IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT WESTERN DISTRICT OF ARKANSAS HARRISON DIVISION

JUNE E. MEAD PLAINTIFF

v. CIVIL NO. 3:18-CV-3085

ANDREW M. SAUL, <sup>1</sup> Commissioner, Social Security Administration

DEFENDANT

MEMORANDUM OPINION

Plaintiff, June E. Mead, brings this action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 405(g), seeking judicial review of a decision of the Commissioner of the Social Security Administration (Commissioner) denying her claim for a period of disability and disability insurance benefits (DIB) under the provisions of Title II of the Social Security Act (Act). In this judicial review, the Court must determine whether there is substantial evidence in the administrative record to support the Commissioner's decision. See 42 U.S.C. § 405(g).

Plaintiff protectively filed her current application for DIB on July 24, 2015, alleging an inability to work since July 23, 2015, due to low back pain, pain down both legs, spams in her back, depression, inability to sit for long periods of time, inability to stand for long periods of time, inability to walk for long periods of time, inability to concentrate due to pain, and arthritis. (Tr. 53-54, 62-63). For DIB purposes, Plaintiff maintained insured status through

December 31, 2019. (Tr. 53, 62). An administrative hearing was held on October 3, 2016, at which Plaintiff appeared and testified. (Tr. 32-46). Jim Spraggins, vocational expert (VE), was also present testified, as well as Steve Mead, Plaintiff's husband. (Tr. 46-51).

By written decision dated November 21, 2017, the ALJ found that during the relevant time period, Plaintiff had severe impairments of unspecified arthropathies and chronic back pain. (Tr. 17-18). However, after reviewing all of the evidence presented, the ALJ determined that Plaintiff's impairment did not meet or equal the level of severity of any impairment listed in the Listing of Impairments found in Appendix I, Subpart P, Regulation No. 4. (Tr. 18-19). The ALJ found that Plaintiff retained the residual functional capacity (RFC) to perform a full range of light work as defined in 20 CFR 404.1567(b). (Tr. 19-21). With the help of a vocational expert (VE), the ALJ determined that Plaintiff was able to perform her past relevant work as a procurement clerk. (Tr. 21). The ALJ concluded that the Plaintiff had not been under a disability, as defined in the Social Security Act, from July 23, 2015, the alleged onset date, through November 21, 2017, the date of the decision. (Tr. 21).

Plaintiff then requested a review of the hearing decision by the Appeals Council, and that request was denied on June 18, 2018. (Tr. 1-6). Subsequently, Plaintiff filed this action. (Doc. 1). This case is before the undersigned pursuant to the consent of the parties. (Doc. 7). Both parties have filed appeal briefs, and the case is now ready for decision. (Docs. 14, 15).

This Court's role is to determine whether the Commissioner's findings are supported by substantial evidence on the record as a whole. Ramirez v. Barnhart, 292 F.3d 576, 583 (8th Cir. 2002). Substantial evidence is less than a preponderance but it is enough that a reasonable mind would find it adequate to support the Commissioner's decision. The ALJ's decision must be affirmed if the record contains substantial evidence to support it. Edwards v. Barnhart, 314

F.3d 964, 966 (8th Cir. 2003). As long as there is substantial evidence in the record that supports the Commissioner's decision, the Court may not reverse it simply because substantial evidence exists in the record that would have supported a contrary outcome, or because the Court would have decided the case differently. Haley v. Massanari, 258 F.3d 742, 747 (8th Cir. 2001). In other words, if after reviewing the record it is possible to draw two inconsistent positions from the evidence and one of those positions represents the findings of the ALJ, the decision of the ALJ must be affirmed. Young v. Apfel, 221 F.3d 1065, 1068 (8th Cir. 2000).

The Court has reviewed the entire transcript and the parties' briefs. For the reasons stated in the ALJ's well-reasoned opinion and the Government's brief, the Court finds

Plaintiff's arguments on appeal to be without merit and finds that the record as a whole reflects substantial evidence to support the ALJ's decision. Accordingly, the ALJ's decision is hereby summarily affirmed and Plaintiff's Complaint is dismissed with prejudice. See Sledge v.

Astrue, No. 08-0089, 2008 WL 4816675 (W.D. Mo. Oct. 31, 2008) (summarily affirming ALJ's denial of disability benefits), aff'd, 364 Fed. Appx. 307 (8th Cir. 2010).

IT IS SO ORDERED AND ADJUDGED this 25th day of July, 2019.
