IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF ARIZONA

Richard William Claxton, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

vs.

Charles L. Ryan, et al.,

Defendants.

No. CV 11-934-PHX-GMS (ECV)

ORDER

On May 10, 2011, Plaintiffs Richard William Claxton, Ronald Dale Birdwell, Jimmy Mamoth, Wayne Prince, Jr., and Thomas James Killinger, who are confined in the Arizona State Prison Complex-Yuma, filed a pro se civil rights Complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 (Doc. 1). None of the Plaintiffs has filed an Application to Proceed In Forma Pauperis or paid the filing fee. The Court will sever the action into separate cases.

The Court will also deny Plaintiffs’ Motion for Class Action Certification (Doc. 2), Motion to Appoint Expert Witness (Doc. 3), Motion to Appoint Counsel (Doc. 4), and Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction (Doc. 6).

I. Severance of Action into Separate Cases

Generally, plaintiffs may join in one action if they assert any right to relief arising out of the same occurrence or series of occurrences and if any question of law or fact in common to all plaintiffs will arise in the action. Fed. R. Civ. P. 20. However, Rule 21 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure authorizes the Court, on just terms, to sever claims. See Desert

1 Empire Bank v. Ins. Co. of N. Am., 623 F.2d 1371, 1375 (9th Cir. 1980) (even if the specific 2 requirements of Rule 20 may be satisfied, a trial court must examine other relevant factors
3 to determine if joinder of a party will comport with principles of fundamental fairness).

4 Even if Plaintiffs in this action are properly joined, the Court has found that 5 management of pro se multi-plaintiff inmate litigation presents significant burdens to both 6 the parties and the Court. Plaintiffs are inmates proceeding pro se, and, although each
7 Plaintiff may appear on his own behalf, none may appear as an attorney for the other. Johns 8 v. County of San Diego, 114 F.3d 874, 877 (9th Cir. 1997). Therefore, during the 9 prosecution of this action, each Plaintiff would be required to sign and submit his own
10 motions and notices related to his claims in the action, and all Plaintiffs would be required 11 to individually sign any motion or notice filed on behalf of all Plaintiffs. However, because 12 of security concerns related to inmate correspondence and face-to-face communications, 13 Plaintiffs would have, at best, very limited opportunities to discuss case strategy, share 14 discovery, or even provide each other copies of the motions and notices they file with the 15 Court. Accordingly, continued administration of the lawsuit by the inmates becomes 16 virtually impossible due to the regulation of inmate-to-inmate correspondence. Moreover, 17 inmates are subject to transfer to a different facility at any time or may be released.

18 With these concerns in mind, the Court concludes that unitary adjudication of 19 Plaintiffs' claims would result in unfairness to Plaintiffs, Defendants, and the Court's goals
20 of achieving judicial economy and maintaining efficient control of the Court's docket.
21 Allowing each Plaintiff to proceed separately would overcome the unfairness created by 22 these circumstances. Therefore, the Court will sever this action into five individual cases and 23 a new case number will be assigned to each individual Plaintiff. A copy of the Complaint
24 (Doc. 1) and this Order will be placed in each new case.

25 The individual Plaintiffs must proceed independently from this point on and will not 26 be regarded as co-plaintiffs, except upon further order of the Court. All further pleadings,
27 motions or other papers submitted for filing by an individual Plaintiff in his separate case
28

1 must be signed by the individual Plaintiff, or they will be stricken.

2 II. Motions

3 A. Class Certification

4 Plaintiffs have filed a Motion for Class Certification. None of the Plaintiffs are 5 attorneys. Although each Plaintiff may appear on his own behalf, he may not appear as an 6 attorney for other persons in a class action. McShane v. United States, 366 F.2d 286, 288
7 (9th Cir. 1966) (nonlawyer had no authority to appear as an attorney for other persons in a
8 purported class action); C.E. Pope Equity Trust v. United States, 818 F.2d 696, 697 (9th 9 Cir.1987) (while a non-attorney may represent himself, he has no authority to appear as an 10 attorney for others); Oxendine v. Williams, 509 F.2d 1405, 1407 (4th Cir. 1975) (plain error
11 to permit an inmate proceeding pro se to represent fellow inmates in a class action). “This 12 rule is an outgrowth not only of the belief that a layman, untutored in the law, cannot 13 ‘adequately represent’ the interests of the members of the ‘class,’ but also out of the long-14 standing general prohibition against even attorneys acting as both class representative and 15 counsel for the class.” Huddleston v. Duckworth, 97 F.R.D. 512, 514 (N.D. Ind. 1983).

16 Further, Plaintiffs have not made a showing that the four prerequisites to a class action
17 under Rule 23(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure i.e., numerosity, commonality, 18 typicality, and adequacy of representation, have been met in this case. The Court will 19 therefore deny the Motion for Class Certification.

20 B. Expert Witness

21 In their “Motion for Appointment of Expert Witness,” Plaintiffs request that the Court
22 appoint an expert witness to evaluate scientific evidence on the health effects of toxic mold
23 and the concentration levels of toxic mold in the Yuma-Cheyenne prison. Plaintiffs’ request
24 is essentially a request for discovery and is therefore premature. Defendants have not yet
25 been served or filed an answer and the Court therefore cannot evaluate discovery requests 26 at this early juncture. The Court will deny the Motion without prejudice.

27 . . .

1 C. Appointment of Counsel

2 There is no constitutional right to the appointment of counsel in a civil case. See Ivey
3 v. Board of Regents of the University of Alaska, 673 F.2d 266, 269 (9th Cir. 1982). In 4 proceedings in forma pauperis, the court may request an attorney to represent any person
5 unable to afford one. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(1). Appointment of counsel under 28 U.S.C.
6 § 1915(e)(1) is required only when “exceptional circumstances” are present. Terrell v.
7 Brewer, 935 F.2d 1015, 1017 (9th Cir. 1991). A determination with respect to exceptional 8 circumstances requires an evaluation of the likelihood of success on the merits as well as the 9 ability of Plaintiff to articulate his claims pro se in light of the complexity of the legal issue
10 involved. Id. “Neither of these factors is dispositive and both must be viewed together 11 before reaching a decision.” Id. (quoting Wilborn v. Escalderon, 789 F.2d 1328, 1331 (9th 12 Cir. 1986)).

13 Having considered both elements, it does not appear at this time that exceptional 14 circumstances are present that would require the appointment of counsel in this case.
15 Plaintiffs are in no different position than many pro se prisoner litigants. The Court will 16 therefore deny without prejudice Plaintiffs’ Motion for Appointment of Counsel.

17 D. Motion for Temporary Restraining Order

18 Temporary restraining orders are governed by Rule 65(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil 19 Procedure. The mailing certificate on Plaintiffs’ motion for a temporary restraining order 20 does not indicate that the motion was served on Defendants. As a result, Plaintiffs appear
21 to seek a temporary restraining order without notice under Rule 65(b) of the Federal Rules
22 of Civil Procedure. The Court may not grant a temporary restraining order without notice
23 unless the applicant certifies to the court in writing the efforts, if any, which have been made 24 to give notice and the reasons that notice should not be required. Fed. R. Civ.P. 65(b).
25 Plaintiffs have not satisfied this requirement. No reason has been offered by Plaintiffs to 26 forgo notice to the adverse party. Accordingly, Plaintiffs’ motion for a temporary restraining 27 order will be denied.
28

1 Even if Plaintiffs had met the procedural requirements for issuing a temporary 2 restraining order, Plaintiffs have not demonstrated that injunctive relief is appropriate in this 3 case. Whether to grant or deny a motion for a temporary restraining order is within the 4 Court's discretion. See Miss Universe, Inc. v. Flesher, 605 F.2d 1130, 1132-33 (9th Cir.
5 1979). "The standard for issuing a temporary restraining order is identical to the standard
6 for issuing a preliminary injunction." Whitman v. Hawaiian Tug & Barge
7 Corporation/Young Bros., Ltd. Salaried Pension Plan, 27 F. Supp. 2d 1225, 1228 (D. Haw.
8 1998). To obtain a preliminary injunction, the moving party must show "that he is likely to 9 succeed on the merits, that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the absence of 10 preliminary relief, that the balance of equities tips in his favor, and that an injunction is in 11 the public interest." Winter v. Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc., 129 S. Ct. 365, 374
12 (2008). The moving party has the burden of proof on each element of the test.
13 Environmental Council of Sacramento v. Slater, 184 F. Supp. 2d 1016, 1027 (E.D. Cal.
14 2000).

15 In this case, Plaintiffs have not made a specific request for injunctive relief. Plaintiffs 16 state only that they are seeking an injunction, they have not specified precisely what they 17 want the Court to prohibit Defendants from doing. Moreover, Plaintiffs' claims for relief 18 involve their conditions of confinement and long term exposure to overcrowded and 19 unsanitary conditions. Plaintiffs have not demonstrated an immediate, irreparable harm as 20 required to obtain injunctive relief. The Court will deny the Motion for Temporary 21 Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction.

22 III. Warnings

23 A. Address Changes

24 Plaintiffs must file and serve a notice of a change of address in accordance with Rule
25 83.3(d) of the Local Rules of Civil Procedure. Plaintiffs must not include a motion for other 26 relief with a notice of change of address. Failure to comply may result in dismissal of their 27 action.
