----- Other Help For -----

- File a Claim with BP
- Individuals & Families
- Businesses
- Communities

BP is accountable for processing and paying all removal costs and applicable damages incurred by individuals, businesses and communities as a result of the BP oil spill. If you think you might be eligible to file a claim with BP, please CLICK HERE to go to BP's website (<http://www.BP.com/>) and file an online claim, or call 1-800-440-0858 to file a claim with BP by phone.

If you need additional assistance beyond the BP claims process, please click on the "Individuals and Families" tab above. Small businesses and local communities can also find resources by clicking on the tabs to the right.

Who is Eligible?

You may be eligible for claims from BP if you have:

- Property damage by the oil spill or the clean up efforts (example: damage to a boat)
- Loss of income/earning capacity (example: Lost your job or had your hours cut because of the spill --fishermen, workers in seafood industry, workers in hotels or restaurants)
- Net loss of profits or earnings from a business you own (example: boat owners, hotel owners, restaurant owners)
- Subsistence loss (example: can no longer catch fish to feed your family)
- Removal and Clean up costs for your own property (example: costs related to cleaning oil from a dock you own)
- Bodily injury (BP will evaluate all claims for injury or illness on an individual basis)

If you aren't sure if you are eligible, you should call the BP hotline (1-800-440-0858) or file a claim online CLICK HERE. A claims representative will contact you to discuss your case, get more information, and explain the eligibility rules.

Examples of Potential Claims for Governments

- Natural resource damage (example: restoring a wildlife refuge)
- Cost of increased public services (example: emergency traffic control due to oil spill response)
- Net loss of government revenue (example: loss of parking fees during public beach closures)
