MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

On January 27, 2017, Plaintiff Prince L. Williams, Jr. (hereinafter, “the Plaintiff”) filed and served a motion for attorney’s fees under the Equal Access to Justice Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2412 (“EAJA”) and Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 54(d)(2) (Doc. 21), along with a supporting memorandum (Doc. 22), requesting an award of $861.03 in attorney’s fees from the Defendant Commissioner of Social Security (“the Commissioner”). The Commissioner has filed no response to the motion, and the time to do so has passed (see Doc. 23). Upon consideration, the Court finds the Plaintiff’s motion for attorney’s fees (Doc. 21) is due to be GRANTED.<sup>1</sup>

I. Analysis

“The EAJA provides that the district court ‘shall award to the prevailing party other than the United States fees and other expenses ... incurred by that party in any civil action (other than cases sounding in tort), including proceedings for judicial review of agency action, brought by or against the United States ..., unless the court finds that the position of the United States was substantially justified or that special circumstances make an award unjust.’” Newsome v. Shalala, 8 F.3d 775, 777 (11th Cir. 1993) (quoting 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(1)(A)-(B)) (footnotes omitted). “[T]hree statutory conditions must be satisfied before a district court can award EAJA attorney's fees. First, the claimant must file an application for fees within thirty days of final judgment in the action... Second, assuming the fee application was timely filed, the claimant must qualify as a prevailing party... Finally, if the claimant is a prevailing party who timely filed an EAJA fee application, then the claimant is entitled to receive attorney's fees unless the government can establish that its positions were substantially justified or that there exist special circumstances which countenance against the awarding of fees.” Myers v. Sullivan, 916 F.2d 659, 666 (11th Cir. 1990) (citation and quotation marks omitted).

A. Timeliness

“The Equal Access to Justice Act (“EAJA”) provides that a ‘party seeking an award of fees and other expenses shall, within thirty days of final judgment in the action, submit to the court an application for fees and other expenses....’” 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(1)(B) (1982). It is settled that a ‘final judgment’ means that the judgment is final and not appealable. 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(2)(G).” United States v. J.H.T., Inc., 872 F.2d 373, 375 (11th Cir. 1989). “[T]his timely filing requirement is jurisdictional in nature; that is, a claimant’s failure to file an EAJA application within thirty days of a final judgment no longer appealable precludes the district court from considering the merits of the fee application.” Newsome, 8 F.3d at 777 (citing Myers, 916 F.2d at 672–73).

Where, as here, “the district court enters a ‘sentence four’ remand order[ under 42 U.S.C. § 405(g)], that judgment is appealable.” Id. at 778. “[W]hen a remand was pursuant to sentence four, the 30–day filing period for applications for EAJA fees ‘begins after the final judgment (‘affirming, modifying, or reversing’) is entered by the [district] court and the appeal period has run, so that the judgment is no longer appealable.’ ” Id. (quoting Melkonyan v. Sullivan, 501 U.S. 89, 102 (1991)).

The Court entered its “sentence four” remand order and judgment on November 15, 2016. (See Docs. 19, 20). Because a United States officer sued in an official capacity is a party to this action, the last day to appeal that judgment was January 17, 2017. See Fed. R. App. P. 4(a)(1)(B) & 26(a)(1). Because the Plaintiff filed and served his motion ten days later, on January 27, 2017, the motion is timely, and the Court has jurisdiction to consider its merits.

B. Prevailing Party

In this action, the Plaintiff won a remand of a final decision of the Commissioner under sentence four of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g), thus making the Plaintiff a “prevailing party” entitled to EAJA fees. See Shalala v. Schaefer, 509 U.S. 292, 301-02 (1993). “Courts have routinely awarded EAJA attorney’s fees to claimants in Social Security cases who satisfy the statutory conditions.” Newsome, 8 F.3d at

777. See also Myers, 916 F.2d at 666 (“Since the EAJA's enactment, the vast majority of EAJA awards have gone to claimants who succeeded in challenging contrary benefits decisions made by the Secretary of Health and Human Services.”).<sup>2</sup>

C. “Substantially Justified”/Special Circumstances

“The government’s position is substantially justified under the EAJA when it is justified to a degree that would satisfy a reasonable person—i.e. when it has a reasonable basis in both law and fact. The government bears the burden of showing that its position was substantially justified.” United States v. Jones, 125 F.3d 1418, 1425 (11th Cir. 1997) (citations and quotations omitted).

The Commissioner has not attempted to show that the government’s position was substantially justified. Given the Commissioner’s lack of response to the present motion, and there being apparent from the record no special circumstances which countenance against the awarding of fees, the Court finds that the Plaintiff is entitled to an award of fees under EAJA.

However,

[t]he EAJA further provides:

The amount of fees awarded ... shall be based upon prevailing market rates, for the kind and quality of services furnished except that ...

(ii) attorney fees shall not be awarded in excess of $125 per hour unless the court determines that an increase in the cost of living

<sup>2</sup> The Plaintiff’s motion alleges that his “net worth does not exceed two million dollars” (Doc. 21 at 2), and the Commissioner does not dispute this allegation. Accordingly, the Plaintiff qualifies as a “party” for purposes of the EAJA. See 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(2)(B).

or a special factor, such as the limited availability of qualified attorneys for the proceedings involved, justifies a higher fee.

28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(2)(A)(ii) (emphasis added).

In Meyer v. Sullivan, 958 F.2d 1029, 1033 (11th Cir. 1992), [this Circuit] recognized a two-step process for determining the appropriate hourly rate to be applied in calculating attorney's fees under the Act. First, the district court must “determine the market rate for ‘similar services [provided] by lawyers of reasonably comparable skills, experience, and reputation.’” Id. (citation omitted). “The second step, which is needed only if the market rate is greater than [$125] per hour, is to determine whether the court should adjust the hourly fee upward from [$125] to take into account an increase in the cost of living, or a special factor.” Id. at 1033-34.

Brungardt v. Comm'r of Soc. Sec., 234 F. App'x 889, 891 (11th Cir. 2007) (per curiam) (unpublished).

The Plaintiff requests an award of fees based upon a rate of $191.34 per hour for 4.50 hours of time expended on this case. After reviewing the timesheet of Plaintiff's counsel (Doc. 21 at 4), the Court finds the number of billed hours to be reasonable and finds the requested rate to be an appropriate market rate for similar services provided by lawyers of reasonably comparable skills, experience, and reputation.<sup>3</sup> Moreover, the upward adjustment is justified under the formula from this Court's decision in Lucy v. Astrue, which is often used to determine prevailing market rates for EAJA applications.

<sup>3</sup> “The court...is itself an expert on the question and may consider its own knowledge and experience concerning reasonable and proper fees and may form an independent judgment either with or without the aid of witnesses as to value.” Norman v. Hous. Auth. of City of Montgomery, 836 F.2d 1292, 1303 (11th Cir. 1988) (quotation omitted).

District of Alabama has been adjusted to take into account an increase in the cost of living. Lucy v. Astrue, CV 06–147–C, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 97094 (S.D. Ala. July 5, 2007). In Lucy, the following formula, based on the CPI, was utilized:

($125/hour) x (CPI–U<sup>[4]</sup> Annual Average “All Items Index,” South Urban, for month and year of temporal midpoint)/152.4, where 152.4 equals the CPI–U of March 1996, the month and year in which the $125 cap was enacted.

Id. at *12. The “temporal midpoint” is calculated by counting the number of days from the date that the claim was filed to the date of the Magistrate or District Judge's Order and Judgment. Id. at *5–6.

Winters v. Astrue, Civil Action No. 11-00261-CB-B, 2012 WL 1565953, at *2 (S.D. Ala. Apr. 9, 2012), report and recommendation adopted, 2012 WL 1556652 (S.D. Ala. Apr. 30, 2012).

The Complaint in this action was filed on March 1, 2016, and the Court’s Remand Order and Judgment were entered on November 15, 2016. The number of days between those two dates (i.e. excluding the start and end dates) is 258; thus the “temporal midpoint” between those two dates falls in July 2016. The relevant CPI–U for July 2016 was 233.287. Plugging the relevant numbers into the foregoing formula renders the following equation:  $($125 \times 233.287) / 152.4$ . This calculation yields an hourly rate, adjusted for “cost of living” increases, of $191.34, which the Court finds to be an appropriate hourly rate under EAJA to take into account increases in cost of living.

<sup>4</sup> Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor (<http://www.bls.gov/cpi/tables.htm> (last visited Feb. 14, 2017)).

Thus, the Court will award the Plaintiff attorney's fees under EAJA in the amount of $861.03.

II. Conclusion

In accordance with the foregoing analysis, it is ORDERED that the Plaintiff's motion for attorney's fees (Doc. 21) is GRANTED and that the Plaintiff is awarded from the Defendant Commissioner of Social Security $861.03 in attorney's fees under the Equal Access to Justice Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2412.<sup>5</sup>

DONE and ORDERED this the 15th day of February 2017.
