In addition, KOENIG stated that approximately 20% of the images stored in "My Pictures" on his computer would be child pornography.

During the execution of the search warrant, an on-site computer forensics preview examination was performed on the computer belonging to KOENIG and located in his bedroom at the time of execution of the search warrant. The forensic preview revealed numerous child pornographic images. A description of two representative images is as follows:

- 1) A prepubescent female naked from the waist down, sitting on the ground, legs spread, and with her genitals exposed.
- 2) A prepubescent female, totally nude, standing, with her genitals exposed.

The first image referred to above is of a known out-of-state victim, and the image has traveled in interstate commerce. The defendant's computer had access to the internet through Earthlink, which is an internet service provider.
