v.)	[WO]

ORDER

On June 23, 2015, the Magistrate Judge filed a Recommendation (Doc. # 8), to which Petitioner James Willis Bonds has filed a timely Objection (Doc. # 9). Upon an independent and de novo review of those portions of the Recommendation to which objection is made, the Objection is due to be overruled, the Recommendation is due to be adopted, and Mr. Bonds's petition for writ of habeas corpus is due to be dismissed.

Mr. Bonds filed the present habeas petition to challenge the sentence of life without the possibility of parole he received for a crime he committed when he was a juvenile. He argues that his sentence should be vacated in light of Miller v. Alabama, 132 S. Ct. 2455, 2469 (2012), in which the Supreme Court held that imposition of mandatory life sentences without the possibility of parole for juvenile offenders sentenced as adults violates the Eighth Amendment. The Magistrate Judge did not reach the merits of Mr. Bonds's challenge because he determined that Mr. Bonds had failed to obtain the requisite order from the Eleventh Circuit authorizing the district court to consider a successive habeas petition, leaving the court without jurisdiction.

Mr. Bonds objects to the Recommendation of the Magistrate Judge. In his Objection, Mr. Bonds does not argue that his present petition is not successive for purposes of triggering the requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 2244(b)(3)(A). Nor does he contend that he has received the requisite authorization from the Eleventh Circuit. Rather, Mr. Bonds argues that this action should be stayed pending the Supreme Court's determination in Montgomery v. Louisiana, 135 S. Ct. 1546 (2015), on grounds that Montgomery will determine whether the holding in Miller should be applied retroactively.

While this court acknowledges the import of the forthcoming decision in Montgomery, its pendency does not confer jurisdiction upon this court to entertain Mr. Bonds's petition. As the Supreme Court has explained, failing to adhere to § 2244(b)(3)'s "gatekeeping provisions" deprives district courts of jurisdiction to entertain habeas petitions. Burton v. Stewart, 549 U.S. 147, 152 (2007). Accordingly, this court echoes the determination of the Eleventh Circuit that dismissal of the present petition "does not preclude" Mr. Bonds from seeking leave from the Eleventh Circuit to file a new, successive petition “after the Supreme Court decides Montgomery.” In re Bonds, No. 15-12443-E (11th Cir. June 25, 2015).

Accordingly, it is ORDERED as follows:

1. Petitioner James Willis Bonds’s Objection (Doc. # 9) is OVERRULED;
2. the Recommendation (Doc. # 6) is ADOPTED; and
3. Petitioner James Willis Bonds’s petition for writ of habeas corpus is DISMISSED under 28 U.S.C. § 2244(b)(3)(A) for Petitioner’s failure to obtain the requisite order from the Eleventh Circuit authorizing the consideration of a successive habeas petition.

A final judgment will be entered separately.

DONE this 23rd day of July, 2015.
