Notice of Proposed Class Action Settlement

You may be affected by the settlement of mental health claims made under the Americans with Disabilities Act (“ADA”) and under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act (“Section 504”) in the lawsuit entitled Braggs v. Dunn, No. 2:14-cv-00601-MHT-TFM (previously Dunn v. Dunn), in the United States District Court for the Middle District of Alabama. This notice summarizes the claims included in this settlement and your rights under the settlement agreement.

1. What issues in the lawsuit have been settled?

- Whether the ADOC has failed to make appropriate accommodations for people with mental health disabilities in its policies and procedures, in violation of the ADA and Section 504;
- Whether the ADOC has discriminated against inmates with mental health disabilities in the provision of and access to programs, benefits, and services; and
- Whether the ADOC has failed to provide appropriate programming designed for persons with intellectual disabilities in ADOC facilities.

The case involves other claims related to medical and mental health care that have not been settled and that will be decided by the Court.

2. Who is affected by this settlement?

All class members are affected by this settlement. A class member is any current or future inmate in the physical custody of the ADOC who has a disability as defined in the Americans with Disabilities Act (“ADA”), 42 U.S.C. § 12102 and 29 U.S.C. § 705(9)(B), relating to or arising from mental disease, illness, or defect.

Under the ADA, disability is defined as, “a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of such individual; a record of such an impairment; or being regarded as having such an impairment.” 42 U.S.C. § 12102(1). This includes mobility, hearing or vision impairments.

If you have any questions about how this settlement affects you, contact the Class Counsel listed after question No. 6 on the third page of this notice.

3. What is the proposed settlement?

The Plaintiffs and the ADOC have reached a proposed settlement that would release the ADOC from any further liability as to the mental health claims brought under the ADA by the plaintiff class. If the court approves the settlement agreement, you may be prevented in the future from bringing certain ADA mental health claims in federal court, because those claims were resolved by the settlement agreement. You may be required to ask an arbitrator appointed by the court to decide those claims, and you may not be able to appeal the arbitrator’s decision to the court.

The settlement agreement requires the ADOC to make numerous changes, all of which are subject to Court approval, including the following:

- identifying, screening, and tracking inmates with mental health disabilities;
- modifying the procedure for requesting disability-based accommodations;

- appointing ADA Coordinators for each facility and statewide;
- ensuring that inmates with mental health disabilities have equal access to educational and rehabilitative classes and programs;
- offering life skills / adaptive behavior classes for inmates with intellectual disabilities;
- putting in place procedures for requesting ADA accommodations and for appealing denials of such requests; and
- permitting the Alabama Disabilities Advocacy Program (“ADAP”) to monitor ADOC’s compliance with the Settlement Agreement.

The settlement agreement requires the ADOC to pay fees to the court-approved monitor and attorneys’ fees to the lawyers who represented the class members.

You have the right to learn more about the settlement agreement. A copy is available in your prison law library. If there isn’t a library, the settlement agreement will be available in the area where other inmate information is made available in your facility. If you are unable to visit the law library or other area, you may request a copy of the settlement agreement from a correctional officer or class counsel and one will be provided to you.

4. Who represents the inmates affected by the settlement?

The lawyers representing the inmates (“Class Counsel”) are Maria V. Morris of Southern Poverty Law Center, 400 Washington Avenue, Montgomery, AL 36104 and William Van Der Pol, Jr. of the Alabama Disabilities Advocacy Program, Box 870395, Tuscaloosa, AL 35487.

5. What are your options?

The United States District Court for the Middle District of Alabama has preliminarily approved the settlement agreement but will hold a hearing to determine whether it is fair, reasonable, and adequate at _____ on _____, 2017, at the United States Courthouse, One Church Street, Montgomery, Alabama. If you wish to testify, say so on the comment form you submit. The court will choose which inmates will be allowed to testify. The inmates who have been selected to testify will speak to the court by videoconference from an ADOC facility, and will not appear in court in person.
