16 A. On June 14th, yes.
17 Q. Okay. Did you speak at that meeting?
18 A. Yes.
19 Q. And who else spoke?
20 A. I believe all -- several members of our team, I
21 believe it was Mr. Heiman, David Heiman, I believe it
22 was Ken Buckfire, I believe Heather Lennox was on, I
23 believe Bruce Bennett was there, I believe Ken
24 Buckfire may have spoken. I'm trying to recall if 25 there was anyone else.

Page 129

1 Q. And this meeting took about two hours total; is that
2 right?
3 A. Approximately that time.
4 Q. And you indicated in your -- the declaration that you
5 filed here that at the June 14th meeting you presented
6 the proposal and you presented the executive summary
7 and people got the full proposal as they exited and I
8 think you said that you answered questions posed by 9 the attendees?
10 A. I believe that's correct.
11 Q. Is that an accurate and truthful description of what
12 happened at the June 14th meeting?
13 A. Yes.
14 Q. There were no actual negotiations at that meeting;
15 were they?
16 A. I don't think that -- you know, be careful of the word
17 negotiations, but no, not as it's generally
18 understood.
19 Q. Now, the next meeting that I believe took place was on 20 June 20; is that right?
21 A. Are you reading through my declaration?
22 Q. Uh-huh.
23 A. Page 55 has a list of meetings, around that 24 approximate time.
25 Q. Uh-huh.

Page 130

1 A. Okay, yes.
2 Q. So the next one was June 20; is that right?
3 A. If that's what it says in my declaration, yes.
4 Q. And there were both morning and afternoon sessions; is
5 that right?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. And this was six days after the proposal had been
8 presented; correct?
9 A. Yeah, I haven't done the counting, but 14th to 20th,
10 yeah, it would be six calendar days, yes.
11 Q. And it was a two-hour morning session and about 90
12 minutes for the afternoon session?
13 A. That sounds about right.
14 Q. And in your affidavit or your declaration you
15 indicated that at this meeting, these meetings, the 16 City presented a more in-depth look at its analysis of 17 the health and pension obligations and suggested for 18 proposals -- suggested proposals for the modification
19 thereof that the City could fund within its means
20 going forward and you provided handouts of the 21 presentations. Are those accurate descriptions of 22 what --
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. So there were no actual negotiations at that meeting
25 either; were there?

Page 131

1 A. I'm going to defer as to whether or not those
2 constitute negotiations. There was a give and take is
3 my understanding, but I'm not going to testify that
4 those did not constitute negotiations.
5 Q. Well, was there any actual sit down, you know, and
6 bargaining as to what the City would agree to as an
7 alternative to what was put in the June 4th (sic)
8 proposal and what it would not?
9 A. Here again, let me be careful here. The obligation to 10 collectively bargain is suspended for five years so I
11 just want to state that for the record. We are not in 12 any way by answering this question seeking to waive
13 that right, as it is traditionally understood. That 14 being said, I think at those meetings and all the 15 meetings I've referenced we generally asked during 16 those meetings for proposals which could be
17 characterized as negotiations.
18 Q. Did the City make any counterproposals to the June
19 14th proposal at the June 20 meetings?
20 A. Well, we wouldn't bargain against ourselves.
21 Q. It's a yes or no question; okay?
22 A. Sir, throughout the day I'm trying to give you a
23 response. I know you want yes or no questions for 24 purposes of your briefing, I suppose, but I'm trying
25 to give you an accurate response.

Page 132

1 Q. I would appreciate it if you could answer the question
2 without making speeches.
3 MR. ULLMAN: Can you have the question
4 read back, please?
5 THE WITNESS: It's not a speech, it's a
6 response.
7 MR. ULLMAN: Question read back.
8 (Record read back as requested.)
9 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
10 A. We didn't receive any counterproposals so there was 11 nothing to counter.
12 Q. And did you make any further mod -- did you make any 13 modifications on June 20 to the proposal you had made
14 on June 14th?
15 A. Here again, I'm going to be careful as to whether or 16 not what we discussed at the 20 referred to 17 modifications but suffice it to say we went over in 18 detail as I said in my declaration our proposal on the 19 14th and asked for responses.
20 Q. Okay. The next meeting I believe took place in July;
21 is that right? July 10th and 11th?
22 A. Yes, here again, if you're reading my declaration,
23 that's what I state.
24 Q. Now, in this set of meetings there were -- first of 25 all, were you present there?

Page 133

1 A. I don't -- I don't recall which of those meetings. I
 2 know I attended the 14th in person, I had my June 10th
 3 meeting in person, and I know I attended one or some 4 of these other meetings, but I don't recall if I was
 5 present at that meeting.
 6 Q. Okay. So I take it then that you have no personal
 7 recollection as you sit here now as to what happened
 8 at those meetings?
 9 A. No, only as reported to me by my staff or consultants.
 10 Q. Okay. And so what is set out in your declaration that 11 you filed in the bankruptcy case regarding the July 12 10th and 11 meetings is essentially a recitation of 13 facts that were reported to you by others?
 14 A. Yeah, my information and belief, yes.
 15 Q. And so far as you were aware, the description of the 16 meetings that you put in your declaration were full
 17 and complete and accurate?
 18 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. And we're talking about the meetings for July 10th and 21 11th just to be clear?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. Okay.
 24 MR. ULLMAN: I'm going to show you a
 25 document that we will mark as --

Page 134

1 THE COURT REPORTER: Eleven -- excuse me,
 2 12.
 3 THE WITNESS: Twelve.
 4 MR. ULLMAN: Twelve.
 5 (Marked Exhibit No. 12.)
 6 Q. Exhibit 12 is a letter on the letterhead of the 7 Detroit Firefighters Association dated July 12, 2003
 8 (sic) to Evan Miller and David Heiman of Jones Day.
 9 A. Yes.
 10 Q. Are you familiar with this letter?
 11 A. I've seen this letter before, yes.
 12 Q. Okay. And in this letter the authors refer to the 13 July 10 meeting and say that in the third paragraph
 14 you stated you wish to discuss pension restructuring
 15 proposals, you were then asked by the DPOA president,
 16 Mark Diaz, for specific City pension restructuring
 17 proposals -- I'm sorry, I think I omitted the word
 18 benefit. For specific City benefit restructuring
 19 proposals. You declined to give any specific
 20 proposals.
 21 As far as you're aware, is that an accurate
 22 statement?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. And they go on to say, we are reviewing and will
 25 provide the City with specific proposals.

Page 135

1 As of this time, has the City received any
 2 specific proposals from any of the potentially
 3 interested parties?
 4 A. Not to the best of my knowledge.
 5 Q. And the authors go on to say it would be productive if
 6 the City could provide us with its specific proposals
 7 on pension benefit restructuring as soon as possible.
 8 We have had only two meetings -- I'm sorry, we have
 9 had two meetings where the similar pension benefits
 10 were addressed and still have only the general
 11 observation that pension benefits must be reduced.
 12 Is that a fair characterization as to the 13 status as of July 12th?
 14 A. Well, I'm assuming that it's fair to say there were 15 two meetings. I'm not sure that they have the City's 16 general observation. My understanding was that there
 17 were discussions besides the meetings and follow-up
 18 regarding pension benefits, but that's to the best of 19 my knowledge.
 20 Q. And they go on to say, sufficient -- we hope
 21 sufficiently provide to our next meeting the City will 22 provide us with specific proposals on pension benefit
 23 restructuring so that our meetings can be genuine,
 24 good faith negotiations on the City's debt.
 25 A. Yes, I see that.

Page 136

1 Q. And I think you indicated at this time the City had
 2 not provided any specific proposals to these
 3 gentlemen?
 4 A. No. No, no, that's not what I indicated.
 5 Q. Okay.
 6 A. No, I think we did provide a proposal on June 14th and
 7 I think the testimony was that we flushed those out
 8 subsequently.
 9 Q. So the only proposal that had been provided so far is 10 a proposal on June 14th and nothing beyond that?
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 12 A. No, I think we said that there were other discussions;
 13 in fact, you said based upon my declaration that there
 14 were further discussions that followed up after June
 15 14th.
 16 Q. Maybe I was unclear in my question.
 17 A. Okay.
 18 Q. There were no proposals that had been put out by the 19 City subsequent to the June 14th proposal; correct?
 20 THE WITNESS: I guess someone was on the 21 call. Are we okay?
 22 A. No proposals put out by -- well, you keep saying
 23 proposals. There's nothing as comprehensive that was 24 proposed as we put on June 14th. There was additional 25 data and additional information that was provided

1 after June 14th.

2 Q. So we're clear, no additional proposals that provided

3 for the pension cuts or the health benefit cuts in a

4 way that was different from what was in substance set

5 out on June 14?

6 A. Well, you say what was different.

7 Q. You haven't changed what was set out in the June 14th

8 proposal; have you?

9 A. You're not letting me respond. Can I respond?

10 Q. Let me withdraw the question.

11 A. Okay.

12 Q. Had there been any modifications to the June 14

13 proposal as of July 12, 2003 -- '13?

14 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.

15 A. There could have been discussions that could qualify

16 as modifications, but generally speaking, the broad

17 outline of the proposal we submitted on June 14th was 18 still the proposal that we were talking about.

19 Q. Okay, and what were the discussions that you were

20 referring to that you said could qualify as

21 modifications?

22 A. Discussions we had with all members at the due

23 diligence follow-up sessions where we requested their 24 input.

25 Q. And was there any bargaining that took place at those

Page 138

1 sessions where the City said it would be willing to

2 agree to something that was different from what was in

3 June 14?

4 A. Here again, I'm going to stay away from bargaining as

5 a legal conclusion, duty to bargain is suspended. I

6 will say there was a back and forth and my

7 understanding discussions and invitations for further

8 information.

9 Q. Thank you.

10 I'm going to show you the next document,

11 which is a response to the one that we have as Exhibit

12 12, which we'll mark as Exhibit 13.

13 (Marked Exhibit No. 13.)

14 Q. Exhibit 13 a letter from Jones Day in response to what 15 we have marked as Exhibit 12; do you see that?

16 A. Yes, I believe so.

17 Q. And you see this is -- the letter starts out by 18 thanking the authors for their letter of July 12th?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And then in the second paragraph Jones Day goes on to

21 say, consistent with the position Dave Heiman and I

22 expressed at the meeting, we still think it makes

23 sense to first try to reach common ground with key

24 unions and association leaders on actuarial

25 assumptions and methods and the amount of PFRS

Page 139

1 underfunding and then tackle contributions and

2 attendant benefit changes. Do you see that?

3 A. Yes, it speaks for itself.

4 Q. And was that the position of the City as of July 17,

5 2013?

6 A. Yes, we said that before.

7 Q. As of July 17th now, 2013, had the City presented any

8 proposals that were different from the proposals set

9 out in the June 14th document?

10 A. As I said previously, subject to that testimony about

11 discussions that were had at these meetings, I think

12 this letter speaks for itself. We were requesting

13 input from the various interested parties as far as

14 our June 14th proposal.

15 Q. And the discussions were the same ones that you

16 answered about in the very last question --

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. -- when I asked you what the discussions were?

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. And as of June 17th -- I'm sorry, July 17th, had the

21 City actually sat down with any union or retiree

22 association to attempt to reach an agreement on a

23 restructuring plan that had terms that were different

24 from the terms in the June 14th proposal?

25 A. July 17th?

Page 140

1 Q. I'm sorry, yes.

2 A. Yes.

3 Q. If I misspoke, I'm asking as of July 17th.

4 A. Yes, we may have.

5 Q. You say you may have. Did you?

6 A. I was aware that there were ongoing confidential

7 negotiations with at least one union --

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. -- about a proposal.

10 Q. Okay. Were you present during those negotiations --

11 those discussions?

12 A. I have -- I have not -- I have met with members'

13 representatives of those unions. I'm not sure I was 14 in on all negotiations.

15 Q. Are these discussions that the City has stated are

16 subject to privilege under Federal Rule of Evidence

17 408?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Okay. And other -- so will you tell me what was said

20 at those sessions?

21 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to the extent it

22 calls you to reveal privileged communications.

23 A. Yeah, those discussions are ongoing and so I'm -- I

24 have to be a little circumspect. Suffice it to say

25 there were discussions along the line of this exchange

Page 141

1 of letters of what could be addressed based upon our
 2 June 14th proposal.
 3 Q. Okay. And with whom were those discussions? Which 4 groups? You said you met with one or two groups or 5 you were aware of meetings with one or two groups.
 6 A. I think those are confidential, because as I said,
 7 those discussions are ongoing, so I don't want to 8 interfere with settlement negotiations or breach
 9 confidentiality so I'm reluctant to answer your
 10 question.
 11 Q. Okay, well, will you answer my question or will you
 12 not?
 13 A. I don't think I can. I think they're supposed to be
 14 confidential.
 15 Q. Well, you know, you have to answer the question unless 16 your counsel instructs you not to.
 17 MR. SHUMAKER: If you think it's going to 18 reveal privileged communications, I'm going to
 19 instruct you not to answer.
 20 THE WITNESS: I'll be -- I don't know so
 21 much -- can I consult with my counsel?
 22 MR. ULLMAN: Yes.
 23 THE WITNESS: Can we go off the record?
 24 MR. ULLMAN: Yes.
 25 THE WITNESS: Let's step out.

Page 142

1 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
 2 1:53 p.m.
 3 (A brief recess was taken.)
 4 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record
 5 at 1:57 p.m.
 6 BY MR. ULLMAN:
 7 Q. Okay, will you answer my question, Mr. Orr?
 8 A. No, I think this is -- concerns commercially sensitive
 9 potentially confidential settlement negotiations and 10 implicates the attorney-client privilege so I cannot 11 answer your question.
 12 Q. Okay, so apart from the discussions that you won't
 13 tell me about, would the City actually sit down with 14 any union or retiree association in an attempt to 15 reach an agreement on a structuring plan on terms that 16 are different than the terms set out in the June 14th
 17 proposal as of July 17th?
 18 A. As I said before, subject to the meetings we've had,
 19 we've exchanged information which may constitute the 20 type of sit down you're talking about. Other than the 21 ones that have been recounted and phone calls and 22 meetings I may not be aware of, this is what I know in 23 my declaration.
 24 Q. And as of June 17th then, I take it you had not 25 received any actual proposal -- I'm sorry, I keep

Page 143

1 saying June.
 2 A. July.
 3 Q. As of July 17th, you had not received any actual
 4 proposal outside possibly with the settlement
 5 discussions you were talking about from any union or 6 retiree association; is that right?
 7 A. Outside of those settlement negotiations --
 8 Q. Yes.
 9 A. -- that is correct.
 10 Q. Now, as of July 17, had the City told any union or 11 retiree association that it would in fact be willing 12 to proceed with the restructuring on terms that did
 13 not include the elimination of ongoing pension
 14 contributions for retirees?
 15 A. When you mean the City, you mean all of my consultants
 16 and others; correct?
 17 Q. Yes.
 18 A. There may have been discussions in that regard. I
 19 think I recall hearing that there was -- I can't 20 recall a specific meeting, a discussion about how that
 21 would be arranged, but I'm not sure.
 22 Q. So you personally did not make any such statement; did
 23 you?
 24 A. Statement about?
 25 Q. Saying to anyone -- to any union or retiree

Page 144

1 association that the City would in fact be willing to
 2 agree to a restructuring that did not involve the 3 elimination of ongoing pension contributions for
 4 retirees.
 5 A. No, I didn't say that.
 6 Q. And do you know in fact whether anyone working on your
 7 team ever said that to any union or retiree
 8 association?
 9 A. No.
 10 Q. Okay. During the time from June 14th to July 17, did
 11 you or anyone else from your team tell any union or 12 retiree association that the City acknowledged that 13 under Michigan law pension rights were explicitly
 14 protected from being impaired or diminished?
 15 A. I don't --
 16 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, form, calls for
 17 speculation.
 18 A. I don't recall anyone saying that, but it may have
 19 happened.
 20 Q. But you personally didn't make that statement; did
 21 you?
 22 A. I don't recall saying that. I may -- you know,
 23 anything is possible, I just don't recall saying it.
 24 Q. And as of July 17, had the City, you or anyone working
 25 for you, told any union or retiree association that it

Page 145

1 would in fact be willing to agree to a restructuring
 2 plan that did not effectively eliminate the prior
 3 existing health benefits for retirees?
 4 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation, calls
 5 for legal speculation.
 6 A. Healthcare benefit for retirees?
 7 Q. Yeah.
 8 A. That did not eliminate it?
 9 Q. Yeah, that you --
 10 A. Did not adjust it in some fashion?
 11 Q. Did not essentially cut it out the way it was being 12 cut out in the June 14th proposal.
 13 A. Yeah, I want to be careful with the frame cut out,
 14 because I think there were subsequent discussions
 15 about what would be provided instead --
 16 Q. Uh-huh.
 17 A. -- as a proposal, so I don't want my testimony to seem 18 as if we were not proposing an alternative to the 19 existing healthcare plan and that had not been 20 discussed prior to July 17th, but subject to those 21 qualifications the answer to your question is yes.
 22 Q. Now, I've been asking you as of July 17 and then the 23 bankruptcy filing was the very next day; correct?
 24 A. Yes.
 25 Q. Now, in your declaration do you recall making

Page 146

1 statements to the effect that there were expressions
 2 by certain union representatives that they would not,
 3 and I quote, countenance discussions over proposals to
 4 modify either retiree healthcare or pensions?
 5 A. Yes, I think those are quite publicly stated.
 6 Q. And you refer in your declaration to newspaper reports
 7 from June 20 and 21?
 8 A. Yes, and I'm trying to recall if people said that to 9 me personally as well. Yes, but I do recall the press
 10 reports, yes.
 11 Q. And those are in fact press reports that you referred 12 to as you said?
 13 A. Yeah, but I think -- and I'm just -- was your question
 14 asked about union representatives or union members?
 15 Q. Union representatives.
 16 A. Could that include members?
 17 Q. I'm not asking about people who are just members and 18 not officials in the union.
 19 A. So you're talking about union officials?
 20 Q. Union officials.
 21 A. Okay. That they would not countenance any change
 22 to --
 23 Q. I think the language from your declaration is that
 24 they would not countenance discussions over proposals
 25 to modify either retiree healthcare or pensions.

Page 147

1 A. Yeah, I don't think that was just a function of press
 2 reports, I think that was relayed to me upon my
 3 information and belief by others as well.
 4 Q. Upon your information and belief sounds like you
 5 didn't hear it personally?
 6 A. No, I just don't recall whether I heard it personally.
 7 I have heard it personally in other meetings from
 8 union representatives prior to July 17th, sure.
 9 Q. With respect to the statements that you quote in the 10 newspaper, those are just newspaper reports; right?
 11 A. Well, if they're newspaper -- they speak for 12 themselves if they're newspaper reports, but have I
 13 heard that from union representatives?
 14 Q. I'm --
 15 A. I'm responding to your question. Have I heard that 16 from union representative? Yes.
 17 Q. I'm going to get these in two phases; okay?
 18 A. Okay.
 19 Q. For the newspaper reports, you're relying on what was 20 said in the newspaper?
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. So you have no personal knowledge as to whether the 23 quotation in the newspaper was accurate or anything
 24 like that?
 25 A. Unless I was there, I'm not the reporter, yes.

Page 148

1 Q. Now, what statements were made to you outside of what
 2 you read in the newspaper?
 3 A. Quite early on I had heard from union representatives,
 4 I believe at DFFA, DPLSA, DPOA, I'm not sure it
 5 includes AFSCME, UAW, but I had heard statements in 6 that regard in many of the meetings that I've had with 7 them previously prior to July 17th.
 8 Q. And did they specifically -- what statements, saying
 9 specifically what?
 10 A. Generally -- you know, I don't know the exact quotes,
 11 but generally speaking what I said. They would not
 12 countenance cuts to healthcare and benefits.
 13 Q. That wasn't actually what you said in your
 14 declaration.
 15 A. That's what I said generally.
 16 Q. What you said in your declaration is they would not
 17 countenance discussions over proposals to modify
 18 either retiree healthcare or pensions.
 19 A. Yeah, healthcare, okay, yes.
 20 Q. So who said what -- I would like to know specific as 21 to who said what to you when?
 22 A. As I said, I had meetings early on with DFFA, I don't
 23 recall the specific members, but I recall the meeting,
 24 they were quite heated. Might have been one with 25 Mr. McNamara, Mr. Shinsky and others. I've had many

Page 149

1 meetings with DPLSA, Rodney Sizemore and Mark Young.
 2 I've had meetings with DPOA, Mark Diaz, where that was
 3 said prior to July 17th.
 4 Q. Okay. And you're aware that the -- at least two of 5 the individuals that you mentioned are signatories to 6 what we've marked as Exhibit 12?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. So you're not suggesting, are you, that those people
 9 were saying that their unions would not in any event
 10 negotiate with the City; were you?
 11 A. I didn't -- that's not my testimony. That's what I
 12 say in my declaration. I think most of the 13 discussions that were had were, here again, staying
 14 away from the traditional concept of negotiating
 15 because I'm not waiving any rights, but the general
 16 concern is we're not going to change pension and 17 healthcare benefits, there were a lot of discussions,
 18 these are affecting people's lives, these are promises
 19 that the City has made, all the things you've heard
 20 before. Those were recounted to me many times.
 21 Q. Okay. And as we saw from the document we've marked as 22 Exhibit 12, the DFFA was in fact interested in getting 23 specific proposals from the City and said it would be 24 making its own proposal; correct?
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for

Page 150

1 speculation.
 2 A. The letter speaks for itself, but it says it would be
 3 productive if the City could provide us with specific 4 proposals on pension benefit restructuring as soon as 5 possible. I think that there had been discussions in
 6 some of those meetings about pension benefits, but I
 7 guess they're asking for more detailed information.
 8 Q. And it also says as we went through before in the 9 fourth paragraph, we are reviewing and will provide
 10 the City with specific proposals; correct?
 11 A. Yeah, that's the information I got and they said they 12 were going to provide us with specific proposals.
 13 Q. Okay. And -- okay.
 14 And then we saw the response to that was in
 15 Exhibit 13 again; correct?
 16 A. Yes, this is the given for the discussions I talked
 17 about.
 18 Q. And then the bankruptcy filing was the very next day;
 19 correct?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. Did you personally have any discussions with 22 representatives of any retiree associations?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. Which ones?
 25 A. Fire, Detroit -- Police and Fire I think, yes. Early

Page 151

1 on with --
 2 Q. The Police and Fire?
 3 A. Yes.
 4 Q. And what was the substance of those discussions?
 5 A. This was concerns expressed about potential impact to 6 pensions and healthcare obligations.
 7 Q. And are you aware that the police and firefighters
 8 association, RDPP -- I'm sorry, RDPFFA, that's who 9 you're referring to?
 10 A. Right, RDPFFA, yes.
 11 Q. Retired Detroit Police and Firefighters Association,
 12 they represent retired police and firefighters;
 13 correct?
 14 A. Yes. I assume. That's their name, yeah.
 15 Q. Did anyone from that organization tell you that they
 16 were refusing to negotiate with the City?
 17 A. No, I don't think the discussion was of that nature
 18 and character about refusing to negotiate. I think it
 19 was quite -- by some members of that meeting made
 20 quite clear that they were not interested -- refusing 21 is a big word. It was made quite clear they were not
 22 interested in hearing about adjustments to pension
 23 benefits.
 24 Q. But you're not saying that that organization said it
 25 refused to negotiate with the City; are you?

Page 152

1 A. Like I said, refused is a big word. There was a lot
 2 of stridency in the conversations.
 3 Q. But to be clear, your testimony is not that the
 4 retiree association for the police and firefighters
 5 said that they would refuse to enter into any
 6 negotiations with the City?
 7 A. No, I keep saying it's not a question of refusing, it
 8 was that you can't do this. So they didn't say and 9 we're not going to ever talk to you again. That did
 10 not occur. What was very strident about you can't 11 do this.
 12 Q. And you could understand why they were strident about 13 what was being done to their retirement benefits;
 14 can't you?
 15 A. Well, nothing's been done to their retirement
 16 benefits. We've held them harmless for the balance of 17 this entire year. There was a proposal.
 18 Q. You can understand about the retirees would be upset
 19 about what was proposing to be done; can't you?
 20 A. I've said that before, sure.
 21 Q. I want to show you another document. Was that the 22 only retiree association you had discussions with?
 23 Any discussions with the Detroit Retired City
 24 Employees Association?
 25 A. I'm trying to think. None that I recall. None that I

Page 153

1 recall.

2 Q. Okay. Let me show you another document.

3 A. There may -- none that I recall with specificity.

4 Q. Okay. And you were aware that they represented other

5 nonuniformed retirees?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. But you can't recall anything --

8 A. None I recall with specificity.

9 MR. ULLMAN: Okay. Let's mark the next

10 document, which is, what, 15?

11 THE COURT REPORTER: Fourteen.

12 MR. ULLMAN: Fourteen.

13 (Marked Exhibit No. 14.)

14 Q. Okay, 14 is a document entitled retiree legacy cost

15 restructuring, September 11, 2013.

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. Are you familiar with this document?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And does this represent the City's current position as

20 to what it's going to do, what it's going to provide

21 for retirees?

22 A. This represents the slide deck that we proposed last

23 week at the initial meeting with the retiree

24 committee.

25 Q. Okay, and does it represent the position for the City

Page 154

1 currently as to what it's --

2 A. Yes, this is the current --

3 Q. -- planning to propose or planning to put through?

4 A. Yes, this is the City's current thinking.

5 Q. And as I understand this roughly, on the health side

6 what the City was saying it will do is essentially the

7 retirees who are Medicare qualified can sign up for

8 some various Medicare plans and the City will help

9 them with the payment of the premium for that?

10 A. Yes.

11 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, document speaks

12 for itself.

13 A. But yeah, on page 4 it starts that discussion, yes.

14 Q. Okay. And essentially for nonMedicare retirees in 15 terms of getting healthcare, they're on their own and

16 the City says it will give them $125 stipend; is that

17 right?

18 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.

19 A. Yeah, you say they're on their own, but I think

20 there's a proposal here that they be able to go onto

21 the exchanges provided by the Affordable Care Act and

22 the City would give them a stipend.

23 Q. Right, and that's if to the extent they can do it, but

24 it's up to them to do something like that; right?

25 A. Yeah, like Harris Teeter did last week, yes.

Page 155

1 Q. And on the pension side of things has there been any

2 change from what was set out in the June 14th

3 proposal? As I understand this, it's still a defined

4 contribution plan for current employees and no

5 contributions being made by the City for retired --

6 for retirees; is that right?

7 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.

8 A. Yeah, the general consensus is that you would close

9 the plan and there would be contributions for 10 currents, yes.

11 Q. And so again, just to be clear, that means for 12 retirees no ongoing contributions provided by the

13 City?

14 A. None other than their participation in the note that's

15 proposed in the June 14th proposal.

16 Q. And with no new funding for their pensions the 17 payments will stop -- to the retirees would stop being

18 made when the retirement funds run out; is that right?

19 A. That's a loaded question. I mean, the -- and the 20 reason I say it's a loaded question, some of the 21 retirement funds have said their payments won't run

22 out so that's why we want to have a dialogue. We

23 think they're at risk. They've told us they're not.

24 Q. And by the City's estimation the pension funding will

25 run out when? If no new funds are put in?

Page 156

1 A. Well, as you can see from our proposal, we have -- not

2 so much from the proposal but June 14th as well, we

3 made certain assumptions as to when the funds might

4 run out if nothing is adjusted one way or the other.

5 We've been told that we're wrong so --

6 Q. I'm asking. I'm asking the City's point of view.

7 A. The City's point of view is that we've made an

8 accurate and fair assumption that the funds will run

9 out at some point within the next two decades.

10 Q. And that's if no new money is contributed?

11 A. If -- well, and I'm being very careful. It's not just

12 if there's no new money, it depends upon actuarial

13 rates, it depends upon rate of return. Pensions could

14 invest in the Microsoft of their day and have more

15 than enough funds for the foreseeable future. But

16 assuming certainly reasonable assumptions that is the 17 conclusion of the City.

18 Q. And just to be clear, and that assumption as to when

19 it would run out assumes no further contributions by

20 the City; correct?

21 A. Yes, it assumes we close the plan. Other than the 22 note.

23 Q. And do you have any more specific recollection as to 24 when the funds would run out other than within the

25 next two decades?

Page 157 1 A. It's in my papers. If you want to point me to it, 2 that's fine, but I'll stand by what's in the papers. 3 Q. Now, you recall of course putting in a declaration in 4 the bankruptcy? 5 A. Yes. 6 Q. I guess I can actually give you a copy in case you 7 want to refer to it. 8 A. Okay. 9 MR. ULLMAN: Which we'll mark as 15. 10 (Marked Exhibit No. 15.) 11 Q. Okay, and Exhibit 15 is your declaration? 12 A. Yes. 13 Q. There's a lot of financial information that you put 14 out in your declaration; right? 15 A. Yes. 16 Q. One thing I didn't see in here is a balance sheet 17 showing the assets and liabilities of the City. 18 A. That is correct. 19 Q. Does one exist? 20 A. Not in the traditional sense that you're speaking of. 21 I think in our June 14th proposal we try to provide -- 22 and in other proposals we try to provide for some 23 listing of the City's potential assets of any 24 substantial form. But is their traditional corporate 25 balance sheet, for instance, for the City, no, not	Page 159 1 you make a number of statements about insolvency? 2 MR. SHUMAKER: What page? 3 MR. ULLMAN: Sure, it's 37. 4 A. Yes. 5 Q. And in particular you cite a lot of figures with 6 respect to cash flow and you give projections? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. Now, I think you indicated you're not an accountant? 9 A. No, I'm not. 10 Q. And is it correct that you yourself did not prepare 11 the cash flow numbers and projections? 12 A. That is correct. 13 Q. The underlying work was done by others? 14 A. Yes. 15 Q. And in your declaration you cite a number of sources 16 for the figures that you give in paragraphs 54 through 17 57? 18 A. Yes. 19 Q. You don't cite Ernst & Young as one of the sources? 20 A. No, that's because Ernst & Young submitted a parallel 21 affidavit at the time of this filing of Gaurav 22 Malhotra. 23 Q. Didn't the City in fact retain Ernst & Young to 24 prepare these cash flow projections? 25 A. The City retained Ernst & Young I believe over two
Page 158 1 yet. 2 Q. Do you have schedules of assets and liabilities that 3 exist, though? 4 A. Yes, yes. 5 Q. Have those been produced? 6 A. I don't know if we've completed the schedules so -- 7 you're talking about the schedules of assets and 8 liabilities? I don't know. 9 MR. ULLMAN: I'll call for their 10 production. 11 MR. SHUMAKER: We will see. 12 MR. ULLMAN: I'm sorry? 13 MR. SHUMAKER: We'll look into it. I'm not 14 sure whether they've been produced or not right now as 15 I sit here. 16 A. Well, just to be clear, as you know, under Chapter 9 17 the time frame of it -- 18 Q. That wasn't my question. 19 A. But I'm answering your question so it won't be unclear 20 on the record. 21 Q. But there isn't a question. 22 A. No, I'm being responsive. So it won't be unclear on 23 the record. Under Chapter 9 they're actually not due 24 yet, so let's just be clear. 25 Q. Now, at paragraphs 52 through 57 of your declaration	Page 160 1 years ago to work on liquidity, cash flow and 2 analysis. I don't think it was limited to just cash 3 flow projections. 4 Q. But that's one of the things that Ernst & Young did? 5 A. Yes. 6 Q. And that's one of the things in fact that -- what's 7 his name -- Gaurav Malhotra did? 8 A. Gaurav Malhotra. 9 Q. I'm sorry. 10 A. No problem. 11 Q. And Mr. Malhotra was in fact one of the lead Ernst & 12 Young players involved in working with the City; 13 wasn't he? 14 A. Yes, he's a principal at Ernst & Young. 15 Q. And is it correct that the figures that you're citing 16 in these paragraphs of your declaration in fact come 17 from work that come from Mr. Malhotra? 18 MR. SHUMAKER: Which figures are we talking 19 about, counsel? 20 MR. ULLMAN: Basically by my recollection 21 all of -- pretty much all of the figures. Certainly 22 in 54 these numbers about the 225 million, the 23 schedule that appears on page 39, the information 24 about the retiree legacy obligations being 8 percent 25 of revenues and this was all -- and going on, I just

1 tried to chart it out briefly. It looked to me
 2 basically all this was taken or appeared also in the
 3 affidavit or declaration of Mr. Malhotra.
 4 MR. SHUMAKER: I object to all this.
 5 That's why I'm trying to ask you to be specific so
 6 that the witness can give a responsive answer.
 7 A. Yeah, let me say --
 8 MR. SHUMAKER: Paragraphs 54 through what?
 9 MR. ULLMAN: Fifty-seven.
 10 THE WITNESS: Fifty-seven.
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: Through 57.
 12 A. Let me say this generally. If you look at Gaurav
 13 Malhotra's declaration, he states that this 14 information is compiled by him in conversations with 15 City employees and other consultants as well. So I
 16 don't want to give the impression that he's the sole
 17 source for the data that we recovered. It is a
 18 compilation of data from a number of different sources
 19 and I relied on those same sources too and as this is 20 reported in the various footnotes to source the 21 material, they may have come from Mr. Malhotra but 22 they may have come from a number of different sources
 23 in the process of him developing the work.
 24 Q. But either way they were not done by you personally?
 25 A. No, they were not done by me personally.

Page 162

1 Q. Did you do anything to verify the numbers, the
 2 figures, the calculations done in paragraphs 52
 3 through 57 of your declaration were accurate?
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. What did you do?
 6 A. I discussed them with Mr. Malhotra and a number of 7 different consultants. We discussed them with the 8 economists at Ernst & Young and other accountants. I
 9 discussed some of them with City employees.
 10 Q. Okay, so you essentially satisfied yourselves that the 11 people who prepared these numbers did what they were 12 supposed to do and made what you thought were 13 reasonable assumptions in coming to them; is that 14 fair?
 15 A. Yes. I mean, some of them are just factual
 16 statements, but yes, to the extent there were 17 assumptions and work being done, there was some 18 participation in the organic work.
 19 Q. Okay, and you relied on the information that was being
 20 provided to you?
 21 A. Yes, by the professionals.
 22 Q. By the people -- by the professionals you hired to 23 perform that task?
 24 A. Yes.
 25 Q. Now, is it correct that in the years prior to the time

Page 163

1 you got there Detroit was subject to various scandals
 2 including financial mismanagement?
 3 A. Yes.
 4 Q. And one of the former mayors in fact went to jail for
 5 corruption; isn't that right?
 6 A. He's been convicted. I don't know if he's sentenced,
 7 but certainly that's been widely written about.
 8 Q. Right. And do you know whether the books and records
 9 that survived that administration were complete and
 10 accurate?
 11 A. I know that the, for instance, the CAFR, Consolidated
 12 Annual Financial Report, was based on certain books
 13 and records. I know that there have been questions
 14 raised about the quality and competence of Detroit's
 15 books and records. My testimony would be that to the 16 best extent possible based upon the data that we got 17 we relied on those books and records.
 18 Q. And is it correct that the books and records -- and 19 those were the same books and records that 20 Mr. Malhotra relied on; right?
 21 A. Yes, I think --
 22 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for
 23 speculation.
 24 A. I think Mr. Malhotra's declaration states that Ernst &
 25 Young did not audit the books and records of the City.

Page 164

1 Q. And did anyone else audit the books and records of the
 2 City before these numbers that appear in your
 3 declaration were prepared?
 4 A. There may have been. I'm not sure, because depending 5 upon at any given time where the numbers come from 6 they may have been subject to an audit or they may 7 have been subject to a review, for instance the 8 pension numbers. Gabriel Rotor, which was GRS's
 9 traditional actuary, may have done some balance. So
 10 in my understanding based upon both the information I
 11 received and discussion from Malhotra's declaration,
 12 Ernst & Young did not audit them and I'm not an
 13 auditor so that's my understanding.
 14 Q. But do you know whether or not anyone else audited --
 15 A. I don't know.
 16 Q. And is it correct that if the underlying data of the 17 books and records that were being used to prepare
 18 these cash flow numbers and projections have material
 19 inaccuracies, that those would affect the projections
 20 and the figures as well?
 21 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 22 A. That's a hypothetical, but I think it's fair to say
 23 that if they had material inaccuracies, they would 24 have an impact, but I'm unaware that they are 25 materially inaccurate.

Page 165

1 Q. But that's never been subject to an audit; has it?

2 A. To the best of my knowledge I don't know when they

3 have or when they haven't.

4 Q. Okay. And I think you indicated that in coming up

5 with these figures various people were consulted in

6 various fields and a number of assumptions were made;

7 is that right?

8 A. I believe so.

9 Q. And I think you also indicated in your structuring

10 proposal from June 14th that the numbers are subject

11 to various assumptions which could or could not prove

12 right; correct?

13 A. Well, I think in June 14th we've said that it's a

14 proposal and there may be various issues that may or 15 may not be correct.

16 Q. Yeah. Okay, and obviously if any of the assumptions

17 that went into the underlying numbers that appear in

18 your declaration are wrong, then the numbers

19 themselves would also be subject to inaccuracy; true?

20 A. Let me say this about that. Both in June 14th

21 presentation and in this declaration, we've tried to

22 present an accurate picture of the City's books and

23 records and status to the best extent possible that we

24 have. Where there were questions we have tried to err

25 on the side of reasonable assumptions as opposed to

Page 166

1 unreasonable assumptions either way. But your general

2 question as to whether or not if the information going

3 in was inaccurate, revealed an inaccurate result, I

4 think it's true as a matter of just common sense and

5 logic.

6 Q. And the same thing as to assumptions. If the

7 assumption made was wrong, then the output would be

8 wrong also?

9 A. I think that's why we asked several times to have a

10 discussion about the assumptions that are necessary

11 for pension benefits.

12 Q. Now, the cash flows that are being reported in your

13 declaration, those do not include any assumptions as

14 to the monetization of various assets that the City

15 continues to hold; is that right?

16 MR. SHUMAKER: This is paragraph 56 that

17 you're referring to, counsel?

18 MR. ULLMAN: Yeah, I'm looking in general.

19 MR. SHUMAKER: In cash flow?

20 MR. ULLMAN: Yeah, cash flow.

21 A. You're talking about generally do the cash flows

22 include any monetization of any City assets?

23 Q. Yeah.

24 A. No, they do not.

25 Q. And obviously if assets currently held by the City

Page 167

1 were monetized, that would provide additional cash to

2 pay obligations including retirement and health

3 obligations; correct?

4 A. Well, additional cash from onetime asset sales may not

5 necessarily equal cash flows. As I understand the

6 analysis we've tried to present is cash flows based

7 upon a recurring basis as opposed to onetime assets

8 but it would yield additional cash.

9 Q. Yes. If you sold an asset and had money, you would

10 have the money available to pay something?

11 A. Yeah, you might have a onetime -- I'm not an

12 accountant, but you might have a onetime cash charge,

13 yes.

14 Q. And if the cash, the amount you got was large, it

15 could last for a long period of time; correct?

16 A. Well, it depends upon what --

17 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, form.

18 A. Depends upon what it was used for. I mean, what are

19 you talking about? When you say could last for a long

20 period of time, it could be a one -- you could sell

21 one asset for $5 million and that wouldn't last a

22 month.

23 Q. Yes, and depending on the amount of assets that were

24 sold, if you got a substantial amount of money, that

25 could enable the City of Detroit to pay ongoing bills

Page 168

1 for some period of time; true?

2 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.

3 A. Here again, depending upon the size of the asset, but

4 anything is possible.

5 Q. Okay. Now, the City of Detroit owns certain pieces of

6 art that are stored at the Detroit Institute of Art;

7 is that right?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. And how many is that?

10 A. I think the City owns approximately 66,000 pieces of 11 art.

12 Q. Now, those --

13 A. No, strike that. Let me be clear so we can move on.

14 Q. Yeah.

15 A. I think there are 66,000 pieces of art over at Detroit

16 Institute of Art. I'm not sure the City owns all

17 66,000 pieces. I've been informed that it owns 35,000

18 of those pieces in an undisputed capacity.

19 Q. Okay, that's what I was getting at. And that's

20 distinct from art that is subject to a public -- or is

21 or may be subject to a public trust or something like

22 that. This is 35,000 pieces that the City owns, as

23 you said, in an undisputed capacity?

24 A. Outright, yes.

25 Q. Outright. Now, is it correct that the City has

Page 169

1 retained Christie's to appraise this City-owned art?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. And have you gotten back any information yet from 4 Christie's as to the appraised value?
 5 A. No.
 6 Q. And do you have any understanding as to the value of 7 the appraised -- of the art that's being appraised
 8 independent of what -- of Christie's as a source?
 9 A. Only what I've read in various news articles and 10 blogs.
 11 Q. And I think you've seen press reports indicating that 12 for some of the most important works alone the value
 13 could be at least 2.5 billion or something on that 14 order?
 15 A. We talked about press reports earlier and I was 16 cautioned to be careful so I'm going to say the same.
 17 Q. I'm just asking.
 18 A. I'm trying to respond to your question. I'm going to 19 say the same thing about press reports here. I have 20 seen press reports reporting various values for the 21 art.
 22 Q. And have you seen press reports reporting for the most 23 important pieces alone values on the order of 24 2.5 billion?
 25 A. I don't recall if I've seen those specific press

Page 170

1 reports.
 2 Q. Do you have any reason to believe that the value of
 3 the City-owned art is less than something on that
 4 order of magnitude?
 5 A. I'm relatively agnostic on the value of the art at 6 this point. I'm waiting to see the appraisal.
 7 Q. Do you have any understanding as you sit here today as 8 to what the value of the City-owned art is?
 9 A. No.
 10 Q. Are you considering selling the City-owned art to 11 generate cash?
 12 A. What I've said consistently is all options on the 13 table, but we first have to decide what we're talking
 14 about.
 15 Q. Do you have any understanding as to how long it would 16 take to sell the art if a decision were made to sell
 17 it?
 18 A. No.
 19 Q. Have you considered other ways to monetize the art
 20 besides an outright sale?
 21 A. All options are on the table.
 22 Q. Well, have you considered any others in particular?
 23 A. We have not made -- meaning my team and I have not 24 made any decisions with regard to the art contained at 25 DIA.

1 Q. I'm not asking about decisions, I'm just asking what
 2 you considered.
 3 A. We considered a lot of things, yes.
 4 Q. And have you -- well, then can you answer my question
 5 more specifically? What if any ways to monetize the 6 art have you considered other than an outright sale?
 7 A. I think there's been discussions about some form of --
 8 and I'm not clear because to be direct, I know that
 9 some of my -- I've never been to DIA, I don't think
 10 I've ever spoken with their board, I know that some of 11 my consultants have been over there and have had 12 various discussions about the art. I think the 13 discussions were very high level and very general.
 14 That's what I know.
 15 Q. Okay, that's really very nonspecific. Are you aware 16 of any specific consideration given to any form of 17 monetizing the art other than an outright sale?
 18 A. No, nothing specific.
 19 Q. Could be a lease -- sorry, but nothing has been 20 identified as a possible route to monetize?
 21 A. Nothing specific. There have been discussions, but 22 nothing specific.
 23 Q. Have there been discussions of leasing as a possible
 24 way to monetize?
 25 A. Possibly, yes.

Page 172

1 Q. Okay. And do you have any understanding of the amount
 2 of cash flow that could be generated on an annual
 3 basis if the art were leased?
 4 A. Sitting here today, no.
 5 Q. Has that number been talked about? Is there a
 6 document that might discuss that?
 7 A. No, no, there's no document. I -- I -- in an effort
 8 to be accurate, I think I had a discussion with one of 9 the representatives at Christie's that was generally
 10 speaking leasing is a very difficult thing to do.
 11 That's the nature of the discussion, that you would 12 have to have the right pieces at the right time at the 13 right market to generate cash.
 14 Q. So there was no discussion about the amount of money
 15 it could generate?
 16 A. No, no, it -- there was some discussion about 17 $1 million, for instance, or something like that, but 18 it's nothing substantive.
 19 Q. Okay. Now, the City also has a department of water
 20 and sewers; is that right?
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. And as I understand it, the department of water and 23 sewers operates as a separate entity for accounting
 24 and operating purposes?
 25 A. As a result of Judge Cox's opinion, it has separate

Page 173 1 procurement, accounting and managerial 2 responsibilities, but as it's stated in that opinion, 3 it remains an asset in the department of the City. 4 Q. And is it correct that the water and sewer department 5 has issued secured bonds? 6 A. Yes, they're in my June 14th proposal. 7 Q. Okay, and I don't recall. What was the value of the 8 bonds that were issued? 9 A. The secured portion of the bonds all in, but this also 10 includes some parking -- parking was 95 million, some 11 dedicated state revenue bonds was a couple hundred 12 million, but generally speaking about 5.7 billion. 13 Q. And those bonds -- the 5.7 billion is secured by the 14 assets of the department? 15 A. Yes, yes. 16 Q. And as you understand it, does the value of the assets 17 of the department of water and sewers exceed the 18 values of the secured bonds? 19 A. I don't know if there's been a formal appraisal, but I 20 certainly would hope so. 21 Q. Do you have an understanding of the value of the water 22 and sewer assets? 23 A. Not sitting here today. 24 Q. Do you have a general understanding, a general 25 recollection?	Page 175 1 department's operations, not the assets, from the City 2 and perhaps increase additional value as a byproduct 3 of that process. 4 Q. And this is what is referred to in the June 14th 5 proposal or this transaction with this new authority? 6 A. Yes. 7 Q. And that would involve some sort of payment by the 8 authority to the City? 9 A. Yes, some sort of lease payment or like kind payment. 10 Q. Do you have any understanding -- can you give me any 11 idea as to the value that would be achieved by that, 12 the amount of cash that the City would be achieving, 13 realizing, if that went through? 14 A. Judge Cox's opinion, and I'm referencing the opinion 15 to state what's already in the record, references I 16 believe a $62 million payment, which he called wildly 17 speculative. But there may be payments in that 18 regard, somewhere between 40 or lower to maybe up to 19 100. It's unclear. 20 Q. Right now who has control over the revenues that are 21 taken in by the department of water and sewers? 22 A. City does. 23 Q. Now, the department of water and sewers also had 24 retirement obligations for its -- 25 A. Well, they have employees that are members of the
Page 174 1 A. When you talk about asset values, you're talking about 2 switches, pipes, valves, things along that nature. I 3 don't think I've ever seen an appraisal of the value 4 of the assets of the water and sewer department. 5 Q. Do you have a general understanding of what the value 6 of the assets -- 7 A. No. 8 Q. -- is worth? 9 A. No. 10 Q. Have you taken any steps to monetize the value of the 11 assets owned by the water and sewer department? 12 A. When you say monetize, I'm going to respond to the 13 question on the basis that monetize is in the broad 14 sense -- 15 Q. Uh-huh. 16 A. -- not whether it's a lease, whether it's a sale, 17 getting authority. 18 Q. Just get money for it. 19 A. Get money for it, get some dough, okay, just want to 20 be clear. Discussions are ongoing in that regard. 21 Q. What are those discussions in a nutshell? 22 A. Those are commercially sensitive so I don't want to 23 interfere. Suffice it to say, the -- Judge Cox's 24 opinion spoke to the possibility of creating an 25 authority that would remove the water and sewer	Page 176 1 General retirement fund. 2 Q. Right. And how were payments to the retirement fund 3 for those employees to be made? In other words, were 4 they to be made directly by the department of water 5 and sewer, to the Retirement Systems or were they made 6 by the department of water and sewer to the City, 7 which then was to remit them to the Retirement 8 Systems? 9 A. You're talking about the transaction or steady state 10 now? 11 Q. The steady state. 12 A. Steady state now. My understanding is that's part of 13 the City's obligation. 14 Q. So the DWS, department of water and sewers, is to give 15 the money for the retirement to the City, the City 16 was -- 17 A. City makes it. 18 Q. -- was then supposed to make the payment to the 19 Retirement Systems? 20 A. Uh-huh. 21 Q. And are you aware of any funds that were transmitted 22 by the department of water and city (sic) to the City 23 for the purpose of funding pensions that were then 24 used by the City for other purposes? 25 A. I don't know if you can identify specific water and

1 sewer funds and transactions. I know that the City
 2 has borrowed from the General Retirement System from
 3 time to time.
 4 MR. ULLMAN: So that's not really answering
 5 my question. Can I have my question read back please?
 6 THE WITNESS: Okay, sure.
 7 (Record read back as requested.)
 8 A. Am I aware? It would be speculative. I've -- no.
 9 Q. So is it your testimony that all monies that were 10 transmitted by department of water and sewer to the 11 City to make payment for pension benefits were in fact
 12 properly applied to the Retirement Systems as pension
 13 contributions?
 14 A. No, that's a conclusion on my statement I wasn't
 15 aware. That may have occurred, but sitting here
 16 today, without speculating, I'm not aware of a
 17 specific transaction or transactions.
 18 Q. So it may have occurred, you just don't know one way
 19 or the other?
 20 A. I just don't know.
 21 Q. Now, you indicated that the City has control over the 22 money that's taken in by the department of water and 23 sewers; yes?
 24 A. City has control over the department of water and 25 sewer. There are certain obligations due from the

1 department of water and sewer, but yes.
 2 Q. Okay. So if the department of water and sewer has
 3 money that it wants to spend for a particular purpose,
 4 is it correct that the City could decide that the
 5 money should not be spent for that purpose and used
 6 for something else?
 7 A. That would depend upon the nature of the bond
 8 obligations at department of water and sewer because 9 although the department remains a department of the 10 City, the bond obligations that are secured have 11 certain security interests in that revenue stream.
 12 Q. Okay. Is there anything that restricts the City from 13 taking money from the department of water and sewer
 14 that the department of water and sewer wishes to use
 15 for and has earmarked for capital improvements to the 16 water and sewer system?
 17 A. Yes, there's probably restrictions in the bond
 18 instruments.
 19 Q. And other than what may be in the bond instruments is 20 there any legal prohibition on the City taking the 21 money that the DWS would otherwise use for capital
 22 improvements?
 23 A. Yes, there might be under Judge Cox's opinion.
 24 Q. But without reviewing the specifics of Judge Cox's 25 opinion, you don't know that?

Page 179

1 A. I don't know that.
 2 Q. Now, are you aware that in its most current proposals
 3 the department of water and sewer is proposing over
 4 the next several years to spend hundreds of millions
 5 of dollars on capital projects?
 6 A. Yes.
 7 Q. And have you given any consideration to not having 8 that money used for capital improvements to water and 9 sewer including new projects but in fact to have that
 10 money used to satisfy other existing City obligations,
 11 which may include but not be limited to pension or 12 healthcare obligations?
 13 A. Have we given some consideration? Here again, this is 14 wrapped up in the potential transaction that is being
 15 discussed and I think it's been reported with a number
 16 of counties and other parties so I want to be careful
 17 that I don't impact commercially sensitive
 18 information. I know that the capital improvement plan
 19 at DWSD is a component of ensuring that its 20 creditworthiness remains separate and apart from the 21 City and is at a higher rate. Your question was have 22 I given any consideration to not having them make that 23 capital improvements?
 24 Q. Or to having make a lesser capital improvement,
 25 thereby obtaining money for the City to use for other

Page 180

1 purposes?
 2 A. And my response to that would be that's all wrapped up
 3 in the discussions regarding transaction and what's
 4 necessary to maximize the ability of that department
 5 to generate income for the benefit of the City.
 6 Q. So is that something that you're looking at and
 7 considering to take money that would otherwise be used
 8 for capital improvements and apply it to satisfy
 9 existing obligations?
 10 A. As this is a potential transaction that we talked
 11 about on June 14th, that's currently under discussion
 12 with some of our customer base including other
 13 counties. I want to be very careful that I don't
 14 interfere with those negotiations by saying something
 15 that would not enhance the value or maintain the value
 16 of that asset. Suffice it to say, we are aware of the 17 situation and it is wrapped up in the discussions
 18 we're having about a potential transaction.
 19 Q. Okay, and at this potential transaction, take that off
 20 the table, assume it doesn't go through or is 21 withdrawn, have you given any consideration to simply 22 looking at the capital monies that are available at 23 DWSD and using some or all of them to fund existing 24 obligations rather than new capital improvements or 25 capital improvements to existing work at the

1 department?

2 A. Let me say it this way. We have examined a number of

3 options and alternatives related to DWSD including

4 those that might be implicated by your question.

5 Q. So is the answer to my question yes, you have

6 considered that?

7 A. We have considered all operations at DWSD including

8 those that might be implicated by your question. I

9 said before I'm going to be very careful so I don't

10 interfere with the commercial aspects with what's

11 going on now.

12 Q. And can you tell me how much you believe or understand

13 the City can take from the capital fund from DWSD in

14 order to satisfy its ongoing obligations if it chose

15 to do that?

16 A. I didn't say --

17 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.

18 A. I didn't say that we would take any capital, I said

19 we'd consider it.

20 Q. I didn't -- I'm asking can you tell me how much would

21 you understand is available to take if the City

22 decides to go down that route?

23 A. No, I can't tell you that.

24 Q. Have you done any analysis of that?

25 A. Analysis is a strong word. Have we looked at the

Page 182

1 options and related to the transaction all

2 potentialities, but I can't tell you what that number

3 would be.

4 Q. Who within the City would be most knowledgeable about

5 the capital funds that are available at the DWSD?

6 A. At the City?

7 Q. Yeah.

8 A. Probably the operations at DWSD.

9 Q. You also made reference in the June 14th proposal to 10 the parking systems that the City owns.

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. And as I understand it there are nine garages?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. Two lots with over 1,200 spaces?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. And over 3,400 meters?

17 A. Yes.

18 Q. Do you have an understanding as to the value of those

19 assets?

20 A. No, we're currently doing our analysis as to the value

21 of those assets now.

22 Q. And you have no preliminary view as to what they're

23 worth? Nothing's been reported back to you on at 24 least a tentative basis?

25 A. No, nothing has been reported back to me on -- because

Page 183

1 when you talk about values, there's a range of values

2 from asset disposition and outright sale and

3 privatization to creating an operation or an authority

4 where someone has brought in, as has been done in

5 Washington, D.C., to actually operate the garages and

6 meters. So we're looking at a range of alternatives

7 to determine what those values could be.

8 Q. What's the range of values you're looking at so far?

9 A. We don't have that yet.

10 Q. How concrete have you -- let me withdraw that.

11 What specific steps have been taken so far?

12 A. Our investment advisors and consultants are beginning

13 discussions with various parties that undertake these

14 types of operations within a range of alternatives to 15 try to assess values.

16 Q. And the investment advisors, would that be Buckfire?

17 A. Yeah, it would be our investment banker, Ken Buckfire,

18 Miller Buckfire.

19 Q. Okay. In the June 14th proposal you also make 20 reference to about 22 square miles of land that the 21 City owns?

22 A. City-owned land, yes.

23 Q. Do you have an understanding as to the value of that

24 land?

25 A. I've been informed that some of the value is at best

Page 184

1 nominal, but no, sitting here today, I do not have a

2 number as to the value of the land.

3 Q. Have any steps been taken to try to monetize that

4 value, to get dough as you put it?

5 A. Yeah. Well, here again, you're -- to get income

6 realization perhaps I should say more articulately,

7 but here again, we're at the preliminary steps of

8 examining potential alternatives regarding land.

9 Q. So you don't know yet?

10 A. No.

11 Q. The Belle Isle Park, that's also referenced in the 12 June 14th proposal?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. It's indicated that there's a prospective lease to the 15 state?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. Okay. And do you expect that to go through?

18 A. I'm going to ask for it. It was proposed and was not

19 accepted in time so the state withdrew it, but I do

20 believe we're going to intend to ask that that lease

21 be renewed.

22 Q. And what's the annual rent the City would get under

23 that lease?

24 A. The City has a $6 million maintenance obligation and

25 that would be taken up by the state so that wouldn't

Page 185 1 be cash to the City, that would relieve us of an 2 obligation. It has several millions to tens of 3 millions of dollars in deferred maintenance at some of 4 the structures on the island and the state would 5 undertake that obligation as well. 6 Q. So it would essentially relieve the City of Detroit -- 7 A. Take it off. 8 Q. -- of debt burden it would otherwise bear? 9 A. Yes. 10 Q. You also mention the Joe Louis Arena? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. Any steps taken to monetize that? 13 A. Here again, we're under initial analysis and 14 appraisals about what can be done with that. 15 Q. Do you have any understanding so far as to what the 16 potential cash value is that could be gotten from the 17 use of that stadium? 18 A. Well, there are existing statements regarding cash 19 flows and use of that stadium, but we're reviewing 20 different ways to look at it in some fashion. 21 Q. Do you have any understanding or belief as to the 22 value that can be realized from that? 23 A. No. 24 Q. Now, in your June 14th proposal you also make 25 reference to trying to increase the tax collection	Page 187 1 determine whether or not it would yield a net positive 2 benefit. 3 Q. Are you aware in the recent past of a tax write-off, 4 an actual write-off of taxes, on the order of around 5 700 million? 6 A. I have -- I didn't hear that particular figure. I had 7 heard that there was a write-off. Am I aware of it? 8 Yes, I'm aware of it. 9 Q. And what's your understanding as to what that 10 write-off was? Was it 700 million, 800 million? 11 What's the figure you heard? 12 A. I don't know what the figure was, but I heard that it 13 was based on noncollectibles. That the probability of 14 collecting it was very low. 15 Q. Are you aware of any report that indicates that there 16 was a write-off on the order of 700 million, possibly 17 more, the figure I heard was 700 million, that may in 18 fact be collectible? 19 A. I've heard that some people have maintained that is 20 collectible, but I've also heard that the general 21 consensus is it may not be. 22 Q. Okay, and is there a specific set of taxes that that 23 pertains to, this figure we're talking about, seven or 24 800? 25 A. I don't know. I know that that is one of the -- in
Page 186 1 rate. 2 A. Yes. 3 Q. Does the City keep a ledger, a line item, for 4 uncollected taxes? 5 A. The City keeps many line items. I think we -- you 6 mean uncollected taxes? 7 Q. Yeah, listing of -- 8 A. Yes. 9 Q. -- this is the amount for uncollected taxes? 10 A. Yes. 11 Q. Are you aware of any uncollected taxes that have in 12 the past been written off the City's books in the 13 recent tax but may in fact be collectible? 14 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form. 15 A. No. No. In fact, discussions that I've had is that 16 that -- the 50 percent compliance rate is not linear, 17 that is for every dollar put in to collect additional 18 taxes doesn't necessarily mean you're going to yield a 19 dollar plus in doing it. It might actually be a loss 20 leader so we're examining ways of trying to increase 21 collections. I assume you're talking about real 22 estate property taxes or income taxes? 23 Q. Or income, any kind of taxes. 24 A. Yeah, we're examining a number of different 25 alternatives in that regard, but we're trying to	Page 188 1 the presentation we talk about various City assets, 2 airport, Belle Isle, parking, City-owned land, 3 City-owned buildings, others, we also have talked 4 about account receivables and I know that that fits in 5 that bucket, potential account receivables. 6 Q. Are you aware that the treasurer, Andy Dillon, has 7 acknowledged that there's a report that exists that 8 talks about the 700 or so million figure written off 9 that really is collectible? 10 A. That's what I had heard. That's what I meant when I 11 said I heard to that extent, yeah. 12 Q. And do you know what this report is? 13 A. No, I just -- I just heard about it coming in in the 14 process of doing some due diligence, but one, I 15 haven't seen it; two, we're looking into it. 16 Q. So you're in the process of trying to run down that 17 report and see what it is? 18 A. We're trying to run down a number of reports, rumors 19 and suggestions that there are account receivables due 20 the City. 21 MR. ULLMAN: And I would like to request a 22 copy of that report. 23 MR. SHUMAKER: We'll look into it. 24 THE WITNESS: If we have it. 25 Q. Now, did the City put in place tax programs -- tax

1 amnesty programs?
 2 A. Has the City put in place?
 3 Q. Yes.
 4 A. Since I've been here?
 5 Q. Yes.
 6 A. A tax amnesty program?
 7 Q. Yes, to try to get people who owe money --
 8 A. No, not yet, no.
 9 Q. Is that something you're considering?
 10 A. We have had discussions in that regard. I know that 11 it's done for parking tickets and tax amnesty and 12 other municipalities, particularly in Washington,
 13 D.C., but we have not done that yet.
 14 Q. And I think you indicated that the City has not been
 15 very efficient in collecting taxes; has it?
 16 A. I think that's a fair statement.
 17 Q. Do you have an understanding as to how much tax there
 18 is that's collectible, in fact could be collected if 19 the City did a more efficient job in going after tax
 20 debtors?
 21 A. Yeah, as I said, the discussions we've had is that 22 collection efforts are not necessarily linear; that 23 is, for every dollar spent you're going to get more in 24 taxes. And in fact, there have been some discussions
 25 that to the extent you try, it could actually be

Page 190

1 deleterious to the billion dollars of revenue that we
 2 anticipate -- on average that we anticipate receiving
 3 in the out years. So we're examining those
 4 discussions to see if you can get more recovery by 5 additional collection efforts or if you can be more
 6 efficient in your ongoing collection efforts as well
 7 as more user-friendly for those who want to pay their 8 taxes. We're looking at the full range of enhancing 9 both tax collections as well as tax payments.
 10 Q. Do you have any understanding as to how much value
 11 could be achieved if those goals were realized?
 12 A. Not sitting here today.
 13 Q. And are there any ongoing reports that have been 14 prepared or documentation talking about what the 15 realization to the City could be if it got its tax
 16 collection act more in line?
 17 A. I don't know if it's a report. I've seen some 18 correspondence about tax rates, yes.
 19 MR. ULLMAN: Okay, I would like to request
 20 copies of those documents also.
 21 Q. Okay, and then, Mr. Orr, in your testimony this
 22 morning I think you made reference to some other cases
 23 that you were aware of where you said that as a result
 24 of going into Chapter 9, state laws were effectively
 25 trumped and you gave some examples of things, Escheat

Page 191

1 law and rent control law; is that right?
 2 A. No, the -- those were Chapter 9 cases. The cases I
 3 was talking about having rent control and Escheat was
 4 while I was at RTC. The state dealer law cases was a
 5 Chapter 11 case for Chrysler.
 6 Q. Okay.
 7 A. So it was federal law under FIRREA. If you remember
 8 the discussion, I said Financial Institution Reform
 9 Recovery Enforcement Act of 1989 as amended trumps
 10 state laws.
 11 Q. So are you aware of any cases involving a Chapter 9
 12 bankruptcy where as a result of going into Chapter 9 a 13 state law was held unenforceable or was held not to 14 apply in a particular situation?
 15 A. I remember reading -- well, this is a communication
 16 from counsel.
 17 MR. SHUMAKER: Let me caution you.
 18 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: Don't reveal a communication
 20 from counsel.
 21 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 22 MR. SHUMAKER: The question is are you
 23 aware of any cases.
 24 A. Am I aware of any cases, yes.
 25 Q. And what is that case?

Page 192

1 A. I can't -- it was an attorney-client communication.
 2 Q. And are you aware of any cases where, to use your
 3 phraseology, as a result of a Chapter 9 filing by a
 4 municipality the state constitution was trumped?
 5 A. Chapter 9 filing?
 6 Q. Yes.
 7 A. I'm not sure, because the case I'm aware of, I don't
 8 know if it was a state constitution. I don't recall.
 9 MR. ULLMAN: Okay, I have no more questions
 10 at this time. But I may reserve the right, we have 11 some other people that are going to ask questions, at 12 the end of that to ask some follow-ups, if that's 13 possible.
 14 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 15 MR. SHUMAKER: You want to take a quick
 16 break?
 17 MR. ULLMAN: Yeah, why don't we take a
 18 break. Someone else has to sit here.
 19 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
 20 2:53 p.m.
 21 (A brief recess was taken.)
 22 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on record at
 23 3:07 p.m.
 24 EXAMINATION
 25 BY MS. LEVINE:

Page 193

1 Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Orr. Thank you for appearing
2 today. Your deposition is continued, you're still
3 under oath. To save some time I'm not going to repeat
4 some of the instructions we went through at the 5 beginning of the deposition.
6 For the record Sharon Levine, Lowenstein
7 Sandler, for the American Federation of State, County
8 and Municipal Employees and with me Michael Artz,
9 in-house counsel of AFSCME.
10 A. Okay. Thank you and I understand.
11 (Discussion held off the record.)
12 Q. Okay, sorry for that.
13 A. Okay.
14 Q. Mr. Orr, there was some colloquy --
15 MR. SHUMAKER: Mic.
16 Q. There was some colloquy this morning with regard to 17 negotiations or discussions --
18 A. Yes.
19 Q. -- prior to the filing of the bankruptcy case.
20 A. Yes.
21 Q. Are you familiar with concessionary bargaining
22 historically in Detroit?
23 A. Could you -- I have read to some degree about the 24 labor history and concessionary bargaining in Detroit
25 stemming from Walter Reuther on forward, even

Page 194

1 concessionary bargaining going forward from I would
2 say Mayor Kilpatrick, Mayor Cockrel and Mayor Bing and
3 in specific the 10 percent wage cuts and other
4 concessions, but if there's something else that you
5 would like to talk about, please explain it.
6 Q. So that's yes?
7 A. Yes.
8 Q. Generally?
9 A. Well, generally, but if there's something specific,
10 please, yes.
11 Q. Is it your view that concessionary bargaining can 12 result in concessions with the -- with regard to 13 benefits without a Chapter 9?
14 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for legal
15 conclusion.
16 A. It was my hope -- and here again, I'm going to say the 17 same statement that I said earlier today, collective 18 bargaining and concessionary bargaining, however you
19 call it, is suspended under Paris. I don't want to 20 waive any rights that the City may have under 436. Do
21 I recognize people certainly aren't in agreement.
22 Um --
23 Q. Let me rephrase the question. I just want to clarify.
24 A. Okay.
25 Q. I was asking for your view. I'm not asking for a

Page 195

1 legal conclusion. We don't have to do the reservation
2 of rights.
3 A. Okay.
4 Q. I'm just asking Mr. Orr, as he's sitting here today,
5 his understanding of whether or not it's possible
6 without a legal conclusion to arrive at a consensual
7 agreement, with or without calling it negotiations,
8 discussions or proposals, with regard to retiree --
9 with regard to benefits without a Chapter 9?
10 A. Is it possible?
11 Q. Yes.
12 A. Yes, anything a possible. I think I've said that.
13 Q. Okay, now, historically in Detroit isn't it a fact
14 that there were concessionary provisions made with 15 regard to benefits that impacted retirees previously
16 that did not involve Chapter 9?
17 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation.
18 A. Over what period of time?
19 Q. Is it your understanding that at any point in time?
20 A. As I said --
21 Q. No, no, it's a very -- it's a yes or no question. At 22 any point in time prior to the bankruptcy filing have 23 there been concessionary discussions, negotiations,
24 whatever, in Detroit that have resulted in 25 concessionary changes to benefits that impacted

Page 196

1 retirees?
2 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation.
3 A. Not within the time frame that I have.
4 Q. So you're not aware of that?
5 A. No, I'm aware there have been concessionary bargaining
6 changes. My testimony is in my view that they
7 appeared to not being able to occur within the time
8 frame I had to work with.
9 Q. I wasn't asking you what you did or didn't do. I was 10 just asking you if you're aware that there -- whether 11 or not there have been in the history of Detroit
12 concessionary changes to benefits that were 13 implemented that impacted retiree benefits without
14 there having to be a Chapter 9?
15 MR. SHUMAKER: Same objection.
16 A. Well, the reason I said not within my -- you're asking
17 my view.
18 Q. I'm not asking you --
19 A. Are you now going away from my view?
20 Q. No, I'm asking -- this is the question.
21 A. Okay.
22 Q. The question is --
23 MS. LEVINE: Can you read back the
24 question?
25 (Record read back as requested.)

Page 197 1 A. Yes, I am aware that in the history of Detroit there 2 have been concessionary bargains to certain benefits 3 without a Chapter 9. 4 Q. Okay, now, prior to the filing of this Chapter 9 -- 5 A. Uh-huh. 6 Q. -- are you aware of any concessionary bargaining 7 changes that affected retirees? 8 A. I'm hesitating because I'm trying to recall the 9 briefing papers I went through and your specific 10 question is retirees. I'm well aware of concessionary 11 bargaining changes for actives, now I'm thinking about 12 retirees. I don't know. 13 Q. Prior to the filing of this Chapter 9 petition you 14 previously discussed what I believe were four 15 meetings, June 10, June 20, July 10 and July 11; is 16 that correct? 17 A. Yes. I think we were talking about -- there were more 18 meetings than that, but I think we were talking about 19 the four meetings that were referenced on page I 20 believe 55 I believe of my declaration. Well, 21 actually it starts on 54. Okay. 22 Q. What other meetings were there? 23 A. I had had -- meetings with? 24 Q. Meetings -- well, my understanding is that the 25 meetings on June 10, 20, July 10 and July 11 were with	Page 199 1 Q. Who would have placed those phone calls on your 2 behalf? 3 A. I don't know if they would have placed or if they 4 would have received them. I'm not sure, but if they 5 would have been, it would have been somebody probably 6 on labor benefits team, Evan Miller, Brian Easley or 7 others who work with them or others on the City's 8 labor department. 9 Q. If they were substantive meetings with anybody on 10 behalf of AFSCME, would that have been reported to 11 you? 12 A. More than likely, yes. 13 Q. Were there any substantive meetings with AFSCME prior 14 to the filing? 15 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form. 16 A. I'm going to -- outside of the meetings I mention in 17 my declaration? 18 Q. Outside of what we'll call the big four. 19 A. Okay, big four. Thank you. Sitting here today none 20 that I recall. 21 Q. Are you familiar with the so-called Webster 22 litigation? 23 A. Yes. 24 Q. Okay, that litigation was filed on July 3? 25 A. I believe so.
Page 198 1 employees or retirees. Did you have other meetings 2 with employees or retirees? 3 A. You mean in a time frame? 4 Q. Yes. 5 A. Yes. Those were the formal structured meetings that 6 we recounted. My understanding is there were other 7 meetings that occurred outside of a formal process and 8 certainly a number of phone calls. 9 Q. With whom -- who is the counterparty to those 10 meetings? 11 A. I'm not sure I can capture every counterparty to every 12 meeting because my professional team and staff would 13 have various discussions, but I tried to recount ones 14 that I'm aware of and who the counterparties were in 15 my declaration. 16 Q. Was AFSCME one of the counterparties that you met with 17 outside of the four meetings we were previously 18 discussing? 19 A. I didn't meet with them, but I understand that there 20 may have been meetings or telephone calls with others. 21 Q. Were there meetings with others? 22 A. I don't know if there were meetings or phone calls. 23 There may have been meetings or phone calls. 24 Q. Were there phone calls? 25 A. I don't know. I understand there may have been.	Page 200 1 Q. And you sent your request to Governor Snyder on July 2 16th? 3 A. Yes. 4 Q. And Governor Snyder authorized the Chapter 9 filing on 5 July 18th? 6 A. Yes. 7 MS. LEVINE: Could we have it marked as Orr 8 16? 9 (Marked Exhibit No. 16.) 10 (Discussion held off the record.) 11 Q. We've just marked a document as Orr 16. It's 12 really -- it's just a Detroit News report from July 13 18th or July 17th actually at 11:00 p.m. 14 MR. SHUMAKER: I'm sorry, counsel. I see a 15 July 16 reference at the bottom. 16 MS. LEVINE: Sorry, July 16th at 11:00 p.m. 17 MR. SHUMAKER: Yeah. 18 Q. Mr. Orr, do you recall reading this press coverage at 19 the time that it was -- that it came out? 20 A. I do not recall reading this, but I can read it now. 21 Q. The -- is it your understanding that as of the date of 22 this article, the governor was not thinking about -- 23 actually I'm going to correct myself. It looks like 24 according to the printout at the bottom of the page 25 it's September 13 -- no -- that's when it was printed,

1 never mind.

2 Was it your -- is it your understanding

3 that as of the time of this press coverage, Governor

4 Snyder was not yet recommending a Chapter 9 filing for

5 Michigan --

6 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation.

7 Q. -- for Detroit?

8 MR. SHUMAKER: Sorry. Objection,

9 foundation, form.

10 A. I don't think -- I think I was the one recommending

11 and Governor Snyder was either going to approve or

12 disapprove of my request. This is 11:00 p.m. I

13 haven't seen this and it appears to be 11:00 p.m. It

14 says -- so give me your question again.

15 Q. What was your understanding at this point in time of 16 Governor Snyder's view with regard to whether or not

17 he would recommend -- he would accept your

18 recommendation that Detroit file a Chapter 9 petition?

19 A. It was unclear. I had gotten to the point at least on

20 the 16th of thinking it was time for me to make the 21 recommendation. It was unclear what the response was

22 going to be.

23 Q. Did you discuss the Webster litigation with the

24 governor?

25 A. I don't think so.

Page 202

1 Q. Did you discuss the Webster litigation with anybody in

2 the governor's office?

3 A. Was the Webster litigation the first lawsuit filed

4 against the governor and the treasurer on the 3rd?

5 And then the next week AFSCME joined that litigation?

6 Was that by the UAW the first litigation and AFSCME

7 joined that litigation the next week?

8 Q. One was Flowers and one was Webster.

9 A. Right. So I want to make sure we're talking about the 10 right one. So you're talking about Webster?

11 Q. Did you discuss either the Flowers or the Webster

12 litigation with the governor?

13 A. No, I didn't discuss it with the governor.

14 Q. Did you discuss either the Webster or the Flowers

15 litigation with anybody at the state?

16 A. You mean on the 16th?

17 Q. No, at any point in time.

18 A. At any time. Let me -- let me -- let me then clarify

19 my answer. I think -- my recollection is that there

20 were lawsuits being filed that we did not discuss at 21 the beginning of July. I think there was a piece of

22 litigation that had been filed the morning of the 16th

23 -- in direct response to your question did I discuss

24 the litigation with the governor? At some point, yes.

25 Q. Do you recall whether you had that discussion with the

1 governor before July 18th?

2 A. Yes, I believe I did.

3 Q. And was it before July 18th?

4 A. Yeah, I believe it was.

5 Q. What did you discuss?

6 A. Well, was it? I think generally, and here I'm going

7 to be very careful, there were discussions I had --

8 I'm not sure I had any discussions with the governor

9 without either my counsel being on the line or counsel

10 on behalf of the state and the governor being on the 11 line so I don't know if that implicates

12 attorney-client.

13 MR. SHUMAKER: It certainly could.

14 THE WITNESS: Okay.

15 A. Without disclosing what was discussed, we had

16 discussions.

17 Q. Okay, so it's your position -- well, let's go back.

18 So on July 3rd, for example, who was your

19 counsel?

20 A. Well, my restructuring counsel was Jones Day, but --

21 Q. And who was the governor's counsel?

22 A. The governor's counsel would be -- I believe in the 23 governor's office generally heading up that group

24 would be Mike Gadola and Valerie Brader and I think

25 this corrects the discussion I had earlier this

Page 204

1 morning. I may clarify a discussion I had earlier

2 this morning but I -- well, direct response to your

3 question, those are the people in the governor's

4 office.

5 Q. Okay, so if you and the governor were on the phone --

6 A. Right.

7 Q. -- then those conversations -- I'm not asking you

8 about conversations that you had just you and

9 Jones Day, I'm asking you what conversations you had

10 with representatives -- with either the governor or

11 representatives of the state prior to July 18th after

12 the Webster and Flowers litigations were filed on July

13 3.

14 A. Okay. I think we did have conversations. I'm not

15 sure they're not protected by attorney-client

16 because --

17 MR. SHUMAKER: If you believe lawyers were

18 on those phone calls.

19 THE WITNESS: I know lawyers were on the

20 phone, I just don't -- I'm not acting as an attorney

21 so I don't know -- I know there were lawyers on the

22 phone. I know my lawyers were on the phone so I

23 don't --

24 MR. ULLMAN: The fact that there were

25 lawyers on the phone doesn't make it a privileged

1 conversation.

2 MS. LEVINE: Well, let him get the

3 statement out and then we'll --

4 THE WITNESS: I believe there was a common

5 interest. Can I consult my attorneys?

6 MR. SHUMAKER: Certainly. You want to take

7 a quick break?

8 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at

9 3:24 p.m.

10 (Discussion held off the record.)

11 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record

12 at 3:31 p.m.

13 BY MS. LEVINE:

14 Q. Did you reach a --

15 MS. LEVINE: Can you read back my last

16 question?

17 Actually I'll rephrase it.

18 Q. Prior to July 17th did you have conversations with the 19 governor or anybody in the governor's office?

20 A. Prior to July 17th?

21 Q. But since July 3.

22 MR. SHUMAKER: About?

23 Q. About Flowers and Webster.

24 A. Oh.

25 MR. SHUMAKER: Yes or no?

Page 206

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. Prior to July 17th but after July 3, did you have any

3 discussions with the governor or anybody in the

4 governor's office about filing a -- filing for Chapter

5 9 for Detroit?

6 A. Between the 3rd and 17th?

7 Q. Yes.

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. With whom did you have the discussions about the 10 Flowers litigation, the Flowers/Webster litigations?

11 A. Attorneys in the governor's office.

12 Q. Which ones?

13 A. I believe Valerie Brader and Mike Gadola.

14 Q. Anybody else?

15 A. I'm trying to recall if in one of my discussions with 16 the governor we discussed that specific litigation or

17 just that there were cases being filed and I don't --

18 I don't recall any specific discussion about that

19 particular piece of litigation, just that there were

20 lawsuits being filed.

21 Q. So you discussed with Valerie Brader and Mike Gadola

22 the Flowers and the Webster litigation, you discussed

23 with the governor just the fact that there was the --

24 the litigations were pending now? And we're still

25 within the July 3 through July 17 time frame.

Page 207

1 A. I don't know if I ever discussed both cases. I think

2 I discussed one with Brader and/or Gadola.

3 Q. Okay, and what did you discuss about the litigation

4 with Brader or Gadola?

5 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection. I'm going to --

6 the question calls for the witness to reveal

7 privileged attorney-client communications as part of a

8 common interest agreement with the state and therefore

9 I'm going to instruct him not to answer.

10 MS. LEVINE: Okay, we'll reserve our

11 rights.

12 MR. SHUMAKER: Understood.

13 Q. With regard to the conversations that you had with the 14 governor with regard to July 3 through July 17, with

15 regard to the potential for filing for Chapter 9, do

16 you recall specifically on what days you had those

17 conversations?

18 A. No.

19 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.

20 THE WITNESS: Oh, okay.

21 MR. SHUMAKER: Counsel, you're saying just

22 between him and the governor? No one else?

23 Q. Did you have conversations that involved the governor

24 between July 3 and July 17 with regard to the 25 potential for filing a Chapter 9 for Detroit?

Page 208

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Where counsel was not a part

2 of the conversation?

3 MS. LEVINE: No, no, I'm just asking if he

4 had conversations. I haven't asked him yet who's

5 participating and it's not privileged even with a

6 joint defense agreement, which we're reserving our

7 rights about, for him to tell me that conversations

8 took place, then we will get into who participated and

9 which conversations and then we'll decide whether or

10 not he can talk to me about them.

11 MR. SHUMAKER: Okay, I'm just making sure

12 the witness doesn't reveal anything.

13 THE WITNESS: Okay, and waive anything.

14 MR. SHUMAKER: And waive anything.

15 THE WITNESS: For the record there is no

16 effort to waive anything. But I'm trying to be

17 accurate.

18 Q. Let me try to ask it more succinctly so that we can

19 parse it, because I'm going to ask you questions with 20 regard to conversations where you and the governor

21 participated and there were other people present.

22 A. Right.

23 Q. I'm going to ask you questions with regard to you and 24 other people --

25 A. Right.

Page 209

1 Q. -- in the governor's office.
2 A. Right.
3 Q. And then we'll find out whether or not lawyers were 4 present at some or all of those conversations and then
5 we'll figure out what we do about that.
6 A. Okay, okay.
7 Q. Okay?
8 A. Okay.
9 MR. SHUMAKER: Okay.
10 Q. So let's start with just you and the governor. Did
11 you have conversations with just the governor between 12 July 3 and July 17th with regard to filing Chapter 9
13 for Detroit?
14 A. There's no mystery, I just don't want to run up
15 against a privilege. I believe at one of my -- when 16 was -- this was July 3rd? Oh, this is -- okay. Now,
17 it -- I think that both the governor and I were on 18 vacation over the 4th of July weekend so we may not 19 have had -- and he was on vacation I believe the 20 following week, so we probably did not have our weekly
21 meeting. That's why there was a gap. At some point
22 it is possible for us to have had a meeting after --
23 just the governor and I -- and when I say just the 24 governor and I'm including other nonlawyers, his chief
25 of staff, his deputy chief of staff, people along

1 those lines, I'm not thinking any of those are
2 attorneys and if they are, I'm not waiving any
3 privilege --
4 Q. Okay.
5 A. -- but it's possible we had meetings after that time
6 with just the governor. Okay.
7 Q. What did you discuss?
8 A. Because he's waived the deliver the process privilege.
9 I think we generally discussed the ongoing operational
10 restructuring, the status at a very high level the 11 governor, you know, we don't -- we typically do not 12 discuss how many meetings, who attended, what was 13 said, went back and forth, it was just a very high
14 level of how things were going with the restructuring
15 efforts and that the lawsuits, this is just with the 16 governor, were beginning to create the risk that we 17 would lose the initiative and I might be unable to 18 discharge my obligations under 436.
19 Q. Did you have any conversations without counsel between 20 you and the governor between June 14 and July 3?
21 A. June 14 and July 3?
22 Q. The big four was June 14, June 20, July 10 and July
23 11.
24 A. Without counsel?
25 Q. Uh-huh.

Page 211

1 A. I may have.
2 Q. Did you discuss the June 14 meeting with the governor?
3 A. Yes, I believe, but that may have been -- between July
4 -- give me the dates again.
5 Q. Well, let's make it easier. Anytime after the June 14
6 meeting --
7 A. Yes.
8 Q. -- did you discuss the June 14th with just the
9 governor?
10 A. Well, with just the governor. I typically -- 11 occasionally I will meet with just the governor, but 12 whenever you say just the governor, my answer should 13 include those meetings where I have members of his 14 senior staff as well.
15 Q. When you say members of his senior staff, who are you
16 referring to?
17 A. His chief of staff.
18 Q. What's the name?
19 A. Dennis Muchmore; John Roberts, his deputy chief of 20 staff; sometimes my chief of staff, Shani Penn; my 21 senior advisor, Sonya Mays; occasionally Treasurer
22 Dillon. Is Andy an attorney?
23 MR. ESSAD: Yes.
24 A. Yes, he is, so I've got to be careful. So -- huh. I
25 think Andy was sometimes at those meetings so I've got

Page 212

1 to be careful.
2 Q. Okay, so at meetings where there were no counsel
3 between June 14 and July 3, did you have any
4 discussions with regard to the June 14 or the June 20
5 meeting?
6 A. I don't think there were any meetings where there were
7 no counsel between June 14th and July 3.
8 Q. Okay, how many times did you meet between June 14 and 9 July 3 with the governor by in person or by telephone?
10 A. I am not sure.
11 Q. More than once?
12 A. Probably.
13 Q. More than twice?
14 A. Likely.
15 Q. More than six times?
16 A. I don't think -- I don't think more than that.
17 Q. Okay, so somewhere between two and six and at every 18 single one of those meetings you believe counsel was 19 present or on telephone if it was a telephonic
20 meeting?
21 A. Yes, sometimes we would do conference calls and there
22 would be counsel present on the phone so I'm being
23 very careful here, yes, there's a possibility there
24 was counsel present at each of those meetings.
25 Q. I'm going to ask a question, but your counsel has to

Page 213

1 speak first. Are you claiming the joint defense for
 2 the Flowers and the Webster litigation or are you
 3 claiming joint defense with regard to the thought
 4 process leading up to the filing of the Chapter 9?
 5 MR. SHUMAKER: Claim --
 6 MS. LEVINE: Let me ask the question and
 7 then you can assert it, but I don't want to be tricky,
 8 I'm not trying to be tricky.
 9 THE WITNESS: Thank you, thank you.
 10 Q. During those conversations that took place prior to 11 the filing of the Webster and the Flowers litigation
 12 from June 14 through July 3, did you have any -- did
 13 any of the conversations that you had with the 14 governor in person or by telephone conference involve
 15 discussions with regard to the filing of the Chapter 9
 16 petition?
 17 A. Between the 14th and the 3rd?
 18 Q. Uh-huh.
 19 A. I don't recall any specific discussions, but they may 20 have.
 21 Q. Did you have conversations with the governor during 22 June about the -- about filing for Chapter 9 at which 23 counsel wasn't present either in person or by 24 telephone? And when I say meetings, I'm talking about 25 either in person or by telephone.

Page 214

1 A. I think I can say this. My weekly Detroit subject
 2 meetings typically include the governor, his chief of
 3 staff or deputy chief of staff, Treasurer Dillon and
 4 one of his employees, Tom Saxon, and/or some of our
 5 advisors and attorneys. I do not recall a meeting or 6 a phone conference with the governor, it may have
 7 happened, I just -- I'm not recalling it and I'm 8 trying very hard to. I do not recall a meeting or 9 phone conference where, for instance, Treasurer Dillon
 10 was not either there or on the phone. And I'm trying 11 to -- in the few times that the governor and I have 12 occasion just one-on-one meetings, I'm trying to 13 recall if we discussed a Chapter 9 filing. I'm now
 14 just talking about the governor of one-on-one
 15 meetings. It is possible not in terms of timing, just 16 generally speaking, because here again, it was not at 17 the grand level.
 18 Q. Just to clarify, I believe that your counsel will 19 allow you to answer whether or not there's been 20 discussions with regards to a Chapter 9 filing with 21 the governor so long as counsel wasn't on the phone.
 22 MR. SHUMAKER: Correct.
 23 A. Yes, these are the meetings I'm talking about.
 24 Q. Treasurer Dillon is not counsel.
 25 A. Well, he's an attorney and I don't know if the

Page 215

1 privilege attaches.
 2 MR. SHUMAKER: If you believe he was acting
 3 as an attorney, then I would caution you and instruct
 4 you not to answer. If Mr. Dillon was acting as the 5 treasurer and the treasurer alone --
 6 THE WITNESS: Right.
 7 MR. SHUMAKER: -- as a businessperson, then
 8 you can answer.
 9 THE WITNESS: Okay. Okay. That -- okay.
 10 A. Yes, then that means at some of those meetings we
 11 probably did discuss potential Chapter 9 filing
 12 without attorneys but with Treasurer Dillon.
 13 Q. Prior to July 3 what was the timing that you were 14 discussing with regard to a potential Chapter 9
 15 filing?
 16 A. We weren't. Generally it was consistent with what I
 17 had said at the June 10th and June 14th meetings,
 18 which is after June 14th we will use the next 30 days
 19 to assess where we are and what progress we're making
 20 and if we're making progress and I think I said at 21 that June 14th meeting in the nature of a term sheet
 22 agreement in principles or concepts moving forward,
 23 that we might be a position to be able to extend that.
 24 I said that at June 14th assuming a steady state.
 25 Q. After July 3 but before July 17 --

Page 216

1 A. Uh-huh.
 2 Q. -- did you have any conversations with the governor or
 3 his senior staff at which counsel wasn't present?
 4 A. Excluding Treasurer Dillon or --
 5 Q. Excluding.
 6 A. Acting as -- I don't think he was acting as an
 7 attorney, I think he was acting as treasurer.
 8 Q. Correct.
 9 A. Okay. Yes, I believe so.
 10 Q. And did you -- during -- how many of those meetings
 11 did you have?
 12 A. Here again, we -- the meeting of the week after the 13 4th of July holiday I think we did not have, because I
 14 went the week before and I think the governor was on 15 Mackinac the week after so I don't know if we had a
 16 meeting then. That would leave you said July 17?
 17 Q. July 3 to July 17.
 18 A. Okay, so that would leave roughly another week or two.
 19 There may have been a meeting the following week and 20 I'm trying to recall if any attorneys were at that
 21 meeting. There was probably a meeting the following
 22 week or the week thereafter. There may have been 23 attorneys at one of those meetings from the governor's 24 staff.
 25 Q. How many meetings did you participate in between July

Page 217

1 3 and July 17 at which -- with the governor at which
 2 attorneys were present as opposed to meetings with the 3 governor where attorneys were not present?
 4 A. I think we only had one or two meetings and attorneys
 5 were present at either one or both of those meetings.
 6 Excluding Treasurer Dillon. I'm talking about
 7 attorney attorneys, not lawyers.
 8 Q. Who drafted your July 16th letter? Was that you?
 9 A. No, I got a draft and I edited it.
 10 Q. Who prepared the draft for you?
 11 A. I think it was a number of folks. It was -- I
 12 forgot --
 13 Q. Was it Jones Day?
 14 A. It was more than likely Jones Day, yes, restructuring
 15 guys.
 16 Q. Did you direct the draft be prepared?
 17 A. Yes, we --
 18 MR. SHUMAKER: You can say. You can 19 testify to that.
 20 A. Without discussing exactly what was said, yes, I did.
 21 Q. What was the date that you gave Jones Day that 22 direction?
 23 A. I think that direction was either to start getting the 24 letter in shape that Friday, I'm not sure, either that 25 preceding week or over the weekend. Yes.

Page 218

1 Q. But after the commencement -- but that would have been
 2 after July 3?
 3 A. Yes, yes, it was after July 3.
 4 Q. Did you advise the governor that you had started the 5 process of drafting that letter?
 6 A. I don't recall --
 7 MR. SHUMAKER: If -- if -- if the
 8 communications with the governor were with counsel
 9 present, then I don't want you to reveal what was
 10 said.
 11 THE WITNESS: Okay. Okay.
 12 MR. SHUMAKER: If at another meeting where 13 there was not counsel present, that's a different 14 story.
 15 THE WITNESS: Right.
 16 A. Within that time frame, because I believe that was a
 17 weekend, I do not recall communications with the 18 governor or communications with the governor where 19 counsel was not present. There may have been a
 20 discussion with the governor -- no, I don't recall an 21 independent discussion with the governor.
 22 Q. In addition to conversations in which you participated
 23 in, were there conversations between your consultants
 24 and the governor's office and/or his counsel between 25 July 3 and July 17?

1 A. I believe -- well, when you say the governor's office,
 2 that includes the treasurer?
 3 Q. Yes.
 4 A. Yes, I believe so.
 5 Q. The state?
 6 A. The state, yes, I believe so.
 7 Q. How many of those meetings are you aware of where you
 8 did not participate?
 9 A. I --
 10 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to foundation, but --
 11 A. Where any meetings I didn't. There were -- the 12 investment bankers, for instance, will talk with 13 treasury from time to time about a number of matters
 14 and I'm sure that I wasn't on all of those 15 conversations. And my legal team might talk with the 16 governor's attorney on various matters and I'm pretty
 17 confident I wasn't involved in all those discussions
 18 either. So it's not like it happened every day or it
 19 was happening every half hour, but I'm sure there were 20 discussions between them that I was either not 21 involved with or aware of.
 22 Q. Did any of those discussions between either the 23 investment bankers directly or your counsel and the 24 state governor's office or whomever involve
 25 discussions with regard to the filing of the Chapter 9

Page 220

1 for Detroit and/or the timing of that filing?
 2 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to form.
 3 A. Yes, they probably did.
 4 Q. When you say they probably did, were you getting
 5 reports from your investment banker and your counsel
 6 with regard to the conversations they were having with 7 the governor and other representatives of the state?
 8 A. Not necessarily every -- not necessarily every 9 conversation, but generally speaking, so I was getting 10 reports, but I cannot testify that I was privy to 11 every conversation that everyone either on legal side
 12 or the investment side -- banking side or them
 13 together had.
 14 Q. When did you first start thinking that the timing for 15 the Chapter 9 filing was going to be sooner rather 16 than later?
 17 A. As opposed to?
 18 Q. Let me rephrase.
 19 When did you decide that the timing of the
 20 Chapter 9 filing should be July 18th or July 19th?
 21 A. Well, I didn't. I decided to make the request and my
 22 intent was to have the ability to file available and
 23 possibly executed as soon as I got it. It was without 24 talking or waiving privileges from my counsel or 25 counsel and investment bankers, the concerns about us

Page 221

1 losing control or being put in a situation because of
 2 the ongoing litigation where I would not be able to
 3 discharge my duties in an orderly fashion, in a
 4 comprehensive matter to put the city on a sustainable
 5 footing because of the litigation grew throughout June
 6 and it was made clear to me that my desire to try to
 7 continue to engage in discussions was running the risk
 8 of putting my obligations under the statute in peril
 9 and I think I was even counseled that I was being 10 irresponsible.
 11 Q. When did you first advise or have your consultants
 12 first advise the governor or anybody affiliated with 13 the state that you were starting to draft your July
 14 16th request?
 15 A. Outside of attorney-client communications?
 16 MR. SHUMAKER: No.
 17 Q. No, no, I'm talking about when did you tell the 18 governor. I'm not sure it's you or --
 19 A. But I may have --
 20 Q. -- or I'm not sure if it's your counsel who made that 21 request for you or your investment banker who made
 22 that request for you --
 23 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection.
 24 A. When did I transmit the request?
 25 Q. Yes.

Page 222

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 2 Q. Let me rephrase it.
 3 When did somebody on behalf of the 4 Emergency Manager advise somebody on behalf of the 5 state that the Emergency Manager and his team was
 6 starting to draft the July 16 request?
 7 THE WITNESS: Can I answer that if it's to
 8 an attorney at the governor?
 9 MR. SHUMAKER: When.
 10 THE WITNESS: Oh, when.
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: Yeah.
 12 A. Oh, that was probably Monday. Monday, the 16th.
 13 Q. You testified previously that you were concerned you
 14 wouldn't be able to carry out your obligations in an 15 orderly fashion. What do you mean by that?
 16 A. The lawsuits that were being filed were requesting --
 17 my understanding from reading them what I was informed 18 were requesting injunctions against me with any
 19 options I might have available including the Chapter 9
 20 filing and were refocusing our attention on litigation
 21 risk. They were also -- it wasn't just the -- what --
 22 for lack of a better word what we'll call the Flowers
 23 and related litigations, we were also in -- we had --
 24 had defaulted on the cops' payment on June 14th and 25 had announced a settlement with Bank of America,

Page 223

1 Merrill Lynch commensurate with that day. One of the
 2 insurers had begun to interfere with that process from
 3 June until July. So we were getting hit on all sides
 4 both on the creditors' side but also on, for lack of a
 5 better word, the labor side with risk and threats and
 6 lawsuits and were sued three times in June -- well,
 7 sued once, one joined in the suit and sued again I
 8 think on the 16th and also the Syncora of threats for 9 which we had to file litigation where I was counseled
 10 that given the chaos in a sense that was erupting --
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: Hold on right there.
 12 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 13 MR. SHUMAKER: What you were counseled, I
 14 want to make sure you're not going into an area that's 15 protected by the privilege.
 16 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 17 Q. You can give me your understanding. You can't tell me
 18 what --
 19 A. As I said before, my understanding was I was at risk
 20 of losing the ability to try to pursue a restructuring
 21 in an orderly fashion.
 22 Q. Wasn't the Syncora issue settled sometime in prior to 23 the Chapter 9 filing, though?
 24 A. No.
 25 Q. The risk that you felt from the Webster/Flowers I

Page 224

1 think what you referred to as three litigations --
 2 A. Uh-huh.
 3 Q. -- when did you communicate that risk to the governor
 4 or the state or when did somebody communicate that
 5 risk on behalf of the Emergency Manager to the 6 governor or the state?
 7 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation, form.
 8 A. Probably the preceding week of the 16th or maybe even
 9 a week before that. Let me --
 10 Q. So when you say the preceding week, just looking at a
 11 calendar for a minute, what was the date there?
 12 A. Can I look at the calendar on my checkbook without it
 13 being classified as an exhibit?
 14 Q. No, I won't ask you.
 15 A. I just want to make sure I'm not in trouble. Okay. I
 16 don't want you to see my checkbook. It would make you
 17 cry.
 18 MR. SHUMAKER: July 8th was a Monday.
 19 THE WITNESS: Yeah, I'm --
 20 Q. So was it --
 21 A. It was probably the week of July.
 22 Q. July 8th? I know I can't see either.
 23 A. I -- yeah, it was probably that week, July 8th week.
 24 Q. Okay, so --
 25 A. It may have been -- the reason I'm hesitating, as I

Page 225

1 said before, I think my family and I were out that
 2 preceding Friday, Saturday and Sunday and we actually
 3 ran into the governor's family coming onto the island
 4 I believe that Sunday so I don't think we had that 5 meeting that week so it may have actually been the 6 following week.
 7 Q. Meaning sometime during the week of July 15th?
 8 A. No, or the end of --
 9 Q. So it was during --
 10 A. -- the week of the 8th. The 8th. But I did not have 11 a meeting with the governor that week.
 12 Q. Well --
 13 A. Now that I look at the calendar.
 14 Q. Okay.
 15 A. Okay.
 16 Q. So just to clarify, it appears more likely than not 17 that you did not have a meeting between you and the 18 governor the week of July 8th but your understanding
 19 is that during the week of July 8th, probably the 20 latter part of that week, somebody on behalf of the 21 Emergency Manager let the governor or the state know
 22 that you were drafting or starting to draft the July
 23 16th request and that you had concerns about the 24 Flower s/Webster litigations?
 25 A. Yeah, and here again, I don't know if so much concerns

Page 226

1 -- it wasn't like we were focused on Flowers/Webster,
 2 we were saying in the universe of the world that
 3 litigation, whatever name, and the Syncora struggle,
 4 were creating a situation that was untenable and
 5 threatening what we had wanted to do.
 6 Q. Lamont Satchel.
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. He's your -- what's his title?
 9 A. He is the, I believe, labor negotiator for the City.
 10 Q. And what's his scope of authority?
 11 A. His scope of authority initially as labor negotiator
 12 was to oversee, monitor and lead labor relationships
 13 with the City and its labor partners.
 14 Q. And to whom -- and who is his direct report?
 15 A. At this point Lamont's direct report -- well, it is --
 16 the org chart is being revised, but his direct report
 17 would have been to the chief operating officer.
 18 Q. And who was that?
 19 A. At that time it would have been Gary Brown.
 20 Q. And who is it today?
 21 A. It still goes through Gary Brown, but I am intimately
 22 involved with the process.
 23 Q. And do you know whether or not during the month of 24 June prior and up through -- starting with June 1
 25 through July 18th --

Page 227

1 A. Yes, July 18th.
 2 Q. -- did Lamont Satchel have any meetings with the labor
 3 organizations?
 4 A. Do I know? I know that during this time the CBAs,
 5 some of the City's Collective Bargaining Agreements
 6 were expiring and I believe that Lamont did have
 7 meetings during that time not just related with that
 8 but with other issues as well.
 9 Q. During your prior testimony -- and I apologize for 10 skipping around, but I don't want to duplicate what's 11 already been done.
 12 A. That's okay.
 13 Q. You spoke about Jones Day doing a presentation or 14 interview to the state back in January, the end of 15 February.
 16 A. Yeah, the documents I was shown this morning would 17 make it January.
 18 Q. And with whom did Jones Day meet at that time, who 19 physically was in the room?
 20 A. Treasurer Dillon, then CFO Jack Martin, Rich Baird,
 21 Kriss Andrews, Ken Buckfire and one of his colleagues.
 22 Q. Any other outside consultants besides Miller Buckfire?
 23 A. Well, Rich Baird is on contract to the state, but I
 24 don't -- I think -- I don't recall if Ernst & Young 25 was there. There was a member of the financial

Page 228

1 advisory board.
 2 Q. Do you recall who that was?
 3 A. As soon as you said that, it went out of my head.
 4 Very, very sharp, as -- Ken -- Ken Whipple was there.
 5 I'm just going through the room. Andy, Ken Whipple,
 6 Jack Martin, Kriss Andrews, Rich Baird. That's all
 7 that I recall off the top of my head and Miller
 8 Buckfire and one of his colleagues.
 9 Q. And who was there from Jones Day?
 10 A. Aaron Agenbroad -- they were all partners. Aaron
 11 Agenbroad, Bruce Bennett, Heather Lennox, myself,
 12 Corinne Ball, Steve Brogan, and I think that was -- I
 13 think that was our team.
 14 Q. What was Aaron's last name again?
 15 A. Agenbroad, A-G-E-N-B-R-O-A-D.
 16 Q. What department is he in?
 17 A. Aaron Agenbroad is a partner in charge of the 18 San Francisco office. He is in the labor.
 19 Q. He's in the labor group?
 20 A. Uh-huh.
 21 Q. Corinne, all the rest of the attorneys on the team
 22 were bankruptcy?
 23 A. No. Bruce Bennett is in the bankruptcy group.
 24 Corinne Ball was in the bankruptcy group. Heather
 25 Lennox is in the structured finance and bankruptcy.

Page 229

1 Steve Brogan is managing partner for the firm.
 2 Q. But he was intimately involved in Chrysler; correct?
 3 A. Steve Brogan?
 4 Q. Yes.
 5 A. Steve Brogan oversaw Chrysler representation generally
 6 but he wasn't day-to-day counsel. Actually I think
 7 you were. And I'm trying to think who else was there
 8 if anybody. There was a pitch book, but that's who I
 9 recall.
 10 Q. Turning back to Orr 6 for a minute.
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: What is that, counsel?
 12 Which one?
 13 A. Is that the letter or the --
 14 Q. It's the summary of partnership, Governor of Michigan,
 15 Mayor of Detroit, Emergency Manager.
 16 A. Okay.
 17 MR. SHUMAKER: Thank you.
 18 Q. I'm on the page that ends 464.
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: 464? I'm sorry, I'm not --
 20 MS. LEVINE: The Bates stamp number 464.
 21 A. 464.
 22 MR. SHUMAKER: Orr 4 or 7 are you looking
 23 at?
 24 MS. LEVINE: Oh, sorry.
 25 THE WITNESS: Orr 7?

Page 230

1 MS. LEVINE: Yes, I guess so.
 2 THE WITNESS: Yes.
 3 Q. Who drafted this document? It says draft date
 4 2/21/2013.
 5 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation.
 6 A. Yeah, I don't know who drafted this document. I think
 7 the email chain shows this was a document that was
 8 forwarded to me and I think there's -- in an email
 9 this morning I asked for it to be sent to me in a Word
 10 format. I don't know who drafted it.
 11 Q. And did you comment on this document?
 12 A. Yes, I did.
 13 Q. Was it ever reduced to a final form?
 14 A. I don't recall seeing a final form, but there's 15 nothing signed, but this may be the final form, if 16 there is such a thing.
 17 Q. Paragraph 7 reads --
 18 A. Yes.
 19 Q. -- labor, retiree and benefit initiatives will be 20 pursued jointly by the mayor and the manager to the 21 extent permitted by law.
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. What's your understanding of what that means?
 24 A. That was under -- the extent permitted by law was put 25 in there, I believe, by me. As you see in paragraph

Page 231

1 6, there's the to the extent permitted by law is a
 2 different typeset. And my understanding there was --
 3 that this was I think in the document of emails it
 4 talks about it being an aspirational agreement but not
 5 requirement and I just wanted to reserve the right of 6 the manager to exercise his duties as permitted by law
 7 as he saw fit.
 8 Q. What were the -- what was your understanding of what
 9 the labor, retiree and benefit initiatives were to be?
 10 A. Well, there were some initiatives that were ongoing
 11 and at this time there were the reductions, there was 12 an Act 312 award that had come up for DPOA I believe
 13 and there were ongoing issues regarding the Act 312s
 14 for the other police divisions, but I know there were 15 -- I know there were other initiatives going on, but 16 this document at this time was not intended to be a
 17 detailed recitation of what those initiatives were.
 18 It was generally, as I understood it, to be a -- based
 19 off the consent agreement.
 20 Q. Were these to be cost cutting initiatives?
 21 A. It wasn't -- here again, this was aspirational. It
 22 wasn't clear at this time as to what those initiatives
 23 were going to be.
 24 Q. Were these initiatives going to include cost cutting
 25 initiatives?

Page 232

1 A. They might have included cost cutting initiatives,
 2 yes.
 3 Q. Was it your understanding or intent in your world as
 4 Emergency Manager or at the time EFM?
 5 A. At this time?
 6 Q. Yes.
 7 A. No. This was handed to me, I had -- as I said I think
 8 in the prior email chain, I was doing my due diligence
 9 at this time. I had not made any decision regarding 10 cost cutting initiatives.
 11 Q. On -- we had some discussion earlier with regard to 12 some of your thinking just prior to the filing, that 13 first and second or second and third week of July.
 14 A. Right.
 15 Q. And you raised as one of the concerns, and I
 16 understand that there is Syncora and a lot of other
 17 things going on, but you raised as one of concerns
 18 that if certain orders were entered in connection with 19 the Webster/Flowers litigation, that you would lose
 20 the ability to do some of the things that you wanted
 21 to do as the Emergency Manager.
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. What were you afraid you were going to lose the 24 ability to do?
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form. I

Page 233

1 object to the summary.
 2 A. Let me say this. It wasn't just limited to labor
 3 issues. I mean, we were trying to --
 4 Q. No, no, I understand that, but with regard to the
 5 labor issues.
 6 A. Oh, labor issues?
 7 Q. Yeah.
 8 A. We wanted to -- and they would include cost cutting
 9 measures perhaps, pensions and benefits, but also 10 streamlining job efficiencies, moving into the CETs.
 11 If you're talking about just labor --
 12 Q. Narrowly and specifically, what were you afraid you
 13 were not going to be able to do if the orders that 14 were being sought were entered or enforced from the 15 Webster and Flowers litigation?
 16 A. Yeah, everything. We were concerned that the orders
 17 had the possibility of delaying the overall
 18 operational financial restructuring that we were 19 pursuing because they're all interrelated and if we
 20 had the same cash spend, for instance, on some issues
 21 that we did on others, then even the savings we were 22 trying to get in Syncora and others we might not be
 23 able to service, so we were concerned about
 24 everything. It wasn't just one specific issue.
 25 MS. LEVINE: Can I have a short break?

Page 234

1 THE WITNESS: Sure.
 2 MR. SHUMAKER: Sure.
 3 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
 4 4:12 p.m.
 5 (A brief recess was taken.)
 6 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record
 7 at 4:23 p.m.
 8 BY MS. LEVINE:
 9 Q. Mr. Orr, was one of the concerns with regard to the 10 Flowers and Webster litigation that 436 would be found
 11 unconstitutional by the state court?
 12 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 13 A. Not -- not particularly. Frankly, it wasn't more of a
 14 concern that ultimately the statute be found
 15 unconstitutional, no. It was more of a concern of 16 just being caught up in the uncertainty of litigation
 17 and appeals.
 18 Q. Then let me put a finer point on it. Were you
 19 concerned that if in fact 436 were found
 20 unconstitutional at the state court level, the lower
 21 level court --
 22 A. Uh-huh.
 23 Q. -- that there would be the delay in the time to run
 24 through the appeal process on that issue?
 25 A. Yes, that was one of the concerns.

Page 235

1 Q. Your counsel has asserted a joint defense?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 MR. SHUMAKER: Common interest.
 4 Q. Common interest. Just want to clarify to make sure I
 5 understand. We're obviously reserving our rights, but
 6 I want to understand whether you're claiming common
 7 interest with regard to discussions relating to the 8 entire Chapter 9 filing or whether you are claiming
 9 common interest just with regard to the state court
 10 litigation?
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: Well, it would be to both.
 12 I mean, the common interest agreement captures what
 13 Mr. Orr's been doing since he became Emergency Manager
 14 where there was a common interest between the state
 15 and the Emergency Manager's office. So both of those 16 would fall within to the extent that counsel was 17 involved in the communications.
 18 MS. LEVINE: Okay.
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: If that helps.
 20 MS. LEVINE: Mr. Orr was not a defendant in 21 the Flowers and Webster litigation so I just want to 22 understand what the basis is for claiming joint
 23 defense or a common interest agreement between July 3
 24 and I think it was July 17 or 18 when the retirement
 25 system named Mr. Orr as a party.

Page 236

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Well, the common interest is
 2 there's a common interest between the state and the
 3 Emergency Manager's office to a whole number of things
 4 regarding the requests and the provision of legal
 5 advice. So if you're talking about any possible
 6 communications between Mr. Orr and the governor's
 7 office where counsel was present about any of the 8 subjects you name, whether it be the Flowers or the 9 Webster or the Chapter 9 filing, we will assert the 10 privilege. I -- your -- the fact that Mr. Orr was not
 11 a defendant in the first two actions doesn't change
 12 the assertion of the privilege that we're making.
 13 MS. LEVINE: Okay, slightly different
 14 topic.
 15 Q. Are you aware of a coalition among certain of the
 16 City's unions put together in order to try and deal
 17 with some of the restructuring issues with regard to 18 labor that you've been focused on?
 19 A. A coalition? Can you please explain? Informal
 20 coalition or the retiree committee or --
 21 Q. Not the retire committee. A coalition of unions with 22 regard to trying to deal with some of the labor issues
 23 that you --
 24 A. Under the AFSCME umbrella?
 25 Q. No, no, no.

Page 237

1 A. Or separate union? I'm trying to -- I'm trying to
2 understand.
3 Q. Well, I think your answer indicates to me that perhaps
4 the answer is no.
5 A. Yeah. Okay.
6 MS. LEVINE: I have no further questions.
7 MR. SHUMAKER: Thank you, counsel.
8 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
9 4:27 p.m.
10 (Discussion held off the record.)
11 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the 12 record at 4:29 p.m.
13 EXAMINATION
14 BY MR. DeCHIARA:
15 Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Orr.
16 A. Good afternoon.
17 Q. My name is Peter DeChiara. I'm an attorney with the 18 law firm of Cohen Weiss & Simon, LLP. We represent
19 the United Auto Workers in this proceeding.
20 Prior to January of 2013 were you
21 acquainted with the governor, Rick Snyder?
22 A. Personally acquainted? I knew he was governor of 23 Michigan but --
24 Q. Personally acquainted.
25 A. Remotely. We overlapped in law school.

Page 238

1 Q. Did you maintain -- since law school did you maintain
2 any friendship or other social connection?
3 A. Hadn't seen him since 1982.
4 Q. Until --
5 A. Until sometime earlier this year in March.
6 Q. Did you have any professional or other dealings with
7 him between the time you were in law school until you
8 saw him in connection with -- until after January
9 2013?
10 A. No, none that I'm aware of.
11 Q. Before you were appointed as Emergency Manager, did
12 you have occasion to speak to the governor about what
13 could or should be done about Detroit's pension
14 liabilities?
15 A. Before I was appointed?
16 Q. Yes.
17 A. No, I don't believe the governor and I talked at that 18 level of detail.
19 Q. Okay. Same question for any of the governor's senior
20 staff. Did you speak to any of the governor's senior
21 staff before you were appointed as EM regarding what
22 could or should be done about Detroit's pension
23 liabilities?
24 A. No, I don't recall having discussions of that
25 specificity.

Page 239

1 Q. What about with Andrew Dillon? Same question, same
2 time period.
3 A. Right. No, I don't think we talked at that
4 specificity.
5 Q. Same question for Mr. Baird?
6 A. No, no, not with Rich Baird.
7 Q. Before you were appointed EM did you speak with anyone
8 at Jones Day about what could or should be done about
9 Detroit's pension liabilities?
10 A. I'm trying to think back. Before my appointment? Did
11 I speak with anyone about pension liabilities?
12 Q. Anyone at Jones Day, yes.
13 A. Anyone at Jones Day? I may have, but I don't recall
14 specifically. I may have. Um, I think I probably 15 did, yes, I think I probably did.
16 Q. Do you recall who you may have spoken to?
17 A. No. It could have been -- no, I don't recall who I
18 spoke to. It could have been a number of people.
19 Q. Did you speak to Corinne Ball?
20 A. Corinne Ball, it may have been Corinne.
21 Q. Do you recall any discussions you had with her about
22 that topic?
23 A. I don't.
24 Q. What about the -- what's the name of the managing 25 partner?

Page 240

1 A. Steve Brogan?
2 Q. Did you speak to him about that topic?
3 A. No, we didn't speak at that level of specificity, no.
4 Q. Anyone else in the bankruptcy group that you worked
5 with at Jones Day about that topic?
6 A. About that specific topic?
7 Q. Right, about what could or should be done about --
8 A. Could or should be done.
9 Q. -- about Detroit's pension liabilities?
10 A. I don't recall having that level of specificity, no.
11 Q. You've testified earlier today about a -- what I'll 12 call a pitch meeting that Jones Day made to the City
13 in order to be considered as counsel for the City. Do
14 you recall that testimony?
15 A. Yes.
16 Q. Okay. Apart from that pitch meeting, prior to 17 Jones Day being retained by the City, do you know
18 whether there were any communications by Jones Day to 19 the City about what could or should be done about
20 Detroit's pension liabilities?
21 A. To the City?
22 Q. Yes.
23 A. None that I'm aware of.
24 Q. What about to the state -- I'm sorry, go ahead.
25 A. Well, I had two meetings with Mayor Bing, but I don't

Page 241

1 think we discussed pensions.
 2 Q. Do you recall what you did discuss?
 3 A. Just generally the state of the City, the difficulties
 4 that he had encountered, they were more getting to 5 know each other meetings. There wasn't any plan being
 6 worked out or any detailed discussions.
 7 Q. Other than the pitch book that you testified about
 8 earlier, prior to Jones Day being retained by the 9 City, do you know whether Jones Day provided or shared
 10 with the City any analysis, memos, reports or any 11 documents of that sort with the City concerning the 12 issue of Detroit's pension liabilities?
 13 A. Other than the pitch book?
 14 Q. Yes.
 15 A. None that I'm aware of.
 16 Q. Do you know -- before Jones Day was retained by the 17 City, do you know whether Jones Day spoke to anyone at 18 the state including the governor and his senior staff
 19 about what could or should be done about Detroit's
 20 pension liabilities?
 21 A. Prior to their retention?
 22 Q. Yes.
 23 A. I think I need to explain my answer. Between the 24 pitch which occurred I believe now on the end of 25 January until sometime in -- at some point in

Page 242

1 February, I recused myself from the retention, the
 2 pitch process, so during the time that I was involved
 3 for the few weeks, I don't know of anything; I
 4 wouldn't know nothing after I recused myself.
 5 Q. Okay, when was Jones Day retained by the City? Do you
 6 know what date?
 7 A. I think they were ultimately selected prior to the 8 time I got there. I remember the -- I think it was 9 the first couple of weeks it went through city
 10 council, I stepped out of that process as Emergency
 11 Manager, it then went to the mayor, I think or vice
 12 versa, he approved and went to council, council
 13 approved it, there were press reports of that time
 14 frame, I believe it was approximately March -- mid 15 March.
 16 Q. Okay.
 17 A. Or was it -- no, no, no. They had been selected in 18 March, but I don't think city council approved it
 19 until later. So I think I had been selected and 20 retained, but it had to go to the city council
 21 certification and approval process for some period of 22 time after that.
 23 Q. Okay. And since I had earlier asked you whether you
 24 were aware of communications by Jones Day to the state
 25 concerning what could or should be done about

Page 243

1 Detroit's pension liabilities --
 2 A. Right.
 3 Q. -- is the answer to your (sic) question you're not
 4 aware of any?
 5 A. Other than the pitch book?
 6 Q. Yes.
 7 A. I'm not aware of any.
 8 Q. Okay. Are you aware of any reports or presentations
 9 or memos or analysis presented by Jones Day to the 10 state concerning what could or should be done about 11 Detroit's pension liabilities that occurred before you
 12 became EM?
 13 A. No, I don't recall any.
 14 Q. Are you aware of any that have occurred since you've
 15 become EM?
 16 A. Oh, I think, yes. I mean, I think there have been 17 presentations to the state about the City's pension
 18 obligations, yes.
 19 Q. Made by Jones Day?
 20 A. Made by Jones Day and Miller Buckfire and others, yes,
 21 yes.
 22 Q. Okay. And what are they? Can you tell me what those 23 are?
 24 A. Um --
 25 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, we're going to

Page 244

1 get into the same area that's covered by the common
 2 interest agreement so if you're going to -- and ask
 3 him about what he knows from a general level, but if 4 it's what was the specific content of the 5 communication, we're going to assert the privilege and
 6 I'm going to instruct him not to answer. So subject
 7 to that admonition you can answer.
 8 Q. Okay, so without getting into the substance of any
 9 documents, can you answer the question?
 10 A. Yes. Without waiving any privilege, generally there
 11 were discussions about -- and this may have included
 12 attorneys and investment advisors as well as attorneys
 13 and representatives of the state. Without discussing 14 what was said, generally the pension obligation and 15 healthcare obligation and the City's lack of funding
 16 to meet them as discussed, you know, I'll just 17 reference the June 14th presentation as that type of 18 discussion.
 19 Q. Were these discussions that occurred prior to the 20 issuance of the -- prior to June 14th?
 21 A. Yes, I believe they may have been, yes.
 22 Q. Did the state participate in the formulation of the 23 proposal that is the June 14th proposal?
 24 A. When you say participate, I want to be careful. You
 25 know, it generally may have been discussed at a high

Page 245

1 level but the state to the best of my knowledge didn't
2 participate in any authorship.
3 Q. Okay, I'm not talking about the drafting of the
4 document --
5 A. Yeah, yeah.
6 Q. -- but the formulation of the actual ideas or
7 proposals that are contained in the document.
8 A. No.
9 Q. Did the state have input into that?
10 A. No. The -- well, let me say it this way without 11 talking about what was said. Generally the -- some of 12 the advisors have been in the City for years if not
13 months and have been reviewing this issue so I'm 14 talking about from the time I was there and what I'm 15 aware of. Generally the process once I became 16 involved was we, meaning my immediate restructuring
17 team, reviewed the issues and prepared proposals and 18 then may have discussed them at a high level with the 19 state, but as I said, there wasn't authorship in those 20 proposals at the state level to the best of my
21 knowledge.
22 Q. Okay. Let me refer you to the June 14th proposal,
23 which is Exhibit 9 of your deposition.
24 A. Yes.
25 Q. And let me refer you in particular to page 109.

Page 246

1 A. Original 109?
2 Q. Yeah, not the stamp.
3 A. Not the Bates stamp, yes.
4 Q. Right. There's the third bullet point from the bottom
5 of the page. You can read that. It's a two line
6 bullet point, you can read it, but what I want to 7 focus on is the language that there must be
8 significant cuts in accrued benefit pension amounts
9 for both active and currently retired persons. Do you
10 see that language?
11 A. Yes.
12 Q. Okay. And did you believe that what I just read out
13 loud, that statement, to be true as of June 14th? Did
14 you believe that there had to be, the cuts that are 15 referred to there?
16 A. Yes, based upon our analysis, yes.
17 Q. And did you believe that at the time that the City
18 filed for bankruptcy?
19 A. Did I believe that at the time the City filed for
20 bankruptcy?
21 Q. At the time the City filed for bankruptcy --
22 A. Yes.
23 Q. Let me just finish the question for the clarity of the 24 record.
25 A. I'm sorry.

Page 247

1 Q. At the time the City filed for bankruptcy, was it your
2 view that there had to be significant cuts in accrued
3 vested pension amounts for both active and currently
4 retired persons?
5 A. Yes.
6 Q. And is it still -- still your view today?
7 A. Yes, based upon our analysis, yes.
8 Q. This conclusion that there must be significant cuts in
9 accrued vested pension amounts for both active and
10 currently retired persons, was that assertion or that 11 idea or that notion discussed by you with the governor
12 at any time before June 14th, 2013?
13 A. Outside of meetings with attorneys?
14 MR. SHUMAKER: Outside of meetings or calls
15 with attorneys present.
16 Q. Yeah, I'm not looking to infringe your attorney-client
17 privilege.
18 A. I know. I just don't recall all of the meetings. It
19 may have been discussed outside those meetings.
20 Q. Well, do you have a recollection?
21 A. I do not have a recollection of specific discussions.
22 Q. Just so I understand your testimony, are you saying it
23 was -- it may have been discussed but you're not sure
24 whether or not it was discussed in meetings that were 25 outside the attorney-client privilege? Is that your

Page 248

1 testimony?
2 A. Yes. It -- well, to clarify, I think it -- some
3 concept probably was discussed, but I'm not sure it
4 was discussed outside of attorney-client meetings --
5 Q. Okay.
6 A. -- attorney-client privilege. I want to be clear.
7 Q. Again, without infringing attorney-client privilege,
8 did the state, and when I say the state, I mean the 9 governor, his senior staff, Mr. Dillon, his staff,
10 ever speak to you or your team asserting that there
11 had to be significant cuts in accrued vested pension
12 amounts?
13 A. I don't recall the state ever, as you say, asserting
14 that there had to be.
15 Q. At the time you filed for bankruptcy or when the City
16 filed for bankruptcy, was it your intent absent a
17 consensual deal with the relevant stakeholders that
18 accrued vested pension amounts for both active and
19 currently retired persons would be cut?
20 A. Well, first it was our intent that we reach some sort
21 of understanding with stakeholders, that's why we
22 asked for the formation of a retiree committee,
23 because we recognize we needed to have representation
24 on those issues. Secondly, what we're asking for and 25 what we proposed in this proposal was the size of the

Page 249

1 unfunded pension obligation and to have discussions
 2 about that amount. We did not want to imposes it,
 3 we've said that many times, so in direct response to
 4 your question, I don't know what we will do absent
 5 consent.
 6 Q. Okay, I'm not sure you answered my question so let me
 7 ask you again.
 8 A. Uh-huh.
 9 Q. Putting aside -- or assuming that there is no
 10 consensual deal that would occur --
 11 A. Right.
 12 Q. -- was it your intent at the time the City filed for 13 bankruptcy that there would be a -- nonconsensual
 14 significant cuts in accrued vested pension amounts?
 15 A. No.
 16 Q. That was not your intent?
 17 A. No.
 18 Q. Did you have -- at the time of the bankruptcy filing,
 19 did you have an intention as to what you wanted to 20 happen vis-a-vis the Detroit's pension liabilities
 21 were you enable to achieve a consensual deal?
 22 A. Did we have an intent as to what was going to happen?
 23 Q. Yeah, what did you hope would happen or what did you
 24 intend to happen to the pension liabilities in 25 bankruptcy if you were unable to get a deal?

Page 250

1 A. Yeah, I think you're --
 2 MR. SHUMAKER: I'll object, it calls for
 3 speculation, but you can --
 4 A. Yeah.
 5 Q. Let me -- I'm not asking you to speculate, I'm asking
 6 you what your actual intent was at the time you filed
 7 for bankruptcy.
 8 A. Our intent was to seek a consensual deal.
 9 Q. Did you have -- did you think about the possibility
 10 that you might not be able to achieve a consensual
 11 deal? Did that cross your mind?
 12 A. Yes.
 13 Q. Okay. And when that thought crossed your mind that 14 you might not be able to have a consensual deal, did
 15 you then have an intent as to what you wanted to have
 16 happen with the pension liabilities in bankruptcy?
 17 A. No. We were going to cross that bridge when we got to
 18 it.
 19 Q. Okay, just so I understand your testimony, you filed
 20 for bankruptcy -- the City filed for bankruptcy at 21 your request, you contemplated the possibility that 22 there would be no consensual deal --
 23 A. Right.
 24 Q. -- but you had no plan or intention as to what would
 25 happen to the pension liabilities if there were no

Page 251

1 deal?
 2 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form. It was
 3 at the governor's request but --
 4 MR. DeCHIARA: Okay, I accept that
 5 modification.
 6 Q. But can you answer the question?
 7 A. Yes. No, because we've never made a -- well, we've
 8 never made a threat that what will happen if we don't
 9 reach a consensual deal. We will address that issue
 10 if and when it arises.
 11 Q. Yeah, just to be clear, I'm not asking you about 12 threats, I'm not suggesting there were any threats.
 13 I'm just asking what was your intent, what was going
 14 on in your head?
 15 A. We don't have an intent in that respect.
 16 Q. Mr. Orr, I would like to show you a document I'll have 17 marked as Orr Exhibit 17. I apologize, I only have 18 one copy so let me show it to your counsel first.
 19 MR. DeCHIARA: Let me read what it is.
 20 It's a document that's on the docket, it's a document
 21 849, it's the City of Detroit, Michigan's Objections
 22 and Responses to Detroit Retirement Systems' First
 23 Request For Admission Directed to the City of Detroit,
 24 Michigan.
 25 (Marked Exhibit No. 17.)

Page 252

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Thanks.
 2 Okay.
 3 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 4 Q. First of all, are you familiar with that document,
 5 Mr. Orr?
 6 MR. SHUMAKER: Take a look at the first
 7 page.
 8 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 9 Q. And I will represent that there's a box that's circled
 10 and that's my handwriting from this morning.
 11 A. Okay. Okay. Yes.
 12 Q. Are you familiar with this document?
 13 A. Yes.
 14 Q. Did you review it before it was filed by the City?
 15 A. Yes, I did.
 16 Q. Let me refer you to -- let me just read. I'll read it
 17 over your shoulder so we can all read it together.
 18 And request for admission 12 says, admit, the City
 19 intends to seek or diminish -- seek to diminish or 20 impair the accrued financial benefits of the 21 participants in the retirement system through this
 22 Chapter 9 case. The response is admitted. Were you
 23 aware of that admission made by the City?
 24 A. Yes, I reviewed these before they were filed.
 25 Q. Okay. And am I reading this correctly that the City

Page 253

1 does -- or at least as of the date of this document,
 2 which looks like it was entered on the docket on
 3 September 13th, that the City intends to seek or 4 diminish to impair accrued pension benefits of Detroit
 5 pensioners?
 6 A. Yes, that's admitted.
 7 Q. Okay. And so when did -- when did the City first --
 8 when did that intent by the City first come into 9 existence? Was it in existence at the time of the 10 bankruptcy filing?
 11 A. Well, I think we said in June 14th that we need to 12 adjust pensions, I think we said it in several 13 meetings after that so when you say intent as in the 14 legal conclusion of that document, I think we've said
 15 that. I think what we've consistently said, though,
 16 we want to do that consensually by a consensual plan.
 17 Q. I understand that you've said that, but I'm just 18 trying to nail down, if you will, this intent that's 19 expressed, that's admitted in response to request for 20 admission 12 in Exhibit 17. I'm just trying to nail
 21 down when that intent first came into existence. Did
 22 it come into existence at the time of the bankruptcy,
 23 sometime before the bankruptcy was filed? If you can 24 shed whatever light you can on the timing of when that
 25 intent came into existence.

Page 254

1 A. Other than what I've said, we said at June 14th we
 2 have to adjust the pensions, we asked for a consensual
 3 plan, so I suppose you can say -- without getting
 4 caught in the legal conclusion of the intent, I
 5 suppose you could say that from our proposal to the 6 time of that admissions the intent as you say without
 7 drawing a legal conclusion occurred.
 8 Q. Okay, so that intent existed at least -- at least at 9 the time of the June 14th proposal; is that a fair
 10 characterization of your testimony?
 11 A. No, I said sometime between the June 14th testimony
 12 till the entry of those admissions. The intent as you
 13 say could have occurred upon the execution of that
 14 admission.
 15 Q. Okay. And is it -- and you don't know when that
 16 intent came into existence?
 17 A. No, I think it came -- frankly, if you're using the 18 word intent, I think it came when that admission was 19 supplied.
 20 Q. So your testimony -- so your testimony is this intent
 21 arose at the time that this answer was drafted or 22 submitted by the City onto the docket? That's when 23 the City developed the intent?
 24 A. I don't know if it was on the docket. What I know is 25 the question says, a legal conclusion, the question

1 asked do you intend to benefit (sic) and we admitted
 2 it, and I guess in response to your question as to
 3 when that intent arose, I guess it's at the point of
 4 admission.
 5 Q. Okay. And so you're saying prior to the City
 6 preparing this document, the intent that's referred to 7 in the document did not exist?
 8 A. I'm not sure we prepared that document.
 9 Q. Well, it's a filing in this case --
 10 A. It's a response.
 11 Q. -- by the City of Detroit?
 12 A. Right, but it's a response to a request for admission.
 13 Q. Right.
 14 A. Okay.
 15 Q. But the relevant part where it says admitted.
 16 A. Since you're using intent it sounds like you're using 17 as a legal conclusion. I'm saying that the -- using 18 your words, the formal intent occurred at the point of 19 admission. That's what an admission is.
 20 Q. Okay. So -- let me describe my understanding, you
 21 tell me if you agree with my understanding.
 22 A. Uh-huh.
 23 Q. So this is a request for admission that asks whether
 24 -- that asks the City whether it admits that the City
 25 has a certain intent and the City admitted that;

Page 256

1 correct?
 2 A. Yes, yes, that's correct.
 3 Q. Okay -- so okay. So as of the moment that the City
 4 made that admission in this document, the City had
 5 that intent?
 6 A. I think -- I think that's an admission, yes.
 7 Q. Right. So we're in agreement.
 8 A. Okay.
 9 Q. My question is the intent that's referred to, did it
 10 exist at any moment before the City made the 11 admission?
 12 A. In my mind, no. I mean, the time of admission is when 13 it admits to the intent.
 14 Q. And so in the June 14th proposal when it says there
 15 must be significant cuts in accrued vested pension
 16 amounts, it was not your intent that there be such 17 cuts absent a consensual deal?
 18 A. What I'm saying is your letter -- your request for 19 admissions asks when does the City intend to diminish.
 20 The proposal said there must be cuts, but throughout
 21 that time we said we wanted a consensual resolution.
 22 By using the word intent I'm saying it just as a
 23 matter of practicality the expressed intent is upon
 24 that admission.
 25 Q. Let me ask you about Article 9, Section 25 (sic) of

Page 257

1 the Michigan Constitution. There was a great deal of
 2 colloquy earlier today about that topic. Do you
 3 recall that?
 4 A. Yes, I do.
 5 Q. Okay. Did you have any discussions with the governor
 6 or the governor's staff or Mr. Dillon or Mr. Baird at 7 any time about the meaning or import of Article 9,
 8 Section 25 of the Michigan Constitution?
 9 MR. SHUMAKER: Without counsel present?
 10 MR. DeCHIARA: Yeah, without invading
 11 attorney-client privilege.
 12 Q. Oh, I'm sorry, I'm misspeaking. Section 24.
 13 A. I understood, yes, okay.
 14 Q. Yes.
 15 A. I don't recall any of those discussions without
 16 counsel present.
 17 Q. Prior to your being appointed as Emergency Manager did
 18 you speak to any of your colleagues at Jones Day about
 19 Article 9, Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution?
 20 A. Yes, I believe I did.
 21 Q. And with whom did you speak --
 22 A. With whom did I speak --
 23 Q. -- about it?
 24 A. Let me clarify. I don't know if I spoke, I think I
 25 saw some research on that article.

Page 258

1 Q. Okay, and this was research that you saw while you
 2 were a partner at Jones Day?
 3 A. Yes.
 4 Q. And it was research shown to you by your colleagues at
 5 Jones -- one or more of your colleagues at Jones Day?
 6 A. Yeah, I'm -- I'm not a Michigan law constitutional
 7 scholar, but I think there are various research papers
 8 that were circulated. I don't think anybody came in 9 and said, here, read this. I think I just saw a paper
 10 that discussed it.
 11 Q. Where did -- did you see it as a result of your own
 12 research --
 13 A. No.
 14 Q. -- or did someone show it to you?
 15 A. I think somebody else was doing research on it and I
 16 think it was either through a distribution or --
 17 sometimes distributions come through the office, you
 18 don't know who, you know, they just come through
 19 interoffice mail and you read the distribution and it
 20 may have been a research memo that came through my 21 office, came to my office.
 22 Q. Do you have in your mind a particular document?
 23 A. Yes, I do.
 24 Q. And was it a hard -- did it land on your desk in hard
 25 copy or did it come through your email?

Page 259

1 A. No, I think it came in hard copy.
 2 Q. And do you recall what it said?
 3 MR. SHUMAKER: To the extent that it's not
 4 a privileged memo.
 5 THE WITNESS: No, it was marked
 6 attorney-client privilege, attorney work product so I
 7 don't think I can speak to it. That's what I recall
 8 about it.
 9 MR. SHUMAKER: Certainly if it was a memo
 10 involving attorney-client advice, you're not going to 11 -- you're not going to testify about it. I'm going to 12 instruct you not to --
 13 THE WITNESS: Right, I think it can be
 14 characterized as that, yes.
 15 Q. Without going into the substance of the document, was 16 it a document that was prepared for a client of 17 Jones Day? Do you know?
 18 A. It may have been prepared in contemplation for a
 19 client. I'm being careful because the attorney-client
 20 privilege can attach prior to a formal relationship so
 21 I'm just being very careful, but I think it -- I think
 22 it implicates attorney-client privilege. I recall
 23 seeing a memo, but I also recall up in the right-hand
 24 corner that it had all of the instructions about 25 privilege and work product.

Page 260

1 Q. Apart from that document did you see any other
 2 documents --
 3 A. No, no.
 4 Q. Okay. Do you recall any conversations you had with 5 any of your colleagues at Jones Day while you were
 6 still at Jones Day about the Michigan Constitution?
 7 A. No.
 8 Q. Did you attend the June 14, 2013 meeting that's 9 referenced in paragraph 80 of your declaration?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. And did you speak at that meeting?
 12 A. Yes.
 13 Q. Did you say anything to the effect that -- did you say
 14 anything at the meeting to the effect that this 15 meeting was not a negotiation?
 16 A. I don't recall if I said that. I may have, but I
 17 don't recall.
 18 Q. If there was testimony by others that you did say
 19 that, would you be in a position to deny that you said
 20 it?
 21 A. No, I don't recall that I said it or not.
 22 Q. What about the June 20th meeting? Did you attend
 23 that?
 24 A. I attended one of those meetings. It may have been
 25 the June 20th.

Page 261

1 Q. Are you saying --

2 A. The following week, yes.

3 Q. When you say one of those meetings, are you sure you

4 attended June 14th?

5 A. No, no, no, when I say one, I mean one of the 6 subsequent. I'm sure I attended June 14th. June 10th

7 was Monday, June 14th was Friday, my public meeting

8 was Monday, June 14th was the all creditors meeting.

9 There was subsequent due diligence meetings the 10 following week and I recall attending at least one of 11 those that week. That was the those I was referring

12 to.

13 Q. I'm a little confused. Are you sure you attended June

14 14th?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. Okay. So do you recall whether you attended June

17 20th?

18 A. I think I did, but I don't recall.

19 Q. Okay. What about July 11th?

20 A. I don't recall.

21 Q. Okay. So I already asked you about whether at the

22 June 14th meeting you said anything to the effect of 23 that this was not a negotiation. Let me ask you the 24 same question for the June 20th and July 11th. Do you

25 recall at that -- at those meetings saying anything to

Page 263

1 A. Yes, I believe so.

2 Q. Okay. And some of those individuals spoke?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. Okay. Do you recall whether at any of those meetings

5 that you attended whether any of the other individuals

6 who were there on behalf of the City said words to the

7 effect of this is not a negotiation?

8 A. Do I recall? No.

9 Q. At the June 20th meeting, is it true that the

10 attendees, and by the attendees I mean the people who

11 were not there on behalf of the City but the other

12 people, that in order to be heard they needed to fill

13 out a card and submit the card to someone who was

14 running the meeting? Is that how things worked?

15 A. Where was the June 20th meeting?

16 Q. I don't know.

17 A. I -- I know at my June 10th meeting that we had 18 speakers. I don't recall. I don't recall June 20.

19 Q. Let me clarify. Let's talk about the June 14th

20 meeting, the one you're sure you attended.

21 A. Right.

22 Q. Was there a system in place at that meeting where for

23 an attendee to be heard he or she had to write -- fill

24 out a card and submit it?

25 A. Yes, I believe so.

Page 262

1 the effect of this is not a negotiation?

2 A. I may have. As I've said several times today, you

3 know, bargaining negotiations is suspended for five

4 years so I may have said that, but I don't recall.

5 Q. And again, if there were witnesses who testified they

6 heard you say that at one or more of these meetings,

7 would you be in a position to deny that?

8 A. I don't know if I would deny it or if I would confirm

9 it. I mean, their recollection of what was said could 10 be different than mine or what they heard.

11 Q. Did you attend a meeting on July 10th with creditors?

12 A. I may have.

13 Q. Same question for July 10th. Do you recall saying

14 anything to the effect that that meeting was not a

15 negotiation?

16 A. I think I generally, when I would go to these

17 meetings, say we're having discussions and exchange,

18 but I would try -- if I said this is not a

19 negotiation, I would try to make sure that I did not

20 waive the suspension of bargaining under 436, so I may 21 have said that, yes.

22 Q. You may have said what?

23 A. This is not a negotiation, yeah, I may have said that.

24 Q. Okay. Apart from you there were others who attended

25 those meetings on behalf of the City; correct?

Page 264

1 Q. Okay, and describe how -- how did that -- what was

2 that process, how did that work?

3 A. That process was arranged by my staff. My

4 understanding is that if people wanted to speak, they

5 could fill out a card and a question would be asked

6 and members who were on the DS on the panel would

7 answer the question.

8 Q. Who would read out the card?

9 A. Initially it was the -- someone I believe on my staff

10 or some of my consultant's staff, but toward the end

11 of the meeting people just started asking questions

12 outright.

13 Q. Did -- that same process of attendees having to fill

14 out a card, did that occur at any of the other

15 meetings? And by the other meetings I mean either

16 June 20th, July 10th or July 11th?

17 A. I don't recall.

18 Q. It may have?

19 A. It may have, but I don't recall.

20 Q. Okay. Have you ever in your career as an attorney

21 attended a negotiation session of any kind?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Have you ever been at a negotiation session where one

24 side or the other has to fill out a card and have it

25 read by someone else to be heard?

Page 265

1 A. You're using the phrase negotiation session, and I
2 want to be clear that what we were saying is make sure
3 that we did not waive any rights under 436. I have 4 been at meetings where for purposes of to engage in 5 oral discussion, yes, you've had to fill out cards to 6 be heard, yes. I have been at auctions. Yes, I have 7 been at meetings like that.

8 Q. At auctions?

9 A. Yeah, I've been at auctions, been at meetings, been at 10 negotiations, yes, many different types of meetings.

11 Q. What kind of negotiations where those where 12 participants had to fill out a card to be heard?

13 A. They could have been negotiations for finance, they 14 could have been negotiations for procedures, they 15 could have been negotiations for a number of different
16 subjects, but it's happened on more than one occasion.

17 Q. Have you ever attended a collective bargaining
18 negotiation?

19 A. Yeah, I think I have.

20 Q. Okay. Did you ever see that type of system used in a
21 collective bargaining negotiation?

22 A. I don't think I saw it at the one I attended, but 23 collective bargaining is suspended.

24 Q. Did you -- before any of these meetings -- and by 25 these meetings, I mean the June 14th, June 20th, July

1 10th or July 11th meetings -- did you consult with the
2 governor or any other state official about how the
3 meetings would be conducted?

4 A. No, not to the best of my knowledge.

5 Q. Did you consult with anyone, the governor or anyone,
6 any state official, regarding what the purpose or 7 nature of the meetings would be?

8 A. When you say consult, you know, I've testified earlier
9 today that we had regular communications with the 10 governor's office, but my understanding was that how 11 we ran meetings was substantially left up to me and my 12 team. So no, we didn't consult in that regard on how 13 the meetings were run.

14 Q. Okay, just to clarify what I mean by consult. I mean
15 did you talk?

16 A. Not at that level of detail how we're going to run, no
17 we didn't talk, no.

18 MR. DeCHIARA: Let me mark a document,
19 which I'll mark as -- ask the court reporter to mark
20 as Exhibit 18.
21 (Marked Exhibit No. 18.)

22 Q. Have you -- have you ever seen this document before?

23 A. Yes.

24 Q. And let me just identify it for the record. It's a
25 letter from Jones Day to Larry Stewart dated June 27,

1 2013.

2 A. I'm --

3 MR. SHUMAKER: We have a different letter I
4 think.

5 A. I have John Cunningham.

6 MR. SHUMAKER: We have John Cunningham.
7 MR. DeCHIARA: I'm sorry, let's use that
8 one.

9 THE WITNESS: Okay.
10 MR. DeCHIARA: Thank you.

11 Q. Orr Exhibit 18 will be a Jones Day letter to John 12 Cunningham dated June 27, 2013. Let me ask you, have 13 you seen this Orr Exhibit 18 before?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. And the first sentence of the letter says, thank you
16 for participating in the June 20th, 2013 informational
17 meetings pertaining to the City of Detroit's, and then
18 it continues --

19 A. Uh-huh.

20 Q. -- and you can read the rest --

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. -- but I won't read it aloud.
23 Do you concur with the description in the 24 sentence that I read of the June 20th meeting as an
25 informational meeting?

Page 268

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. Let me refer you back to your June 14th, 2013
3 proposal.

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. And to page -- the original page 109. And the third
6 to the last bullet point which we read earlier and 7 again I'm going to focus on the bottom line of that
8 bullet point that says, "There must be significant
9 cuts in accrued vested pension amounts for both active
10 and currently retired persons."
11 At the time of the meetings that I've been 12 referring to, the June 14th, June 20th, July 10th and 13 July 11th meetings, were -- would you have been 14 willing had there been negotiations that took place to 15 compromise and accept -- accept an outcome of the 16 restructuring effort that resulted in there not being
17 cuts in accrued vested pension amounts for both active
18 and currently retired persons?

19 A. Well, that's a hypothetical question that could depend
20 upon a number of things. I don't know. I would have 21 to see the proposal. We were willing to listen to any 22 proposal or counter that came in.

23 Q. Okay, and I'm not trying to phrase it as a
24 hypothetical, I want to focus on what was in your mind
25 at the time of these meetings. So let me ask you.

Page 269

1 Did you ever consider at the time of these meetings
2 whether you would accept in some scenario that
3 resulted from negotiations that there would be an
4 outcome to the restructuring where there would not be
5 cuts to accrued vested pension amounts?
6 A. That depends upon the proposal and the circumstances
7 of that proposed outcome.
8 Q. I think we're maybe misunderstanding each other. I'm 9 not asking you what you would have done --
10 A. Uh-huh.
11 Q. -- had you gotten a certain proposal or what you would
12 have done under some circumstances that did not occur.
13 What I'm asking you is as to what your actual state of 14 mind was at the time of these meetings. In your 15 actual state of mind --
16 A. Uh-huh.
17 Q. -- did you have -- did you consider and did you think
18 about that had there been certain negotiations that 19 led down a certain path, did you in your mind consider
20 that you might accept an outcome of the restructuring
21 where there would not be cuts to accrued vested
22 pension amounts?
23 A. I was receptive as we said to anything, but that would
24 depend upon the proposal.
25 Q. Did you say at any of these meetings that you would be

Page 270

1 receptive to anything?
2 A. No, I think we did say that, yes.
3 Q. So you would have been receptive to an outcome where
4 there would be no cuts in accrued vested pension
5 amounts?
6 A. That depends upon what the proposal was. We were
7 receptive to hearing anything which we haven't heard,
8 so yes.
9 Q. And is that true today? Are you willing to consider
10 an outcome to this restructuring effort where there
11 would be no cuts to accrued vested pension amounts?
12 A. That depends upon the terms of the proposal. That's 13 -- that's -- we'll listen to -- we have said before
14 and we'll say again, we'll listen to anything, but it
15 depends upon the terms.
16 Q. Okay.
17 A. Your question's a hypothetical so I -- I don't -- it
18 depends upon what the terms are.
19 Q. Okay, well, we have a disagreement with whether my 20 question is a hypothetical, but it is what it is.
21 A. Okay.
22 Q. I can only ask you to answer it to the best of your
23 ability.
24 A. That's the best of my ability.
25 Q. Let me now ask you about what you actually said at the

Page 271

1 June 14th meeting.
2 A. Okay.
3 Q. Do you have a recollection of any words you used to
4 communicate to those in attendance that you were open
5 to consider anything, if that's a fair
6 characterization of your prior testimony? Did you use
7 words to that effect and if so what were those words?
8 A. I don't remember the exact words, but I think we 9 expressed the sentiment that this is a proposal and 10 we're open to discussions.
11 Q. Well, that's a little different. I mean, to be open
12 to discussion. I'm not asking you -- I think you
13 testified a few minutes ago that you were open to 14 anything and if I'm mischaracterizing that, correct
15 me.
16 A. Well, no, anything -- and I meant anything meaning
17 anything in terms of discussions, that's why we styled
18 this, we never called this a plan, we never called 19 this a deal, we always called it a proposal because we
20 were open for discussions, any response, meaning
21 anything, so I think they're the same thing. I'm not 22 trying to be cute in any fashion, I'm just saying we 23 were open to responses, yes.
24 Q. Did you ever say to the attendees at the meetings or 25 communicate to the attendees in writing that the City

Page 272

1 would consider an outcome to the restructuring effort
2 whereby there would be no cuts to accrued vested
3 pension amounts?
4 A. Did we ever communicate? I'm not sure that anyone on 5 my team did. To the best of my knowledge, I don't 6 recall doing that.
7 Q. Okay. Did you ever -- you or your team ever
8 communicate at the meetings or in writing to the 9 creditors that you would be open to a result of the 10 restructuring effort that would result in something
11 less than significant cuts in accrued vested pension
12 amounts?
13 A. Let me -- this line of questioning, let me respond
14 this way. I think it's fair to say that we 15 communicated that we were open to discussions and 16 suggestions and counterproposals. Depending upon what 17 the term of those discussions, suggestions and 18 counterproposals or anything were, we were willing to 19 discuss them.
20 Q. Let me turn your attention back to page 109 of the -- 21 of Exhibit 9, which is the June 14th proposal for 22 creditors.
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. And I believe you were questioned about this earlier
25 so I'll keep this short, but the fifth bullet point

Page 273

1 from the bottom of the page makes reference to an
 2 underfunding of $3.5 billion.
 3 A. Yes.
 4 Q. Do you see that?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. And is it that assessment of -- is it that assessment
 7 that that's the level of underfunding that caused you
 8 to conclude two bullet points down that there had to 9 be significant cuts in accrued pension benefits?
 10 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to form.
 11 Q. I mean accrued pension liability.
 12 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 13 A. Yes, we believe there are insufficient funds, yes.
 14 Q. Okay. And the pension systems themselves believed,
 15 and continue to believe, that the amount of 16 underfunding is less than 3.5 billion; correct?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, foundation.
 19 A. I believe they recognize they're underfunding but 20 there have been statements that it's less than 21 3.5 billion.
 22 Q. Statements by them?
 23 A. By them.
 24 Q. Okay. Did you ever speak to the governor or his staff
 25 or any state officials about what was the -- or what

Page 274

1 is the correct amount of underfunding?
 2 A. Yes, I believe so.
 3 Q. Who did you speak to about that?
 4 A. Putting aside any discussions with attorneys, as we've
 5 done --
 6 MR. SHUMAKER: Same admonition as before.
 7 THE WITNESS: Same admonition.
 8 A. -- I believe I may have spoke with -- me personally
 9 may have spoken with the treasurer.
 10 Q. When was that?
 11 A. I don't recall.
 12 Q. Was it before or after June 14th?
 13 A. Probably before.
 14 Q. And was it a face-to-face meeting?
 15 A. It may have been. It may have been.
 16 Q. Where was the meeting?
 17 A. I -- I -- there were so many meetings with so many 18 different parties, not just with the treasurer, but it
 19 may have been here in Detroit. We sometimes meet in
 20 Detroit.
 21 Q. Do you recall the substance of your conversation?
 22 A. I do not.
 23 Q. Did he say to you that he believed the pension funds'
 24 assessment of the amount of underfunding was 25 unrealistic or words to that effect?

Page 275

1 A. No, not that I recall. I think -- no.
 2 Q. Did you say that to him?
 3 A. I think I said something along the lines we believe
 4 it's 3.5, some of the pension funds have asserted it's
 5 different, we need to have a dialogue to derive a
 6 number.
 7 Q. So you were the one who brought up the --
 8 A. Yes.
 9 Q. -- topic?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. And what caused you to believe that the pension funds
 12 were underestimating the amount of liability?
 13 A. As has been discussed both in the presentation and 14 many other times, we looked at a number of factors.
 15 First from Gabriel Rotor, then from Milliman's initial 16 analysis of the Gabriel Rotor report, then from 17 Milliman's independent report and the unfunded actual 18 liability, the expected rate of return on assets, the 19 proposed amortization rate, how much we have to pay
 20 out over time --
 21 THE COURT REPORTER: I'm sorry. Start
 22 again. The expected rate of assets.
 23 A. The expected rate of return, the market value of 24 assets, the proposed amortization rate and other
 25 factors, which led us to conclude that they were

Page 276

1 underfunded at this level to meet the anticipated
 2 actuarial liabilities in out years.
 3 Q. So you were advised by certain experts who were
 4 consulting you --
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. -- about this matter?
 7 A. Yes. As was testified to this morning, I'm not an 8 actuary. I relied on my team, yes.
 9 Q. But what initially caused you to look into this issue?
 10 Did someone come to you and say -- suggest that the 11 pension liability's underfunded or is this something
 12 that you yourself decided to seek out an opinion from 13 experts on?
 14 A. I -- I think that this issue had been discussed prior 15 to my becoming Emergency Manager in various forms with 16 financial stability agreement, perhaps even in a
 17 consent agreement. When we're looking at all
 18 obligations of the City, I seem to recall those 19 documents started out at $12 billion of total debt,
 20 then a subsequent one having to do before I got here
 21 in 2012 came up with $14 billion of debt, and then the 22 first 30 days that I was appointed one of the 23 obligations under 436 is get a true assessment of the 24 City's financial condition, we did a deeper dive and 25 that's when we derived these numbers. So that was

Page 277

1 based upon historical calculations and my obligations
 2 under the statute.
 3 MR. DeCHIARA: I would like to go off the
 4 record just for a minute. I may be done, I just want
 5 to consult with co-counsel.
 6 MR. SHUMAKER: Sure.
 7 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
 8 5:26 p.m.
 9 (A brief recess was taken.)
 10 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record
 11 at 5:39 p.m.
 12 REEXAMINATION
 13 BY MR. ULLMAN:
 14 Q. Mr. Orr?
 15 A. Yes.
 16 Q. Just a few more questions for you.
 17 A. Sure, Mr. Ullman.
 18 Q. You are the -- let me withdraw that.
 19 The June 14th proposal that we've looked at 20 was put forward by you in your capacity as Emergency
 21 Manager?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. Does anyone besides you have authority to change or 24 modify the terms of the proposal?
 25 A. Well, it's my proposal and under statute I have

Page 278

1 substantial discretion, but ultimately I report to the
 2 governor, but as far as this, no one else in the City
 3 does, no.
 4 Q. No one other than you?
 5 A. No one other than me.
 6 Q. Now, in connection with a Chapter 9 proceeding that's 7 ongoing, in the event that you are unable to reach a
 8 consensual resolution, do you intend to withdraw the 9 bankruptcy filing?
 10 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for
 11 speculation.
 12 A. Yeah, I don't know what we'll do at that point.
 13 Suffice it to say, if we can't reach a consensual
 14 resolution, there are serious questions about the City
 15 for a number of reasons.
 16 Q. And if the creditors and objectors do not agree to the 17 terms that are set out in the June 14th proposal, do
 18 you intend to put forward a plan in the Chapter 9
 19 proceeding that treats pension contributions for 20 retirees differently than the way those contributions
 21 are treated in the June 14th proposal?
 22 MR. SHUMAKER: Same objection.
 23 A. Yeah, I don't know what we intend to do. Suffice it
 24 to say, I think the proposal speaks for itself and 25 we'll stand by that. We're hoping to get some

Page 279

1 movement on it.
 2 Q. So as things now stand, there's no plan to put forward
 3 anything else if the creditors and in particular the 4 retirees do not agree to what's set out in the June
 5 14th proposal?
 6 A. As it stands right now, we don't have a plan.
 7 MR. ULLMAN: I have nothing further. Thank
 8 you, Mr. Orr.
 9 MR. SHUMAKER: Thank you, counsel.
 10 THE WITNESS: Thank you.
 11 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at
 12 5:41 p.m.
 13 (Discussion held off the record.)
 14 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We're back on the record
 15 at 5:43 p.m.
 16 EXAMINATION
 17 BY MS. GREEN:
 18 Q. Hi, Mr. Orr. We've met before.
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. My name is Jennifer Green, I represent the two 21 Retirement Systems for the City of Detroit.
 22 A. Yes, Jennifer -- Ms. Green. Good to see you again.
 23 Q. Thank you. Nice to you see you again too.
 24 I have a question about Exhibit 11. I
 25 don't know if you have it in front of you or not.

Page 280

1 A. Okay.
 2 MR. SHUMAKER: Which one is that?
 3 MS. GREEN: It's the July 18th letter from
 4 the governor.
 5 MR. SHUMAKER: Thank you.
 6 A. Okay. It's in here. Here it is, got it. Okay.
 7 Q. Do you happen to know who within the governor's office
 8 drafted this letter?
 9 A. No, I do not.
 10 Q. Do you know if Jones Day had any input in drafting the
 11 July 18th letter?
 12 A. To the best of my knowledge I don't think they did.
 13 Q. Do you know if they had any input or saw a preview of 14 the letter before it was delivered on the 18th?
 15 A. To the best of my knowledge they did not. I know I
 16 did not.
 17 Q. Did you have any specific conversations with the 18 governor about this letter between July 16th and July
 19 18th?
 20 MR. SHUMAKER: Without counsel present?
 21 MS. GREEN: With the caveat without counsel
 22 present.
 23 A. Without counsel present? No.
 24 Q. Did you have any with counsel present?
 25 A. Yes, I believe on the morning of the 18th.

Page 281

1 Q. Okay. You testified earlier that you were expecting
2 the letter on the 18th and you really didn't know what
3 to expect until you actually received the letter?
4 A. I was expecting a letter at any time. After I
5 received it, I and my staff, Mr. Nowling, Ms. Penn,
6 would spend the 17th and the morning of the 18th for 7 that matter wondering if the letter was going to be
8 forthcoming. I didn't know when I was going to 9 receive the letter.
10 Q. And did you know what the contents of the letter would 11 be with respect to any contingencies?
12 A. No.
13 Q. Were contingencies anything that were discussed during 14 the meeting with the governor between the 16th and the
15 18th?
16 MR. SHUMAKER: Again, only without counsel
17 present. If there were any such discussions.
18 A. No, there were none, not without counsel.
19 Q. Without disclosing the substance of what the 20 attorney-client privilege communications would be, can
21 you at least confirm whether contingencies in general
22 were discussed with the governor prior to this letter
23 being delivered to you on the 18th?
24 A. No, they were not.
25 Q. I notice that the 18th letter says that it was

Page 282

1 delivered via hand and electronic delivery.
2 A. Yes.
3 Q. What time did you get the letter on the 18th?
4 A. I don't know, but I think it was around lunchtime.
5 Q. Did you receive it via email or did you receive it via 6 hand-delivery?
7 A. I don't recall depending upon which office. I think
8 someone came in and handed it to me. I think someone
9 on my staff gave it to me.
10 Q. Do you recall receiving it via email?
11 A. I think I probably did receive it, I just think 12 somebody got it before I got into my emails and 13 brought it into me.
14 Q. Do you know if the email that this letter was attached
15 to has been produced to date?
16 A. I do not.
17 Q. Would you be willing to produce the email that 18 attached this letter as part of this?
19 MR. SHUMAKER: Certainly willing to look
20 into it, sure. And it may well very --
21 MS. GREEN: Have already been.
22 MR. SHUMAKER: -- been produced.
23 Q. Earlier we were discussing the common interest
24 agreement between the City and the state. Do you have 25 an actual written common interest agreement?

Page 283

1 A. That's handled by my counsel. I -- I believe we do.
2 Q. Do you know if you reviewed the common interest
3 agreement?
4 A. I don't recall if I reviewed it.
5 Q. Were you the one that would have executed it on behalf
6 of the City?
7 A. I might have been.
8 Q. Do you know if you've produced the common interest
9 agreement as part of this litigation?
10 A. I don't know.
11 Q. Would you produce the common interest agreement?
12 MR. SHUMAKER: Look into that one too.
13 MS. GREEN: Thank you.
14 Q. We earlier were discussing some email correspondence
15 from January of 2013 and you had commented in an email
16 -- you characterized PA 436 as a "clear end-around the 17 prior initiative that was rejected by the voters in 18 November."
19 A. Yes.
20 Q. What did you mean when you said that it was a "clear
21 end-around?"
22 A. I had read that in one of the articles and as I said
23 during that discussion, that was my cursory review of 24 the statute and I had read that somewhere. That was 25 the conclusion during that day of going back and forth

Page 284

1 based upon what I had read at that time.
2 Q. So someone else had concluded that it was a clear
3 end-around and you were agreeing with that
4 characterization?
5 A. I was -- I was parroting in a sense what I had heard
6 and I was expressing the belief that I felt that
7 that's what was said, so yes, at that time that's what
8 I was saying.
9 Q. Who else had said that it was a clear end-around?
10 A. I forget which article that was in. It could have 11 been a Free Press article or News article. I was 12 reading or it could have been a WDIV or Fox 2
13 commentary. I was -- I was trying to find out what 14 was going on because of -- this subject came up of me
15 possibly being a candidate for the Emergency Manager.
16 Q. Are you now trying to say that you did not agree with 17 that characterization?
18 A. No, at that time --
19 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form. Go
20 ahead.
21 A. What I'm saying is at that time that was my
22 characterization.
23 Q. Have you similarly expressed any reservations about
24 PA 436 also being a clear end-around of Article 9,
25 Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution?

Page 285

1 A. No, at that time I hadn't even -- I hadn't even
2 thought about the Michigan constitutional questions at 3 that time.
4 Q. Have you since expressed any similar reservations?
5 A. No, I have not.
6 Q. Earlier you were handed Exhibit 17 I believe it was,
7 which was a copy of the City's request for admissions.
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. I'm sorry, the City's responses to the Retirement
10 Systems' request for admissions.
11 A. Yes.
12 Q. Do you have a copy in front of you?
13 MR. SHUMAKER: He has the only copy right
14 now.
15 MS. GREEN: I have a few extras because 16 they were --
17 THE COURT REPORTER: He took it back. He
18 took the original back.
19 MR. DeCHIARA: Oh, I have it? I have it.
20 MS. GREEN: He's got it. We're fine.
21 MR. SHUMAKER: Was it marked?
22 MS. GREEN: It was marked.
23 MR. SHUMAKER: It was marked. You need it
24 for the record.
25 THE WITNESS: Okay.

Page 286

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Peter, you want to take this
2 one?
3 MR. DeCHIARA: Thanks.
4 Q. A few moments ago you stated, and I don't want to
5 mischaracterize your testimony, I believe you said if
6 you can't reach a consensual deal, there are "serious
7 questions about the City for a number of reasons."
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. What did you mean when you said that?
10 A. Oh, I meant what do we do? We have a lot of liability
11 on pension and OPEB, we simply don't have the money,
12 we can't go to the capital markets and borrow that
13 magnitude of money, we'd have to try to figure out
14 what to do next. That's all I meant.
15 Q. Okay. I would like to direct your attention to 16 request for admission number five, it's on page 10 of 17 Exhibit 17. The request to admit asked the City to 18 admit that the restructuring proposal proposes to 19 impair or diminish accrued financial benefits of the 20 participants of the Retirement Systems and the City
21 stated it admits that the restructuring proposal
22 contemplates a reduction in accrued financial benefits
23 to participants of the Retirement Systems but seeks 24 agreement and acceptance by plan beneficiaries. The 25 City's intention are to gain consensus with its

1 creditors and propose a confirmable plan.
2 Did I read that correctly?
3 A. Yes.
4 Q. And similarly with respect to number 6, the request
5 was for the City to admit that the bankruptcy
6 recommendation proposes among other things to diminish
7 or impair accrued financial benefits of the 8 participants in the Retirement Systems. And the 9 response is the same; correct?
10 A. Yes.
11 Q. Number 12 asks the City to admit that you intend to 12 seek to diminish or impair the accrued financial 13 benefits of the participants in the Retirement Systems
14 through the Chapter 9 case?
15 A. Yes.
16 Q. And you see that distinction between the three
17 questions?
18 A. Yes.
19 Q. Your response to number 5 and number 6 both state that 20 the City seeks a consensual agreement; correct?
21 A. Yes.
22 Q. Your response to number 12, which is whether you would 23 seek to diminish or impair through the Chapter 9 case,
24 does not have the caveat regarding a consensual deal
25 being reached; correct?

Page 288

1 A. Yes.
2 Q. Why is there that difference? Is it because the City
3 intends to use the cramdown provisions of the 4 bankruptcy code to force a nonconsensual deal?
5 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
6 A. Without getting into discussions with counsel, I think
7 I can -- I think I can safely say without any waiver
8 that the City intends to preserve all of its rights in 9 answer number 12.
10 Q. A few moments ago when asked about what the City's 11 plan was if a consensual agreement could not be
12 reached, I believe your response was the City
13 currently has no plan if a consensual agreement is not
14 reached; correct?
15 A. That is correct, yes.
16 Q. Sitting here today is it your testimony the City has 17 no backup plan if a consensual deal is not reached?
18 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
19 A. Sitting here today it's my testimony that we have no
20 plan other -- first we have no plan, but we have no
21 plan or no effort other than to try to reach a
22 consensual resolution.
23 Q. If you don't get that consensual resolution, would you
24 resort to the cramdown provisions that are contained
25 within the bankruptcy code?

Page 289

1 A. I don't know. We'll have to -- as I've said before,
 2 we'll have to cross that bridge when we get to it.
 3 Q. So the City has no present intent to resort to any
 4 cramdown provisions?
 5 A. We haven't formulated a plan based upon consensus or 6 not yet.
 7 Q. Maybe you haven't formulated a plan but have you
 8 discussed the option?
 9 A. Oh, we've discussed a lot of options. That's why I
 10 say we want to reserve all rights.
 11 Q. Let's get into the discussions. When was your first 12 discussion regarding using the cramdown provisions if 13 a nonconsensual agreement was not reached?
 14 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection. I want to 15 caution the witness about getting into any 16 attorney-client communications. Subject to not
 17 revealing anything along those lines, you can answer.
 18 A. Without getting into any communications, I'm not sure
 19 there was a specific discussion about the cramdown
 20 provision.
 21 Q. A moment ago I thought you said, and I'm quoting from 22 right in front of me, we discussed a lot of options,
 23 that's why I say we want to reserve all rights and you
 24 had mentioned that there was an analysis about 25 cramdown provision. So there either was or there was

Page 290

1 not.
 2 A. I'm not -- what I'm trying to -- my testimony is I'm
 3 not sure that we specifically discussed if we can't
 4 get a consensual resolution, we go to cramdown. There
 5 were other options that were discussed --
 6 Q. Okay.
 7 A. -- including that. I don't want to give you a binary
 8 response.
 9 Q. So I have two follow-up questions then.
 10 A. Uh-huh.
 11 Q. Number one, when was the cramdown issue discussed?
 12 A. I don't recall a -- we -- without discussing what was 13 said with counsel, I don't recall --
 14 MR. SHUMAKER: The question is when.
 15 THE WITNESS: When?
 16 A. We haven't -- I don't want to be unclear. There
 17 hasn't been a specific cramdown discussion, but 18 cramdown is one of the options has been mentioned. We 19 have not sought to make a determination of if and when 20 we would pursue that alternative.
 21 Q. Well, I don't suppose you're willing to offer any sort
 22 of assurance today that the City would not resort to 23 the cramdown provisions if a consensual deal was not 24 struck?
 25 A. I just said we want to preserve all options. I can't

Page 291

1 do that.
 2 Q. And is it also true that you cannot remember the first
 3 time that that option was discussed?
 4 A. Ah --
 5 Q. Let's put it this way. Was it prior to the filing on 6 July 18th or is it something you have discussed after
 7 the filing?
 8 A. I mean, the reason I'm hesitant is I'm a bankruptcy
 9 practitioner, I'm certainly aware of nonconsensual
 10 creditors being subject to cramdown, I'm just not 11 recalling a specific discussion. I'm not sure we had 12 to have a discussion.
 13 Q. Okay.
 14 A. Okay, I mean.
 15 Q. What other options were discussed? You said you
 16 discussed multiple options?
 17 A. Well, without getting into negotiations, options
 18 regarding which if any classes you could get, which 19 participants, other alternatives, anything short of 20 consensual, what else you might be able to offer,
 21 whether you would listen to different factors that go
 22 into the payout, whether the beneficiaries would come
 23 with a different proposal. A number of things were 24 discussed.
 25 Q. Who did you discuss those options with?

Page 292

1 A. Our counsel and investment bankers.
 2 Q. Have you ever discussed -- so internally you discussed
 3 those options?
 4 A. Yes, yes, yes, yes.
 5 Q. Have you discussed those options with the Retirement
 6 Systems?
 7 A. Have I personally discussed those with the Retirement
 8 Systems? I don't recall. I don't think so.
 9 Q. Have you discussed those options with any of the 10 actual individuals within the Retirement Systems?
 11 A. I may have.
 12 Q. And who would that be?
 13 A. I don't remember. There are so -- I've had over -- I
 14 think at this point I've had over 200 meetings, some 15 of those including individual members of the various 16 groups and that may have come up.
 17 Q. So you've said several times throughout today and in 18 your responses to our discovery that the City's intent
 19 and the City's hope, I think you used the word hope,
 20 would be to get a consensual agreement.
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. And I think I recall you saying that your reading of 23 Article 9, Section 24 is that it would permit
 24 consensual contractual negotiations?
 25 A. I believe that's a fair characterization.

Page 293

1 Q. If that cannot be achieved, would you agree that
 2 Article 9, 24, Section 24, would prohibit any other
 3 impairment or diminution of the pension benefits?
 4 A. No.
 5 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for
 6 speculation and for a legal conclusion.
 7 Q. And why would you disagree with that?
 8 A. For all the reasons we discussed earlier today and in 9 addition I think it calls for a legal conclusion as 10 far as what the import of 436 versus that provision
 11 is.
 12 Q. Let's talk a little bit about the Chapter 9 process
 13 itself.
 14 A. Yes.
 15 Q. You seek authorization from the governor, step one?
 16 A. Yes.
 17 Q. Step two, the governor gives his authorization?
 18 A. Yes.
 19 Q. And then the City, you acting on behalf of the City,
 20 are responsible for filing the Chapter 9 case itself;
 21 correct?
 22 A. Yes.
 23 Q. And after you file the case, you and your attorneys
 24 are responsible for the day-to-day activities in 25 carrying out that Chapter 9 case; correct?

Page 294

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. And in a Chapter 9 case only the municipality itself
 3 can propose a plan of adjustment; correct?
 4 A. Correct.
 5 Q. So ultimately it will be the City that proposes a plan
 6 of adjustment?
 7 A. I believe so.
 8 Q. And ultimately it will be the City that places in 9 front of the Court a method to deal with its pension
 10 debt?
 11 A. I believe so.
 12 Q. And it is only the Court -- after the City has first 13 proposed the plan, it is the Court that can confirm
 14 that plan?
 15 A. Yes.
 16 Q. But all the steps leading up to that confirmation are 17 acts taken by the City; correct?
 18 A. I believe that's the Chapter 9 scheme.
 19 Q. You mentioned earlier that in the June time frame
 20 there were certain pieces of litigation that were all
 21 coming to a head; correct? I'm referring to the 22 Syncora litigation and the Michigan state court
 23 litigation.
 24 A. Yeah, but I think we were talking about July when the 25 state court litigation began.

Page 295

1 Q. That's true. The state court litigation was not until
 2 July, you mentioned in your testimony that you were
 3 throughout the month of June there were concerns about
 4 "losing control."
 5 A. June through -- I think the testimony was at various
 6 time frames, June 14th through July 3rd and June 1
 7 through July 18th, and I was saying those time frames
 8 there are a number of different issues. In the June
 9 time frame I seem to remember, as in the prior 10 deposition you attended, we reached an agreement in 11 principal, then things started to go off the rails
 12 with Syncora the following Monday on June 17th so
 13 that's what my discussion was.
 14 Q. And so consistent with that you said you agreed there
 15 were concerns that throughout June things were 16 beginning to spin out of control and I think you used
 17 the words losing control?
 18 A. Yes, in June we were dealing with a number of 19 different issues, but we were trying to manage them as 20 best we could and then for the better part of 21 June/July we started being hit with a number of pieces
 22 of litigation that just kept coming over the transom
 23 and it appeared that we were starting to lose the 24 initiative.
 25 Q. Okay. You mentioned earlier when you were

Page 296

1 characterizing the losing control phase of what was
 2 going on --
 3 A. Uh-huh.
 4 Q. -- you said that someone counseled you that it was
 5 irresponsible to be delaying the bankruptcy filing?
 6 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 7 A. Uh-huh.
 8 Q. Who was it that accused you of being irresponsible for 9 holding off on the bankruptcy filing?
 10 A. Well, I wouldn't characterize it as accusation.
 11 Q. Who counseled you that it was irresponsible?
 12 A. It was --
 13 MR. SHUMAKER: To the extent that it was 14 counsel, I don't want you to get into the 15 communication.
 16 A. Okay, it was a privileged communication.
 17 Q. So an attorney at Jones Day?
 18 A. No, not necessarily. It -- various discussions with a
 19 number of my team members including attorneys,
 20 investment bankers and consultants.
 21 Q. So during that time frame what was the event that 22 finally pushed you to actually start preparing the 23 documents to file the bankruptcy petition?
 24 A. I don't know if there was an event that pushed me, but 25 I think there was a general consensus that if things

Page 297

1 continued with a number of different lawsuits going on
2 simultaneously, our own litigation against Syncora,
3 that things were spiralling out of control.
4 Q. And I'm assume that during that time frame it was you
5 that directed Jones Day to begin preparing the actual 6 documents that would eventually be filed in the 7 bankruptcy court; correct?
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. Do you know when you told them to go ahead and start
10 preparing the paperwork?
11 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, asked and
12 answered, but you can answer again.
13 A. I'm not sure the exact date, but it was probably 14 sometime in that July time frame. Yeah.
15 Q. And I'm sure we don't just throw documents like that 16 together. Do you know how long they worked on the 17 documents before they were filed?
18 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
19 A. No, but I suspect it was at least several weeks.
20 Q. Do you recall when the first draft of the petition or 21 the accompanying documents was provided to you for 22 your review?
23 A. No. But I suspect it may have been -- I don't recall.
24 Q. Do you recall reviewing multiple drafts, for instance?
25 A. Oh, I think I saw several drafts, yeah.

Page 298

1 Q. If the governor had included a contingency on his July
2 18th letter --
3 A. Uh-huh.
4 Q. -- would you have had to rework the petition and the 5 corresponding papers?
6 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection, calls for
7 speculation.
8 A. That -- that depends upon what the contingency was.
9 Q. If there was, for example, some sort of contingency
10 regarding the pensions, did you have a separate
11 version of the documents --
12 A. Oh.
13 Q. -- in case there have a contingency placed by the
14 governor?
15 A. I don't -- I don't recall if it would have required a
16 separate version or if it would have required any 17 editing if any at that point.
18 Q. Well, you testified that you got his -- the governor's
19 approval letter somewhere around lunchtime.
20 A. Right.
21 Q. The petition was filed just a few hours later.
22 A. Right.
23 Q. So I'm assuming that the papers were ready to go
24 because it was just a few hours of turnaround time;
25 correct?

Page 299

1 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.
2 A. Well, that's your assumption, but the reality is you
3 can commence a bankruptcy as you know by filing a
4 petition without other documents. So if the 5 contingency you're talking about, depending upon what 6 it is, there may have been other things we would have
7 had to factor too and edit, I just don't know.
8 Q. You were asked earlier about an email from 9 Corinne Ball --
10 A. Yes.
11 Q. -- where she mentioned the Bloomberg Foundation?
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. Did the Bloomberg Foundation ever end up providing any 14 funds with regard to either your salary or the 15 Emergency Manager -- the Emergency Manager --
16 A. Effort.
17 Q. -- project, if you will?
18 A. No, in fact --
19 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to form.
20 A. -- in fact, I think the memo that followed on that 21 memo said no, I don't want to do that.
22 Q. Do you know if any other private party has provided
23 funding in addition to your salary which has already 24 been made public? Do you know if there were any other
25 private parties that provided funding in addition to

Page 300

1 that?
2 A. Not to me.
3 (Marked Exhibit No. 19.)
4 Q. I would like to give you Exhibit Number 19. This is
5 the City's interrogatory responses --
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. -- to the Retirement Systems' discovery requests.
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. After page 12 there's a verification by you.
10 A. Yes.
11 Q. Is that your signature?
12 A. Yes, should be.
13 Q. On page 10.
14 A. Yes.
15 Q. On page 10 there's an interrogatory regarding private 16 funds as defined in Section 93(F) of PA 436.
17 A. Right.
18 MR. SHUMAKER: You're referring to number
19 6, counsel?
20 MS. GREEN: Yes.
21 Q. At this time are you aware of any private funds as 22 defined in PA 436 that have been used to supplement
23 your salary or compensation?
24 A. Subject to the answer, there are no private funds.
25 All I get is the compensation that's provided to me

Page 301

1 pursuant to my contract and in fact I have not been
 2 seeking any benefits under that contract such as
 3 commuting expense, healthcare, malpractice insurance,
 4 directors and officers insurance. In fact, I've been
 5 subsidizing my efforts out of my own pocket.
 6 MS. GREEN: If that situation changes and 7 private funds are provided, I would request a standing
 8 request for supplementation to be made aware if that 9 happens.
 10 MR. SHUMAKER: I'm sure --
 11 MS. GREEN: I'm directing that to your
 12 counsel. You don't have to personally let me know.
 13 MR. SHUMAKER: We'll look into that if that 14 would happen.
 15 MS. GREEN: I appreciate that.
 16 THE WITNESS: I have not asked and there is
 17 no intent or expectation in that regard.
 18 Q. The -- I have one last question.
 19 We talked about the draft of the petition
 20 being prepared by Jones Day. There were media reports
 21 that the City was planning to file on Friday, July 22 19th. Do you recall seeing those?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. What was it that made the City -- that prompted the 25 City to file them instead on July 18th at 4:06 p.m.?

Page 302

1 A. Counselor, just because they're media reports doesn't
 2 mean that that was accurate.
 3 Q. Was there ever a plan to file them on the 19th?
 4 Setting aside what the media reported, was there a
 5 plan to file them on the 19th?
 6 A. No, my plan was to have the permission, the authority,
 7 to file them and make that call at some point after I
 8 transmitted my letter of July 16.
 9 Q. Were any of your conversations on the 18th or the 17th
 10 relating to the timing of the petition?
 11 A. Outside of communications with counsel?
 12 MR. SHUMAKER: I'm going to object to the 13 form just -- I'm not following your question,
 14 counselor.
 15 Q. Were any of the conversations that you had on the 17th
 16 or the 18th with, for instance, the governor, we've 17 talked about these conversations, were any of those 18 conversations relating to the timing of the filing
 19 itself?
 20 MR. SHUMAKER: Again, to the extent that
 21 you're going to go into the content of the 22 conversations where counsel was present between
 23 Mr. Orr and the governor, I'm going to instruct him
 24 not to answer.
 25 Q. Were there any conversations that you had without

Page 303

1 counsel present?
 2 A. No.
 3 Q. And are you not willing to answer even what topics --
 4 in broad categories of topics that were discussed?
 5 MR. SHUMAKER: Again, to the extent that
 6 they reveal what the communications are, I'm going to 7 instruct him not to answer.
 8 Q. Do you know if anyone else from your team had
 9 conversations, outside of conversations with counsel,
 10 relating to the timing of the filing?
 11 A. There may have been conversations. I'm not aware of 12 any specific ones.
 13 MS. GREEN: I don't have any further
 14 questions. Do you have follow-up?
 15 MR. SHUMAKER: Thank you, counsel.
 16 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This concludes the
 17 deposition and we're going off the record at 6:12 p.m.

1 MS. BRUNO: Do you want to swear in the witness.
2 (WHEREUPON, the witness was duly
3 sworn.)
4 MS. BRUNO: Good morning, Mr. Malhotra. My name
5 is Leah Bruno. I am at the Dentons firm representing 6 the Committee. And we are here to take your
7 deposition today.
8 Before we go into the preliminaries, I'm 9 going to ask that everyone in the room and on the 10 phone just identify themselves for the record.
11 We'll start to my left.
12 MR. STEELE: Jason Steele from Lowenstein
13 Sandler. I represent AFSCME.
14 MR. DiPOMPEO: Christopher DiPompeo from Jones
15 Day. We represent the Debtor, the City of Detroit,
16 and the witness.
17 MR. STEWART: Jeff Stewart, Jones Day, the 18 Debtor and the witness.
19 THE WITNESS: Gaurav Malhotra. Ernst & Young.
20 MS. BRUNO: That's everybody in the room. So if 21 the people on the phone want to give it a try.
22 MR. FLICK: This is Wayne Flick from Latham &
23 Watkins, unfortunately stuck in Los Angeles due to 24 flight problems.

1 GAURAV MALHOTRA,
2 called as a witness herein, having been first duly
3 sworn, was examined and testified as follows:
4 EXAMINATION
5 BY MS. BRUNO:
6 Q. Mr. Malhotra, I understand that you were
7 deposed recently, so I know you've been through the 8 drill, but we'll just set a couple of the ground rules
9 here.
10 If I ask you any questions that you don't
11 understand, please ask me. I'm not trying to trick
12 you. I want you to understand one another. So if you
13 need me to clarify any of my questions, I'm happy to 14 do so.
15 When responding to any questions that I
16 ask you, please wait for me to finish the question and 17 respond with a verbal answer so the court reporter can 18 get your answer and we can have an accurate
19 transcript.
20 Do those sound okay to you?
21 A. Yes.
22 Q. Okay. What did you do to prepare for your
23 deposition today?
24 A. I had a call with the team here at -- from

Page 8

1 Jones Day and Latham & Watkins a couple of days ago
2 for about an hour and a half.
3 Q. Was anyone from the City, a non-lawyer on 4 the call?
5 A. No.
6 Q. Let me backtrack.
7 Anyone not at Jones Day or Latham &
8 Watkins on the call?
9 A. From EY, I think we had somebody attending
10 from our general counsel's office, Marg Hosbach, yes.
11 Q. I'm sorry. Who was that?
12 A. Marg Hosbach is her name.
13 Q. Thank you.
14 Anyone else?
15 A. No.
16 Q. And how long was that call?
17 A. About an hour and a half.
18 Q. What did you discuss during that
19 conversation?
20 MR. STEWART: Objection; instruct him not to
21 answer.
22 MR. FLICK: Join.
23 BY MS. BRUNO:
24 Q. What day did you have that call?

Page 9

1 A. We had it on Wednesday of this week.
 2 Q. Did you review anything in preparation for
 3 today?
 4 A. For today?
 5 Q. Yes.
 6 A. I looked at my declaration and I think
 7 that's generally about it, in terms of reviewing
 8 information for today.
 9 Q. Did you review your prior deposition?
 10 A. No.
 11 Q. Have you seen your prior deposition?
 12 A. I think I received it, but I haven't gone
 13 through it.
 14 Q. Have you reviewed any of the other
 15 depositions taken in this matter?
 16 A. In this matter?
 17 Q. In this bankruptcy.
 18 A. I have received them. I haven't gone
 19 through them.
 20 Q. Have you discussed the testimony given
 21 with anyone -- excuse me. Let me rephrase that.
 22 Have you discussed the contents of those
 23 depositions with anyone?
 24 MR. STEWART: You can answer yes or no.

Page 11

1 you mean by "report"?
 2 BY MS. BRUNO:
 3 Q. A written declaration or report on behalf
 4 of your corporation that you are working for.
 5 A. I think so. I don't recall off the top of 6 my head, but I have other bankruptcy cases that are 7 ongoing where I have submitted written reports or --
 8 yeah, specific information that is pertinent to the 9 case or -- or Ernst & Young's engagement in connection
 10 with a case. So, I don't know if that's what you are 11 referring to with specific questions on sworn 12 testimony, but I have provided specific information in 13 other Chapter 11 cases that I'm involved in.
 14 Q. Focusing on Chapter 9 bankruptcies, can 15 you tell me what Chapter 9 bankruptcies you have 16 provided such information in?
 17 A. None.
 18 Q. Is this the first Chapter 9 bankruptcy
 19 you've done work on?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. Before your work for the City of Detroit
 22 in this matter, do you have experience with working
 23 with other governmental clients?
 24 A. I do.

Page 10

1 BY THE WITNESS:
 2 A. No.
 3 BY MS. BRUNO:
 4 Q. I've read your prior deposition, so I'm 5 going to endeavor not to tread the same ground that
 6 you've already covered. There may be some overlap due
 7 to necessity, but I am going to do my best not to ask
 8 you the same series of questions and cover the same
 9 territory as previously discussed of you. So, if you
 10 give me a little leeway, I will do my best not to 11 waste your time today. Okay.
 12 I understand that you -- that was your
 13 first deposition two weeks ago, is that correct?
 14 A. That is correct.
 15 Q. And have you ever provided sworn testimony
 16 in any setting outside of a deposition?
 17 A. No.
 18 Q. Your deposition on September 9th was the 19 first time you've provided any type of sworn testimony
 20 in a bankruptcy proceeding?
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. Are there instances where you have
 23 submitted written reports in other bankruptcies?
 24 MR. STEWART: Can you define so he is clear what

Page 12

1 Q. Approximately how many?
 2 A. I would say the most relevant one is
 3 Detroit public schools.
 4 Q. Are there others besides Detroit Public
 5 Schools?
 6 A. I am involved in other situations that are 7 in the public sector currently.
 8 Q. Can you tell me what those are?
 9 A. No. Those are confidential.
 10 Q. You have not been disclosed publicly in 11 any of those matters?
 12 A. That is correct.
 13 Q. Outside of the City of Detroit matter, are 14 there -- and the ones that you are working on 15 currently, are there any other governmental clients
 16 you have done work for?
 17 A. Personally, no. I think those are the 18 ones that -- that I can recall.
 19 Q. Focusing on the Detroit Public Schools,
 20 what type of work did you personally do on that
 21 matter?
 22 A. I think the -- our engagement letter and
 23 the contents thereof are what we did at Detroit Public
 24 Schools. The overall specific scope is I would

Page 13

1 believe generally confidential. However, I can give
 2 you a broad understanding that it was generally
 3 related to liquidity forecasting and looking at
 4 different assumptions with respect to cost saving
 5 measures, and I think that's all I will say on that.
 6 Q. Is that engagement still ongoing?
 7 A. I'd rather not answer that.
 8 Q. When did that engagement begin?
 9 A. It was in 2011, is my recollection. It
 10 could have been earlier, but that's my general
 11 recollection.
 12 Q. Mr. Malhotra, I'm going to direct you to 13 your declaration, which was previously marked as 14 Exhibit 1 in your prior deposition.
 15 Do you have a copy of it or would you like
 16 me to provide it to you?
 17 A. I would like you to provide it to me,
 18 please.
 19 (WHEREUPON, the document was tendered
 20 to the witness.)
 21 BY MS. BRUNO:
 22 Q. Directing your attention to Paragraph 6,
 23 Mr. Malhotra, you are describing some of your 24 experience in Paragraph 6. And the second sentence

Page 14

1 states, "In addition, in the public sector, I was
 2 involved in the recent restructuring efforts of
 3 Detroit Public Schools," as you previously testified,
 4 that's correct, correct?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. Is there any other experience outside of 7 Detroit Public Schools that you can publicly disclose?
 8 A. In the government sector?
 9 Q. In the public sector.
 10 A. In the public sector, I would not want to 11 disclose any of the other engagements.
 12 Q. And those are all engagements that are 13 currently ongoing?
 14 A. Up to a certain extent, yes, there is work
 15 that's pending or about to get initiated or in certain 16 cases, certain aspects have been completed, but in 17 general, yes.
 18 Q. Paragraph 7 of your declaration states
 19 that you were engaged by the City in May of 2011,
 20 correct?
 21 A. That's what it states, yes.
 22 Q. Is that an accurate statement?
 23 A. Yes.
 24 Q. How was that engagement undertaken?

Page 15

1 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 2 BY MS. BRUNO:
 3 Q. My -- what I'm trying to get to, was there
 4 an RFP or how were you contacted about that engagement
 5 initially?
 6 A. It was based on the work we did at Detroit
 7 Public Schools is the way that we had discussions with
 8 the Mayor's office, with the State Treasurer's office
 9 and thereby our engagement or our work got initiated
 10 with respect to liquidity forecasting.
 11 Q. I just need some clarification on your
 12 answer.
 13 When you say that you had discussions with
 14 the Mayor's office and the State Treasurer's office,
 15 were those discussions related to Detroit Public
 16 Schools or are these new discussions that were 17 initiated with respect to the City of Detroit
 18 bankruptcy?
 19 A. The latter.
 20 Q. The latter?
 21 A. I'm sorry. Nothing related to the
 22 bankruptcy. It was related to the City of Detroit.
 23 Just to clarify, it wasn't related to the City of 24 Detroit bankruptcy.

Page 16

1 Q. Correct.
 2 And what was the nature of those
 3 discussions? Can you give me so more information?
 4 A. Sure. It was generally to see how -- how
 5 EY could help with looking at the City's liquidity
 6 position and helping forecast what the liquidity
 7 position could be over a short period of time.
 8 Q. Approximately when were those discussions?
 9 When did those discussions take place?
 10 A. I think it was right around this 11 particular timeframe, around the May of 2011, is my
 12 recollection.
 13 Q. Who were those discussions -- who did
 14 those discussions involve? Did they -- from the 15 Ernst & Young side, did they involve you?
 16 A. Yes.
 17 Q. Or someone else?
 18 A. Me.
 19 Q. You solely or you in addition to other
 20 people?
 21 A. It was generally myself.
 22 Q. On the side of the City, who was involved
 23 in those initial discussions?
 24 A. Now we are going back some time, but I

Page 17 1 would think it would have been the former Chief of 2 Staff Kirk Lewis, it would have been the former Chief 3 Operating Officer Chris Brown. I think those are the 4 folks at least I remember. It could have been the 5 Mayor, but I don't recall at this juncture. 6 Q. And can you give me some more detail on 7 what you understood your engagement would include in 8 those initial discussions? 9 A. Sure. It was just to get an understanding 10 of what the City's cash flow position was and what the 11 short-term outlook for the City's liquidity 12 projections could look like. 13 Q. Was there any discussion about the 14 prospect of the City filing Chapter 9 bankruptcy in 15 those initial discussions? 16 A. No. 17 Q. Prior to entering into the engagement, was 18 there any formal presentation or pitch provided by 19 Ernst & Young? 20 A. I do not recall. 21 Q. If there was one, would you have been part 22 of it? 23 A. Yes. 24 Q. Mr. Malhotra, I'm going to hand you what	Page 19 1 original agreement, correct? 2 A. That is correct. 3 Q. In your prior deposition, there was a 4 request made for the production of the original 5 engagement letter. 6 Do you recall that? 7 A. Possibly. I don't recall specifically 8 because there were a lot of requests, but this -- I 9 assume this is the engagement letter you are referring 10 to, but if there is more, probably -- 11 MR. STEWART: It was memorialized in a letter 12 you responded to. 13 THE WITNESS: Okay. 14 BY MS. BRUNO: 15 Q. Mr. Malhotra, I'll represent to you this 16 is the only document that we've been able to locate 17 with respect to the Ernst & Young engagement, so I'm 18 going to have to use this to kind of backtrack because 19 I don't have a copy of the original engagement letter. 20 A. Sure. 21 Q. And we'll request that an additional 22 effort be made to produce that to your counsel. 23 MR. STEWART: If you could, just do that in a 24 letter after we are done, so otherwise it gets
Page 18 1 we're going to mark as Exhibit 8. 2 MR. TEELE: I'm sorry. What number? 3 MS. BRUNO: 8. 4 (WHEREUPON, a certain document was 5 marked Malhotra Deposition 6 Exhibit No. 8, for identification, as 7 of 09/20/13.) 8 BY MS. BRUNO: 9 Q. And you can take your time to look at this 10 document. I'm going to ask you some questions about 11 it. Let me know when you are ready to proceed with 12 some questions. 13 A. Sure. I'm ready. 14 Q. Mr. Malhotra, I'll represent to you that 15 I've handed you what is titled Amendment No. 7 to 16 Statement of Work. 17 Can you tell me what this document is? 18 A. This is our most recent engagement letter 19 with the City. 20 Q. And reviewing the introductory paragraph, 21 it is clear that there was an original agreement, 22 correct? 23 A. That is correct. 24 Q. And that this is Amendment No. 7 to that	Page 20 1 confusing to try and go back to the transcript. 2 MS. BRUNO: We will do that. 3 BY MS. BRUNO: 4 Q. Can you tell me, Mr. Malhotra, in the 5 original SOW or original agreement, was there similar 6 to what's in this a bullet point listing of the items 7 that would be included in the original statement of 8 work? 9 A. Yes. 10 Q. Who drafted the specific items that would 11 be involved in the original statement of work? 12 A. It would have been myself along with the 13 rest of the team. 14 Q. When you say "the rest of the team," how 15 are you referring to? 16 A. I would say the rest of the EY team that 17 would have gone through all of our quality review team 18 that looks at any scope of work with respect to what 19 we are putting out in general would be the folks from 20 our EY standpoint. 21 Q. How is that process, and what I'm 22 referring to is the identify -- let me start over. 23 How does that process work, and I'm 24 talking about the identification of the specific

1 elements of the statement of work, what was the
 2 process used in this matter?
 3 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 4 BY THE WITNESS:
 5 A. In -- well, maybe if I can give you
 6 specifics, so in terms of how this statement of work
 7 is put together, which in general is the process that 8 we go through for any statement of work, is that we 9 highlight what work the client may require and what
 10 work we may be -- what we will be willing to do.
 11 Generally the statement of work is sometimes then, of 12 course, all reviewed by other members of the team in 13 terms of the deal team. It is reviewed by our general
 14 counsel's office, unless they are -- unless the 15 amendments are fairly basic in nature are generally
 16 just extending some of the prior work, but it's 17 reviewed by our quality review folks. And then the 18 engagement letter is submitted to the client for --
 19 for what they need to sign on, not necessarily are all
 20 aspects of the scope of work defined with any sort of 21 a specific deliverable. So sometimes there are 22 components of a statement of work that are not 23 undertaken and sometimes they are -- and most of the 24 times they are, but, so, I don't know if that answers

Page 22

1 your question or not.
 2 Q. That's part of it. And I was interested
 3 in that, so that's helpful.
 4 But where I'm trying to get to, is there a
 5 negotiation process with, for example, in this case
 6 the City where you provide the original statement of 7 work and they come back to you and say, we want this
 8 or we don't want that? Did that process take place in
 9 this engagement?
 10 A. I'll tell you at least with respect to 11 this particular statement of work, there was feedback
 12 that we received in the context of fees, but not
 13 necessarily in the context of the scope of work.
 14 Q. And I'm seeking a clarification here.
 15 Are you talking about Amendment No. 7 or 16 are you talking about the original statement of work
 17 or the original agreement?
 18 A. I was talking about Amendment No. 7.
 19 Q. Okay.
 20 A. But in general, going back, I don't recall
 21 of specific discussions or back and forth in terms of 22 the contents of the scope of work. I have not gone
 23 through the seven amendments going back for this
 24 process, but I'm sure there would be certain aspects

Page 23

1 of that statement of work, of the different statements
 2 of work that would have been completed in its entirety
 3 and there would be certain that wouldn't have been
 4 kicked off at all, depending on these are long-term
 5 engagements and the needs of the client change over a
 6 course of time.
 7 Q. If you look to the first sentence of the 8 Amendment No. 7, Statement of Work, halfway through it
 9 states -- I want to make sure I give you the right
 10 dates here before -- well, I have a couple of 11 questions.
 12 So, in this case, Amendment No. 7 is dated
 13 July 17th, is that correct?
 14 A. That's correct.
 15 Q. But it's effective as of June 1st?
 16 A. That is correct.
 17 Q. Which is approximately six weeks prior,
 18 correct?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. What is the reason for that lapse of time?
 21 Why is it essentially backdated or effective as of a
 22 prior date?
 23 A. Because our work that is involved in the 24 statement of work started right around the June 1st

1 timeframe. And -- but, however, between the process
 2 of getting the actual engagement letter signed, it
 3 took roughly that six weeks process. But in general,
 4 the work that's contained in Amendment No. 7 started
 5 by around that June 1st timeframe.
 6 Q. What was the cause for the six-week time
 7 delay?
 8 A. It likely was between us getting the 9 letter together and the City having a view in terms of 10 what the fees associated with this work would be and 11 us coming back with a revised proposal on lower fees.
 12 And so I think it was -- it was that timeframe between 13 the back and forth of the discussions that took place
 14 to get the engagement letter signed.
 15 Q. There is a fee schedule amended -- or 16 attached to this amendment, is that correct?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 Q. And it's at page -- what is marked page 8
 19 of 8 in this document.
 20 Are these the fees that you were
 21 discussing with the City?
 22 A. Yeah, these were -- these were the fees
 23 that we were discussing with the City, yes.
 24 Q. And then based on the information in this

Page 25

1 Amendment No. 7, I understand these are 65 percent
 2 Ernst & Young's normal rates, is that correct?
 3 A. These are 65 percent of the standard
 4 rates, yes.
 5 Q. Of the standard rates?
 6 A. Of the standard rates with respect to, you
 7 know, different people and the different sub service
 8 lines working on this engagement.
 9 Q. And I know that you are a principal,
 10 Mr. Malhotra, so is your rate at the top end of this
 11 chart here?
 12 A. Yes.
 13 Q. Is your rate $805 an hour?
 14 A. I believe the rate that is being charged
 15 to the City is going to be $800 an hour for my time.
 16 And, however, it is subject to an additional holdback
 17 amount that is clarified in the fee arrangement as 18 proposed here depending on how long this case goes.
 19 Q. Is this rate schedule a reduction from the 20 rates that Ernst & Young was charging the City prior 21 to this amendment?
 22 A. Can you reask that question, please?
 23 Q. Is this rate schedule provided in the 24 Amendment No. 7, is this a reduction in the rates that

Page 26

1 Ernst & Young was charging the City prior to the
 2 Amendment No. 7?
 3 A. Through the seven amendments, Ernst &
 4 Young has gone through a variety of discounts and rate
 5 structures that the City has been provided, in
 6 addition to hourly rates, in addition to fixed fee
 7 rates. So it's a variety of overall rate structures
 8 that have been used to provide the City discounts in 9 the context of the work that EY has done.
 10 Q. Who on behalf of Ernst & Young negotiates
 11 those rates?
 12 A. Negotiates those rates with whom?
 13 Q. I assume the City. Is there someone else?
 14 A. No. I meant if your question was 15 internally or in terms of what rates are being 16 discussed or externally?
 17 If the answer is internally, our rates are 18 standard rates. With the client, it was generally a
 19 discussion that I had with respect to what our fees
 20 were after discussing them with our team internally.
 21 Q. And who at the client have you had those 22 discussions with?
 23 A. It has been a variety given the fact that 24 we've been assisting the City for a while. It has

Page 27

1 been a variety of folks. It included the Chief
 2 Operating Officer Chris Brown; it included the
 3 Emergency Manager, currently Kevyn Orr, with respect
 4 to some of those discussions in general, in fact. So
 5 it -- it has been generally the City, but I would say
 6 in terms of Amendment No. 7, the -- we also got some 7 feedback from the State with respect to our scope of 8 work in the context of our fees.
 9 Q. What feedback did you get from the State
 10 on Amendment No. 7?
 11 A. It was to lower the fees.
 12 Q. And who at the State did you have that 13 contact with?
 14 A. Rich Baird.
 15 Q. Amendment No. 7 is signed by Kevyn Orr,
 16 correct?
 17 A. Yes.
 18 Q. And this is your signature on the -- on 19 page 7, correct?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. Who signed the original statement of work,
 22 do you recall?
 23 A. I do not. It would have either been 24 myself or Dave Williams who is our restructuring team

Page 28

1 leader. It could have been either one of us, but I
 2 don't recall.
 3 Q. On behalf of the City, who signed?
 4 A. I do not remember.
 5 Q. Did there -- when you entered into the 6 original engagement, who was your direct report at the
 7 City?
 8 A. It was the Chief of Staff Kirk Lewis, and 9 the Chief Operating Officer -- the former Chief
 10 Operating Officer Chris Brown.
 11 Q. Did there come a time where that direct
 12 reporting person changed?
 13 A. Kirk Lewis has since moved on and so has 14 Chris Brown. So the answer is yes.
 15 Q. When did it change in terms of who you
 16 reported to?
 17 A. It would have changed when they moved on 18 from the City.
 19 Q. And when they moved on from the City, who 20 became the people that you reported directly to?
 21 A. Generally it was Chris Andrews, the 22 Program Management Director, and the -- who was the 23 former Program Management Director and the former 24 Chief Financial Officer Jack Martin.

Page 29

1 Q. How often would you directly communicate
2 with any of the people you directly reported to, the 3 four individuals you just named?
4 A. It was on a weekly basis in general,
5 sometimes more often, sometimes less.
6 Q. And let me ask: Are you still directly
7 reporting to Chris Andrews and Jack Martin or someone
8 else?
9 A. Chris Andrews and Jack Martin have moved
10 on from the City. So, now it's generally Kevyn Orr
11 along with updates given to Gary Brown who is the 12 Chief Operating Officer and Jim Bonsall, the Chief
13 Financial Officer, and Kevyn Orr, of course, in terms
14 of the team that we are dealing with.
15 Q. And how frequently do you directly
16 communicate with those individuals?
17 A. Generally weekly, sometimes more,
18 sometimes less. It depends on a particular week.
19 Q. If I can direct your attention back to the 20 first paragraph of Amendment No. 7, it states that the 21 original contract is dated October 28th, 2011, but was
22 effective as of May 16th, 2011.
23 What was taking place during that
24 five-month time period with respect to the original

Page 30

1 statement of work?
2 A. I don't recall specifically. However, our
3 work started right around May 16th of 2011. But 4 between the process of getting an engagement letter in 5 place that was acceptable to the City and in
6 conjunction with the template that Ernst & Young uses
7 with respect to an engagement letter, there was a lot
8 of communication between, I would say, the legal team
9 at the City and EY and the attorneys that we had 10 working on this particular engagement letter to just 11 make sure that both the City and Ernst & Young were 12 comfortable with the construct of the letter given the 13 fact that EY did not have a previous engagement letter
14 in place with the City of Detroit.
15 Q. We discussed -- earlier in your deposition
16 we discussed the process of drafting and exchanging
17 the specific deliverables identified in Amendment
18 No. 7.
19 Do you recall that testimony?
20 A. Can you repeat that question again,
21 please?
22 Q. You and I just previously discussed the 23 back and forth between Ernst & Young and the City with 24 respect to the specific deliverables identified in

Page 31

1 Amendment No. 7 here.
2 Do you recall taking me through that
3 process?
4 A. I think if you go back to the testimony, I
5 just want to make sure that I understand your specific
6 questions in terms of the back and forth. I did
7 mention to you that there was discussions with respect
8 to the fees, but I do not recall a lot of the specific 9 back and forth on specific deliverables in 10 Amendment 7.
11 Q. Okay. I'm not trying to trick you.
12 A. I'm just saying what I recall.
13 Q. And so what I guess is the real question
14 I'm getting to was: In the original statement of 15 work, is there a similar listing as contained on 16 Amendment 7 deliverables or anticipated deliverables
17 that E&Y would provide to the City?
18 A. I believe they should be, yes.
19 Q. And do you recall whether there was a
20 negotiation or process of exchanging the documents for 21 purposes of discussing the deliverables between 22 Ernst & Young and the City, with respect to the 23 original SOW?
24 A. In terms of exchanging documents

Page 32

1 between -- discussions within EY or discussions with
2 EY and the City?
3 Q. Discussions between EY and the City.
4 A. I don't remember specifically in terms of 5 we had discussions back and forth around specific
6 deliverables. I think there was a general
7 understanding in terms of the work that EY would do,
8 which would be around construct of the -- the 9 liquidity forecasting and any other cost saving
10 assumptions, trying to quantify those. And I don't --
11 I don't believe there was a lot of back and forth with 12 respect to scope of work that EY was going to assist
13 with.
14 Q. And, of course, there are six amendments
15 prior to the one that we're looking at now.
16 Does each of those amendments have a
17 similar listing of deliverables?
18 A. They generally -- every amendment would
19 generally have either an extension of a scope of work
20 that's being provided or if anything new is --
21 potentially needs to get added, it would have, yes.
22 Q. In this case does each of the prior 23 amendments, to the best of your recollection, have a
24 similar listing of deliverables or anticipated

Page 33

1 deliverables by Ernst & Young?
 2 A. Just to make sure, when you say "similar
 3 deliverables," whether those deliverables or the 4 statement of work was exactly the content of what's in
 5 Amendment No. 7, the answer is no. If your question
 6 is with respect to whether generally some specificity
 7 around what EY would be doing, the answer is yes.
 8 Q. Okay. Thank you. That is what I meant.
 9 What was the reason why Ernst & Young
 10 provided these six prior amendments?
 11 A. It's generally to provide the same or 12 similar type of work that we started off doing with 13 liquidity forecasting, assisting in the quantification
 14 of certain cost concessions that the City was having 15 discussions with -- with its union leadership, looking 16 at alternatives in terms of how liquidity could be 17 boosted, and that those were generally -- and just 18 looking at overall restructuring alternatives
 19 specifically for the City in terms of how to address
 20 the dire financial position that the City was faced
 21 with.
 22 Q. Let me ask the question a different way.
 23 How does it come about, and we'll talk
 24 specifically about this engagement, how does it come

Page 34

1 about that Ernst & Young, or if it's the City, tell me
 2 that, how does it come about that a decision is made
 3 that an amendment needs to be made to the original
 4 SOW?
 5 A. It was generally when the timeframe
 6 associated with an amendment was expiring or the fees
 7 associated with an amendment were not -- were not
 8 being able to cover the scope of work and if there
 9 were any additions that were being made to the scope
 10 of work. I would say those were the three -- or would 11 have been, in my recollection, one of the three 12 reasons why a statement of work would be extended
 13 through an amendment.
 14 Q. With your experience on this engagement,
 15 is it -- has it been Ernst & Young stating an 16 amendment is necessary or is it -- has it been the
 17 City?
 18 A. My general recollection is that it's EY
 19 that has been -- that has said that either, you know,
 20 the timeframe on the engagement letter has expired,
 21 and which has generally been, I would say, the -- the 22 norm, or the aspect with respect to the fees need to
 23 change in the context of the scope of work. But I
 24 would say it is generally EY.

Page 35

1 Q. If I can direct your attention to page 5
 2 of the Amendment 7 SOW. And you'll see a section
 3 entitled Timetable. And it states that you expect
 4 that this -- and this is the additional summer 2013
 5 services that are identified in this SOW, is that your
 6 understanding?
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. That it will extend until December 31st,
 9 2014, is that correct?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. Do you anticipate an Amendment No. 8 being 12 necessary?
 13 A. That's a hypothetical question. It
 14 depends on what the City -- where the City is in terms
 15 of its overall restructuring and, you know, how EY can
 16 continue to add value and assist the City.
 17 Q. Turning to page 6 -- I'm sorry. I'm 18 sorry. Page 4 is what I wanted to send you to.
 19 The last sentence on the bottom of page 4
 20 states, "For the avoidance of doubt, the Services do
 21 not" -- and Services with a capital S -- "do not
 22 include EY serving as an expert witness in connection
 23 with your Chapter 9 proceedings or otherwise."
 24 Do you see that?

Page 36

1 A. Yes.
 2 Q. And that is referring to -- the Services
 3 in that sentence are referring to the services
 4 identified above it and in this Amendment No. 7,
 5 correct?
 6 A. Yes.
 7 Q. Are you currently providing work to --
 8 scratch that. Let me strike that.
 9 Is your deposition here today considered
 10 part of the services included in Amendment No. 7?
 11 A. I'm here, so my -- my assumption unless,
 12 you know, Wayne Flick from Latham tells me otherwise,
 13 that would be my general understanding, it would be in 14 connection with the work that we are doing on the 15 statement -- the Amendment No. 7.
 16 Q. Are there any services being provided by 17 Ernst & Young to the City right now that you are aware 18 of that fall outside of the services identified in
 19 Amendment No. 7?
 20 A. I do not know of any other specific 21 increment -- additional statements of work that have
 22 been executed. There are other opportunities that EY
 23 is providing some services to the City. However, it's 24 not -- that work is just in an evaluative mode versus

Page 37

1 I believe I do not know of a specific letter or an
2 amendment that has been signed yet.
3 Q. I want to understand your answer a little
4 better.
5 This additional work that you state is in
6 an evaluative mode, is that work that E&Y is providing
7 in connection to the bankruptcy?
8 A. Well, I can tell you what the work is. It
9 is not necessarily in connection with the bankruptcy.
10 The work is to look at the revenues that are
11 attributable to the City from the Detroit-Windsor
12 Tunnel and our team I believe is starting to look at 13 that. I do not know if we have a specific signed
14 letter yet, but our team is starting to look at that 15 just to make sure the City is -- whether the City is 16 getting its proportionate share of the revenues that 17 come from the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel. That's the one
18 that sort of, you know, is top of mind.
19 From an evaluative perspective, the City
20 is -- and EY is looking at other ways that they can
21 continue to assist the City.
22 Q. And would you consider that work that E&Y
23 is undertaking with respect to the Detroit-Windsor
24 Tunnel, would you consider that work to be something,

Page 38

1 a separate line of work than what you are doing on
2 behalf of the City with respect to Amendment No. 7?
3 A. I think it would generally be in line with 4 the work that we would be doing. However, what we
5 always want to provide clarity and specificity around
6 the work stream. So it would generally be in line
7 with the services in Amendment No. 7. However, we 8 would always clarify and specify that these would be 9 the specific items we would be undertaking because 10 they are not necessarily clearly articulated in the 11 scope of work.
12 Q. Approximately how much money has the City
13 paid Ernst & Young to this date in connection with
14 this engagement?
15 MR. STEWART: Are you referring to the entire 16 engagement or No. 7?
17 BY MS. BRUNO:
18 Q. The entire engagement.
19 A. I do not know the exact number right now,
20 but it is somewhere in the neighborhood of 6-1/2 to $7
21 million.
22 Q. Returning back to that last sentence on 23 page 4 of 8, do you consider what you are doing today
24 as providing expert testimony?

Page 39

1 MR. STEWART: Objection; asking for a legal
2 conclusion.
3 BY MS. BRUNO:
4 Q. You can answer.
5 A. No.
6 Q. Are you aware of any individual at Ernst &
7 Young who would be serving as an expert to the City?
8 MR. STEWART: Objection; same objection.
9 Do you mean an expert as defined by the 10 Federal Rules?
11 MS. BRUNO: I mean an expert as defined in
12 Amendment No. 7.
13 MR. STEWART: So why don't you ask him what that 14 means in Amendment No. 7.
15 BY THE WITNESS:
16 A. Could you ask your question again, please?
17 BY MS. BRUNO:
18 Q. Sure. That question is actually better.
19 What does Ernst & Young mean when they 20 state, "For avoidance of doubt, the Services do not 21 include Ernst & Young serving as an expert in 22 connection with the Chapter 9 proceedings"?
23 A. I think the -- what it says is that EY is 24 basically providing its services in connection with

Page 40

1 the facts that EY has and our professionals have and
2 our team has in terms of providing services for
3 Chapter 9. And so it's -- we are sort of assisting
4 this overall situation in the context of the overall
5 facts as have been provided to us and that information
6 that has been provided to us, which is what we have
7 used to prepare the analysis.
8 MS. BRUNO: I'm about to go to a new area. Do
9 you want to take a quick break?
10 MR. STEWART: Let's keep going unless others
11 need a break.
12 MS. BRUNO: All right. Is that all right with 13 you, Mr. Malhotra?
14 THE WITNESS: Sure.
15 BY MS. BRUNO:
16 Q. Okay. Why don't we turn back to your
17 declaration, which is Exhibit 1.
18 And I'll direct your attention to what is 19 provided at Paragraph 10 of the declaration, which is 20 on page 4. And this paragraph discusses the cash flow
21 forecasts.
22 Who developed the actual forecast at 23 Ernst & Young?
24 A. It was a team of EY professionals in

Page 41

1 collaboration with the team at the City and other
2 advisers that the City has retained in the preparation
3 of these cash flow forecasts.
4 Q. Were you personally involved in that work?
5 A. Yes.
6 Q. And who was personally -- who are the 7 individuals that you worked with at the City on that 8 work?
9 A. The City or EY?
10 Q. At the City.
11 A. At the City, it would have been the former 12 Chief Financial Officer Jack Martin, it would have 13 been the former Program Management Director Chris
14 Andrews, it would have been one of the controllers, I
15 think Rick Drumb, it would have been other members
16 from specific departments that the EY team
17 collaborated with in order to prepare those cash flow
18 forecasts and also used assumptions from what was the 19 information being provided by the other advisers the 20 City had hired.
21 Q. What are the underlying demographic
22 assumptions for the City in the revenue forecasting?
23 MR. STEWART: Objection.
24 BY THE WITNESS:

Page 42

1 A. You have to repeat that question or
2 rephrase it in terms of the demographic assumptions.
3 BY MS. BRUNO:
4 Q. In terms of the population of the City.
5 A. The general assumptions are that there is 6 a slight population decline in the context of the 7 revenue assumptions, but I think you have to look at 8 the demographics in a greater amount of detail which 9 has been provided on the City's data site with respect
10 to the assumptions around growth of revenues from 11 residents versus non-residents in terms of the makeup
12 of the order of revenue profile.
13 Q. I guess I'll ask for a clarification.
14 What is the assumption going forward on 15 behalf -- what is the assumption that Ernst & Young
16 has used going forward in these forecasts with respect
17 to population?
18 A. I think it's -- it's a general decline.
19 Q. And what is that assumption based on?
20 A. Based on all of the trends that are very 21 evident over the last few years and looking at that 22 trend and at least adjusting as to what that decline
23 would be here in the near future and then, you know,
24 over the course of the ten years does that decline

Page 43

1 continue to go at the current rate or not. So I think
2 you have to look at these assumptions over a longer
3 timeframe and I think you have to look at it from the 4 standpoint of what's applicable here in the next -- in
5 the short term versus what's applicable in the long
6 term.
7 Q. Did Ernst & Young develop any scenarios
8 with a more optimistic demographic assumption?
9 A. In terms of having?
10 Q. Population increasing.
11 A. I do not recall of the team having a
12 scenario in which in the short term population is 13 increasing. And I would think that if you look at it
14 over a longer timeframe, you know, maybe there are 15 assumptions where the population decline slows, but I
16 don't recall of a scenario where in the short term
17 population is increasing.
18 Q. In the context of your answer here, what 19 do you mean by short term?
20 A. In the next three or four or five years.
21 Q. Did you do any kind of ten-year
22 forecasting that assumed that the population decline
23 would either slow down or even there could be actual 24 growth in population?

Page 44

1 A. I think that generally is what's
2 reflective in the forecasts with respect to that there
3 is a -- a reduction in the pace of the decline over
4 the -- in the outer years. I think that is currently 5 reflective in the forecast.
6 Q. But there are no scenarios that would
7 include an actual rise in the population, is that
8 correct?
9 A. I don't recall.
10 Q. You would agree that if the population
11 does grow, it would affect the results of any 12 forecasts, correct?
13 A. If you change the assumptions, the numbers
14 will change, yes.
15 Q. And, in fact, it could dramatically affect 16 it, correct?
17 MR. STEWART: Objection.
18 BY THE WITNESS:
19 A. I don't know about that.
20 BY MS. BRUNO:
21 Q. Returning to your declaration in
22 Paragraph 10, it states that, "The work conducted by 23 Ernst & Young developing the cash flow forecasts as 24 well as the ten-year projection" -- "projections,"

1 excuse me, "were limited to the City's general fund,"

2 is that correct?

3 A. That is correct.

4 Q. In other words, the projections assume

5 that there are no other funds available to the City

6 beyond the general fund, is that correct?

7 A. It -- it assumes that the general fund

8 will not have additional funds from other funds, yeah,

9 that's generally correct.

10 Q. What about the City having available --

11 other available funds outside of the general fund?

12 A. The City has multiple funds outside the 13 general fund. The main one is the water and sewer,

14 which we did not perform a ten-year projection on the 15 water and sewer funds. My understanding is that those

16 funds are not necessarily available to the general

17 fund.

18 Q. To the general fund that may be correct,

19 but it would be available to the City, would it not?

20 MR. STEWART: Objection.

21 BY THE WITNESS:

22 A. It would be available to the City for the 23 purposes those funds were raised for, which is

24 generally maintenance and capital improvements on the

1 water and sewer side.

2 BY MS. BRUNO:

3 Q. Let's backtrack a little bit. I think

4 we've gone in a different direction than I'm trying to 5 focus on.

6 My question to you is: The forecasts that

7 you provided in this declaration are limited solely to

8 the general fund, is that correct?

9 A. They are generally limited to the general

10 fund, other than if they were other enterprise funds

11 the City was subsidizing, like the Department of 12 Transportation, those would have been included in the

13 general fund as it is a -- a fund that the City

14 subsidizes and has historically subsidized.

15 Q. So you would agree, though, that subject

16 to your exception there that the assumptions and

17 forecasts provided in this declaration do not take

18 into account other funds available to the City?

19 MR. STEWART: Objection.

20 BY THE WITNESS:

21 A. You have to rephrase your question.

22 BY MS. BRUNO:

23 Q. The forecasts and cash flows, the 24 projections, the information that is discussed in your

Page 47

1 declaration here are solely limited with the caveat

2 that you provided to the general fund, is that

3 correct?

4 MR. STEWART: Objection.

5 BY THE WITNESS:

6 A. The cash flow forecasts and the ten-year

7 projections with respect to the receipts and

8 disbursements and the revenues and expenses are

9 generally reflective of the general fund and the 10 Department of Transportation. That's the way I would

11 characterize it.

12 BY MS. BRUNO:

13 Q. You would agree that the City does have

14 access to other funds, correct?

15 MR. STEWART: Objection.

16 BY THE WITNESS:

17 A. I don't understand when you say the City

18 has access to.

19 BY MS. BRUNO:

20 Q. There is other enterprise funds available

21 to the City, correct?

22 MR. STEWART: Objection.

23 BY THE WITNESS:

24 A. Available to the City for what?

Page 48

1 BY MS. BRUNO:

2 Q. Well, if you are talking about the cash

3 available to the City, certainly there is other

4 sources of cash available to the City outside of the 5 general fund, you would agree with that?

6 MR. STEWART: Objection.

7 BY THE WITNESS:

8 A. No. It depends on what purpose you are

9 asking the question, the context of.

10 BY MS. BRUNO:

11 Q. You would agree with me that the general

12 fund is not the only source of available cash to the 13 city, would you not?

14 MR. STEWART: Objection.

15 BY THE WITNESS:

16 A. The general fund -- the cash that is

17 available to the general fund is generally the only

18 cash that is available to the City for its core

19 operations that are not related to any other

20 enterprise funds. So, my answer would be, that the 21 cash flows that are reflective in here and are

22 generally available for the general fund is the City's

23 operating cash in general.

24 BY MS. BRUNO:

Page 49

1 Q. How do you have that understanding?

2 A. That is my general understanding. So,

3 my -- my understanding is that the monies that are

4 available or are attributable to the bank accounts of

5 the enterprise funds have specific reasons for what

6 that cash can be spent. So we have made the

7 assumption that that cash is not available for the

8 general fund. But I would think that would be a

9 further legal determination. It is our understanding

10 that that cash is not available to fund the operations

11 of the general fund.

12 Q. And how did you obtain that understanding?

13 That's what I'm trying to get to.

14 A. I don't recall. That's our general

15 understanding that there are revenue bonds that have

16 been issued at the Water and Sewer Department, and

17 those revenue bonds are associated with specific

18 maintenance and capital improvements for the Water and

19 Sewer Department, and that those funds are generally

20 not available to fund the operations of the general

21 fund.

22 Q. Do you recall having a conversation with

23 anyone at the City to that effect?

24 A. Yes. I'm -- I think all of the

Page 50

1 discussions from the very front end of our engagement

2 would have been in the context that, you know, whether

3 any other cash is available, so the answer would be

4 yes.

5 Q. Who at the City do you recall having that

6 conversation with?

7 A. I don't recall of a specific conversation,

8 but I'm sure that the discussions would have been with

9 Chris Brown and with Kirk Lewis and any of the other

10 folks that we have reported to during the City, but I

11 do not recall of a specific conversation in terms of 12 the funds available to the Water and Sewer Department.

13 Q. If I turn your attention to Exhibit 8,

14 which is the Amendment 7 to the SOW, on page 2 there

15 are a number of specific references to work and

16 analysis of the City's general fund. And it's in many

17 places defined General Fund with a capital G and a

18 capital F.

19 Do you see what I'm referring to?

20 A. Yes. I'm trying to find the capital G and

21 the capital F, but I generally -- I'm on page 2, that

22 the context is for the general fund.

23 Q. Sure. Just if you look at the second bold

24 bullet point, "Preparation of 10-Year tax revenue

Page 51

1 estimates for the General Fund."

2 A. Okay.

3 Q. That's one example that I can see.

4 Are there similar -- my question is -- I'm

5 trying to get to the original SOW. I'm using the

6 Amendment 7 to discuss the original SOW.

7 Did the original SOW limit the work to the

8 general fund in the same way that Amendment No. 7

9 does?

10 A. I don't recall specifically. But I can

11 say that earlier on in our engagement, I would say in

12 the 2011 timeframe, we were looking at the cash flows

13 of the water and sewer fund and the other enterprise

14 funds as well. But that process stopped, I would say,

15 in the first four or five or six months of the 16 engagement because there was sort of water and sewer

17 funds were tracking their cash on their own, and so

18 were some of the other enterprise funds, that our

19 focus really was on the general fund.

20 But just for clarity, the work that would

21 have been done in the front end was to look at the

22 funds that water and sewer had and the receipts and

23 disbursements associated with that versus any

24 transfers that were coming back to the general fund.

Page 52

1 So they were looking at those forecasts in isolation.

2 But that work sort of stopped I think right around in

3 the first four or five months of the engagement.

4 Q. And why did that work stop?

5 A. It was because the focus continued to be

6 on the general fund and these were self-sustaining

7 funds with respect to at least the Water and Sewer

8 Department. And so they were monitoring their -- and

9 dealing with their cash activity, although connected

10 to the City, but we weren't helping forecast receipts

11 and disbursements because they were not impacting the

12 general fund.

13 Q. You previously testified in your prior

14 deposition that Ernst & Young was not asked to look at 15 possible disposition of City assets, is that correct?

16 A. That's correct.

17 Q. Why -- did you have a discussion with the 18 City regarding whether that would be valuable work for 19 Ernst & Young to provide?

20 MR. STEWART: Objection.

21 BY THE WITNESS:

22 A. I -- I'm not sure I follow the question.

23 BY MS. BRUNO:

24 Q. How did it come about that Ernst & Young

Page 53

1 didn't evaluate the value of disposition of some of
2 the City assets?
3 A. It was not a part of our scope of work.
4 Q. You would agree that there could be cash
5 value to the disposition of some of those assets,
6 would you not?
7 MR. STEWART: Objection.
8 BY THE WITNESS:
9 A. I think that's a better question to ask
10 for the City's investment banker.
11 BY MS. BRUNO:
12 Q. Well, I'm not talking about the specific
13 numbers here, but you know what some of the assets
14 available to the City are, correct?
15 A. In general, yes.
16 Q. And you understand that some of those
17 assets could be valuable or quite valuable, correct?
18 MR. STEWART: Objection.
19 BY THE WITNESS:
20 A. It depends on what assets you are talking
21 about.
22 BY MS. BRUNO:
23 Q. Why don't we look at Exhibit No. 4 -- oh,
24 I'm sorry. I'll hand it to you. Exhibit No. 4 from

Page 54

1 your prior deposition, I'll hand it to you. It was
2 the Proposal For Creditors --
3 A. Okay.
4 Q. -- dated June 14.
5 And I believe the assets are identified on 6 90. And it is 90 of the computer generated numbers on 7 the bottom.
8 And on pages 90 through 96, the
9 presentation discussed various assets that the City
10 could derive some cash benefit from, correct?
11 MR. STEWART: Objection.
12 BY THE WITNESS:
13 A. Yes.
14 BY MS. BRUNO:
15 Q. And, well, I don't want to quarrel or even 16 discuss with you what the actual specific value of any 17 one of those assets are, but you would agree that the 18 implementation of any of these proposals would improve
19 the City's cash position, would it not?
20 MR. STEWART: Objection.
21 BY THE WITNESS:
22 A. Here is what I would say. The current
23 ten-year projections right now do not include any 24 incremental proceeds that could be available to the

Page 55

1 City from asset sales. And that's where I -- because
2 that's what's very clearly laid out in the proposal.
3 If there are proceeds available that are
4 available to the City, those numbers would change.
5 But I can at least highlight and articulate what the
6 assumptions are with respect to the ten-year forecast
7 that the City has put out.
8 BY MS. BRUNO:
9 Q. And so your assumptions include that none
10 of these assets will be disposed of in any way, is 11 that correct?
12 A. That's generally correct.
13 Q. Sticking with Exhibit No. 4 before you, if 14 you'd turn to page 80 of the document. I'm sorry. I
15 should say 87 of the computer generated numbers.
16 And this is a portion of the presentation
17 that discusses increasing the tax collection. You
18 look like you are on a different page than I am here.
19 A. 87.
20 Q. You've got it?
21 A. Yes.
22 Q. You would agree that increasing the tax
23 collection rates and improving the collection of past
24 due taxes could materially improve the City's

Page 56

1 financial position, could it not?
2 MR. STEWART: Objection.
3 BY THE WITNESS:
4 A. Yeah, I can't answer that because I do not
5 know the magnitude of what you are referring to in 6 terms of your question and what the definition of 7 material is.
8 BY MS. BRUNO:
9 Q. Well, the presentation here, the June 14th
10 presentation discussed at the fourth bullet down
11 identifies approximately $250 million of unpaid or 12 outstanding tax debts. If those debts would be --
13 could be addressed and collected, that would be a
14 material improvement in the cash position, would it
15 not?
16 MR. STEWART: Objection.
17 BY THE WITNESS:
18 A. This amount that has been identified by a
19 third party, Compuware, for $250 million, I do not 20 know what portion of it has been included specifically
21 in the work with respect to collection efforts that
22 Conway MacKenzie has done, but my assumption is it
23 wouldn't have been to the magnitude of $250 million.
24 So, if $250 million were collected, it

Page 57

1 would improve the overall profile is my assumption.
2 BY MS. BRUNO:
3 Q. I have heard estimates that a more
4 accurate estimate of outstanding tax debt is
5 significantly higher than $250 million.
6 Are you familiar with these higher
7 estimates that are being discussed?
8 MR. STEWART: Objection.
9 BY MS. BRUNO:
10 Q. Have been discussed?
11 MR. STEWART: Objection.
12 BY THE WITNESS:
13 A. No.
14 BY MS. BRUNO:
15 Q. You have not heard that the outstanding
16 tax debt available to the City could be as much as
17 $700 million?
18 A. I have not heard that, that I recall.
19 Q. To be clear, your forecasts don't account
20 for the collection, any type of truly significant to 21 this degree of outstanding debt, is that correct?
22 MR. STEWART: Objection.
23 BY THE WITNESS:
24 A. That's correct.

Page 58

1 MS. BRUNO: Why don't we take a quick break. I
2 don't -- I only need about ten minutes for a break.
3 (WHEREUPON, a recess was had
4 from 10:57 to 11:08 a.m.)
5 BY MS. BRUNO:
6 Q. Mr. Malhotra, when we were talking about
7 funds available to the enterprise, I believe you
8 discussed the water and sewer funds.
9 Are you aware of other funds available to
10 the enterprise?
11 A. Other funds that are available to 12 enterprise funds?
13 Q. Enterprise funds available to the City.
14 I'm sorry.
15 MR. STEWART: Objection, by the way, to the 16 phrase "available to the city."
17 BY THE WITNESS:
18 A. I do not believe that there are, that I
19 know of, other enterprise funds' funds that are 20 available to the City.
21 BY MS. BRUNO:
22 Q. Returning to your declaration, I'll direct
23 your attention to Paragraph 14.
24 In that paragraph you discuss that E&Y's

Page 59

1 forecasts and analysis was based upon the
2 comprehensive annual finance report of the City, the
3 C-A-F-R, CAFR.
4 Do you see where you discuss that in this
5 paragraph?
6 MR. STEWART: Objection.
7 BY THE WITNESS:
8 A. It was one of the documents that -- that 9 we used in terms of helping pull together the 10 forecast.
11 BY MS. BRUNO:
12 Q. Was -- it was the primary document,
13 correct, primary document, wasn't it?
14 MR. STEWART: Objection.
15 BY THE WITNESS:
16 A. No.
17 BY MS. BRUNO:
18 Q. What would you consider to be the primary
19 document then?
20 A. There was not one single primary document.
21 It was a compilation of all of the different sources
22 of data that we got that included the CAFR, that 23 included the raw files that we got from the City, that 24 included some of the information we saw in terms of

Page 60

1 bank activity, in terms of looking at, you know, a lot
2 of the information together, but I can't recall that
3 there was one primary document that we relied upon.
4 Q. The 2012 CAFR is relied upon and
5 identified over 30 times in your declaration.
6 Does that seem like a reasonable estimate
7 to you in terms of how many times it's cited in your
8 declaration?
9 MR. STEWART: Objection.
10 BY THE WITNESS:
11 A. It's cited in the context of the 12 outstanding debt balances that the City has, and so I
13 think it's a reasonable assumption with respect to the 14 outstanding indebtedness of the City, which is where 15 the CAFR has been referenced as a document.
16 BY MS. BRUNO:
17 Q. And thus you would agree then that Ernst &
18 Young relied upon this information in creating its 19 assumptions and forecasts, correct?
20 A. It was one of the documents that we refer
21 to, yes.
22 Q. But you did not audit that information,
23 did you?
24 A. That is correct.

Page 61

1 Q. And what kind of stress testing or
2 analysis did you undertake with respect to that
3 information to ensure that it was accurate?
4 MR. STEWART: By that information, you mean CAFR
5 or something else?
6 MS. BRUNO: I mean CAFR. Thank you.
7 BY THE WITNESS:
8 A. The CAFR is the City's audited financial
9 statement. We did not run separate stress tests on 10 the -- or the information that was applicable from the 11 CAFR, but like I said, it was one of the documents
12 that we used in terms of coming up and assisting the 13 City come up with the forecast.
14 BY MS. BRUNO:
15 Q. You are aware, though, that it is well
16 documented that the City's financial recordkeeping was 17 both inadequate and contained numerous deficiencies,
18 correct?
19 MR. STEWART: Objection.
20 BY THE WITNESS:
21 A. The information that we were generally
22 looking at was for the context of cash in which the 23 CAFR was not a primary source. With respect to 24 looking at the debt balances that the City had, we did

Page 62

1 look at the CAFR. I am not aware of specific
2 deficiencies in the context of the debt balances the
3 City was reporting in the CAFR, but I have not audited
4 any of that data.
5 BY MS. BRUNO:
6 Q. You are aware that the Financial Review
7 Team that undertook work for the City found many
8 deficiencies with the recordkeeping of the financials
9 of the City, are you not?
10 MR. STEWART: Objection.
11 BY THE WITNESS:
12 A. I don't recall specifically, but generally
13 the -- the quality of information from the systems
14 that have been available, you know, has -- has to be,
15 you know, reviewed in order to make sure that we are 16 using reasonable assumptions.
17 BY MS. BRUNO:
18 Q. And what review was undertaken by Ernst &
19 Young to ensure that this was reliable information to 20 generate assumptions from?
21 A. When you say "this," is it --
22 Q. CAFR, in this instance.
23 A. From the CAFR, it's the -- the information
24 that has been reported with respect to the outstanding

Page 63

1 indebtedness of the City. We did not go back and do
2 original debt documents to try and ascertain whether
3 the documentation of the CAFR was accurate or not.
4 Q. I'm going to hand you what was previously
5 marked as Exhibit 3 at your deposition. Hold on.
6 I'll give you a moment to look at this,
7 Mr. Malhotra, but this is the February 19th memorandum
8 generated by the Detroit Financial Review Team.
9 Have you seen this document before,
10 Mr. Malhotra?
11 A. Yes, I have.
12 Q. And if I can direct your attention to --
13 the number is going to be hard to follow, but it's 14 marked 2 at the bottom of the page, but it's -- it is 15 an attachment to the actual memoranda. So the top of 16 the page says "Finding 2012-02." Let me know when --
17 A. I'm there.
18 Q. You are there, okay.
19 And the "Finding 2012-02" relates to
20 reconciliations, transaction processing, account
21 analysis and document retention. Is that what you
22 read there?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. I'm going to read from the last sentence

Page 64

1 of the first paragraph, and the findings of the 2 Detroit Financial Review Team were that, "During the
3 audit, we noted deficiencies in the areas of 4 transaction processing, account analysis, data
5 integrity, reconciliation performance, and document
6 retention."
7 Do you see where it says that?
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. Did you understand that that was the state
10 of the financial recordkeeping of the City when you
11 undertook your work for the City?
12 MR. STEWART: Objection.
13 BY THE WITNESS:
14 A. I can't recall.
15 BY MS. BRUNO:
16 Q. Another finding, and I'm going to the next
17 immediate paragraph, is: "The City's process to 18 identify accrued expenses is not adequate. Our audit
19 procedures identified expenditures related to fiscal 20 year 2012 that were not appropriately recorded as 21 expenditures in fiscal year 2012."
22 Do you see that?
23 A. I see it, yes.
24 Q. Would you agree with me that there are

Page 65

1 noted issues and problems with the recordkeeping of
 2 the City?
 3 MR. STEWART: Objection; the document speaks for
 4 itself. There is no evidence he wrote it.
 5 BY THE WITNESS:
 6 A. That's what the statement says. So, I'm
 7 not sure I fully understand what your question is.
 8 BY MS. BRUNO:
 9 Q. Did Ernst & Young do anything to ensure 10 that the information that they evaluated and relied 11 upon was accurate information to draw assumptions
 12 from?
 13 A. Who is "they"?
 14 Q. Ernst & Young. The question -- let me
 15 rephrase the question. That might help.
 16 Did Ernst & Young do anything to ensure 17 that the information that Ernst & Young evaluated and 18 relied upon as received from the City was accurate
 19 information that you could draw assumptions from?
 20 A. EY did -- our team based on the data that 21 was received did go through the information to make 22 sure that the assumptions we were using were 23 reasonable.
 24 Q. And what would be the process that Ernst &

Page 66

1 Young would go through to make sure that information
 2 used was reasonable?
 3 A. Well, it would generally have been that if 4 we were receiving some information, we would try and
 5 review what other documentation may or may not be 6 available to support any trends from a historical 7 perspective and whether the information was
 8 consistent, and if it was not consistent, if there
 9 were any major outliers, speak to the team at the City
 10 to try and understand what changes may be happening.
 11 So, I'm comfortable that what we undertook
 12 as an analysis of the information that was presented
 13 by the City after asking questions that we were using 14 reasonable assumptions.
 15 Q. This process that you just outlined, can
 16 you recall any specific instances where Ernst & Young
 17 determined that the financial information received
 18 from the City contained either an outlier or an error?
 19 A. This was generally a collaborative
 20 process. So, there was exchange of information
 21 between the City and the EY team on a regular basis.
 22 And so I can't recall something off the top of my 23 head, but my point is that this was generally an 24 iterative and a collaborative process of exchanging

Page 67

1 information and assumptions back and forth.
 2 Q. Just to be clear, are you aware of any
 3 instance or any specific circumstance of -- at all
 4 where Ernst & Young went back to the City and said, I
 5 think there is a problem with the information you
 6 provided?
 7 A. I am sure there were several conversations
 8 in which we were challenging and asking questions with 9 respect to the data that we were receiving, but I
 10 don't recall of any one specific instance off the top
 11 of my head that stands out versus not.
 12 Q. Can you give me one example of any
 13 instance where Ernst & Young challenged the 14 information received and went back to any department
 15 in the City where the information came from to verify
 16 or better understand a problem with the information
 17 received?
 18 MR. STEWART: Objection to form.
 19 BY THE WITNESS:
 20 A. There were instances when we were 21 receiving reports on cash collections that were not 22 appropriately categorized and which -- and which we 23 went back and, you know, further evaluated as to, you
 24 know, what the -- where those cash receipts really

1 actually belonged in terms of income taxes or property
 2 taxes. They were -- that's one example.
 3 There were questions with respect to the
 4 amount of accounts payable outstanding that the City
 5 was reporting and, you know, if there were more
 6 invoices than that were actually entered into the 7 system or not. So, there have been a variety of 8 back-and-forth conversations on different topics which 9 is part of what we actually are helping at the City
 10 with is to try and get our arms around reasonable
 11 assumptions around the data that is available.
 12 BY MS. BRUNO:
 13 Q. Why don't we turn back to Exhibit 4, which 14 is the June 14 proposal. And I'll direct your 15 attention to what is page 68 of 135 in the electronic 16 numbering. And this relates -- the questions that I'm 17 going to ask you relate to the restructuring and 18 reinvesting initiatives.
 19 Why is the City spending $1.25 billion on 20 these initiatives?
 21 A. I think it's in general to improve the 22 quality of safety as well as blight removal in the 23 City. The specifics of that as to how that number was 24 brought about is something that should be discussed

Page 69

1 with the Conway MacKenzie team as they were looking at
 2 the reinvestment portion to the City.
 3 Q. Did Ernst & Young have any role in
 4 determining the amount the City would spend on these
 5 reinvestment initiatives?
 6 A. In aggregate, no.
 7 Q. How about in specific to any one
 8 initiative?
 9 A. Not -- not in the context of the $1.25
 10 billion.
 11 Just for clarity, there were assumptions
 12 that were involved in the base case with respect to 13 what initiatives or certain initiatives the City had 14 already started. And so that part was clarified with 15 respect to what assumptions were already included in 16 the base case versus not, that would have been
 17 included in the reinvestment costs into the City.
 18 Q. I guess I'm not sure that we communicated
 19 on that.
 20 Did E&Y have any role in determining the 21 amount of money that would go into any particular
 22 investment -- initiative or investment --
 23 reinvestment? Excuse me.
 24 MR. STEWART: Objection.

Page 70

1 BY THE WITNESS:
 2 A. In the context of the $1.25 billion, I
 3 don't recall of a specific initiative where EY
 4 articulated a certain dollar amount that needed to be
 5 invested for a specific initiative.
 6 BY MS. BRUNO:
 7 Q. Were there specific initiatives that E&Y
 8 took a more significant role in providing guidance or 9 advice for?
 10 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 11 BY THE WITNESS:
 12 A. Not as a part of the $1.25 billion that's 13 been highlighted here. I do not recall -- there were 14 conversations so that all of the team members
 15 understood the assumptions with respect to what was 16 already included in the base case, but I do not recall
 17 of any specific guidance in which EY played a greater
 18 role in one line item versus the other in the context
 19 of that 1.25 billion. That's my recollection.
 20 Q. What is the -- what is the impact of these 21 initiatives on revenue collection?
 22 A. With respect to the revenue collection,
 23 there are two components. One is the overall increase
 24 that may come about from the overall improvement in

Page 71

1 the services that are provided as -- and
 2 correspondingly the revenues that are associated with
 3 increased fees or fines or some collection rates that 4 may be attributable to specific investments. There is
 5 another source of potential upside, which EY was 6 involved in, with respect to making certain
 7 assumptions on if there is a cleaner and safer City,
 8 should the overall recovery in terms of the tax
 9 collections the City will have are potentially better
 10 than in a scenario where there is no investment in 11 either public safety or blight removal.
 12 Q. And what was Ernst & Young's involvement
 13 in that second assumption?
 14 A. Like I said, EY helped formulate the 15 assumptions with respect to how that there could be a
 16 scenario where the revenues could increase based on 17 making some of these investments because the 18 likelihood of having a cleaner and safer City, that 19 will likely rebound faster than a City that is not.
 20 Those assumptions are reflected in the current
 21 ten-year proposal.
 22 Q. How are they reflected in the ten-year
 23 proposal?
 24 A. If you look at page -- if you look at

1 page -- I'm trying to find the page.
 2 On page 105 of 135 -- or actually, 104 of
 3 135, under the "reinvestment expenditures and 4 adjustments," under the line item that says "increased
 5 tax revenues," that amounted to over a ten-year period
 6 roughly $334.5 million. That was the assumption that 7 overall can the growth rate assumptions that are 8 incorporated in the baseline, can they be made -- will
 9 they likely get better in the scenario that you have a
 10 restructured city with better operations and a cleaner
 11 and safer city.
 12 Q. And that is why the increased tax revenues
 13 are increasing over the course of that ten-year
 14 period, is that correct?
 15 A. That is correct, that's generally the 16 trend.
 17 Q. State revenue sharing is a source of 18 revenue for the City, correct?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. Do you know why it declined from $250
 21 million in 2008 to $173 million in 2012?
 22 A. I believe that was what Detroit's share of 23 the reduction was as the State reduced state revenue
 24 sharing --

Page 73

1 (WHEREUPON, there was a short
2 interruption.)
3 MR. STEWART: Why don't we repeat the question
4 and partial answer.
5 MS. BRUNO: Sure.
6 BY MS. BRUNO:
7 Q. Do you know why that amount declined from
8 $250 million in 2008 to $173 million in 2012?
9 A. That was a part of the overall reduction
10 for Detroit's part as the State reduced state revenue
11 sharing for a significant number of cities and 12 municipalities and schooling districts. That was what 13 Detroit's relevant share of the decline was.
14 Q. Do you know how Detroit's relevant share
15 was determined?
16 A. No.
17 Q. Do you know whether it was determined by a
18 specific decision or a formula?
19 A. No.
20 Q. Wouldn't the City be in a better position
21 today if it continued to receive the same level of 22 contribution it received years ago?
23 MR. STEWART: Objection.
24 BY THE WITNESS:

Page 74

1 A. If you change the assumptions in terms of
2 the revenues and assuming that there are no changes in
3 any of the expenses, I would say the answer would be
4 yes.
5 BY MS. BRUNO:
6 Q. What are you aware of with respect to
7 actions taken by the City to support -- to pursue
8 support from the State of Michigan, including pension
9 contribution -- contributions and other support?
10 A. I'm sorry. I don't understand your
11 question.
12 Q. What are you aware of with respect to 13 actions taken by the City to pursue support from the 14 State of Michigan regarding pension contributions and 15 other support?
16 MR. STEWART: Objection.
17 BY THE WITNESS:
18 A. Can you rephrase that question, please?
19 BY MS. BRUNO:
20 Q. Sure. Maybe we're not communicating here.
21 Are you aware of actions taken by the City
22 to pursue support from the State of Michigan,
23 including pension contributions and other support?
24 Are you aware of actions taken by the City to pursue

Page 75

1 that type of support?
2 A. When you say "including pension
3 contributions," what is your question, is the City --
4 I mean, asking the State for support for what?
5 Q. To make contributions to the pension, to 6 any other financial support additional that they would
7 provide to the City?
8 A. Just let me make sure I understand.
9 Is your question, has the City asked the
10 State to fund the City's pension contributions?
11 Q. Any actions taken by the City to seek
12 support from the State.
13 A. All right. So that was -- I just --
14 MR. STEWART: I think -- I think it is her job
15 to ask you questions. You don't need to ask questions
16 of yourself. Why don't you just have her ask you a
17 new question that you can understand.
18 So, ask a new question.
19 BY MS. BRUNO:
20 Q. Are you aware of actions taken by the City
21 to seek support from the State?
22 A. Yes.
23 Q. And what are you aware of, what actions
24 are you aware that the City has taken?

Page 76

1 A. That is a part of the financial stability
2 agreement in which I believe Annex E was where the
3 City and the State would collaborate to move on 4 certain initiatives.
5 Q. What role have you had in those
6 conversations or that relationship?
7 MR. STEWART: Objection.
8 BY THE WITNESS:
9 A. Not much, if any, that I recall.
10 BY MS. BRUNO:
11 Q. I'm going to return your attention back to 12 Amendment No. 7. And, again, this amendment is dated 13 July 17, 2013, correct?
14 A. Yes.
15 Q. And the Chapter 9 filing was made by the 16 City on July 18, is that correct?
17 A. Yes.
18 Q. When did Ernst & Young determine that
19 Amendment No. 17 would be necessary?
20 MR. STEWART: Do you mean Amendment No. 7?
21 MS. BRUNO: Amendment No. 7, yeah.
22 BY THE WITNESS:
23 A. I would say it would be in this May, June 24 timeframe. I don't remember of a specific date in the

Page 77

1 context of, you know, when Amendment No. 7 was
2 initiated.
3 BY MS. BRUNO:
4 Q. And Amendment No. 7 clearly contemplates
5 the filing of a Chapter 9 bankruptcy, does it not?
6 MR. STEWART: Objection.
7 BY THE WITNESS:
8 A. It contemplates a contingency plan.
9 BY MS. BRUNO:
10 Q. Specifically including a filing for
11 Chapter 9?
12 A. That is right, as one of the scenarios,
13 yes.
14 Q. And when this agreement was signed,
15 Ernst & Young understood that a Chapter 9 filing was 16 going to be made, did it not?
17 A. No.
18 Q. When did Ernst & Young understand that the 19 Chapter 9 filing was going to be made?
20 A. We do not -- I do not recall of a specific 21 date when we knew that this would be a date when the 22 City would have to file for Chapter 9. When we 23 prepared the amendment in the June timeframe, which is 24 when we were talking about, we did try to ascertain if

Page 78

1 one of the contingency scenarios would be a Chapter 9.
2 So that scope was included.
3 Q. When did Ernst & Young become aware that
4 the City was going to file for Chapter 9 bankruptcy?
5 A. I do not recall of a specific date.
6 Q. Your declaration is dated July 18th,
7 correct?
8 A. That's when it was signed, yes.
9 Q. And how long did you spend drafting this
10 declaration?
11 A. I don't recall. It could have been
12 probably a week or two is -- I don't recall
13 specifically.
14 Q. You discussed that Chapter 9 was
15 considered -- filing of the Chapter 9 was considered a
16 contingency or one of the alternatives, correct?
17 A. That is correct.
18 Q. At this time, and by that I mean the June,
19 July timeframe or perhaps if it helps to say the -- I
20 want to use the term that you use -- additional summer
21 of 2013 services, what were the other alternatives
22 Ernst & Young analyzed?
23 A. It was essentially in the construct of the 24 June 14th proposal is if a restructuring was possible

1 out of court, but so I think the key aspect was to at 2 least frame what the financial information was and
3 articulate that to -- to all of the stakeholders up to 4 the best information we had available.
5 Q. Outside of the June 14th proposal and the 6 information contained therein, were there other
7 alternatives that Ernst & Young considered?
8 A. Through the work that EY had done for the 9 City, it was -- and all of the concessions that have
10 been made by various stakeholders at the City
11 including first and foremost the City's active
12 employee base, the Ernst & Young was constantly
13 assisting the City in evaluating what restructuring
14 efforts from a cost reduction standpoint, what sort of 15 savings could be quantified. However, some 16 rationalization or restructuring of the City's legacy
17 liabilities started to become more and more apparent
18 given the declining revenues and combined with the 19 significant amount of concessions the City's active
20 employee base had already endured over the last couple
21 of years.
22 So we looked at different sorts of cost
23 reduction efforts, but a lot of those cost reduction 24 efforts had already and were undertaken over the

Page 80

1 course of the last few months.
2 Q. Any other alternatives?
3 A. Those are the ones that come to mind in
4 terms of looking at this proposal, other cost
5 reduction efforts that generally come to mind.
6 Q. We discussed at length of forecasting for 7 the general fund as discussed in your declaration.
8 Did Ernst & Young conduct or analyze any 9 additional forecasting for any of the other enterprise
10 funds --
11 MR. STEWART: Objection.
12 BY MS. BRUNO:
13 Q. -- for the city?
14 A. Not other than that timeframe, the
15 short-term timeframe I already talked about earlier,
16 but we did not make any other assumptions with respect
17 to enterprise fund forecasting other than what I
18 articulated earlier.
19 Q. Do you anticipate providing any additional 20 supporting information or declaration to the City in 21 support of its statement of qualifications?
22 A. Not -- I do not anticipate that as of yet.
23 MS. BRUNO: I think that's all of the questions
24 that I have for this witness at this time.

Page 81

1 MR. TEELE: I have a few questions.
 2 EXAMINATION
 3 BY MR. TEELE:
 4 Q. Mr. Malhotra, I am Jason Steele from the 5 Lowenstein Sandler firm. We represent AFSCME in this
 6 case.
 7 I'm going to do my best not to cover any
 8 of the ground that Ms. Bruno covered this morning. So
 9 bear with me for a moment. It might be a little bit
 10 shaky.
 11 First, did you review personally any of 12 the pleadings that were filed by any of the parties in 13 the bankruptcy case objecting to the City's
 14 eligibility to file Chapter 9 bankruptcy?
 15 A. Not specifically. I may have glanced 16 through a couple, but not any that I recall off the 17 top of my head.
 18 Q. And you have reviewed the June 14th
 19 creditor proposal, Exhibit 4, is that right?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. And, in fact, you actually had some input
 22 into the creation of this proposal, is that right?
 23 A. That's correct.
 24 Q. But ultimately the proposal was prepared

Page 82

1 by whom, the Emergency Manager?
 2 A. It was a proposal that was made by the
 3 City to its different creditors.
 4 Q. And the Emergency Manager is the one who
 5 was the proponent of the proposal, is that right?
 6 A. I would say it was the City in terms of
 7 making the proposal to the creditors.
 8 Q. So, EY is retained by the City of Detroit,
 9 is that correct?
 10 A. That's correct.
 11 Q. And that was the original retention and 12 that's the way it stands today, right?
 13 A. Yes.
 14 Q. And you report to -- ultimately to the 15 Emergency Manager currently, is that right?
 16 A. That is correct.
 17 Q. And the Emergency Manager acts for the 18 City of Detroit in place of the City's Mayor and 19 Council or other elected representatives, is that
 20 right?
 21 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 22 BY THE WITNESS:
 23 A. I can't answer that.
 24 BY MR. TEELE:

Page 83

1 Q. Is that your understanding?
 2 A. My understanding is that our client is the
 3 City of Detroit and we are reporting ultimately to 4 Kevyn Orr currently.
 5 Q. And who -- if you know, who appointed
 6 Mr. Orr to his position?
 7 A. I can't answer that.
 8 Q. So you don't know?
 9 A. Yeah, it is either -- my assumption is 10 it's -- whether it's the Emergency Loan Board or the 11 Governor, that that would be my understanding.
 12 Q. Would it be your understanding that the 13 Emergency Manager is appointed by the State of 14 Michigan as opposed to elected by the people in 15 Detroit, is that correct?
 16 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 17 BY MR. TEELE:
 18 Q. Do you know?
 19 A. I can't answer that.
 20 Q. Do you currently or does E&Y currently
 21 report to the Mayor of Detroit?
 22 A. In terms of the daily activities, our main
 23 interaction has been with Kevyn Orr and his team in 24 the construct of the Proposal For Creditors.

Page 84

1 Q. And do you report currently to the City
 2 Council of Detroit?
 3 A. Our work is in the connection with the
 4 Proposal For Creditors is generally reported to Kevyn
 5 Orr and his team.
 6 Q. Do you meet regularly, you personally or
 7 any members of your team meet regularly with either
 8 the Mayor of Detroit or the City Council of Detroit?
 9 A. Not generally at the current time.
 10 Q. When was the last time that you had a
 11 meeting with the Mayor?
 12 A. Actually, probably just a -- maybe three
 13 weeks ago or somewhere around that timeframe.
 14 Q. Do you meet with anybody representing the 15 governor of the State of Michigan?
 16 A. At times we've had meetings with the State
 17 Treasurer, but I don't recall the last one.
 18 Q. Have you had any meetings with any state
 19 representative, state official, such as the Treasurer,
 20 since the Chapter 9 petition was filed by the City?
 21 A. Yeah, I think so.
 22 Q. And who did you meet with at that time?
 23 A. I think we met with Andy Dillon.
 24 Q. I'm sorry. Who is --

Page 85

1 A. Andy is the State Treasurer.
2 Q. Anybody else?
3 A. Probably Tom Saxton at some point in time.
4 Q. And who is Mr. Saxton?
5 A. I believe he is the Deputy State
6 Treasurer, I think.
7 Q. Did you meet with any state representative
8 prior to the filing of the Chapter 9 petition
9 specifically to discuss whether the Chapter 9 petition
10 should be filed?
11 A. Not to discuss the specific Chapter 9
12 filing.
13 Q. Was your opinion -- when I say your, I'm
14 referring to you as well as your E&Y team.
15 Was your opinion about the filing of the 16 Chapter 9 petition solicited by anybody prior to
17 filing?
18 A. Not specifically in connection with
19 whether the City has to file or does not have to file.
20 I don't remember of a specific conversation whether 21 that was put forth or not.
22 Q. Was it -- did you have a conversation
23 previous -- prior to the filing with respect to 24 whether E&Y believes it would be advisable or

Page 86

1 inadvisable for the City to file Chapter 9?
2 A. No. EY specifically, our team analyzed
3 that given all of the concessions, the active work
4 force and the cost reduction efforts that had been
5 taking place in addition to some of the efforts with 6 respect to reducing the active work force as well as
7 wage reductions and combined with the declining
8 revenues, that a rationalization or a restructuring of 9 the long-term liabilities of the City may be required.
10 But EY did not specifically have an input whether 11 Chapter 9 was or was not the only alternative.
12 Q. Going back in time just a little bit, in 13 2011 and 2012, an agreement in principle, it is called 14 a tentative agreement, was reached between the City of 15 Detroit and the unions representing its active
16 employees, is that correct?
17 A. Yes, that is my understanding.
18 Q. And E&Y was involved in the negotiations
19 leading to that tentative agreement, is that right?
20 A. E&Y was involved in assisting quantify
21 some of the savings in conjunction and collaboration
22 with the City as the City negotiated with the -- its 23 unions.
24 Q. And based on your involvement, are you

Page 87

1 generally familiar with the terms of the tentative
2 agreement?
3 A. This was a while ago, so I'm not -- I have 4 not gone back and refreshed specific terms of the 5 tentative agreement.
6 Q. At the time you were familiar with it?
7 Were you?
8 A. I was generally familiar with it at the 9 time, yeah.
10 Q. And to the best of your recollection,
11 recognizing it was a while ago, the terms of the 12 tentative agreement included changes in employment 13 terms and benefits for active employees as well as 14 retirees, is that correct?
15 A. I don't remember specifically on the 16 construct of the retirees. I do remember that there
17 were changes to the overall compensation and benefits
18 provided to the active employees.
19 Q. But you don't recall specifically whether 20 it dealt at all with retirees?
21 A. Not that I can recall.
22 Q. Do you recall modeling for the City's 23 benefit any impact of these negotiated changes on 24 retiree costs to the City?

Page 88

1 A. Not that I recall with respect to
2 retirees.
3 Q. In approximately late 2012, approximately 4 October of 2012, the Mayor and City Council were 5 working on revenue enhancement measures, is that
6 right? Do you recall that?
7 A. I don't remember of a specific timeframe,
8 but there is always actions that are being undertaken
9 to ascertain and figure out ways to improve the City's 10 revenue position.
11 Q. Once the Detroit Financial Review Team
12 submitted its report to the Governor, and I'm
13 referring to Exhibit 3 from your previous deposition,
14 I think it was handed to you before?
15 MR. STEWART: What is that?
16 MR. TEELE: 3.
17 MR. STEWART: Oh, got it.
18 BY MR. TEELE:
19 Q. When this report was issued to the
20 Governor, do you recall whether the Mayor and City
21 Council publicly responded to the findings?
22 A. I do not recall of the specific response
23 on the findings to the Financial Review Team.
24 (WHEREUPON, a certain document was

Page 89

1 marked Malhotra Deposition
 2 Exhibit No. 9, for identification, as
 3 of 09/20/13.)
 4 MR. STEWART: So what's the question?
 5 MR. TEELE: Does he have the document now? I'm
 6 sorry.
 7 MR. STEWART: Yes.
 8 BY MR. TEELE:
 9 Q. Mr. Malhotra, I guess first of all, have
 10 you seen this document before?
 11 A. I'm sure I have it somewhere. I don't 12 remember reading it with too much detail, but I have 13 it in front of me now.
 14 Q. Okay. If you look down at the bottom of 15 page 1 under 1.a, it indicates that, "The 16 Administration, Council President Pugh, Council
 17 President Pro-Tem Brown, Councilmember Cockrel, Fiscal
 18 staff, Ernst & Young consultants, along with Miller
 19 Canfield met over December holiday break to come up
 20 with a cash plan with countermeasures to get the City
 21 through June 30, 2013."
 22 Do you see that?
 23 A. Yes, I do.
 24 Q. First of all, June 30, 2013, is that the

Page 90

1 end of the fiscal year for the City?
 2 A. That's correct.
 3 Q. Is that why June 30 is the magic date
 4 there?
 5 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 6 BY THE WITNESS:
 7 A. It is -- it is the end of the fiscal year
 8 for the City. I'll leave it at that.
 9 BY MR. TEELE:
 10 Q. Were you part of the Ernst & Young
 11 consultants referenced here who met over the 12 December holiday break to come up with a plan?
 13 A. Yes.
 14 Q. And then if you continue reading in that 15 same bullet point on page 2, it says, "The conclusion
 16 of the group was that full savings from City
 17 Employment Terms, any new contract adjustments and 18 other cash savings measures would materialize in FY 19 2014 to absorb one time reversals without the use of 20 remaining $50 million in the escrow account."
 21 Do you recall whether that is an accurate
 22 representation of what the conclusion of the group
 23 was?
 24 A. I don't recall at this juncture, but I can

Page 91

1 tell you that during that particular timeframe the
 2 City alongside us was evaluating other significant
 3 scenarios as to how further costs could be reduced or 4 cash deferrals could be made in order to assist the
 5 City from running out of cash during this timeframe.
 6 I do not recall specifically of the conclusion.
 7 Q. Okay. And in -- is it true that the City
 8 of Detroit would not have run out of cash to fund its 9 operations in fiscal year 2013?
 10 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 11 BY THE WITNESS:
 12 A. Based on what assumptions?
 13 BY MR. TEELE:
 14 Q. Based on whatever measures the City had 15 been taking to reduce costs or defer expenses.
 16 A. It, again, depends. I would have to go
 17 back and look at that, the cash flows from that 18 timeframe for fiscal year 2013. But what my 19 recollection is that there were various scenarios that 20 we were looking at, that the City was evaluating,
 21 which were predominantly related to cash deferrals or
 22 some significant further changes to the compensation
 23 of the active employees.
 24 Q. Would you agree that the City did not face

Page 92

1 the exhaustion of its cash before the end of calendar
 2 year 2013?
 3 A. Can you reask that question, please?
 4 Q. Do you agree from the perspective of today
 5 or, more specifically, from the perspective of the day
 6 that the Chapter 9 petition was filed, do you agree
 7 that the City did not face exhaustion of its cash
 8 until before the end of 2013 calendar year?
 9 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 10 BY THE WITNESS:
 11 A. I would have to go back and look.
 12 What I can tell you is in terms of 13 exhaustion in cash accounts on a particular day, the 14 City's general fund is a billion dollar enterprise in 15 which there is daily cash activity. That being said,
 16 the amount of cash that the City has which has been
 17 publicly reported has pooled cash in there, i.e., cash
 18 belonging to other funds potentially and including the 19 deferral of potentially in excess of $100 million
 20 worth of pension payments already and pooling cash
 21 from other funds.
 22 So, at any particular point in time on 23 that date the overall cash position of the City could
 24 have been negative if the City had actually disbursed

Page 93

1 and the accounts that were either commingled or
 2 pooled. But I do not know of that specific time at 3 this juncture.
 4 BY MR. TEELE:
 5 Q. I'm trying to figure out, would you agree
 6 with the statement that the City would not exhaust its 7 cash before the end of calendar year 2013?
 8 MR. STEWART: Objection.
 9 BY THE WITNESS:
 10 A. I don't agree with that because it's based 11 on assumptions and how you look at those assumptions.
 12 BY MR. TEELE:
 13 Q. If the City took that position, if the 14 City took the position that it would not run out of 15 cash before the end of calendar year 2013, in a
 16 pleading filed with the bankruptcy court, would you
 17 disagree with that?
 18 A. I'm sorry. Are you asking calendar year
 19 2013 or fiscal year 2013?
 20 Q. I'm asking calendar year 2013.
 21 A. That's a hypothetical question. All I can 22 give you in answer is in terms of the assumptions that 23 the City was using with respect to what cash will or 24 will not be available over the course of the next few

Page 94

1 months in terms of the assumptions that were being
 2 used. If that means significant deferrals and
 3 continuing to increase the indebtedness, there are 4 various assumptions that can be used. So I do not
 5 know of the specific assumptions you are referring to.
 6 Q. Now, you know that the City filed a brief,
 7 a legal pleading in the bankruptcy court arguing that
 8 the City is eligible to file Chapter 9 under the 9 Bankruptcy Code; are you aware of that?
 10 A. Yes.
 11 Q. Did you review that brief before it was 12 filed with the bankruptcy court?
 13 A. Not extensively, that I recall.
 14 MR. STEWART: Jason, if you don't have enough
 15 copies, I will have to insist that I have one. I
 16 can't have my witness being examined with a document
 17 that I can't look at.
 18 MR. TEELE: You can have mine when I'm done.
 19 MS. BRUNO: Okay.
 20 MR. TEELE: No problem.
 21 (WHEREUPON, a certain document was
 22 marked Malhotra Deposition
 23 Exhibit No. 10, for identification,
 24 as of 09/20/13.)

Page 95

1 BY MR. TEELE:
 2 Q. Have you seen the document that's in front
 3 of you that's been marked as Exhibit 10?
 4 A. No.
 5 Q. You've never seen this.
 6 MS. BRUNO: Jason, can you identify for the
 7 record the Bates number on Exhibit 10.
 8 MR. TEELE: Yes. It is DTM100117210 through
 9 7215.
 10 MS. BRUNO: Thank you.
 11 BY MR. TEELE:
 12 Q. I'm sorry. Mr. Malhotra, did you say you
 13 have never seen this document before?
 14 A. That's what I said, no.
 15 Q. If you've never seen it, then I'm not 16 going to waste your time asking you questions about
 17 it.
 18 (WHEREUPON, a certain document was
 19 marked Malhotra Deposition
 20 Exhibit No. 11, for identification,
 21 as of 09/20/13.)
 22 BY MR. TEELE:
 23 Q. Before we go very far, can you just tell
 24 me if you have ever seen this document before?

Page 96

1 A. I generally recall seeing this.
 2 Q. Okay. This document does not have Bates
 3 numbers, but it is identified as City of Detroit
 4 Restructuring Plan, Mayor's Implementation Progress
 5 Report, dated March 2013.
 6 Were you -- was Ernst & Young involved in
 7 preparing this report?
 8 A. This format generally looks like what we
 9 were using, but I do not know -- remember specifically
 10 what parts of this report we may or may not have 11 assisted in.
 12 Q. And if you look at page 5 of the report,
 13 that slide deals with the topic Financial Stability.
 14 Do you see that?
 15 A. Uh-huh.
 16 Q. And it says that the City has a plan "to 17 address the City's $150 million annual structural 18 deficit."
 19 Do you see that at the top of that page?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. At the time this was prepared, did E&Y
 22 have a view, an opinion as to whether the $150 million
 23 of revenue and cost savings that are identified on 24 this slide were sufficient to get the City through

1 fiscal year 2013?
2 A. So you are stretching back to fiscal year
3 2013.
4 Q. Well, to be fair, the next question will 5 be what about calendar year 2013. If you want to 6 address it all at once, go ahead.
7 A. I don't know about the calendar year 2013.
8 In terms of view with respect to running out of cash,
9 I don't remember whether this would or would not have
10 been enough, but from a fiscal year 2013 standpoint,
11 depending on the assumptions that you use. That being 12 said, that, you know, these revenue enhancement
13 initiatives and some of these cost savings may, you
14 know, have -- some of these have been already 15 incorporated, i.e., these achieved cost savings of 16 $150 million says it's achieved, so my assumption is 17 they would have already been incorporated in whatever
18 assumptions we had.
19 Q. I'm going to jump ahead a little bit.
20 Are you aware whether the Emergency
21 Manager met with stakeholders regarding the Proposal
22 For Creditors, which is Exhibit 4?
23 A. Yes, there was -- the Emergency Manager
24 was present at the June 14 proposal in which the

1 majority of creditors, if not all -- a significant
2 number of creditors were present.
3 Q. And were you present for that meeting?
4 A. Yes, I was.
5 Q. Where was that meeting?
6 A. That was at the Westin Hotel by the 7 airport.
8 Q. In Detroit?
9 A. That is correct.
10 Q. Were there other meetings that you are 11 aware of between the Emergency Manager and individual
12 stakeholders regarding the Proposal For Creditors?
13 A. You would have to ask the Emergency
14 Manager that. I do not know of his specific calendar.
15 Q. No. I'm asking if you are aware of any
16 meetings?
17 A. I'm not aware of whether he did or did not
18 have meetings. I do not maintain his calendar.
19 Q. And you were not present at any
20 meetings -- any such meetings, correct?
21 A. Any what such meetings?
22 Q. Between the Emergency Manager or his 23 representatives and individual stakeholders regarding 24 the Proposal For Creditors outside of the June 14th

Page 99

1 meeting at the Westin Hotel?
2 A. So, when you say individual stakeholders,
3 can you explain what you are referring to?
4 Q. Let's take a step back.
5 So the June 14th meeting at the Westin
6 Hotel, that was with many creditors, right?
7 A. That's right.
8 Q. Was it open to the public, anybody who
9 wanted to come and listen to come or was it more
10 discrete than that?
11 A. I don't recall specifically how the 12 logistics of it were handled. I do not think it was 13 open to all of the general public, but I'm not sure.
14 I do not believe it was.
15 Q. But there were different -- there were 16 several different creditors in -- in attendance, as 17 far as you know, correct?
18 A. That is correct, yes.
19 Q. So there would have been financial
20 creditors like bondholders present, do you know?
21 A. That's my assumption, yes.
22 Q. And were employee representatives, such as 23 unions, like AFSCME, my client, do you know if those 24 kinds of creditors were also present?

Page 100

1 A. I think they were.
2 Q. So, after that meeting, are you aware --
3 did you attend any meetings with the Emergency Manager
4 and any individual creditor group regarding this
5 Proposal For Creditors?
6 A. We've had meetings subsequent to the June
7 14th proposal. I do not recall if the Emergency
8 Manager was present in person or not, but along with 9 the other advisers that have been helping the City,
10 there have been meetings with other stakeholders to 11 discuss things like healthcare plans, both on the 12 active and retiree side, but if -- I do not recall if 13 there was a specific meeting where Kevyn was or was 14 not involved.
15 Q. Okay. And do you recall who you met with 16 in terms of the stakeholder group?
17 A. I think in general at the meetings for 18 the -- on the healthcare side were with some of the 19 union representatives and that there were similar
20 meetings on the retiree side. However, at that point
21 in time, there was not an official retiree committee
22 that was appointed, at least as of June 20th from what 23 I recall.
24 Q. Do you remember approximately when the

Page 101

1 last of those meetings occurred?
2 A. When the last of which meetings
3 specifically?
4 Q. The meetings with the Emergency Manager's
5 representatives or consultants, such as EY, and
6 individual stakeholder groups?
7 A. There was a meeting a week or ten days ago
8 with the Official Committee of the Retirees and their 9 respective advisers along with Kevyn Orr and his 10 advisers.
11 Q. And was that meeting specifically to 12 discuss the Proposal For Creditors or was that a
13 meeting generally to discuss, you know, what's 14 happening in the bankruptcy case?
15 A. I think that that's -- when you asked --
16 your question was when was the last meeting, that's 17 what I thought you said.
18 Q. The question was when was the last such 19 meeting, such meeting being the meeting where the 20 Proposal For Creditors was discussed with individual
21 stakeholders?
22 MR. STEWART: I think that reveals the defect in 23 the form because the client couldn't follow the 24 question. Why don't you start over again so we don't

Page 102

1 have this ambiguity in the record.
2 BY MR. TEELE:
3 Q. Hopefully that clarifies it.
4 Do you understand the question now?
5 A. I think I would like you to ask the
6 question again, please.
7 Q. So, on June 14th there was a meeting
8 between the emergency manager and his representatives
9 and various stakeholders in the City's bankruptcy
10 case -- or potential bankruptcy case regarding the 11 Proposal For Creditors, correct?
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. And I think you testified that subsequent 14 to June 14th, you're aware of meetings between 15 representatives of the Emergency Manager and 16 individual creditors regarding the Proposal For 17 Creditors. Did I --
18 A. That is correct.
19 Q. And I'm asking you, when was -- to the 20 best of your knowledge, when was the last meeting --
21 when did the last meeting take place at which either
22 the Emergency Manager or his representatives were 23 present along with individual creditors of Detroit for 24 the specific purpose of discussing the Proposal For

Page 103

1 Creditors?
2 MR. STEWART: Can I have the question reread,
3 please.
4 (WHEREUPON, the record was read
5 by the reporter as requested, as
6 follows:
7 "Q. And I'm asking you, when
8 was -- to the best of your knowledge,
9 when was the last meeting -- when did
10 the last meeting take place at which 11 either the Emergency Manager or his
12 representatives were present along
13 with individual creditors of Detroit
14 for the specific purpose of 15 discussing the Proposal For
16 Creditors?")
17 BY MR. TEELE:
18 Q. That's a horrible question. Let's ask it
19 this way.
20 To your knowledge, when was the last
21 meeting with stakeholders before the Chapter 9 filing?
22 A. There were a series of meetings that were 23 happening between the June 14th timeframe and when the 24 Chapter 9 filing took place. I do not know if -- and

Page 104

1 I was not present in every single meeting. So I do
2 not know of the last specific date. But there were a
3 series of meetings between the June 14 proposal and
4 the filing date with not only, as you said, the banks
5 as one of the stakeholders, but also discussions with 6 union members or, you know, potentially some retirees.
7 Q. Do you know whether the June 14th proposal
8 for creditors has been revised at all?
9 A. Not -- not -- not to my knowledge
10 specifically that it has been revised from an overall
11 structure standpoint. I mean, are you -- do you have 12 a specific question on that June 14th proposal?
13 Q. I just want to know if any changes have 14 been made based on any meetings with stakeholders,
15 that you are aware of?
16 A. I do not -- I do not know -- I need to 17 just give some thought through all of the back and 18 forth where the City was soliciting input and from its 19 different stakeholders, you know, what the revisions,
20 if any, have been. But I'm just trying to recall if I
21 know of any specific changes that have already been 22 incorporated based on either recommendations of 23 proposals, if any, that were made by some of the 24 different stakeholders.

Page 105

1 Q. Going back a little bit, with respect to
2 the ten-year projections, do you recall who instructed
3 EY to begin compiling or preparing the ten-year
4 projections?
5 A. I think it was generally the former CFO
6 and the former program management director.
7 Q. And they did that prior to or after the 8 appointment of the Emergency Manager?
9 A. I have to recall. We started with a
10 five-year projection that we would start figuring out
11 whether we do a five-year or a ten-year and then we 12 transitioned from five-year to ten-year. I don't 13 recall specifically at what timeframe.
14 Q. And then why did you transition from 15 five-year to ten-year?
16 A. Just from the nature of looking at the 17 City's liabilities, having a longer term view was more
18 relevant versus having a shorter term view.
19 Q. Generally speaking, the longer you project
20 financial performance of an entity, government entity
21 or even a private entity, does your confidence in the 22 results shown in the projections decrease with the 23 longer period? In other words -- I'm sorry.
24 Did you understand that question?

Page 106

1 A. I did.
2 Q. Okay.
3 A. As long as you are making reasonable
4 assumptions for a five-year or a ten-year timeframe,
5 the comfort along certain assumptions in the short
6 term when they are based on recent trends is always
7 higher than projections that are in the long term.
8 That being said, it also depends on the reasonableness
9 of the assumptions in terms of the comfort level.
10 Q. And is it true that EY did not compile the 11 data that is included in the buildup to the ten-year
12 projections?
13 A. We did not audit the data. When you say
14 compile the data, if you can rephrase your question.
15 Q. You took data from other sources, for 16 example, from the CAFR, the Comprehensive Annual 17 Financial Report, right?
18 A. That was one source.
19 Q. Right. That's one source. And there are 20 other sources.
21 And you took data that was compiled by
22 other consultants retained by the City, for example,
23 by Milliman, is that right?
24 A. For certain assumptions.

Page 107

1 Q. And you used information that you were
2 able to obtain directly from the City's -- directly
3 from the City, the different agencies and departments
4 of the City in your ten-year projections, right?
5 A. Not necessarily. The City does not have
6 any ten-year projections currently. The data that we 7 used was based on ascertaining what historical 8 information was available and then using those --
9 using that data alongside some of the assumptions that
10 we got from the other advisers, helping pull together
11 ten-year assumptions. I do not know of any ten-year
12 assumptions the City had historically that we would 13 have used as a starting point.
14 Q. But you didn't create the historical -- in 15 other words, you didn't -- again, you didn't create
16 the historical data yourself from -- from original
17 sources, did you? You took -- did you?
18 A. When you -- you've got to rephrase that
19 question.
20 Q. You took the historical data directly from 21 the City?
22 A. The City's historical data, we took the 23 data that the City gave us and then made sure that 24 what data was reasonable, how we would actually look

Page 108

1 at the assumptions and that historical data. So we
2 had to look at the data, look at what the assumptions
3 were with respect to how that data was classified, how 4 that data was categorized to make sure that we could
5 actually use that data. So there wasn't just a raw
6 data dump in which we could use that data in its 7 original form without having to analyze it further.
8 Q. All right. See, that's where my confusion
9 is, because I thought that you had testified earlier
10 that you didn't really audit data?
11 A. That's right.
12 Q. And you didn't go back to --
13 MR. STEWART: You have to wait for a question.
14 He is not asking you a question.
15 BY MR. TEELE:
16 Q. And you didn't, for example -- and I think 17 you gave this example, you didn't go back to the 18 original bond offering documents to make sure that the 19 amounts stated in the data that you were using was 20 correct, right?
21 MR. STEWART: Well, wait a minute. What's the 22 question? That was a speech essentially. Just ask a
23 question.
24 BY MR. TEELE:

Page 109

1 Q. I'm going to move on. It's a point of
2 confusion in my head, but I'll move on.
3 MR. STEWART: I think the transcript will clear
4 it up. I think it was covered.
5 MR. TEELE: I don't have anything further.
6 Thank you.
7 MR. STEWART: Does anyone else have questions?
8 MS. BRUNO: Why don't we take a short break so I
9 can communicate with everyone on the phone.
10 MR. STEWART: Okay.
11 MS. BRUNO: And then we can come back to you.
12 MR. STEWART: Okay.
13 (WHEREUPON, a recess was had 14 from 12:22 to 12:30 p.m.)
15 MS. BRUNO: We are back on.
16 Counsel on the phone, we are back on the 17 record. And I believe when we went off the record, we 18 were going through the people on the phone on a roll
19 call to see if anyone has any questions for
20 Mr. Malhotra.
21 MR. PLECHA: Ryan Plecha from the Association
22 Parties, we do not have any questions.
23 MR. STEVENSON: This is John Stevenson from 24 Clark Hill. I do not have any questions.

Page 110

1 MS. TAUNT: Meredith Taunt on behalf of the
2 Retired Detroit Police Members Association. We do not
3 have any questions.
4 MS. BRUNO: Anyone else on the phone?
5 MS. KAUFMAN: This is Dana Kaufman for Financial 6 Guaranty Insurance Company. We do not have any
7 questions.
8 MR. STEWART: This is Jeff Stewart, I have just
9 a few questions of Mr. Malhotra, from Jones Day. I
10 represent the witness and also the City, just a few
11 questions.
12 EXAMINATION
13 BY MR. STEWART:
14 Q. Mr. Malhotra, you were asked in your 15 deposition about a document called the Comprehensive 16 Annual Financial Report of the City of Detroit.
17 Do you remember being asked about that?
18 A. Yes.
19 Q. That's sometimes called a CAFR, C-A-F-R?
20 A. Yes.
21 Q. Did E&Y audit the CAFR?
22 A. No.
23 Q. Or audit the accounts that led to the 24 creation of the CAFR?

Page 111

1 A. No.
2 Q. Was the CAFR audited?
3 A. Yes.
4 Q. Audited by who?
5 A. KPMG.
6 Q. And tell us who or what is KPMG?
7 A. KPMG is the City's auditor and it is
8 another Big 4 accounting firm.
9 Q. Is it one of the international accounting
10 firms that is known in the United States and 11 elsewhere?
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. Comparable to E&Y in terms of what it
14 does?
15 A. Generally, yes.
16 MR. STEWART: Okay. That's all I have.
17 Thank you.
18 MR. TEELE: I have no questions.
19 MR. STEWART: So is the record closed?
20 MS. BRUNO: It is at this time.
21 MR. STEWART: Okay.
22 (Time Noted: 12:32 p.m.)
23 FURTHER DEPONENT SAITH NOT.

 2 MR. RUEGGER: Okay, that's probably
 3 everyone then.
 4 EXAMINATION
 5 BY MR. RUEGGER:
 6 Q. As I said, good morning, Mr. Moore.
 7 A. Good morning.
 8 Q. I want to cover a couple of preliminary customs so
 9 that everybody understands. A number of us are going
 10 to ask you questions today. I'm going to ask that you
 11 allow each of us to complete the questions before you
 12 answer. The court reporter will have trouble taking
 13 two people at the same time. Similarly, if people
 14 have objections, I would ask that they allow the 15 question to be completed before they interpose the 16 objection.
 17 Mr. Moore, if you don't understand a
 18 question that any of us asks, please say so and we 19 will try to rephrase it. If you don't mention that 20 you don't understand it, we'll assume that you do
 21 understand the question. Is that fair enough?
 22 A. It is, yes.
 23 Q. And there may be other customs. The only other one I
 24 want to mention is that I ask that you respond
 25 audibly, because the court reporter can't record the

1 nodding or the shaking of the head --
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. -- do you understand that one? I would like to 4 start --
 5 MR. MILLER: Well, excuse me, Mr. Ruegger.
 6 This is Evan Miller and I would like to make an
 7 introductory note on the record. Mr. Moore is being
 8 made available today for this deposition in compliance
 9 with the bankruptcy court's September 12th order
 10 respecting discovery and in compliance with subpoenas
 11 that were issued by both Council 25 of AFSCME and the 12 UAW. Mr. Moore is also being made available today by 13 the City as the City's representative in part in 14 connection with a 30(b)(6) deposition notice that 15 AFSCME has issued to the City and in connection with 16 certain but not all of the topics that AFSCME in that 17 notice identified. In connection with the deposition
 18 today all objections are reserved except as to form.
 19 MR. RUEGGER: I'm going to ask the court
 20 reporter to mark as Moore Exhibit 1 a copy of 21 Mr. Moore's declaration dated July 18th, 2013. I have 22 four copies for people. People probably have copies,
 23 but to the extent they don't, there are some here.
 24 (Marked Exhibit No. 1.)
 25 Q. Mr. Moore, is that your declaration that's been marked

Page 12

1 as Moore Exhibit 1?
 2 A. Yes, it appears to be.
 3 Q. Are you presently employed, Mr. Moore?
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. By whom?
 6 A. Conway MacKenzie, Inc.
 7 Q. And how long have you been with Conway MacKenzie,
 8 Inc.?
 9 A. For 12 years.
 10 Q. What was your position when you first started with
 11 Conway MacKenzie?
 12 A. I was a senior associate.
 13 Q. And can you tell us what positions you held at 14 Conway MacKenzie between that position and the one you
 15 currently hold?
 16 A. I believe I held the titles of senior associate and 17 then director, managing director and eventually senior
 18 managing director, which is my current title.
 19 Q. When did you become a senior managing director?
 20 A. I don't recall exactly, but I think it was January 1st
 21 of 2008.
 22 Q. Your declaration refers to your educational background
 23 and I'll direct your attention to paragraph 4.
 24 Declaration is accurate, I take it, that you have a
 25 bachelor's of arts and a master's of business

Page 13

1 administration from Michigan State?
 2 A. Yes, sir.
 3 Q. When did you get your bachelor's degree?
 4 A. In 1994.
 5 Q. And when did you get your master's degree?
 6 A. The same year. I was enrolled in a five-year program
 7 which essentially granted both degrees at the same
 8 time.
 9 Q. Did you have any specialty or concentration with 10 regard to your bachelor of arts degree?
 11 A. Yes, accounting.
 12 Q. And what about your MBA?
 13 A. Yes, the track was professional accounting.
 14 Q. What was your first job after you received your 15 degrees in 1994?
 16 A. I was employed by Deloitte and Touche.
 17 Q. And what was your position at Deloitte and Touche?
 18 A. I believe the title may have been associate.
 19 Q. And how long were you with Deloitte and Touche?
 20 A. Approximately five-and-a-half years.
 21 Q. And what areas did you concentrate in at Deloitte and 22 Touche?
 23 A. I spent the majority of my time in the middle market
 24 consulting group doing performance improvement and 25 other consulting services for middle market companies.

Page 14

1 Q. And when you left Deloitte and Touche, what was your
 2 next employer?
 3 A. I became the chief financial officer for Horizon
 4 Technology.
 5 Q. Can you spell that? Horizon, H-O-R --
 6 A. Yes, sir. H-O-R-I-Z-O-N.
 7 Q. And what was the business of Horizon Technology?
 8 A. Horizon had a variety of businesses. The bulk of the 9 operations were automotive supply operations. We
 10 produced various metal formed parts, but it was a
 11 privately owned business and it had a variety of other
 12 interests as well including real estate and retail
 13 along with a few other very minor businesses.
 14 Q. Just so we get a sense for the size of business, what 15 were the annual revenues in general terms of Horizon
 16 Technology?
 17 A. Approximately $60 million per year.
 18 Q. Thank you. And how long were you with Horizon
 19 Technology?
 20 A. Just under two years.
 21 Q. So if you were with Deloitte and Touche for 22 five-and-a-half years, you left Deloitte in Touche in 23 or around 1999 or year 2000; is that correct?
 24 A. Very beginning of year 2000, yes, sir.
 25 Q. And you were with Horizon Technology until when?

Page 15

1 A. Until October of 2001.
 2 MR. RUEGGER: Okay, did someone just join
 3 the deposition?
 4 MR. ARTZ: Yes, this is Michael Artz from
 5 AFSCME on the phone.
 6 MR. RUEGGER: Thank you, Michael.
 7 MS. LEVINE: Hi, Michael.
 8 MR. ARTZ: Good morning.
 9 Q. So now we're October 2001. Where did you go then?
 10 A. That is when I joined Conway MacKenzie.
 11 Q. And have you undertaken any area of special
 12 concentration at Conway MacKenzie?
 13 A. There are a number of industries that I tend to focus
 14 a lot of my time on as well as certain services that 15 the firm provides.
 16 Q. And what are the industries that you focus on?
 17 A. Automotive, gaming and hospitality, governmental,
 18 construction and real estate, financial services and 19 there are a few others as well but those are the major
 20 ones.
 21 Q. And does that list include the services that you also 22 concentrate in at Conway MacKenzie?
 23 A. The service lines that I participate in are separate 24 from industries. The service lines tend to be in the 25 area of turnaround consulting, performance

1 improvement, restructuring, crisis management,
 2 litigation support and investment banking.
 3 Q. Before your work for the City of Detroit did you have
 4 any experience working with governmental clients?
 5 A. Yes, sir.
 6 Q. Approximately how many?
 7 A. Approximately five.
 8 Q. Can you identify them?
 9 A. Yes, sir. Detroit Public Schools, Jefferson County
 10 Alabama, Wayne County Circuit Court, others are 11 slipping my mind right now -- oh, the Commonwealth of 12 Puerto Rico and I'm -- those are the ones that I can
 13 recall at this point.
 14 Q. And that's fine. If you remember any others in the 15 course of today's proceeding, I would ask that you
 16 identify them then.
 17 A. I will.
 18 Q. When did you do the work with the Detroit Public
 19 Schools?
 20 A. In 2011.
 21 Q. Is that work ongoing or is it completed?
 22 A. No, sir, it's completed.
 23 Q. And so how long did you do work for the Detroit Public
 24 Schools?
 25 A. Approximately three months.

Page 17

1 Q. And what generally did you do for the Detroit Public
2 Schools?
3 A. We worked under then Emergency Manager Robert Bobb
4 looking at operational improvements including shared
5 services as well as outsourcing of certain operations.
6 Q. What about Jefferson County Alabama, when did you do
7 the work for that county?
8 A. In 2012 into 2013.
9 Q. And how long did you work with Jefferson County
10 Alabama?
11 A. That engagement, while somewhat dormant right now, is 12 still active, so approximately a year.
13 Q. And what -- was Conway MacKenzie engaged by Jefferson
14 County Alabama?
15 A. No, we were specifically engaged by one of the 16 monoline insurers through counsel.
17 Q. And which insurer was that?
18 A. National.
19 Q. And what did -- I understand it may be ongoing to some 20 extent or perhaps suspended now, but what work has 21 Conway MacKenzie done for or in the Jefferson County
22 Alabama case?
23 A. We assisted National and counsel to National in the 24 evaluation of plans put together by the county and 25 negotiations related to the plan of adjustment.

Page 18

1 Q. Let's turn to Wayne County Circuit Court.
2 A. Yes, sir.
3 Q. What state is Wayne County is?
4 A. The State of Michigan.
5 Q. And when did you do work with Wayne County Circuit
6 Court?
7 A. I believe this was in 2005 or 2006. I can't recall
8 exactly.
9 Q. And approximately how long was the work for that
10 circuit court?
11 A. There were a couple of different assignments. I think
12 that the work extended over a period of perhaps six 13 months.
14 Q. And can you summarize for us what the work was --
15 A. Our work --
16 Q. -- that -- excuse me -- that your firm did?
17 A. Yes, our work revolved mainly around budget issues
18 that the court was having and providing analyses that 19 were used in negotiations between the court and Wayne
20 County.
21 Q. Was your firm's client the Wayne County Circuit Court?
22 A. Yes, sir. Just as -- Mr. Ruegger, just as a
23 clarification, Wayne County Circuit Court is also 24 known as 3rd Judicial Circuit Court of Michigan.
25 Q. Thank you.

Page 19

1 Were any of these entities we've talked
2 about so far that you've done work with in the
3 governmental areas, the Detroit Public Schools,
4 Jefferson County Alabama, and Wayne County Circuit
5 Court, were any of them either in bankruptcy or 6 reorganization or rehabilitation?
7 A. Yes, sir, Jefferson County was in Chapter 9 and 8 Detroit Public Schools were operating under an
9 Emergency Manager. And just to clarify there was a
10 time when while I was involved with Detroit Public
11 Schools that Mr. Robert Bobb was the Emergency
12 Financial Manager and there was a time where he was 13 the Emergency Manager.
14 Q. When you were working with Mr. Bobb for the Detroit
15 Public Schools, he was Emergency Manager or was he 16 also the Emergency Financial Manager or both?
17 A. When Conway MacKenzie was first engaged, Public Act 72
18 was in effect in Michigan and he was acting as the 19 Emergency Financial Manager. During the course of our 20 engagement, Public Act 4 came into existence and he 21 became the Emergency Manager.
22 Q. Thank you.
23 I believe the fourth governmental matter
24 you identified was Puerto Rico?
25 A. Yes, sir.

Page 20

1 Q. Who was Conway MacKenzie's client in the Puerto Rico
2 matter?
3 A. The Government Development Bank of Puerto Rico.
4 Q. Is that a publicly -- a public bank or a private bank?
5 A. It's a public bank.
6 Q. Under the control directly or indirectly of the 7 Commonwealth of Puerto Rico?
8 A. Yes, sir, it's a government agency.
9 Q. And when did you do the work for the Government
10 Development Bank?
11 A. I believe that was 2010.
12 Q. And for how long approximately?
13 A. Approximately three to four months.
14 Q. And what did you and your firm do for the Government
15 Development Bank?
16 A. Conway MacKenzie was engaged specifically related to 17 the employee retirement system for the Commonwealth of 18 Puerto Rico.
19 Q. Can you be somewhat more specific then about the 20 employment retirement system and work you did related 21 to that?
22 A. We were asked to conduct an investigation and an
23 analysis of factors that influenced the unfunded
24 position of the employee retirement system.
25 Q. Did you complete your work in that regard?

Page 21

1 A. Yes, sir.

2 Q. And just so I'm clear, I apologize, it was the
3 employment retirement system of the Government
4 Development Bank that you did this work for?

5 A. The Government Development Bank was the engaging
6 entity. The pension system for which our work related
7 was the employee retirement system.

8 Q. For what entity or group?

9 A. For the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

10 Q. Thank you.

11 A. It was a public pension plan. Mr. Ruegger, I'll just 12 clarify as well that my firm did work -- other work
13 related to the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico for a 14 different client prior to the assignment where we 15 worked for the government.

16 Q. All right. Can you identify what that other client
17 was?

18 A. Yes. We were engaged by both AFSCME and UAW.

19 Q. And what were you engaged to do for those unions?

20 A. Assist in analysis related to a plan that the governor
21 had prepared and analysis of the upcoming budget.

22 Q. Do you remember approximately when that work was done?

23 A. I believe that may have been in 2009.

24 Q. And how long did you work in the engagement for those 25 two unions?

1 A. Approximately two months, if I recall correctly.

2 Q. It's set out in your declaration that -- and I believe
3 it's paragraph 6 --
4 (Discussion held off the record.)

5 Q. -- that you're a Certified Public Accountant. That's 6 accurate; correct?

7 A. Yes, sir.

8 Q. And you are also a certified turnaround professional?

9 A. Yes, sir.

10 Q. Do you have any other formal certificates?

11 A. I am also, as is listed here, certified in financial 12 forensics.

13 Q. Any others that you recall?

14 A. No, sir.

15 Q. Other than -- any other formal training that you've 16 had or certifications?

17 A. Can you define formal training?

18 Q. Sure. We'll try to break it down. How about any 19 other classroom training or work at an educational 20 institution?

21 A. Through the course of my certifications as well as
22 professional organizations to which I belong I
23 regularly attend educational sessions every year.

24 Q. So seminars, conferences, those kind of things you
25 attend on a regular basis?

Page 23

1 A. Yes, sir.

2 Q. Anything other than seminars and conferences and what
3 you've mentioned already?

4 A. Over the course of my career I've also spent time with 5 a few other certifications related to operational
6 items; as an example, I don't believe it's called this
7 anymore, but formerly the American Production
8 Inventory Control Society, APICS, A-P-I-C-S. And I
9 have been certified in certain operational information
10 system applications used by businesses.

11 Q. Can you identify any of the operational information
12 system applications that you just mentioned?

13 A. Yes, I have multiple certifications from QAD is the 14 name of the company related to its software enterprise
15 resource planning application known as MFG Pro.

16 Q. Any others you can recall right now?

17 A. No, I think that's it.

18 Q. We're going to come back to the declaration in a
19 second, but have you ever testified under oath before,
20 Mr. Moore?

21 A. Yes, sir.

22 Q. Approximately how many times?

23 A. If you count testifying in the same matter multiple 24 times as each individual instance, it would be perhaps
25 15 -- 10 to 15 I think would be a fair number.

1 Q. And of the 10 to 15 how many were in court?

2 A. I've testified in court perhaps five to eight times.

3 Q. Any instances where you testified in an arbitration
4 proceeding?

5 A. Not that I can recall.

6 Q. And approximately how many of those instances were 7 deposition testimony?

8 A. I have been deposed approximately five times.

9 Q. Other than the court and the deposition instances,
10 have you testified under oath in any other context?

11 A. Not that I can recall.

12 Q. I'm going to ask you to identify for us the cases that
13 you've testified -- in which you've testified, so 14 let's start with the instances in court. When was the 15 first time you testified in court?

16 A. The matter would have been DCT, Inc., and I believe I
17 testified in 2002.

18 Q. Were you a fact or an expert witness?

19 A. I was a fact witness.

20 Q. And what issues did you testify to?

21 A. This goes back 11 years so I'm stretching my memory
22 here.

23 Q. Just do the best you can, sir.

24 A. But this was an involuntary bankruptcy filing where 25 Conway MacKenzie was engaged on behalf of the debtor

Page 25

1 and I believe that I was testifying to certain events
2 leading up to the involuntary bankruptcy filing.
3 Q. Was there -- was the filing contested by creditors or
4 any other group?
5 A. It was an involuntary bankruptcy filing.
6 Q. So -- very well.
7 How many times did you testify in the DCT
8 case?
9 A. Once.
10 Q. Did you testify in that case in deposition at all?
11 A. No, sir.
12 Q. Just the one instance of court testimony?
13 A. Yes.
14 Q. When was the next time you testified in court?
15 A. I believe that was 2003.
16 Q. Can you tell us the name of the case?
17 A. The name of the case was Wohlert Corporation.
18 Q. Can you spell that, please?
19 A. W-O-H-L-E-R-T.
20 Q. And were you a fact or expert witness?
21 A. I was a fact witness.
22 Q. And who was your -- were you -- who was 23 Conway MacKenzie's client in that case?
24 A. Conway MacKenzie was engaged by Wohlert Corporation.
25 Wohlert Corporation had filed Chapter 11.

Page 26

1 Q. And what court did Wohlert file for Chapter 11?
2 A. The Western District of Michigan.
3 Q. And what issues did you address in your testimony?
4 A. I testified multiple times for different issues in the
5 case. There was a motion to convert the case to 6 Chapter 7 that was filed, I testified related to
7 postpetition financing, I testified related to a sale
8 transaction, I believe.
9 Q. In each instance there was a separate incident of 10 testimony in court?
11 A. Yes, sir.
12 Q. Any other cases where you testified in court other
13 than the two you've mentioned?
14 A. Yes, sir. The next matter was Hastings Manufacturing
15 and that was a Chapter 11 in the Western District of
16 Michigan.
17 Q. And who was Conway MacKenzie's client there?
18 A. Hastings Manufacturing.
19 Q. And what issues did you address in your testimony?
20 A. I believe that I testified -- I'm just skipping my 21 mind on the specific testimony, but I think I
22 testified related to a sale transaction that was 23 occurring and this would have been in perhaps 2005 --
24 2005 or 2006.
25 Q. So you testified in support of a proposed sale

Page 27

1 transaction?
2 A. Yes, sir.
3 Q. Any other court cases you testified -- where you
4 testified in court other than the three you've
5 mentioned?
6 A. Yes, sir. Greektown Casino and Hotel.
7 Q. And who was Conway MacKenzie's client in that case?
8 A. Greektown Casino.
9 Q. And what issues did you address in your testimony?
10 A. I testified multiple times during that Chapter 11 case
11 related to postpetition financing, plans of 12 reorganization, disclosure statements, and a variety
13 of other issues. There were many instances of 14 testimony in that case.
15 Q. So when you say -- you said multiple or many, can you
16 give me an approximate number of times you testified
17 in court in that case?
18 A. Perhaps five or six.
19 Q. Thank you.
20 Other than the four cases we've identified
21 so far, have you testified in court in any other
22 instance?
23 A. Not that I can recall right now.
24 Q. Fair enough.
25 I believe you said you testified in

Page 28

1 deposition approximately five times?
2 A. Yes, sir.
3 Q. Were any of those depositions in the four court cases
4 that you've identified so far?
5 A. Yes, sir.
6 Q. In which of the cases that you identified so far have
7 you also testified in a deposition?
8 A. Greektown Casino.
9 Q. And approximately how many times were you deposed in 10 Greektown Casino?
11 A. At least two.
12 Q. Related to the same issues that you had mentioned
13 earlier that you testified to in court?
14 A. Yes, sir.
15 Q. Other than the depositions in the Greektown Casino
16 case can you give us the names and subject matters of 17 any -- of other cases where you were -- testified in a
18 deposition?
19 A. Yes, sir. Synergy Data, which was a Chapter 11 case
20 in the district of Delaware, and I don't believe,
21 Mr. Ruegger, that I testified in court in that 22 instance; however, I was deposed. I can't recall
23 exactly if I testified in court in that one or not.
24 Q. Do you remember what issues you addressed when you
25 testified in the Synergy Data case?

1 A. The issue related to a matter that was being litigated
 2 between a creditor of Synergy Data and the estate. I
 3 was the chief operating -- or chief restructuring
 4 officer for the estate and then I became the 5 liquidating trustee.
 6 Q. And what was the issue that was being litigated?
 7 A. It was a dispute over amounts owed.
 8 Q. Okay. Any other cases that you recall where you
 9 testified in a deposition?
 10 A. Yes, there was a case, this would have been in 2012,
 11 it was General Motors Corporation versus Weber
 12 Automotive, W-E-B-E-R.
 13 Q. Who was Conway MacKenzie's client in that matter?
 14 A. Counsel for General Motors.
 15 Q. And what was the subject matter of your testimony?
 16 A. This was a commercial dispute.
 17 Q. Can you give us just a general description of what the 18 dispute related to?
 19 A. Related to contractual terms, potential breach or 20 alleged breach of contract between the two parties.
 21 Q. Was your testimony as an expert in the GM versus Weber
 22 Automotive or as a fact witness?
 23 A. As an expert.
 24 Q. And do you recall what your -- what areas of expert
 25 testimony you gave -- withdrawn.

1 What were you -- what subjects were you an
 2 expert on in that case?
 3 A. I was an expert related to the automotive industry and
 4 supplier relations.
 5 Q. Back to the subject of what deposition testimony
 6 you've given. Other than the cases you've identified
 7 so far, have you testified in a deposition in any
 8 other case?
 9 A. Not that I can recall. I think that takes us to about
 10 five or so, which is what I thought I had done before
 11 in depositions.
 12 Q. Thank you.
 13 You mentioned that you testified as an
 14 expert in the GM versus Weber Automotive matter and 15 have you testified as an expert in any other matter?
 16 A. I testified as an expert in the Greektown case.
 17 Q. And on what subjects were you proffered as an expert
 18 in the Greektown Casino case?
 19 A. Plan confirmation.
 20 Q. Did you have a position or a title with the Greektown
 21 Casino case?
 22 A. I believe the title was either restructuring advisor
 23 or chief restructuring advisor. I was specifically
 24 named as this individual.
 25 Q. And did -- was a plan of reorganization confirmed for

Page 31

1 the Greektown Casino debtor?
 2 A. Yes, sir.
 3 Q. And was that in the Delaware bankruptcy court or some
 4 other court?
 5 A. That was Eastern District of Michigan.
 6 Q. Thank you.
 7 And do you recall the year or years where
 8 the Greektown Casino bankruptcy was pending?
 9 A. 2008 through 2010.
 10 Q. Am I correct then that -- withdrawn.
 11 Other than the GM V. Weber Automotive and 12 the Greektown Casino cases, have you testified as an 13 expert in any other cases?
 14 A. Not that I can recall.
 15 Q. Have you submitted an expert report in any other
 16 cases?
 17 A. Yes, sir.
 18 Q. How many other cases?
 19 A. Off the top of my head, approximately perhaps two.
 20 Q. And are these instances where you signed the expert
 21 report as the head of the Conway MacKenzie team?
 22 A. Yes, sir.
 23 Q. In which two matters did you submit those expert
 24 reports?
 25 A. One matter would be MuniVest.

Page 32

1 Q. And can you tell us what that matter is or was?
 2 A. That was an alleged Ponzi scheme and I worked on
 3 behalf of the trustee that was appointed in that case.
 4 Q. And where was that case pending?
 5 A. That was Eastern District of Michigan.
 6 Q. And I take it the subject of your testimony -- or the
 7 subject of your report was whether in fact there was a
 8 Ponzi scheme?
 9 A. Yes, sir.
 10 Q. Did you conclude that there was a Ponzi scheme?
 11 A. Yes, sir.
 12 Q. And you never testified, though, in that case, either
 13 in deposition or in court?
 14 A. Not yet.
 15 Q. It's pending?
 16 A. There are still open issues, many -- many matters have 17 settled, but the case is still open.
 18 Q. And the second instance where you've submitted a
 19 report, can you describe that case for us, please?
 20 A. I don't believe that this was a signed report and I am
 21 actually forgetting the official name of the case but 22 this was a -- the general name of the matter was 23 ConTech, C-O-N-T-E-C-H, and this involved preference
 24 litigation.
 25 Q. Who is the client in the ConTech matter?

Page 33

1 A. I believe -- I work mainly with counsel and if I
2 recall correctly, counsel was working for the trustee,
3 the Chapter 7 trustee.
4 Q. Okay. You've testified to this and I don't mean to go
5 over what you've already covered, but I'm trying to 6 now identify the cases -- the prior cases related to
7 Chapter 9 bankruptcy that you've worked with and I
8 believe you testified that the Jefferson County
9 Alabama matter was a Chapter 9 matter. Any other
10 Chapter 9 filings that you've worked in?
11 A. No, sir.
12 Q. Related to the Jefferson County Alabama work you've 13 done, can you be a little more specific about the work
14 you did in evaluating the plans on behalf of National?
15 A. Sure. Conway MacKenzie first sought to receive 16 detailed information supporting plans that had been 17 put together by the county including its proposed
18 budget. Conway MacKenzie met with the county to go
19 through various assumptions, ask about certain areas
20 that had been considered for improving the operation,
21 participated in strategy sessions with counsel related
22 to the plan of adjustment or proposed terms of the 23 plan of adjustment prior to the county actually filing
24 the plan, and those would have been the more specifics
25 as to the areas that Conway MacKenzie participated.

Page 34

1 Q. What was -- I think you said your client in that
2 matter was National?
3 A. National Public Finance -- National Public Finance
4 Guaranty, NPPG.
5 Q. And what had National Public Finance guaranteed in the 6 Jefferson County case?
7 A. The bulk of National's exposure related to a couple of 8 bond offerings from just over ten years ago. There
9 was a -- if I recall correctly, there was another
10 element where there was some exposure that National 11 had, but the two bond offerings that I was referring 12 to constituted about $100 million in exposure and this 13 other area, if I recall correctly, had about 14 $3 million of exposure.
15 Q. Thank you.
16 You mention in paragraph 5 of your
17 declaration that you have extensive experience with 18 defined benefit pension plans and other postretirement
19 employee benefits. Can you give us a little more
20 specifics on that experience?
21 A. I have in the course of my career on many engagements
22 come across issues related to defined benefit pension
23 plans as well as other postretirement employee
24 benefits and have consulted with clients related to 25 those two items.

Page 35

1 Q. Can you name some of those engagements?
2 A. Sure. I will focus on public engagements. Many of my
3 engagements are private in nature so I'm not able to
4 necessarily disclose the names, but several that I've 5 already discussed which are public I'm able to
6 indicate. With Wohler Corporation there was a
7 pension plan and we dealt directly with the IRS and 8 the PPGC as well as unions related to that pension
9 plan.
10 Hastings Manufacturing also had a pension
11 plan.
12 The Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, obviously 13 our primary involvement with them related to the 14 employee retirement system.
15 Q. Any others come to mind --
16 A. Um --
17 Q. -- of public engagements?
18 A. Yeah, of those that I mentioned, I don't think any of 19 the others had pension or retiree healthcare, which is 20 what I'm referring to on the other postretirement
21 employee benefits. I don't think that those came into 22 play on any of the other public matters.
23 Q. So as best you recall right now it's the Wohler,
24 Hastings Manufacturing and the Puerto Rico cases where 25 pension or other OPEB issues were part of your

1 engagement?
2 A. Of those that I mentioned, yes.
3 MR. MILLER: In connection with the public?
4 A. Of those that I mentioned in connection with publicly
5 -- or public engagements, if you will, yes, sir.
6 Q. Okay, yeah, we're putting aside the private ones for
7 confidential reasons, I understand.
8 A. Yes, sir.
9 Q. You're not an actuary; correct?
10 A. That is correct, I am not actuary.
11 Q. Have you had any formal training in actuarial areas?
12 A. No, sir.
13 Q. You mentioned in paragraph 6 of your declaration that 14 you were appointed to serve on the Legislative 15 Commission on Government Efficiency? That's correct;
16 is it not?
17 A. Yes, sir.
18 Q. When were you appointed?
19 A. My appointment was at the end of 2007 and it was a
20 two-year commission.
21 Q. Who appointed you?
22 A. If I recall correctly, I was appointed by both the 23 speaker of the house for the State of Michigan and the 24 senate majority leader for the State of Michigan.
25 MR. RUEGGER: Let's go off the record for a

Page 37

1 second.
2 (A brief recess was taken.)
3 MR. RUEGGER: Back on the record.
4 Drew, you want to say something?
5 MR. MAST: Yes, before we continue, just 6 briefly, I would like to make a statement on behalf of 7 the Retirement Systems that as to any and all
8 questioning by others today regarding pension and 9 actuarial issues, including underfunding, calculations
10 and assumptions, Detroit -- the Retirement Systems are 11 not participating today and reserve all rights with 12 regard to those issues. That's all.
13 MR. RUEGGER: Very well.
14 BY MR. RUEGGER:
15 Q. We were talking about the commission that was 16 referenced in your declaration when we left.
17 A. Yes, sir.
18 Q. What was the subject matter of that commission as you
19 recall?
20 A. The commission was created as part of a budget
21 standoff that took place within the State of Michigan
22 prior to the start of its fiscal year 2008. The State
23 was not able to pass a balanced budget prior to the 24 start of the fiscal year on October 1st, 2007. As 25 part of the final compromise, there was the -- to be

Page 38

1 the creation of a commission called the Legislative
2 Commission on Government Efficiency which would
3 consist of nine members that would look for
4 efficiencies in the State of Michigan's operations.
5 Q. And did that commission issue a report or 6 recommendation?
7 A. Yes, sir.
8 Q. At the end of that two-year period?
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. Who was the speaker who appointed -- you mentioned the 11 speaker and the house majority leader both appointed
12 you to that commission?
13 A. Speaker of the house was Andy Dillon and the senate
14 majority leader was Mike Bishop.
15 Q. Last name, sir?
16 A. Bishop.
17 Q. Bishop?
18 A. Bishop, B-I-S-H-O-P.
19 Q. Prior to the Legislative Commission on Government
20 Efficiency, had you served on any commissions or other
21 organizations on behalf of the government?
22 A. The State government?
23 Q. Yes, sir.
24 A. Not that I can recall.
25 Q. Subsequent to your work on the Legislative Commission

Page 39

1 on Government Efficiency have you served on any State
2 commissions?
3 A. No, sir.
4 (Marked Exhibit No. 2.)
5 Q. I want to try to explore what you know about some 6 other references to various teams or panels that are 7 in the pleadings so -- because we're on the subject of 8 commissions now and I've asked the court reporter to 9 mark as Moore Exhibit 2 a copy of the Memorandum in 10 Support of Statement of Qualifications Pursuant to 11 Section 109(c) of the Bankruptcy Code, which was filed
12 July 18th, 2013.
13 MR. RUEGGER: And if anybody wants to look
14 at a copy.
15 Q. I'm not going to spend a lot of time on this, but if
16 you could, Mr. Moore, turn to page 1 of that document.
17 You can certainly review it to be familiar if you
18 want. You have that page, sir?
19 A. Yes, sir.
20 Q. You'll notice in the first line under the introduction
21 it says -- there's a reference to a State appointed
22 "financial review team." Do you know what that 23 reference is to?
24 A. Yes.
25 Q. What is the financial review team that's referenced

Page 40

1 there?
2 A. This refers to, I believe, without going through the
3 entire document, the review team that was appointed by
4 the State to conduct a review of the City of Detroit's
5 finances to determine if an emergency exists.
6 Q. Were you part of this financial review team that's 7 referenced here?
8 A. No.
9 Q. Do you know who was on that financial review team?
10 A. I seem to recall a couple of the members, but I don't
11 know all of the people that were on the review team.
12 Q. Fair enough. Can you just identify those that you do
13 remember?
14 A. Fred Headen and Darrell Burks.
15 Q. Did this State appointed financial review team issue a
16 report or recommendation in writing?
17 A. Yes, sir.
18 Q. And when was that issued?
19 A. I don't recall the exact date.
20 Q. Was it 2013?
21 A. Yes, sir.
22 Q. Mr. Orr testified in deposition two days ago and he 23 mentioned that as part of the engagement process his
24 firm at the time Jones Day appeared before what I
25 believe the reference -- his -- he called a

Page 41

1 restructuring team of advisors for the City of
2 New York?
3 MS. LEVINE: City of Detroit?
4 MR. RUEGGER: City of Detroit, excuse me,
5 thank you.
6 Q. Were you part of any team that entertained pitches
7 from law firms as the potential counsel to the City of
8 Detroit?
9 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
10 A. I participated in a day long session where 11 representatives of the City met with some law firms at 12 Metro Airport.
13 Q. Do you remember approximately when that occurred?
14 A. I believe it was the end of January of 2013.
15 Q. And who else participated with you and the 16 representatives of the City of Detroit on that day?
17 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
18 A. From the standpoint of who were the people that were 19 meeting with the law firms?
20 Q. Yeah, putting aside the various law firm people who 21 were appearing, but who on behalf of the City or in 22 coordination with the City were there and heard from 23 the law firms?
24 A. From the City there was Jack Martin and Kriss Andrews.
25 I can't recall if there was anyone else there that was

Page 42

1 an employee of the City of Detroit. And then there
2 were representatives from Miller Buckfire, Ernst &
3 Young and the State of Michigan.
4 Q. Do you remember who was there from Miller Buckfire?
5 A. Ken Buckfire, I believe Kyle Herman.
6 Q. Anyone else?
7 A. I don't recall if there was anyone else.
8 Q. Who was there from E&Y?
9 A. Gaurav Malhotra.
10 Q. Anyone else?
11 A. Not that I recall.
12 Q. And from the State?
13 A. Andy Dillon, Rich Baird, Brom Stibitz. I can't recall
14 if there was anyone else there from the State.
15 Q. At the time of the meetings at the airport, had 16 Conway MacKenzie been engaged by the City of New -- of
17 Detroit?
18 A. Yes, sir.
19 Q. Was that pursuant to an engagement letter or
20 agreement?
21 A. It was pursuant to a contract that was approved by
22 city council and then executed by the City.
23 Q. Do you happen to know -- this may be a question better
24 addressed to counsel that may not be here, but do you
25 know whether that contract is part of the data room in

Page 43

1 this case?
2 MR. MILLER: Let me answer. I don't know.
3 MR. RUEGGER: Okay.
4 MR. MILLER: And if you would like, just
5 email me and we'll confirm one way or the other.
6 MR. RUEGGER: Before we trouble you we'll
7 try to see if we can find it in the data room.
8 MR. MILLER: Okay.
9 MR. RUEGGER: But thank you.
10 Q. Had Conway MacKenzie been engaged by the City in any 11 role prior to the January contract with the City that 12 we just referenced?
13 A. Not engaged, but Conway MacKenzie did do some pro bono
14 work for the City during 2012.
15 Q. And what was the nature of that work in 2012?
16 A. We assisted with a review and assessment of five areas
17 that involved cashiering operations to identify 18 recommendations for improvement.
19 Q. And were these cashiering operations citywide or in 20 one specific geographic or operational area?
21 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
22 A. They were in specific operational areas.
23 Q. And which specific operational areas were those?
24 A. If I recall correctly, there was parking, building
25 safety engineering and environmental department. I'm

Page 44

1 blanking on the other three areas, but they were
2 specific -- or department specific.
3 Q. Has Conway MacKenzie ever been engaged by the State to 4 do work on a State matter, State of Michigan I mean?
5 A. Not that I'm aware of. Obviously I've been with the
6 firm for only 12 years, the firm's been around 26
7 years so I can't say before my time. During my time I
8 don't believe that is the case.
9 Q. So to the best of your understanding the first
10 engagement for Conway MacKenzie for either the State
11 or the city other than the pro bono work you
12 referenced was the contract that's currently in effect
13 for the City of Detroit that was signed in or around
14 January of 2013; is that correct?
15 A. Yes, sir.
16 MS. LEVINE: Good question.
17 MR. RUEGGER: Sometimes it gets a little
18 carried away.
19 Q. Were you involved in the discussions with the City
20 that predated the Conway MacKenzie engagement?
21 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
22 A. Can you be more specific about the conversations?
23 Q. I'll try, I'll try.
24 Were there discussions between
25 Conway MacKenzie and the City of Detroit

Page 45

1 representatives related to the potential engagement of
2 Conway MacKenzie prior to the actual contract being
3 executed?
4 A. Yes, sir.
5 Q. When approximately did those contacts commence?
6 A. Well, there was an RFP that went out in November -- I
7 think it was in November of 2012 that Conway MacKenzie
8 responded to and there were multiple meetings and 9 multiple correspondence with the City related to our 10 RFP response. Prior to that RFP there were 11 discussions that took place with the City regarding 12 potential ways that Conway MacKenzie could assist the
13 City.
14 Q. So there were communications prior to the RFP going
15 out?
16 A. Yes, sir.
17 Q. Who initiated those to the best of your recollection?
18 A. Probably our firm and probably me.
19 Q. And who at the City did you contact?
20 A. I spoke with Kriss Andrews.
21 Q. Did you know Mr. Andrews previously?
22 A. Yes, sir.
23 Q. How did you first meet Mr. Andrews?
24 A. In the restructuring business when he was with his 25 previous firm.

Page 46

1 Q. And what was his previous firm?
2 A. BBK.
3 Q. And do you recall what matter you first met
4 Mr. Andrews related to?
5 A. No, I don't.
6 Q. And can you tell us in summary what you said to 7 Mr. Andrews and what he said to you in that first
8 conversation?
9 A. I reached out to Kriss when his appointment as program
10 manager director was made public to offer advice and 11 to share with him some ideas about issues that he 12 would be heading into with the City.
13 Q. And what advice did you offer Mr. Andrews?
14 A. One item that I had put out to him is a segregation of 15 the operating initiatives that were contained within 16 the financial stability agreement into different
17 categories and some potential approaches to those 18 categories.
19 Q. What was the financial stability agreement that you
20 just mentioned?
21 A. The financial stability agreement is sometimes
22 referred to by people as the consent agreement that 23 was entered into between the State of Michigan and the 24 City of Detroit around the beginning of April of 2012.
25 Q. And you are familiar with that consent agreement?

Page 47

1 A. Yes, sir.
2 Q. How did you become familiar with that agreement?
3 A. That is a public document that I reviewed after it was
4 executed.
5 Q. So you just went into the public records to pull it
6 up?
7 A. Yes, sir.
8 Q. In addition to the advice you offered Mr. Andrews in 9 that first conversation -- was this on the phone?
10 A. I believe that I had phone conversations with Kriss.
11 Prior to him starting with the City I took him to 12 breakfast to share some ideas with him and then as 13 part of the cashiering work that we were doing, there
14 may have been times that I provided a comment here or 15 there while we were at the City.
16 Q. Approximately how many times did you speak with 17 Mr. Andrews before the RFP was issued?
18 A. Related to the cashiering work or in total?
19 Q. In any context.
20 A. Very hard for me to say.
21 Q. The cashiering work that Conway MacKenzie did for the 22 city spanned what time period?
23 A. Approximately September of 2012 until November of 24 2012.
25 Q. Approximately how many conversations either in person

Page 48

1 or on the phone did you have with Mr. Andrews related
2 to issues other than the cashiering work?
3 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
4 A. Maybe three or four.
5 Q. Appearing these three or four were all before the RFP
6 was issued?
7 A. Yes, sir.
8 Q. During that period of time, again prior to the RFP
9 being issued, did you have any conversations with any 10 other representatives of the City relating to 11 potential Conway MacKenzie work for the City?
12 A. One of my partners and a cofounder of the firm,
13 Van Conway, had a conversation with Mayor Bing at some 14 point prior to the financial stability agreement being 15 executed and Van Conway and I had a meeting with 16 Kirk Lewis when he was deputy mayor.
17 Q. Other than the meeting with Mr. Lewis and Mr. Conway's
18 conversation with Mayor Bing, did anyone from your 19 firm have any contacts with City representatives to 20 your knowledge related to potential Conway MacKenzie
21 work for the City before the RFP was issued?
22 A. Not that I'm aware of.
23 Q. Approximately how many Conway MacKenzie professionals
24 have worked on -- related to the contract between 25 Conway MacKenzie and the City that was executed in

Page 49

1 January?
 2 A. Approximately 13.
 3 Q. And are you the lead for that effort?
 4 A. Yes, sir.
 5 Q. Can you describe generally what Conway MacKenzie's
 6 done in connection with its -- withdrawn.
 7 Starting in -- withdrawn.
 8 Is it correct that Conway MacKenzie's work
 9 for the City started in January of 2013?
 10 A. Under the contract that we previously discussed, yes,
 11 sir.
 12 Q. Yes. Okay. And can you describe generally what 13 Conway MacKenzie did over the first three to four 14 months of that work?
 15 A. Yes, sir. Conway MacKenzie is the operational
 16 restructuring advisor to the City of Detroit. The 17 first 90 days we spent going through the majority of 18 the departments of the City to identify the 19 deficiencies in those departments and to put together
 20 an operational improvement plan.
 21 Q. And did Conway MacKenzie prepare that operational
 22 improvement plan?
 23 A. Yes, sir.
 24 Q. And approximately when was that plan finished?
 25 A. June 14th.

Page 50

1 MR. RUEGGER: I'm going to ask the court
 2 reporter to mark as Moore Exhibit 3 the City of
 3 Detroit proposal for creditors dated June 14th, 2013.
 4 (Marked Exhibit No. 3.)
 5 Q. The first page of it is titled Exhibit C, because I
 6 believe it was an exhibit to a court filing.
 7 Do you recognize either the document or
 8 some portion of that document, Mr. Moore?
 9 A. This appears to be the document that was handed out at 10 the June 14th meeting of the creditors, June 14th of 11 2013.
 12 Q. Okay. Did you have -- withdrawn.
 13 Did you and/or Conway MacKenzie have any 14 role in the preparation of this document?
 15 A. Yes, sir.
 16 Q. Can you describe generally what that role was?
 17 A. We provided assistance with various information
 18 included in the body of the document and then the 19 creation of the restructuring and reinvestment
 20 initiatives that are included in the ten-year
 21 projection.
 22 Q. So and can you be more specific? I mean, I understand
 23 the ten-year projections are at page 90 from the table
 24 of contents, but can you be more specific about what
 25 portions of this document Conway MacKenzie had a role

Page 51

1 in preparing?
 2 MR. MILLER: It's a large document. Do you
 3 want him to go through it?
 4 MR. RUEGGER: Well, I don't need to have
 5 him go through every page or even every section, but
 6 he could actually just look at the table of contents
 7 and probably give me enough of a sense.
 8 MR. MILLER: Why don't you spend some time
 9 looking at the document?
 10 A. Mr. Ruegger, if I recall correctly, Conway MacKenzie
 11 provided information that was used in the first
 12 section, Detroit faces strong economic headwinds. I
 13 believe that we would have provided comments under the 14 key objectives for financial restructuring and 15 rehabilitation of Detroit. The restructuring and 16 reinvesting in city government. And then the ten-year
 17 projections.
 18 Q. Of the four topics that you just mentioned, did
 19 Conway MacKenzie prepare the original draft of any of 20 those sections or were those sections prepared by some 21 other group or entity and your group -- your firm gave 22 comments to that prior form?
 23 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 24 A. If I recall correctly, we provided comments to a
 25 document that was already started.

Page 52

1 Q. Who started that document, if you know?
 2 A. We provided comments to counsel.
 3 Q. Counsel being Jones Day?
 4 A. Yes, sir.
 5 Q. Turning to the ten-year projections, which is page 90,
 6 do you have that page, sir? I'm sorry.
 7 A. Yes, sir.
 8 Q. Do you know where the figures on this page came from?
 9 A. I believe that these were prepared by Ernst & Young.
 10 Q. And you'll see there's a reference in the 11 parenthetical there saying general fund only. How 12 many separate funds exist within the City of Detroit
 13 if you know?
 14 A. I don't know the exact number offhand, but the general
 15 fund, as you can see, revenue wise is between a
 16 billion and a billion one. Total revenue across all
 17 funds for the City is about two and a half billion.
 18 Q. So you've got about another billion and a half in 19 other funds in the City?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. And you said you did not know the specific number of 22 other funds. Do you have a general understanding as 23 to the number of other funds?
 24 A. If we're talking about enterprise funds, I think that 25 there are maybe five other enterprise funds.

Page 53

1 Q. And what about not enterprise funds?
 2 A. Other agencies, under five.
 3 Q. I've read somewhere, and I've been wrong many times,
 4 but I've read somewhere that there are quite a number
 5 of agencies within the City of Detroit government. Do
 6 you have an understanding of how many different
 7 agencies the City of Detroit currently has?
 8 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 9 MR. RUEGGER: Well, okay, I'll try it
 10 again.
 11 Q. How many agencies within the City of Detroit
 12 government to your knowledge?
 13 A. I don't know the exact number.
 14 Q. Is it more than 40?
 15 A. That seems very high to me.
 16 Q. Do you know whether each agency within the City of 17 Detroit has its own fund?
 18 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 19 A. I don't believe that it does.
 20 Q. On the same subject you mentioned that the general
 21 fund has approximately a billion dollars in total
 22 revenues --
 23 A. Yes, sir.
 24 Q. -- right? And your testimony will speak for itself.
 25 You thought there might be another billion and a half

Page 54

1 of revenues that are outside the general fund, inside
 2 within the City of Detroit. Can you -- is that fair?
 3 A. Yes, sir.
 4 Q. Can you describe where those other funds were?
 5 A. You have --
 6 MR. MILLER: Let me just object to form.
 7 Go ahead.
 8 A. You have the water and sewer department, Detroit
 9 department of transportation, public lighting
 10 department, parking. Those are the primary ones that 11 come to mind.
 12 Q. Thank you.
 13 You mentioned earlier that you attended a
 14 meeting on around June 14th, 2013. Where was that
 15 meeting?
 16 A. The meeting I was referring to was -- I believe that 17 you asked when we completed our plan, I indicated June
 18 14th. That is the date that there was a meeting of 19 the creditors to present this proposal and that was 20 held at Metro Airport.
 21 Q. As best you recall who attended that meeting? And if 22 you don't know the individuals' names, if you could
 23 identify who they represented, that would be fine.
 24 A. Mr. Ruegger, there were about 200 people there so I
 25 certainly don't know the names of all the people that

Page 55

1 attended.
 2 Q. All right. What groups did you understand were
 3 attending?
 4 A. My understanding is that representatives of all the 5 unions were invited, representatives of other
 6 creditors, monoline insurers, I believe the pension
 7 funds, possibly retiree associations. I'm not sure if 8 there were any other groups.
 9 Q. And there were representatives of the City there too?
 10 A. Yes, sir.
 11 Q. Who attended on behalf of the City either as their 12 advisors or as employees of the City?
 13 A. Mr. Orr was there, the Emergency Manager. Jack
 14 Martin, the CFO. The City's restructuring advisors
 15 including counsel, so that would be representatives of 16 Jones Day, Conway MacKenzie, Miller Buckfire, Ernst &
 17 Young. I'm not sure if anyone else was there on 18 behalf of the City.
 19 Q. Did you speak at the meeting?
 20 A. Yes, sir.
 21 Q. What subjects did you address in your comments?
 22 A. I can't recall offhand which pages I covered.
 23 Q. Do you recall generally what your responsibility was 24 at that meeting?
 25 A. I think generally I was to cover some of the issues

Page 56

1 that exist today and then the foundation of the
 2 restructuring initiatives.
 3 Q. Prior to the meeting on June 14th had you attended any
 4 meetings with creditors or unions of the City?
 5 A. In the course of our work we, we being
 6 Conway MacKenzie, would have met with employees of 7 departments that are part of unions.
 8 Q. So as part of your investigation, you were talking to 9 people who happened to be union members but working 10 for the City?
 11 A. Yes, sir.
 12 Q. Fair enough. Did you meet with any representatives of 13 unions in that capacity during the period from January
 14 till June 14th?
 15 A. Can you be clearer when you say in that capacity?
 16 Q. Yes, you pointed out a distinction that's fair, that 17 you met with union members but really as City
 18 employees, not in their union status. I'm now asking
 19 whether you met with the unions, for example, people
 20 who were there representing the union?
 21 A. Yes, sir.
 22 Q. In how many instances?
 23 MR. MILLER: This is still during the time
 24 period you had previously said?
 25 MR. RUEGGER: Yeah, January to June.

Page 57

1 A. That would be hard for me to estimate. I myself
 2 participated in meeting, members of my team
 3 participated in a lot of meetings that I was not in,
 4 so I don't know what that number would be.
 5 Q. Do you recall what the purpose of those meetings was
 6 or purposes of those meetings?
 7 A. The meetings that I attended it was to understand from 8 the union standpoint some of the primary issues that 9 existed from an operational standpoint that they
 10 wanted to see addressed.
 11 Q. Did you meet with any representatives of any retiree
 12 associations during that same period?
 13 A. Not that I can recall.
 14 Q. Subsequent to the June 14th meeting did you or others
 15 at Conway MacKenzie to your knowledge meet with 16 representatives of unions for any purpose?
 17 A. Yes, sir.
 18 Q. Do you recall approximately how many times?
 19 A. Again, it's very hard for me to estimate the total
 20 number of meetings that would have taken place by the 21 entire team.
 22 Q. And am I correct the subject matter of those meetings
 23 would have been the proposals and other information
 24 that's basically contained in what's been marked as --
 25 I believe it's Moore Exhibit 3?

Page 58

1 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 2 A. Yes, sir.
 3 Q. Did you meet with any representatives of any retirees
 4 associations or groups after the time of June 14th?
 5 A. Yes, sir.
 6 Q. Do you recall approximately how many times?
 7 A. Well, beginning on June 20th there were meetings with 8 two different meetings held on June 20th that involved
 9 retiree associations.
 10 Q. And you attended those meetings?
 11 A. Yes, sir.
 12 Q. Other than those two meetings do you recall any other
 13 meetings with retiree associations in the period after
 14 June 14th?
 15 A. Yes, there was -- there were meetings on July 10th
 16 that I participated in where retiree associations were 17 represented.
 18 Q. Any others?
 19 A. I don't recall specifically. We -- from a due
 20 diligence standpoint the number of meetings that took 21 place in the time period that you're referencing post
 22 June 14th were substantial.
 23 Q. When you say from a due diligence standpoint, was that
 24 due diligence being undertaken by the retiree groups
 25 or by Conway MacKenzie or by some other group?

Page 59

1 A. These are due diligence sessions being undertaken by
 2 creditor constituents where we would meet, discuss in 3 more detail the plan and hopefully share ideas as to
 4 what people were thinking about the plan.
 5 Q. I want to switch subjects now and turn to your
 6 declaration again, which is Moore Exhibit 1.
 7 If you could turn, sir, to paragraph 11,
 8 which is on page 5. And you'll see the first sentence
 9 in paragraph 11 reads, the combined reported UAAL for 10 the systems, however, is premised upon a host of 11 valuation assumptions and methods that in the City's 12 view serve to substantially understate the systems'
 13 unfunded liabilities.
 14 Do you see that sentence, sir?
 15 A. I do.
 16 Q. Can you identify what valuation assumptions and 17 methods you refer to in that sentence?
 18 A. If you continue on in that paragraph, I mention the 19 assumed rate of return on the plan assets.
 20 Q. That's one, yes, sir.
 21 A. Yes.
 22 Q. Any others?
 23 A. Another is referred to in the next paragraph,
 24 paragraph 12, which discusses the process of asset
 25 smoothing and specifically over a seven-year period.

Page 60

1 Q. Any others?
 2 A. Those are the only two that I've referenced here in
 3 the declaration. In the course of determining the 4 UAAL or just the underfunded position of the pension,
 5 there are a wide variety of assumptions and looking at 6 every one of those assumptions separately one could 7 make a determination as to whether that is 8 conservative, realistic or aggressive and there are
 9 certainly, like I say, a number of other assumptions
 10 that I did not get into in this document that 11 certainly could come into play with that sentence at 12 the beginning of paragraph 11.
 13 Q. And it's those assumptions and methods that I would 14 like to discuss now. So other than the ones that you
 15 address in the declaration, do you recall now any 16 other assumptions that you believe serve to 17 substantially understate the systems' unfunded
 18 liabilities?
 19 A. The underfunded calculations take into account
 20 contributions that were supposed to have been made by 21 the City that were not actually made.
 22 Q. And is that the subject that you address in paragraph
 23 20 of your declaration?
 24 A. Yes.
 25 Q. Any others that come to mind?

Page 61

1 A. The rate of payouts is another area where the
2 actuaries make assumptions as to what benefits will be
3 paid in what periods and to the extent that those are 4 underestimated, that can impact the funded position as 5 well. Tying into previous assumptions that I had 6 indicated.

7 Q. So is it -- is it your position that the City views
8 the actuarial payout assumptions as understating
9 unfunded liabilities?

10 MR. MILLER: Object to form. Go ahead.

11 A. As an example, Mr. Ruegger, the actuarial valuation
12 assumes certain payouts. The actual payouts in the 13 most recent completed year of plan assets were 14 substantially higher than what was anticipated prior 15 to that valuation being done and so at a minimum that 16 would indicate that there were more assets that were 17 paid out than what was assumed by the actuary.

18 Q. Other than the assumptions and methods you've 19 identified, are there any other assumptions and 20 methods that to your understanding the City views as 21 understating the systems' unfunded liabilities?

22 A. The City and most importantly its actuary has not 23 completed its analysis on the unfunded position. The 24 City is trying to undertake a process to actually
25 develop a more concrete valuation model on its own so

Page 62

1 it's been relying on the valuation model of the
2 pension systems' actuary. As such we have focused on 3 a few items here, but until the City completes its
4 analysis and completes its own actuarial valuation,
5 neither the City nor its actuary nor I would be able
6 to say what all the assumptions are that could be used
7 to either overstate or understate the funded position.

8 Q. Very well.

9 Let's turn to one of the assumptions that 10 you address in your declaration and specifically in 11 paragraph 11 you talk about the projected net rate of 12 return. The 7.0 percent or 7.25 percent figure, do
13 you see that in paragraph 11?

14 A. Yes, sir.

15 Q. Those were not figures that were recommended by a
16 particular actuary; were they?

17 A. The 7 percent is actually higher than the rate that 18 Milliman, the City's actuary, had originally put 19 forward, which in its view would result -- the rate at 20 which there was a fifty-fifty chance of achieving that 21 rate.

22 MR. RUEGGER: All right. I'm going to move
23 to strike, because with all respect that was not
24 responsive to my question, Mr. Moore.

25 Q. I understand Milliman has prepared a variety of

Page 63

1 letters and reports and we'll take those up with the
2 Milliman folks, but I'm trying now to focus on the 7.0
3 figure. That was a figure selected by the City for 4 illustrative purposes; correct?

5 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. And that was not the specific figure or a specific
8 figure recommended by Milliman or any other actuary;
9 correct?

10 A. I can't speak to any other actuary, but going back to 11 the previous question, yes, 7 percent was used for 12 illustrative purposes.

13 Q. The -- and the Milliman analysis that's been 14 undertaken so far, to your understanding, that hasn't 15 been the product of work on the actual data for the 16 systems; has it?

17 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

18 MR. RUEGGER: Okay, that was a poor
19 question, I'll try again. Actually withdrawn.

20 Q. Related to the projected net return, in paragraph 15
21 of your declaration, I believe it's 15, you have a --
22 we'll get to it.

23 Let's talk now about the concept of 24 smoothing that you reference in paragraph 12. In your 25 understanding smoothing is a common calculation used

Page 64

1 by actuaries related to pension projections; correct?

2 A. I would clarify your question from the standpoint of 3 typically pension boards will decide on the policies
4 and then actuaries will perform calculations based on
5 the policies that a board will decide to use.

6 Q. But smoothing is a common practice for actuaries; is 7 it not?

8 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

9 A. Based on my experience, yes, there is a number of 10 plans that I've looked at that involve a smoothing.

11 Q. And would you agree that smoothing is a method to 12 manage the effect of investment volatility on 13 contributions and to provide a more consistent measure
14 of plan funding over time?

15 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

16 A. Generally speaking, yes. What's important to note is 17 that smoothing is a concept, and I agree with the 18 purpose of that concept. The number of years over
19 which a pension system may smooth can differ
20 significantly.

21 Q. Based on the -- well, withdrawn.

22 To your knowledge is smoothing generally
23 consistent with the actuarial standards of practice?

24 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

25 A. Well, I can tell you, Mr. Ruegger, later this year new

Page 65

1 GASB standards go into effect, GASB 67 and 68, that
 2 actually for financial reporting purposes will not
 3 allow smoothing.
 4 Q. Okay, so then go back to my question, which related to 5 actuary standards or practice. Is not smoothing
 6 consistent and endorsed by actuarial standards of
 7 practice?
 8 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 9 A. As we established earlier, I'm not an actuary so I
 10 can't comment on that. I am a CPA so I can comment on 11 financial reporting standards.
 12 Q. Do you -- there's some reference here.
 13 You'll see in paragraph 14, the first
 14 sentence references the City's estimated underfunding
 15 of approximately $3.5 billion. Do you see that 16 reference?
 17 A. Yes, sir.
 18 Q. Do you know whether that calculation was based on the 19 assumption the systems would continue or that they 20 would be frozen?
 21 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 22 A. My understanding is that this is based on the 23 assumption that the plans would continue.
 24 Q. And if the plans were to continue, would, in your 25 view, it be more appropriate to use actuarial values

Page 66

1 for assets and liabilities or market figures for
 2 assets and liabilities?
 3 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 4 A. It depends on for what purpose the calculation is
 5 being made.
 6 Q. Okay. And can you explain that answer?
 7 A. If you are referring to for financial reporting
 8 purposes, I can comment on the basis that is included
 9 in GASB Statements 67 and 68 that are coming out. As 10 to whether it is appropriate from an actuarial
 11 standpoint, again, because I'm not an actuary, I can't 12 comment on that.
 13 Q. When you refer to the City in these -- starting in 14 paragraph 11, who at the City are you referring to?
 15 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 16 Q. Or I'll try it again.
 17 Who working within or for the City do you
 18 include when you make a reference such as in the 19 beginning of paragraph 11 related to the City's view?
 20 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 21 A. My primary contact at this point within the City is 22 Mr. Kevyn Orr.
 23 Q. So when you reference the City's view or the City's 24 position in your declaration in Moore Exhibit 1, you
 25 mean Mr. Orr?

Page 67

1 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 2 A. Based on the discussions that would have taken place
 3 with Mr. Orr, yes, he is in agreement with these
 4 statements.
 5 Q. In paragraph 15 of your declaration you address the 6 systems' use of 29- and 30-year amortization periods
 7 for funding the underfunding. Do you see that
 8 discussion, sir?
 9 A. Yes, sir.
 10 MR. MILLER: Let me object to form in 11 connection with the prior question.
 12 MR. RUEGGER: That's fine.
 13 Q. Do you have any understanding whether amortization
 14 periods of 29 and 30 years are commonly used for 15 governmental pension plans?
 16 A. Commonly used I think is difficult to say, because 17 there are obviously probably thousands of pension
 18 plans in the United States, so not having the data to 19 understand how often that's used, I am aware of other
 20 plans, other governmental plans, that use 29- or 21 30-year amortizations.
 22 Q. Do you have any understanding whether the amortization
 23 periods used for the PFRS and the GRS are matters that
 24 were voted on by the Detroit city council?
 25 A. I don't know how the board comes to decide on its

Page 68

1 policies.
 2 Q. And the board you're talking about here is the board
 3 that -- of the systems, the respective systems --
 4 withdrawn.
 5 And when you say the board, do you mean the 6 board of the GRS, the General Retirement System, or 7 the -- and/or the PFRS?
 8 A. Yes, sir.
 9 Q. So the policy -- withdrawn.
 10 So the amortization period in your view is 11 approved by the board of the respective systems;
 12 correct?
 13 A. That's my understanding.
 14 Q. And if I'm understanding your testimony, you don't --
 15 you do not have an understanding of whether the city
 16 council also weighs in on that amortization period;
 17 correct?
 18 A. Correct, I do not have visibility if there are other
 19 individuals that influence the boards' decisions as to 20 policies.
 21 MR. RUEGGER: All right. It's noon so I
 22 would like to go off the record and discuss the 23 process for a second.
 24 (Discussion held off the record.)
 25 MR. RUEGGER: Back on the record. Off the

Page 69

1 record we just discussed how counsel is trying to
2 allocate various time, shared time with Mr. Moore and
3 with Mr. Moore's consent, we're going to let 4 Ms. Levine ask questions now. I am not done, but 5 we're hopeful after Ms. Levine and Mr. Ciantra and 6 whoever else wants to ask questions that we can get 7 back to my questions and not take too much time from 8 Mr. Moore and Evan.
9 MR. MILLER: And that's acceptable to us
10 and the deponent.
11 EXAMINATION
12 BY MS. LEVINE:
13 Q. Good afternoon. Sharon Levine, Lowenstein Sandler,
14 for AFSCME. Thank you for appearing today.
15 A. Thank you.
16 Q. In preparation for today's deposition did you speak to 17 anyone at the -- about the City's Chapter 9 case or 18 your declaration?
19 A. Yes.
20 Q. And with whom did you speak?
21 A. I spoke with Mr. Miller.
22 Q. Anybody else?
23 A. No.
24 Q. Did you speak with Mr. Orr?
25 A. No.

Page 70

1 Q. Did you speak with any city or State employees?
2 A. No.
3 Q. And when did you speak with Mr. Miller?
4 A. On Monday and I also spoke with him yesterday.
5 Q. When you spoke on Monday, what did you discuss?
6 MR. MILLER: Objection. And Sharon, let's
7 see how we can parse this in a way that doesn't reveal
8 confidential attorney-client communications. How
9 about if the question is rephrased so that Mr. Moore
10 generally addresses the topics that were discussed.
11 MS. LEVINE: We can get to that, but first
12 instance is -- let's go -- let's try this first.
13 Q. By whom were you retained?
14 A. City of Detroit. And I assume when you say you,
15 you're referring to Conway MacKenzie?
16 Q. Conway MacKenzie. By whom is Conway MacKenzie
17 retained?
18 A. The City of Detroit in this matter.
19 (Marked Exhibit No. 4.)
20 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 4 for 21 identification. Do you recognize that email?
22 MR. MILLER: Is this your only copy?
23 MS. LEVINE: Apologize. Well, I don't have 24 a lot, but a couple.
25 Q. Have you seen it?

Page 71

1 MR. MILLER: What is -- I don't believe
2 there was a question pending.
3 Q. No, there wasn't, I'm just asking. Have you seen this
4 email before today?
5 A. I am on this email so it certainly appears that I
6 would have seen it.
7 Q. But judging by the nature of your answer, you don't
8 have an independent recollection; correct?
9 A. Correct.
10 Q. Mr. Baird is copied in the -- Mr. Baird is referenced 11 in the email change; correct?
12 A. Mr. Baird?
13 Q. Yeah, Mr. Baird.
14 A. At the bottom I see that there is a --
15 Q. You realize on the transcript it's going to be tomato
16 tomato?
17 A. Oh, I see, it's on the back as well. So yes, I do see
18 that.
19 Q. Okay, Mr. Baird is in the governor's office; correct?
20 A. That's my understanding, yes.
21 Q. Did you discuss your retention in this matter with 22 anyone in the governor's office?
23 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
24 A. At which time, Ms. Levine?
25 Q. In or about May of 2012.

Page 72

1 A. Our interest in being retained in the case, yes.
2 (Marked Exhibit No. 5.)
3 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 5 for
4 identification. Do you recognize this email?
5 MR. MILLER: There's more than one email.
6 Q. Do you recognize -- well, actually it's one email with
7 forwards. Do you recognize the email chain on Moore
8 5?
9 A. Yes, ma'am.
10 Q. Were you continuing to discuss the possibility of 11 Conway MacKenzie's retention by the City with
12 Mr. Baird?
13 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
14 A. Exhibit 4 and Exhibit 5 appear to be the same thing,
15 at least from the standpoint of the original email
16 exchange.
17 Q. Okay, so you were having conversations with Mr. Baird
18 in or about May of 2012 with regard to your engagement
19 -- with regard to you, meaning Conway MacKenzie's
20 engagement by the City?
21 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
22 A. Yes. As I had stated earlier, and it appears these 23 emails all were on May 21st, that we were discussing 24 our interest in having a role with the City of
25 Detroit.

Page 73

1 Q. Were there conversations that involved you, anybody
2 from the -- somebody from the State and somebody from
3 the City in or about that same time frame with regard
4 to Conway MacKenzie's engagement by the City?
5 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
6 A. You're referring to at the same time?
7 Q. Yes.
8 A. Not that I can recall.
9 Q. Were you having separate conversations with Mayor Bing
10 or anybody else on behalf of the City with regard to 11 your engagement in or about the May/June time frame
12 2012?
13 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
14 A. In around May I don't think so. As I had indicated in 15 previous questioning, my partner, Van Conway, had 16 spoken to Mr. Bing -- or Mayor Bing, but that would 17 have been before the financial stability agreement and 18 my next interaction with the City would have been
19 after Kriss Andrews was identified as the program
20 management director, which wasn't until, if I recall
21 correctly, June of 2012.
22 (Marked Exhibit No. 6.)
23 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 6 for 24 identification. Mr. Ciantra made a fair request. The 25 document number is DTMI00078512.

1 Do you recognize this email?
2 A. No, I don't.
3 Q. Okay. There's a discussion in this email of two or
4 three firms providing financial restructuring services
5 to the City. In or about December of 2012 was 6 Conway MacKenzie being considered for a role with the
7 City?
8 MR. MILLER: Well -- are you finished with
9 your question? I'm sorry.
10 MS. LEVINE: There was -- that was the end
11 of the question.
12 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
13 A. Ms. Levine, if you can just give me a minute to review
14 the email.
15 Ms. Levine, can you repeat your question?
16 Q. Let me do it a different way.
17 There's a -- were you being considered for 18 the role of restructuring advisor to the City?
19 A. In December of 2012?
20 Q. Yes.
21 A. That's my understanding, yes.
22 Q. Were you also being considered for the role of 23 operational advisor?
24 A. If I recall correctly, the RFP that went out was just 25 for restructuring advisory services. There was not a

Page 75

1 specification for operational at that point.
2 Q. What's the reference in the second sentence then?
3 Conway MacKenzie prefers a role as restructuring
4 advisor but will consider a role as operating advisor
5 if asked.
6 MR. MILLER: I'm sorry, in connection
7 with --
8 MS. LEVINE: Page 3 of Moore --
9 MR. RUEGGER: Six?
10 MS. LEVINE: Six.
11 A. The --
12 MR. MILLER: Wait. Can you repeat the
13 question?
14 (Record read back as requested.)
15 A. As I mentioned, Ms. Levine, the RFP that went out in 16 November was just for restructuring advisor and there
17 was a scope of services associated with that. At some 18 point subsequent to that we were approached about 19 having a specific role on the operational side, which 20 as Mr. Andrews apparently wrote here we indicated that 21 we would consider that role.
22 Q. What were the scope of services to be provided by the 23 restructuring advisor to the City according to the RFP
24 you just referenced?
25 A. I don't recall offhand.

Page 76

1 Q. Generally what are the scope of services or what's
2 your understanding of the scope of services a firm
3 like Conway MacKenzie would perform as a restructuring
4 advisor?
5 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
6 A. Rather than speculate on what was in that RFP --
7 Q. No, I changed the question. What's your understanding
8 of what a firm like yours, what would be the scope of 9 services you would perform as a restructuring advisor?
10 A. You're asking me in general if a company or a
11 governmental entity is asking for restructuring
12 advisory services, what --
13 Q. Conway MacKenzie prefers a role as restructuring
14 advisor. I'm asking you what's your understanding of 15 the services a firm like Conway MacKenzie would 16 perform in the role of restructuring advisor?
17 A. Ms. Levine, you're asking a question that is somewhat
18 vague and so I'm just trying to clarify. My -- and 19 what I want to understand is are you asking about the
20 services --
21 Q. Let me ask it a different --
22 A. -- the services --
23 MR. MILLER: No, let him finish.
24 A. Are you asking about the services that we would 25 provide in this situation or in any situation?

Page 77

1 Q. Let me ask it a different way.
 2 Are the services provided by a
 3 restructuring -- is it your understanding that the 4 services that are provided by a restructuring advisor
 5 are broader in scope and greater than the services
 6 that would be provided as an operational advisor?
 7 A. I don't know if I have an opinion on that. Those are 8 two different terms. These are not defined terms.
 9 Q. Why -- what's your understanding of why
 10 Conway MacKenzie would prefer the role of 11 restructuring advisor over the role of operational
 12 advisor?
 13 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 14 A. As it was presented to us in this specific situation,
 15 the operational role was slightly more narrow in scope
 16 than what was contained in the overall restructuring
 17 advisor RFP. The City ended up selecting multiple 18 firms and parsing out the different responsibilities.
 19 Q. So but at this point in time it was your understanding
 20 that the restructuring advisor role was basically a
 21 bigger, more broad role than the role that the City
 22 was then contemplating for the operational advisor?
 23 A. The services that were listed in the RFP --
 24 Q. It's a yes or no question.
 25 MS. LEVINE: Can you read back my question,

Page 78

1 please?
 2 (Record read back as requested.)
 3 A. Ms. Levine, the reason why I can't answer it as a yes
 4 or no is because you're referring to a specific role
 5 and what I'm trying to clarify is that in the RFP
 6 there was a scope of services, restructuring services,
 7 that were being asked for. The operational advisor
 8 was to address a specific part of those scope of 9 services.
 10 Q. We'll try again.
 11 Conway MacKenzie prefers a role as
 12 restructuring advisor but will consider a role as 13 operating advisor if asked. What's your understanding
 14 of why Conway MacKenzie prefers the role of 15 restructuring advisor over the role of operational
 16 advisor?
 17 A. It was our understanding when the RFP went out that 18 the City would be selecting one firm to provide those 19 services. As time went on, the City considered and 20 eventually did assign those responsibilities to 21 multiple firms.
 22 Q. So the restructuring advisory role at that time it was 23 your understanding was going to be a bigger role?
 24 A. The restructuring advisor role is not a defined role.
 25 The scope of services that was in the RFP was greater

Page 79

1 than what our scope ended up being as operational
 2 advisor.
 3 MS. LEVINE: Let me try it a different way.
 4 Q. Was it your understanding back -- at the point in time
 5 that Conway MacKenzie was indicating it preferred a
 6 role as restructuring advisor but would consider a
 7 role as operational advisor, was it your understanding
 8 that the restructuring advisor role if given to just 9 one firm would have been a more lucrative engagement?
 10 A. How do you define lucrative?
 11 Q. Would your firm have earned more fees as restructuring
 12 advisor as originally -- as you understood it -- as 13 you understood -- let me start again.
 14 Would your firm have earned more fees in 15 the role of restructuring advisor as you understood it
 16 in December of 2012 than as you've understood the role
 17 of operational advisor at that time?
 18 A. That's unclear to me.
 19 Q. When you say the role of restructuring advisor was a
 20 bigger role or was a -- had you indicated the role of 21 restructuring advisor was a broader role and a role
 22 that was then split up among other firms and you were 23 interested in the role when you thought it was going
 24 to be just one firm, did you believe that that role
 25 was going to be requiring more services than the role

Page 80

1 of operational advisor?
 2 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 3 A. Ms. Levine, you keep using the word role and I keep
 4 going back to there was not a restructuring advisor
 5 role. There was an RFP that went out in November
 6 which contained a number of potential services and the 7 role, the operational advisor role that we ended up
 8 getting engaged for, was a subset of the services.
 9 There was no guaranty though that the firm -- that the 10 City was going to engage one firm for all those 11 services. Those services were potential services.
 12 Q. I'll try again. Conway MacKenzie prefers a role as
 13 restructuring advisor but will consider a role as 14 operational advisor. What's your understanding of 15 what that sentence means?
 16 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 17 A. If you have two options, on the one hand it is a
 18 broader scope of services versus a more narrow scope
 19 of services, then our understanding, if there was 20 going to be one firm with that, there would be a
 21 broader scope of services than if it was parsed out
 22 into individual firms.
 23 Q. Okay.
 24 MS. LEVINE: Hungry?
 25 THE WITNESS: Not yet.

Page 81

1 (Marked Exhibit No. 7.)
2 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked as Moore 7.
3 This is an email dated December 19th, 2012
4 between you and Van Conway. Do you see that?
5 A. Yes, ma'am.
6 Q. There's an email chain, which has another email
7 attached. Is that correct?
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. Is this -- who is -- who's Van Conway?
10 A. Van Conway is a partner of mine and cofounder of the 11 firm, Conway MacKenzie.
12 Q. And who -- and what did you enclose in this email?
13 A. The email from Van to me?
14 Q. No, what did you enclose in -- sorry, it attaches an 15 email from you to Kriss Andrews; correct?
16 A. Yes.
17 Q. What did you enclose in the email?
18 A. Well, it says, here attached is a draft Exhibit A
19 containing the proposed scope of services for 20 Conway MacKenzie as part of its contract with the City
21 of Detroit, so I'm assuming that I attached a draft
22 Exhibit A.
23 Q. Do you recall what the scope of services you were 24 proposing as an attachment to this email?
25 A. I don't.

Page 82

1 Q. Did you understand what you meant by the word scope in
2 that email?
3 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
4 A. Can you please clarify your question?
5 Q. Well, were you responding to the RFP in the email or 6 is there a separate understanding of what you meant by 7 scope of services?
8 A. The RFP response that was submitted by our firm was 9 back in November and so this is a specific scope of 10 services related to our potential contract.
11 (Marked Exhibit No. 8.)
12 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 8 for 13 identification.
14 MR. MILLER: Do you have another copy?
15 MS. LEVINE: Yes, it's right here. Sorry.
16 MR. MILLER: Thank you.
17 Q. DTMI00079527.
18 Do you recognize that email?
19 A. Looks like an email from me to Kriss Andrews.
20 Q. And what's enclosed and does it reference an 21 enclosure?
22 A. It references a draft Exhibit A containing the 23 proposed scope of services for Conway MacKenzie.
24 Q. Okay, do you recall what the scope of services were
25 that you included in that draft Exhibit A?

Page 83

1 A. No, I don't.
2 Q. Was it for restructuring advisors?
3 A. I don't recall.
4 (Marked Exhibit No. 9.)
5 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 9 for
6 identification. DTMI00079526.
7 Do you recognize this email?
8 A. No, I don't.
9 Q. Okay, it appears to be an email from Kriss Andrews to 10 Mr. Baird attaching a scope of work from 11 Conway MacKenzie, also dated December 2012?
12 A. I -- I understand that, yes.
13 Q. Is that -- does that refresh your recollection as to 14 whether or not you saw the email?
15 A. No, Ms. Levine, I'm not on this email. I don't recall
16 receiving this email.
17 Q. Okay. The email references the need to get a contract
18 on the council agenda for the 8th. Is that for
19 January 8th?
20 A. I would assume so, since that is when council actually
21 took up our contract.
22 Q. Did you have any conversations with Mr. Baird with 23 regard to getting retained and in connection with -- 24 in regard to getting retained in or about this time
25 frame?

Page 84

1 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
2 A. I believe I did, yes.
3 Q. And did you also have conversations with Kriss
4 Andrews?
5 A. Yes.
6 Q. Did you ever conversations with anybody else on behalf
7 of the State in or about this time frame with regard
8 to your engagement?
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. And did you have other conversations with anybody else
11 on behalf of the City with regard to your engagement?
12 A. I don't believe so. I think just Kriss Andrews.
13 Q. And prior to the time of the -- let me put it this 14 way. Is the agenda for the 8th, is that a city
15 council meeting?
16 A. Well, it says council agenda for the 8th and city
17 council took up our proposed contract on January 8th
18 so I'm assuming that that's what he's referring to,
19 but again, I did not write this email.
20 Q. Did you negotiate the proposed terms of your
21 engagement with anybody at the State level?
22 A. Could you be more specific on terms of the contract?
23 Q. No, I didn't -- that wasn't the question. Did you
24 negotiate your proposed terms of engagement with 25 anybody at the State level --

1 MR. MILLER: Object --

2 Q. -- in or about December 2012?

3 A. If you can just be clear on when you say negotiate,

4 what are you referring to?

5 Q. Did you have any discussions with -- okay, we're -- I

6 forgot, negotiate's a big word in this case. Strike

7 that, I'll rephrase it.

8 Did you have any discussions with anybody

9 at the State with regard to the terms of your

10 engagement in or about December of 2012?

11 A. I seem to recall, yes.

12 Q. With whom did you have those discussions?

13 A. Rich Baird and probably Andy Dillon.

14 Q. Anybody else?

15 A. Not that I can recall.

16 Q. Did you have discussions with anybody at the City

17 level with regard to the terms of your engagement in 18 or about December of 2012?

19 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

20 A. As I indicated before, Kriss Andrews.

21 Q. Anybody else?

22 A. Not that I can recall.

23 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

24 Q. Were any of these discussions either with

25 representatives of the State or representatives of the

Page 86

1 City in person?

2 A. I believe so, yes.

3 Q. Who was present in the in person meetings?

4 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

5 MR. CIANTRA: Can you specify, Mr. Miller,

6 what your formal objection is to that question so we

7 can obviate any dispute in the future?

8 MR. MILLER: Yes, it doesn't parse as to

9 whether the in person meetings are with

10 representatives of the State or representatives of the

11 City.

12 MR. CIANTRA: Thank you.

13 Q. Did you have any meetings with either representatives

14 of the State or the City in or about December of 2012

15 with regard to the terms of your -- or the scope of 16 your engagement by the City?

17 A. In person?

18 Q. Yes.

19 A. Yes.

20 Q. How many meetings took place?

21 A. I don't recall.

22 Q. Were there any meetings that took place just with

23 representatives of the State?

24 A. Yes.

25 Q. Do you recall how many of those meetings took place?

Page 87

1 A. Perhaps two.

2 Q. Who was present?

3 A. At one meeting I met with Rich Baird and Darrell Burks

4 was present in his capacity as a member of the

5 financial advisory board and then in another meeting

6 that would have been with Andy Dillon.

7 Q. Was anybody else present at the meeting you were at 8 with Andy Dillon?

9 A. I recall Andy's assistant was in the room and I think

10 Tom Saxton was on the phone.

11 Q. Who's Tom Saxton?

12 A. Tom, as I understand it, works in Andy's area, the 13 treasury department for the State of Michigan.

14 Q. Were there any meetings in or about this same time

15 frame with just representatives of the City?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And how many of those meetings took place?

18 A. I don't recall.

19 Q. More than five?

20 A. Face-to-face meetings, I don't think so.

21 Q. How many -- were there more than five meetings

22 telephone and face-to-face?

23 A. Very possibly. This was -- the RFP -- our response to

24 the RFP went out early in November and this is

25 obviously mid to later December so that's a lot of

1 time to have discussions.

2 Q. Were there any discussions that took place between you

3 in which both the State and City representatives

4 participated?

5 A. The initial meetings that all of the firms -- or at

6 least the firms that the State and the City invited in

7 as a result of the responses to the RFPs were both the

8 City and the State. There was at least one follow-up

9 interview with representatives of both the City and

10 the State, there may have been two follow-up

11 interviews, I can't recall.

12 Q. Were there any telephone conferences where

13 representatives of both the City and the State

14 participated in or about December of 2012?

15 A. I don't recall if there were telephone calls where

16 both the City and the State were on.

17 (Marked Exhibit No. 10.)

18 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 11.

19 Document DTMI00079528.

20 MR. MILLER: There's no Moore 10 that's 21 been introduced.

22 MS. LEVINE: I'm sorry, this is Moore 10

23 and this one, I don't know, I must have gotten ahead

24 of myself.

25 Q. Okay, Exhibit A, scope of services, do you see that

1 document?

2 A. Yes, ma'am.

3 Q. Is this --

4 MR. MILLER: Wait one moment because of the

5 confusion generated by the identification of this

6 document, let's specifically identify it as

7 DTMI00079528 through 530.

8 Q. Do you see that document in front of you? It's

9 Exhibit A, scope of services?

10 A. Yes, ma'am.

11 Q. Does this -- is this the Exhibit A that was attached

12 to the emails we were just discussing?

13 A. I have no idea.

14 MR. MILLER: Wait.

15 Q. Okay. Do you recall providing this document to the 16 State and the City in or about December of 2012?

17 A. I don't recall.

18 Q. I want to show you the first paragraph where it says,

19 the terms of this contract shall begin on January 9,

20 2013 and shall terminate on December 31, 2013.

21 Did you respond to an RFP for the City to

22 provide services during that time frame?

23 A. Yes, ma'am.

24 Q. Did you provide -- did you provide -- respond to an

25 RFP to provide services as the chief restructuring

Page 90

1 officer for the City of Detroit?

2 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

3 Q. During that time frame?

4 A. Chief restructuring officer?

5 Q. Sorry, chief restructuring advisor.

6 A. I don't recall if the RFP asked specifically for that.

7 Q. Well, the document that we're looking at says, the

8 services to be performed, the contractor will serve as

9 chief restructuring advisor to the City of Detroit.

10 In its capacity as CRA, contractor will be the lead

11 restructuring agent for the City of Detroit and will

12 coordinate activities of the various City of Detroit

13 advisors.

14 Does that refresh your recollection?

15 A. Ms. Levine, this is a document that could have been

16 drafted by Conway MacKenzie, it could have been

17 drafted by the City of Detroit, I'm not sure. What

18 does appear to me, though, is based on what you just

19 read this is not the scope of services that wound up

20 in the final contract.

21 (Marked Exhibit No. 11.)

22 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 11.

23 Document number DTMI00078909. Do you recognize this

24 document?

25 A. This appears to be the final contract that was entered

Page 91

1 into between Conway MacKenzie and the City of Detroit.

2 Q. Did you participate in the negotiation of this final

3 contract?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. Did you review this final contract before it was

6 executed?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Did you sign-off on the terms of this contract before

9 it was executed?

10 A. Yes.

11 Q. On the page marked DTMI00078925, it appears to be a

12 January 7, 2013 letter, which is part of -- is it your

13 understanding that this letter is part of the 14 contract?

15 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

16 A. Ms. Levine, I would just point out that that appears

17 to me to be a bit of a legal question as to whether

18 this is part of a contract and I don't know if I'm

19 able to answer that question.

20 Q. Okay. Is it your understanding that the City is

21 responsible for half of your fees and the State is

22 responsible for half of your fees?

23 A. That is my understanding, yes.

24 Q. How did you -- how did that agreement come into being

25 if you're -- and well, let me do it a different way.

Page 92

1 Are you engaged by the City?

2 A. Yes, ma'am.

3 Q. How did it come to pass that the State pays for half

4 of your fees?

5 A. I don't know if I actually can respond to that. When

6 the City decided to issue an RFP for restructuring

7 services, it had been indicated, at least I read

8 through public reports, that the State was going to

9 pay for half of that.

10 Q. Is it your understanding that the City is your client?

11 A. Yes, ma'am.

12 MR. MILLER: Wait, object to form.

13 MS. LEVINE: What's the objection to the 14 form?

15 MR. MILLER: Among other things it calls

16 for a legal conclusion.

17 MS. LEVINE: I'm asking him his

18 understanding.

19 Q. Is it your understanding that the City is your client?

20 MR. MILLER: Go ahead.

21 A. Yes.

22 Q. Who did you -- upon you -- upon becoming engaged

23 initially, to whom did you report on behalf of the

24 City?

25 A. I reported primarily to Kriss Andrews. I interacted

Page 93

1 with Jack Martin a fair amount, but Kriss Andrews was
2 my primary point of contact.
3 Q. Did you also report immediately upon being engaged to 4 anybody at the State?
5 A. Can you refer to or define what you mean by report to?
6 Q. Did you have conversations with people at the State
7 after being engaged by the City without the City on
8 the phone?
9 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
10 MS. LEVINE: What's the objection?
11 MR. MILLER: It doesn't indicate whether
12 the conversations are in connection with the contract
13 or what the conversations are in connection with.
14 Q. Immediately after becoming engaged by the City -- you
15 were engaged in or about January what?
16 A. 9th, I believe.
17 Q. Okay. From the period of January 9th through July
18 18th, did there come -- did you have any conversations
19 with anybody at the City at which the State -- sorry,
20 with anybody at the State at which the City was not on 21 the phone with regard to the Detroit situation?
22 Anything with regard to the Detroit situation?
23 A. I'm sure that I did.
24 Q. Did there come a point in time where you had 25 conversations with people at the State at which the

Page 94

1 City was not on the phone with regard to filing
2 Detroit's Chapter 9 petition?
3 A. Not that I --
4 MR. MILLER: Let me just pay attention to
5 this question. Go ahead. No objection.
6 A. Could you now repeat the question?
7 MS. LEVINE: Can you repeat the question?
8 (Record read back as requested.)
9 A. Not that I can recall.
10 Q. Did you have any -- did you attend any meetings with 11 representatives of the State at which the City wasn't
12 present with regard to Detroit's filing its Chapter 9
13 petition?
14 A. No, ma'am.
15 Q. Okay. So now going back. We discussed earlier and 16 got sidetracked with regard to the conversation you
17 had with Mr. Miller with regard to preparing for 18 today's deposition. Are you -- according to this
19 contract you're engaged by the City; correct?
20 A. Yes, ma'am.
21 Q. Is that engagement contract with the City or is that
22 engagement contract with Jones Day?
23 A. It's with the City.
24 Q. What did you discuss with Mr. Miller to prepare for 25 today's deposition at the two meetings you previously

Page 95

1 identified yesterday and the day before?
2 MR. MILLER: Objection, and I'm going to
3 instruct the witness not to respond.
4 MS. LEVINE: Lunchtime.
5 (Luncheon recess between
6 12:55 p.m. and 1:30 p.m.)
7 MS. LEVINE: Mr. Moore, before we go onto
8 another topic I just want to clarify. Your counsel
9 directed you not to answer just prior to the lunch
10 break. Are you asserting the attorney-client
11 privilege?
12 MR. MILLER: Yes, Mr. Moore has consented
13 to having Jones Day represent him in connection with 14 this deposition and if I recall, you, AFSCME, have 15 consented to have the City put Mr. Moore forward as a
16 representative of the City in connection with the 17 30(b)(6) deposition. So yes, we represent Mr. Moore
18 in connection with this deposition and I am
19 instructing him not to answer the question on the 20 grounds of attorney-client privilege.
21 MS. LEVINE: And just to clarify so you're 22 not representing Conway MacKenzie, you're representing 23 Mr. Moore in his capacity as the 30(b)(6) witness for 24 the City --
25 MR. MILLER: In --

Page 96

1 MS. LEVINE: -- on behalf of the City?
2 MR. MILLER: In his capacity as a 30(b)(6)
3 witness and in his capacity as a subpoenaed person in 4 connection with the independent subpoena, he has
5 agreed to have us represent him.
6 MS. LEVINE: What do you mean by to have us
7 represent him? Is that Jones Day representing him
8 individually, representing Conway MacKenzie?
9 MR. MILLER: We're not representing
10 Conway MacKenzie. That's not -- well, let me take a 11 break and speak to my client about that.
12 MS. LEVINE: Okay.
13 (A brief recess was taken.)
14 MR. MILLER: Back on the record.
15 Let me clarify for the record that 16 Jones Day does not represent Conway MacKenzie, we are 17 representing Mr. Moore as a witness in this
18 deposition.
19 BY MS. LEVINE:
20 Q. Moving on. You testified previously I believe that 21 you testified twice as an expert -- in two cases as an
22 expert witness. One with regard to GM and one with 23 regard to the casino downtown, the Greektown Casino;
24 is that correct?
25 A. Yes, ma'am.

Page 97

1 Q. Have you testified in court as an expert witness other
2 than in connection with those two cases?
3 MR. MILLER: Object to form. Asked and
4 answered.
5 MS. LEVINE: I'm not -- I wanted to
6 streamline and not go over again what he went through.
7 A. I don't believe so.
8 Q. Okay. What was the court where GM was pending?
9 A. I believe that was a Federal District Court, Eastern
10 District of Michigan.
11 Q. Okay. And where -- and were you qualified by the 12 judge? Were you found to be an expert? In other
13 words, was there a specific finding that you qualified
14 as an expert?
15 A. I don't know.
16 Q. Do you -- okay. What were you offered to testify
17 about?
18 A. The automotive industry and supplier relations.
19 Q. But you don't recall whether or not the judge
20 specifically found you to be an expert in those two 21 areas?
22 A. I don't know.
23 MR. MILLER: Well, object to form.
24 A. From the standpoint of I certainly was not involved in 25 every hearing that would have gone on. I don't

Page 98

1 know --
2 Q. No, no. Sometimes when an expert takes the stand,
3 first you do voir dire and then he starts to testify
4 and in between asking about your background and CV and
5 starting the substantive testimony the judge will say
6 I qualify you as an expert or no I don't qualify you
7 as an expert. What I'm trying to understand is in
8 those two cases did the judge qualify you as an expert
9 and if so in what categories?
10 A. Yes, I understand that process exactly. As I
11 indicated before, the GM case settled before I had to 12 testify.
13 Q. Okay.
14 A. So I was deposed in that case.
15 Q. Okay, so you were deposed but you didn't have to take
16 the stand in court?
17 A. Yes, ma'am.
18 Q. Okay, good.
19 In regard to Greektown did you have to take 20 the stand in the courthouse?
21 A. Yes, ma'am.
22 Q. And did the judge in that case qualify you as an
23 expert?
24 A. Yes, ma'am.
25 Q. And this what area did the judge qualify you as an

Page 99

1 expert?
2 A. As it relates to the restructuring -- bankruptcy
3 restructuring of Greektown.
4 Q. And the -- were you qualified as an expert in relation
5 to pensions?
6 A. Pensions were not an issue with Greektown.
7 Q. Were you qualified as an expert with regard to 8 actuarial findings?
9 A. Actuarial findings were not an issue in Greektown.
10 Q. So for both of those questions then the answer is no?
11 A. Correct.
12 Q. Did you have any role in the hiring of Kevyn Orr as 13 the Emergency Manager or the Emergency Financial 14 Manager for the City of Detroit?
15 A. No, ma'am.
16 Q. Did Conway MacKenzie have any role in the hiring of 17 Kevyn Orr in either of those two capacities?
18 A. No, ma'am.
19 Q. Did you have any role in the financial review team?
20 A. No, ma'am.
21 Q. Did Conway MacKenzie have any role in the financial 22 review team?
23 A. No.
24 Q. From -- when was the first time you had a conversation
25 with anybody with the City with regard to Detroit

Page 100

1 filing for Chapter 9 protection?
2 A. Can you just clarify that just the -- whether that was
3 a possibility or --
4 Q. I want to know the first time the word Chapter 9 came
5 up in discussions with regard to the City of Detroit.
6 Possibility, options, alternatives, any context.
7 MR. MILLER: But the conversation is with
8 somebody in the City?
9 MS. LEVINE: Yes.
10 A. I don't recall specifically.
11 Q. Do you recall if it was before the end of 2012?
12 A. I don't recall.
13 Q. When was the first time you had a conversation with 14 anybody from the State or on behalf of the State with 15 regard to the potential for Detroit filing for Chapter
16 9 bankruptcy protection?
17 A. I don't recall.
18 Q. Did those conversations come up during the interview
19 process with the State and Conway MacKenzie?
20 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
21 A. I don't recall.
22 Q. So when you interviewed with the State for your role
23 with the City, you don't recall having discussions
24 with regard to Chapter 9 as an alternative?
25 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

Page 101

1 A. To go back to how I had answered before, there were at 2 least two if not three interview sessions and those
 3 were jointly held with City and State representatives.
 4 I can't recall at this point whether Chapter 9 was
 5 discussed during those meetings or not.
 6 Q. What's the first conversation you recall having with 7 anybody from the City or the State with regard to the
 8 possibility of Detroit filing for Chapter 9
 9 protection?
 10 A. I don't recall what the -- I guess around the time
 11 that the creditor plan was being discussed, certainly 12 the potential for a Chapter 9 filing had been 13 discussed and that was communicated publicly by 14 Mr. Orr, so I certainly recall that, but nothing
 15 really before that.
 16 Q. And when you use the word creditor plan, are you
 17 referring to the June 14 creditor proposal?
 18 A. Yes, ma'am.
 19 Q. Between June 14 and January 17, that's the -- sorry,
 20 June 14 and July 17, that's the time period we're 21 talking about, did you have any conversations with 22 anybody at the State with regard to Detroit filing for 23 Chapter 9 protection?
 24 A. I don't believe I did.
 25 Q. Between June 14 and July 17, did you have any

Page 102

1 conversations with anybody at the City with regard to
 2 Detroit filing for Chapter 9 protection?
 3 A. Yes.
 4 Q. During that time period did you have any conversations
 5 with representatives of the City at which the State
 6 were present -- at which representatives of the State
 7 were present with regard to Detroit filing for Chapter
 8 9 bankruptcy protection?
 9 A. I don't recall.
 10 Q. Between June 14 and July 17, what was the first
 11 conversation that you had with anybody from the City
 12 with regard to filing for Chapter 9 bankruptcy
 13 protection on July 19?
 14 MR. MILLER: Mr. Moore, in connection with 15 that question be careful to consider not revealing
 16 attorney-client communications to the extent that 17 those conversations may have included attorneys.
 18 MS. LEVINE: Wait, let's clarify that for a
 19 second. How is it that if he's present there's an 20 attorney-client privilege if he did not sign an
 21 engagement letter with Jones Day but signed it
 22 directly with the City and the State?
 23 MR. MILLER: He's the -- he and
 24 Conway MacKenzie are the City's professional advisors
 25 and Jones Day is taking the position that the

Page 103

1 attorney-client privilege attaches to meetings in
 2 which Jones Day attorneys were providing advice to the 3 City at which Conway MacKenzie personnel were present.
 4 And I will instruct him not to answer.
 5 MS. LEVINE: Can you read back my question?
 6 (Record read back as requested.)
 7 MS. LEVINE: Actually let me rephrase that
 8 so we can parse the attorney-client privilege
 9 assertion.
 10 Q. The first thing I'm going to ask you is when the 11 conversations took place, then I'm going to ask you
 12 who participated in the conversations, and then I'm 13 going to ask you what was discussed; okay? So we'll 14 -- we can get two of the three and perhaps three out
 15 of the three.
 16 MR. MILLER: Unlikely.
 17 Q. So with regard to this line of questioning, between 18 July -- June 14 and July -- what was the filing date?
 19 The 18th or 19th?
 20 MR. RUEGGER: The 18th.
 21 Q. And July 18th, when was the first conversation you had 22 with representatives -- when was the first
 23 conversation you had with representatives of the City
 24 with regard to Detroit's Chapter 9 bankruptcy filing?
 25 A. I can only recall one conversation during that time

Page 104

1 period.
 2 Q. And what was the date?
 3 A. I don't know the date.
 4 Q. Was it in June or was it in July?
 5 A. I honestly don't know.
 6 Q. Do you recall who participated -- wait, who
 7 participated in that conversation?
 8 A. The conversation which I'm recalling was with Sonya
 9 Mays.
 10 Q. What's her title?
 11 A. She is -- I believe her title is strategic advisor to 12 Kevyn Orr.
 13 Q. And what was -- were there lawyers present during that 14 conversation?
 15 A. No.
 16 Q. What did you and she discuss?
 17 A. She had asked me what I thought the potential was that 18 the City was going to have to file.
 19 Q. And what was your answer?
 20 A. I think I said I don't know and I gave a few reasons
 21 why the City may not have to and a few reasons why the 22 City may have to.
 23 Q. During the period of June 14 through July 17, was 24 Conway MacKenzie at all involved in preparing the 25 filings for the July 18th Chapter 9 filing?

Page 105

1 A. Can you define filings?
2 Q. Pleadings that were filed on the docket in connection
3 with the Chapter 9 filing including, for example, your
4 declaration.
5 A. Only one and that is my declaration.
6 Q. And what was the -- what was the date of the first
7 meeting you had -- actually let me say this
8 differently.
9 What was the date of the first discussion
10 you had with regard to preparing that declaration?
11 A. I don't recall.
12 Q. Was it in June?
13 A. I don't believe so.
14 Q. Was it in July?
15 A. I would assume so, yes.
16 Q. Was it before the actual filing occurred?
17 A. Yes.
18 Q. Was it a week before the actual filing occurred?
19 A. It may have been, I don't recall.
20 Q. Was it more than ten days before the actual filing
21 occurred?
22 A. It may have been.
23 Q. Was it before or after the July 4th weekend?
24 MR. MILLER: If you recall.
25 A. I don't recall.

Page 106

1 MS. LEVINE: Let's not coach the witness.
2 Q. Did you receive -- after having the initial
3 conversation -- was that initial conversation with
4 Jones Day?
5 A. Yes, ma'am.
6 Q. Did you receive a draft of your declaration to review?
7 MR. MILLER: You can answer that question.
8 A. At some point I received a draft, but I recall having 9 an initial conversation first with an attorney from 10 Jones Day laying out a number of the key issues
11 relating to pensions.
12 Q. When was that conversation?
13 A. I don't recall.
14 Q. Who participated in it?
15 A. An attorney from Jones Day.
16 Q. Do you recall the name of the attorney?
17 A. I actually don't at this point.
18 Q. Was anybody else on the phone with you from Conway?
19 A. No, ma'am.
20 Q. Was anybody else on the phone with you from the City?
21 A. No.
22 Q. Was anybody else on the phone with you?
23 A. Just the attorney from Jones Day.
24 Q. Did that conversation take place after the July 4th
25 weekend?

Page 107

1 A. I don't recall.
2 Q. How long before you had this initial conversation were
3 you provided with a first draft of your declaration?
4 A. I don't recall how long.
5 Q. Was it more than a week?
6 A. I don't recall.
7 Q. Was it more than two weeks?
8 A. I don't recall.
9 Q. Did you read -- did you have your declaration -- did
10 you review your declaration over the July 4th weekend?
11 A. I don't recall.
12 Q. Did you have the declaration as of the July 4th
13 weekend?
14 A. I don't recall.
15 MR. MILLER: Wait. Objection. Object to 16 form. Asked and answered.
17 Q. When did you sign your declaration?
18 A. I can't recall if it was July 17th or 18th.
19 Q. And how many drafts did it go through before you
20 actually signed it?
21 A. I don't recall that.
22 Q. More than one?
23 A. Yes.
24 Q. More than three?
25 A. Could have been.

Page 108

1 Q. More than five?
2 A. I don't know.
3 Q. No or you don't know?
4 A. I don't know.
5 Q. More than ten?
6 MR. MILLER: Objection, asked and answered.
7 MS. LEVINE: No, it's not. It's absolutely
8 not and when he -- and it's almost, to be honest,
9 inconceivable that he has no recollection of whether 10 it took a day, two days or a month to prepare the 11 declaration or when he first learned of the bankruptcy
12 filing.
13 MR. MILLER: That mischaracterizes his 14 testimony. We can go over his testimony, if you would 15 like.
16 MS. LEVINE: We will after we finish it.
17 Can you read back my question, please?
18 (Record read back as requested.)
19 THE WITNESS: Could you go back? More than 20 ten what?
21 (Record read back as requested.)
22 A. I don't think it would be more than ten.
23 Q. Prior to the time that Detroit filed for Chapter 9
24 protection, did you become aware of the Flowers
25 litigation?

1 A. Could you be more specific on Flowers litigation?

2 Q. Have you heard the term the Flowers litigation before?

3 A. Ms. Levine, I come across so much on a day-to-day

4 basis. I need something more to spur my memory to 5 know whether I've heard of it or not.

6 Q. Does the name Webster litigation mean anything to you?

7 A. Again, if you could please provide a little bit more

8 detail, I can tell you if I've heard of it or not.

9 Q. What's your understanding of the reason why Detroit

10 determined to file for Chapter 9 protection on July 18

11 as opposed to some other day?

12 A. I don't have an under --

13 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

14 A. I don't have an understanding. I was not involved in 15 that decision.

16 Q. So after you -- so when you first learned that you

17 were going to do a declaration, was it your

18 understanding that Detroit had already made the 19 decision to file in July?

20 A. No.

21 Q. When you first started working on your declaration,

22 was it in anticipation of a specific filing date?

23 A. No. Just add too I've had a number of clients where I

24 have prepared something -- a pleading for a potential

25 bankruptcy filing that has never happened.

Page 110

1 Q. Were you aware of any litigation pending just prior to

2 the Chapter 9 filing with regard to the question of

3 authorization for the City to actually file a Chapter

4 9 petition?

5 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

6 A. I am generally aware --

7 MS. LEVINE: Wait, what's the form

8 objection?

9 MR. MILLER: Vague and ambiguous with

10 respect to the question of authorization for the City

11 to actually file a Chapter 9 petition and foundation.

12 Q. Prior to the time of the bankruptcy filing were you

13 aware that there was litigation pending challenging

14 the authorization for the City to file for Chapter 9

15 protection?

16 A. I am generally aware of litigation filed in a state

17 court where I believe that that was one of the 18 elements of the litigation.

19 Q. When did you first become aware of that state court

20 litigation?

21 A. Sometime within the week before the actual filing

22 perhaps.

23 Q. Did you -- had you prepared your declaration before or

24 after you became aware of that state court litigation?

25 A. Because I can't recall specifically when I started

Page 111

1 working on my declaration, I don't know.

2 Q. Did you begin preparing your declaration at or about

3 the same time you became aware of the state court

4 litigation?

5 A. I don't know.

6 Q. Was it months before you became aware of the state

7 court litigation?

8 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

9 A. Ms. Levine, I think I've already answered that I don't

10 believe that there was anything done preparation wise

11 on my declaration in the month of June.

12 Q. Okay.

13 Were you involved in any restructuring

14 initiatives in or about February of 2013 with regard

15 to the removal of blighted homes in the City of

16 Detroit?

17 A. Was I specifically involved or was Conway MacKenzie

18 involved?

19 Q. Well, starting with you and then we're going to ask

20 about Conway MacKenzie.

21 A. Blight has been an area of focus that our firm has had

22 and I have been involved in some of those activities.

23 Q. Were you point on the issue with regard to the 24 blighted homes?

25 A. Generally speaking there was another individual on the

Page 112

1 team that I delegated some items to.

2 Q. And with -- and on the other side of that, who was the

3 point person for the State on that issue?

4 MR. MILLER: Objection to form, foundation.

5 Q. Did you contact -- were you in contact with the State

6 with regard to this issue?

7 A. There have been numerous people at the State with whom

8 blight has been discussed.

9 Q. Do you recall who was the point person for that

10 initiative?

11 A. From the State?

12 Q. Yes.

13 A. I don't know if the State actually has a point person

14 for blight. There is the Michigan -- Michigan State

15 Housing Development Agency or Authority, MSHDA, that

16 is involved with some of these activities. Treasury

17 department has had some involvement. The department

18 that Moore Corrigan heads up, which I can't recall the 19 name of it right now, has been involved.

20 (Marked Exhibit No. 12.)

21 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 12 for

22 identification. It's an email chain but the second

23 email has three CCs with Michigan email addresses and

24 I was just wondering if you recognize those names and

25 could identify those people. Document number

Page 113

1 DTMI00103661.
2 A. Ms. Levine, you're referring to these three names?
3 Q. Right.
4 A. And the question is do I recognize the names?
5 Q. Yes. I'm going to ask you to identify who they are.
6 A. I recognize one for sure and two other people I'm 7 generally aware of, but I don't know their specific
8 roles.
9 Q. Right, who's the first one? Just so the record's
10 clear can you tell us the name of the first person
11 that you do recognize and what their title is?
12 A. The email address is --
13 Q. No, no, no, I'm asking you the person's name.
14 A. There's not a name on here, Ms. Levine.
15 Q. No, I'm asking you if you recognize the name.
16 MR. MILLER: From the email address.
17 Q. Does the email address trigger a name? I want to find
18 out who the person is, then I'm going to ask you what 19 their involvement was with regard to the blighted
20 homes.
21 A. Just so we're clear for the record, Ms. Levine, you've 22 given me an email address that is only the address and 23 not the name and I'm going to speculate as to who that 24 relates to.
25 MR. MILLER: Don't speculate.

Page 114

1 Q. Don't speculate.
2 MR. MILLER: Don't speculate. If you know
3 the name, identify the name.
4 Q. It's not a trick question. If the answer is I have no
5 clue who this person is -- for example, if it says
6 rbaird, there's a pretty good idea we know who it is.
7 I don't recognize those names, I'm asking you to help
8 me out. If the answer is I don't know who they are,
9 then you don't know who they are.
10 A. muchmored is probably Dennis Muchmore.
11 Q. And what's his title?
12 A. I think his title is chief of staff for the governor.
13 Q. And was he involved in this project with regard to
14 blighted homes?
15 A. I've never had any conversations with Dennis.
16 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
17 Q. Okay, what's the next one?
18 A. Allison Scott.
19 Q. Yes. And have you had conversations with her?
20 A. No.
21 Q. Okay. Do you know her title?
22 A. No, I don't.
23 Q. What's the last name?
24 A. Harvey Hollins.
25 Q. Have you had conversations with him?

Page 115

1 A. No.
2 Q. Do you know his title?
3 A. No, I don't know his title.
4 Q. Okay, thank you.
5 (Marked Exhibit No. 13.)
6 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 13. Do
7 you recognize this document?
8 A. This appears to be a document that was used in the 9 presentation to the financial advisory board in March
10 of 2013.
11 Q. Did you prepare this document?
12 A. I assisted in preparing some of it.
13 Q. Did you prepare the summary of Conway MacKenzie
14 engagement next steps that appears on page 14?
15 A. I would have reviewed this.
16 Q. What is your understanding of the meaning under the 17 very last bullet point of legal limitations?
18 MR. MILLER: Wait a moment. You're moving
19 too fast for me. We're on page 12, summary of 20 Conway MacKenzie.
21 MS. LEVINE: No, we're on page 14.
22 MR. MILLER: Sorry, that's why I asked.
23 And the pending question? Can you read it back?
24 (Record read back as requested.)
25 A. That was referring to constraints that were faced

Page 116

1 related to some of the HR related items that we were
2 looking at and specifically the inability to move out
3 individuals that we felt should be removed from 4 whichever department they were working in.
5 Q. Did this relate to unionized employees?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. So was there a concern -- never mind.
8 Did this legal limitations relate to 9 constraints with regard to privatization?
10 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
11 A. Not that I recall.
12 (Marked Exhibit No. 14.)
13 Q. Do you recognize this document?
14 A. This appears to be our assessment of the restructuring
15 -- proposed restructuring of city council department.
16 Q. Who asked you to prepare this?
17 A. First the City obviously engaged us to conduct a
18 review and identify recommendations for departments.
19 This was specifically put together because the 20 financial advisory board at the March meeting asked us
21 to bring in a couple of departments in April and 22 present on restructuring activities there.
23 Q. Did you prepare more than one of these reports?
24 A. This report that you handed me appears to be the 25 longer version for the financial advisory board

Page 117 1 meeting I believe that this was summarized. 2 Q. Prior to this report, which makes reference to 3 restructuring pensions and OPEB, had you previously 4 considered or made recommendations with regard to 5 restructuring pensions and OPEB? 6 MR. MILLER: Object to form. 7 A. Where are you referring to that this makes reference 8 to restructuring pension and OPEB? 9 Q. Well, let me ask the question a different way. 10 Does this report suggest restructuring 11 pension and OPEB? 12 A. Not that I recall. 13 Q. Okay. Did you discuss with the city council 14 restructuring recommendations that included pension 15 and OPEB? 16 MR. MILLER: Object to form. 17 Q. Prior to the Chapter 9 filing did you discuss with the 18 city council restructuring recommendations that 19 included pension and OPEB? 20 A. No. 21 Q. When was the first -- did you ever discuss with the 22 city council recommendations for pensions and OPEB? 23 A. No. 24 (Marked Exhibit No. 15.) 25 Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked Moore 15.	Page 119 1 OPEB restructuring? 2 MR. MILLER: Object to form. 3 A. When I came -- when I was first engaged, the City had 4 already started a process related to healthcare for 5 both active and retired employees at various cost 6 reduction efforts and the pension topics I believe 7 began maybe in the beginning of March or thereabouts. 8 Q. In connection with the work that you did with regard 9 to pension and OPEB, did you review the City's history 10 with regard to negotiations with the unions with 11 regard to the OPEB issues? 12 A. When you say history, are you referring to recent 13 history or what period of time? 14 Q. Prior to your engagement, what was the last time that 15 the City entered into concessionary agreements with 16 its unions or concessionary negotiation with its 17 unions just prior? 18 MR. MILLER: Objection to form, foundation. 19 A. Just to clarify, Ms. Levine, I am not the primary 20 point person on OPEB. I certainly have participated 21 in meetings where OPEB has been discussed. My 22 understanding is that the most recent time related to 23 changes in healthcare would have been the 24 implementation of the City Employment Terms during 25 2012.
Page 118 1 MR. MILLER: Yes. 2 MS. LEVINE: Sorry, I gave you my copy too. 3 Q. Do you recall seeing that document before today? 4 A. Yes. 5 Q. What is it? 6 A. This appears to be the presentation document for the 7 financial advisory board meeting on April 8th. 8 Q. Okay, would you turn to page 12, please? I'm reading 9 from the bottom of the page CM -- which I'm assuming 10 is an abbreviation for Conway MacKenzie; is that 11 correct? 12 A. Yes, ma'am. 13 Q. -- is also working on various work streams that span 14 across the City or multiple departments including 15 pension and OPEB restructuring. 16 Do you see where I'm reading? 17 A. Yes, ma'am. 18 Q. Does that refresh your recollection with regard to 19 whether or not you were working on pension and OPEB 20 restructuring? 21 A. I don't believe you asked me that before. 22 Q. Were you during this time period working on pension 23 and OPEB restructuring? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. When did you first raise with the City pension and	Page 120 1 Q. Are you familiar with those employment terms? 2 A. Generally. 3 Q. Okay. Were there OPEB concessions made as part of 4 those terms? 5 A. I don't recall if the changes to the actives were 6 pushed through to retired employees or not. 7 Q. Did your role with regard to the pensions increase 8 over -- at any point in time in April? 9 A. I don't know about during the month of April. It may 10 have been in April, but essentially as pension issues 11 certainly became a focal point, there was the 12 establishment of a task force and I was asked by 13 Kriss Andrews to lead that task force. 14 Q. Did Milliman participate in that task force? 15 A. Yes, ma'am. 16 Q. Who else participated in that task force? 17 A. Attorneys from Jones Day and Miller Canfield. 18 Q. And what exactly was the role of the pension task 19 force? 20 A. I believe it states in my declaration, but essentially 21 we were to look at causes of the underfunding, 22 evaluate the underfunding amount and options that may 23 exist as it relates to the defined benefit pension 24 plans. 25 Q. Was there -- was any -- was anybody on behalf of the

1 City who was not a consultant participating in the
2 task force?
3 A. Initially I reported to Kriss Andrews and then upon
4 Kriss' departure I now report to Sonya Mays as the
5 point person for pension related issues.
6 Q. Does anybody who's not a consultant participate on 7 behalf of -- actually let me take that back.
8 Does anybody participate on behalf of the 9 State?
10 A. No, ma'am.
11 Q. Has the task force reported to the State?
12 A. I have been in meetings where people from the City and 13 the State have been present where questions have been
14 asked about pensions where I have provided answers.
15 Q. Since April 18th forward how many meetings have you
16 participated as a member of the pension task force
17 where representatives of the State were present?
18 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
19 MS. LEVINE: What?
20 MR. MILLER: It assumes that --
21 MS. LEVINE: Actually never mind.
22 Q. Go ahead, you can answer.
23 A. Just to clarify, the task force itself did not meet
24 with the State. The State was involved in meetings
25 with the City where pension topics would be asked and

Page 122

1 I would provide answers to pension related topics, but
2 the task force to the best of my knowledge never met
3 specifically with the State.
4 Q. Well, did the task force have a goal? In other words,
5 did it have a deliverable it was supposed to provide
6 to the City?
7 A. The first item that we were looking at was done in
8 conjunction with the projections and restructuring
9 plan and that was to identify what the potential
10 unfunded amount of the pension plans may be and what 11 the future contribution requirements to both plans may 12 be.
13 Q. In connection with your work with the task force, did
14 you or anybody else on the task force meet with union
15 representatives?
16 A. In the course of my involvement with the City I've had 17 a lot of meetings with union people where pension
18 topics have come up.
19 MS. LEVINE: Can you read back my question,
20 please?
21 (Record read back as requested.)
22 Q. So can you answer that narrow question, please?
23 MR. MILLER: Objection, asked and answered.
24 MS. LEVINE: No, he --
25 Q. Can you answer that narrow question?

Page 123

1 A. I thought I did, but can you please read it back?
2 Q. I'll do it a different way.
3 You testified you had various meetings at
4 which unions were present and you discussed pensions.
5 Were every single one of those meetings related to
6 your work on the as being force?
7 A. No.
8 Q. How many meetings did you have with union
9 representatives in connection with the task force?
10 A. I spoke to individuals, union members, related to the 11 pensions maybe five to seven times.
12 Q. And when did those meetings take place?
13 A. Between April and July 18th, which is the time period
14 that you were referring to.
15 Q. And those five to seven meetings, who was on the other
16 side of those meetings?
17 A. Most of my interaction was with members of the Police
18 and Fire Retirement System board.
19 Q. And who on the Police and Fire Retirement System board
20 did you speak to?
21 A. George Orzech and Mark Diaz.
22 Q. And what did you talk about with George Orzech and 23 Mark Diaz?
24 A. The conversations would have been anywhere from this 25 is what I'm doing with the pension task force, this is

Page 124

1 what we're seeing, and then answering questions that
2 they had as a result of the June 14th creditor plan.
3 Q. Okay, when you talked to them about this is what you
4 were doing, what did you tell them you were doing?
5 A. I indicated that we were performing some analyses
6 related to the pensions to try to get our arms around
7 the funded position and most importantly the future
8 contribution requirements.
9 Q. And when you say we, who are you referring to?
10 A. The task force.
11 Q. That included Milliman?
12 A. Yes, ma'am.
13 Q. And when you said what you were finding, what did you
14 tell them you were finding?
15 A. Well, I expressed quite a bit of shock as to some of 16 the practices that had taken place and questioning how 17 these things could have happened along with the nature
18 of some of the indictments of the trustees that had 19 happened.
20 Q. What time frame are you talking about?
21 A. For what?
22 Q. For the shock that you were -- for the conduct that
23 you found shocking.
24 A. Well, I began my activities on the pension in March, I
25 started to get shocked in March and --

Page 125

1 Q. No, no, I'm asking when did the -- you know, was the
2 conduct happening in March and April?
3 A. Not that I saw.
4 Q. Okay, when -- so the conduct was historical. Did you
5 give them any information with regard to current
6 findings with regard to the status of the pensions?
7 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
8 A. We discussed after the June 14th meeting the 9 information presented in that June 14th creditor plan.
10 Q. How many times did you discuss it with them?
11 A. A handful. I would say five perhaps, maybe under.
12 Q. And how long did those discussions take place?
13 A. Typically fairly brief conversations. Fifteen
14 minutes.
15 Q. They had questions and you gave them just answers?
16 A. Generally speaking, yes.
17 Q. And what did you discuss in those conversations post
18 June 14?
19 A. I think I've already answered, but essentially they 20 would ask questions about the calculations, what the 21 City was looking to do, is the City open to this type
22 of idea? And generally speaking my answer was always,
23 we're open to looking at anything.
24 Q. What specific ideas did they offer to you to look at?
25 A. One was a hybrid plan. Two was whether the pension

1 would not be frozen -- this is again referring to the
2 Police and Fire, that the pension would not be frozen.
3 I think that those were a few of the ideas that I
4 recall.
5 Q. Did you have any conversations with anybody from 6 AFSCME during that same time period?
7 A. Not that I recall. Outside of the meetings that I
8 referred to earlier.
9 Q. So the June 14th and June 20th, the July 10th and the 10 July 11th meeting?
11 A. Yes, although I was not at the July 11th meeting.
12 Q. Did you make any effort to reach out to anybody from 13 AFSCME prior to finalizing the June 14 proposal?
14 A. This actually goes back a little bit, but during 2012
15 when you discussed obviously previous efforts or 16 activities that my firm had made to try to offer our 17 assistance to the City, we had reached out to AFSCME
18 at that time because we had previously done work with 19 AFSCME and unfortunately I left a few messages but 20 AFSCME never called back.
21 Q. I'll try again.
22 In connection with the June 14 proposal did
23 you reach out to anybody from AFSCME with regard to 24 input into that proposal?
25 A. In the role specifically related to AFSCME, no, but

Page 127

1 certainly as employees through the development of the
2 restructuring plans by departments.
3 Q. So did you talk to anybody -- did you talk to Steve
4 Kreisberg, for example, with regard to the preparation
5 of the June 14 proposal?
6 A. No, ma'am.
7 Q. Following the presentation on June 14 did you talk to 8 anybody from AFSCME with regard to the content of the 9 proposal?
10 A. Outside of those meetings, no, the meetings that we
11 referred to earlier, June 14th, June 20th, July 10th.
12 Q. Did you reach out to anybody from AFSCME to get
13 feedback from them with regard to that proposal?
14 A. No, ma'am.
15 MS. LEVINE: I think I'm done. I have no
16 further questions. Thank you.
17 MR. RUEGGER: Take a five-minute break.
18 MR. MILLER: Let's take a five-minute
19 break.
20 (A brief recess was taken.)
21 MR. MILLER: Back on the record.
22 EXAMINATION
23 BY MR. CIANTRA:
24 Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Moore. I'm Thomas Ciantra, I'm 25 with Cohen Weiss and Simon, I'm counsel to the UAW.

Page 128

1 A. Good afternoon.
2 Q. Let me go back just a little bit in terms of your
3 background. You had indicated that back in or around
4 2007, 2008 you were named to a commission to look at
5 governmental operations here in the State of Michigan?
6 A. Yes, sir.
7 Q. And as I understand it, that appointment was made by 8 the then speaker of the Michigan house of 9 representatives, Mr. Dillon, and the majority leader
10 of the Michigan senate; is that correct?
11 A. Yes, sir, Mike Bishop.
12 Q. Okay. Had you known Mr. Dillon before that 13 appointment?
14 A. No.
15 Q. Or Mr. Bishop?
16 A. No.
17 Q. And at that time had you actually done any work in 18 terms of restructuring of governmental operations?
19 A. Yes, sir, I had been involved in my engagement with 20 the Wayne County Circuit Court.
21 Q. Okay. And the Wayne County Circuit Court and you had 22 mentioned that you had done some work for the Detroit
23 Public School System?
24 A. Yes.
25 Q. Those are your -- that's your governmental

Page 129

1 restructuring responsibility?
2 A. No, I've had additional engagements that I mentioned
3 earlier as well.
4 Q. The Development Bank in Puerto Rico?
5 A. Yes, and then work on behalf of AFSCME and the UAW
6 related to Puerto Rico.
7 Q. To Puerto Rico, okay.
8 A. And Jefferson County Alabama.
9 Q. Right. There had been a number of -- or several
10 Michigan municipalities that have had either a
11 Financial Manager or an Emergency Manager appointed in 12 the past several years; is that correct?
13 A. I believe the number is somewhere between five and 14 seven.
15 Q. Okay, is Flint who's one of them?
16 A. Yes, sir.
17 Q. Benton Harbor?
18 A. Yes, sir.
19 Q. Has the county -- has your firm been involved in any 20 of those cases?
21 A. No.
22 Q. And you haven't?
23 A. Correct.
24 Q. Now, you indicated -- do you have your declaration
25 handy? I think it's been marked as Exhibit 1.

Page 130

1 A. Yes.
2 Q. And in paragraph 5 you mention your work analyzing the
3 City of Detroit's pension liabilities and you've
4 testified with respect to the task force that you were 5 a part of that looked at that?
6 A. Paragraph 5 --
7 Q. I'm sorry, paragraph 8. If you'll excuse me, I got up
8 at 4 o'clock this morning to get here so I'm going to 9 be a little slower than Ms. Levine. Okay.
10 A. Could you restate the question?
11 Q. Sure. Who tasked you to be involved in looking at the 12 City's pension liabilities?
13 A. Kriss Andrews.
14 Q. And that was you said in March or so of 2013?
15 A. I think that's right, yes.
16 Q. Now, there were a series of -- well, let me ask.
17 Was the Milliman firm working for the City
18 of Detroit at that time?
19 A. Yes, sir.
20 Q. Okay. Do you know when they were retained?
21 A. I don't.
22 Q. But they were in place at the time you were given this
23 assignment by Mr. Andrews?
24 A. Yes.
25 Q. There are a series of letters from the Milliman firm

Page 131

1 that are addressed to Mr. Miller, your counsel here
2 today. The first one that I have is from April 18th,
3 2013 and you're copied on those letters. Are you
4 familiar with them?
5 A. Generally, yes. There are, as you say, a number of 6 them. I would have to remember what specifically was 7 discussed in that one.
8 Q. Okay. There were -- as a general matter, they seem to 9 involve analyses of particular scenarios that were put 10 to them?
11 A. Yes, sir.
12 Q. Okay. Who -- were those scenarios developed by the 13 task force that you were part of?
14 A. Yes.
15 Q. And who would have had -- who would have been the 16 decider as it were with respect to what the Milliman
17 firm was tasked to do?
18 A. The task force would lay out scenarios and I would 19 communicate with Kriss Andrews updates as to what the 20 task force was looking to do and then as Mr. Andrews
21 transitioned out, the tasks given to Milliman were 22 covered with Mr. Orr and Sonya Mays.
23 Q. Okay. Let me start by --
24 MR. CIANTRA: I don't know, what's the next
25 number we're up to?

Page 132

1 MR. MILLER: Sixteen.
2 (Marked Exhibit No. 16.)
3 Q. Here's what I marked as 16.
4 Now, why don't you take a moment or two,
5 however long you wish, Mr. Moore, to look over that
6 letter, number 16, Moore Exhibit 16.
7 A. Yes, sir.
8 Q. Okay. I gather from the first paragraph that your 9 task force asked the Milliman firm to determine the 10 adjusted funded status under PA 436, Section 12(1)(M)
11 for the two pension systems reflecting the value of 12 the pension operating certificates?
13 A. Just to be --
14 MR. MILLER: I'll object to form.
15 MR. CIANTRA: What's the basis of the 16 objection?
17 MR. MILLER: No foundation.
18 Q. Well, did you ask -- did your task force ask the 19 Milliman firm to determine the adjusted funded status
20 under PA 436, Section 12(1)(M), for the two Retirement
21 Systems reflecting the value of the pension obligation
22 certificates?
23 A. The only clarification I was going to provide in my 24 answer is yes, we asked Milliman to calculate the 25 funded status pursuant to 12(1)(M) of PA 436. That

1 does include an adjustment for pension obligation
 2 bonds or pension obligation certificates which they
 3 did in their calculation, but it was simply a request
 4 to calculate the funded status under 12(1)(M).
 5 Q. Okay, and why was that done?
 6 A. At this point the City was operating under an
 7 Emergency Manager pursuant to PA 436.
 8 Q. Right.
 9 A. And it was important that we had that piece of
 10 information.
 11 Q. Why was that important?
 12 A. That is one item that the Emergency Manager has to 13 look at while operating as the Emergency Manager and 14 so that's obviously you need to calculate that in 15 order to carry out his duties.
 16 Q. And there's a particular threshold in that provision
 17 of the statute, Section 12(1)(M), with respect to the 18 funded status of a plan that is involved in the 19 Emergency Manager's responsibilities?
 20 A. I believe you're referring to the 80 percent
 21 threshold?
 22 Q. Yes.
 23 A. Yes, sir.
 24 Q. And if the funding of the plan is below the 80 percent
 25 threshold, the Emergency Manager is at liberty to

Page 134

1 remove the trustees of the plan?
 2 A. I don't recall the exact --
 3 MR. MILLER: Well, object to form. It
 4 calls for a legal conclusion.
 5 Q. I'm just asking your understanding of it. I
 6 understand you're not a lawyer, not an actuary, just
 7 your understanding. You were working on the task
 8 force, you asked these folks to look into this. What
 9 was your understanding of what the Emergency Manager
 10 could do if the funding threshold was below 80
 11 percent?
 12 A. I can't recall the exact language, whether the 13 Emergency Manager can act or if the Emergency Manager
 14 can submit a petition or a request to the State
 15 treasurer, but yes, if a pension plan falls below that 16 80 percent funded threshold, that allows that item to 17 occur.
 18 Q. Okay. And I gather from Moore 16 that with respect at 19 least to the General Retirement System, the conclusion
 20 of the Milliman firm as of April 19th was that its 21 funded status was 61.49 percent?
 22 A. Yes, sir.
 23 Q. Is it correct that the Emergency Manager has not taken
 24 any steps pursuant to Section 12(1)(M) of the statute
 25 to have the trustees of that Retirement System

1 replaced?
 2 A. That is my understanding.
 3 Q. Were you involved in discussions as to whether that
 4 should be pursued or not?
 5 A. We have identified publicly one of the objectives that 6 the task force has is to ensure good governance for 7 both pension systems going forward and so one element
 8 of that could be looked at. As it relates to 9 governance is a change in the composition of the Board
 10 of Trustees, no decisions have been made in that 11 regard, but that certainly is something that has been 12 talked about as one possible element of governance.
 13 Q. And that was -- so that was something that was -- was 14 on the radar screen of your task force at least back
 15 in April?
 16 A. Yes, sir.
 17 MR. CIANTRA: Let me mark this as number
 18 17.
 19 (Marked Exhibit No. 17.)
 20 Q. This is another of a series of letters. This one is 21 dated June 9th. It's also addressed to Mr. Miller.
 22 And you are -- you can check on, I guess, the fifth
 23 page of the document you appear to be copied on that.
 24 A. Yes, sir.
 25 Q. And am I correct that this letter reflects a further

Page 136

1 analysis by Milliman of the issue we were just
 2 discussing with respect to the April 18th letter?
 3 A. Yes, 12(1)(M) calls for the calculation based on the 4 last published actuarial valuation report, so between
 5 April 18th and June 9th the actuarial valuation report
 6 for the Police and Fire Retirement System was 7 finalized for the fiscal year-ending June 30th, 2012.
 8 Q. So there we see on the first page that the funded
 9 status for that plan has, at least as reflected in 10 that final valuation report, is also under 80 percent;
 11 correct?
 12 A. Yes, sir.
 13 Q. Can you explain to me what the Milliman folks did with 14 respect to the outstanding value of the pension
 15 obligation certificates when conducting this analysis?
 16 MR. MILLER: Object to form. It calls for
 17 speculation.
 18 Q. Well, what did you understand that they were asked to 19 do with respect to the outstanding value of the 20 pension obligation certificates with respect to this 21 analysis?
 22 A. My understanding was that pursuant to 12(1)(M) that 23 the funding calculation would take into account the 24 outstanding balances of any pension obligation
 25 certificates as of the measurement date.

Page 137

1 Q. And that outstanding balance would be subtracted from 2 the asset balance in the pension plan?
3 A. There are a couple of ways that you could do it, but
4 yes, if you subtract that from the assets.
5 Q. So it would be netted out in some way?
6 A. Yes, sir.
7 Q. I understand there are probably different ways that 8 one could do it and you would have to allocate them as 9 between the two plans, but the idea would be you would 10 look at the funded status by netting out the 11 outstanding balance of those pension obligation
12 certificates?
13 A. Yes, sir.
14 Q. And so when you do that, you -- I gather that you get
15 to the valuation -- the funded percentage that's shown
16 on the first page of the letter as opposed to the 17 funded percentages that are shown on the second page
18 of the letter for the two plans?
19 A. Yes, sir.
20 Q. And did the task force take a position as to whether 21 netting out the pension obligation certificates in the 22 manner that the Milliman firm did here was the 23 appropriate measure under the statute?
24 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
25 A. The task force looked at this and as I seem to recall

Page 138

1 concluded that Milliman had performed the calculation
2 consistent with how 12(1)(M) is defined.
3 Q. Okay. So the percentages there on the first page are
4 from your task force perspective the operative numbers
5 under that provision of the statute?
6 A. Yes, sir.
7 Q. Now, you testified this morning with respect to 8 several issues that you identified as contributing to 9 the -- several actuarial assumptions that contribute
10 to the underfunding of the two pension systems here in
11 Detroit?
12 A. I would just clarify that those are two different
13 things. There are activities that have happened in 14 the past --
15 Q. Right.
16 A. -- which in my view have contributed to the unfunded
17 position of the plans and then there are actuarial
18 assumptions that when you vary those will impact the 19 underfunding calculation.
20 Q. Okay. And you identified with respect to the 21 actuarial assumptions the assumed rate of return on 22 investments, the smoothing technique that the 23 actuaries had adopted with respect to amortizing
24 experiencing gains and losses and the amortization
25 period that they adopted, the 30-year period, at least

Page 139

1 with the GRS; correct?
2 A. As it relates to the funded position, the first two
3 you mentioned, yes, were modified in our calculation
4 that I call out in the declaration.
5 Q. Okay. Is it the position -- has the task force looked 6 at the question of whether any of those assumptions
7 are inconsistent with actuarial standards of practice?
8 A. Yes, the task force has had discussions about the 9 range of options available for actuarial assumptions.
10 Q. Okay. Have you formed -- has the task force formed an 11 opinion that any of the assumptions that you identify
12 are inconsistent with actuarial standards of practice?
13 A. I'm not sure that I can answer that. That I think
14 calls for us to take one step further.
15 Q. Well, you participated in the task force meetings;
16 right?
17 A. Yes.
18 Q. So I'm just asking you a question of fact whether the 19 task force has taken or adopted a view that any of the 20 actuarial assumptions that you identified in your 21 prior testimony are contrary to actuarial standards of 22 practice?
23 MR. MILLER: I'll object to form.
24 Q. You can answer the question.
25 A. Could you define what you mean by contrary to

Page 140

1 actuarial standards?
2 Q. Well, there are actuarial -- you're familiar with
3 actuarial standards of practice?
4 A. Generally, yes.
5 Q. So there are professional standards that actuaries
6 operate under, you're aware of that; right?
7 A. Yes, sir.
8 Q. And there are particular standards that govern, for 9 example, earnings assumptions. You're familiar with 10 those?
11 A. Yes, sir.
12 Q. And you're familiar with actuarial -- an actuarial
13 standard that deals with the smoothing issue, dealing 14 with volatility and market returns?
15 A. Yes, sir.
16 Q. So my question is has the task force taken a view as 17 to whether any of the assumptions that you identified
18 in your testimony are contrary to actuarial standards
19 of practice?
20 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
21 A. I would say that the task force has come to the same
22 view that's contained in my declaration, which is that 23 the assumptions used, there -- it would be more
24 appropriate to use different assumptions, but I don't 25 think that we've ever said that -- or come to the

Page 141 1 conclusion as a task force that the actuarial 2 valuations don't comply with actuarial standards. 3 Q. Right. I mean, your declaration does not take the 4 position that any of the assumptions that you identify 5 in it are in fact inconsistent with actuarial 6 standards of practice; isn't that right? 7 A. That's correct. 8 Q. Have you asked for -- has your task force asked for 9 any -- have you asked the Milliman firm for an opinion 10 as to whether the actuarial standards that you discuss 11 in your declaration and were the subject of your 12 testimony earlier, have you asked them whether -- for 13 an opinion as to whether those assumptions are 14 consistent or inconsistent with actuarial standards of 15 practice? 16 A. We have discussed that, yes, and they have opined, if 17 I recall correctly, that they are -- there is not a -- 18 they don't breach, if you will, or go against 19 actuarial standards. 20 Q. Okay. And was that opinion rendered in writing or was 21 that an oral discussion? 22 A. That would have been an oral discussion. 23 (Marked Exhibit No. 18.) 24 Q. And I'm back to the series of letters where I'm 25 handing what I've marked as Moore Exhibit 18. This is	Page 143 1 further benefits accrue going forward? 2 A. That's correct. 3 Q. Okay. So that was the assumption that's being made 4 here. And then you wanted to ask them essentially 5 when is the General Retirement System going to run out 6 of money if we make certain further other assumptions 7 with respect to the amount of its investment return, 8 etc., as specified on page 1 of the letter? 9 A. Yes, sir. 10 Q. Where did the -- I notice the third bullet point there 11 on page 1, annual city contributions of 13.6 million. 12 Do you see that? 13 A. Yes, sir. 14 Q. Where did that number come from? 15 A. That was a calculation based on one scenario taking 16 into account an allocation of funds available based on 17 percentage of claims. 18 Q. Okay, so why don't you spell that out for me? How did 19 you get -- how did you get to 13.6 million? What was 20 the claim assumption? 21 A. I don't recall what the exact amount was for the claim 22 assumption. 23 Q. So would I be correct that the 13.6 million reflects a 24 distribution on the underfunding claim to the pension 25 fund?
Page 142 1 another letter from Milliman to Mr. Miller, copied to 2 you. This one's dated July 26. 3 So just so that make sure I have the time 4 sequence right. This is -- this is after the 5 presentation to creditors; correct? 6 A. Yes, sir. 7 Q. Like a week or two? That was the 14th? 8 A. This is July 26. 9 MR. MILLER: This is July. 10 Q. Right. 11 A. The initial meeting with the creditors, the one that 12 we're referring to as the June 14th meeting. 13 Q. Right. So this is six weeks or so later? 14 A. Yes, sir. 15 Q. Okay. Why don't you tell me what was the discussion 16 that led up to tasking the Milliman firm with what is 17 discussed in Moore Exhibit 18? 18 A. This analysis related to a scenario that we asked 19 Milliman to evaluate, which is what is the impact on 20 plan assets based on certain contribution assumptions. 21 Q. Okay. And in the context of freezing the plan? 22 A. In the context of freezing the plan, that's correct. 23 Q. At the risk of offending benefits lawyers that may be 24 present here, freezing the plan I understand to mean 25 that as of the date that the plan is frozen, no	Page 144 1 A. Yes, sir. 2 Q. So if we were to take the -- I guess the present value 3 of that $13.6 million stream of payments through the 4 2022, 2023 fiscal year, we'd come up with the 5 distribution on the underfunding claim? 6 MR. MILLER: Before you answer that, let me 7 just review this question for a moment. 8 No objection. 9 A. Not necessarily. This is a certain amount of cash 10 that would go towards that underfunded claim. There 11 certainly could be other assets that could also go 12 towards that claim. 13 Q. Okay, but I guess when you -- when you were doing this 14 analysis, were you assuming that the 13 -- that 15 $13.6 million stream of payments represented all of 16 the consideration that would go towards the 17 underfunding claim or some of it? 18 A. I don't think we made an assumption either way. 19 Q. So how did you come up with the 13.6 as opposed to 20 14.6 or 12.6? Just help me out if you can. 21 MR. MILLER: Object to form. Asked and 22 answered. 23 A. As I indicated before, the -- this scenario looked at 24 cash available over a certain period of time and then 25 allocating that cash based on a relative percentage of

1 total claims, but that does not mean what the total
 2 treatment of the claim would receive.
 3 Q. Okay. So there could be a debt component to it as
 4 opposed to just a cash component?
 5 A. There could be a variety of items. As was indicated
 6 in our creditor plan, we laid out a $2 billion note of 7 which the various unsecured creditors would receive a
 8 portion.
 9 Q. So is the $13.6 million payment stream some portion of 10 the proceeds of that note?
 11 A. No, that's just -- that was just relating to cash that 12 we had projected over the next ten years in the 13 creditor plan.
 14 Q. Okay. And so where would I find that cash projection?
 15 A. That's in the creditor plan.
 16 Q. Okay.
 17 A. The June 14th creditor plan, in the cash projection,
 18 it shows the amount of cash available or extra cash,
 19 if you will, that the City has over the next ten
 20 years.
 21 Q. Okay, why don't you take a look at Moore Exhibit 3 and 22 help me work it through. The ten-year projections,
 23 page 90, is that where I would find the number?
 24 A. I think you're going to want to go a few pages back.
 25 Q. Okay.

Page 146

1 A. If you go to page 98.
 2 Q. Okay.
 3 A. In about the middle of the page, the last row of the 4 first area that's boxed where it says funds available
 5 for unsecured claims --
 6 Q. Yep.
 7 A. -- with opportunities. Over the ten-year period that
 8 shows 803.3 million. That is anticipated cash from 9 operations of the City that could go towards unsecured
 10 claims.
 11 Q. And from that 803 you in this scenario, Moore 18, you
 12 allocated 13.6 million of that over one, two -- looks
 13 like eight years?
 14 A. There would actually be ten years.
 15 Q. Ten years, okay. So you allocated 136 million of the 16 803?
 17 A. Yes, sir.
 18 Q. And that -- how did you come to the particular
 19 percentage of the recovery for the pension
 20 underfunding plan, the relationship between 803 and 21 136?
 22 A. There are -- I think for this particular scenario, and 23 again, there are a lot of scenarios that get looked at 24 all the time, but for this scenario it contemplated
 25 from the $803 million cash that would be used to

Page 147

1 service retiree healthcare, cash to service the
 2 interest on the $2 billion note, and then the
 3 remaining cash was allocated amongst claims and that's
 4 -- I don't recall the exact calculation, but that's 5 how 13.6 per year or 136 million total towards GRS was 6 determined.
 7 Q. So is it just a pro rata distribution based on the 8 size of the claims, the anticipated claim pool?
 9 A. Essentially, yes, after taking into account those
 10 first two items that I mentioned.
 11 Q. Okay, so you drop those off the top and then the rest
 12 of it you're allocating pro rata?
 13 A. Yes, sir.
 14 Q. Going back to Exhibit 18, whose idea was it to 15 contemplate a freeze of the pension plan?
 16 A. The --
 17 MR. MILLER: Wait. Object to form.
 18 A. The City has actually -- had undertaken efforts in 19 this regard prior to or around the time of my initial 20 engagement passing ordinances or an ordinance that 21 temporarily froze service credits, so this is 22 something that the City has actually looked at even 23 prior to the formation of the pension task force.
 24 (Marked Exhibit No. 19.)
 25 Q. Here's what I've marked as Moore 19 is another in this

Page 148

1 series of letters. This is -- this one's dated August
 2 2nd to Mr. Miller. It has you copied there on the
 3 fifth page and in this letter there was a scenario of 4 contemplating a onetime $895 million City contribution
 5 into these plans?
 6 A. Yes, sir.
 7 Q. Tell me what the thinking was behind that scenario,
 8 announcing that scenario.
 9 A. GRS hasn't published its final actuarial valuation
 10 report as of June 30th, 2012, but there is a draft of 11 that.
 12 Q. Right.
 13 A. And that shows an under -- a UAAL as of June 30th of 14 2012 of approximately $830 million. So this was 15 rolled forward by one year.
 16 Q. Got it.
 17 A. So from June 30th, 2012 to June 30th of 2013, using 18 the 7.9 percent assumed rate of return such that if 19 either $830 million had been contributed at June 30 of 20 2012 or $895 million was contributed June 30th of 21 2013, in order to bring the plan up to 100 percent
 22 funded on an actuarial basis, what would the potential
 23 impact on plan assets be over a future time period.
 24 Q. So why was that -- why was that done? I assume -- let 25 me ask. I assume we haven't found $895 million in the

Page 149

1 City of Detroit to put into that pension fund as of
 2 July of next year; correct? July of this year;
 3 correct?
 4 MR. MILLER: Object to form. Go ahead.
 5 A. Obviously there are a number of potential sources of 6 cash that are still uncertain.
 7 Q. Okay.
 8 A. But to answer your question about why this was done --
 9 Q. Yeah.
 10 A. -- there were a number of comments that were made
 11 indicating that the plan is only $830 million
 12 underfunded or some people refer to the June 30th of 13 2011 number and our point on this was to indicate that
 14 even if the plan was topped off from an actuarial
 15 standpoint, meaning that it was funded at 100 percent,
 16 if you roll forward using certain assumptions, what
 17 potentially happens to plan assets.
 18 Q. I see. But one of the assumptions is there's going to 19 be no further contributions into the plan after that 20 lump sum; correct?
 21 A. Yes. And what that is getting at is there's no future
 22 accrual of benefits. So you fully fund it based on 23 the benefits that have been accrued --
 24 Q. Okay.
 25 A. -- which if that was the case, if it was fully funded

Page 150

1 from an actuarial standpoint and no new benefits
 2 accrued and you experience a 7.9 percent assumed rate
 3 of return -- or actual rate of return, what would
 4 happen to the plan assets.
 5 Q. Let me ask you if you have Moore Exhibit 3 there, I
 6 want to ask you a few questions with regard to that.
 7 Let me direct you to page 95 of that
 8 presentation. Hang on for a second. I'm sorry, I was 9 in the wrong place. Page 109. Looking at the heading
 10 there, claims for unfunded pension liabilities.
 11 A. Yes, sir.
 12 Q. Were you involved at all in the drafting of that part
 13 of this presentation?
 14 A. I don't think I wrote that, but I was aware of this
 15 language.
 16 Q. Okay. How about the specifically the language of the 17 third bullet point? Because the amounts realized on 18 the underfunding claims would be substantially less
 19 than the underfunding amount, there must be 20 significant cuts in accrued vested pension amounts for 21 both active and currently retired persons. Were you
 22 involved in formulating that?
 23 A. Yes, sir.
 24 Q. And has the City -- I noticed in this presentation
 25 there's no quantification of what -- of the cuts that

Page 151

1 would be -- that in the City's view must occur;
 2 correct?
 3 A. Correct.
 4 Q. Has there been a specification of those level of cuts
 5 that the City contends must occur?
 6 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 7 Q. I mean, have you put a dollar amount on it?
 8 A. No, and our analysis of this continues. Right now we 9 still don't know what assets could be available to put
 10 towards the pensions. We still have not had the type
 11 of dialogue that we would like to have related to the 12 calculation of the unfunded amount, so because of 13 those two uncertainties among others we don't know
 14 what cuts, if any, there may need to be.
 15 Q. Well, doesn't it say there must be significant cuts?
 16 Am I -- are you saying that there's some -- that the 17 City's position may be that there are no cuts that are 18 necessary in accrued vested pension amounts?
 19 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 20 A. We don't know. That's where we want to continue to 21 engage in discussions and negotiations with the 22 parties, but depending on what the unfunded amount is 23 and what assets may be available for those claims, it
 24 certainly is possible.
 25 Q. So maybe that should have been worded there may be

Page 152

1 significant cuts rather than must?
 2 MR. MILLER: Object to form. It asks for
 3 speculation.
 4 MR. CIANTRA: I don't think it asks for
 5 speculation at all.
 6 MR. MILLER: It asks for speculation, but
 7 you can go ahead and speculate.
 8 A. Possibly.
 9 Q. But in any event, there's been no specific
 10 quantification of any level of cuts to accrued vested
 11 pension amounts that the City has formulated in this 12 restructuring process to date; isn't that correct?
 13 A. Correct.
 14 Q. And I would assume from that that you have not 15 provided the unions or any of the retiree groups with 16 any -- any quantification of cuts that the City would 17 like to see made?
 18 A. No, we have met with parties regarding the pension
 19 multiple times and we've laid out a process that we 20 propose to follow; however, that process really has 21 not been started unfortunately.
 22 Q. Are you aware of provisions of the Michigan State
 23 Constitution that affect the ability of the State or 24 its municipalities to alter accrued pension benefits?
 25 A. Generally, yes.

1 Q. How did you become aware of those provisions?
 2 A. I have been aware of that provision or provisions for
 3 multiple years. I don't recall how I originally 4 became aware of them, but I've been aware of them for 5 quite sometime.
 6 Q. So you were aware of those provisions at least
 7 generally when you undertook the assignment for the 8 City in this case?
 9 A. Yes, sir.
 10 Q. Have there been discussions of those provisions of the 11 State Constitution in the various discussions among 12 members of your pension task force?
 13 A. Can you clarify?
 14 Q. You indicated earlier that you were part of a pension
 15 task force that's been considering pension issues
 16 since I guess the spring of this year and my question
 17 is during the discussions, the meetings of that task
 18 force, have you -- has that provision of the Michigan
 19 State Constitution been a subject of discussion?
 20 A. Yes.
 21 Q. In what context?
 22 A. The existence of it.
 23 Q. And how did it -- who brought that up?
 24 A. I don't recall.
 25 Q. What was discussed about it?

Page 154

1 A. The acknowledgment of the existence of it to make sure
 2 that everyone on the task force was aware of it and we
 3 also discussed an Attorney General opinion regarding
 4 that provision back from the late 1970s, I believe,
 5 and whether that provision constitutes -- you know,
 6 how far those protections go.
 7 Q. And who brought up that subject?
 8 A. I don't recall who would have brought it up.
 9 Q. Were those discussions before the City made its
 10 Chapter 9 filing?
 11 A. Yes.
 12 Q. And were there discussions that you were party to with 13 respect to the Chapter 9 filings that involved the 14 question of the -- those provisions of the Michigan
 15 State Constitution?
 16 MR. MILLER: Object to form.
 17 A. I believe that that would have come up, yes.
 18 Q. It came up in discussions you were party to?
 19 A. Yes.
 20 Q. With whom?
 21 A. When there were discussions about the potential for a
 22 Chapter 9 filing, a variety of topics were discussed
 23 and I seem to recall that element coming up.
 24 Q. When were those discussions, Mr. Moore?
 25 A. In the June/July time period.

Page 155

1 Q. And was there more than one such discussion or did it
 2 just come up on one occasion?
 3 A. It probably came up more than -- I seem to recall more
 4 than one occasion where a discussion about whether the 5 City would have to file for Chapter 9 took place and
 6 the pension element was discussed.
 7 Q. And what was the -- was there consensus that was
 8 developed with respect to that issue?
 9 MR. MILLER: I'm going to object and ask
 10 the witness before he answers that question whether in 11 connection with any discussion that might have led to 12 a consensus that discussion included lawyers and
 13 counsel --
 14 MR. CIANTRA: I'm not asking him --
 15 MR. MILLER: -- and counsel that was 16 provided by those lawyers.
 17 MR. CIANTRA: I'm not asking about
 18 discussions with counsel, I'm asking him whether this
 19 task force that was looking at the pension issues
 20 reached a consensus as to the question of the effect
 21 of this provision of the Michigan State Constitution
 22 on a Chapter 9 filing.
 23 MR. MILLER: But the task force included
 24 counsel. He's testified to that.
 25 MR. CIANTRA: Well, I'm not interested in

Page 156

1 the discussions, I'm interested was there a consensus
 2 reached on this issue, not necessarily what your
 3 counsel might have advised or said or any of that.
 4 MR. MILLER: But -- but to the extent that
 5 the -- a consensus was reached and that consensus was 6 based on legal advice, that consensus would be in my
 7 judgment privileged. So that's why I asked him
 8 whether in connection with discussions and discussions
 9 that may have reached a consensus as to the question
 10 of the effect of the provision of the State
 11 Constitution on Chapter 9 filing, whether that 12 consensus was reached based on advice of counsel.
 13 MR. CIANTRA: I'm not asking him that.
 14 MR. MILLER: And if so, then I instruct
 15 you, Mr. Moore, not to expound.
 16 MR. CIANTRA: So let me ask the question
 17 again. Let's make the record straight.
 18 Q. Did the task force that you were a part of reach a
 19 consensus on the question of what the effect of the 20 provision of the Michigan State Constitution that 21 protects accrued pension benefits would have on a
 22 Chapter 9 filing?
 23 A. No.
 24 Q. There was no consensus?
 25 A. No.

1 Q. There were different views that were expressed?

2 A. There wasn't -- there wasn't a consensus that we tried

3 to come up with. As I indicated before, the existence

4 of the provision was acknowledged and it was

5 discussed, but the pension task force did not come to

6 an opinion as it relates to anything regarding that

7 provision in the Michigan Constitution.

8 Q. Was it something that you were concerned about?

9 A. Can you clarify in terms of concern?

10 Q. You were aware of this provision; right? You were

11 aware at least from the actuarial reports that the 12 plans were underfunded; correct?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. And you were aware that in the proposal to creditors

15 that we just looked at the Emergency Manager states

16 that there must be significant cuts in accrued vested

17 pension amounts for both active and currently retired

18 persons. So my question is were you concerned about

19 that in light of your understanding of the Michigan

20 State Constitution?

21 A. To the extent that retirees would face some sort of 22 cut, certainly as a human being I would be concerned

23 about that.

24 Q. I'm not asking as a human being, I'm asking in light

25 of your understanding of the State's Constitution.

Page 158

1 MR. MILLER: Objection to form. Calls for

2 a legal conclusion.

3 Q. You can answer the question.

4 A. I'm not sure that I understand the question. You

5 asked if I was concerned and I sought clarification

6 for that and I'm not sure I understand what additional

7 you're asking about concern.

8 Q. Were you concerned that the -- let me ask

9 specifically.

10 Were you concerned that the position that

11 the Emergency Manager took with respect to accrued

12 pension benefits was inconsistent with your

13 understanding of what the State Constitution requires?

14 A. That to me is a legal opinion that I'm not equipped to 15 make.

16 Q. Did you have any discussions with anyone in the State

17 government with respect to this issue that -- the

18 interplay between the Michigan State Constitution

19 provisions and the Chapter 9 filing by the City?

20 A. Not that I can recall.

21 Q. So there may have been such discussions?

22 A. There may have been.

23 Q. And if there had been such discussions, who from the 24 State would likely have been involved in it?

25 A. My interactions have been essentially exclusively with

Page 159

1 the treasury department for the State of Michigan, so

2 if there were discussions, it would have been with the

3 treasury department.

4 Q. So that would have been Mr. Dillon or one of his

5 subordinates?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. With --

8 MR. MILLER: Tom, excuse me, are you going

9 to shortly wrap up? Because otherwise, I need a

10 five-minute break.

11 MR. CIANTRA: Take your five-minute break.

12 I won't be that long, Evan, afterwards.

13 MR. MILLER: Yes, that's fine. Thanks.

14 (A brief recess was taken.)

15 MR. MILLER: Back on the record?

16 MR. CIANTRA: Yeah, whenever you're ready.

17 Sharon?

18 MS. LEVINE: No, I'm good. I'm just

19 stretching.

20 MR. CIANTRA: You're just stretching.

21 Okay, back on the record.

22 BY MR. CIANTRA:

23 Q. In connection with your work on the pension task

24 force, Mr. Moore, did you inquire as to the level of 25 benefits that pensioners were receiving from the two

Page 160

1 pension plans?

2 A. Just to clarify, are you referring to those in pay

3 status?

4 Q. Yeah, in pay status, right.

5 A. Yes, sir.

6 Q. And am I correct that with respect to the General

7 Retirement System the average annual benefit is a

8 little less than $20,000 a year?

9 A. We never calculated the average across all people on

10 pay status. We looked at it in different increments

11 in terms of the number of people at various ages

12 receiving certain monthly amounts.

13 Q. Okay. What's the -- do you recall what's the median?

14 A. We never calculated the median.

15 Q. Okay, how about the mean?

16 A. We never calculated the mean.

17 Q. Did you do that with respect to the Police and Fire

18 plan?

19 A. Yes, sir.

20 Q. Okay, what was the average that was received under

21 that plan?

22 A. We did not calculate the average, similar -- we pulled

23 similar data to -- for both plans.

24 Q. You don't recall a presentation by Mr. Orr where

25 certain representations were made as to what the

Page 161

1 average pension benefit was under these two systems?

2 A. Not offhand.

3 Q. Let me ask. With respect to -- my understanding is at

4 least with respect to the police officers and firemen

5 in the City that they are not covered by the Social

6 Security system?

7 A. Participants in the Police and Fire Retirement System

8 do not participate in Social Security, that's correct.

9 Q. To this day; correct?

10 A. Yes, sir.

11 Q. So for their earnings, a police officer in the City of 12 Detroit would -- for their earnings from the City of 13 Detroit would have no Social Security; correct?

14 A. They don't pay in and then they don't receive,

15 correct.

16 Q. Okay. And is that the case for certain of the 17 retirees in the General Retirement System as well?

18 A. I don't believe so. The reason for two different

19 pension systems is specifically because one system is

20 for those that participate in Social Security and one

21 system is for those that do not.

22 Q. Okay, so your understanding is that none of the 23 participants in the General Retirement System are not

24 eligible for Social Security?

25 A. That could -- there could be people in GRS that don't

Page 162

1 participate in the Social Security based on their age

2 or when they worked for the City, that's a

3 possibility, I don't know for sure.

4 Q. Okay, so there may be some of the retirees who are

5 covered by that plan who have -- whose earnings were

6 not subject to Social Security?

7 A. It's possible.

8 Q. But you don't know?

9 A. I don't know for sure.

10 Q. And is that something that someone was tasked to find

11 out?

12 A. Not that I recall.

13 Q. Would you agree that that might be a relevant

14 consideration in evaluating what to do with that --

15 with those accrued -- the accrued pension benefits of 16 folks in that system?

17 A. It may be relevant, yes, depending on what gets looked

18 at.

19 MR. CIANTRA: I have no further questions.

20 Thank you.

21 MR. MILLER: Can we go off the record?

22 (Discussion held off the record.)

23 MR. MILLER: Back on the record.

24 MR. RUEGGER: Yes, this won't take too

25 long.

1 BY MR. RUEGGER (continued):

2 Q. Do you have your declaration in front of you,

3 Mr. Moore?

4 A. Yes, sir.

5 Q. If you could open it up to page 10 where you start a

6 discussion of past practices?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. I'd first like to talk about the annuity savings plan,

9 which you discuss in paragraph 18. Do you know what

10 years the annuity savings plan was in active mode or

11 being pursued?

12 A. Based on our investigation it appears that it has been

13 available since at least 1973 and we have reviewed

14 certain documentation that would suggest that some

15 form of annuity savings plan has been in existence all

16 the way back perhaps into the 1930s.

17 Q. I take it -- well, withdrawn.

18 Do you know whether the annuity savings

19 plan in any form is continuing at present?

20 A. Yes, it is.

21 Q. Is it continuing in the format described in your

22 declaration in paragraph 18?

23 A. Could you be more specific in terms of -- there are --

24 is a number or there's a lot of information in

25 paragraph 18.

Page 164

1 Q. Sure. You'll see the third sentence where you say,

2 under the terms of the GRS plan, active city employees

3 may elect to invest 3, 5 or 7 percent of their

4 paychecks into an annuity savings plan.

5 Does that aspect of the annuity savings

6 plan continue to this day?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. And is that available to all GRS covered active

9 employees?

10 A. I believe so.

11 Q. And the next part of that sentence says that the 12 investment earns interest based on a rate of return

13 established at the discretion of the GRS Board of 14 Trustees.

15 Is that still accurate?

16 A. Yes; however, there was an ordinance passed in 2011

17 that provides parameters within which the board may

18 specify the interest.

19 Q. Do you know what interest rate is current -- has 20 currently been specified by the board?

21 A. As I understand it, it's 7.9 percent.

22 Q. And is it true -- okay, turning to the next page,

23 we're still on paragraph 18, you state in the sentence

24 that begins but in many years. Do you see that

25 sentence?

Page 165

1 A. Yes.

2 Q. The GRS trustees chose to credit these annuity savings

3 plan employee accounts with rates of return that were

4 far greater than the actual GRS rate of return earned

5 on the investments.

6 So I take it from your prior testimony that

7 that is still an accurate aspect of the annuity

8 savings plan; correct?

9 MR. MILLER: Object to form.

10 A. The ordinance passed in 2011 that I just referred to 11 addresses this issue.

12 Q. And what does it provide generally? I know you don't

13 have it in front of you but to your memory.

14 A. Yes, generally it provides that the interest rate

15 credited to the annuity savings fund accounts cannot

16 exceed the assumed rate of return on the plan assets.

17 Q. Only active employees were allowed to participate in 18 this plan; correct?

19 A. Yes, sir. From the standpoint of making new

20 contributions, when an employee retires, the employee

21 has the choice of taking a lump sum of their annuity

22 savings fund account or having it paid in an annuity,

23 so there could be retired employees that are still

24 getting payments from the annuity savings fund but

25 they would not be contributing to it.

Page 166

1 Q. In the last sentence of paragraph 18 you say that

2 hundreds of millions of dollars of plan assets

3 intended to support the City's traditional defined

4 benefit pension arrangements were converted by GRS

5 trustees to provide a windfall to the annuity savings

6 accounts of active employees outside of a defined

7 benefit pension plan.

8 Has Conway MacKenzie or any other firm to

9 your knowledge quantified the dollar amount of plan

10 assets that were converted to the annuity savings

11 accounts?

12 A. Yes.

13 Q. And what is that amount, if you remember?

14 A. One analysis that I've looked at was performed by 15 Joe Esuschanko, E-S-U-S-C-H-A-N-K-O.

16 Q. Okay.

17 A. And he analyzed the impact from both the annuity

18 savings fund as well as 13th checks between 1985 and

19 2008 and he quantified that to be, based on the

20 principal amount as well as the lost interest earnings

21 on those funds, to be approximately $1.9 billion.

22 Q. Okay. I want to make sure I understand what you --

23 that last answer. That would be both the annuity

24 savings plan and the 13th check program that you

25 reference in paragraph 19?

Page 167

1 A. Yes. Amounts that were used to credit interest on the

2 annuity savings fund accounts and pay 13th checks.

3 Q. The 1.9 billion does not include any principal or the

4 3 or the 5 or the 7 percent of the paycheck that was

5 invested; correct?

6 A. That's correct.

7 Q. But the interest being calculated there, is that all

8 interest or just the amount of interest in excess of 9 the interest earned under the plan?

10 A. In excess. The interest in excess of what was earned

11 by plan assets.

12 Q. And of the 1.9 billion, did Mr. Esuschanko break it

13 down between the 13th check and the annuity savings

14 plan?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. How much of the 1.9 was attributable to the annuity

17 savings plan?

18 A. I don't recall that breakdown.

19 Q. Do you know what documents or records might contain

20 that breakdown?

21 A. Yes, there was a memo that was prepared by the city

22 council fiscal analysis division in around November of

23 2011 in support of the ordinance that I just

24 previously mentioned that has attached to it

25 Mr. Esuschanko's report.

Page 168

1 Q. Thank you. And do you recall whether Mr. Esuschanko's

2 report breaks down the amounts on each year or was it

3 an accumulation of 2005 through 2008?

4 A. It shows by year.

5 Q. Turning to the 13th check subject, which is in

6 paragraph 19 of your declaration, do you have an

7 understanding as to what years the 19th check program

8 was pursued?

9 A. Just to clarify, you had indicated -- you just said

10 19th check, I think you're referring to the 13th

11 check.

12 Q. I'm sorry, my apologies. Strike that again. I'll

13 answer it again -- or I'll ask it again.

14 Do you recall in what years the 13th check

15 program was utilized?

16 A. Mr. Esuschanko's analysis I believe has 13th check

17 amounts in that same time period, 1985 through 2008.

18 I have seen information that would suggest that 13th

19 checks may have occurred before 1985 for the GRS

20 system.

21 Q. And if I understand your declaration correctly, this

22 13th check program was used for both the GRS and the 23 PFRS systems?

24 A. The 13th check, if we use that term as it relates to

25 the Police and Fire Retirement System, is also -- or

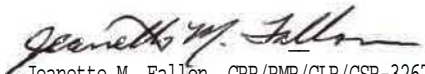

Page 169

1 has also been referred to as gain sharing.
 2 Q. So it's only referred to as gain sharing related to
 3 the PFRS system?
 4 A. I have seen references to both 13th checks and gain
 5 sharing for PFRS. The reason why there's a
 6 distinction is payouts that happen from PFRS went to
 7 both active and retired employees whereas on the GRS
 8 side those payments just went to retired employees.
 9 Q. Are you aware whether a portion of the 13th check
 10 program or payments pursuant to the 13th check program
 11 were made to the City itself?
 12 A. Well, the 13th check didn't go to the City, but 13 typically the board would approve a total amount and 14 allocate a portion to annuity savings fund interest,
 15 another portion to 13th checks and then a third
 16 portion to be used as a credit to the City.
 17 Q. And are you aware -- you may have already addressed
 18 this in your testimony, I apologize -- but are you
 19 aware of whether any payments among those allocated
 20 went to active employees other than the -- not in the 21 annuity savings plan context but in the 13th check
 22 program?
 23 A. Speaking just about GRS, if we exclude the crediting
 24 of the annuity savings fund accounts, I'm not aware of 25 13th checks going to active employees.

1 MR. CIANTRA: I believe this has been the
 2 subject of discussion between people in your firm and
 3 my firm, but I just want to confirm with Mr. Moore
 4 what his understanding is as to the October 23rd
 5 hearing.
 6 Q. Do you have any understanding as to whether you are
 7 expected to testify at the October 23rd hearing?
 8 A. It has not been discussed.
 9 Q. So I take it that if you haven't discussed whether 10 you're going to testify, you similarly have not
 11 discussed what you might testify to; is that correct?
 12 A. Correct.
 13 MR. RUEGGER: I don't have any other
 14 questions.
 15 MR. MILLER: Thank you. No questions.

4 Friday, October 4, 2013; 11:11 a.m.

6 - - -

7 KEVYN D. ORR

8 after having been previously duly sworn, was

9 examined and testified further as follows:

10 - - -

11 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This is the

12 continuation of the deposition of Kevyn Orr on 13 Friday, October the 4th of 2013 at 11:12 a.m.

14 (Sotto voce discussion.)

15 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Yeah. The witness

16 is still sworn.

17 MS. LEVINE: Okay.

18 - - -

19 EXAMINATION (CONTINUED) BY COUNSEL FOR AFSCME

20 - - -

21 BY MS. LEVINE:

22 Q. Mr. Orr, thank you for coming back.

Page 317

1 Again, we --

2 A. Sure --

3 Q. -- appreciate it.

4 A. -- um-hum.

5 Q. As we understand from the court

6 reporter before we started the deposition, you've

7 been previously sworn. You're continued to be

8 sworn, and we're not going to go through again,

9 unless you'd like me to repeat it, the ground

10 rules for the deposition.

11 A. No, that's fine. I understand I'm

12 still under oath.

13 Q. Good.

14 Mr. Orr, we were talking the last

15 time we met about some of the discussions that you

16 had with the Governor leading up to the filing of 17 the bankruptcy, and some of those discussions, as

18 the Court has directed, are protected by the 19 common interest agreement --

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. -- but -- but our understanding is

22 that some of them may not be.

Page 318

1 So I'm going to ask you a series of

2 questions. I'm assuming you'll take a breath and

3 let your -- let -- let your attorney tell you

4 whether or not you can answer --

5 A. Okay.

6 Q. -- and depending upon his direction,

7 we'll go to the next question.

8 A. That's fine.

9 Q. Did you consider, just prior to the 10 filing of the Chapter 9 petition, whether there

11 were political ramifications associated with

12 dealing with the pension's retiree benefits, other

13 employee issues in the course of the Chapter 9?

14 MR. SHUMAKER: Go ahead.

15 THE WITNESS: Did I consider?

16 BY MS. LEVINE:

17 Q. (No audible response.)

18 A. No.

19 Q. Was it your understanding that any of

20 the City's elected officials were concerned about

21 political considerations impacting their workforce

22 pension's retiree benefits as a result of the

1 Chapter 9 filing?

2 A. Was it my understanding that any of

3 the City officials were concerned?

4 Q. The Mayor, anybody working with the

5 Mayor.

6 A. I'd be speculating. They might have

7 been, but I don't know for sure.

8 Q. Did you have any discussions with the 9 Mayor or any of the City officials about the 10 political ramifications of a Chapter 9 filing?

11 A. No, not really political

12 ramifications, no.

13 Q. Did you discuss with the Governor any

14 of the political ramifications surrounding a

15 Chapter 9 filing?

16 A. Outside of any attorney-client

17 communications?

18 Q. (No audible response.)

19 A. You're shaking your head, so I

20 don't --

21 Q. Well, the political -- I'm -- I'm

22 asking the question about political ramifications,

Page 320

1 so I'm intentionally not asking the question with
 2 regard to any --
 3 A. Okay.
 4 Q. -- legal discussions.
 5 A. Explain for me, if you will, what you
 6 mean by "political ramifications." Just -- just
 7 so I make sure I understand what --
 8 Q. Well, let's put it this way --
 9 A. -- what you mean.
 10 Q. -- what would -- what's your
 11 understanding of political ramifications?
 12 A. Well, I'm -- I'm not sure. That's
 13 why I'm asking you.
 14 Q. Did you consider any political 15 consequences at all in connection with the
 16 Chapter 9 filing?
 17 A. Did I consider?
 18 Q. Yes.
 19 A. No.
 20 Q. Do you believe that -- do you
 21 understand -- did you have any discussions with 22 regard to whether or not the Governor was

Page 321

1 considering any political ramifications as a
 2 result of the Chapter 9 filing?
 3 A. I'm -- I'm trying to understand --
 4 let me put it to you this way: The answer would
 5 be no, because I believe the Governor wasn't
 6 concerned about political ramifications as you
 7 asked.
 8 Q. Okay.
 9 And what do you base that
 10 understanding on?
 11 Why do you believe the Governor
 12 wasn't concerned about political ramifications?
 13 A. Without -- and -- and let me just say
 14 this throughout the deposition. It is not my 15 intent to waive or in any way impact the
 16 attorney-client privilege.
 17 So I'm going to try to be responsive,
 18 but I don't want to bleed over into any arguments
 19 later that I somehow waived the privilege.
 20 My impression is in any of my
 21 discussions outside of attorney-client
 22 communications with the Governor, he never

Page 322

1 demonstrated any concern about political
 2 ramifications as they're being used today.
 3 Q. Did you understand that reductions in 4 vested pension benefits would be a necessary part
 5 of any restructuring for Detroit?
 6 A. I think that was certainly
 7 anticipated, yes.
 8 Q. Is it your understanding that the
 9 Governor understood that the reduction in vested
 10 pension benefits would be part of any
 11 restructuring for Detroit?
 12 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection: foundation.
 13 MS. LEVINE: I'm asking him his
 14 understanding.
 15 THE WITNESS: I'm not sure what the 16 Governor understood. You'd have to ask him.
 17 BY MS. LEVINE:
 18 Q. Did the Governor ever communicate to 19 you that he expected that vested pension benefits
 20 would be part of any restructuring for Detroit?
 21 A. The Governor communicated to me that 22 he expected -- no.

Page 323

1 Q. Did you discuss the reduction in
 2 vested in pension benefits with the Governor prior
 3 to the filing of the Chapter 9 petition?
 4 A. Not outside of any attorney-client
 5 communications.
 6 Q. Did you discuss the reduction of 7 vested pension benefits, without going into what 8 was discussed, prior to the filing of the 9 Chapter 9 petition with the Governor?
 10 A. Without waiving the attorney-client
 11 privilege, we may have.
 12 Q. You -- when you say "we may have,"
 13 you don't recall?
 14 A. I -- I don't recall a specific
 15 conversation with the Governor outside of 16 attorney-client communications talking about
 17 reductions in pension benefits.
 18 The Governor generally -- without
 19 waiving the privilege, would generally say, you
 20 make the decision that's best for the City in your 21 mind.
 22 Q. Was it your understanding, prior to

Page 324

1 the bankruptcy filing, that there was an issue
 2 with regard to whether or not pension benefit
 3 reductions would violate Michigan's State law or
 4 the State constitution?
 5 A. Can you repeat the question?
 6 MS. LEVINE: Can you read back the
 7 question, please?
 8 THE WITNESS: Yeah.
 9 - - -
 10 (Whereupon, the court reporter read
 11 back the pertinent part of the 12 record.)
 13 - - -
 14 THE WITNESS: Yes.
 15 BY MS. LEVINE:
 16 Q. And was it -- and did the Governor
 17 also have an understanding that that was an issue?
 18 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection: foundation.
 19 BY MS. LEVINE:
 20 Q. Was it your understanding that the 21 Governor also had an understanding that that was 22 an issue?

Page 325

1 A. Without speculating as to what the
 2 Governor would understand, I believe -- to the 3 extent I believe the Governor was aware that --
 4 what was being reported in the press and being
 5 discussed, I would say yes.
 6 Q. Was it your understanding that the
 7 only way to reduce pension benefits was to use
 8 or -- use Chapter 9 or file for Chapter 9
 9 protection?
 10 A. No.
 11 Q. Was it the Governor's understanding
 12 that the only way to reduce pension benefits or 13 to -- was to use Chapter 9 or to file for 14 Chapter 9 bankruptcy protection?
 15 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection: foundation;
 16 calls for speculation.
 17 THE WITNESS: Yeah. Here again, I
 18 don't know what the Governor's understanding was.
 19 MS. LEVINE: That's fine. I'm 20 expecting objections, but please don't coach the 21 witness. The objections --
 22 MR. SHUMAKER: I'm not coaching the

Page 326

1 witness --
 2 MS. LEVINE: -- the objection --
 3 MR. SHUMAKER: -- I'm just stating my
 4 objection.
 5 MS. LEVINE: I don't want -- yeah,
 6 but objection as to speculation, then, suddenly,
 7 he doesn't -- he -- his answer is I'm -- I don't
 8 want to speculate.
 9 Objections to form are fine.
 10 THE WITNESS: I -- I think I said
 11 before I want to be very careful about testifying
 12 to what the Governor's state of mind was. I can
 13 only testify as to what I understood.
 14 BY MS. LEVINE:
 15 Q. And that's all I'm asking --
 16 A. Okay.
 17 Q. -- we're only asking for your
 18 understanding --
 19 A. Okay.
 20 Q. -- I'm trying to use your
 21 understanding to avoid legal conclusions or 22 speculation or anything else.

Page 327

1 I just want to -- I'm -- I just -- I
 2 just want to understand your understanding.
 3 A. Okay.
 4 MR. SHUMAKER: If you phrase the
 5 question that way, that will help us all out.
 6 BY MS. LEVINE:
 7 Q. What's your understanding of the 8 Mayor's view with regard to the reduction in
 9 pension benefits?
 10 A. I don't have an understanding what
 11 the Mayor's view is.
 12 Q. Did you discuss, prior to the 13 Chapter 9 filing, pension reductions with the 14 Mayor?
 15 A. I don't believe so.
 16 Q. Did you discuss, prior to the
 17 Chapter 9 filing, pension reductions with anybody
 18 on behalf of the City Government?
 19 A. Let -- let me -- let me phrase my 20 an -- outside of any public discussions and 21 presentations I may have made at, say, for 22 instance, the June 10th creditor's meeting or the

Page 328

1 June 14th meeting for creditors, I don't recall
 2 any specific discussions with anyone on behalf of
 3 the City about reductions.
 4 Q. You -- you testified at your last
 5 deposition that, in your view, concessionary
 6 bargaining changes to pensions could not occur
 7 within the time frame that you had to work with.
 8 And I have an extra copy here if you
 9 want to see the -- the transcript, but --
 10 A. Um-hum.
 11 Q. -- the question is what time period
 12 were you talking about?
 13 A. I think I said at the June 10th
 14 public meeting and, again, at the June 14th
 15 proposal for creditors -- I think I was fairly
 16 clear that we would need to have some agreements
 17 in principle or term sheets and the like within 18 the next 30 days, and that if we were making
 19 movement, we might be willing to have further
 20 discussions for an additional 30 days.
 21 In fact, I believe at the back of the 22 June 14th proposal, we learned -- we -- we

Page 329

1 identified an evaluation time frame. So that's
 2 the time frame that I thought I was being fairly
 3 clear about.
 4 Q. And were either the June 14 or the
 5 June 20 meetings audiotaped?
 6 A. The June 10th or the June 14th
 7 meeting --
 8 Q. Right. Was -- were -- were either
 9 the June 10th or the June 14th meeting audiotaped?
 10 A. I believe the June 10th meeting was 11 audio and videotaped. I think I've seen that on 12 the Internet.
 13 I don't know about the June 14th
 14 meeting for creditors.
 15 Q. Did -- did you videotape those 16 meetings or did the EM -- were they videotaped on 17 behalf of EM?
 18 A. To be honest with you, that -- that 19 would have been done at a staff level. I don't
 20 know.
 21 I just know that I've seen the 22 June 10th meeting -- my June 10th presentation on

Page 330

1 various Internet sites. I don't recall seeing my
 2 June 14th presentation.
 3 MS. LEVINE: Can we request a copy of
 4 that if -- if it exists?
 5 MR. MOSS: Which one? It's --
 6 MR. SHUMAKER: Both of them if you
 7 have them.
 8 THE WITNESS: I think they're on
 9 YouTube.
 10 MR. SHUMAKER: I'd ask you to put the 11 request into writing so we have that.
 12 BY MS. LEVINE:
 13 Q. When you gave the presentation at the 14 June 10th and the June 14th meeting, did you
 15 believe that it was possible to reach consensual
 16 agreements within the 30-day period that you
 17 outlined?
 18 MR. SHUMAKER: Can I just state an
 19 objection here? Where are you're going, Counsel?
 20 I'm going to be patient and allow you to -- to 21 ask -- ask questions, but let's be very clear from 22 the outset as to what Judge Rhodes ordered and

Page 331

1 what ASME requested in its -- its motion to compel
 2 additional testimony from Mr. Orr.
 3 The request that you made was -- to
 4 the Judge was that Mr. Orr reappear for three 5 hours of deposition testimony concerning his 6 communications with State officials in the 7 presence of legal counsel since his appointment as
 8 emergency manager.
 9 That is what the subject of today's
 10 deposition is.
 11 MS. LEVINE: Right. And this is a
 12 foundation question.
 13 MR. SHUMAKER: Okay. I just want --
 14 I -- I'm just going to caution you from the --
 15 from the get-go that we're not going to meander
 16 all over that -- that's what the order is and 17 that's why we're here.
 18 MS. LEVINE: Can you read back the
 19 question, please?
 20 - - -
 21 (Whereupon, the court reporter read
 22 back the pertinent part of the

Page 332

1 record.)

2 - - -

3 THE WITNESS: Yes.

4 BY MS. LEVINE:

5 Q. Did you discuss that with the

6 Governor before the June 10th meeting?

7 A. Let -- as I think I said at my

8 September 16th deposition, I would have regular

9 meetings with the Governor, typically weekly.

10 There were attorneys present at all of those

11 meetings.

12 I am not -- and I'll take guidance

13 from my counsel, but this is in terms of how I

14 intend to respond today.

15 I am not trying to assert the

16 privilege for people who have legal degrees but

17 were not acting as attorneys. For instance, the

18 Governor has a JD, and the Treasurer has a JD. So

19 I'm not trying to say that the privilege attaches

20 for their capacity as Governor and Treasurer, not

21 acting as attorneys. But there are attorneys in

22 those meetings on the Governor's staff acting as

1 attorneys.

2 Without violating the privilege

3 during those meetings, what I can say is that --

4 well, if I could have the question again.

5 Q. It's really a simple -- it -- it's

6 a -- it's a narrow question --

7 A. Right.

8 Q. -- I understand the concern, but it's

9 a narrow question.

10 A. Right.

11 Q. Did you discuss -- you -- as I

12 understand your testimony, you indicated on

13 June 10th and June 14th that you were looking at 14 a 30-day time frame.

15 A. Um-hum.

16 Q. Did you discuss that 30-day time

17 frame prior to the June 10 meeting with the

18 Governor?

19 A. I'll look for a little guidance. If

20 I had discussions, they probably were during

21 meetings where attorneys were present.

22 Without disclosing what those

Page 334

1 communications were, we typically would have

2 discussed what we would have needed to present --

3 I don't recall so much for the June 10th public

4 meeting, so the answer is no for there.

5 For the June 14th meeting, we

6 probably would have discussed at a very high level

7 the nature of the presentation. I don't recall

8 discussing with specificity the exact time frames.

9 Q. In order to meet the 30-day time

10 frame that you're discussing, were there any

11 benchmarks or criteria that you thought would have

12 to be met -- would have to be met within that

13 30-day period in order to conclude what you needed

14 to conclude at the end of the 30-day period?

15 A. Well, I think what I said was that

16 that was an initial 30-day period, but if we were

17 moving forward and making progress, we'd be

18 willing to extend it for another 30-day period or

19 so. I think that's what I said.

20 So when you say "benchmarks," we were

21 looking for good-faith negotiations and movements

22 in the nature, I think I said on June 14th,

Page 335

1 agreements in principle, term sheets and the like.

2 So it's -- it's not as stringent as I

3 think -- I don't want to give the impression that

4 our expectation was as stringent as there had to

5 be specific benchmarks, but we wanted for people

6 to come in with good-faith, credible proposals to

7 show that we were moving forward on these issues,

8 and we would continue to negotiate on those

9 issues.

10 Q. Did you have -- following the June 10

11 and June 14 meeting, did you have any discussions

12 with the Governor with regard to the progress or

13 lack of progress being made in that regard?

14 A. Probably. Without violating the 15 privilege, we probably had discussions without

16 saying what those discussions were, because there

17 would have been -- would have been attorneys

18 present.

19 Q. When did those discussions take

20 place?

21 A. They would typically have taken

22 place, as I've said, at the weekly meetings that

Page 336

1 the Governor and I and his team and members of my
2 team would have.
3 Q. So after June 14, when was your next
4 weekly meeting?
5 A. I don't know specifically, but I'm --
6 I said it's typically weekly.
7 So I'm -- I think we probably had one
8 the next week.
9 Q. Do you recall what day the next week?
10 A. I do not.
11 Q. Do you recall if there was one
12 because it was -- do you recall if there was one
13 the following week?
14 A. I do not.
15 Q. Were there one or two meetings with 16 the Governor from the time of the June 14 meeting
17 to the time of the filing of the Webster
18 litigation on June 3?
19 A. Well, there could well have been more
20 than two. I do recall, and I think I said on 21 September 16th, I don't think we had one the 4th
22 of July -- week of the 4th of July, which was a

Page 337

1 Thursday.
2 Q. Understood. Not the question.
3 The question is, from June 14 up
4 until July 3, how many times did you meet with the
5 Governor?
6 A. No. Your question was did we have
7 one or two meetings, and my answer was I believe
8 we probably had more than two.
9 Q. And did you discuss the pension
10 and/or healthcare benefit issues that you had
11 discussed during the June 10 and June 14 meeting
12 with the Governor during those two, maybe more,
13 meetings?
14 A. Ms. Levine, let me -- let me say
15 this: We probably discussed them broadly, but
16 there were no discussions that I recall in detail
17 about what our plan would have to be in those 18 meetings, such as what level of cuts they would be 19 and the like, if any.
20 Q. Did -- did you get any proposals
21 during that two-week period in response to those 22 meetings?

Page 338

1 A. I think I said on June 16th, we've
2 had some discussions with some bargaining units.
3 I don't recall if they were between the June 14th
4 time frame -- if they were -- I think we were in 5 discussions with some bargaining units during that 6 time. So, yes, I believe we did get some
7 proposals.
8 Q. Did you report on those proposals to
9 the Governor?
10 A. I -- generally speaking, yes.
11 Q. Did you indicate to the Governor that 12 you were making progress?
13 A. I probably indicated that we were
14 making some progress, yes.
15 Q. Did you discuss with the Governor
16 whether there were additional proposals you were 17 hoping to receive?
18 A. We probably did express a wish for 19 additional proposals. We were hoping for a global 20 solution.
21 Q. Did you come up with an action plan
22 to solicit further proposals?

Page 339

1 A. I thought we began that on June 14th,
2 a proposal for creditors, where we ended it by
3 saying we're interested in responses.
4 Q. In any of the meetings that you had
5 with the Governor between June 14th and July 3rd
6 where you didn't get proposals, for -- did you
7 discuss constituents from whom you didn't get 8 proposals that you wish you would have gotten 9 proposals from?
10 A. No, I didn't --
11 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to the form.
12 THE WITNESS: -- no, I don't recall
13 discussing at that level of specificity.
14 BY MS. LEVINE:
15 Q. The Governor authorized the Chapter 9
16 filing on July 18th.
17 Do you know who drafted the 18 Governor's authorization?
19 A. I do not.
20 Q. Do you know whether the language in 21 the Governor's authorization was discussed with 22 your attorneys at Jones Day?

Page 340

1 A. I do not.
2 Q. Did the Governor ask you to request
3 authorization to file the Chapter 9 or was it your
4 independent decision on July 16th?
5 A. It was my independent decision.
6 Q. Did you have any specific discussions
7 with the Governor concerning the conditions or 8 the -- or with respect to specific directions from 9 the Governor with regard to pension benefits?
10 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
11 THE WITNESS: No, not with the
12 Governor.
13 BY MS. LEVINE:
14 Q. Was it your understanding that the
15 Governor was seeking political cover by not taking 16 a position with respect to pension reductions, but
17 only citing to Section 943 of the Bankruptcy Code?
18 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection: form.
19 THE WITNESS: No.
20 BY MS. LEVINE:
21 Q. Did -- did you suggest the citing
22 to 943 of the Bankruptcy Code to the Governor?

Page 341

1 A. No. I had no involvement in the
2 letter -- the Governor's letter.
3 Q. Were there any discussions about
4 citing to 943 of the Bankruptcy Code outside of 5 the letter as a -- as of -- as a way to deal with
6 issues with regard to pension reductions?
7 MR. SHUMAKER: I'm just going to
8 caution the witness again. To the extent you can
9 answer the question without revealing
10 attorney-client communications, you may do so.
11 THE WITNESS: The -- there were none
12 with the Governor.
13 BY MS. LEVINE:
14 Q. Is it your understanding that the
15 language regarding conditions, specifically the 16 use of the reference to 943 of the Bankruptcy
17 Code, authorizes you to alter vested pension
18 benefits?
19 A. That seems to call for a legal
20 conclusion.
21 Let -- let me just say this
22 generally --

Page 342

1 Q. I'm just asking your understanding.
2 A. Let me -- let me just say this
3 generally.
4 I was not involved in any fashion in
5 drafting the Governor's response. My
6 understanding is that without citing to a specific
7 section of the code, because I have not analyzed
8 it, that the letter grants me authority to use any 9 resources that are available to propose a plan of 10 adjustment.
11 Q. After you got the letter, did you
12 discuss with the Governor what the meaning was in 13 the letter of the reference to Section 543 [sic]
14 of the Bankruptcy Code?
15 A. No.
16 Q. 943, I'm sorry.
17 A. Yeah, I knew -- I knew what you
18 meant.
19 No.
20 Q. Between June 14th -- or June 10th and
21 the filing on July 18th, besides legal
22 conclusions, besides pension benefits, did you

Page 343

1 discuss with the Governor certain ideas that you
2 had with regard to how to restructure or deal with
3 the financial situation in Detroit?
4 A. Yes, we likely did without divulging
5 any privileges, yes.
6 Q. I'm looking for the business
7 financial terms, not the legal terms.
8 In other words, did you --
9 A. Um-hum.
10 Q. -- discuss, for example, selling
11 assets?
12 A. No.
13 Q. Did you discuss generating additional
14 revenue with the Governor?
15 A. Here again, some of these
16 discussions, in fact, every meeting we had on a
17 regular basis would have had attorneys present, so
18 I want to be very careful.
19 For instance -- for instance, if
20 there are discussions about a millage rate and the 21 maximum legal millage amount, I would not want
22 those to bleed over into disclosing

Page 344

1 attorney-client protected communications.
 2 What I can say is that at -- at a
 3 high level, we discussed ways to potentially
 4 generate revenue.
 5 Q. Did you discuss privatization with
 6 the Governor during that same time frame from 7 June 10th through the filing?
 8 MR. SHUMAKER: I'll just caution the
 9 witness, if you had discussions with the Governor
 10 where counsel was present in connection with a
 11 request for an indicia of legal advice --
 12 THE WITNESS: Right.
 13 MR. SHUMAKER: -- I don't want you to 14 answer to that; but if you can do so outside of 15 any such request or provision of legal advice, you
 16 can answer.
 17 THE WITNESS: Okay.
 18 Without disclosing legal advice, we
 19 may have discussed nonlegal-related issues, for 20 instance, with an outstanding solid waste RFP and 21 how that could save the City money and produced a
 22 higher level of services for the City.

Page 345

1 Legal issues regarding the RFP, I --
 2 I won't talk about, but, for instance, the --
 3 those privatization in that sense would have been
 4 discussed.
 5 Privatization in a broader sense, I
 6 don't recall having discussions of a philosophical
 7 issue about privatization. We probably would have
 8 had discussions about specific RFPs outstanding.
 9 BY MS. LEVINE:
 10 Q. Did you have any other specific
 11 discussions with regard to RFPs or outsourcing in 12 connection with improving the financial 13 condition -- or allegedly improving the financial 14 condition of the City?
 15 A. Well, improving it. Like I said,
 16 I -- I do recall discussions about the solid waste
 17 RFP which we were somewhat excited about, save
 18 money and increase quality of services.
 19 I'm trying to think of anything else
 20 that could be called privatization. That's the 21 one that sticks out in my mind. I don't recall
 22 anything else.

Page 346

1 Q. During the course of these
 2 conversations, did you have any conversations with
 3 the Governor about preserving jobs for the
 4 citizens of Detroit?
 5 A. Yes.
 6 Q. And what were those conversations?
 7 A. Well, for instance, in the solid
 8 waste RFP, one of the bidders -- I -- we probably 9 discussed that one of the bidders had come in who
 10 had done this before and was able to move the City
 11 jobs over to private sector jobs with the same
 12 employees. And so there would be no net loss of 13 jobs.
 14 Q. Did you discuss how that might impact
 15 vested benefits and vested pension rights?
 16 A. No, we really didn't have -- no.
 17 Q. You -- you approved the retention of 18 Jones Day under EM Order Number 4 and officially
 19 approved Jones Day's contract on April 20 --
 20 THE COURT REPORTER: I -- I'm sorry.
 21 I can't hear you here.
 22 MS. LEVINE: Sorry.

Page 347

1 BY MS. LEVINE:
 2 Q. You approved the retention of
 3 Jones Day under EM Order Number 4 and officially
 4 approved Jones Day's contract on April 23, 2010;
 5 is that correct?
 6 A. If your represent -- representation
 7 is accurate, yes. I don't independently recall
 8 the dates, but that sounds correct.
 9 Q. Okay. So after April 23, 2013, you
 10 and Jones Day had an attorney-client relationship,
 11 yes?
 12 A. I think that's a legal conclusion.
 13 The attorney-client relationship could attach
 14 before then.
 15 Q. What was your understanding of when 16 your legal attorney-client relationship with 17 Jones Day attached?
 18 A. I don't know. That's what I'm saying
 19 it calls for a legal conclusion.
 20 My understanding of the days I
 21 practiced law is that the attorney-client
 22 relationship can attach prior to the actual

Page 348

1 formalization of an attorney-client relationship.
 2 Q. When did you first -- all right.
 3 Let me ask you this: Did Jones Day
 4 represent the City in any capacity before
 5 April 23, 2013?
 6 A. I don't know. That's why I keep
 7 saying it could be a legal conclusion.
 8 I know that their contract was before
 9 City -- the Mayor had selected them, and their
 10 contract was below -- before City Council before
 11 then.
 12 Q. What was the date that the Mayor
 13 selected Jones Day to represent the City?
 14 A. I don't recall.
 15 Q. Was it prior to February of 2013?
 16 A. I -- I don't recall. I don't recall.
 17 I don't think so.
 18 Q. Did Jones Day represent the State of 19 Michigan in any capacity before April 2000 --
 20 April 2013?
 21 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection: foundation.
 22 THE WITNESS: Jones Day may have --

Page 349

1 I -- I don't know. They may have represented the
 2 State in other matters, but if you're talking
 3 about with regard to this matter, I don't recall.
 4 BY MS. LEVINE:
 5 Q. What does NERD stand for?
 6 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 7 BY MS. LEVINE:
 8 Q. Do you know what NERD -- do you --
 9 have you heard the phrase "NERD" in connection
 10 with the New Energy to Reinvest Diversity Fund?
 11 A. Yeah. When you said "NERD," it
 12 stands for a kid who was like me when he was 13 growing up, sort of a geek.
 14 But if you're talking about the 15 acronym related to something affiliated with the 16 Governor, then, yes, I've heard of that.
 17 Q. All right.
 18 Do you know what it is -- let me
 19 ask --
 20 A. I --
 21 Q. -- it this way: What's your
 22 understanding of what it is?

Page 350

1 A. I -- I -- only what I've read in the
 2 papers. I know nothing about the NERD Fund other
 3 than what I've read in the papers.
 4 Q. Do you know who any of the donors are
 5 to the NERD Fund?
 6 A. I haven't got a clue.
 7 Q. So it's not you?
 8 A. It is -- I've never donated to the 9 NERD Fund, no.
 10 Q. Has Jones Day?
 11 A. Not that I know of.
 12 Q. Has any City retained professional?
 13 A. I have no idea.
 14 Q. Do you know whether any of the City's
 15 creditors are -- have donated to the NERD Fund?
 16 A. I know nothing about the NERD Fund
 17 other than what I've read in the papers. The 18 first time I heard about the NERD Fund is when I
 19 read about it in the paper --
 20 Q. So do --
 21 A. -- I know nothing about the donors.
 22 Q. Do you know whether any -- do you

Page 351

1 know whether any of the SWAP parties have donated?
 2 A. No, I do not.
 3 Q. If you had access to the
 4 information -- if you have access to the 5 information, would you be willing to disclose the 6 donors?
 7 A. I don't have access to the
 8 information, and I think that's a question -- if 9 it's a fund run by someone else, that's their 10 decision. I don't have access to any information
 11 related to the NERD Fund.
 12 Q. Would you be willing to ask the 13 Governor to have that information disclosed?
 14 A. Sitting here today, no.
 15 Q. Have any of your expenses as 16 emergency manager been paid or reimbursed by the 17 NERD Fund?
 18 A. Not --
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: I think we're getting
 20 pretty far afield here -- here, Counsel. This is 21 not really --
 22 MS. LEVINE: Yeah, it is --

Page 352

1 MR. SHUMAKER: It's starting to
2 get --
3 MS. LEVINE: -- I'll be bring it
4 back.
5 MR. SHUMAKER: Okay.
6 THE WITNESS: What I read in the
7 paper is that my housing is paid for by the 8 NERD Fund. I've never seen the lease, and I've 9 never seen a payment.
10 That's the extent of what I know of 11 the NERD Fund and its involvement with me.
12 MS. LEVINE: This is Exhibit 20.
13 MR. SHUMAKER: Do you have an extra
14 copy?
15 MS. LEVINE: Yeah, one.
16 MR. SHUMAKER: Thank you.

19 marked, for identification purposes,
20 as Orr Deposition Exhibit
21 Number 20.)

Page 354

1 A. Yeah, I do. Yes, I do.
2 Q. And it discusses the base
3 compensation of $275,000 a year?
4 A. Yes, among other things.
5 Q. And contract period of -- include --
6 including a contract period not to
7 exceed 18 months?
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. Did your final contract have an
10 incentive if the job was completed sooner?
11 A. No.
12 Q. It also discusses an intent to raise 13 private funding for performance measure/outcome
14 bonus?
15 A. Yes.
16 Q. Does your final contract have a
17 performance measure/outcome bonus?
18 A. No. We never talked about it yet.
19 Q. Did you discuss the private funding
20 referenced in that e-mail?
21 A. No.
22 Q. Did you under -- do you -- did you

Page 353

1 MS. LEVINE: For -- for the record,
2 the -- the Bates number is JD-RD-0000334.
3 (Whereupon, the witness reviews the 4 material provided.)
5 BY MS. LEVINE:
6 Q. Mr. Orr, there are two e-mails on the
7 first page of this document.
8 A. Um-hum, yes.
9 Q. I'm going to ask you to look at the 10 second e-mail.
11 It's from --
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. -- Richard Baird to you?
14 A. Yes.
15 Q. Dated February 12, 2013, correct?
16 A. Yes.
17 Q. And it discusses -- well, let me ask
18 the question.
19 Is this e-mail discussing your
20 potential retention as the emergency manager?
21 A. Yes, it appears to do that.
22 Q. Do you recall receiving this e-mail?

Page 355

1 have any understanding of what the source of that
2 private funding would be?
3 A. Not at all.
4 Q. It discusses a sublease for a
5 furnished apartment in the City?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. And that made it to the final
8 contract?
9 A. Actually, it's not in my contract, I
10 believe.
11 Q. But you have a subleased apartment in 12 the City -- or a leased apartment in the City?
13 A. I -- I have an apartment that I stay
14 in in the City; the arrangement I -- I can't speak
15 to.
16 Q. How did you learn that there was an
17 apartment available to you?
18 A. I believe the first day, I stayed in 19 a hotel room, and the next day, someone -- and I
20 really can't tell you if it was on behalf of the 21 State or if it was someone related to the hotel --
22 when I came back from work that day, took me to --

1 and my suitcase to the apartment.

2 Q. Is it your understanding that the

3 City's paying for that apartment?

4 A. I -- I don't know who's paying for

5 the apartment.

6 Q. And you get your expenses reimbursed?

7 A. I haven't had any of my expenses

8 reimbursed.

9 Q. Does anybody -- who pays for your

10 flying, for example, back and forth from D.C.?

11 A. I do.

12 Q. And that -- and none of those have

13 been reimbursed?

14 A. Not a dime.

15 Q. And you get a security detail?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. 24/7?

18 A. Certainly -- well, they say 24/7, but

19 I -- they walk me to my apartment and lock me in,

20 and then I see them in the morning. So I assume

21 it's 24/7. That's -- that's my detail.

22 Q. Do you know who's paying for that

1 security detail?

2 A. I do not, but they are Michigan State

3 Police; they're not private.

4 Q. So there was no discussion, though,

5 back in or around February of 2013 with regard to

6 the source of any funding to help subsidize the

7 cost of the emergency manager?

8 A. No. In fact, I think there's an

9 e-mail that has been produced somewhere where I

10 say back I -- you know, the -- the -- something to

11 the effect the job is the job is, and I'm not

12 expecting anything supplemental.

13 Q. No, I'm not asking you if you were

14 expecting anything supplemental. I'm asking the 15 source of the funding to pay for you --

16 A. Oh, I've --

17 Q. -- as a --

18 A. -- had -- yeah, I -- I -- I -- my

19 checks come from a -- a Michigan State Government

20 Web site. I assume that's from the State, but I

21 have no idea if -- if there's any other

22 arrangement -- my direct deposits.

Page 358

1 MS. LEVINE: I have no further

2 questions. Thank you.

3 THE WITNESS: Okay.

4 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Go off the record?

5 Going off the record at 11:50.

7 (Whereupon, a discussion was held off

8 the record.)

10 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going back on the

13 EXAMINATION (CONTINUED) BY COUNSEL

14 FOR RETIREES COMMITTEE

15 - - -

16 BY MR. ULLMAN:

17 Q. Good morning, Mr. Orr.

18 A. Good morning.

19 Q. As you know, I'm Anthony Ullman

20 and -- for the Retirees Committee from Dentons,

21 and I have some additional questions for you this

22 morning.

Page 359

1 A. Good morning, Mr. Ullman.

2 Q. First of all, I'd like to put a

3 document before you which we will mark as

4 Exhibit --

5 MR. ULLMAN: Are we up to 21?

6 THE COURT REPORTER: Yes.

7 THE WITNESS: Twenty-one.

8 MR. ULLMAN: Twenty-one. I need a

9 sticker for that.

10 - - -

11 (Whereupon, Jones Day Presentation to

12 the City of Detroit; Detroit,

13 Michigan, January 29, 2013 was

14 marked, for identification purposes,

15 as Orr Deposition Exhibit

16 Number 21.)

17 - - -

18 MR. ULLMAN: Here's a copy for you.

19 I want to get rid of my extras.

20 MR. SHUMAKER: Let me state on the 21 record a couple of things. One, I'm not sure

22 technically whether the Retirees even joined

Page 360

1 ASME's motion, so I'm not even certain that it's
2 proper that Mr. Ullman be asking questions.
3 Secondly, this is -- Mr. Ullman can
4 identify it, but this document is the Jones Day
5 presentation to the City of Detroit on January
6 29th, 2013.
7 I don't see how that funnels into the
8 request that was made to Judge Rolls -- Rhodes
9 regarding three hours of deposition testimony
10 concerning Mr. Orr's communications with State
11 officials in the presence of legal counsel since
12 his appointment as emergency manager.
13 That said, this document was produced
14 after the deposition, and I'm going to let you go
15 into it. But I am going to say --
16 MR. ULLMAN: I --
17 MR. SHUMAKER: -- within reason --
18 MR. ULLMAN: -- I don't -- I don't
19 intend to dwell very long on it --
20 MR. SHUMAKER: Okay.
21 MR. ULLMAN: -- and I appreciate your
22 recognition. This was produced after the last

Page 361

1 deposition.
2 BY MR. ULLMAN:
3 Q. Okay. Mr. --
4 THE COURT REPORTER: I have to mark
5 it there first.
6 BY MR. ULLMAN:
7 Q. Okay. Mr. Orr, what we've marked as
8 Exhibit 21 is entitled, Presentation to the City
9 of Detroit; Detroit, Michigan, January 29, 2013
10 from Jones Day.
11 Can you identify this document for 12 me, Mr. Orr?
13 A. Yes.
14 Q. Okay. And what is it, please?
15 A. I believe it's a slide deck
16 presentation to the City of Detroit for a -- in 17 response to a solicitation the firm received for 18 representation regarding potential restructuring
19 work on behalf of the City dated January 29th,
20 2013 marked confidential.
21 Q. Okay. And this is in connection with 22 the presentation that you testified about last

Page 362

1 time; is that correct?
2 A. Yes, when I said the end of January.
3 It's commonly referred to as a "pitch book."
4 Q. Okay. And you -- you were part of
5 the Jones Day team, and your picture appears on 6 Page 3 of this document; is that right?
7 A. Yes, I was part of the presentation
8 team, yes.
9 Q. Okay. And did you have any role in
10 the preparation of this document?
11 A. Yes. I mean, it -- it was a
12 collaborative effort from a number of different
13 attorneys in the Jones Day law firm, but I was 14 involved in that process as well.
15 Q. Okay. And did you review the 16 document -- can we refer to this as the pitch
17 book?
18 A. Yes.
19 Q. Okay. Did you -- did you review the 20 pitch book, Exhibit 21, before it -- before the 21 presentation?
22 A. Yes.

Page 363

1 Q. Okay. And I just note -- I'm not
2 going to go into my particular specifics here, but
3 if, for example, just picking one, if you look at
4 Page 18, there's what's called Speaker Notes,
5 which -- I assume this was a PowerPoint
6 presentation, so someone would be talking --
7 speaking orally as a slide goes on the screen; is
8 that right?
9 A. Well, it was -- it -- it -- it -- it
10 could have been a PowerPoint. As I recall, we did
11 not -- there weren't PowerPoint capabilities, so
12 we intended to work off the document --
13 Q. Um-hum.
14 A. -- but the discussion, within a
15 minute or two, veered away from the document and 16 more was a dialogue, so . . .
17 Q. Okay. So what we have as Exhibit 21
18 was the -- the internal -- at least was this 19 internal version of the pitch book; in other
20 words, were there speaker notes?
21 A. Yes, were the speaker -- this --
22 the -- the speaker notes were not presented to --

Page 364

1 Q. That's --
 2 A. -- the review team.
 3 Q. -- that's what I wanted to clarify.
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. Okay. And when you say that you
 6 reviewed the document before -- before it went out
 7 in its final form to the -- to the people you were 8 pitching to at the meeting, you know, with the 9 City, you reviewed the speaker notes as well?
 10 A. Mr. Ullman, to be honest, I -- I
 11 reviewed -- I can't be -- this document was not 12 generated solely by me --
 13 Q. I understand.
 14 A. -- it was generated by a team effort.
 15 I think I reviewed a number of 16 different drafts of the document. I'm not -- I --
 17 I believe I reviewed the final draft of the pitch
 18 book that went out. I am not sure I reviewed the 19 final draft of the draft of the speaker notes,
 20 because at that time, I think I was involved in 21 the actual mediation of another matter. So I was 22 doing this in between some other matters.

Page 365

1 But generally speaking, I'm familiar
 2 with this document.
 3 Q. Okay. And was there -- was there
 4 anything in the document that you disagreed with?
 5 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 6 THE WITNESS: Without reviewing it
 7 today, generally speaking, no.
 8 BY MR. ULLMAN:
 9 Q. Okay. And can you tell me were there
 10 any particular portions of Exhibit 21 that you had
 11 primary responsibility for preparing?
 12 A. No. The -- the document evolved
 13 through -- as you are probably familiar with the 14 pitch books for attorneys seeking legal work, the 15 document evolves as you go through it, a number of 16 conversations, e-mails with a number of different
 17 sources.
 18 I don't recall being -- I don't
 19 recall looking at this document and saying, oh, I
 20 only did Pages 23 through 23 [verbatim], for 21 instance. I may have commented and edited
 22 different pages. I may have made suggestions on

Page 366

1 who should be on the team, who should be on the
 2 representation team, what -- what potential legal
 3 services might be necessary.
 4 And, for instance, at the back, you
 5 have team members, things along those lines,
 6 but -- but there was no specific section that was
 7 dedicated solely to me.
 8 Q. Okay. I'm not asking whether it was 9 dedicated solely to you, but whether you had 10 primary responsibility for preparing.
 11 A. No.
 12 Q. Okay.
 13 A. No.
 14 Q. And I think you indicated that the 15 slides themselves were given over to the City at 16 the meeting or -- was it the City or the State?
 17 I'm trying to remember, did you --
 18 A. It -- it was a review team composed
 19 of I think --
 20 Q. Buckfire was there?
 21 A. -- the -- the investment bankers were
 22 there --

Page 367

1 Q. Yeah.
 2 A. -- for the City who had been
 3 retained, the City representatives were there and 4 the State representatives were there.
 5 Q. Okay. I'll talk -- call that the --
 6 the review team --
 7 A. Review team --
 8 Q. -- is that the term you like?
 9 Okay --
 10 A. -- yeah.
 11 Q. -- so as I understand what you're
 12 saying, the -- the -- the slides themselves were 13 present -- given over to the review team as a --
 14 a -- a bound --
 15 A. Yes.
 16 Q. -- volume or attached in some way?
 17 A. Yes, the -- the -- the slide deck as 18 the pitch book was given to the review team.
 19 Q. Okay. And then, at the presentation,
 20 were -- how did that work? Did you -- did people
 21 sort of go through the slides orally and then --
 22 and -- and make comments as they were going

Page 368

1 through the different pages in the pitch book?

2 A. No. As I recall, we handed out the

3 pitch book and began sort of going through the

4 slide, but within the first page or two, the

5 discussion exceeded the slides. And we really

6 ended up not going through the pitch book in any

7 meaningful manner --

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. -- at the presentation.

10 Q. Okay. And this -- at the time of the 11 presentation, you were indeed still part of

12 Jones Day --

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. -- and part of the pitch team?

15 A. Yes, absolutely.

16 Q. Okay.

17 Okay. I'm going to mark another

18 document, Mr. Orr, and ask if you've ever seen

19 this, which is Number 22.

20 A. Two.

21 MR. ULLMAN: Here's a copy for you,

22 two copies for you, and an extra, and an extra. I

Page 369

1 don't want to bring these back with me is all.

2 - - -

3 (Whereupon, City of Detroit —

4 Restructuring Plan, Mayor's

5 Implementation Progress Report was

6 marked, for identification purposes,

7 as Orr Deposition Exhibit

8 Number 22.)

9 - - -

10 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

11 BY MR. ULLMAN:

12 Q. Okay. What we've marked as

13 Exhibit 22, Mr. Orr, is entitled, City of Detroit

14 — Restructuring Plan, Mayor's Implementation

15 Progress Report, with the date of March 2013.

16 Have you ever seen this document

17 before?

18 A. I think I've seen it before, but I

19 think that was after I became emergency manager.

20 Q. Okay. That's fine.

21 And what I'd like to do is try to 22 just ask you about one page of this.

Page 370

1 A. Um-hum.

2 Q. If you could look at Page 6.

3 A. Um-hum.

4 Q. Okay. What we --

5 MR. SHUMAKER: Of the -- of the 6 actual document?

7 MR. ULLMAN: Of the -- yes. I'm

8 sorry, yeah.

9 And just for clarity, this document

10 bears Bates Number DTMI00129416, and Page 6 of the 11 document bears the Bates number ending in 422.

12 THE WITNESS: Um-hum.

13 BY MR. ULLMAN:

14 Q. Okay. And this page, in general, is

15 entitled, The Mayor's plan includes strategies to

16 implement changes that will significantly reduce

17 general fund long-term liabilities.

18 I'd like you to focus on Number -- or

19 Letter (b) --

20 A. Yes.

21 Q. -- you see 3(b)?

22 A. Um-hum.

Page 371

1 Q. It says, Pension unfunded

2 liabilities, and the first bullet point says,

3 Approximately 650 million of unfunded liability as

4 of fiscal year 2012, of which only 250 million

5 relates to general fund.

6 A. Yes, I see that.

7 Q. And do you have an understanding as

8 to what's being said there and what that reference

9 is?

10 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection: foundation.

11 THE WITNESS: Yeah. I was obviously

12 not responsible for drafting, developing or the 13 due diligence behind the document. The document

14 speaks for itself.

15 But what I think is being said there

16 is that the unfunded liability for the -- and I

17 assume it's speaking to both pension funds; it may

18 be one or the other --

19 BY MR. ULLMAN:

20 Q. Um-hum.

21 A. -- but the unfunded liability for

22 fiscal year 2012 is 250, and 250 million of that

Page 372

1 is somehow an obligation of the general fund.
 2 Q. Okay. Did you say 250? It's -- you
 3 meant to say 650, right?
 4 A. No, no. It's 650 total --
 5 Q. Right.
 6 A. -- but 250 million of that is an
 7 obligation of the general fund.
 8 Q. You had misspoken and said 250 both
 9 times --
 10 A. Oh, I'm sorry --
 11 Q. -- so --
 12 A. -- oh, no -- okay. 650 and 250, I'm 13 sorry. I was --
 14 Q. Okay.
 15 A. -- thinking ahead, thinking quicker
 16 than my mouth moved.
 17 Q. Okay. And as I -- I understand that 18 the 650 million that's referred here -- to here by 19 the Mayor corresponds pretty closely, if I recall,
 20 to the $644 million figure that was referred to in 21 the June 14th proposal; is that right?
 22 A. I would -- I -- yes, I -- I would

Page 373

1 think it does --
 2 Q. Okay.
 3 A. -- I'm -- I'm -- here again, I'm
 4 not -- I'm assuming it -- it speaks for itself and
 5 it's facially correct; but, yes, I would think
 6 that's the reference.
 7 Q. Okay. And so can you tell me what --
 8 what is your understanding when the Mayor says
 9 here that 250 million relates to the general fund,
 10 what the other 300 --
 11 A. 400.
 12 Q. -- 400 million relates to? And
 13 what's -- what is the distinction being drawn
 14 between what relates to the general fund versus
 15 what relates to something other than the general
 16 fund?
 17 A. I'm not sure.
 18 Q. Well, is it correct that -- that some 19 portion -- let's just stick with the -- we can use
 20 the $644 million number --
 21 A. Um-hum.
 22 Q. -- because I think that's what you

Page 374

1 would probably say is more accurate.
 2 That's the number that's cited in the
 3 June 14th proposal, right?
 4 A. Yeah, they may have -- they may have
 5 rounded up here --
 6 Q. Okay.
 7 A. -- but we'll -- it's -- it's
 8 approximately that amount.
 9 Q. Okay. Is it correct that for the 10 approximately 644 million unfunded pension
 11 liability that you refer to in the June 14th
 12 proposal, that some portion of that is allocable
 13 to a payment source other than the general fund?
 14 A. I think that's correct.
 15 Q. Okay. And what are those --
 16 what is -- what are the other payment sources to 17 which the total 650 -- or I'm sorry -- 644 million
 18 is allocable other than the general fund?
 19 A. Well, there are other sources, but it
 20 could be principally related to the Water
 21 department.
 22 Q. Okay. And what is your understanding

Page 375

1 as to how much of the approximately 644 million
 2 unfunded pension liability relates to liability
 3 for personnel from the Department of Water and 4 Sewer?
 5 A. Approximately that difference.
 6 Q. Okay. So it's about 450 million?
 7 A. Approximately, yeah.
 8 Q. Okay. And I'm trying to recall from 9 your last testimony.
 10 For the -- the pension monies that
 11 are due relative to personnel from the Department
 12 of Water and Sewer, are the pension payments made
 13 directly by the Department of Water Sewer to the 14 retirement systems, or is the money paid first by 15 the retirement -- I'm sorry -- by the Water and 16 Sewer Department to the City, which then transmits
 17 it to the retirement system, or is there another
 18 mechanism for the payment?
 19 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to form.
 20 THE WITNESS: I believe it's the -- I
 21 believe it's the latter.
 22

Page 376

1 BY MR. ULLMAN:
 2 Q. "The latter" meaning there's
 3 another --
 4 A. To the City --
 5 Q. -- payment mechanism?
 6 A. -- no, no, no, not -- the latter --
 7 not the -- not the discount; "the latter" meaning
 8 to the City and then to the fund.
 9 Q. Okay.
 10 A. I could be wrong, because may be --
 11 but I believe it's -- I believe it's that process.
 12 Q. Okay. I'm asking because I thought I
 13 had seen some other document which said that 14 the -- maybe it's the same thing -- the City gets 15 the money or has the right to bill the -- the 16 funds or the -- the liabilities to the Department
 17 -- Department of Water and Sewer, and then the 18 Department of Water and Sewer would pay the City.
 19 That's your understanding?
 20 A. Yeah, that -- that's -- that's what I
 21 was saying; that's the approximate mechanism.
 22 Q. Okay.

1 A. I could go back and check it to be
 2 sure, but I think that's the approximate mechanism
 3 as I understand it.
 4 Q. Okay. Now, by my math -- I make no
 5 representations as to my math, but just looking at 6 the numbers, it looked -- actually, do I have a
 7 calculator here? I don't think I do.
 8 What percentage is 250 over 650? I
 9 actually didn't do the math.
 10 A. Four -- it's 40-some odd.
 11 Q. It's 40-some -- yeah, we can get it
 12 precisely.
 13 Zero? Oh.
 14 250 divided by 6 -- let's say 650 --
 15 shoot, I didn't do that right. I apologize. Let 16 me try to clear this and do it again.
 17 250 divided -- 6. This isn't right.
 18 Okay. It looks like about
 19 38 percent.
 20 A. Right.
 21 Q. Okay. You recall that -- that during 22 the last deposition, you indicated that you

Page 378

1 thought that the actual unfunded liability was --
 2 was higher than the 644 number and could be as 3 much as 3.5 billion or something like that?
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. Okay. My question is, does the --
 6 does the -- is the proportion of unfunded
 7 liability allocable to the general fund versus the 8 Department of Water Sewer personnel constant if 9 you -- if you use a higher liability figure?
 10 In other words --
 11 A. If we went up to 3.5 --
 12 Q. Yeah, yeah --
 13 A. -- million, would it be --
 14 Q. -- would the Department of Water and 15 Sewer still be approximately 38 percent of the 16 total unfunded liability?
 17 A. I'm -- I'm not sure. I would think
 18 that a rough estimate might be. But as I said, I
 19 think, in September 16th, part of those
 20 calculations had to do with a number of factors,
 21 so I don't want to say that my testimony is as 22 exactly proportioned.

Page 379

1 Q. Okay. And is it correct that the
 2 Department of Water and Sewer itself, I think you
 3 indicated last time, is run as a separate entity,
 4 even though it's, I think, technically part of the 5 City, but it has its own books and records?
 6 A. The Department of Water and Sewer is 7 a department of the City both technically and
 8 practically. Pursuant to Judge Cox's order, it
 9 has certain functions, which it can run
 10 semiautonomously, but it remains a department of 11 the City.
 12 Q. Okay. And as -- as a separate --
 13 as -- as an entity or a department of the City
 14 that keeps its own books and records, the 15 Department of Water and Sewer itself shows a
 16 profit for its own operations; is that right?
 17 A. I'm not sure it shows a profit for 18 its own operations. I -- I'd have to look into 19 the word "profit" --
 20 Q. Okay.
 21 A. -- but -- but it -- it stands -- it
 22 generates revenue of its own and pays its

Page 380

1 obligations as they become due.
 2 Q. Okay. And is it correct the
 3 Department of Water and Sewer also has the
 4 ability, if it -- if it exercises it, to increase
 5 its revenues by raising the rates?
 6 A. I'm not sure. There are a number of
 7 things that go into rate increases --
 8 Q. Um-hum.
 9 A. -- it -- it might well have that
 10 capacity.
 11 You also have to consider the impact
 12 on customers, but I don't want to mislead you. It
 13 does have some capacity, yes.
 14 Q. Okay. Now, prior to the filing of 15 the bankruptcy petition on July 18th, did you have 16 any discussions with the Governor concerning the 17 allocation of the unfunded pension liability
 18 between the general fund and the Department of 19 Water and Sewer?
 20 A. No.
 21 Q. Did you have any such discussions
 22 with the Governor after the filing of the

Page 381

1 bankruptcy petition?
 2 A. No.
 3 MR. ULLMAN: Yeah. Good idea.
 4 Okay. Greg, could I ask you to 5 produce the final version of the pitch book,
 6 the -- the one that was actually given over to the
 7 review team?
 8 MR. SHUMAKER: We'll look into it.
 9 I -- I believe that has been produced, but 10 we'll --
 11 MR. ULLMAN: Okay.
 12 MR. SHUMAKER: -- certainly check.
 13 MR. ULLMAN: Okay. I appreciate it.
 14 Okay. I think, at least for the 15 moment, that's all I have.
 16 THE WITNESS: Okay. Thank you.
 17 MR. ULLMAN: Peter?
 18 I'll pass the baton.

 2 EXAMINATION (CONTINUED) BY COUNSEL
 3 FOR UNITED AUTO WORKERS UNION
 4 - - -
 5 BY MR. DECHIARA:
 6 Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Orr.
 7 Peter DeChiara from the law firm of Cohen, Weiss
 8 and Simon LLP for the United Auto Workers
 9 International Union.
 10 A. Good afternoon -- well, good
 11 afternoon.
 12 Q. Is -- is it your testimony that you
 13 don't know who's paying for your housing in 14 Detroit while you serve as emergency manager?
 15 A. Yes. I'd -- I've read in the papers
 16 that it's the aforementioned NERD Fund, but I've 17 never seen a list -- a lease, and I've never 18 really inquired into it.
 19 Q. Okay. You testified when Mr. Ullman
 20 was questioning you about a meeting at which there
 21 was discussion in connection with Exhibit 21,
 22 which is what you refer to as "the pitch book."

Page 383

1 Do you remember that testimony?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. Do you -- do you know whether
 4 Richard Baird was present when Jones Day made its
 5 presentation?
 6 A. Yes, he was present.
 7 Q. Do you recall whether he said
 8 anything, whether statements or questions, at the
 9 meeting?
 10 A. Oh, I think he -- he asked some 11 questions, yes.
 12 Q. What did he ask?
 13 A. I don't recall with specificity;
 14 generally about the firm's qualifications to do
 15 the work.
 16 Q. Was there discussion at the meeting
 17 about accrued pension liabilities of the City of 18 Detroit?
 19 A. Not that I recall.
 20 Q. Was there any discussion about the 21 Michigan Constitution?
 22 A. No.

Page 384

1 Q. Did you have any one-on-one or
2 less-than-the-full-room-of-people conversations
3 immediately following the pitch presentation with 4 any of the -- at -- people who were attending on
5 behalf of the City or the State?
6 A. No. The only conversations I had
7 were, as a tested to -- testified to last time,
8 telephone conversations with Mr. Baird that
9 followed up. But we had no other conversations
10 with anyone else.
11 Q. When was the next time after
12 the -- well, was the presentation that Jones Day
13 made to the City on January 29th, 2013?
14 A. I believe so.
15 Q. Okay. When would -- was the next
16 time -- when, after January 29th, 2013, did you
17 speak to Mr. Baird?
18 A. I think it was a series of e-mail
19 exchanges that we went through on September 16th,
20 which was in a day or two after -- it was the 30th
21 of January or the 1st of February. It's that 22 whole discussion chain.

Page 385

1 Q. Okay. So within a day or two of the
2 pitch book presentation by Jones Day, Mr. Baird
3 calls Jones Day to make inquiries about having you
4 serve -- having you possibly serve as emergency --
5 emergency manager, correct?
6 A. Yeah, I think it's that discussion,
7 yes.
8 Q. Okay. And did you speak to Mr. Baird
9 on that occasion? And when I say "that occasion,"
10 I'm referring to one or two days after
11 January 29th.
12 A. Yes. I think, on September 16th, we
13 discussed that he reached out to Steve Brogan --
14 MR. SHUMAKER: Just so we're clear --
15 I don't mean to interrupt -- September 16th was 16 your deposition.
17 THE WITNESS: Yes.
18 MR. SHUMAKER: I want you to make
19 sure you get your dates right in your testimony.
20 THE WITNESS: Oh, you -- oh, you
21 mean -- I'm -- let me be clear. As we discussed
22 on September 16th during my deposition, that those

Page 386

1 conversations occurred within a day or two after.
2 And -- and I haven't read my deposition or looked
3 at it, but I recall there was a call made.
4 I was asked; I said I'm not
5 interested; they asked -- I assume it was 6 Mr. Baird asked that I at least talk to them; and 7 there was that whole discussion chain that 8 occurred after that.
9 BY MR. DECHIARA:
10 Q. Is it accurate that you were
11 appointed as EFM on March 15th, 2013?
12 A. No.
13 Q. When were you appointed EFM?
14 A. I think my appointment was March 25th
15 or 26th as EFM, yes.
16 Q. You were appointed EFM before you
17 were appointed EM, correct?
18 A. Yeah. I believe the statute changed.
19 Public Act 4, I believe, had been invalidated, so
20 it was under Public Act 72, which described an 21 EFM. And then under Public Act 436, you become an 22 EM.

Page 387

1 Q. Okay. So my question was -- and
2 maybe your answer is the same, but just -- I just
3 want to be sure -- what is the date you were
4 appointed EFM?
5 A. I believe it was the 25th or the
6 26th.
7 Q. Of March --
8 A. March --
9 Q. -- 2013?
10 A. -- March 2013.
11 Q. Okay. Before you were appointed EFM,
12 did you have any written exchanges -- and by 13 "written exchanges," I mean e-mails, letters,
14 exchange of memos -- with the Governor?
15 A. No.
16 Q. Did you have any such exchanges
17 before you were appointed EFM with
18 Treasurer Dillon?
19 A. No -- well, strike that.
20 I may have had an exchange with
21 Treasurer Dillon or the Governor just a -- a
22 courtesy, you know, hear you're a candidate, hope

Page 388

1 you're interested, hope you'll consider this, but
2 nothing substantive. There may have been courtesy
3 exchanges.
4 Q. Okay. So let me -- let me go back.
5 A. Right.
6 Q. So let me ask just about the
7 Governor.
8 A. Right.
9 Q. So to the best of your
10 recollection -- well, strike that.
11 Is it your testimony that you did
12 have written exchanges with the Governor before
13 you became EFM?
14 A. I believe so.
15 Q. Okay. To the best of your ability,
16 can you tell me what those exchanges were?
17 A. As I said, they were courtesy --
18 there were no substantive discussions; they were 19 more like one line, hear you're interested, hope
20 you consider this, something along those lines.
21 Q. Okay. And were those e-mails?
22 A. There may have been e-mails.

Page 389

1 Q. Okay. Do you -- do you recall them
2 being in any form other than e-mails?
3 A. No. I'm just -- I'm trying to
4 distinguish whether they were e-mails or whether
5 they were texts.
6 And I -- I think I recall -- I think
7 I recall e-mails. There may have been a voice
8 mail. I'm not sure.
9 But it -- it was just, you know --
10 it's what I call, you know, sort of a -- a -- a
11 good -- good -- good home training. I mean, you
12 follow-up and say, hey, glad you're interested,
13 hope you consider it, something like that.
14 Q. Okay. Is it your testimony you're
15 not sure whether those exchanges with the Governor
16 before you were EFM were e-mails, voice mails or 17 texts? And when I say "texts" --
18 A. Yeah.
19 Q. -- I assume you're talking about --
20 and tell me if -- if I'm mistaken --
21 A. Right.
22 Q. -- the kind of texts you would send

Page 390

1 over a cell phone.
2 A. Yeah, that's what I'm talking
3 about --
4 Q. Okay.
5 A. -- I -- I -- there could have been a
6 voice mail, and there could have been an e-mail or 7 two, or it could have been a text. It wasn't,
8 like, every day or every week. I just seem to 9 recall that there was a text or two and a voice
10 mail or two after the meeting -- after -- or after 11 discussions with Rich.
12 Q. Okay.
13 MR. DECHIARA: The UAW would call for 14 the production of any cell phone texts that are 15 otherwise responsive to our document request.
16 MR. SHUMAKER: If you can put that 17 into an letter. We're not certain it hasn't 18 already been produced, but we'll certainly look
19 into it.
20 MR. DECHIARA: We'll be happy to put
21 it into the letter.
22

Page 391

1 BY MR. DECHIARA:
2 Q. Let me now ask you the same question
3 regarding Treasurer Dillon --
4 A. Um-hum.
5 Q. -- again, before you were appointed
6 EFM, did you have any written exchanges in the 7 form of cell phone texts, e-mails or hard copy
8 documents with Treasurer Dillon?
9 A. There may have been one.
10 Q. And what -- do you have a specific --
11 A. -- same -- it was the same, hey, you
12 know, I hope you're interested, please consider it
13 or something like that.
14 I don't recall quite as clearly
15 anything with Treasurer Dillon, but there may have 16 been one.
17 Q. Okay. But not more than one?
18 A. I don't think more than one, no.
19 Q. Okay. And what about -- same
20 question for exchanges with Mr. Baird?
21 A. I think I've seen some of those
22 exchanges during my September 16th, 2013

Page 392

1 deposition; so yes.
2 Q. And what -- what's your recollection
3 as you sit here today of what your exchange --
4 written exchanges were with Mr. Baird before you
5 were EFM?
6 A. Kevyn, heard you're not interested --
7 just generally speaking -- hope you'll reconsider;
8 the e-mail exchange that we went through today;
9 things of that -- if you're considering, this is 10 what the job would entail; gee, Rich, I'd have to 11 take myself out of the firm. I'd be willing to 12 work with anyone side by side, but, you know, I
13 don't want to leave my firm. Well, this is an 14 important undertaking. Okay, I'll consider it;
15 public service. Here, we'll propose what the job
16 entails. That's fine, whatever it is, it is.
17 That's the extent of those exchanges.
18 Q. Okay. So the description you just
19 gave of your exchanges with Mr. Baird exhausts
20 your recollection --
21 A. Yeah.
22 Q. -- let me just finish the question --

Page 393

1 A. I'm sorry.
2 Q. -- exhausts your recollection of the
3 written exchanges you had with Mr. Baird before
4 you were appointed EFM?
5 A. Yes. I think you have those
6 exchanges.
7 Certainly, I've seen several of them.
8 Q. Okay. Now, I'm going to ask you the 9 same question, but instead of just limiting the 10 question to the Governor, Mr. Dillon and 11 Mr. Baird, I'm going to expand it --
12 A. Um-hum.
13 Q. -- to include their assistants or
14 their staff or people who work for them.
15 Again, did you have any written
16 exchanges of any form with any of those people
17 before you were appointed EFM that you recall?
18 A. I don't recall specifically, but in 19 an effort to be responsive, I think there must 20 have been probably at least one or two talking
21 about the March 13th-14th press conference.
22 Q. Okay. And what -- to the best of

Page 394

1 your recollection, what -- who were those
2 exchanges with? Do you -- do you recall?
3 A. I don't recall, but probably someone
4 in the Governor's scheduling office or -- or
5 communications office. I mean, I didn't -- I
6 didn't know who those -- I didn't know who those
7 people were at the time --
8 Q. Okay.
9 A. -- okay? But there was -- it was 10 something about, you know, you need to be here on 11 this date, and we'll have the rollout, something
12 like that.
13 Q. Okay. Was there anything more
14 substantive than scheduling matters?
15 A. No. Nope.
16 Q. Okay. Now, I'm going to change the 17 question -- series of questions and ask about the 18 time period after you were appointed EFM.
19 A. Right.
20 Q. So let me begin with the Governor.
21 A. Okay.
22 Q. Did you have any written exchanges,

Page 395

1 meaning e-mails, texts or hard copy
2 correspondence, with the Governor after you were
3 appointed EFM until today?
4 A. Yes, I believe so.
5 Q. And can you tell me what those
6 were -- or what those have been?
7 A. Well, generally, the 25th and 26th
8 was glad you're on board -- they're 9 congratulatory --
10 Q. I understand. So the 26th -- 20 --
11 A. March --
12 Q. -- of what month?
13 A. -- of March --
14 Q. Okay.
15 A. -- after I was actually appointed.
16 I think they were more courtesy and
17 protocol, congratulatory e-mails.
18 After that, there weren't -- after 19 the first day or so, there weren't a lot of 20 e-mails. And sitting here today, I don't recall
21 the last time I got an e-mail or text from the
22 Governor.

Page 396

1 Q. Okay. So my question was not limited
2 to e-mails; it was not limited to the last time
3 you got a text --
4 A. Okay.
5 Q. -- the question is, other than the 6 congratulate -- congratulatory exchange in --
7 around March 26th to 27th with the Governor, do
8 you have any recollection of any other exchanges
9 in written form that you've had with the Governor?
10 A. I don't -- I don't have any
11 recollection. I would think that there probably 12 are some, but they weren't very frequent -- it's 13 not like -- the Governor and I meet more than the 14 written exchanges, so it's not like there were a
15 lot of written exchanges or I would have had -- or 16 I would expect there to be a lot.
17 Q. Okay. Well, sitting here today, can 18 you testify as to the substance of any -- let --
19 let me finish --
20 A. Yeah.
21 Q. -- please --
22 A. Um-hum.

Page 397

1 Q. -- the substance of any written
2 exchange you've had with the Governor since you
3 became EFM apart from the congratulatory exchange
4 you had with him on March 26th or 27th?
5 A. Generally, I would -- I would
6 classify -- there were no substantive exchanges
7 that I recall. They were more in the nature of an 8 attaboy.
9 If there was a -- a press conference,
10 or something along those lines, or a meeting of 11 creditors or -- or -- I'm just saying, for 12 instance, I don't recall anything with
13 specificity.
14 But there's nothing substantive and
15 there were no directive, do this, do this, do
16 this, something like that -- there was nothing
17 like that. It was more like good job yesterday,
18 nice seeing you again, things along those lines.
19 Q. And who would be -- who would be 20 saying that to whom? The Governor would be saying
21 that to you?
22 A. Yeah. The Governor would typically

Page 398

1 reach out, and I'd typically respond, thanks,
2 Governor, I enjoyed our discussion, or something
3 along those lines.
4 Q. Okay. Same question for
5 Treasurer Dillon.
6 Since you were appointed EFM through
7 the present, have you had any written exchanges,
8 whether electronic or in hard copy --
9 A. Yes.
10 Q. -- with Governor Dillon?
11 A. With Treasurer?
12 Q. I'm sorry. Strike that.
13 With Treasurer Dillon. Sorry --
14 A. Yes.
15 Q. -- I didn't mean to give him a
16 promotion.
17 A. Right.
18 Q. Can you tell me what those were?
19 A. Those were initially the attaboy
20 e-mails.
21 I think, since then, for instance,
22 with regard to contracting of restructuring

Page 399

1 professionals, I generally have to send an e-mail
2 to the Treasurer and/or his staff seeking
3 permission to retain those professionals, and 4 we've done that --
5 Q. Let me just pause you there.
6 Did one of those exchanges have to do
7 with the retention of Jone- -- the law firm of
8 Jones Day?
9 A. I believe so.
10 Q. And did you -- what was the nature of 11 that exchange?
12 A. That -- that would be a -- a
13 technical -- Treasurer Dillon, attached is the 14 contract of insert restructuring professional. It
15 has been vetted by the City Council or it's been 16 reviewed by my staff. It provides X, Y, Z. Under 17 my contract and statute, I have to seek your 18 approval. Accordingly, I'm requesting your 19 approval of the contract.
20 Q. Okay. So you sought the approval of 21 Treasurer Dillon for the City to retain Jones Day?
22 A. Yes.

1 Q. And he approved it?
 2 A. Yes.
 3 Q. Okay. Okay.
 4 I'm sorry. I had interrupted you --
 5 A. Yeah.
 6 Q. -- you -- if you could please
 7 continue with giving your recollection of the 8 exchanges you've had with Treasurer Dillon.
 9 A. Those are the ones that -- that stick
 10 out in my mind. There -- there may have been --
 11 let's see. There are the contract approval
 12 process. There are the attaboys, like, good job,
 13 Kevyn, that sort of thing. They're
 14 nonsubstantive.
 15 There may have been others. None
 16 stick out in my mind and none were particularly 17 substantive. For instance, if there was a group
 18 or organization that the treasury [verbatim]
 19 thought could provide a service to the City, for 20 instance, benefits enrollment, he might send me an 21 e-mail along the lines of this is someone who 22 might be able to help you with your benefit

Page 401

1 outreach. You may want to talk with them.
 2 Similarly, if there was someone who
 3 had reached out to the State or reached out to the
 4 treasury, this is someone who asked that I put you
 5 in touch with them, things of that nature.
 6 Those were probably more regular.
 7 Q. Did you have any written exchanges
 8 with the Treasurer about the City's unfunded
 9 pension liability?
 10 A. Well, the reason I'm -- I'm 11 hesitating -- I'm -- I think we had regular 12 reports to the -- okay. I'm obligated to submit
 13 regular -- 30-day, 180-day reports, which I do,
 14 and those are published in public. So I'm going
 15 to --
 16 Q. And who do you submit those to?
 17 A. To -- to the Treasurer Dillon and, in 18 some cases, the Governor.
 19 So my -- my reports that I'm required
 20 to submit, you know, I -- the staff submits them,
 21 but I'm going to include them in an effort to be
 22 responsive in your question.

Page 402

1 I don't technically send them;
 2 somebody on my staff sends them out. I sign the
 3 letter, and they -- they e-mail it.
 4 So I'm going to -- the public
 5 technical reporting requirements are -- could be
 6 qualified in your question.
 7 Q. Yes.
 8 So let me clarify my question --
 9 A. Okay.
 10 Q. -- I'm not limiting it to documents
 11 that you draft yourself, but documents that are 12 prepared for you.
 13 A. Okay. I'm sure there are a lot of 14 communications between my staff and the treasury
 15 having to do with the reports that we have. And 16 when I say "a lot," I don't know how many, but
 17 I'm -- I'm taking them out of the attaboy, good 18 luck questions and putting them in more to the 19 substantive questions.
 20 I think my staff or people at my
 21 direction, my contractors, may submit cash flow
 22 projections and cash flows, projections over

Page 403

1 actuals, things like that, not
 2 necessarily directly -- I'm trying not to be
 3 technical --
 4 Q. Okay.
 5 A. -- not necessarily to
 6 Treasurer Dillon, but to his staff as well.
 7 Q. Okay. So let me --
 8 A. Okay.
 9 Q. -- I -- I appreciate your -- your --
 10 A. Um-hum.
 11 Q. -- your efforts to respond.
 12 Let me --
 13 A. Okay.
 14 Q. -- see if I can limit my question
 15 now.
 16 A. Um-hum.
 17 Q. So I'm not interested in 18 correspondence that's official correspondence --
 19 A. Okay.
 20 Q. -- that's required -- you're required
 21 by your official duties to make, but so setting
 22 apart, you know, officially required

Page 404

1 correspondence --

2 A. Right.

3 Q. -- so let me -- let me limit my

4 question in that regard.

5 So --

6 A. Okay.

7 Q. -- so let me go back.

8 A. Okay.

9 Q. Do you recall any exchange -- written

10 exchanges with Treasurer Dillon regarding the 11 City's unfunded -- unfunded pension liabilities?

12 A. Outside of the official

13 correspondence?

14 Q. Right.

15 A. No, I don't recall any specific

16 correspondence between me and Treasurer Dillon

17 regarding unfunded pension liabilities, no.

18 Q. Okay. Do you recall ever seeing an

19 e-mail by Treasurer Dillon in the early part of 20 July 2013 where he says he speak -- he spoke to

21 the City consultants and he didn't realize how

22 significant the unfunded pension liabilities were?

Page 405

1 Do -- do you have any recollection of

2 ever seeing an e-mail like that?

3 A. Was I copied on it?

4 Q. I -- I -- I'm just asking if you

5 have --

6 A. Do I have any recollection?

7 Q. -- any recollection of an e-mail like

8 that.

9 A. I have no recollection. If you have

10 a writing, I'd be happy to look at it, but I

11 don't.

12 Q. Okay. Other than what you've

13 testified so far in response to my questions about

14 written exchanges with Treasurer Dillon, do you

15 have any recollection of any other written

16 exchanges with Treasurer Dillon?

17 A. No. We -- we have a -- we have --

18 you know, we have reporting requirements; we try

19 to make those. We have approval requirements; we

20 try to make those.

21 If you're looking for, like,

22 exchanges between us that are besides the

Page 406

1 congratulatory protocol attaboys, specifically

2 with related to pension liabilities, I don't have

3 any recollection of those exchanges. There might

4 be, I just -- we did not have specific exchanges

5 focused just solely on pension liabilities, and I

6 don't recall any.

7 Q. Okay. So now let me ask about

8 Mr. Baird.

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Subsequent to your being appointed to

11 EFM --

12 A. Right.

13 Q. -- through to the present, have you

14 had any written exchanges, electronic or hard

15 copy, with Mr. Baird?

16 A. Yes.

17 Q. And can you tell me what those have 18 been?

19 A. Those are generally about staffing

20 decisions; how's it going with your staff; how's

21 it's going with restructuring City operations;

22 good job; generally staffing.

Page 407

1 I don't think I've had any exchanges

2 with Mr. Baird about pension liabilities.

3 Q. Okay. Have you had any exchanges

4 with Mr. Baird about any provisions of the

5 Michigan Constitution?

6 A. No, I don't recall. No, I don't

7 think I've had any of those exchanges with

8 Mr. Baird.

9 Q. Okay. Now, let me ask you whether

10 you've had any written exchanges with any State

11 officials or staff of the Governor or the

12 Treasurer or Mr. Baird after you were EFM apart

13 from any official documents -- any correspondence

14 that was required by law that touched on, in any

15 way, the City's unfunded pension liabilities?

16 A. Outside of attorney-client

17 communications?

18 Q. Well, I'm going to ask you about any

19 of them. If you -- if you're going to assert or

20 your attorney is going to assert a privilege,

21 that's your -- your option to do so, but I'm just

22 going to ask the question.

Page 408

1 A. Okay. I'll -- I'll answer two
2 ways -- well, three ways.
3 You said with anyone else in -- in
4 Government?
5 Q. In the State Government, right.
6 A. In the State Government.
7 One I may have had -- I certainly
8 recall a call, but I don't recall -- I recall a
9 courtesy call from the Attorney General that he 10 was going to be taking a stand on the 11 constitutionality of pensions. I don't recall a
12 writing.
13 So I'm -- I'm trying to be responsive
14 and going a little broad. You didn't ask about 15 calls, but I'll give it to you.
16 I am confident there are likely
17 communications either between me and my staff and 18 the Governor's office legal team not necessarily 19 about pension obligations, but regarding a
20 potential plan. I think those are privileged.
21 Not a lot.
22 Q. Okay. So -- I'm sorry --

Page 409

1 A. Okay.
2 Q. -- anything else come to mind?
3 A. And -- and just -- just -- here
4 again, I'm -- I'm -- you know, I'll lump them in
5 in the protocol calls -- not calls, protocol memos
6 from the Judge's scheduler, can you do this
7 meeting here with the Governor, can you -- just 8 generally protocol discussions like that.
9 Q. Okay. Let me go back to the -- the 10 telephone call you had with the Attorney General.
11 A. Right.
12 Q. When was that?
13 A. I think it was either the -- I think
14 it was the day before he made his public
15 announcement. I don't recall a specific day.
16 Q. Do you know what month it was in?
17 A. I -- I -- I -- I didn't -- it -- it's 18 in the public record. I just don't recall which 19 one. It wasn't March.
20 Q. It was after the bankruptcy filing?
21 A. No. It may have been before. I just 22 don't recall the date.

Page 410

1 Q. Okay. So he made a public filing.
2 And when in time in relation to
3 the -- when he made the filing did he call you?
4 A. I'm not sure it was a filing. I'm
5 just saying there was a -- I recall there was a
6 position he was going to take publicly, and he
7 made a courtesy call to me and left a message.
8 Q. Okay. And you don't recall when he
9 took that position publicly?
10 A. No, I don't.
11 Q. Do you remember what the position
12 was?
13 A. Whatever's been reported in the 14 papers as far as his position.
15 Q. Well, I'm asking you do you -- do you
16 remember what his position was?
17 A. I -- I remember his position was that 18 he believed that the Michigan State Constitution
19 protected pensions.
20 Q. Okay. And did he call you or did you
21 call him?
22 A. No. I believe he called me and left

Page 411

1 a message.
2 Q. And did you speak to him at some
3 point?
4 A. Not at that -- I think I called him
5 back that afternoon and said thank you, and that
6 was the extent of our conversation -- or that 7 evening, and that was the extent of our
8 conversation.
9 Q. So other than you're saying thank you
10 for the message, there's no other exchange between 11 you and the Attorney General?
12 A. No. It was of the nature of thank
13 you, Attorney General, I understand that you're 14 going to be taking this position. Thank you for 15 the courtesy call.
16 Q. Okay. Did you discuss the substance
17 of his position?
18 A. No, we did not.
19 Q. Okay. Have you ever discussed the 20 substance of his position with him?
21 A. Yes.
22 Q. When did you do that?

Page 412

1 A. I think in a meeting with my attorney
2 and someone from his office.
3 Q. Okay. And when was that?
4 A. I don't recall the day. I don't -- I
5 don't recall the -- it was after March. It may 6 have been prior to or after the bankruptcy filing.
7 I don't recall.
8 Q. Okay. And who was at the meeting?
9 A. I was at the meeting;
10 Attorney General Schuette was at the meeting; an 11 attorney from his office, Matt, was there -- I
12 forget his last name -- and my attorney,
13 David Heiman, was on the phone.
14 Q. Okay. And who -- how did the meeting
15 come about? Did someone ask to have the meeting?
16 A. I think -- yes, I think the Attorney
17 General's Office contacted my office and asked to 18 schedule a meeting.
19 Q. Did the person who asked to schedule
20 the meeting explain why they -- the Attorney
21 General wanted a meeting?
22 A. No.

Page 413

1 Q. Did you have an understanding of why
2 he wanted a meeting?
3 A. I don't think so. I think -- you
4 know -- no, I don't think so until we got to the
5 meeting. It was in Lansing.
6 Q. Okay. Do you recall the meeting?
7 A. Yes.
8 Q. What was said in the meeting?
9 A. Is that privileged?
10 MR. SHUMAKER: To -- to the extent
11 that there was a common interest between what the 12 Attorney General and his counsel was relating with 13 you and Mr. Heiman, I'm going to ask you --
14 instruct you not to answer.
15 If it related to issues where there
16 was no common interest, you can testify to that.
17 MR. DECHIARA: I -- I just -- can we
18 just pause? Are we on -- is there -- are you out
19 of tape or what's --
20 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: I've got
21 five minutes on the tape.
22 MR. DECHIARA: Okay. You'll tell me

Page 414

1 when the tape runs out?
2 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Two minutes.
3 MR. DECHIARA: Okay.
4 Why don't -- why don't we take a --
5 maybe this is a good time -- do you have to -- how
6 long does it take to change the -- change --
7 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: I can go off the
8 record now and change.
9 MR. DECHIARA: Okay.
10 MR. ULLMAN: Why don't we take a
11 break and --
12 MR. DECHIARA: Why we don't take a
13 break now? Is that --
14 THE WITNESS: Sure.
15 MR. DECHIARA: -- is that good? He
16 has to change the tape.
17 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the
18 record at 12:42. This marks the end of Tape
19 Number 1.
20 - - -
21 (Whereupon, a brief recess was taken
22 from 12:42 p.m. to 1:06 p.m.)

1 - - -
2 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going back on the
3 record at 1306. This marks the beginning of 4 Tape Number 2.
5 MR. DECHAIRA: Okay.
6 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
7 Q. Mr. Orr, before we broke, I was 8 asking you about a meeting you had with the 9 Michigan Attorney General.
10 And my question was, what was said at
11 that meeting?
12 A. Yes.
13 With Attorney General Schuette, I
14 don't recall the exact date; but, generally
15 speaking, the Attorney General -- at the meeting,
16 as I said, was Mr. Heiman on the phone, the 17 Attorney General and an attorney from his office,
18 Matt, whose last name escapes me right now. And 19 generally what was said, the Attorney General
20 wanted to express why he felt duty-bound to take a
21 position that the Michigan State Constitution
22 protected vested pension obligations.

Page 416

1 I believe our side expressed to him
2 that we believed Federal law allowed those
3 obligations to be adjusted.
4 The meeting was cordial, and the
5 meeting concluded fairly quickly with everybody
6 saying their -- their goodbyes.
7 Q. Did you, at the time, have an
8 understanding about the authority of the Attorney
9 General of the State of Michigan to interpret the
10 Michigan Constitution?
11 A. My understanding is that the Attorney
12 General is the chief legal officer of the State.
13 And I presumed -- did I have an understanding of 14 his authority?
15 My -- my understanding was, as chief
16 legal officer of the State, he has the ability to 17 determine what positions he believes he should 18 take on behalf of the State, subject to a ruling
19 by a court of law.
20 Q. Okay. Would it be fair to say that
21 in your mind, the opinions of the Attorney General
22 of the State of Michigan regarding questions of

Page 417

1 Michigan State law are -- should be accorded
2 considerable weight?
3 A. No.
4 Q. Okay. And who -- who was it -- were
5 you receiving legal advice from somebody that was
6 contrary to the position that was being asserted
7 by the Attorney General?
8 A. Yes.
9 Q. And was that the Jones Day law firm
10 that was advising you?
11 A. I believe amongst others.
12 Q. Who else?
13 A. Our local counsel at, um -- I'm --
14 I'm -- I'm -- I'm -- I'm drawing a blank on the 15 firms now -- Bob Hurwitz (phonetic) -- our local
16 counsel.
17 Q. Okay. Anyone else?
18 A. Yeah, I don't -- I don't want to 19 violate any attorney-client confidences --
20 Q. No, I'm just asking you to 21 identity -- I'm not asking --
22 A. Okay.

Page 418

1 Q. -- you what was said --
2 A. Okay.
3 Q. -- I'm just asking you the identity
4 of the attorneys who were telling you that what
5 the Attorney General was telling you was not
6 correct.
7 And you've identified Jones Day.
8 You've identified your local counsel.
9 I'm just asking you, was there anyone
10 else giving you advice on that matter?
11 A. I wouldn't call it "advice." I mean,
12 I've -- you know, at various meetings and events,
13 other attorneys will come up to me as recently as 14 yesterday and said that the position that we're
15 asserting is the correct one.
16 Q. Who said that to you yesterday?
17 A. An attorney from -- I forget his law
18 firm; but, you know, at various places, different
19 people come up to me and offer their opinions as 20 to what the position should be --
21 Q. Let me --
22 A. -- I wouldn't call that "advice,"

Page 419

1 though; it's just, you know, public commentary.
2 Q. Okay. So the -- the lawyers who were
3 giving you -- giving you advice in their capacity
4 as attorneys for the City or as attorneys for the 5 emergency manager were the Jones Day law firm and
6 a local counsel?
7 A. Yes.
8 Q. Okay. Let me now refer you to the 9 June 14th, 2013 meeting with creditors.
10 Do you recall that meeting?
11 A. Yes.
12 Q. Okay. Do you recall being asked a
13 question at that meeting about Article IX,
14 Section 24 of the Michigan Constitution?
15 A. Do I recall?
16 There -- there -- I think there was a
17 question. I don't know if -- I don't think that 18 meeting was recorded. So I don't know if there's 19 something to refresh my recollection. But I don't 20 specifically recall. I think there probably was a 21 question. I just don't recall it with 22 specificity.

Page 420

1 Q. Okay. And do you recall if there
2 were any questions about Detroit's pensions?
3 A. I believe there were.
4 Q. Okay. Do you -- in -- do you recall
5 responding to any of those questions?
6 A. I don't recall specifically what I
7 said, but I believe I probably did.
8 Q. Okay. Do you recall -- go ahead.
9 I'm sorry.
10 A. No, I'll answer your question.
11 I -- I think I did recall to a
12 question about pensions, and I think I mentioned
13 that in other cases in which I've been involved,
14 that Federal preemption dealt with states'
15 rights -- states' protections. I think there was 16 that discussion, excuse me, on June 14th.
17 Q. Do you recall making a reference to 18 legislative -- legislative relief?
19 A. Yeah. Yes, I do.
20 Q. Can you tell me what you said in that
21 connection?
22 A. I think it was a pretty short offhand

Page 421

1 comment, that I said, well, it could be either
2 Federal preemption, or it might require some
3 legislative relief.
4 Q. And what did you mean by "legislative
5 relief"?
6 A. I didn't really mean anything with
7 specificity other than to say there might be an 8 opportunity to seek some sort of legislative
9 relief. I didn't really have a plan or anything
10 with specifics in mind at that time.
11 Q. Let me now refer you to the
12 bankruptcy petition --
13 A. Yes.
14 Q. -- that was filed on behalf of the
15 City.
16 Do you recall that document?
17 A. Yes.
18 MR. SHUMAKER: You're getting pretty
19 far afield here, Counsel. I hope you can tie it
20 in with the State officials.
21 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
22 Q. Did -- do you recall that that

Page 422

1 petition was originally dated July 19th and it
2 said July 19th, 2013 in print on it, and that it
3 was then changed by hand to say July 18th?
4 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
5 THE WITNESS: I -- I don't recall
6 that then. But I think we talked about this at my
7 September 16th, 2013 deposition. I think someone
8 asked me that question.
9 So I -- I -- I recall it from that
10 deposition.
11 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
12 Q. Well, do you have an independent
13 recollection --
14 A. I -- I don't --
15 Q. Let me just finish for the clarity of 16 the record.
17 Do you have an independent
18 recollection of the bankruptcy petition saying
19 July 19th in print on it and then someone changing
20 it by hand to say the 18th?
21 Do you have an independent
22 recollection of that?

Page 423

1 A. It's a little fuzzy, but I think in
2 signing it, I'm the one who changed it.
3 Q. You changed it to the 18th?
4 A. Yeah. Whatever day I signed it, I
5 think I -- I routinely will get documents that are
6 dated with different dates, and I'll change them,
7 interlineate on them the correct date.
8 Q. Okay. Let me just -- I had been
9 asking you a line of questions about written
10 communications you were having with State
11 officials.
12 A. Yes.
13 Q. Let me go back and ask you, do you
14 recall written communications with staff or 15 other -- officials other than the Governor, the 16 Treasurer or Mr. Baird, after you were appointed
17 as EFM, that touched on or concerned in any way
18 the issue of Detroit City pensions?
19 A. No, not really.
20 No.
21 Q. Prior to your being appointed as EFM,
22 did you have any oral exchanges, spoken exchanges,

Page 424

1 whether by telephone or in person, with the
2 Governor?
3 A. Yeah, I think I testified this
4 morning that he may have called me prior to my
5 actual appointment to say we hope you consider it
6 and would like you to come on board, things along
7 those lines.
8 Q. Was it -- did it -- was that just one
9 exchange you had with him?
10 A. No, I think I said there may have
11 been one or two along those lines.
12 Q. Were there any exchanges other than 13 where the exchange was limited to, you know,
14 welcome on board?
15 A. There -- there were no substantive
16 exchanges. Mostly exchanges I -- I had --
17 conversations I had with the Governor were 18 pleasantries.
19 Q. Okay.
20 Now let me ask the same question, but
21 I'm going to change the time frame from between 22 the time you were appointed EFM until the Governor

Page 425

1 authorized the bankruptcy filing.
2 So --
3 A. Um-hum.
4 Q. -- in that period, did you have any
5 spoken exchanges with the Governor?
6 A. Yes.
7 Q. And do you know how many you had?
8 A. Well, I've said we've -- we've had
9 regular meetings with the Governor. My contract
10 requires me to keep the Governor and the Treasurer
11 apprised as to what we're doing. We have those 12 meetings almost weekly. There may have been a 13 week here or there that we missed, but we have
14 regular weekly meetings.
15 Q. And those are face-to-face meetings
16 with -- with --
17 A. They're typically face-to-face.
18 Occasionally, they're by phone.
19 Q. Okay. Have you had any meetings
20 during that period -- actually, I'm not even going
21 to call them meetings.
22 Have you had any spoken exchanges

Page 426

1 with the Governor between the time you were
2 appointed as EFM until the Governor authorized the
3 bankruptcy filing where it was just you and the 4 Governor speaking with no one else present?
5 A. Yes.
6 Q. And how many times did that occur?
7 A. More than a couple. Sometimes after 8 the weekly meetings, if they're in person, the 9 Governor and I -- the Governor will take me aside
10 into his office and we'll have separate one-on-one
11 meetings.
12 Q. And do you have a specific memory of 13 any of those meetings?
14 A. Yeah, those meetings are typically
15 just an opportunity for the Governor -- they -- 16 they comprise a combination of -- of
17 personal -- you know, personal inquiries: How's
18 your family doing; do you need anything; how are 19 you holding up; how's your staff; do you need any 20 help in any way fashion, things along those lines.
21 They're not -- they're not really
22 substantive follow-ups of the actual meetings that

Page 427

1 we've had just prior to those meetings.
2 Q. Have you ever, in those one-on-one
3 meetings with the Governor, spoken about the issue
4 of Detroit's unfunded pension liability?
5 A. Not that I recall, no.
6 Q. Did you ever discuss with the
7 Governor, in those one-on-one meetings, anything
8 having to do with restrictions or prohibitions in
9 the Michigan Constitution?
10 A. No.
11 Q. Did you ever speak to him about the 12 Attorney General's position on the issue of 13 pensions?
14 A. I -- I may have.
15 Q. And what was said?
16 A. The substance of those conversations,
17 the one-on-one meetings, was that, you know, I
18 understand the Attorney General believes he has to 19 take a position, obviously --
20 Q. Who is speaking when you're saying
21 that?
22 A. Oh, me. I'm -- the Governor and I

Page 428

1 are speaking, just the two of us in the room. I
 2 think it was something along the lines, I
 3 understand he's taken a position; we disagree with 4 it; ultimately, this will be sorted out in court.
 5 Q. And that's -- that's what you said?
 6 A. Yeah, pretty much what I said.
 7 Q. Okay. And did the Governor respond,
 8 or did he say anything?
 9 A. No; the Governor responded, yeah, I
 10 understand you have to take the position that you
 11 have to take in your case.
 12 Q. Has the Governor ever expressed to 13 you, in a one-on-one meeting, his view of the 14 Attorney General's position?
 15 A. No.
 16 Q. So it was just a -- when you and the 17 Governor had a meeting where the issue of the 18 Attorney General's position came up, it was just a
 19 one-way communication by you saying what it is you
 20 just said?
 21 A. Yeah, as I said, these are not
 22 substantive meetings. These are more sort of what

Page 429

1 I call the personal meetings, where the Governor
 2 just takes time out of his schedule to ask me how
 3 things are going; how am I holding up; how my
 4 staff is; and, you know, I -- I would occasionally
 5 say, yeah, you know, I met -- for instance, the 6 meeting I had with the Attorney General, met with
 7 the Attorney General. He expressed his interests
 8 in the position he has to take. We obviously 9 disagree with it.
 10 The Governor would take no position
 11 on that. He would say, okay, I understand, you
 12 know, you have to do what you think is appropriate
 13 on behalf of the City.
 14 That was the extent of the
 15 conversations.
 16 Q. So am I correct that the Governor
 17 never actually told you that the Attorney
 18 General's position was wrong?
 19 A. I -- yeah, I don't believe the 20 Governor ever opined as to the Attorney General's
 21 position.
 22 Q. Let me now speak beyond the -- in the

Page 430

1 same time frame between when you were appointed as
 2 EFM until the Governor authorized the bankruptcy
 3 filing.
 4 Let me now refer to meetings you've
 5 had with the Governor where there were other
 6 people present.
 7 A. Yes.
 8 Q. Were there any discussions in any of 9 those meetings about Detroit's pension
 10 liabilities?
 11 A. Now, these are where attorneys are 12 present or covered by the common interest
 13 privilege?
 14 Q. Well, I'm just going to ask you about
 15 what was said in those meetings, and if you want
 16 to refuse to answer or if your attorney wants to 17 instruct you -- you to refuse to answer, that's --
 18 A. Okay.
 19 Q. -- a decision you have to make.
 20 MR. SHUMAKER: You -- you can -- you
 21 can answer that question.
 22 THE WITNESS: Yeah. There were

Page 431

1 meetings. As I said before, we have, typically,
 2 weekly meetings. Occasionally, we've missed a
 3 week or two, but typically, weekly.
 4 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
 5 Q. Okay. And in any of those meetings,
 6 were Detroit's pension liabilities discussed?
 7 MR. SHUMAKER: You can answer that.
 8 THE WITNESS: Yes.
 9 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
 10 Q. And what was said?
 11 MR. SHUMAKER: I'm -- I'm going to 12 object here and caution the witness to the extent
 13 that any of the communications called for by the 14 question ask for information relating to your 15 seeking or the provision of legal advice, I
 16 instruct you not to answer. Outside of that, you
 17 can.
 18 THE WITNESS: Those -- I think
 19 those -- those conversations are -- covered by the 20 attorney-client privilege and the common interest
 21 privilege.
 22 BY MR. DECHAIRA:

Page 432

1 Q. Okay. So just so the record's clear,
2 Mr. Orr, you're declining to respond to the
3 question, what was said in those meetings
4 regarding Detroit's pension liabilities?
5 A. Yes, I -- I think, without waiving
6 the privilege -- I want to be very careful here,
7 because I have both the attorney-client privilege
8 and common interest agreement and I don't want to 9 abridge either of those; but without waiving,
10 there were discussions and those discussions
11 probably concerned our perception of what -- what 12 the issues that have been talked about in the 13 public domain concerned regarding vested pension
14 rights.
15 Q. Did the Governor ever say to you
16 whether in a one-on-one -- let me start with a
17 one-on-one meeting.
18 Did the Governor ever say to you in a
19 one-on-one meeting that it was his view that 20 Detroit's pension liability -- strike that -- that 21 Detroit's accrued pension liabilities had to be 22 cut?

Page 433

1 Did the Governor ever say that to
2 you?
3 A. No.
4 Q. Okay. And did he ever say that to
5 you in any meeting where there were other people
6 present?
7 MR. SHUMAKER: Again, I'm going to
8 caution the witness to the extent that attorneys
9 were at such meetings and there were -- you were 10 seeking legal advice or legal advice was being
11 given in connection with the Governor's comments,
12 I would instruct you not to answer.
13 If that is not the case, you are free
14 to answer.
15 THE WITNESS: I want to be
16 responsive, but I don't want to waive the
17 privilege.
18 Those discussions were always held in
19 the presence of attorneys generally in discussion
20 of what the rights and positions would be in the 21 case. I can say this, I think -- can I just 22 consult my attorney briefly?

Page 434

1 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
2 Q. Not while there's a question pending.
3 A. Okay.
4 Q. Your attorney is free to -- he's
5 already given you guidance on the record.
6 A. I'm -- I'm trying to be responsive to
7 you.
8 I think those discussions are covered
9 by the attorney-client privilege.
10 Q. Okay. So just to be clear, you're --
11 you're declining to answer my question?
12 A. Without further guidance, I think I
13 have to.
14 Q. Okay.
15 Let me now change the time frame to 16 after the Governor authorized the bankruptcy
17 filing.
18 Did you have any one-on-one spoken
19 exchanges with the Governor -- or have you had?
20 A. Yes, I believe so.
21 Q. And one or more than one?
22 A. Maybe more than one.

Page 435

1 Q. And what was the context for those?
2 A. Here again, the same nature of the
3 discussions. They were more general check-in:
4 How's things going; how's staff going; how's City
5 operations going; new chief seems to be doing very
6 well, things along those natures.
7 Q. In -- in any of those one-on-one
8 meetings you've had with the Governor since he
9 authorized the bankruptcy filing, did
10 the Governor -- has the Governor ever expressed
11 the view to you that Detroit's accrued pension
12 liabilities should be cut?
13 A. No.
14 The Governor's never expressed the
15 view to me in any of those meetings that Detroit
16 pension liabilities need to be cut either before
17 or after the filing.
18 Q. Okay. And has he ever expressed a
19 view to you regarding whether he agrees or doesn't 20 agree with the position that was publicly taken by 21 the Attorney General that you testified about 22 earlier?

Page 436

1 A. No, I don't recall him ever doing
2 that.
3 Q. Did you ever, in any one-on-one
4 conversation with the Governor, speak about any
5 prohibitions or restrictions in the Michigan
6 Constitution?
7 A. No, I don't recall us speaking about
8 that.
9 Q. Okay. Now -- now I'm going to ask
10 you about Treasurer Dillon --
11 A. Yes.
12 Q. -- I'm going to ask you another --
13 the same line of questions -- questions about 14 spoken exchanges --
15 A. Um-hum.
16 Q. -- the time frame is now between --
17 well, let's say before you were appointed EFM.
18 Did you have any spoken exchanges
19 with -- with the Treasurer?
20 A. Yes.
21 Q. And can you tell me what those were?
22 A. Those were more in the nature of,

Page 437

1 here again, pleasantries; enjoy you considering
2 being a candidate; I had early on hoped and
3 encouraged you to do so; thank you for doing so,
4 along those lines.
5 Q. Did the -- did the Treasurer in any
6 of those spoken exchanges you had with him ever
7 express any views about the economic distress that
8 was facing the City of Detroit?
9 A. Oh, I think he -- I think we may have
10 discussed the -- yes -- yeah, I think we probably
11 discussed the fact that Detroit was under a
12 consent agreement, things of that nature, but it
13 was very high level; it wasn't with any
14 specificity.
15 Q. Well, did you ever speak to him
16 during that time frame about the burden of accrued
17 pension liabilities that was going on in the City?
18 A. Yeah -- no, not that I recall. There 19 were never any discussions in -- in that level of 20 detail.
21 Q. In the time frame after you were 22 appointed EFM, but before the State authorized the

1 bankruptcy filing, did you have any spoken
2 exchanges with the Treasurer?
3 A. Yes.
4 Q. And what was the context for those?
5 A. Those discussions were, here again as 6 I said before, generally around retention of 7 professionals, cash flow projections, actuals over
8 projected, potential help that we could get from 9 contractors, sending out the RFP for solid waste,
10 standing up the Public Lighting Authority,
11 standing up the Detroit Land Bank Authority in 12 conjunction with MSHDA, things of those nature.
13 Q. Were these exchanges that you had in 14 the context of meetings with other people present?
15 A. Some of them were, yes.
16 Q. Were any of them one-on-one?
17 A. The Treasurer and I would -- would 18 sometimes -- we -- our meetings were -- the 19 Governor and I would try to have one-on-one
20 meetings after our Detroit team meetings. The 21 Treasurer and I would have one-on-one meetings in 22 a much more irregular ad-hoc basis, if you will.

Page 439

1 If he was in the office building, in the Cadillac
2 office building, at the same time, he might stop
3 by my office. But there was no regular --
4 regularly set meeting between me and the 5 Treasurer.
6 Q. Okay. Do you -- do you recall those
7 one-on-ones that you had with the Treasurer on 8 those occasions?
9 A. I recall some of them, yes.
10 Q. Okay. And in those, did you ever
11 speak to him about Detroit's accrued pension
12 liability?
13 A. Not specifically. We may have talked
14 about the -- what I call the "balance sheet
15 issues," the amount of debt that the City had,
16 including pension funds, OPEB and GO bond debt; we
17 may have talked about the -- here again, actuals
18 over projections, things -- financial
19 transactions, yes.
20 Q. Did he ever express the view to you
21 in those one-on-one meetings that Detroit's
22 accrued pension liabilities should be -- could be

Page 440

1 or should be reduced?

2 A. I don't recall any specific

3 conversations about what should happen with

4 Detroit pension liabilities.

5 Q. Do you remember the Treasurer talking

6 about that, whether specifically or generally or

7 in any other way, about that subject?

8 A. Not in the one-on-one meetings.

9 Q. Did he talk about that in meetings

10 where there were other people present?

11 A. Yes. The Treasurer attended the 12 Detroit team meetings that we had weekly with the

13 Governor.

14 Q. And did he, at any of those meetings,

15 express the view that -- did he -- strike that.

16 Did he, at those meetings, say

17 anything about whether Detroit's accrued pension

18 liabilities should be reduced?

19 MR. SHUMAKER: Again, I'm going to

20 caution the witness to the extent that any of 21 these communications occurred when counsel was

22 present in connection with the provision or the

Page 441

1 seeking of legal advice, I will instruct him not

2 to answer.

3 If that's not the case or there's

4 some nonlegal component to it, you can answer.

5 THE WITNESS: Okay. Let me -- let me

6 try to respond this way. Any of the Detroit team

7 meetings with the Governor would have counsel

8 present, oftentimes several layers of counsel; in

9 fact, I think there were meetings where either my

10 counsel was on the phone or counsel on behalf of 11 the Governor and his office on the phone. There

12 were no team meetings where counsel was not

13 present.

14 In any of those discussions, those

15 discussions would implicate attorney-client

16 communications because we would be seeking legal

17 advice either from my counsel or from State

18 counsel or from both. So I'm going to be very

19 careful with those discussions where the

20 Treasurer, the Governor and counsel were present.

21 So I -- I -- I can't answer about

22 those discussions.

Page 442

1 BY MR. DECHAIRA:

2 Q. Okay. Just to be clear. For -- for

3 the reasons you just expressed, you're not going

4 to answer the question?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Yes, you're not going to answer?

7 A. Yes, I'm not going to answer the

8 question.

9 Q. Did the Governor -- did the Treasurer

10 in any way -- let me ask you about one-on-one.

11 In any one-on-one meeting you've ever

12 had with him, did he ever express a view about

13 whether the Attorney General's position, that you

14 testified about earlier, was correct or not?

15 A. No.

16 Q. Okay. And if I asked you whether he

17 ever expressed an opinion on that topic in -- in

18 one of the Detroit team meetings, would you

19 decline to answer the question on the grounds that

20 you just declined to answer my prior question?

21 MR. SHUMAKER: I would give the 22 witness the same admonition.

Page 443

1 THE WITNESS: Yes, I would decline to

2 answer your question on the grounds it's protected

3 by the attorney-client privilege and joint --

4 and/or joint interest privilege.

5 BY MR. DECHAIRA:

6 Q. Okay. Let me now ask you about

7 Mr. Baird.

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. Prior to your being appointed EFM,

10 did you have any spoken exchanges with Mr. Baird?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. And can you tell me what those were?

13 A. Yes, I think as I testified on

14 September 16th and, again, earlier today, and as

15 has been represented in the e-mail chains that

16 were gone over on September 16th and the ones that

17 were discussed this day, they were about my

18 potentially becoming the emergency financial

19 manager, subsequently emergency manager for the

20 City of Detroit.

21 Q. Did you have any exchanges with him

22 before you -- spoken exchanges with him before you

Page 444

1 were appointed EFM on any topic other than what
2 you just testified to?
3 A. That was generally the broad topic.
4 He -- he may have asked me about how my family
5 would hold up, how I could extricate myself from 6 my then law firm, things of that nature, but no
7 substantive discussions.
8 Q. And when you say "no substantive
9 discussions," would that also mean that you did
10 not discuss anything having to do with Detroit's
11 pension liabilities?
12 A. I -- I don't recall really ever
13 talking to Mr. Baird about Detroit's pension
14 liabilities.
15 Q. At any time?
16 A. At any time.
17 Q. Did you ever speak to Mr. Baird at 18 any time about the issue of the Michigan
19 Constitution?
20 A. I don't recall ever speaking to 21 Mr. Baird about the issue of the Michigan
22 Constitution.

Page 445

1 Q. Did Mr. Baird ever express to you a
2 view about whether or not Detroit's accrued
3 pension liabilities could or should be cut?
4 A. No.
5 Q. Did Mr. Baird ever express a view to 6 you about whether or not the position taken by the 7 Attorney General that you testified about earlier
8 was correct or incorrect?
9 A. No.
10 Q. In any one-on-one meetings that
11 you've ever had with the Governor, the Treasurer
12 or Mr. Baird, was there any discussion about when 13 Detroit should file for bankruptcy?
14 A. Well, there are three questions. Not 15 with Mr. Baird; I don't recall any with 16 Treasurer Dillon; and none with specificity with
17 the Governor.
18 Q. Do you do -- do you have any -- when 19 you say "none with specificity," do you mean your 20 recollection is not specific or what was discussed
21 was not specific?
22 A. What was discussed was not specific.

Page 446

1 Q. Okay. What was discussed, to the
2 best of your recollection, with the Governor about
3 when Detroit should file for bankruptcy?
4 A. Generally, after -- and I'll just
5 give it to you generally after the June 14th
6 meeting, on the one-on-one meetings, we discussed
7 my hope that we get some settlements in. We were
8 having discussions with some parties.
9 We discussed that, you know, time was 10 drawing -- was -- seemed to be moving quite 11 quickly, but we were hopeful, and we were -- had 12 some initial discussions. Later we discussed, I
13 think June -- I'll do it this way -- June 14th
14 through July 3rd, we continued to have discussions
15 along those lines.
16 In July, in the one-on-one meetings,
17 the one or two that we might have had, the general
18 discussion was there was this litigation, but we 19 were still hoping that we could resolve some 20 issues. And we continued to have those 21 discussions up until a day or so -- no, not until 22 a day or so -- until the week before the filing.

Page 447

1 Q. So -- so am I correct that you had
2 multiple one-on-one exchanges with the Governor
3 about the question about when the City should file
4 for bankruptcy?
5 A. We -- as I said, we may have had one
6 or two. I remember one week in there in July was 7 the 4th of July holiday week, and I don't think we
8 had a meeting there. But I -- I don't recall
9 specifically the dates of the meeting. I think we 10 may have had one or two one-on-ones.
11 Q. Okay.
12 So in those one-on -- one-on-ones,
13 those one or two one-on-ones --
14 A. Um-hum.
15 Q. -- to the best of your recollection,
16 what did you say to the Governor in connection
17 with the issue about when the petition should be
18 filed?
19 A. All I said to the Governor is we
20 continue -- I understand that we're trying to work
21 towards some resolutions; we hope people take us
22 seriously; we hope they're listening to what we're

Page 448

1 saying. I'm really not hearing any debate on the
 2 level of debt. I'm hearing some people being
 3 concerned about, you know, what our proposal is.
 4 We hope they make a resolution. Towards the end,
 5 the question was hopefully we will be able to work
 6 things out.
 7 Q. And did -- what did the Governor say,
 8 to the best of your recollection, in those
 9 one-on-ones?
 10 A. Thank you for the information. You
 11 know, I appreciate your trying to do -- you're 12 doing a good job; I appreciate the job you're 13 trying to do. This is going to be difficult.
 14 Keep trying to work towards a resolution. You
 15 know, it -- make the right decision; it's 16 ultimately your call.
 17 Q. Did he ever give you any view as to 18 what he thought you should do or what the City
 19 should do in connection with the timing of the 20 filing?
 21 A. No.
 22 Q. Did you ever have any one-on-one

Page 449

1 meetings with the Governor in which he or you
 2 discussed what the political implications might be
 3 of a bankruptcy filing?
 4 A. It's -- the discussion we had earlier
 5 this morning about political implications, and I'm
 6 going to -- you know, that's -- that's a broad
 7 discussion from people being angry to editorial
 8 pages, things like that.
 9 So there -- there may have been some
 10 discussion in that regard. But I don't recall
 11 anything particularly political about our
 12 discussions.
 13 Q. Okay. Well, I -- I -- I didn't mean
 14 to ask you about whether there's anything
 15 political about your discussions. But my question
 16 was, in any one of your one-on-ones with the 17 Governor, was there any discussion between the two 18 of you, whether you were saying something or 19 whether he was saying something, about what might 20 be the political implications of the bankruptcy
 21 filing?
 22 And when I say "political

Page 450

1 implications," I mean that in a broad sense, so
 2 public reaction is --
 3 A. Oh.
 4 Q. -- broadly -- broadly, would it --
 5 would it be included within that?
 6 A. Well, if you say "public reaction,"
 7 yeah, we probably did have discussions about
 8 potential public reaction.
 9 Q. And what -- and what did you -- what
 10 did you say, or what did he say about that?
 11 A. Generally, you know, this -- this
 12 would be -- and this is towards the end -- well,
 13 you know, I don't know if -- I'm trying to recall
 14 now. I don't know if we had discussions about 15 that prior to the week of the filing. Because I
 16 don't think we had that many one-on-one meetings
 17 in -- in between June 14th and July because of the 18 holiday.
 19 So there may have been a discussion,
 20 but I don't think it was in a one-on-one meeting.
 21 I think it was in one of the Detroit team meetings
 22 the week before the filing --

Page 451

1 Q. Okay.
 2 A. -- that was the Friday.
 3 Q. So at one of -- your testimony is
 4 that at one of the Detroit team meetings, there
 5 was -- before the filing, there was the discuss 6 -- a discussion about what might have been the 7 political implications of the filing?
 8 A. The political implications as you
 9 just defined it meaning public reaction.
 10 Q. Well, let -- let me just be clear --
 11 A. Okay.
 12 Q. -- it -- it would include public
 13 reaction.
 14 A. Okay.
 15 Well, without getting into
 16 discussions, because there were attorneys at that 17 meeting, and I don't -- here again, I want to be 18 careful about the privilege. If you include the 19 definition spanning from political implications
 20 meaning potential public reaction, I believe there
 21 were discussions in that regard, but not in the 22 sense that political reactions should in any way

1 impact the decision that we needed to make.
2 The discussions were always about
3 what's the best decision; are we making progress;
4 the discretion is up to me, within my authority,
5 to make a recommendation; and if I make a
6 recommendation, the Governor would take it up in 7 due course.
8 Q. What was said at -- was this said --
9 was this discussion that you just testified about 10 at one or more of the Detroit -- the Detroit team
11 meetings?
12 MR. SHUMAKER: You say "this 13 discussion," are you talking about the discussion
14 about the political --
15 MR. DECHAIRA: Yeah, right.
16 MR. SHUMAKER: -- implications?
17 MR. DECHAIRA: Correct.
18 THE WITNESS: I believe that when you
19 say "political implications," you know, I don't 20 want to give the impression that there was 21 something overt -- there was some overt concern
22 about the political implications. Our general

Page 453

1 discussions were we were going to do the right
2 thing as we saw fit --
3 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
4 Q. Okay.
5 A. -- they were not being driven by
6 political concerns. We were aware that it would 7 garner public attention, but we were still going
8 to do the right thing.
9 Q. Can you tell me who said what at 10 those meetings about that -- the issue that you're 11 talking about?
12 A. Here again, there were attorneys
13 present at that meeting giving legal advice, so
14 I'm going to see if I can answer the question
15 without implicating any of the legal advice.
16 And as I just said, the discussion
17 generally centered around we're not getting the 18 progress that we want. As I said at the June 14th
19 meeting, we're not getting the progress we need.
20 We had to make some difficult decisions. As I
21 said at the June 10th meeting, bankruptcy is 22 potentially an option, but we don't want to use

Page 454

1 it.
2 We were being involved in litigation,
3 as I said before on September 16th, and the 4 general discussion was we need to make some
5 decisions, let's make the right decision
6 irrespective of any political considerations.
7 Q. Mr. Orr, are you paid by the State of
8 Michigan?
9 A. I believe so.
10 Q. Okay. Is it -- is it correct that 11 you're a -- you're an employee -- are you an
12 employee of the State of Michigan?
13 A. No, I'm a contractor to the State of
14 Michigan.
15 Q. Okay. You're an -- you're an 16 agent -- are you an agent of the State of
17 Michigan?
18 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection --
19 THE WITNESS: I --
20 MR. SHUMAKER: -- calls for a legal
21 conclusion.
22 THE WITNESS: Yeah, that's what I was

Page 455

1 going to say.
2 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
3 Q. Okay.
4 Do you consider yourself bound by the
5 laws and the Constitution of the State of
6 Michigan?
7 A. I consider myself bound by the laws
8 in the Constitution of the United States and the 9 State of Michigan.
10 Q. And do you consider yourself bound by 11 the interpretations of the laws and Constitution
12 of the State of Michigan that are made by the 13 Michigan Attorney General?
14 A. I consider myself bound by the laws
15 of the U.S. Constitution and the State of Michigan
16 as interpreted by the Federal courts.
17 Q. But not the Attorney -- Attorney
18 General of the State of Michigan?
19 A. Not necessarily. If -- if there's a
20 law or a ruling by a Court, I would think that 21 supersedes the interpretation of an attorney
22 general.

Page 456

1 Q. Okay. In the absence of a ruling by
2 a Court, do you consider yourself as -- in your
3 capacity as an emergency manager, bound by the
4 interpretations of the Michigan Constitution made
5 by the Michigan Attorney General?
6 A. As I just said, I consider myself
7 bound by the laws of the United States and the
8 State of Michigan as interpreted ultimately by a
9 Court.
10 Q. Right.
11 But my question is, in the absence of 12 a Court ruling on a particular question, do you
13 consider yourself -- on a particular question of 14 Michigan law, do you consider yourself bound by 15 the interpretation of the Michigan Attorney
16 General?
17 A. I'll repeat my answer.
18 I understand what you're getting at.
19 But I'll repeat my answer.
20 I feel ultimately the question has to 21 resolve -- be resolved by the courts of the 22 United States. And I've said that before, and

Page 457

1 that's the position we've taken.
2 Q. Did you ever speak to the Governor in 3 a one-on-one meeting about the absence of
4 contingencies in his authorization letter?
5 A. No.
6 Q. I'd like to show you what I'll ask to
7 have marked as Exhibit 23.
8 - - -
9 (Whereupon, e-mail string was marked,
10 for identification purposes, as Orr
11 Deposition Exhibit Number 23.)
12 - - -
13 MR. DECHIARA: And for the record --
14 THE COURT REPORTER: Hold on.
15 (Sotto voce comments by counsel and 16 court reporter.)
17 MR. DECHIARA: Are we on the record?
18 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
19 Q. Mr. Orr, if you look at Exhibit 23,
20 do you see that the bottom two-thirds of the page
21 is in -- appears to be an e-mail from 22 Richard Baird to various people, dated

Page 458

1 February 7th, 2013?
2 Do you see that?
3 A. Yes.
4 Q. Okay.
5 And then you see there appears to be
6 a schedule under that?
7 A. Yes.
8 Q. Okay. Did you meet with Andy Dillon,
9 or did you go out to lunch with Andy Dillon and 10 another person on Monday, February 11th?
11 A. Yes.
12 Q. And who was the other person?
13 A. I went out to lunch, actually, with 14 three people: Andy Dillon, Brom Stibitz, and 15 Tom Saxton.
16 Q. Who are those two other people?
17 A. Two other people are employees of the 18 Treasury Department and work under Andy Dillon.
19 Q. Okay. And what was discussed at that 20 lunch?
21 A. Me potentially --
22 MR. SHUMAKER: Let me just -- they're

Page 459

1 not lawyers; is that correct?
2 THE WITNESS: I don't know if Brom
3 and Tom are.
4 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
5 Q. Well, I guess that was the question,
6 is, were they acting in -- in their capacity as
7 attorneys for the State during that lunch?
8 A. I don't know if Brom and -- and Tom
9 Saxton are attorneys.
10 MR. SHUMAKER: You can -- you can
11 answer.
12 THE WITNESS: Okay.
13 This -- my understanding what this is
14 was a schedule for me to come and discuss their 15 interests in me applying to become the emergency
16 manager for the City of Detroit.
17 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
18 Q. Right.
19 But what was -- do you have a
20 recollection of what you talked about at lunch?
21 A. Yeah, generally, what the statute
22 required, the financial stability agreement

Page 460

1 provisions, potentially when I would be able to --
 2 to -- to apply; generally, sort of high-level
 3 preliminary discussions about becoming the EM.
 4 Q. Did you talk about pensions?
 5 A. No, we didn't talk about the detail.
 6 I wish I had.
 7 Q. Did you -- after lunch, did you meet
 8 with the Governor and Mr. Baird?
 9 A. Yes.
 10 Q. And who else was present at --
 11 present, if anyone, at that meeting?
 12 A. I -- I believe his scheduler,
 13 Allison, walked me into the room, and it was just 14 me, the Governor and Rich Baird.
 15 Q. And do you recall what you talked
 16 about in that meeting?
 17 A. Very high level. This was a -- a --
 18 a meet-and-greet, as I call it; get to know you;
 19 are you interested? Frankly, at this time, I was 20 still on the fence as to whether or not I would 21 apply for the job, and this -- these were 22 discussions about, well, this is what the job

Page 461

1 would entail. We're doing our due diligence.
 2 There's some other candidates we're considering,
 3 but we would like you to be interested, things
 4 along those lines.
 5 Q. Did they say who the other candidates
 6 were?
 7 A. No, they did not.
 8 Q. Did they talk about the pitch meeting
 9 that you participated in earlier?
 10 A. No, not so much -- tangentially, I
 11 mean, that -- that discussions were about, you
 12 know, we -- we -- we saw your firm's pitch at the 13 meeting; we were impressed with your passion for 14 the City; how you had been a Michigander; the work
 15 you did on other cases related to the City; you
 16 know, would you -- would you at least -- and this
 17 was more -- as I interpreted it, this was more
 18 getting me to -- I was still taking a position I
 19 don't want the job, but this was more me trying to 20 explore it a little bit and see what it would 21 entail, and them saying that it's probably -- we 22 would appreciate it if you would consider it.

Page 462

1 Q. Did they -- did Mr. Baird or the
 2 Governor express any views about what they thought
 3 of the substance of the ideas that were put forth
 4 in the Jones Day pitch book?
 5 A. No, not really. They -- they -- I
 6 mean, all they ever said was it -- it was a good
 7 pitch book, but there was not -- there was no
 8 substantive discussion during these meetings.
 9 Q. Mr. Orr, I would like to show you
 10 what I'll now mark as Exhibit 24. It's a 11 document -- it's a two-page document. It says at 12 the top, Is the Emergency Manager Moving Fast
 13 Enough, question mark. It's Bates stamped
 14 DTMI00113909 --
 15 A. Right.
 16 Q. -- and -10 --
 17 THE COURT REPORTER: Do you want me
 18 to mark it?
 19 MR. DECHAIRA: Yes, please, as
 20 Exhibit 24.
 21 - - -
 22 (Whereupon, Excerpt from report of

Page 463

1 Emergency Manager was marked, for
 2 identification purposes, as
 3 Deposition Exhibit Number 24.)
 4 - - -
 5 THE WITNESS: Thank you.
 6 THE COURT REPORTER: Um-hum.
 7 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
 8 Q. Can you identify what this document
 9 is?
 10 A. Is this a excerpt from one of my
 11 reports --
 12 Q. I'm --
 13 A. -- you're asking me?
 14 Q. I'm asking you.
 15 A. Yeah, because I'd -- I'd -- I'm --
 16 no. Can I identify this document is?
 17 No, it speaks for itself.
 18 Q. Well, let me -- I mean, have you ever
 19 seen this document before?
 20 A. I think I've seen this document
 21 before, but I don't think this is from -- I don't
 22 know if this is from my office.

Page 464

1 Q. You don't know who prepared this?

2 A. No.

3 Q. And you don't know what purpose this

4 document was used for?

5 A. No. Now, that's not saying it could

6 have been prepared from my office, but it could

7 have been done in our communications division. I

8 just -- there's so many documents that are

9 prepared in my office, I'm not -- I don't see all

10 of them.

11 Q. I don't want you to guess or

12 speculate.

13 A. Yeah; no, I don't -- I don't --

14 Q. You don't know?

15 A. -- yeah, I don't know.

16 Q. Okay.

17 I'd like to show you what I'll ask to

18 have marked as Exhibit 25, which is a set of 19 e-mail exchanges stamped JD-RD-0000354.

20 - - -

21 (Whereupon, e-mail string was marked,

22 for identification purposes, as

Page 465

1 Deposition Exhibit Number 25.)

2 - - -

3 THE COURT REPORTER: Hold on.

4 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

5 BY MR. DECHAIRA:

6 Q. Let me refer you to the bottom of the

7 first page. Do you see there's an e-mail from you

8 to the Governor?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Dated February 13th, 2013?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. It refers to a meeting you had

13 with -- with the Governor.

14 Do you see that?

15 A. Yes.

16 Q. When was that meeting or was -- was

17 there a meeting?

18 A. I think this refers to the meeting

19 schedule that you showed me on -- for 20 February 11th. I think this is a follow-up to

21 that meeting.

22 Q. Okay. So this is the meeting --

Page 466

1 this -- this -- in this e-mail, you're referring

2 to the meeting you had with Mr. -- with the

3 Governor and Mr. Baird?

4 A. Yeah, I think the e-mail chain is, as

5 I said today, there may have been back-and-forth

6 pleasantries, and this is the type of stuff that

7 I -- the type of e-mails I was talking about.

8 It's the Governor saying to me, you know, nice to

9 meet you; excited about the prospect of working

10 with you; job is difficult. I mean, it speaks for

11 itself.

12 He talks about the job, the -- the --

13 the collaborative irrational acts. That's people

14 doing things that seem --

15 Q. And --

16 A. -- insurmountable.

17 Q. -- Mr. Orr, I don't mean to cut you

18 off. I just asked if this was the meeting that

19 you were referring to --

20 A. Yeah, I think -

21 Q. -- I think the answer is yes --

22 A. -- this all speaks for it itself.

Page 467

1 Yeah, this all speaks for itself.

2 Q. Let me refer -- show you a document

3 I'll ask to have marked as Exhibit 26. This is a

4 two-page document stamped at the bottom

5 JD-RD-0000334 and -35 on the second page.

6 A. I think this is -- I think this is

7 Exhibit 20.

8 Q. Oh, it may be.

9 A. I think we already talked about this.

10 Q. Okay. Well --

11 A. Yeah. Yeah, it's the same -- no, I

12 have it. It's the same thing.

13 Q. Okay. I don't have Exhibit 20.

14 Okay. Thank you for pointing that

15 out.

16 A. Yeah.

17 Q. Let me refer you to Exhibit 20.

18 A. Okay.

19 Yeah, it's the same -- yes, it's the 20 same document.

21 Q. So if you look in the e-mail that you

22 wrote to Mr. Baird at the top of Exhibit 20 --

Page 468

1 A. Um-hum.

2 Q. -- towards the bottom of the

3 paragraph -- that block of text that's at the top

4 of the first page, it says -- there's a sentence

5 that says, In the interim, when you have time, I'd

6 like to speak with you about the timing and

7 process for the retention of the EM and legal

8 counsel --

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. -- you wrote that?

11 A. Yes.

12 Q. And what -- what -- did you -- what

13 did you mean when you wrote that?

14 A. Oh, I just meant -- what I had said I

15 think at the February 11th meeting is that my

16 consideration as EM -- there were a number of news

17 reports going around about how I would not have to

18 resign from my firm, and what I said in order to

19 remove issues -- because trustees and bankers, as

20 I suspect you know, don't typically resign from

21 their law firm -- in order to remove any issues

22 with that regard, that I'd probably have to resign

Page 469

1 from my law firm.

2 And what I was saying here is -- and

3 what I said at the February 11th meeting was,

4 look, I don't want my potential candidacy as EM to

5 either help or hurt Jones Day, who originally came

6 into this for pitching the legal work. I want it

7 to be neutral as far as what I do.

8 And -- and to that regard, I think

9 there's an e-mail that we talked about,

10 September 16th, where I recused myself from the 11 Jones Day selection process and I was considering,

12 you know, how I would extricate myself from my

13 firm.

14 I was involved in -- in a couple of 15 very important matters -- in the midst of them, as

16 a matter of fact -- and all I was saying here is

17 let's talk about the process for both the 18 retention of the EM and legal counsel .

19 And what I said February 11th was

20 just, look, whoever -- I'll work with whoever it

21 is, but I don't want this to hurt Jones Day in any

22 way. I don't necessarily want it to help.

Page 470

1 I just want it to be neutral if I'm

2 going to consider this, because I don't want to

3 put my interests above the interests of my then

4 law firm.

5 Q. Okay. And then in -- in the e-mail

6 you write, I'd like to speak with you --

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. -- did you subsequently speak to

9 Mr. Baird about this topic?

10 A. I don't know if I spoke to him about

11 this topic. I was probably -- I don't recall if I

12 spoke to him about this topic. I think I probably 13 did speak to him subsequent to this e-mail.

14 Q. Let me show you what I'll mark as

15 Exhibit 27 --

16 THE COURT REPORTER: Twenty-six.

17 MR. DECHAIRA: -- 26, thank you.

18 Right.

19 What I had offered as 26 I'm not

20 offering because, as Mr. Orr correctly pointed

21 out, the e-mail was already in -- it had already

22 been marked as Exhibit 20.

1 - - -

2 (Whereupon, Contract for Emergency

3 Financial Manager Services was

4 marked, for identification purposes,

5 as Deposition Exhibit Number 26.)

6 - - -

7 BY MR. DECHAIRA:

8 Q. And I'll identify Exhibit 26 as a

9 multipage document, the first page is stamped

10 DTMI00113325.

11 Mr. Orr, is this your employment

12 contract?

13 A. No.

14 Q. Is -- what is this document? Do you

15 know?

16 A. This document is -- this document is

17 substantially similar to my ultimate employment

18 contract. My employment contract, which I think

19 is on the Web site, has the names written in.

20 My employment contract, the initial

21 one, I think was executed on the 25th or 26th, and

22 then a subsequent one was executed on the 28th.

Page 472

1 Q. And the subsequent one sets out what
2 your compensation is from the City?
3 A. Yes, substantially, the -- my actual 4 contract is substantially similar. You said "from 5 the City." The subsequent one -- the com -- the 6 compensation on Page 3.2 is the same --
7 Q. Okay.
8 A. -- but it's substantially similar to
9 my contract. But the actual contract is different
10 from this document (indicating).
11 Q. Okay. And then the last sentence on 12 Section 3.2 says, The emergency financial manager
13 shall not receive or accept any compensation from 14 the City except as provided for in this contract.
15 My question is, do you receive any 16 compensation from anybody or any entity for your 17 services as emergency manager other than what's 18 set out in Section 3.2 here or in the analogous
19 3.2 of what -- of your current contract?
20 A. Not one dime.
21 Q. Well, you may -- you may receive
22 housing, a pay for your housing -- pay for your

Page 473

1 housing, correct?
2 A. Yeah; but I think you said as set out
3 in the contract. Maybe you meant 3.2. But
4 whatever we've discussed today, the housing, but I
5 don't receive that. That's -- I receive the 6 housing. I don't get four -- $4,200 or whatever
7 the rent is; I've never seen it. I get the 8 compensation as stated in the contract, and that's
9 it.
10 Q. Right. But you -- you have -- you
11 live in the housing, correct?
12 A. I live in the housing, yes.
13 Q. And you don't pay for it, correct?
14 A. I don't pay for it --
15 Q. Okay.
16 A. -- that's correct.
17 MR. DECHAIRA: If we -- if I can just 18 have a minute.
19 MR. SHUMAKER: Sure.
20 (Pause.)
21 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Do you want to go
22 off the record?

Page 474

1 MR. DECHAIRA: Yes, please.
2 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the
3 record at 1359.
4 - - -
5 (Whereupon, a discussion was held off
6 the record.)

8 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going back on the
9 record at 1401.
10 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
11 Q. Mr. Orr, do you know what other law
12 firms pitched for the job of restructuring counsel
13 for the City besides Jones Day?
14 A. I -- I don't know them all. I -- I
15 know that there were approximately 20 other law
16 firms, but I don't -- I -- I think Foley was one.
17 I think Weil was one. I -- I don't recall them
18 all, no.
19 Q. Okay. Do you know who else was 20 considered for the EM position besides yourself?
21 A. I do not.
22 Q. Okay.

Page 475

1 A. There was some published reports, but
2 I don't recall early on. That's all --
3 Q. Would --
4 A. -- I -- I don't know with specificity
5 who it was. I just remember there were some
6 reports.
7 Q. Okay. Whether -- whether from any
8 source, whether public or otherwise, do you have 9 any -- as you sit here today, do you remember any 10 names of anyone who was considered as EM other
11 than yourself?
12 A. The -- the only report that I
13 remember with specificity is that Andy Williams,
14 the -- the -- essentially the counterpart in the 15 D.C. control board was reported had been 16 considered, and he turned it down. He's a lot
17 smarter than me.
18 Q. Anyone else?
19 A. Not that I remember.
20 (Sotto voce discussion.)
21 THE WITNESS: He has better judgment
22 than me.

Page 476

1 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
 2 Q. Do you know who Bill Brandt is?
 3 A. I've -- I've heard that name before.
 4 I -- I think he was -- he's a bankruptcy trustee.
 5 Q. Do you know whether he was considered
 6 for any -- for the EM position?
 7 A. I do not.
 8 Q. Do you know whether he was considered
 9 for any position as -- any professional position
 10 in connection with the restructuring of the City
 11 of Detroit?
 12 A. I do not.
 13 Q. Okay.
 14 MR. DECHAIRA: Thank you for your
 15 time, Mr. Orr. I have no further questions.
 16 THE WITNESS: Thank you.
 17 MR. ULLMAN: I have a few follow-ups.
 18
 19
 20
 21
 22

Page 478

1 Q. Okay. And you see we had talked
 2 about the 250 million general fund relative to the 3 650 million total unfunded liability?
 4 A. Yes.
 5 Q. And we had calculated ratio
 6 approximately 38-1/2 percent?
 7 A. Right.
 8 Q. And I think previously, when I was
 9 asking about this, I had referred to the 10 38.5 percent as being the amount of the unfunded
 11 liability allocable to the Department of Water and 12 Sewer. I think I -- I misspoke in that, because 13 the 250 would be -- the 38.5 percent would be the 14 amount allocable to the general fund, correct?
 15 A. Yes, I -- I think that's accurate,
 16 yes, we were talking about the numbers, but --
 17 Q. We had them backwards?
 18 A. -- we had them backwards.
 19 Q. And so if the -- if the math is right
 20 and it was about 38.5 percent, then the percentage
 21 of the unfunded liability allocable to the 22 Department of Water and Sewer would be

 2 EXAMINATION (CONTINUED)
 3 BY COUNSEL FOR RETIREES COMMITTEE
 4 - - -
 5 BY MR. ULLMAN:
 6 Q. Hello, Mr. Orr.
 7 A. Hello, Mr. Ullman.
 8 Q. I just have a few questions for you
 9 just to clarify the record, because I saw when I
 10 was looking at the transcript that as sometimes
 11 happens when lawyers do math, I got some numbers
 12 transposed.
 13 A. Okay.
 14 Q. So if you could turn back to
 15 Exhibit 22.
 16 A. Okay.
 17 Um-hum.
 18 Okay.
 19 Q. And if you could look at the Bates
 20 page that we were looking at before which ends in 21 422.
 22 A. Yes.

Page 479

1 approximately 61.5 percent?
 2 A. But, remember, I said that you have
 3 to be careful with trying to draw a straight-line
 4 comparison between the two numbers you may
 5 calculate in. But generally speaking, if we're 6 just talking about the math, that -- that --
 7 Q. Right --
 8 A. -- would be the estimate.
 9 Q. -- I'm right here just talking about
 10 the ratio on the -- the number that's referred to 11 as the 650 -- the approximately 650 by the Mayor.
 12 A. Yes.
 13 Q. And then I think the next question I
 14 asked you, which I think is what you were alluding
 15 to, that if you assumed a larger liability figure,
 16 would that ratio continue to hold; and my 17 recollection is, your answer was roughly it would,
 18 but you may have to, you know, fine-tune the math.
 19 A. It -- it -- it might roughly hold,
 20 but you need to be careful to not draw the 21 conclusion that is -- it's exactly comparable.
 22 Q. Okay. I understand.

Page 480

1 A. Okay.

2 Q. Okay.

3 And then the other question I have

4 for you -- this is referring to the unfunded

5 pension liability --

6 A. Um-hum.

7 Q. -- you're also familiar with the

8 medical benefits for retirees --

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. -- the health -- and I think that's

11 sometimes referred to as OPEB?

12 A. Yes, other [sic] employee benefits.

13 Q. Okay. And for the OPEB is -- are --

14 is the -- is the situation similar that some

15 amount of the total OPEB liability that the City

16 faces is allocable to sources other than the

17 general fund?

18 A. You -- you know, I think it is; but

19 I'm not recalling that mechanism as well as I

20 recall the pension mechanism, but I think it is.

21 Q. Okay. And would then some portion of

22 the total OPEB unfunded liability be allocable

Page 481

1 also to the Department of Water and Sewer to their

2 retirees?

3 A. It might well be, but I'd need to

4 confirm that.

5 Q. Okay. And have you done any analysis

6 of that question?

7 A. Yes --

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. -- well, our contractors have done an

10 analysis of the question.

11 Q. Okay. And who specifically has done

12 an analysis of that?

13 A. Oh, I think our team at -- the entire

14 team: Conway MacKenzie, Ernst & Young,

15 Miller Buckfire.

16 Q. And do you recall their general

17 conclusions to what percentage of the total

18 unfunded OPEB liability is allocable to the -- A,

19 to the Department of Water of Sewer; or, B, some 20 other fund or entity apart from the general fund?

21 A. I'm -- I'm not -- I don't recall if

22 it is, and I don't recall the percentage.

Page 482

1 MR. ULLMAN: Okay. Could I ask for

2 any documents relating to that to be produced,

3 Greg?

4 MR. SHUMAKER: You can certainly put

5 that in writing and look into it. I'm pretty sure

6 that that has already been produced, but we'll

7 certainly look into it.

8 MR. ULLMAN: Okay.

9 I don't believe I have anything else,

10 so --

11 THE WITNESS: Okay.

12 MR. ULLMAN: -- anything further

13 from -- no.

14 MR. DECHIARA: I think Jennifer

15 Green.

16 MR. ULLMAN: Jennifer, are you there?

17 MS. GREEN: No.

18 MR. ULLMAN: Okay.

19 MS. GREEN: My turn?

20 MR. ULLMAN: Yeah, if you are

21 ready -- if you have questions and you want to go.

22 MS. GREEN: I literally have a

Page 483

1 handful. Very quickly.

2 MR. ULLMAN: Go -- go ahead. I'm

3 done.

4 Thank you very much, Mr. Orr.

5 THE WITNESS: Thank you very much,

9 EXAMINATION (CONTINUED) BY COUNSEL FOR

10 GENERAL RETIREMENT SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF DETROIT AND

11 THE POLICE AND FIRE RETIREMENT SYSTEM OF THE

13 - - -

14 BY MS. GREEN:

15 Q. Hi, how are you?

16 A. Just fine.

17 Q. You began acting as emergency manager

18 as of March 26th, and Jones Day was hired to 19 represent the City after you became emergency

20 manager, correct?

21 A. The relationship was formalized after

22 I became emergency manager, yes.

Page 484

1 Q. Are you saying there was an informal
2 relationship before then?
3 A. No. As -- as I said before today,
4 the -- the question of when the attorney-client
5 privilege attaches isn't necessarily based upon
6 just a formalization of a relationship; it's based
7 upon one of confidence and reposed and -- and a
8 relationship is accepted. An exact date of that,
9 I don't know sitting here today from a legal
10 perspective.
11 Q. Can you tell me, from your view as
12 emergency manager, was the firm of Jones Day
13 acting as legal representation -- giving legal 14 representation to the City prior to your being 15 appointed EM on March 26th?
16 A. I don't -- I don't know.
17 I -- as I testified earlier today, I
18 recused myself from that process, so I don't know
19 when that relationship arose.
20 Q. Well, let me ask you this: You
21 worked at Jones Day, and you worked on the pitch
22 materials, correct?

Page 485

1 A. Yes.
2 Q. And so you were involved with the
3 process of the pitch and the PowerPoint?
4 A. Yes; but that was in early -- that
5 was in late January and early February, sometime
6 in February, and I think the e-mails have been
7 discussed in my prior deposition.
8 I -- I pulled myself out of that
9 process, it was in early February prior to the 10 meeting we discussed today. So I don't know what
11 happened after I recused myself.
12 Q. I understand that. I understand
13 that.
14 But what I'm saying is, the pitch
15 that occurred, you were not acting as legal
16 counsel when you did the pitch, right?
17 A. No, no, we were not --
18 Q. Okay.
19 A. -- we were soliciting becoming legal
20 counsel.
21 Q. Exactly.
22 So at least it was some point after

Page 486

1 the pitch, correct?
2 A. Yes.
3 Q. And similar to that, Jones Day was
4 never hired by the State of Michigan at any point
5 for any sort of representation, correct?
6 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form:
7 Foundation.
8 THE WITNESS: Yeah, I think I
9 testified earlier today -- I said earlier today,
10 I -- I don't know if Jones Day has ever
11 represented the State of Michigan, but -- but with 12 regard to this matter, I don't -- I don't know of 13 Jones Day representing the State of Michigan other 14 than --
15 BY MS. GREEN:
16 Q. Okay.
17 A. -- through my office.
18 Q. So in 2011 and in 2012, and prior to 19 spring of 2013, you have no knowledge of there
20 being any attorney-client relationship between 21 Jones Day and the State of Michigan, correct?
22 A. I have no knowledge.

Page 487

1 Q. Okay.
2 And, certainly, I would assume if you
3 were preparing pitch materials in a PowerPoint,
4 where you were pitching Jones Day to the State and
5 to the City, you would've, I assume, included any
6 prior representation of the City and the State,
7 correct?
8 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection: calls for
9 speculation.
10 THE WITNESS: Calls for speculation,
11 that's what I was going to say.
12 It -- you know, I -- I don't know.
13 It would be speculative on my part to say that --
14 that it may or may not included it. We -- I would
15 like to think that we -- before the retention, I
16 would like to think that any law firm would have
17 run a conflicts check.
18 I'm not sure whether or not that
19 would have been included in the pitch material.
20 BY MS. GREEN:
21 Q. Well, during the pitch, was there any
22 point where any of the Jones Day attorneys that

Page 488

1 you were doing the pitch with said, oh, by the
 2 way, we were -- we were once your legal counsel,
 3 State of Michigan, or we were once your legal
 4 counsel, City of Detroit?
 5 MR. SHUMAKER: Objection to the form.
 6 THE WITNESS: As I said earlier
 7 today, the discussion quickly went off the pitch
 8 materials in the far-ranging; so I don't recall
 9 any -- any statement in that respect.
 10 BY MS. GREEN:
 11 Q. Okay.
 12 So you have no evidence that there
 13 was ever any attorney-client relationship between 14 Jones Day and the State of Michigan; is that
 15 correct?
 16 MR. SHUMAKER: Object to the form.
 17 THE WITNESS: All -- all the
 18 questions I said earlier today, there -- there
 19 could have been. I'm not aware of any.
 20 MS. GREEN: Okay. That's the only
 21 question I have.
 22 THE WITNESS: Okay.

Page 490

1 MR. DECHAIRA: Thank you.
 2 THE WITNESS: Um-hum.
 3 MR. SHUMAKER: Thank you, Counsel.

 7 BY MR. DECHAIRA:
 8 Q. Mr. Orr, do you know whether any of
 9 the liabilities of the Detroit -- Detroit's
 10 general pension fund are attributable to the 11 pensions of employees or retirees of the Detroit
 12 public library system?
 13 MR. SHUMAKER: Getting pretty far
 14 afield here, Counselor.
 15 You can answer that one.
 16 THE WITNESS: I -- I -- specifically,
 17 library employees?
 18 I don't -- I don't know that. I know
 19 that they're attributable to GRS. Service
 20 employees are typically nonuniform. I don't know
 21 if it includes library employees. It might; it

DECLARATION OF STEVEN KREISBERG

I, Steven Kreisberg, declare under penalty of perjury pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, as follows:

1. I serve as Director of Collective Bargaining and Health Care Policy of the American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO ("AFSCME"), and I submit this declaration in support of The Michigan Council 25 Of The American Federation Of State, County & Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO And Sub-Chapter 98, City Of Detroit Retirees' Amended Objection To The City Of Detroit's Eligibility To Obtain Relief Under Chapter 9 of The Bankruptcy Code (the "Objection"). Unless otherwise stated below, I have knowledge of the matters set forth herein from my own personal knowledge and from my review of records and information kept in AFSCME's ordinary course of business and, if called, could competently testify to the information provided below.

2. In the ordinary course of business, through my position at AFSCME, I have access to over 8,000 of the collective bargaining agreements (including but not limited to concessionary agreements) to which AFSCME local unions or other local affiliates enter into and submit to AFSCME as is required by the AFSCME Constitution. Depending on the agreements being negotiated and the requests of the local unions, my staff and I at AFSCME have various degrees of involvement in the local's collective bargaining process. Furthermore, for purposes of future collective bargaining and general data gathering purposes, and as required by the AFSCME Constitution, AFSCME obtains copies of collective bargaining and other relevant agreements negotiated by AFSCME locals.

3. Additionally, AFSCME and its locals in Detroit have historically negotiated collective bargaining agreements which provide active employees access to, and employer contributions towards, health benefit plans, and upon their retirement, such employees continue to access the same benefit plans provided for under the then-applicable collective bargaining agreement. To the extent that a collective bargaining agreement is later renegotiated, any changes to health benefit plans (which sometimes recently have resulted in reduced benefits) apply to both active employees and retirees that participate in such benefit plans. Thus, AFSCME and its affiliate Michigan Council 25 regularly negotiate concessionary agreements which directly impact retirees.

4. In this regard, I am familiar with and have specific knowledge regarding (and, indeed, someone from my staff was directly involved in the negotiation of) a certain tentative agreement (the “Tentative Agreement”) dated February 1, 2012 between the City¹ and a “Coalition of City of Detroit [non-uniform] Unions”, including several AFSCME local bargaining units. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a copy of the Tentative Agreement.

5. I am further aware that the Tentative Agreement was ratified by the Detroit coalition of unions but never implemented. Had such agreement been implemented, the changes therein regarding health benefits would have directly impacted retiree benefits with respect to retirees that participated in the City’s health plans governed by the Tentative Agreement.

¹ Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined herein shall have the meaning ascribed to such terms in the Objection.

6. Indeed, based on projections provided to AFSCME by the City in 2012, AFSCME understood that the Tentative Agreement would have saved the City approximately $50 million annually, an amount which included retiree health care changes. Thus, the City has previously effectively put both active and retiree health care savings on the table for negotiations, clearly demonstrating the City's ability to at least negotiate with respect to changes to benefits for active and retired City employees.

7. I attended a July 10, 2013 meeting between the City and various unions (including AFSCME) and other stakeholders. At that July 10, 2013 meeting, counsel for the City attempted to invoke what he termed "Rule 408" confidentiality provisions, and stated that doing so was a tool used in every bankruptcy, so it should be invoked that day.

8. Attached hereto as Exhibit B is a copy of the Pitch Presentation given to the City by the City's Law Firm dated January 29, 2013.

9. Attached hereto as Exhibit C is a copy of an e-mail dated July 8, 2013 from Bill Nowling in the EM's office to individuals in the Governor's office.

10. Attached hereto as Exhibit D is a copy of an e-mail dated July 9, 2013 from Treasurer Andy Dillon to the Governor and other individuals in the Governor's office.

11. Attached hereto as Exhibit E is a copy of an e-mail dated July 17, 2013 from Ken Buckfire regarding the deal reached between the City and its swap counterparties.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on this 11th day of October, 2013

/s/ Steven Kreisberg

EXHIBIT A

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT 2-1-2012
LETTER OF UNDERSTANDING (“Agreement”)
BETWEEN
CITY OF DETROIT
AND
THE COALITION OF CITY OF DETROIT UNIONS

The Coalition Employees are the members of the bargaining units who have joined this Coalition. The Coalition was created to respond to a fiscal crisis in the City of Detroit. The Coalition is made up of the following unions (evolving list, given as of this date): Michigan AFSCME Council 25 Non-supervisory unit, Supervisory unit, Forestry and Landscape unit, Emergency Service Operators (yet the entirety of this Agreement will not apply to this unit, as outlined below) Amalgamated Transit Unit, Association of City of Detroit Supervisors, I.U.O.E – Operating Engineers Local 324, Building & Construction Trades Council, I.B.E.W. Local 58, S.A.A.A., UAW Local 2211 – PAA, A.M.I., Teamsters Local 214, Supervisors Chapter of the DOT Foreman’s Association, Income Tax Investigators, and SEIU Local 517. This Agreement excludes the AFSCME units of crossing guards, and Motor City Seasonals.

I. GENERAL PRINCIPLES

A. Coalition Employees And Their Union Contracts

All Coalition Employees work under various collective bargaining agreements of the Coalition Unions. Except for the specific terms outlined below, the terms of the successor collective bargaining agreements for all Coalition Unions will be executed concurrently with the execution of this Agreement and will remain in full force and effect until three years following the execution of this Agreement. The City will execute successor collective bargaining agreements with each Coalition Union simultaneously with execution of this Agreement, and the terms of the successor bargaining agreements shall be identical to the most recent bargaining agreements, which are incorporated in full, except as modified below and except as to the following Unions wherein the successor bargaining agreements are identical to the attached bargaining proposals: . The parties acknowledge that these successor bargaining agreements are not extensions of the previous agreement, as addressed in MCLA sec. 423.215b. Also, for each Coalition Union, the terms of the prior bargaining agreement have been in full force and effect up until the execution of the new bargaining agreement. All new Coalition Union bargaining agreements shall remain in full force and effect until three years from the date of the execution of this Agreement.

The bargaining agreements of the Coalition Unions will be modified as reflected below. All changes below are prospective modifications of all Coalition Union bargaining agreements. In other words, the below changes do not have any impact on the respective bargaining units prior to the date of execution of this Agreement.

For each Union contract of this Coalition, the contract will be renewed and extended year-by-year, following the termination date, unless either the Union or City provides written notice of a desire to modify or amend or terminate the Agreement, by or before six (6) months before contract termination. If either side provides such notice, the contract will extend on a monthly basis unless terminated upon 30 days written notice by either party. Any changes to this Agreement shall be agreed to in writing.

The bargaining agreements of the Coalition Unions will be modified as reflected below. All changes below are prospective modifications of all Coalition Union bargaining agreements. In other words, the below changes do not have any impact on the respective bargaining units prior to the date of execution of this Agreement.

This Agreement does not apply to employees who work within the Detroit Water and Sewage Department, due to the pending opinion of Judge Sean Cox in case number 77-71100.

B. "Me Too"

- 1) All concessions described below must apply equally to all City employees, including public officials (including the mayor, city councilpersons, the city clerk, and other persons appointed or elected who are employed by the City), appointees, management, civilians, and exempt and non-exempt employees, with the exception of Public Safety employees in bargaining units eligible for Act 312 arbitration, who are addressed below, employees in the Detroit of Water and Sewerage Department, crossing guards, Motor City Seasonals, and employees working under grants which prohibit the actions taken by this Agreement. Additionally, Emergency Service Operators and their supervisors (who are Coalition Employees) will receive parity with public safety employees, as to their wages, just as in previous bargaining agreements for those units. During the period for which the Coalition Employees are undergoing wage concessions, no Non-Coalition management level employee or appointee shall receive merit pay or step increases (only Coalition Employees receive such). All step or merit pay increases called for in the White Book, or elsewhere for Non-Coalition management/supervisory level employees, shall be frozen during the period of wage concessions for the Coalition Employees. Wage increases due to a bona fide promotion will not violate this provision, provided the base wage for the new position has been reduced by ten percent. The same shall apply for new hires. If any Non-Coalition employee/official receives any concession lower than a Coalition Employee, then all Coalition Employees will receive the concession applicable to the Non-Coalition employee/official.
- 2) Notwithstanding the above, if any Non-Coalition employee/official receives an increase in any form of compensation (wages or fringe benefits) from December 20, 2011 and throughout the term of this Agreement, then all Coalition Employees will receive an equivalent amount of an increase in compensation. These "Me Too" changes will take place immediately.
- 3) The Union Coalition will have the ability to receive all information, within seven (7) days of request of such, related to all wages and benefits received by any employee/official (Coalition and Non-Coalition employees alike).

- 4) In the event a Non-Coalition Union or non-Union Employee agrees to take economic concessions which are equivalent economically, but not identical to the Wage Concession set forth in this Agreement, such arrangement shall not violate this "Me Too" clause.
- 5) All parties acknowledge that the City of Detroit will assure shared sacrifice from all employees in fixing the City's fiscal concerns. At least one week prior to the ratification of this Agreement but following tentative execution of this Agreement, the City will share with the Coalition Unions all concessions to which public safety employees have agreed, along with all available information substantiating the value of said concessions for the next three years. This information shall be shared with the Coalition Union by no later than three days following agreements being reached with public safety employees. If the Coalition Unions are dissatisfied with the concessions of the public safety employees or the information provided concerning them, they may withdraw from any terms of this Agreement at their choosing, and may make alternative proposals to the City concerning any area of this Agreement. If the City has not ratified agreements with the public safety employees by April 1, 2012, the parties will discuss the consequence of the failure to attain public safety agreements, since the Coalition Unions will not have ratified by that point.
- 6) Notwithstanding the above, all City employees (including public safety) shall be governed by the same healthcare plan designs, options, and costs, as provided for elsewhere in this Agreement, or else the remedies of this section shall apply. This provision does not apply (a) if the public safety employees have a health care plan which is equal to or less in costs, for the public safety group, than the plan proposed by the Coalition Unions as spelled out below or (b) to the COPS Trust plan – with the understanding that the participation in the COPS Trust plan is being frozen at its current participants, or that the plan's costs and/or benefits are comparable to the plan of the Coalition Unions. Further, if the Coalition Unions are dissatisfied with the public safety agreements concerning the COPS Trust plan, when the Coalition reviews the public safety ratified agreements prior to the ratification of this Agreement (see paragraph 5 above), then the Coalition may resort to the remedies outlined above.
- 7) For bargaining units represented by unions who do not sign on as members of the Coalition, or sign the agreement as a separate signatory (except with regard to the employee units excluded from the "Me Too" in Section I.B.1), the City shall have until July 1, 2013 to implement wage and benefits concessions at levels and length similar to that agreed to by the Coalition Unions in this Agreement. If such changes are not implemented by July 1, 2013, the Coalition Employees shall receive an economic adjustment in their wages, at that time, so that the Coalition Employees will receive no greater concession ~~over the life of this Agreement~~ for a three year term than the non-Coalition Employees.

Any of the Coalition Unions shall have the ability to file a grievance for a violation of this Me Too provision, pursuant to the Dispute Resolution section below. This may be a joint grievance when filed, or any Coalition Union may join in the grievance. Once a grievance has been filed concerning this Me Too provision, the City shall have twenty-one (21) days to review and cure the violation of the Me Too provision, before any Coalition Employee is entitled to sanctions for violation of such clause.

C. Dispute Resolution

A violation of any provision of this Agreement shall be subject to the following process. Either the City or a Coalition Union may grieve a violation of this Agreement. The grievance may be filed jointly on behalf of any or all Unions within the Coalition. There is no time limit within which to file a grievance concerning the violation of this Agreement. The grievance shall be addressed as normal in the contractual grievance steps. The grievance may be filed at the Labor Relations step (i.e., step 4) of the grievance process, the step immediately prior to the arbitration step. Once the grievance reaches the step of arbitration, the parties shall first submit the grievance to the JBS Committee (described in Section III below). Both the City and the grieving union(s) may have additional representatives involved in the grievance discussions. The Committee shall have its first meeting within 10 days of the grievance being filed, and shall exercise all reasonable efforts to try to resolve the grievance. As necessary, the Committee may meet with any City Department Head, Group Executive, Chief Operating Officer, Chief of Staff, and the Mayor, and those meetings shall take place as soon as possible after request. The Committee shall have 45 days to try to resolve the grievance. If the grievance is not resolved, it shall be submitted to a neutral arbitrator, pursuant to the Grievance Procedure language of the bargaining agreement of the lead Union which filed the grievance. This arbitration shall be expedited to the fullest extent possible, but by no means shall the grievance take longer than six months from the date of filing in order to have an arbitrator issue his/her ruling on the grievance.

If the arbitrator finds a violation of any provision of the Agreement, the arbitrator may order specific performance (ordering the City or Union to take certain action or refrain from certain action to comply with the Agreement). Specific performance shall be the sole remedy for any violation by the City or Union for the commitments made in Section III of this Agreement, "Lean Optimization Commitment and Union Deficit Benchmarks"; except that if an individual employee suffers a wage loss as a result of a violation of Section III, paragraphs 7.g and 10, then the arbitrator may order that the employee be made whole. In addition, in any grievance arbitration in which a grievance claims a violation of Section III of this agreement, the arbitrator shall award costs and reasonable attorneys fees to the prevailing party in such arbitration. If the arbitrator finds a violation of the provisions of Section I, "General Principles," or Section II, "Employee Concessions," he/she may award financial and other remedies. The arbitrator's remedy is subject to an action to enforce or vacate the arbitration award in Circuit Court. The parties stipulate that such action to enforce or vacate shall be expedited, and placed before the court as quickly as possible.

The foregoing provisions do not preempt the rights of an individual employee or Coalition Union to enforce other provisions of collective bargaining agreements through the contractual grievance procedures, or pursuant to law.

The Union and City shall have the right to request information from the other party, to be received at least one week prior to the hearing on the arbitration.

The arbitrator shall require the losing party to pay all arbitration fees and costs, unless there is a split decision in which case the costs are evenly split between the parties.

II. EMPLOYEE CONCESSIONS

1. Wage Concessions. The Coalition Employees will incur a reduction in wages of ten (10%) of the base. The concessions will be modified or eliminated as spelled out below. The furlough days being served by the Coalition Employees are terminated. The Wage Concessions hereby terminate at 11:59 pm on the day prior to the termination date of this Agreement, or earlier as outlined otherwise in this Agreement.

A. Trigger of Reduction of the City Deficit. If the City general fund achieves a $40 million net surplus for fiscal years 2012, 2013 or 2014, regardless of the overall Fund Balance Deficit, then Coalition Employee wages will be adjusted upwards by 2.5% during the next fiscal year starting on the subsequent July 1st. If the City general fund achieves a $40 million net accumulated surplus over a combination of two or more fiscal years during the life of this Agreement, regardless of the overall Fund Balance Deficit, then Coalition Employee wages will be adjusted up by 2.5% during the next fiscal year on the subsequent July 1st. For any subsequent fiscal year, or combination of fiscal years during the life of this Agreement, where the City achieves a surplus of an additional $40 million regardless of the overall Fund Balance Deficit, the wages will be adjusted up by another 2.5%. If the City completely eliminates the Fund Balance Deficit, then wages will go back to their original levels prior to the 10% reduction, during the following fiscal year as of July 1st. See examples below.

Example A

Fiscal year 2012 has a surplus of $70 million. Thus, in fiscal year 2013, wages are increased by 2.5%

Fiscal year 2013 has a surplus of $20 million; therefore accumulated surplus of $90 million. Thus, in fiscal year 2014 wages are increased by an additional 2.5%, equating to a total of a 5% increase in wages and leaving 5% in concession.

Example B

Fiscal year 2012 has a surplus of $80 million. Thus, in fiscal year 2013 wages are increased by 2.5%.

Fiscal year 2013 has a surplus of $120 million and the general fund balance deficit is eliminated. Thus, in fiscal year 2014 the wages are increased by an additional 6%.

Example C

Fiscal year 2012 has a deficit of $50 million. Thus, in fiscal year 2013 there is no change in the wages.

Fiscal year 2013 has a surplus of $80 million ; therefore Accumulated Surplus of $30 million deficit over the combination of fiscal years 2012-2013. Yet, due to the surplus in fiscal year 2013, wages are increased by 2.5%.

A net surplus is defined as the general fund revenues, less expenses, in that one fiscal year, regardless of the overall Fund Balance Deficit at the time, but not including funds received due to new debt issuance, any one-time surplus resulting from a refinancing transaction (however, savings beyond the initial one time revenue increase from the refinance – such as interest rate reduction – will be included in the calculation of the net surplus addressed in this section), asset sales and any debt principal repayment made beyond its scheduled date of maturity. With respect to proceeds from asset sales, the parties will negotiate regarding any portion of the proceeds of such sale to be included in the net surplus. A net accumulated surplus is defined as the general fund revenues, less expenses, in that combination of two or more fiscal years, regardless of the overall Fund Balance Deficit at the time, but not including funds received due to new debt issuance, any one-time surplus resulting from a refinancing transaction (however, savings beyond the initial one time revenue increase from the refinance – such as interest rate reduction – will be included in the calculation of the net surplus addressed in this section), asset sales any debt principal repayment made beyond its scheduled date of maturity. With respect to proceeds from asset sales, the parties will negotiate regarding any portion of the proceeds of such sale to be included in the net surplus. Fund Balance Deficit means the City's accumulated deficit in its general fund, which is $196 million as of June 30, 2011. A fiscal year runs from July 1st through June 30th of the following year.

For every year of this Agreement, the City will receive an assessment of the net surplus in its general fund, and the overall Fund Balance Deficit, by or before January 5th of each year of this Agreement, for that current fiscal year. This information will be conveyed to the Coalition Union also by that date. The Coalition Union may have access to all data pertinent to such an assessment.

2. Healthcare.

a. The City has indicated that it needs to attain $60 million in health care savings (excluding the DWSD employees and the Weiler class retirees), annually, either paid by or subsidized by the general fund. While the Coalition Unions do not bargain concerning retirees' healthcare and nothing regarding this Agreement shall be construed as Coalition involvement in such, ~~Yet,~~ the Coalition Unions agree to changes in the benefit plan design for prescription drugs and medical, dental and vision care which will achieve the active employees' share of this savings target. If the City includes the COPS Trust healthcare plan in the package offered to employees, the calculation for the healthcare savings desired by the City will be reduced by the value of savings to the City's healthcare costs by the amount of money which would have been realized in savings had

COPS Trust been excluded. The Coalition Unions shall discuss plan design costs with healthcare providers. These cost changes shall be applied to all City employees, including public officials, appointees, management, public safety employees, civilians, and exempt and non-exempt employees, however, this provision shall not be violated if the City maintains the COPS Trust plan. Any changes to the above plan design changes will be agreed upon between the parties. The carriers will include Blue Cross & Blue Shield PPO, Health Alliance Plan, Total Health Care, Golden Dental, Dent-Cap, Blue Cross & Blue Shield Dental, Heritage Vision, and Co-op Optical.

b. By or before February 6, 2012, the Coalition Union will report on health care plan design costs from the carriers and provide the data demonstrating such. If the City is not satisfied that the Coalition Union has demonstrated sufficient savings, then it may seek review of the Coalition Union's package by a third party neutral. She will review the data presented by the Coalition Union, as well as the City's proposed plan option (Option 3), in order to assess each package and offer recommendations of employee design plan change ideas to the parties.

c. The plan design proposed by the Coalition Union members for the duration of this Agreement is as follows. The changes will be implemented as soon as possible: The City shall pay no more than 80% of the cost of healthcare, as required by state law in effect at the time of execution of this Agreement.

Plan Deductible: $250/$500

Insurance maximum: $1000/$2000

Office visit/urgent care: $15

Prescription Drug co-pay (purchased through CVS Caremark): $5/$15/$30.
[copayment costs of drugs for generic/brand name/formulary]Elimination of Blue
Care Network

Elimination of U.S. Health provider

Emergency Room visit: $75

Hospital visit: no co-pay

Dental contribution: 20%

Vision contributlon: 20%

d. There were Coalition Employees who were under different healthcare plans, prior to the execution of this Agreement. As of the execution of this Agreement, all Coalition Employees will receive the same healthcare plan options and plan designs as all other Coalition Employees.

e. The City shall engage in all reasonable efforts to explore a relationship with Detroit-based hospitals to provide healthcare in direct relationship with City employees, as opposed to going through a health insurance company. The success of said efforts shall be explored in the Joint Budgetary Savings and Revenue Initiatives Committee meetings described below.

3. Pension Concessions. The Coalition Employees will agree to the following Pension Concessions and changes set forth in the attached Exhibit B. These changes are effective as of February 28, and are applicable prospectively only. For those employees who have submitted a written application of intent to retire prior to February 28, 2012, those employees shall not be impacted by the changes in the pension benefits, and shall receive pension benefits in effect prior to February 28, 2012. The City represents that it will seek approval of all retirement benefits by all applicable government agencies, including the Internal Revenue Service. If any retirement benefit change fails to attain necessary government agency approval, all other benefits shall remain in effect for the duration of this Agreement.

4. Early Retirement

The Coalition Employees will agree to the below early out program for employees who have between 27 and 29 years of service and are any age, employees who have between 7 and 10 years of service and are at least 60 years old, and employees with between 22 and 25 years of service and intend to retire with the Actuarially Reduced 25 Year Option of the Retirement Plan: The City will offer such Coalition Employees the ability to retire three (3) years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits, for employees who have more than [1,000] hours of banked time (i.e., sick time, furlough, vacation or compensatory time) and who relinquish all of their banked time. The City will offer Coalition Employees to retire two years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits, for employees who have between [500] and [1,000] hours of banked time, and who relinquish a maximum of 1000 of banked time. The City will offer Coalition Employees to retire one (1) year earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits, for employees who have less than [500] hours of banked time, and who relinquish a maximum of 500 hours of banked time. The utilization of banked time, for purposes of the calculation, begins with sick time.

Employees may purchase service time, to retire early, using their annuity. The City will provide data on the cost of the service time to be purchased by April 1, 2012.

The City will widely advertise the early out program to its employees. The open period for employees to initially apply for the early retirement option shall be no less than 21 days. Upon voluntary retirement, employees will be expected to sign a separation agreement and waiver and release of claims (the terms of which shall be agreed upon by the City and Coalition Unions), and the City will comply with all applicable federal and state laws, and regulations, concerning this early out program.

The City will facilitate quick meetings and exit interviews with employees who seek to retire in conformity with this Agreement.

Coalition Employees who are veterans shall have the ability to purchase service time, at the actuarially determines service cost, for all active duty military service.

III. LEAN OPTIMIZATION COMMITMENT AND UNION DEFICIT BENCHMARKS

A. General Principles Of Lean Optimization

During the 2011 negotiations, the parties discussed the role of the labor management cooperation and collaboration in providing more efficient delivery of services to the people of Detroit. The parties recognize that the efficient delivery of service to the public should be mindful of the cost effectiveness, quality of delivery, accountability and public interest. The parties agree that all stakeholders must work together in an open dialogue manner to achieve best in class public service.

The parties agreed to approach the issue jointly with the goal of facilitating the development of positive programs relative to the effective use of resources. Such effective use of resources may include self-directed work teams or other empowerment initiatives as agreed by the parties to provide front line workers with the support needed to effectively perform their jobs.

The parties recognize that Lean Optimization can be a valuable tool in achieving the effective use of resources. Lean Optimization has the simple goal of helping city government work better for both its customers and its employees. Lean practices rely on joint participation between employees and management at all levels within the City. World class service cannot occur without such employee involvement.

The Mayor and all levels of his administration, and City Council, agree that the below Deficit Benchmarks and all other aspects of this Agreement are among the necessary tools that must be pursued in order to have the City attain financial stability. By executing this Agreement, they agree to comply with these Deficit Benchmarks and all other aspects of this Agreement.

For the below Committees, coordinated training for the Coalition Unions and the City will take place within (30) days after ratification of this Agreement.

B. Committee Creation

1. Joint Budgetary Savings and Revenue Initiatives Committee - Within twenty (20) days after the effective date of this Agreement, a Joint Budgetary Savings and Revenue Initiatives Committee ("JBS Committee") will be established to explore innovative initiatives to deliver better customer service and pursue better value from those who deliver the services. The parties agree to meet on a monthly basis, and shall be responsible for reporting their progress to the City Administration's Chief Operations Officer and the Coalition Unions. The City Representatives to this Committee shall be decided by the City's Director of Labor Relations and the Chief Operating Officer, and the Coalition Unions may elect up to 6 representatives to be on this Committee, and the City shall have 6 representatives appointed to such Committee.

Representatives from the Departments may participate as needed. The Committee will determine the meeting schedule and agenda. The parties agree on the value of utilizing outside independent facilitators trained in business lean practices and will explore funding alternatives to engage mutually agreed upon lean consultants. The any member of the Committee shall have access to all information pertinent to the performance of their duties, from either the Administration or the City Council. Upon request, the information shall be conveyed within seven days of request.

The Committee's responsibility shall also be to monitor the achievement of the Union Deficit Benchmarks spelled out in Section III below, and otherwise to assure compliance with this Agreement.

2. Joint Healthcare Committee - Healthcare Cost Containment. During the 2011 negotiations, the parties discussed the mutual goal of designing and implementing healthcare plans, including ancillary plans, that effectively manage costs and that work to keep members healthy. The Coalition Unions may elect up to 6 representatives to be on this Committee, and the City shall have 6 representatives appointed to such Committee, within 30 days of execution of this Agreement. The Committee will be jointly chaired by the designee of the City and Coalition Unions. To that end, the City and the Coalition Unions will convene a Joint Healthcare Committee (the "Committee") whose charges will include, but not be limited to:

- a. Analysis of current plan performance identifying opportunities for improvement;
- b. Investigate potential savings opportunities from re-contracting pharmacy or other carrier contracts;
- c. Review the current specialty pharmacy program and identify best-in-class specialty programs to use as a benchmark;
- d. Analyze current HMO plans to determine if they are a cost-effective means of providing high quality healthcare;
- e. Investigate impact on outcomes and costs of Value Based Benefit Designs;
- f. Identify opportunities for cost-containment programs and carve out programs;
- g. Investigate opportunities to save costs by modifying or otherwise limiting medical, professional and pharmacy networks;
- h. Review current chronic care management programs to determine effectiveness as well as ongoing member compliance;
- i. Investigate workplace health and wellness programs and make recommendations with the goal of educating and motivating employees toward improved health and well-being;

- j. Make recommendations to increase voluntary participation in health and wellness screenings and benefits included in current health plans;
- k. Identify educational opportunities relative to facility and professional provider quality data, as well as designated centers of excellence.

As mutually agreed by the parties, independent subject matter experts and consultants may be called upon to assist the Committee in carrying out their charges.

Monthly meetings of the Committee shall be scheduled with the first being held no later than 45 days following the effective date of the Agreement.

3. Contracting Out Committee – In order to attain the 10% reduction from third party contractors (discussed in benchmarks below) and otherwise attain savings and efficient practices in privatization, representatives of the City Administration and Union Coalition will form a Contracting Out Committee (“Committee”), with six persons from each group. The Committee will review all contracts with third party persons or entities, that are paid in some part directly, or indirectly, from the general fund. The Committee will oversee the process of the 10% reduction in the gross contract value being asked of all contractors. The Committee will also make recommendations to the Administration on ways to attain efficiencies and savings in the contract procurement process. In making their assessment, the Contracting Committee may:

- * schedule meetings with the contractor and bidders, to discuss the price being offered for the goods/service;
- * review current and proposed contracts for compliance with the Privatization Ordinance;
- Seek evaluation of the contracts by an outside expert mutually agreed to by the City and the Coalition Unions;
- recommend termination of the contract in conformity with its terms and seeking alternative sources of supply for the services;
- Study and consideration of a plan for the work being performed by City employees rather than outside contractors where an objective, demonstrable cost savings can be established.

The Committee will also review contracts which are paid with dollars from the City’s enterprise funds, and recommend similar adjustments to such contracts to the heads of those Departments. The Committee will have access to all data surrounding the contracts of general and enterprise funds.

The Committee will also explore potential savings with insourcing work that is currently being done by a contractor. The Committee will look at objective, and demonstrable savings to be realized by having city employees perform work that contractors now perform. In-sourcing analysis may include the retention of an outside consultant, who shall be mutually acceptable to both the City and the Union Coalition.

The Committee will meet once per month, the first meeting being 10 days following execution of this Agreement, and will report to the City Chief Operating Officer and the Union Coalition chief spokesperson. Their reports will include all of the above information.

C. Deficit Benchmarks

1. 1. 125k Plan. The City will implement a Section 125 Plan for flexible spending accounts, dependent care accounts, and medical contribution pre-tax accounts. This plan will permit employees to contribute to these accounts, pre-tax. It will begin April 1, 2012. The provider of this plan will be Colonial Life, assuming that the package offered by Colonial is deemed reasonable by both parties.
2. 2. Reducing Contractor Costs. The City acknowledges that cost reduction efforts should not be limited to employee concessions in wages and benefits. The City will aggressively seek a ten percent (10%) reduction in the gross value of each and every contract the City has with a contractor. Contractor is defined as any person or entity which receives payment from the City's general fund directly or indirectly (i.e., an enterprise fund which is subsidized by the general fund), and includes contracts let through a City agency (i.e., Detroit Building Department), but excluding contracts let to the federal government.

All City Contractors will be told that they have until February 15, 2012 to indicate that their contract can be amended to provide for a 10% reduction in the gross value of the contract.

By February 15, 2012 or one week following ratification, whichever date is the latter, each City Department using Contractors will prepare a written summary of all Contractors that it utilizes. The list will indicate for each Contractor: the name of the Contractor and the contact person, the value of the contract, the services provided by the contract, the gross amount of invoices submitted by the Contractor within the 2011 calendar year, the total paid to the Contractor within the 2011 calendar year, whether or not the Contractor has been asked for a 10% reduction, and the response of the Contractor. The information shall be forwarded to the Union Coalition.

For all Contractors who agree to a 10% reduction in the gross value of the contract, then the City (including the Purchasing Director and City Council) shall immediately modify the contract and adjust the payments to the Contractor accordingly. For those Contractors who either fail to respond, or respond by agreeing to no reduction or a reduction of less than 10%, upon recommendation of the Committee, the Purchasing Director shall promptly send out the previous request for proposal with scope of services to other persons/entities who the Purchasing Director or the Committee feel may be able to replace the current Contractor.

The Committee will oversee the Purchasing Director's submission of the scope of services and request for proposals to other Contractors, which will take place within two weeks of the Contractor's response, or at the latest by February 24, 2012. The bids are due within thirty (30) days, and the bid price sought should be at 10% less than the current Contractor's cost. The Committee will review the bids once submitted and assess whether the work could be done, or goods can be offered, by any of the bidders for less than the current contractor's cost.

The City and Committee will utilize the services of at least one expert in contract procurement to assist with this evaluation. If the Purchasing Director determines that the work/goods can be offered by another bidder for less than the current Contractor, then the Purchasing Director will terminate the current Contractor's contract, as permitted by law, and initiate the process for securing the contract with the bidder. The Contracting Committee may review the decision of the Purchasing Director, and will have access to all data pertinent to the decision of the Purchasing Director. If any member on the Committee disagrees with the Purchasing Director's decision about whether a bidder should replace the current contractor, then the neutral expert in contract procurement, that the Committee had previously designated to hear such disputes, will make the final determination, after having access to all data pertinent to the current contract and bidders on the contract.

3. Elimination of Daily Overtime. The City will eliminate payment of daily overtime for all City employees, except as required by state or federal law or regulation.
4. Elimination of 35 Hour Work Week. The City will eliminate the 35 hour work week for all City employees, except as required by state or federal law or regulation.
5. Quarterly Review of Financials. The City will conduct a quarterly financial review meeting to which a representative of the Union Coalition will be invited. Each Department Head (or designee) shall appear at the meeting to review all actual expenditures of his/her Department. The Department must demonstrate the amount of all actual expenditures and how actual expenditures track the budgeted spending allotments. If the Department is spending more than allotted, at that point in time, it shall adjust its spending accordingly or seek an amendment of the overall budget, with good cause. The Union Coalition may request pertinent financial information to assist in the departmental financial review.
6. Efforts for Increased Revenue Collection.

The City and the Union Coalition believe that there are serious opportunities for the collection of increased revenue as a vital component in meeting the City's fiscal crisis. Accordingly, the following revenue collection measures will be implemented and supported by the City, the Coalition Unions, and Coalition Employees.

- a. Beginning on or before the date of execution of this Agreement, the City will widely advertise an amnesty plan for past due taxes (income taxes, personal property taxes, corporate taxes, property taxes which have not been transferred to Wayne County via revolving fund arrangement), parking tickets, tickets for ordinance, and other outstanding debts. The debtors will be told that they may enter into a payment plan, and if they pay or begin a payment plan between March 15, 2012 through May 15, 2012, the debtors will be relieved of payment of the accrued penalties. Following the end of the amnesty period, the Administration shall provide to the Union Coalition all data related to the amount of the outstanding debts and the amount of money collected in the amnesty period.

- b. The City shall engage in all reasonable efforts to have state law changed/clarified to require all Employers of City residents to withhold City income taxes via payroll deduction, require Employers within the City to withhold City income taxes via payroll deduction, and to require all Employers to transmit the City withheld income taxes electronically to the City, automatically. Also, the City shall seek all necessary changes in state law to grant it more ability to utilize parking boots on automobiles where owners have past due parking tickets. The Union Coalition will assist in this regard.
- c. As soon as approved by City Council, but certainly no later than February 15, 2012, the Administration and City Council shall increase the corporate tax rate to 2.0% for all applicable entities in the City. This tax rate shall remain at 2.0% for the duration of this three-year Agreement, and certainly as long as Union Coalition members are incurring Wage Concessions.
- d. The City shall continue to take electronic payment for property taxes and will investigate additional areas to set up electronic payments.
- e. The City will engage all reasonable efforts to streamline, and make more efficient and effective, the process and bureaucracy for the use of City services which concern the payment of fees or monies by the public.
- f. The City will continue to actively engage the State of Michigan in seeking a change in state law to permit taxes on non-resident wagering. The Union Coalition will assist in this regard.
- g. Within thirty (30) days of the execution of this Agreement, the JBS Committee will implement and oversee an operational plan for the trial hire of additional employees directly involved in collection of debts owed to the City. The Union Coalition suggested operational plan staffing is outlined below. The JBS Committee will review the below plan and a majority of the Committee may make alterations in the plan. Subject to JBS Committee alteration, the following number of employees will be hired, as soon as they can be successfully recruited by the City, in the following classifications:
 - i. 10 – Income Tax Investigator
 - ii. 10 – Office Assistant II
 - iii. 10 – Senior Clerks
 - iv. 10 – lawyers
 - v. 8 - legal secretaries

- vi. 7 - legal assistants
- vii. 3 - Parking Meter Collection Assistants
- viii. 3 - Meter Repairmen
- xi. 15 - Parking Enforcement Officers
- x. 10 - Building Inspectors

Any employees hired for this project shall be hired as temporary employees for a period of up to six (6) months. During the period of temporary employment, the employees will receive the salary levels as outlined in the relevant Union Contract and have union representational rights, but will not be eligible for accrued time contractual benefits; will not have seniority accrual rights or healthcare. If the employee hired under this plan, collectively, result in revenue being brought in and collected to the City, in an amount 1.5 times greater than what is paid to the entire group of employees in wages, then the entire group of employees will receive all applicable contract benefits and become a full time, permanent employee. The assessment of the employees' revenue brought to the City will be measured by the last five months of the six month period.

The trial period concludes at the end of the six months. If, following the trial period, the trial plan did not result in the entire group bringing in revenue at least as much as 1.5 times the cost of the wages of the employees in the trial plan, the City shall have the right to discontinue the program and such action will not be opposed by the Union Coalition, except to challenge the finding that the above metric was not met.

During this six month trial period, no employees in the above classifications and in the departments and divisions of the operational plan, shall be laid off by the City.

- h. The City's efforts in collecting outstanding revenue, such as past due debts, may also include the hiring of an outside revenue consultant. Should a consultant be hired, he/she shall be agreed upon mutually by the City and designee(s) of the Coalition Unions.
7. Removing City-Owned Residential Parcels and Vacant Lots From Tax Roles. The City will use its best efforts to have City-owned residential parcels and vacant lots purchased by private owners. The City represents to the Union Coalition, however, that the vast majority of the residential parcels are not in desirable areas and/or may not be habitable, and that there is currently little demand for the purchase of vacant lots.
 8. Re-Negotiate and Consolidate Leases. The City shall continue its current efforts to renegotiate its leased property with its landlords, and attain a reduction in the price of all rent paid. The City shall also continue its current efforts to consolidate its office with the objective that it is not spending money on leased space unnecessarily. The City anticipates having a plan in place in January 2012 with the objective of saving the City approximately $1.8 million over the next one to two years.

9. Supervisory Ratios. In furtherance of principles of Lean Optimization, the City will evaluate appropriate supervisory/hourly employee ratios in each department or operation. Within thirty (30) days after the execution of this Agreement, the JBS Committee shall provide the City a list of identified departments/operations where it believes an evaluation of supervisory/hourly employee ratios should be performed, and a reduction in the supervisory workforce shall take place. The City shall engage in all reasonable efforts to implement a plan by or before July 1, 2012.
10. Taxes on Non-Resident Wagering. The City shall engage all reasonable efforts to have state law changed to permit taxes on non-resident wagering. The Union Coalition will assist in this regard.
11. Reduction of Expenses. No City employee or public official will be permitted to utilize City equipment for personal use, unless required by law or by contract. This includes City vehicles.

PENSION CONCESSIONS

1. Reduction of Multiplier. Effective upon settlement, reduce multiplier to 1.5, per year, for all years of credited service accrued by non-vested Union members after the execution of this Agreement.
2. Defined Contribution Plan for New Hires. All bargaining unit members hired into the City after July 1, 2012, herein will not accrue any benefits under the present defined benefit plan between the parties. Rather, they will receive benefits only pursuant to the defined contribution plan described below:

Employee Contribution Account

- a. Basic Employer Contributions. The employer shall contribute an amount equal to five (5%) percent of the participant's base salary to each participant's employer contribution account each pay period.
- b. For members on duty disability, the amount contributed shall be equal to five (5%) percent of the participant's base salary on the date of disability.
- c. Employee Contribution. The employee shall contribute an amount equal to five (5%) percent of the participant's base salary to each participant's employee contribution account each pay period.
- d. Employee contributions shall be made on a pre-tax basis subject to the approval of the Internal Revenue Service.

Periods of Absence Due to Non-Duty Disability. Employees on non-duty disability are no longer active participants in the Plan and may not receive employer contributions or make employee contributions.

Vesting. All account balances are subject to the following vesting schedule:

- a. Employee Contribution Account. A participant shall always be one hundred (100%) percent vested in such participant's employee contribution account.
- b. Employer Contribution Account. A participant shall be vested in the balance of such participant's employer contribution account as follows:

Years of Service	Percentage Vested
5 or more	100%

3. Effective upon settlement, distributions to Participant Annuity Accounts may not exceed actual earnings by the Fund, but shall neither be greater than the assumed rate of return for the plan year, nor less than zero.

Participant annuity accounts shall be ratably adjusted, not less frequently than once a year based upon actual returns experienced by the retirement system during the fiscal year preceding the crediting date, provided that such return shall neither be greater than the assumed rate of return as is expressed in the Plan's valuation for that year, nor less than zero. Any final distribution of the account balance to a participant or beneficiary shall be delayed until the final adjustment has been made.

Other than as provided above, bargaining unit members shall not be entitled to any assets, including but not limited to, interest, dividends, or other income of any kind derived from the investments of the retirement system, gifts and bequests received by the retirement system, and all other assets of the retirement system, which shall be used exclusively to fund pension payments on the basis of service performed, disability benefits and death benefits as provided herein.

4. Limitation on Unused Accumulated Sick Leave Inclusion in Final Average Compensation.

a. Any employee with more than 240 hours of unused accumulated sick leave as of the date of ratification of this Agreement may have all such hours included in the employee's final average compensation ("FAC") upon the employee's retirement (unless such hours are subsequently used by the employee for sick time). Any additional unused, accumulated sick leave earned by the employee after the date of ratification of this Agreement may not be included in the employee's FAC upon retirement.

Employees with more than 240 hours of sick time may elect to contribute the full value of all sick time above 240 hours to the employee's participant annuity account. This option is exercised as opposed to the employee receiving a cash payment for the sick time. This sick time contributed to the annuity shall not be withdrawn by the employee, prior to timely distribution upon retirement.

b. Any employee with 240 or less hours of unused, accumulated sick leave as of the date of ratification of this Agreement, and all new City hires after the date of execution of this Agreement, may accumulate a maximum of 240 hours of unused, accumulated sick leave that may be used in determining their FAC upon retirement.

c. If an employee who had more than 240 hours of unused, accumulated sick leave as of the date of ratification of this Agreement, subsequently uses sick leave and falls below the 240 hour level at any time, s/he shall be subject to the maximum 240 hour cap set forth above in determining their FAC upon retirement.

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT 2-1-2012
 LETTER OF UNDERSTANDING ("Agreement")
 BETWEEN
 CITY OF DETROIT
 AND
 THE COALITION OF CITY OF DETROIT UNIONS CONCERNING RETIREE
 HEALTHCARE

It is hereby agreed between the parties that the Coalition Unions waive their right to grieve and arbitrate, participate as a party or sponsor legal action brought by retirees concerning the changes in their health care which may arise in 2012.

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT TO EXTEND AND MODIFY
COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT

This Tentative Agreement ("TA") is entered this 9th day of July, 2012, by and between the City of Detroit ("City") and the Detroit Police Command Officers Association ("Union").

In order to address the City's current fiscal crisis, the City of Detroit ("City") and the Detroit Police Command Officers Association ("Union") hereby agree on the following terms for a new collective bargaining agreement. Unless otherwise stated herein, the provisions of the expired 2004-2009 collective bargaining agreement shall be incorporated into the new Agreement. The Union's acceptance of this TA to extend and modify collective bargaining agreement enumerated below is conditioned upon agreement and execution by the Treasurer of the State of Michigan and/or his agent. Upon execution the DPCOA shall submit the TA below for membership ratification.

1. Terms of Agreement. The new collective bargaining agreement shall be effective from the expiration date of the prior collective bargaining agreement between the parties and shall continue in full force and effect through June 30, 2015.
2. Wages. There shall be no changes in wages after the term of the current agreement and through June 30, 2015. The City agrees to open up wage discussions at the end of the term of this agreement. The applicable law will apply to the negotiation of a subsequent collective bargaining agreement.
3. Performance Bonus. Members shall be entitled to receive an annual bonus calculated as 20% of the annual savings achieved as a result of the implementation of item #6 of this agreement.
4. Suspension of Educational Reimbursement. The provisions of Article 34, "Educational Reimbursement," of the new Agreement shall be suspended until July 1, 2015.
5. Holiday Pay. Article 27 "Holidays," shall be modified in the new Agreement to provide that of the twenty-four (24) hours of compensation paid to members who work on contractual holidays, twelve (12) hours will be paid as cash, and twelve (12) hours will be credited as compensatory leave time to the member's leave bank.
6. Bonus Vacation Days. Bonus vacation days of Union members that are not utilized during the fiscal year will be banked and paid at the rate of pay and rank at time of banking
7. Early Retirement. An Early Retirement Incentive Program ("ERIP") will be offered to a limited number of officers in the Department and the participation will be based on seniority. The total maximum number of early retirements will be 150, to be allocated to members of the DPOA (76%), the DPLSA (23%) and the DPCOA (1%).

Employees will be eligible to participate in the ERIP if they (a) are three (3) years or less away from completing 25 years of service, and (b) have sufficient banked time to purchase the remaining service time. Officers participating in the program will retire immediately using their years of service and banked time to get to 20 years of service and their pension will be calculated based on 20 years of service. All banked time will be relinquished in exchange for retirement service credit.

The City will offer members with between 22 and 25 years of service the ability to early retire as follows: The City will offer such members the ability to retire three (3) years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have more than [1,000] hours of banked time (i.e. sick time, furlough, vacation or compensatory time), and who relinquish all of their banked time. The City will offer members to retire two (2) years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have at least [500] or more hours of banked time, and who relinquish all of their banked time. The City will offer members to retire one (1) year earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have less than [500] hours of banked time, and who relinquish all of their banked time. The utilization of banked time, for purposes of the calculation, begins with sick time.

8. Attrition and Members Leaving Through Early Retirement. The Union agrees that it will not grieve or otherwise challenge any decision by the City not to replace members leaving the Department between July 1, 2011 and June 30, 2012, and the elimination of such positions from the 2012-2013 budget. Nothing in this provision shall be interpreted as limiting the right of the City to eliminate positions thereafter.
9. Elimination of Merit Pay. Members will no longer receive annual merit payments.
10. Separation Payments (not including DROP). All provisions of the collective bargaining agreement relating to separation payments shall be modified to provide that, for future separation payments to members who were already eligible to retire as of the effective date of this TA, a member will have the option of receiving (a) a lump sum payment ninety (90) days after separation, or (b) semi-annual installments for a period of three (3) years after separation, with no interest unless payment is not made on the date it is due. This option shall not be available to members in the ERIP established as part of this TA.
11. Payment of accumulated banked time upon election to participate in the D.R.O.P. The provisions of Article 42, "Retirement 'DROP' Plan," of the collective bargaining agreement shall be modified in accordance with the Memorandum of Understanding attached hereto as Exhibit B.
12. Use of Furlough. Article 30 shall be modified to provide as follows: A member shall be able to use furlough time in daily or one week increments as long as their command/assignment is adequately staffed and as long as their absence does not compromise the daily operation of that command. Additionally, the furlough must be used within the furlough period or there must be permission from the Chief of Police to carry over a furlough to next furlough period. All furlough must be exhausted before separation from the Department.

13. Promotions. Article 49 shall be modified as follows: The member must have a minimum of three (3) years in the rank of Lieutenant to be eligible to be promoted to the rank of Inspector. Additionally, any member promoted to the rank of Inspector must have attained a Bachelor's Degree to be eligible for consideration to the rank of Commander. Any member currently holding the rank of Commander who does not have a Bachelor's Degree shall be grandfathered in that rank. All other members will be required to have a minimum of a Bachelor's Degree to be eligible for consideration for promotion to the rank of Commander or above.

14. Promotions – Disciplinary History. Article 49 shall be modified to provide as follows: A member will not be eligible to be considered for promotion to the rank of Inspector or above, if he or she has a significant disciplinary history within the previous five (5) years. The following would be grounds for disqualification for promotion to Inspector or above: (a) having a conviction of a felony or misdemeanor under the laws of any jurisdiction; (b) being on the third step of attendance control; (c) being under a last chance agreement for any reason; (d) having been disciplined for a violation of substance abuse, and (e) harassment or violence in the workplace in the three years preceding the anticipated date of promotion.

15. Medical, Dental and Vision Benefits for Employees. COPS Trust can maintain its current design. The City's maximum contribution for any health plan shall be 80% of the Option 1 Plan offered by BCBSMI/CVS Caremark (Exhibit A).

Initial rates for the BCBSMI/CVS Caremark Option 1 shall be maintained in full force and effect from March 1st, 2012 to June 30th, 2013. These rates may not be implemented until there has been an Open Enrollment after reasonable notice to employees.

The mutually agreed upon methodology establishing illustrative rates on BCBSMI/CVS Caremark Option base plan are attached hereto and marked as Exhibit D.

16. Spousal Medical Coverage. The City will provide coverage for working spouses eligible for insurance coverage through their employer, only under the COPS Trust Plan and subject to the cost sharing arrangement set forth under Item 15.

17. Pension Benefits. Article 41, "Pension Provisions," shall be modified in accordance with the following provisions:
 - a. Eliminator of Escalator. Pension benefits earned based on service rendered after the date of settlement would no longer receive a 2.25% per annum escalation.

- b. Reduction of Multiplier. Reduce multiplier from 2.5% to 2.1% for the first 25 years of credited service accrued by Association members after the date of settlement. The multiplier would remain at 2.1% for the 26th through 35th years.
- c. Defined Contribution Plan for all Bargaining Unit Members. All bargaining unit members hired into the Department after June 30, 2012 shall not accrue any further benefits under the present defined benefit plan between the parties. Rather, they will receive benefits only pursuant to the defined contribution plan described below:

Employee Contribution Account

- i. Basic Employer Contributions. The City shall contribute an amount equal to 10% of the participant's base salary to each participant's employer contribution account each pay period.
- ii. For Members On Duty Disability, the amount contributed shall be equal to 10% of the participant's base salary on the date of disability, or 25 years of credited service, which includes time spent on duty disability. On July 1st each year, the amount contributed shall be increased by adding an additional 2.25% to the initial base salary amount at the time the duty disability began. The amount contributed shall be the product of 10% of both the initial base salary and these yearly increments.
- iii. Employee Contribution. The employee shall contribute an amount equal to 5% of the participant's base salary to each participant's employee contribution account each pay period.
- iv. Employee contributions shall be made on a pre-tax basis subject to the approval of the Internal Revenue Service.

Periods of Absence due to Non-Duty Disability. Employees on non-duty disability are no longer active participants in the Plan and may not receive employer contributions or make employee contributions.

Vesting. All account balances are subject to the following vesting schedule:

- i. Employee Contribution Account. A participant shall always be 100% vested in such participant's employee contribution account.
- ii. Employer Contribution Account. A participant shall be vested in the balance of such participant's employer contribution account as follows:

Years of Service	Percentage Vested
5 or more	100%

d. Police and Fire Pension Board Composition. The Mayor of the City of Detroit may appoint an additional Trustee(s) as necessary to maintain an equal number of participant Trustees and non-participant Trustees on the Board as awarded in the matter of City of Detroit -and- Detroit Police Command Officers Association, Case No. D07 K-1456.

18. State Review of Collective Bargaining Agreement. If, during the term of this TA a consent decree is entered into pursuant to the State Financial Authority Recovery Plan and/or Continuing Operations Plan pursuant to the Local Government and School District Accountability Act, Act Number 4, Public Acts of 2011, MCL 141, 1501 et.seq. the terms of the collective bargaining agreement extended herein and this TA shall be maintained in whole and cannot be terminated, modified and/or changed whatsoever during its terms for any reason except by mutual agreement between the parties. This provision applies and covers a consent decree Recovery Plan and/or Continuing Operations Plan and/or any Plan, however titled and by whatever description. In the event the paragraph herein is breached the contractual modification agreed to in this TA shall automatically revert back to the language that existed prior to this extension and modification agreement.

19. Grievances. A violation of any provision of this TA shall be subject to the CBA's grievance/arbitration procedure (Articles 7 and 8 et. al.) with the exception of paragraph 18.

20. More Favorable DFFA Wage, Healthcare or Pension Provisions. In the event that the wage, healthcare or pension provisions of any agreement reached with the DFFA to extend and modify their current collective bargaining agreement with the City are more favorable than those stated in this agreement, the terms of this TA, the terms of this TA shall be modified to incorporate the more favorable provisions.

OUTLINE OF MEDICAL, DENTAL AND VISION PLANS

Hospitalization Plan Design Changes – Effective April 1st, 2012:
(Items A&B below apply to all plans with the exception of COPS Trust)

- A. Mandatory Use of Generic Drugs. Generic drugs required unless pre-determined that brand name drug is medically required or a generic equivalent is not available. If brand drug requested but not medically required or generic is available, employee, retiree, or covered dependent must pay the applicable brand name co-pay amount plus the difference between the cost of the generic drug and brand name drug, even if dispense as written (DAW) is written on the prescription. Appeal procedure for any dispute is available under applicable healthcare plan.
- B. Limitation on Prescription Drugs. City will not pay for fertility or impotence prescription drugs under the City's prescription drug programs. This provision does not apply to prescription birth control pills.
- C. Medicare Advantage. Enrollment options for retirees and covered dependents that are Medicare-eligible shall be limited to the Medicare advantage plans offered by the City. In the event such Medicare Advantage plans are no longer offered or not cost effective, enrollment in alternate plans will be permitted as determined by the City.
- D. New Hire. Eligibility qualifier for hospitalization-medical coverage is the first of the month after new hire completes 91st day of employment.
- E. New Hire. Optical coverage eligibility qualifier changed from 60 days to 6 months.
- F. Sponsored Dependent coverage eliminated in its entirety.
- G. Remarriage. If a retiree marries or remarries after retirement, new spouse and his/her dependents are not eligible for coverage under the City's healthcare plans.
- H. Dependent Health Care Coverage. The child of a divorced spouse or a new spouse of a retiree who is neither the biological, legally adopted nor legally guardian child of the employee or retiree is ineligible for dependent health care coverage under this Agreement.
- I. Requirement to Obtain Medicare A & B. Consistent with current practice, all retirees and covered dependents are required to enroll into Medicare Parts A & B. Failure to enroll or maintain Medicare Parts A & B, City hospitalization-medical coverage will be terminated.

Memorandum of Understanding

The City of Detroit ("CITY") and the Detroit Police Officers Association ("DPOA") together with the Detroit Police and Lieutenants and Sergeants' Association ("DPLSA") and the ("DPCOA") Detroit Police Command Officers Association enter into this Memorandum of Understanding ("Agreement") with the intent to bring closure to any and all claims, charges, grievances, civil litigation, appellate procedures, administrative charges, and any other disputes between the respective parties on the issue of the Deferred Retirement Option Plan ("DROP") and the lump sum payouts that members can elect upon their entry into the DROP Plan.

1. All DPOA, DPCOA, & DPLSA members who applied to participate in the DROP on or before the effective date of this agreement will be paid their lump sum amounts not later than sixty (60) days from the execution of this Agreement.
2. All DPOA members paid pursuant to paragraph 1 above will receive interest on their payouts consistent with Umpire George Roumell's Opinion and Award dated April 29, 2011 in Grievance No. 10-082.
3. All DPLSA members paid pursuant to paragraph 1 above will be paid Michigan Judgment Interest if that member does not receive their lump sum DROP payment in accordance with Paragraph 1 of this Agreement. For those DPLSA members who have already elected to participate in the DROP plan prior to the effective date of this Agreement, where as the City failed to make payments of lump sums within the 90 days of their election will receive the Michigan Judgment Interest on the late payments.
4. The City will withdraw its appeal in Detroit v DPOA, Wayne County Circuit Court Case No. 11-006114CA, Court of Appeals Case No. 306474.
5. DPOA and the DPLSA agree to the voluntary dismissal with prejudice of the following administrative charges and civil litigation: DPOA v DETROIT Wayne County Cir. Ct. C. A. No. 10-007575 CL; DPLSA v CITY OF DETROIT, WCCC Case NO. 11-014543-CL; & DPLSA v CITY OF DETROIT, MERC Case NO. C10 J-250.
6. DPOA, DPLSA, & DPCOA members who elect to participate in the DROP Plan after the effective date of this agreement will receive payment as follows:
 - a. In semi-annual installments, over a period of three (3) years, after approval of their DROP Plan application, submission of appropriate documentation, and verification of all documentation by police payroll, on the following dates: August 1, and February 1, with no interest due unless the semi-annual payments are not made by the date they are due.
7. If a member elects to enter into the DROP Plan but suffers an injury or illness (not a casual or intermittent condition and one that lasts for two weeks or more) prior to that member receiving their lump sum payment for accumulated banked time, it is agreed that notwithstanding the absence of sick leave, the member will be paid sick leave, which will result in a reduction in the final installment payment or payments equivalent to the amount of sick leave paid out. (For example, if a member receives $5,000 in sick leave under these circumstances the final installment will be reduced by $5,000.) This provision only applies if the member has sick leave time available under the DROP Plan.

8. In the event that a member who has elected to participate in the DROP Plan and has submitted the appropriate documentation retires or otherwise leaves active employment (before any Drop Plan payment becomes due under Paragraph 5 of this Agreement), any lump sum payment owed shall be paid within sixty (60) days of the termination of employment with no interest due unless the payout is not paid within the sixty (60) day period.
9. Effective January 15, 2012, members, who receive lump sum payouts from sick leave and/or other banks, will be allowed to have a portion of that payout, up to maximum permitted by the Internal Revenue Service Rules, placed into their 457 accounts.
10. The City will pay to DPOA and DPLSA attorney fees in the following amounts; DPOA - $14,397.50, DPLSA $8,000.00* (*Amount subject to change pending final Transcript cost). Payment will be made within 90 days after ratification of this Agreement and after all required documentation has been received and approved by the City.
11. This Agreement shall remain in effect even if a Consent Agreement is implemented pursuant to Public Act 4 or if an Emergency Manager is appointed.
12. The signatories for the City of Detroit, DPLSA, DPOA, and the DPCOA state explicitly and unequivocally that they have the authority to make the foregoing representations on behalf of their respective organizations and that they have the authority to bind their organizations to this Agreement.

ILLUSTRATIVE RATES METHODOLOGY

- Each year beginning April 1st illustrative rates will be developed and utilized for the purpose of determining the employees and employer share of plan costs for the plan year that begins on July 1 and ends June 30th of the following year. The parties agree that the accuracy of the illustrative rates used to determine the cost sharing formula is critical to each party and therefore recognize the need to use actuarial best practices to develop the illustrative rates to address the financial cost passed on the bargaining unit that may result from an inaccurate illustrative rate. The calculation of net cost shall include, for example, amounts recouped for RX rebates, part D subsidies and stop loss recoveries.
- It is acceptable to the Union that actuarial standard practices will be used to develop illustrative rates per rate category for each plan for the calendar year.
- For the purpose of rate setting it is acceptable to the Union that BCBSMI "Option 1", pricing be the same for all bargaining units offered that plan.
- For the purpose of establishing the employee contribution for COPS Trust enrollees, the City will calculate "BCBSMI Option 1" illustrative rates. The City will determine its contribution based upon the 80% of the budgeted cost on or about April 1st. The illustrative rates will be based upon the most recent 12 months of costs for the plan year adjusted to an incurred basis, trended forward for the plan year, and with the inclusion of administrative expenses and/or other plans fees. The new rates and employee contributions will be effective beginning each July 1st. The City will deduct its Option 1 contribution amount from the rates offered by COPS Trust to determine the employees' contribution for the COPS Trust plan.
- The City will annually identify the actual plan cost variance by comparing the budgeted plan cost for the calendar year to the actual plan cost incurred for the same calendar year. If the actual plan cost exceeds the budgeted plan cost by more than 2.5% then the plan participants enrolled in COPS Trust will receive a credit equal to 20% of the actual cost variance over 2.5% which shall be applied towards their next year employee contribution credited equally in each pay period. If the actual plan cost is less than the budgeted plan cost by 2.5% or more then the plan participants enrolled in BCBS Option 1 will receive a credit equal to 20% of the actual cost variance under 2.5% which shall be applied towards their next year employee contribution credited equally in each pay period.
- All employee bi-weekly contributions will be determined by calculating the monthly employee contribution amount as described and multiplying that monthly amount by 12 and dividing by 26.
- The illustrative rates for the self-funded plan(s) will be developed independently from the rates for any fully-insured plans. The City will provide and, upon request, review with the union all rates for the new rating period (self-funded and fully-insured) at the same time. The rates will remain unchanged throughout the rating period unless mutually agreed upon.

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT TO EXTEND AND MODIFY
COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT

This Tentative Agreement ("TA") is entered this 9th day of Feb, 2012, by and between the City of Detroit ("City") and the Detroit Police Officers Association ("Union").

In order to address the City's current fiscal crisis, the City and the Union agree to extend the term of the current collective bargaining agreement as set forth herein, with the following modifications. All modifications to the collective bargaining agreement shall be effective after ratification of this TA by the Union's membership and its approval by the Detroit City Council. The Union's acceptance of this TA to extend and modify collective bargaining agreement enumerated below is conditioned upon agreement and execution by the Treasurer of the State of Michigan and/or his agent. Upon execution the DPOA shall submit the TA below for membership ratification.

1. Extension of the Current Collective Bargaining Agreement. The current collective bargaining agreement between the City and the Union shall be extended until June 30, 2015.
2. Wages. There shall be no changes in wages after the term of the current agreement and through June 30, 2015. The City agrees to open up wage discussions at the end of the term of this agreement. The applicable law will apply to the negotiation of a subsequent collective bargaining agreement.
3. Performance Bonus. Members shall be entitled to receive an annual bonus calculated as 20% of the annual savings achieved as a result of the implementation of items #4 through #9 of this agreement, provided that the mutually agreed upon savings goals attach hereto as Exhibit C are met.
4. Off-Duty Court Appearances. Article 13, "Off Duty Court Appearances," of the collective bargaining agreement shall be modified through June 30, 2015 to provide as follows:
 - a. The minimum period of compensation for an off-duty court appearance shall be reduced from three (3) to two (2) hours.
 - b. Unless otherwise compelled by the Fair Labor Standards Act, all time worked by any member in any off-duty court appearance shall be compensated on a straight-time basis and not time and a half.
 - c. Each fiscal year, the first sixty (60) hours of off-duty court time for any member shall be compensated through credited compensatory leave time placed in the member's leave bank and not through a cash payment. After the sixty (60) hours of off-duty court time are worked in the fiscal year, the member shall have the option of being paid in cash or being credited with compensatory time as set forth in Article 13, Section D.

5. Suspension of Educational Reimbursement. The provisions of Article 20, "Educational Reimbursement," shall be suspended until July 1, 2015.
6. Overtime. Article 14, "Overtime," shall be modified to provide that unless otherwise compelled by the Fair Labor Standards Act, members shall not be eligible for any overtime compensation in any pay period in which the member fails to work at least eighty (80) hours. Sick time shall not be considered as time worked in meeting the 80 hour work requirement, but time off due to furlough, liquidation of compensatory time, and other paid absences shall continue to be considered as time worked.
7. Holiday Pay. Article 31, "Holidays," shall be modified to provide that of the twenty-four (24) hours of compensation paid to members who work on contractual holidays, twelve (12) hours will be paid as cash, and twelve (12) hours will be credited as compensatory leave time to the member's leave bank.
8. Suspension of Wage Differential. The 2% wage differential paid to members on a promotional roster shall be suspended until July 1, 2015.
9. Bonus Vacation Days. Article 37, "Bonus Vacation Days," shall be modified to provide that bonus vacation days that are not utilized during the fiscal year will be banked and paid at the rate of pay and rank at time of banking.
10. Early Retirement. An Early Retirement Incentive Program ("ERIP") will be offered to a limited number of officers in the Department and the participation will be based on seniority. The total maximum number of early retirements will be 150, to be allocated to members of the DPOA (76%), the DPLSA (23%) and the DPCOA (1%).

Employees will be eligible to participate in the ERIP if they (a) are three (3) years or less away from completing either 20 or 25 years of service, and (b) have sufficient banked time to purchase the remaining service time. Officers participating in the program will retire immediately using their years of service and banked time to get to 20 years of service and their pension will be calculated based on 20 years of service. All banked time will be relinquished in exchange for retirement service credit.

The City will offer members with between 17 and 20 years of service the ability to early retire as follows, as well as between 22 and 25 years: The City will offer such members the ability to retire three (3) years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have more than [1,000] hours of banked time (i.e. sick time, furlough, vacation or compensatory time), and who relinquish all of their banked time. The City will offer members to retire two (2) years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have at least [500] or more hours of banked time, and who relinquish all of their banked time. The City will offer members to retire one (1) year earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have less than [500] hours of banked time, and who relinquish all of their banked time. The utilization of banked time, for purposes of the calculation, begins with sick time.

DROP participants with 22 years of service who have not received their lump sum payout from their banks may use such banked time to participate in the ERIP in accordance with the above.

11. Separation Payments (not including DROP). All provisions of the collective bargaining agreement relating to separation payments shall be modified to provide that, for future separation payments to members who were already eligible to retire as of the effective date of this TA, a member will have the option of receiving (a) a lump sum payment ninety (90) days after separation, or (b) semi-annual installments for a period of three (3) years after separation, with no interest unless payment is not made on the date it is due. This option shall not be available to members in the ERIP established as part of this TA.
12. Payment of accumulated banked time upon election to participate in the D.R.O.P. The provisions of Article 33, "Pension Provisions," pertaining to 'DROP' payments shall be modified in accordance with the Memorandum of Understanding attached hereto as Exhibit B.
13. Medical, Dental and Vision Benefits for Employees. COPS Trust can maintain its current design. The City's maximum contribution for any health plan shall be 80% of the Option 1 Plan offered by BCBSMI/CVS Caremark (Exhibit A).

Initial rates for the BCBSMI/CVS Caremark Option 1 shall be maintained in full force and effect from March 1st, 2012 to June 30th, 2013. These rates may not be implemented until there has been an Open Enrollment after reasonable notice to employees.

The mutually agreed upon methodology establishing illustrative rates on BCBSMI/CVS Caremark Option base plan are attached hereto and marked as Exhibit D.
14. Spousal Medical Coverage. The City will provide coverage for working spouses eligible for insurance coverage through their employer, only under the COPS Trust Plan and subject to the cost sharing arrangement set forth under Item 13.
15. 4/10 Work Schedule. After the implementation of the terms of this TA there will be a collaborative effort between the Detroit Police Department (DPD), the City and all Associations within the DPD to develop a pilot program for the implementation of a 4/10 work schedule that will be cost neutral to the City and the DPD.
16. State Review of Collective Bargaining Agreement. If, during the term of this TA a consent decree is entered into pursuant to the State Financial Authority Recovery Plan and/or Continuing Operations Plan pursuant to the Local Government and School District Accountability Act, Act Number 4, Public Acts of 2011, MCL 141, 1501 et.seq. the terms of the collective bargaining agreement extended herein and the TA shall be maintained in whole and cannot be terminated, modified and/or changed whatsoever during its terms for any reason except by mutual agreement between the parties. This provision applies and covers a consent decree Recovery Plan and/or Continuing Operations Plan and/or any Plan, however titled and by whatever description. In the event the paragraph herein is breached the contractual modification agreed to in this TA shall automatically revert back to the language that existed prior to this extension and modification agreement.

17. Grievances. A violation of any provision of this TA shall be subject to the CBA's grievance/arbitration procedure (Articles 7 and 8 et. al.) with the exception of paragraph 16.
18. More Favorable DFFA Wage, Healthcare or Pension Provisions. In the event that the wage, healthcare or pension provisions of any agreement reached with the DFFA to extend and modify their current collective bargaining agreement with the City are more favorable than those stated in this TA, the terms of this TA shall be modified to incorporate the more favorable provisions.

Memorandum of Understanding

The City of Detroit ("CITY") and the Detroit Police Officers Association ("DPOA") together with the Detroit Police and Lieutenants and Sergeants' Association ("DPLSA") and the ("DPCOA") Detroit Police Command Officers Association enter into this Memorandum of Understanding ("Agreement") with the intent to bring closure to any and all claims, charges, grievances, civil litigation, appellate procedures, administrative charges, and any other disputes between the respective parties on the issue of the Deferred Retirement Option Plan ("DROP") and the lump sum payouts that members can elect upon their entry into the DROP Plan.

1. All DPOA, DPCOA, & DPLSA members who applied to participate in the DROP on or before the effective date of this agreement will be paid their lump sum amounts not later than sixty (60) days from the execution of this Agreement.
2. All DPOA members paid pursuant to paragraph 1 above will receive interest on their payouts consistent with Umpire George Roumell's Opinion and Award dated April 29, 2011 in Grievance No. 10-082.
3. All DPLSA members paid pursuant to paragraph 1 above will be paid Michigan Judgment Interest if that member does not receive their lump sum DROP payment in accordance with Paragraph 1 of this Agreement. For those DPLSA members who have already elected to participate in the DROP plan prior to the effective date of this Agreement, where as the City failed to make payments of lump sums within the 90 days of their election will receive the Michigan Judgment Interest on the late payments.
4. The City will withdraw its appeal in Detroit v DPOA, Wayne County Circuit Court Case No. 11-006114CA, Court of Appeals Case No. 306474.
5. DPOA and the DPLSA agree to the voluntary dismissal with prejudice of the following administrative charges and civil litigation: DPOA v DETROIT Wayne County Cir. Ct. C. A. No. 10-007575 CL; DPLSA v CITY OF DETROIT, WCCC Case NO. 11-014543-CL; & DPLSA v CITY OF DETROIT, MERC Case NO. C10 J-250.
6. DPOA, DPLSA, & DPCOA members who elect to participate in the DROP Plan after the effective date of this agreement will receive payment as follows:
 - a. In semi-annual installments, over a period of three (3) years, after approval of their DROP Plan application, submission of appropriate documentation, and verification of all documentation by police payroll, on the following dates: August 1, and February 1, with no interest due unless the semi-annual payments are not made by the date they are due.
7. If a member elects to enter into the DROP Plan but suffers an injury or illness (not a casual or intermittent condition and one that lasts for two weeks or more) prior to that member receiving their lump sum payment for accumulated banked time, it is agreed that notwithstanding the absence of sick leave, the member will be paid sick leave, which will result in a reduction in the final installment payment or payments equivalent to the amount of sick leave paid out. (For example, if a member receives $5,000 in sick leave under these circumstances the final installment will be reduced by $5,000.) This provision only applies if the member has sick leave time available under the DROP Plan.

8. - It is acceptable to the Union that actuarial standard practices will be used to develop illustrative rates per rate category for each plan for the calendar year.
- For the purpose of rate setting it is acceptable to the Union that BCBSMI "Option 1", pricing be the same for all bargaining units offered that plan.
- For the purpose of establishing the employee contribution for COPS Trust enrollees, the City will calculate "BCBSMI Option 1" illustrative rates. The City will determine its contribution based upon the 80% of the budgeted cost on or about April 1st. The illustrative rates will be based upon the most recent 12 months of costs for the plan year adjusted to an incurred basis, trended forward for the plan year, and with the inclusion of administrative expenses and/or other plans fees. The new rates and employee contributions will be effective beginning each July 1st. The City will deduct its Option 1 contribution amount from the rates offered by COPS Trust to determine the employees' contribution for the COPS Trust plan.
- The City will annually identify the actual plan cost variance by comparing the budgeted plan cost for the calendar year to the actual plan cost incurred for the same calendar year. If the actual plan cost exceeds the budgeted plan cost by more than 2.5% then the plan participants enrolled in COPS Trust will receive a credit equal to 20% of the actual cost variance over 2.5% which shall be applied towards their next year employee contribution credited equally in each pay period. If the actual plan cost is less than the budgeted plan cost by 2.5% or more then the plan participants enrolled in BCBS Option 1 will receive a credit equal to 20% of the actual cost variance under 2.5% which shall be applied towards their next year employee contribution credited equally in each pay period.
- All employee bi-weekly contributions will be determined by calculating the monthly employee contribution amount as described and multiplying that monthly amount by 12 and dividing by 26.
- The illustrative rates for the self-funded plan(s) will be developed independently from the rates for any fully-insured plans. The City will provide and, upon request, review with the union all rates for the new rating period (self-funded and fully-insured) at the same time. The rates will remain unchanged throughout the rating period unless mutually agreed upon.

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT TO EXTEND AND MODIFY
COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT

This Tentative Agreement ("TA") is entered this 9th day of Feb, 2012, by and between the City of Detroit ("City") and the Detroit Police Lieutenants and Sergeants Association ("Union").

In order to address the City's current fiscal crisis, the City and the Union agree to extend the term of the current collective bargaining agreement as set forth herein, with the following modifications. All modifications to the collective bargaining agreement shall be effective after ratification of this TA by the Union's membership and its approval by the Detroit City Council. If this agreement is not ratified by the Union's membership, the terms of the current collective bargaining agreement (2009-2013) shall remain in effect for its term. The Union's acceptance of this TA to extend and modify collective bargaining agreement enumerated below is conditioned upon agreement and execution by the Treasurer of the State of Michigan and/or his agent. Upon execution the DPLSA shall submit the TA below for membership ratification.

1. Extension of the Current Collective Bargaining Agreement. The current collective bargaining agreement between the City and the Union shall be extended until June 30, 2015. In the event of Act 312 arbitration after the termination of this agreement, the arbitrator shall take into consideration the concessions given during these negotiations.
2. Wages. There shall be no changes in wages after the term of the current agreement and through June 30, 2015. The City agrees to open up wage discussions at the end of the term of this agreement. The applicable law will apply to the negotiation of a subsequent collective bargaining agreement.
3. Performance Bonus. Members shall be entitled to receive an annual bonus calculated as 20% of the annual savings achieved as a result of the implementation of items #4 through #9 of this agreement, provided that the mutually agreed upon savings goals attach hereto as Exhibit C are met.
4. Court Time. Article 26, "Court Time," of the collective bargaining agreement shall be modified to provide as follows:
 - a. The minimum period of compensation for an off-duty court appearance shall be reduced from three (3) to two (2) hours.
 - b. Unless otherwise compelled by the Fair Labor Standards Act, all time worked by any member in any off-duty court appearance shall be compensated on a straight-time basis and not time and a half.
 - c. Each fiscal year, the first sixty (60) hours of off-duty court time for any member shall be compensated through credited compensatory leave time placed in the member's leave bank and not through a cash payment. After the sixty (60) hours of off-duty court time are worked in the fiscal year, the member shall have the option of being paid in cash or being credited with compensatory time as set forth in Article 25.

5. Suspension of Educational Reimbursement. The provisions of Article 42, "Educational Reimbursement," shall be suspended until July 1, 2015.
6. Overtime. Article 25, "Overtime," shall be modified to provide that unless otherwise compelled by the Fair Labor Standards Act, members shall not be eligible for any overtime compensation in any pay period in which the member fails to work at least eighty (80) hours. Sick time shall not be considered as time worked in meeting the 80 hour work, but time off due to furlough, liquidation of compensatory time, and other paid absences shall continue to be considered as time worked.
7. Holiday Pay. Article 37, "Holidays With Excused Time," shall be modified to provide that of the twenty-four (24) hours of compensation paid to members who work on contractual holidays, twelve (12) hours will be paid as cash, and twelve (12) hours will be credited as compensatory leave time to the member's leave bank.
8. Suspension of Wage Differential. The 2% wage differential paid to members on a promotional roster shall be suspended until July 1, 2015.
9. Bonus Vacation Days. Bonus vacation days of Union members that are not utilized during the fiscal year will be banked and paid at the rate of pay and rank at time of banking
10. Early Retirement. An Early Retirement Incentive Program ("ERIP") will be offered to a limited number of officers in the Department and the participation will be based on seniority. The total maximum number of early retirements will be 150, to be allocated to members of the DPOA (76%), the DPLSA (23%) and the DPCOA (1%).
11. Employees will be eligible to participate in the ERIP if they (a) are three (3) years or less away from completing 25 years of service, and (b) have sufficient banked time to purchase the remaining service time. Officers participating in the program will retire immediately using their years of service and banked time to get to 25 years of service and their pension will be calculated based on 25 years of service. All banked time will be relinquished in exchange for retirement service credit.

The City will offer members with between 22 and 25 years of service the ability to early retire as follows: The City will offer such members the ability to retire three (3) years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have more than [1,000] hours of banked time (i.e. sick time, furlough, vacation or compensatory time), and who relinquish all of their banked time. The City will offer members to retire two (2) years earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have at least [500] or more hours of banked time, and who relinquish all of their banked time. The City will offer members to retire one (1) year earlier than otherwise eligible under the contract, with benefits to the extent otherwise eligible, for employees who have less than [500] hours of banked time, and who relinquish all of their banked time. The utilization of banked time, for purposes of the calculation, begins with sick time.

DROP participants with between 22 and 25 years of service who have not received their lump sum payout from their banks may use such banked time to participate in the ERIP in accordance with the above.

12. Separation Payments (not including DROP). All provisions of the collective bargaining agreement relating to separation payments shall be modified to provide that, for future separation payments to members who were already eligible to retire as of the effective date of this Agreement, a member will have the option of receiving (a) a lump sum payment ninety (90) days after separation, or (b) semi-annual installments for a period of three (3) years after separation, with no interest unless payment is not made on the date it is due. This option shall not be available to members in the ERIP established as part of this TA.
13. Payment of accumulated banked time upon election to participate in the D.R.O.P. The provisions of Article 51, "Pension," pertaining to 'DROP' payments shall be modified in accordance with the Memorandum of Understanding attached hereto as Exhibit B.
14. 20 & Out Program. Members with less than 25 years, but more than 20 years of service, shall have the opportunity to elect early retirement as follows:
 - a. There shall be a period of ten (10) days to elect early retirement the first year.
 - b. The maximum number of members eligible to retire in the first year shall not exceed one hundred (100).
 - c. Retirements will be made available in twenty-five (25) member increments per quarter for one (1) year.
 - d. After the first year, a DPLSA member or participant with 20 years or more of credited service may retire. Upon the members or participant's retirement, the participant will be paid the total balance of the participant's accounts. Only participants with 20 years or more of credited service may participate in the City's group healthcare plans pursuant to the CBA.
 - e. Any DPLSA member who exercises the option to retire between 20 and 25 years of service shall have their retirement benefits calculated at their actual time of service (and not at 25 years).
15. Medical, Dental and Vision Benefits for Employees. The plan Options shall include BCBSMI/CVS Caremark Option 1, COPS Trust, HAP and Total Healthcare. COPS Trust can maintain its current design. The City's maximum contribution for any health plan shall be 80% of the Option 1 Plan offered by BCBSMI/CVS Caremark (Exhibit A).

Initial rates for the BCBSMI/CVS Caremark Option 1 shall be maintained in full force and effect from March 1st, 2012 to June 30th, 2013. These rates may not be implemented until there has been an Open Enrollment after reasonable notice to employees.

The mutually agreed upon methodology establishing illustrative rates on BCBSMI/CVS Caremark Option base plan are attached hereto and marked as Exhibit D.

16. Spousal Medical Coverage. The City will provide coverage for working spouses eligible for insurance coverage through their employer, only under the COPS Trust Plan and subject to the cost sharing arrangement set forth under Item 14.
17. 4/10 Work Schedule. After the implementation of the terms of this TA there will be a collaborative effort between the Detroit Police Department (DPD), the City and all Associations within the DPD to develop a pilot program for the implementation of a 4/10 work schedule that will be cost neutral to the City and the DPD.
18. State Review of Collective Bargaining Agreement. If, during the term of this TA a consent decree is entered into pursuant to the State Financial Authority Recovery Plan and/or Continuing Operations Plan pursuant to the Local Government and School District Accountability Act, Act Number 4, Public Acts of 2011, MCL 141, 1501 et.seq. the terms of the collective bargaining agreement extended herein and this TA shall be maintained in whole and cannot be terminated, modified and/or changed whatsoever during its terms for any reason except by mutual agreement between the parties. This provision applies and covers a consent decree Recovery Plan and/or Continuing Operations Plan and/or any Plan, however titled and by whatever description. In the event the paragraph herein is breached the contractual modification agreed to in this TA shall automatically revert back to the language that existed prior to this extension and modification agreement.
19. Grievances. A violation of any provision of this TA shall be subject to the CBA's grievance/arbitration procedure (Articles 7 and 8 et. al.) with the exception of paragraph 17.
20. More Favorable DFFA Wage, Healthcare or Pension Provisions. In the event that the wage, healthcare or pension provisions of any agreement reached with the DFFA to extend and modify their current collective bargaining agreement with the City are more favorable than those stated in this agreement, the terms of this TA, the terms of this TA shall be modified to incorporate the more favorable provisions.

OUTLINE OF MEDICAL, DENTAL AND VISION PLANS

Hospitalization Plan Design Changes – Effective April 1st, 2012:
(Items A&B below apply to all plans with the exception of COPS Trust)

- A. Mandatory Use of Generic Drugs. Generic drugs required unless pre-determined that brand name drug is medically required or a generic equivalent is not available. If brand drug requested but not medically required or generic is available, employee, retiree, or covered dependent must pay the applicable brand name co-pay amount plus the difference between the cost of the generic drug and brand name drug, even if dispense as written (DAW) is written on the prescription. Appeal procedure for any dispute is available under applicable healthcare plan.
- B. Limitation on Prescription Drugs. City will not pay for fertility or impotence prescription drugs under the City's prescription drug programs. This provision does not apply to prescription birth control pills.
- C. Medicare Advantage. Enrollment options for retirees and covered dependents that are Medicare-eligible shall be limited to the Medicare advantage plans offered by the City. In the event such Medicare Advantage plans are no longer offered or not cost effective, enrollment in alternate plans will be permitted as determined by the City.
- D. New Hire. Eligibility qualifier for hospitalization-medical coverage is the first of the month after new hire completes 91st day of employment.
- E. New Hire. Optical coverage eligibility qualifier changed from 60 days to 6 months.
- F. Sponsored Dependent coverage eliminated in its entirety.
- G. Remarriage. If a retiree marries or remarries after retirement, new spouse and his/her dependents are not eligible for coverage under the City's healthcare plans.
- H. Dependent Health Care Coverage. The child of a divorced spouse or a new spouse of a retiree who is neither the biological, legally adopted nor legally guardian child of the employee or retiree is ineligible for dependent health care coverage under this Agreement.
- I. Requirement to Obtain Medicare A & B. Consistent with current practice, all retirees and covered dependents are required to enroll into Medicare Parts A & B. Failure to enroll or maintain Medicare Parts A & B, City hospitalization-medical coverage will be terminated.

Memorandum of Understanding

The City of Detroit ("CITY") and the Detroit Police Officers Association ("DPOA") together with the Detroit Police and Lieutenants and Sergeants' Association ("DPLSA") and the ("DPCOA") Detroit Police Command Officers Association enter into this Memorandum of Understanding ("Agreement") with the intent to bring closure to any and all claims, charges, grievances, civil litigation, appellate procedures, administrative charges, and any other disputes between the respective parties on the issue of the Deferred Retirement Option Plan ("DROP") and the lump sum payouts that members can elect upon their entry into the DROP Plan.

1. All DPOA, DPCOA, & DPLSA members who applied to participate in the DROP on or before the effective date of this agreement will be paid their lump sum amounts not later than sixty (60) days from the execution of this Agreement.
2. All DPOA members paid pursuant to paragraph 1 above will receive interest on their payouts consistent with Umpire George Roumell's Opinion and Award dated April 29, 2011 in Grievance No. 10-082.
3. All DPLSA members paid pursuant to paragraph 1 above will be paid Michigan Judgment Interest if that member does not receive their lump sum DROP payment in accordance with Paragraph 1 of this Agreement. For those DPLSA members who have already elected to participate in the DROP plan prior to the effective date of this Agreement, where as the City failed to make payments of lump sums within the 90 days of their election will receive the Michigan Judgment Interest on the late payments.
4. The City will withdraw its appeal in Detroit v DPOA, Wayne County Circuit Court Case No. 11-006114CA, Court of Appeals Case No. 306474.
5. DPOA and the DPLSA agree to the voluntary dismissal with prejudice of the following administrative charges and civil litigation: DPOA v DETROIT Wayne County Cir. Ct. C. A. No. 10-007575 CL; DPLSA v CITY OF DETROIT, WCCC Case NO. 11-014543-CL; & DPLSA v CITY OF DETROIT, MERC Case NO. C10 J-250.
6. DPOA, DPLSA, & DPCOA members who elect to participate in the DROP Plan after the effective date of this agreement will receive payment as follows:
 - a. In semi-annual installments, over a period of three (3) years, after approval of their DROP Plan application, submission of appropriate documentation, and verification of all documentation by police payroll, on the following dates: August 1, and February 1, with no interest due unless the semi-annual payments are not made by the date they are due.
7. If a member elects to enter into the DROP Plan but suffers an injury or illness (not a casual or intermittent condition and one that lasts for two weeks or more) prior to that member receiving their lump sum payment for accumulated banked time, it is agreed that notwithstanding the absence of sick leave, the member will be paid sick leave, which will result in a reduction in the final installment payment or payments equivalent to the amount of sick leave paid out. (For example, if a member receives $5,000 in sick leave under these circumstances the final installment will be reduced by $5,000.) This provision only applies if the member has sick leave time available under the DROP Plan.
8. In the event that a member who has elected to participate in the DROP Plan and has submitted the appropriate documentation retires or otherwise leaves active employment (before any Drop Plan payment becomes due under Paragraph 5 of this Agreement), any lump sum payment owed shall be paid within sixty (60) days of the termination of employment with no interest due unless the payout is not paid within the sixty (60) day period.

9. Effective January 15, 2012, members, who receive lump sum payouts from sick leave and/or other banks, will be allowed to have a portion of that payout, up to maximum permitted by the Internal Revenue Service Rules, placed into their 457 accounts.
10. The City will pay to DPOA and DPLSA attorney fees in the following amounts; DPOA - $14,397.50, DPLSA $8,000.00* (*Amount subject to change pending final Transcript cost). Payment will be made within 90 days after ratification of this Agreement and after all required documentation has been received and approved by the City.
11. This Agreement shall remain in effect even if a Consent Agreement is implemented pursuant to Public Act 4 or if an Emergency Manager is appointed.
12. The signatories for the City of Detroit, DPLSA, DPOA, and the DPCOA state explicitly and unequivocally that they have the authority to make the foregoing representations on behalf of their respective organizations and that they have the authority to bind their organizations to this Agreement.

ILLUSTRATIVE RATES METHODOLOGY

- Each year beginning April 1st illustrative rates will be developed and utilized for the purpose of determining the employees and employer share of plan costs for the plan year that begins on July 1 and ends June 30th of the following year. The parties agree that the accuracy of the illustrative rates used to determine the cost sharing formula is critical to each party and therefore recognize the need to use actuarial best practices to develop the illustrative rates to address the financial cost passed on the bargaining unit that may result from an inaccurate illustrative rate. The calculation of net cost shall include, for example, amounts recouped for RX rebates, part D subsidies and stop loss recoveries.
- It is acceptable to the Union that actuarial standard practices will be used to develop illustrative rates per rate category for each plan for the calendar year.
- For the purpose of rate setting it is acceptable to the Union that BCBSMI "Option 1", pricing be the same for all bargaining units offered that plan.
- For the purpose of establishing the employee contribution for COPS Trust enrollees, the City will calculate "BCBSMI Option1" illustrative rates. The City will determine its contribution based upon the 80% of the budgeted cost on or about April 1st. The illustrative rates will be based upon the most recent 12 months of costs for the plan year adjusted to an incurred basis, trended forward for the plan year, and with the inclusion of administrative expenses and/or other plans fees. The new rates and employee contributions will be effective beginning each July 1st. The City will deduct its Option 1 contribution amount from the rates offered by COPS Trust to determine the employees' contribution for the COPS Trust plan.
- The City will annually identify the actual plan cost variance by comparing the budgeted plan cost for the calendar year to the actual plan cost incurred for the same calendar year. If the actual plan cost exceeds the budgeted plan cost by more than 2.5% then the plan participants enrolled in COPS Trust will receive a credit equal to 20% of the actual cost variance over 2.5% which shall be applied towards their next year employee contribution credited equally in each pay period. If the actual plan cost is less than the budgeted plan cost by 2.5% or more then the plan participants enrolled in BCBS Option 1 will receive a credit equal to 20% of the actual cost variance under 2.5% which shall be applied towards their next year employee contribution credited equally in each pay period.
- All employee bi-weekly contributions will be determined by calculating the monthly employee contribution amount as described and multiplying that monthly amount by 12 and dividing by 26.
- The illustrative rates for the self-funded plan(s) will be developed independently from the rates for any fully-insured plans. The City will provide and, upon request, review with the union all rates for the new rating period (self-funded and fully-insured) at the same time. The rates will remain unchanged throughout the rating period unless mutually agreed upon.

Jones Day's Commitment to the Detroit Project

Jones Day's roots are in the Midwest and a large part of our practice is centered there.

Many of Jones Day's clients are based in Detroit and in Michigan.

(Over 100 Michigan-based clients in the past 2 years.)

Long-standing representation of GM.

Special benefits counsel to, and good contacts with, Blue Cross of Michigan.

25 lawyers were 6th Circuit Clerks.

27 lawyers were clerks in federal courts in the 6th Circuit (Ohio, Michigan, Tennessee, Kentucky).

28 lawyers were US Supreme Court Clerks.

116 lawyers have one or more degrees from Michigan institutions (including 98 lawyers with 111 degrees from the University of Michigan alone).

We believe that a strong Detroit is vital to the state, the region and the country.

Jones Day has unsurpassed expertise and capabilities in the areas of greatest importance to Detroit and would be honored to be called upon to help.

Jones Day has a longstanding reputation for teamwork and collaboration, both within our own organization and when working with clients, related parties and other professional firms.

This strength will be particularly important in this matter.

We know and can work well with the other advisors retained by the City and it will be critical that everyone pulls together in the same direction.

When a client engages Jones Day, it engages the entire firm, and this would be regarded as an engagement of utmost importance for the firm as a whole.

We are committed to providing whatever resources are needed to advance Detroit's restructuring goals.

The City will have the support of each and every part of the Firm.

Speaker Notes For Slide: 71

Jones Day's Priority for Today's Meeting

It is much more important that we discuss issues the City, the State and the FAB want to discuss rather than issues that we have identified.

We are prepared to walk through the presentation and invite dialog along the way, but are also prepared to put our presentation to one side and cover topics that interest you and address your questions and concerns.

We have studied Detroit's situation extensively and we have some preliminary views on a path forward.

Detroit's Substantial Progress

- Improved Cash Flows
- Significant Headcount Reduction
- Implementation of CETs
- Planning to Address Pension/OPEB
- Payroll Systems Outsourcing
- Public Lighting Authority
- Regional Transportation Authority
- Initiatives to Drive Revenue/Reduce Expenditures

Speaker Notes For Slide: 9|

The City, working with the FAB and the State, already has made substantial progress in addressing its financial challenges.

Improved Cash Flows (Expected improvement of ~$62MM in FY 2013)

Significant Headcount Reduction (from ~12K in Nov. 2011 to ~10K in Nov. 2012)

Implementation of CETs (Despite delays, large majority of CETs are in place)

Planning to Address Pension/OPEB (e.g., recently closed the Police & Fire Retirement System to new employees, retention of Milliman to assist in revamping benefits for retirees and active employees)

Payroll Systems Outsourced

Public Lighting (Public Lighting Authority established; rate increases)

Regional Transportation Authority (authority established; new funding committed)

Initiatives to Drive Revenue or Reduce Expenditures (Belle Isle lease to the state, funding support for new arena and commercial development via Detroit Downtown Development Authority, grant and loan support for Detroit's Eastern Market through the Community Revitalization Program)

Formidable Challenges Remain

- Substantial Debt (Bonds, POCs, Swaps)
- Pension/OPEB Liabilities
- Labor Issues (Costs, Work Rules)
- Detroiters' Quality of Life/Redevelopment of the City
- Development of Multi-Year Budget
- Reversing Economic Trends
- Encouraging New Investment in Detroit
- Political Obstacles to Reform
- EPA/Clean Water Act Case
- High Unemployment and Crime Rates

Speaker Notes For Slide: 11

Notwithstanding the foregoing, many challenges remain.

Debt and related obligations (e.g., swaps)

Pensions and other retiree benefits (OPEB).

Labor costs, work rules and related issues.

Implementation of strategies to improve Detroiters' quality of life and redevelop the City.

Development of multi-year budget upon which restructuring can be based.

Identification of further options for saving/raising funds and stabilizing revenues (reversing trends) and encouraging new investment in Detroit.

Political obstacles to reform.

EPA and Clean Water Case before Judge Cox.

High unemployment.

High crime rate.

Out of Court Solutions Are Preferred

- Benefits of Well Planned Out-Of-Court Restructuring
 - Less Disruptive
 - Less Publicity
 - Less Expensive
 - Less Reputational Damage
 - Less Political Impact
- Consensus or Near Consensus Necessary for a Successful Out-of-Court Restructuring
 - Extremely Difficult to Achieve in Practice

[Speaker Notes For Slide: 13]

A well planned and carefully implemented effort to resolve Detroit's difficulties out of court is vitally important for several reasons:

An out-of-court solution is preferable for a number of reasons.

Less disruptive.

Less publicity during process.

Less expensive.

Less damage to City reputation.

Less political impact.

An out of court solution requires consensus or near consensus of affected constituencies.

This is extremely hard to achieve in practice.

Note: Could mention the possibility of a moratorium on payments being negotiated in support of an out of court solution.

Impact of Possible Emergency Manager Appointment

- Expansive Power
 - Power of City Government
 - Ability to Reject, Modify or Terminate CBAs
 - Ability to Commence Chapter 9 Filing Quickly, if Warranted
 - Can Create Negotiating Leverage (Negotiating with the Backdrop of Bankruptcy)

- Hot-Button Political Issue

- Relationship With Elected Officials Must Be Established

- Possible Legal Challenges (Delay and Risk)

Speaker Notes For Slide: 15]

Appointment of an Emergency Manager may offer the City greater powers to address some issues.

The appointment of an Emergency Manager could impact the City's restructuring efforts in a number of ways:

Expansive powers over all aspects of City government could be used to promote and expedite restructuring (e.g., budget, procurement, contracts, labor negotiations, ability to adopt ordinances related to financial condition).

Could streamline certain political/bureaucratic/legal requirements to restructuring activities.

Ability to reject, modify or terminate CBAs under certain circumstances.

Ability to commence chapter 9 filing quickly under PA 72 and PA 436 (assuming State approval).

Emergency manager powers can create negotiating leverage (negotiating in the backdrop of bankruptcy).

Hot-button political issue.

Potentially unpopular option with certain segments of the public, unions, other stakeholders.

The Emergency Manager's relationship with elected officials would have to be developed.

Ultimately, the Emergency Manager could be used as political cover for difficult restructuring decisions.

Appointment of an Emergency Manager could result in legal challenges (e.g., federal & state constitutional challenges)

Could delay progress until resolved

Could lead to challenges of the legality and enforceability of any actions taken by the Emergency Manager.

Out-of-Court Plan Should Contemplate the Possibility of Chapter 9

- Simplify and Shorten Any Chapter 9 Case, if Out-of-Court Effort Fails
 - Out-of-Court Agreements Can Be Used in Chapter 9
- Creates Leverage in Creditor Negotiations
 - Negotiating in the Shadow of Chapter 9
 - Motivate Municipal Bond Market Participants
- Bolster Eligibility for – and Success in – Chapter 9 By Establishing Good-Faith Record of Seeking Creditor Consensus

ISpeaker Notes For Slide: 17|

Any restructuring plan should be designed so that it could be implemented in a chapter 9 case, if necessary.

Even if an out-of-court plan cannot be implemented, agreements that are reached can form the basis for a chapter 9 plan of adjustment, thus simplifying and shortening any chapter 9 case.

Creditors understand that a troubled municipality has greater leverage in a chapter 9 case. Accordingly, developing an out-of-court restructuring plan that can later be implemented in chapter 9 if necessary can create leverage in favor of a negotiated deal. This is particularly the case if an Emergency Manager is appointed because the threat of a chapter 9 filing – including a potential moratorium on payments – will be more tangible, and possibly more imminent.

The combination of an Emergency Manager and a proposal that could be implemented in chapter 9 could be the most effective way to motivate investors in the municipal bond market.

A good-faith effort to pursue an out of court restructuring plan will establish a clear record of seeking creditor consensus before seeking chapter 9 relief. This will deflect any eligibility complaints based on alleged failure to negotiate or bad faith.

If Chapter 9 Needed, Planning Is Key

- Any Bankruptcy Filing Should Be Accompanied By:
 - Fully Developed Plan of Adjustment / Detailed Term Sheet
 - OR-
 - Clearly Articulated, Reasonable Restructuring Plan, Already Shared with Creditors

This approach will help demonstrate that Chapter 9 was commenced to facilitate realistic solutions to problems. Chapter 9 is not an additional symptom of those problems.

[Speaker Notes For Slide: 19]

If a chapter 9 case becomes necessary, the commencement of a bankruptcy should be accompanied by either:

- (1) A fully developed Plan of Adjustment or detailed term sheet for a Plan of Adjustment
- or -
- (2) A clearly articulated, reasonable plan for resolving the City's financial difficulties – previously discussed with key constituencies – that can quickly be incorporated into a Plan of Adjustment.

This approach is intended to allow the City to describe a chapter 9 case as facilitating realistic solutions for the City's problems and not as an additional symptom or symbol of the intractability of those problems.

PART III – INITIAL PLANNING CONSIDERATIONS

Establish Long-Term Goals and Promote Inclusiveness

- Reach Consensus of City Team on Long-Term Goals and Steps to Achieve Them
- Then, Include All Constituents in Planning and Negotiations
 - Obtain – and Seriously Consider – Input From All Sources
 - Defuse Political Opposition Through Listening and Documentation
 - Establish Sub-Teams for Key Issues
 - Coordinated "Hub-and-Spoke" Approach: Sub-Teams Report to Central Hub
 - Establish a Strong Record of Inclusiveness and Consideration of All Options
- The City (both the Office of the Mayor and City Council), the State and the FAB should strive to coordinate their efforts in all respects. Any differences and tensions among these groups can and will be exploited by adversaries.

Speaker Notes For Slide: 22

Set Long-Term Goals and Build a Strategy of Inclusiveness

A key to a comprehensive restructuring plan will be to reach consensus at the City (in consultation with its advisors, the FAB and the State) on the restructuring steps needed to achieve a durable long-term solution to the City's issues.

Thereafter, as many constituents as possible should be included in planning and negotiations.

Input should be obtained from all sources, documented and treated seriously, even if proposals appear unrealistic. Good listening skills are helpful. This can help defuse political opposition.

Sub-teams can be established by the City and its advisors to address particular issues (labor, pension/benefits, asset sales, redevelopment, capital markets, etc.).

Individual groups can report regularly to central core team of key officials and advisors (i.e., the Hub).

Jones Day often uses this Hub-and-spokes approach to manage a complex restructuring efficiently and in a coordinated manner.

Establish a strong record (i.e., for future litigation) of (i) inclusiveness with respect to all constituencies and (ii) consideration of all options and proposals received.

The City (both the Office of the Mayor and City Council), the State and the FAB should strive to coordinate their efforts in all respects. Any differences and tensions among these groups can and will be exploited by adversaries.

Multi-Year Budget: Set Spending Priorities Within Realistic Revenue Projections

- Basis for Any Restructuring Agreements
 - Build on Budget Work to Date
 - Identify All Revenue Sources (Including Future Sources)
 - Strive for Conservative/Achievable Revenue Estimates
 - Incorporate Cost Savings from Outsourcing and Other Initiatives

- The Budget should include funds needed to assure the proper functioning of the City and appropriate investments to revitalize the City over the long term.

[Speaker Notes For Slide: 24]

Set spending priorities within realistic revenue projections.

A multi-year budget that includes revenue and expense projections will be the basis for determining amounts available for distribution to creditors – critical to any restructuring agreements in or out of court.

Jones Day understands that substantial work has been done in this area, and that this is a major challenge.

The City must create credibility in the face of an unsettled revenue picture.

All revenue sources should be identified, including future sources (such as monetizing assets or reallocation of state/county revenue).

At the same time, the City should strive for realistic (conservative) revenue projections to assist in planning and build credibility.

Cost savings through additional outsourcing and other initiatives should be incorporated where reasonable (e.g., exploration of regionally-based options/alternatives).

This Budget should include funds needed to assure the proper functioning of the City and appropriate investments to revitalize the City over the long term.

Projected revenues should be targeted to reinvestment where possible, with a mechanism to cover shortfalls as necessary (e.g., business, state or federal partnerships).

Prepare to Defend the Budget

- Defend Spending at Levels Needed to Assure Long-Term Viability
 - Focus on "Who Does Detroit Serve?"
 - Establish Case for Reinvestment
 - Defend Against Calls for Expense Reduction and Monetizing Assets to Pay Creditors
- Characterize Detroiters as "Customers "
 - Must Treat Citizens with Respect
 - Attractiveness of City to Residents and Businesses is Key
- Restructuring is About Revitalization, Not Just Creditor Recoveries

Speaker Notes For Slide: 26

Prepare to Defend the Budget.

The Budget will have to be defended against creditor criticism that it provides for excessive expenditures in light of the city's financial circumstances. We are prepared to build this case and address any concerns, including Constitutional or other legal challenges.

Although there is not much law in this area, Jones Day believes that the City can defend a decision to spend revenues at a level necessary to assure that the City functions properly and can attract residents and businesses.

Focus on "Who does Detroit serve?"

The citizens of Michigan benefit from a revitalized Detroit serving as an engine/economic driver for the state economy.

Need to establish a credible case that stability and restoration are key elements of reinvestment in Detroit.

At the same time, need to defend against approaches that focus on expense reduction and monetizing assets to pay creditors.

This will require daily coordinated effort of the City and its advisors, in further collaboration with the State.

We learned this lesson from Orange County - daily collection of information, discussion of core group, documentation of actions taken or considered and communication are key.

City should characterize its residents as "customers," a class of constituents that ordinarily is accorded significant benefits in business reorganizations.

Creditors may attempt to characterize residents as the "owners" or "voters" who should make sacrifices to facilitate payment of creditor claims.

The changes in the population of the City indicates that citizens can "vote with their feet" by leaving. A viable restructuring for a strong and vibrant Detroit must treat its citizens with respect, just as a successful business in the private sector treats its customers.

But also must focus on "absentee" customers to obtain City services without contributing sufficiently to the City.

Explore All Avenues to Pay Creditors

- Creditors (and any Bankruptcy Court) Expect Reasonable Efforts to Minimize Shortfalls to Creditors
- Must Explore Long List of Options for Saving or Raising Money
 - Raising Taxes and Fees
 - Non-Core Asset Sales
 - Reducing Expenses
 - Borrowing Options
 - Pay-Per-Use Taxation
 - Regional Solutions
- Any Savings Must Be Consistent with the City's Revitalization Plans

A record should be established that all avenues have been explored to minimize the concessions sought from stakeholders, to bolster the notion of shared sacrifice and to support the City's case for debt reduction if a Chapter 9 ultimately is commenced.

Speaker Notes For Slide: 28

Creditors – and ultimately the Bankruptcy Court if a chapter 9 case is filed – will expect that the City exert reasonable efforts to reduce or eliminate any shortfall in amounts available to pay creditors.

Must find the right way to fix the deterioration in the City's balance sheet, including the rate and maturity of debt.

Recent events have driven to too much short term debt (for a municipality).

Must be able to assure both municipal debtholders and legacy creditors that this is not just a process of imposing more undesirable terms.

In practice, the City will be required to develop long lists of options for saving or raising money, evaluate the practicality of each of the options identified and pursue promising approaches.

In past cases, creditors have suggested:

Raising taxes and fees.

Selling assets creditors deemed to be excess or not required.

Reducing expenses.

Borrowing against revenue streams generated by municipal assets.

Borrow surplus amounts in funds administered by the municipality

Revenue enhancement alternatives should be explored, encouraged and defended, even in a chapter 9 setting. For example: Pay-Per-Use Taxation. Consider implement pay-per-use taxation model as (1) impetus for voluntary compliance with "Core Detroit" infrastructure and service rationalization initiatives and/or (2) means to capture revenue from surrounding suburban communities that have historically expanded as Detroit's city center strunk.

Regional cooperation/solutions also should be explored.

Any savings ultimately must be consistent with the plans to revitalize Detroit.

A record should be established that all avenues have been explored to minimize the concessions sought from stakeholders, to bolster the notion of shared sacrifice and to support the City's case for debt reduction if a chapter 9 ultimately is commenced.

Even in chapter 9, all pre-bankruptcy efforts should be highlighted to demonstrate the City's good faith efforts to resolve issues.

This also will help drive a model of equitable shared sacrifice of all stakeholders.

Given initiatives underway relating to labor and benefits, it appears that the municipal bondholders, swap participants and monoline insurers likely will be the last contributor and must understand the entire picture of sacrifices obtained over time.

Exploring Creditor Recoveries: Challenges and Lessons Learned

- Raising Taxes: Difficult and Possibly Counterproductive
 - Tax Relief May Be Needed to Promote Investment
- Asset Sales Pose Challenges to Generating Substantial Revenue
 - Sales of Assets to Pay Creditors May Not Promote Revitalization
- Reducing Expenditures Should Not Undermine Restructuring Goals
- Borrowing May Be Limited by Legal Restrictions

Notwithstanding any challenges, the City will have to demonstrate to interested parties that all of these alternatives, and perhaps others, have been fully and fairly evaluated.

ISpeaker Notes For Slide: 30I

In Jones Day's experience:

Raising additional taxes, particularly given the economic hardship in Detroit, may be difficult (if not impossible) and may be counterproductive. In fact, an evaluation of means to increase private investment dollars in Detroit suggest the need for tax relief and incentives.

Efforts by municipalities to sell or monetize asset often pose challenges to generating material value.

Disputes over the use of proceeds can undermine the benefits of an asset sale, while eroding the municipality's asset base.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, there are exceptions and unique and creative structures for asset monetization can and should be explored.

Working with the State to maximize asset revenues and cut costs could be a viable alternative to asset sales.

Regional initiatives also could be explored (joint redevelopment, sharing of services, joint purchasing arrangements).

Note: Asset monetization outside of bankruptcy may implicate eligibility requirement that City be insolvent (e.g., measured by short-term cash).

Troubled municipalities have reduced expenditures repeatedly even before financial difficulties become acute. That is true in Detroit, but additional reductions should be evaluated where feasible without undermining the City's restructuring goals.

Given the recent sacrifices already imposed on employees and legacy creditors, the City should focus prompt attention on municipal debtholders and investors who have in some cases improved their positions.

Borrowing surplus amounts in funds administered by the municipality is complicated by State and/or Federal restrictions encumbering such funds.

Using proceeds of borrowings against revenue streams to pay City obligations is also affected by laws restricting use of the underlying assets and revenue streams.

Notwithstanding any challenges, the City will have to demonstrate to interested parties that all of these alternatives, and perhaps others, have been fully and fairly evaluated.

Equitable Shared Sacrifice Among Creditor Groups

- Equitable Does Not Mean Equal
 - Parties Have Different Rights and Protections (Constitutional, Contractual, Legal)
- Tension Between Employees/Retirees and Bondholders/Investors
 - Employee/Retiree Sacrifices Must Be Sufficient, but Should Not Undermine Ability to Recruit and Retain
 - Employees and Retirees Already Have Made Sacrifices, While Municipal Debtholders Have Improved Position
 - Should Look at Entire Restructuring Process: Equality of Sacrifice Cannot Be Measured at a Single Point in Time
- Legal Uncertainty Regarding Sixth Circuit Treatment of Legacy Claims
- Consider Expanding Sacrifices Regionally

The City will have to develop a proposal for dealing effectively with the issues of equitable sacrifice.

Allocation of Sacrifice Among Competing Creditor Groups

In general, under United States bankruptcy law, including chapter 9 of the Bankruptcy Code, amounts available for distribution to creditors must be allocated in an equitable manner. "Equitable" generally means equally unless there are meaningful distinctions among the rights of competing creditors.

Recent chapter 9 cases and out of court negotiations involving troubled municipalities have involved significant disputes about whether or not work/force related claims (including claims for pension and other retiree benefits) should have some form of priority over claims for borrowed money and other commercial claims.

Pension and employee benefit commitments often are included in executory contracts. This reality may also permit some kinds of distinctive treatment from other creditor claims. In that regard, cuts in employee benefits and wages should be reasonably calibrated so that Detroit civil service compensation is market appropriate: cuts should not be so severe that the City cannot attract and retain qualified civil servants.

While legacy creditors are already being asked to make sacrifices, and have done so over the past number of months, municipal debt investors have been improving their positions. Municipal bondholders, swap participants and monoline insurers must be asked to make sacrifices compared to legacy creditors over an extended look back period. Equality of sacrifice cannot fairly be measured at a single point in time.

Tensions between statutes that protect the rights of municipal employees and the ability of municipal debtors to impair collective bargaining agreements have led to differing outcomes in bankruptcy court.

Outside of bankruptcy, Michigan employees enjoy certain constitutional protections for benefits (primarily accrued pension benefits). These protections have analogues in Michigan statutes and Detroit regulations, separate and apart from protections that may be included in CBAs, but are nevertheless considered "contractual" promises. Section 365 of the Bankruptcy Code – which is applicable to Chapter 9 proceedings – would provide Detroit with the ability to evaluate all of its "executory contracts" (including CBAs). Moreover, certain stringent restrictions on the rejection of CBAs otherwise applicable in bankruptcy do not apply in chapter 9. Sections 903 and 904 of the Bankruptcy Code protect the power of a State to control municipalities and prohibit bankruptcy courts from interfering with the governmental power of the debtor. These provisions can be read to limit the ability of bankruptcy courts to disregard state law within chapter 9. Thus, bankruptcy courts presiding over chapter 9 proceedings have reached differing conclusions with respect to the extent to which state laws protecting employees impact a debtor's ability to address CBA or other contractual benefits issues.

» For example, in Orange County, certain county employee coalitions successfully prevented the debtor from modifying CBAs in a manner inconsistent with California law in connection with certain seniority rights.

» On the other hand, in Vallejo, the bankruptcy court held that the filing of a Chapter 9 petition effectively foreclosed the application of state law in the CBA context. The Stockton court generally seconded Vallejo's approach regarding the primacy of federal law in chapter 9 in upholding the debtor's ability to reduce contractual OPEB benefits.

It is unclear whether bankruptcy courts within the Sixth Circuit – perhaps the most pro-union Circuit in the nation – would adopt the Orange County or the Vallejo/Stockton approach to incorporation of state law into chapter 9 proceedings.

The City also could look to expand sacrifices regionally, particularly in connection with shared services and shared benefits. Pursuing regional sacrifice may generate untested legal issues.

The City will have to develop a proposal for dealing effectively with the issues of equitable sacrifice.

PART IV – COMPONENTS AND CONSIDERATIONS FOR RESTRUCTURING PLAN

Key Plan Components

- Pensions and Benefits
- Labor
- Municipal Debt
- Funds for Reinvestment

Contrasting Approaches in Recent Chapter 9 Cases

- Stockton, California
 - Continued Pension Contributions to CalPERS as Protected by State Law
 - Ceased Retiree Health Plan Premiums
 - Proposed Impairment of Certain Bond Debt, Pensions Unimpaired
 - Restructuring Opposed by Municipal Bondholders

- San Bernardino, California
 - Ceased Pension Contributions to CalPERS, Seeking Impairment
 - Restructuring Opposed by CalPERS and Labor, and Supported by Municipal Bondholders

- Central Falls, Rhode Island
 - New State Law Created Lien in Favor of Municipal Debt Service Payments
 - Bondholders Paid 100%; Pensions/Benefits Sharply Cut
 - Policy to Favor Investors and Protect Credit Ratings

Pensions and Benefits in pending California cases

The City of Stockton (population 300,000) and the City of San Bernardino (population 215,000) filed chapter 9 cases within a month of each other in mid-2012.

Like many California municipalities, both cities have very large liabilities in respect of unfunded pension and employee benefit obligations. However, each has taken a different course of action with respect to those liabilities.

Upon filing for bankruptcy, San Bernardino ceased contributions to the California Public Employee Retirement System (CalPERS) for amounts due in respect of unfunded pension obligations (both pre- and post-bankruptcy filing), and indicated that it intends to impair the claims of CalPERS like any other unsecured claim in the bankruptcy case.

Stockton, on the other hand, has continued making contributions to CalPERS and vowed to leave all CalPERS claims (the largest claims in the case) unimpaired under any plan of adjustment.

Stockton – supported by CalPERS – asserts that its obligations to CalPERS are mandated by state law and cannot be impaired in a chapter 9 case due to the limitations of sections 903 and 904 of the Bankruptcy Code.

Interestingly, Stockton has ceased paying retiree health care premiums related to promised health care benefits. Upon motion by the retirees to seek to force the city to resume such payments, the bankruptcy court issued a lengthy and important opinion touching on many questions of state sovereignty and supremacy of bankruptcy law, ultimately holding that section 904 of the Bankruptcy Code prohibited the court from granting the requested injunction against the city. In re City of Stockton, 478 B.R. 8 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2012). The effect of the court's opinion was to leave the retirees without a remedy, except for negotiating their treatment under the chapter 9 plan of adjustment.

The Stockton and San Bernardino cases are proceeding along parallel but opposite tracks.

In San Bernardino, due to the city's cessation of contributions to CalPERS, both CalPERS and labor groups have objected to the city's chapter 9 petition and argued, among other things, that the city will be incapable of confirming a plan of adjustment that impairs the CalPERS claims. Bondholders and bond insurers have responded in support of the city and in opposition to the CalPERS and labor objections.

In Stockton, due to the city's statement that it will not seek to impair CalPERS (and instead will seek only to impair bondholders and other unsecured creditors), it is the bondholders and bond insurers who have objected to the city's chapter 9 petition, arguing among other things that the city will be unable to confirm a chapter 9 plan of adjustment that does not impair the CalPERS claim. CalPERS has responded in support of the city and in opposition to the bondholders and bond insurers.

The cases likely will produce one or more decisions that touch upon the role and efficacy of state pension and labor law in a chapter 9 case and, when appeals ensue, ultimately may produce circuit-level authority regarding whether or not federal bankruptcy law governs in this context.

In Rhode Island, a municipality effectively accorded priority to borrowed money creditors.

Central Falls, Rhode Island filed for chapter 9 protection in August 2011, suffering from structural budget deficits and burdensome/unpayable pension and retiree benefit obligations.

Legacy Creditors – Pensions and OPEB

- Unfunded OPEB and Pension Liabilities Pose Challenges
 - Unfunded OPEB Liabilities Pose the Greater Challenge
- Pensions Have Substantial Underfunding, but Also Significant Plan Assets
 - OPEB is Much Larger and Unfunded
 - Health Premiums Exceed Debt Service on General Obligations
- Equitable Restructuring of Legacy Obligations Possible
 - Fewer Legal Protections for OPEB Than Pensions
 - Pensions Constitutionally Protected, but Reasonable Changes Possible
- Formulation of Unified Labor Negotiation Strategy Critical to Success

Speaker Notes For Slide: 38|

Legacy Creditors (Pensions and OPEB)

Detroit has significant OPEB liabilities and unfunded pension liabilities (i.e., unfunded actuarial accrued liabilities reported as approximately $5.7 billion and $643 million, respectively). Recent work by Milliman suggests that unfunded pension liabilities are substantially greater than $643 million and may exceed $2 billion.

Given the magnitude of these liabilities, sound and long-term restructuring of Detroit's obligations will require across the board sacrifice from legacy creditors.

As between pension and retiree health (OPEB), OPEB poses the greater liability challenge. Pensions have substantial underfunding, but also significant plan assets; by contrast, there is no funding of OPEB and it is a significant cash drain. The City's annual health premiums far exceed principal and interest payments on general obligations.

Tools are available for an equitable restructuring.

OPEB has less legal protections under state law than pensions, providing a greater ability to cut and equitably restructure.

Pensions have certain state constitutional protections, but reasonable pension changes may be made that avoid the legal strategy of having to argue that federal bankruptcy law under chapter 9 overrides state constitutional protections.

Formulating a unified labor negotiation strategy will be critical to success. The benefit structure should be holistically analyzed to determine what changes are appropriate and necessary and can be rationally justified by other retained benefits.

Potential Pension Reform Initiatives

- Jones Day Has Significant Public and Private Pension Experience
 - We Know, Respect and Are Prepared to Work with the City's Other Advisors on Benefit Issues
 - Plan Must Be Developed Collaboratively Between City and Its Advisors
- A Framework for Pension Reform Could Include the Following Elements:
 - Require All New Employees to Participate in DCPs, Rather than DBPs
 - Prospectively Eliminate COLAs for active members
 - Raise Retirement Ages, Reduce Early Retirement Subsidies
 - Consider Changes to Secondary/Ancillary Features of DBPs
- We believe that existing basic pension formulas can be preserved for current active members while saving significant sums for Detroit

[Speaker Notes For Slide: 40]

Potential Pension Reform Initiatives.

We understand that the City has engaged other pension and benefit experts on these issues. We know, regularly work with and respect the City's other advisors and would look forward to working with them to refine the recommendations to fit within a restructuring or chapter 9 strategy. We have significant public pension experience, and we know the differences between federally-regulated private sector arrangements and public plans.

We have begun the process of evaluating the pension issues facing the City. Any plan would need to be developed based on the collaborative work of the City and its advisors after further review. Based on what we know, and our experience in other matters, we believe a framework for pension could include the following elements:

- Require all new employees to participate in defined contribution plans, rather than defined benefits plans.
- Prospectively eliminate COLAs for all active members.
- Raise retirement ages for certain employees, reduce early retirement subsidies.
- Additional changes to secondary and ancillary features of defined benefit pension arrangements.

Proposed changes could allow most existing basic pension formulas to be preserved for current active members while saving significant sums for the City. But legislative action – e.g., amendment to the City Charter and Ordinances – may be necessary to achieve certain of these changes. If needed, chapter 9 could be used as a means to further cut back or compromise "accrued financial benefits" otherwise protected under the Michigan Constitution.

Potential OPEB Reform Initiatives

- Evaluate Benefits of De-linking Retiree Health Plan from Active Employee Health Plan Design and Contribution Structure
- Design of a New Replacement OPEB Plan Could Include the Following:
 - Increase Retirement Age
 - Transition Younger Retirees to State-Based Exchanges and Federal Subsidies under Affordable Care Act
 - Increase Use of the Medicare Programs – Part A, Part B, and Part D
 - Impose Reasonable Retiree Premiums (For Existing Retirees, Link to COLAs)
 - Audit Records to Cut Off Funding to Unqualified Dependents
 - Consider Defined Contribution Model for Future Retirees
- Consider Funding of OPEB through Tax-Exempt Trust
- Evaluate Required Scope of Coverages under City Code
- Be Prepared for Argument that Adverse 6th Circuit Law Applies
 - 6th Circuit Adverse Cases Involve Private Sector Plans, but Unions Likely Will Argue They Are Applicable Here

Confidential

[Speaker Notes For Slide: 42]

Potential OPEB Reform Initiatives.

We have begun the process of evaluating the OPEB issues facing the City. Any plan needs to address both the long-term OPEB liability, and the significant annual cost for coverage. This would need to be developed based on the collaborative work of the City and its advisors after further review. Based on what we know, and our experience in other matters, we believe a framework for OPEB obligations could include some or all of the following elements:

The City Should Evaluate "De-Linking" of Benefits Under Retiree Health Plans from Plan Design and Contribution Structure for Active Employees. Linking OPEB benefits to plan for active employees generates large inefficiencies and costs. It will be more difficult to address the $5.7 billion underfunding of OPEB benefits without severing this link.

Design New Replacement OPEB Plan

Retiree healthcare currently is provided to many younger individuals who are not objectively recognized as retirees. Modifications could increase retirement age to cover only "true" retirees (as opposed to persons in their 40s), to decrease costs and transition younger retirees to state-based exchanges (based on residence) and available federal subsidies under Affordable Care Act.

Better use of the Medicare programs – Part A, Part B, and Part D (drug benefits) to provide the fundamental coverage to true retirees.

Impose reasonable retiree premiums; link retiree premiums to pension COLAs.

Audit records to cut off funding of benefits to ineligible dependents.

Consider defined contribution model for retirees.

Also Consider Funding of OPEB through a Tax Exempt Trust

Available in the non-ERISA, governmental plan setting based on existing IRS guidance (e.g., Private Letter Ruling 201136007, September 9, 2011).

Provides more flexibility than a VEBA, but still need cash or other assets to fund such a trust, so this may not be a viable approach.

Language in the Detroit City Code establishing the OPEB obligations may allow argument that the scope of currently offered coverages is not required.

Also, unlike accrued pension benefits, OPEB obligations are not constitutionally protected.

Must be aware, and wary, of Sixth Circuit law that is favorable to unions/retirees and adverse to actions the City may wish to take.

Much of the most concerning Sixth Circuit law is predicated on federal ERISA and the Labor Management Relations Act (relating to private sector plans), which are inapplicable to municipal plans.

But we should anticipate an argument that this reasoning should be applied as a matter of state law to municipal plans, and the City should be prepared for that.

Chapter 9 could be used, or threatened, as a means to accomplish a compromise of benefit costs (rejecting contracts or compromising claims).

Labor Issues

- Renegotiation of CBAs Must Focus on Economic Stability

[Speaker Notes For Slide: 44]

Labor

Renegotiating collective bargaining agreements to terms that provide economic sustainability will be key to the City's recovery.

Financial analysis must be conducted at the outset – and must be unimpeachable – to show the savings needed and how those necessary savings are being allocated between personnel vs. non-personnel related costs.

Will need to demonstrate a commitment to unions that they are partners in this process and the near term sacrifices will provide longer term benefits to their members (preservation of jobs – a return to financial health for Detroit).

In addition to conveying these economic needs at the bargaining table, we must be prepared to provide simple, easy to understand messaging to the membership and the public.

City charter and ordinances governing pensions may provide an additional hurdle that will need to be overcome via legislative amendment. Renegotiating collective bargaining agreements will not automatically supersede ordinances and charter. There appears to be somewhat more flexibility on the retiree medical expenses, but here too there may be a need for legislative action.

Municipal Debt – Overview of Approach

- Viability Threat of Chapter 9 is Critical
 - Only Chapter 9 Allows Non-Consensual Impairment of Municipal Debt
- Fair Sacrifice Needed from Municipal Debtholders
 - Employees/Retirees Already Sacrificed (and May Again)
 - Investors Accepted City's Credit and Were Compensated for Risk
 - Investors Have Adjusted Credit Terms to Their Benefit as City's Finances Worsened
- City Should Make Clear That It is Not Prepared to Dedicate Scarce Resources to Prefer Debtholders over Residents, Businesses and Revenue-Driving Activities
- Refinanceable Bond Debt Presents a Unique Opportunity
 - Potential for Advantageous Fixed Rates Over an Extended Term

[Speaker Notes For Slide: 46]

Municipal Debt JE emphasize Jones Day's significant expertise/experience with respect to municipal finance, a core competency that may separate Jones Day from other firms. I

Chapter 9 is only real mechanism to impair significant debt without consent, so the viable threat of chapter 9 is critical especially to deal with municipal debtholders. This creates real leverage.

Sacrifice by municipal debtholders is important, especially since employees and retirees have already made real personal sacrifices, and may be asked for more. Providers and investors in funded debt accepted the City's credit and were compensated for the risk.

We are prepared to deal with these parties as creditors of the City in transparent and fair manner. It should be made clear that the City is not prepared to dedicate scarce resources to prefer debtholders over residents, businesses and revenue driving activities. Any effort of General Obligation creditors to obtain the collateral protections of special revenue bonds should be approached with caution.

Different types of debt receive different treatment in municipal bankruptcy cases.

General obligation bonds are treated as general debt in chapter 9. A municipality is not required to make payments of either principal or interest on account of such bonds during the case.

Certain restrictions on how debt may be readjusted in traditional bankruptcy proceedings do not apply in chapter 9. Thus, Detroit would be able to impose favorable terms upon general obligation bonds (e.g., the imposition of non market interest; drastically extended repayment terms; delays in cash payments) pursuant to a Plan of Adjustment, the only caveat being that such terms are consistent with State law.

Chapter 9, however, provides certain protections to creditors holding liens upon special project revenues. This may be of particular importance to Detroit, given the scope of its special project debt (e.g., bonds issued in connection with the construction/overhaul of water and sewer plants, collateralized with the revenues and fees earned by such projects).

Specifically, the "special revenues" from these projects remain subject to the liens of the bondholders in the specific projects and those revenues (1) must be used to fund the "necessary operating expenses" of the special project or to pay back bondholders and (2) may not be diverted to support the general obligations of the municipality.

Defining what constitutes the "necessary operating expenses" of a given special project has been the subject of litigation in other chapter 9 cases (most recently, Jefferson County); courts appear inclined to interpret the phrase narrowly. The Jefferson County case is for review by the Eleventh Circuit.

With a credible threat of chapter 9, the City has leverage:

Cramdown in chapter 9 is possible if there is one accepting impaired class, meaning that a non-accepting class of debtholders could be bound by the Plan of Adjustment to compromise their debt.

Amortizations of debt suggest that municipal debt holders have been adjusting their credit terms to their benefit as the City's finances have worsened. This supports a greater sacrifice at this point by debtholders.

This also appears to a readily re-finaceable structure, and there is a unique opportunity to obtain advantageous fixed rates for an extended period if the negotiations are conducted properly.

Speaker Notes For Slide: 48]

Treatment of POC debt and related swaps should be carefully evaluated because the unique structure could raise issues in a restructuring.

Swap counterparties may assert termination rights and must be addressed promptly.

Can build on negotiations that have been ongoing.

Termination rights not impacted by bankruptcy do to safe harbors, but treatment of claims may remain an issue.

Notwithstanding safe harbors, recent granting of collateral on swap debt could be avoidable if there was fraud. LIBOR rate cases may be relevant.

City should consider addressing swaps through market transactions.

For substantial insured debt, the credit insurers will have to be engaged in a meaningful way at the outset.

Jones Day is experienced dealing with monoline insurers with the economic interest relating to insured debt.

Monolines are involved in both bond and POC debt.
