OPINION

Plaintiff William Aldwin Jones charges that the defendants, Alabama prison official, violated his right to practice his religion while he was in prison. The magistrate judge has recommended that the defendants' motions for summary judgment should be granted, and Jones has not objected to the recommendation. After an independent and de novo review of the record, the court agrees with the magistrate judge. At bottom, as to Jones's principal claim, he has not shown a "substantial burden," Smith v. Allen, 502 F.3rd 1255, 1277 (11th Cir.

2007), on his ability to play music at the Moorish
Science Temple religious services.

An appropriate judgment will be entered.

DONE, this the 2nd day of September, 2008.
