1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 36(a)(6) and Local Rule 37-2.1, Defendant
3 and Counterclaimant Google Inc. (“Google”) and Plaintiff Perfect 10, Inc. (“Perfect
4 10”) submit the following joint stipulation regarding Google’s Motion to Determine
5 the Sufficiency of Perfect 10’s Responses to Google’s Requests for Admission, Sets 1
6 and 2. Google’s Requests for Admission and Perfect 10’s responses are attached to 7 the accompanying Declaration of Rachel M. Herrick in Support of Google’s Motion
8 to Compel (“Herrick Decl.”), at Exhs. A, B, C, & D. Pursuant to Local Rule 37-1, 9 the parties conducted a pre-filing conference of counsel on May 23, 2008 (by letter),
10 August 8, 2008 (by letter), September 17, 2008, and on various dates thereafter. See 11 Herrick Decl., Exhs. E, F & G.

12 A. GOOGLE’S PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

13 Google moves for a determination regarding the insufficiency of Perfect
14 10’s responses to Google’s Requests for Admission. Perfect 10 has brought a 15 sprawling and complex intellectual property lawsuit against Google, in which it 16 asserts numerous state and federal claims, publicity rights on behalf of nine persons, 17 and allegations of millions of supposed infringements of over 1000 copyright
18 registrations (which purportedly include over 30,000 distinct images). Perfect 10
19 further claims to have sent Google more than 70 purported DMCA notices, allegedly 20 complaining of over one million infringements. Despite the massive dimensions of 21 its claims, Perfect 10 has consistently failed to meet its corresponding responsibility
22 to respond to properly propounded requests for admission which, if adequately 23 answered, would narrow the range of issues for dispositive motion and trial.

24 To date, Google has propounded several hundred Requests concerning 25 issues going to the very core of Perfect 10’s case, including Perfect 10’s own alleged 26 copyrighted works being asserted here, its registrations, its finances, and its purported 27 DMCA notices. Perfect 10's responses have been deficient in numerous respects, and

1 despite extensive meet and confer efforts, the parties have been unable to resolve 2 their dispute.

3 This motion addresses Perfect 10's 786 deficient responses. Of these,
4 645 of the Requests sought admissions regarding the content and sufficiency of 72 of 5 Perfect 10's purported DMCA notices. Google propounded these Requests in order to 6 narrow the disputed facts regarding Perfect 10's alleged DMCA notices, in advance of 7 Google's filing of a motion for partial summary judgment on Google's entitlement to 8 DMCA safe harbor. Despite their clear relevance, and the fact that information
9 regarding Perfect 10's own notices is well within its knowledge, Perfect 10 objected
10 to these Requests, responding deficiently to 167 of them, and flatly refusing to 11 respond to the remaining 478.

12 The remaining 141 Requests at issue in this motion seek admissions
13 designed to narrow the disputed issues regarding Perfect 10's asserted works, Perfect
14 10's claimed damages, Google's qualification for DMCA safe harbors, and Perfect
15 10's theories of liability with respect to its various copyright claims against Google.
16 Indeed, several of these categories of Requests target information that Judge Matz has 17 agreed are appropriately and efficiently obtained via requests for admission. See 18 Herrick Decl., Exh. H (10/6/08 Status Conference Transcript, p. 48) (describing use 19 of requests for admission as "a very direct, informal and cheap way of narrowing the 20 issues. So go ahead and do it. I encourage that."). Nevertheless, in derogation of 21 Rule 36 and Judge Matz's guidance, Perfect 10 has either responded deficiently, or 22 has failed to provide any substantive response whatsoever to these Requests for 23 Admission. Where Perfect 10 did attempt a response, its responses are evasive and 24 incomplete, containing non-responsive commentary, boilerplate statements, 25 inflammatory argument apparently designed to render the answers unusable and 26 meritless objections.

1 Perfect 10's conduct here is unacceptable. "The purpose of Rule 36(a) is 2 to expedite trial by establishing certain material facts as true and thus narrowing the 3 range of issues for trial." Asea, Inc. v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co., 669 F.2d
4 1242, 1245 (9th Cir. 1982). "Parties may not view requests for admission as a mere 5 procedural exercise requiring minimally acceptable conduct. They should focus on 6 the goal of the Rules, full and efficient discovery, not evasion and word play."
7 Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr., 22 F.3d 933, 936-37 (9th Cir. 1994). When a party
8 receives deficient responses to its Requests for Admission, it "may move to 9 determine the sufficiency of an answer or objection." Fed. R. Civ. P. 36(a)(6). If the 10 Court determines that the response is insufficient or that objections are not justified, 11 the Court "may order either that the matter is admitted or that an amended answer be 12 served." Id. The decision as to whether requests should be deemed admitted or the 13 responding party should be ordered to serve an amended answer "is left to the sound 14 discretion of the district judge [or magistrate]." Asea, 669 F.2d at 1247.

15 Perfect 10's responses are deficient. Perfect 10's chief complaint is that 16 Google's requests are burdensome. Though Google agrees that responding to them
17 will take time, that burden certainly is not undue. Both parties have served a large
18 number of requests for admission in this case. Perfect 10 itself has served 715
19 requests (which Google answered), and Google has served 962. Serving a large 20 number of requests for admission covering many discrete factual issues in a complex, 21 far ranging case like this one "is not inappropriate, since the purpose of Requests for 22 Admissions is not necessarily to obtain information but to narrow issues for 23 trial." Diedrich v. Dept. of Army, 132 F.R.D. 614, 616 (S.D.N.Y. 1990). Perfect
24 10's flat refusal to respond to fully half of Google's Requests for Admission and its 25 evasive, insufficient, and incomplete responses to several hundred more ignore
26 Perfect 10's obligations under Rule 36.

1 During the meet and confer process regarding these Requests, P10
2 refused to agree to respond to the 478 Requests regarding Perfect 10's DMCA notices
3 unless Google agreed to withdraw several hundred of them. As for Perfect 10's
4 deficient responses to the remaining 308 Requests at issue in this motion, Perfect 10 5 refused to provide a concrete position regarding whether or how it might agree to 6 amend those responses, despite Google's several months of meet and confer efforts.
7 Perfect 10 initially stated that it would consider amending one or more of the 8 responses to Google's Second Set of Requests for Admission identified in Sections 9 III, IV and V below, but later changed its position and refused to amend any of those 10 responses. As for Google's First Set of Requests for Admission, Perfect 10 has 11 refused to identify (1) which responses (if any) it would consider amending, (2)
12 whether those amendments (if any) would address the deficiencies Google had noted, 13 or (3) a date certain by which the amendments would be served. Thus, Google was 14 left with no choice but to proceed with this motion. Perfect 10 has no basis for its 15 failure to respond to relevant and properly propounded requests for admission.
16 Google's motion should be granted.

17 B. PERFECT 10'S PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

18 1. Google's Requests For Admissions Violate This Court's 19 Recent Orders And Directives.

20 Google's almost 500-page Joint Stipulation (Perfect 10 contributes about 10 21 pages) is yet another example of its abuse of the discovery process in the hope of 22 winning the case by dumping a non-ending mountain of busywork on Perfect 10.
23 Google even went so far as to demand that Perfect 10 conduct a one hour meet and 24 confer on the very day that Perfect 10 had to file its supplemental response to Judge
25 Matz's order regarding additional briefing on A9's motion for summary judgment, 26 and Perfect 10 complied.

1 Perfect 10 has answered 484 of Google's requests and offered to answer 100
2 more of Google's choice. Although each request will require additional work by 3 Perfect 10, Google's requests are highly redundant and the answers to 100 additional 4 requests would provide Google with the information it seeks. This is precisely the 5 approach that has been suggested by Judge Matz.

6 Google's 962 requests for admission are antithetical to this Court's recent 7 Orders and directives and the goals and methodology in them. Instead of engaging in 8 necessary, circumscribed discovery, Google is manufacturing new disputes and 9 dusting-off old discovery disputes. Part of Google's arsenal is its 962 requests for 10 admissions.

11 This Court specifically directed the parties to engage in "circumscribed"
12 discovery and to use a sampling approach. The Court set "objectives -- i.e., summary 13 judgment and settlement readiness -- [to be achieved] without 'going the distance' via 14 full-fledged, uncircumscribed discovery." (Exh. A to the Kincaid Decl.; September 15 25, 2008 Order, p. 2.) At the hearing on October 6, 2008, Google's lead counsel, 16 Michael Zeller, argued that the Court should not use this approach, and the Court
17 disagreed. (See, e.g., Exhibit B to the Kincaid Decl.; Transcript of 10/06/08 hearing, 18 p. 18, ll. 4 - 20.) In fact, the Court indicated a willingness to put a complete stay on 19 discovery. (Exh. B to the Kincaid Decl.; Id., p. 38, ll. 7 - 19.)

20 The Court's September 25, 2008 Order requires focused discovery with "the 21 goal" of preparing the cases for summary judgment/settlement talks. The Order 22 contemplates that the parties will undertake discovery work in an orderly procession - 23 - (1) identification of the copyrighted works; (2) figuring out what goes in the 24 spreadsheet; (3) figuring out a proper sample; and (4) preparing a spreadsheet -- to 25 achieve "the goal." Discovery will be limited/primarily focused on the copyrighted 26 works specified in the spreadsheet. Discovery will be based on a sampling method.

27 ("The parties in all these cases somehow succumbed to the all-too-frequent tendency

1 of litigants and lawyers to get side tracked." (Exh. A to the Kincaid Decl.; September
2 25, 2008 Order, p. 1.) The Court's goal is "to ready these cases for Rule 56
3 determinations or for meaningful settlement talks." (Id., pp. 1 -2.) Discovery and 4 case assessment will be "based on a sample of the key pertinent facts." The purpose
5 of the conference is to achieve the objectives of summary judgment/settlement
6 readiness "without 'going the distance' via full-fledged, uncircumscribed
7 discovery." (Id., p. 2.) The Court Order contemplates charts "but only for a selected
8 and relatively small sample of copyrighted works." (Id., p. 4; emphasis in the 9 original.) The Court Order states that "After the entries have been made in the 10 spreadsheet, the Court will either limit the discovery to the Perfect 10 Copyrighted
11 Works specified in the spreadsheet or require that discovery be primarily focused on 12 those works." (Id., p. 5.)

13 Google's requests for admission, served long before the Court's recent Orders
14 and directives, should have been tabled altogether. Perfect 10 has unsuccessfully
15 tried to satisfy Google. Perfect 10 responded to 484 of 962 requests for admission, 16 but Google insisted that Perfect 10 answer all 962. Perfect 10 offered to respond to 17 100 additional requests for admission of Google's choice. Google rejected the offer.

18 2. Google's Motion To Compel Responses To The First Set Of 19 Requests For Admission Is Premature.

20 Google has moved to compel responses to requests for admissions in its first 21 set of requests for admissions and in its second set of requests for admissions. The 22 first set contains 241 requests and the second set contains 721 requests. The total
23 number of requests is 962. Perfect 10 answered all 241 requests in the first set and 24 243 requests in the second set. Perfect 10 answered a total of 484 requests.

25 The motion is premature with respect to the first set of requests for admissions.
26 Google served the first set of requests for admissions on April 3, 2008, and Perfect 10
27

1 served its responses on May 5, 2008. Google sent its meet and confer letter regarding
2 the first request on May 23, 2008, and did no follow-up at all until August 8, 2008.
3 Google waited until August 8 to follow-up because that is the day that Google finally,
4 after seven months of delay, served amended responses to its own responses to 5 Perfect 10's requests for admissions. Counsel met and conferred telephonically on 6 October 13, 2008, and at the meet and confer, Google's counsel only asked Perfect
7 10's counsel to specify the requests Perfect 10 would amend. Perfect 10's counsel
8 stated that Perfect 10 would amend various responses but could not identify each one
9 at that time. On Thursday October 16, 2008, Perfect 10's counsel said, in writing, 10 that she would set forth Perfect 10's position shortly, and then, four days later, on 11 October 20, 2008, Google filed this motion. Perfect 10 would have amended certain 12 responses in the first set of requests for admission, but Google filed its motion before
13 Perfect 10 had a chance to do so. (Kincaid Decl., ¶ 2.)

14 Perfect 10 is incorporating this Preliminary Statement and the statement
15 at page 343, line 12 – page 348, line 23 into each of its portions of this Joint 16 Stipulation.

4 Perfect 10 objects to Google's Requests for Admissions Nos. 242 to 962, on
5 the grounds that they are obviously unduly burdensome and propounded to harass and
6 distract Perfect 10 from litigating important issues in the case. Perfect 10 already has 7 expended a great deal of time and effort to respond to the 241 previous requests for
8 admissions in Google's First Set of Requests for Admissions. In addition, Perfect 10
9 has admitted or denied approximately 231 of the 720 requests in the Second Set of

15 Perfect 10 objects to Google's Requests for Admissions Nos. 242 to 962, on 16 the grounds that they are obviously unduly burdensome and propounded to harass and 17 distract Perfect 10 from litigating important issues in the case. Perfect 10 already has 18 expended a great deal of time and effort to respond to the 241 previous requests for 19 admissions in Google's First Set of Requests for Admissions. In addition, Perfect 10
20 has admitted or denied approximately 231 of the 720 requests in the Second Set of 21 Requests for Admissions. Accordingly, Perfect 10 will agree to further respond to 22 only 100 more of these requests, of Google's choice, but not to all 720 of them, if 23 Google will agree to so limit its requests. Perfect 10 is unable to admit or deny all of 24 these 720 requests, including this one, on the grounds that it would take an inordinate
25 amount of time to do so. Perfect 10 further objects to each request for admission to 26 the extent it calls for a legal conclusion, that it is vague and ambiguous, unclear or 27 unintelligible, unduly burdensome, unanswerable, and/or irrelevant.

20 Perfect 10 objects to Google’s Requests for Admissions Nos. 242 to 962, on 21 the grounds that they are obviously unduly burdensome and propounded to harass and 22 distract Perfect 10 from litigating important issues in the case. Perfect 10 already has

26 Requests for Admissions. Accordingly, Perfect 10 will agree to further respond to 27 only 100 more of these requests, of Google’s choice, but not to all 720 of them, if

1 Google will agree to so limit its requests. Perfect 10 is unable to admit or deny all of

5 unintelligible, unduly burdensome, unanswerable, and/or irrelevant.

11 B. GOOGLE’S POSITION :

12 Each of the 478 Requests set forth above, for which Perfect 10 failed to 13 provide any substantive response, seek legally significant information about Perfect
14 10’s 72 purported DMCA notices. They seek admissions as to the contents of Perfect
15 10’s DMCA-related communications to Google—specifically, what copyrighted
16 works were identified, if any, in Perfect 10’s communications, whether the 17 communications satisfy the requirements of the DMCA, and how Perfect 10 claims 18 the notices identified the alleged infringements (if they did). The issues covered by 19 these Requests are critical to Google's DMCA safe harbor defense, which Google
20 intends to move for summary judgment on, and are squarely within Perfect 10's
21 knowledge. Perfect 10 has no basis for not answering them.

22 1. Perfect 10 Has Improperly Failed to Provide Any Substantive
23 Response to 478 Requests.

24 Rather than answer these 478 Requests, or specify why it could not 25 respond to the requests as worded (if that were the case), Perfect 10 instead cut and 26 pasted the same boilerplate colloquy and objections to each one, as follows:

1 Perfect 10 objects to Google’s Requests for Admissions
2 Nos. 242 to 962, on the grounds that they are obviously
3 unduly burdensome and propounded to harass and distract
4 Perfect 10 from litigating important issues in the case.
5 Perfect 10 already has expended a great deal of time and 6 effort to respond to the 241 previous requests for 7 admissions in Google’s First Set of Requests for 8 Admissions. In addition, Perfect 10 has admitted or denied 9 approximately 231 of the 720 requests in the Second Set of 10 Requests for Admissions. Accordingly, Perfect 10 will 11 agree to further respond to only 100 more of these requests,
12 of Google’s choice, but not to all 720 of them, if Google
13 will agree to so limit its requests. Perfect 10 is unable to 14 admit or deny all of these 720 requests, including this one,
15 on the grounds that it would take an inordinate amount of 16 time to do so. Perfect 10 further objects to each request for 17 admission to the extent it calls for a legal conclusion, that it 18 is vague and ambiguous, unclear or unintelligible, unduly
19 burdensome, unanswerable, and/or irrelevant.

20 Perfect 10’s wholesale refusal to provide an individualized response to 478 of 21 Google’s proper Requests violates the letter and spirit of Rule 36. Rule 36 provides 22 that “[i]f a matter is not admitted, the answer must specifically deny it or state in 23 detail why the answering party cannot truthfully admit or deny it.” Fed. R. Civ. P.
24 36(a)(4); see also Marchand, 22 F.3d at 938 (party has a duty to respond to requests 25 for admission and in doing so, must “admit to the fullest extent possible, and explain 26 in detail why other portions of a request may not be admitted.”)

27 Perfect 10’s boilerplate statements and objections regarding these 28 Requests do not satisfy Perfect 10’s obligations under Rule 36. Courts routinely find 29 these types of boilerplate objections insufficient. See Henry v. Champlain 30 Enterprises, Inc., 212 F.R.D. 73, 78 (N.D.N.Y. 2003) (“objections must be directed 31 and specifically related to a specific request ... [g]eneral objections without any

1 reference to a specific request to admit are meritless”). This Court should do the 2 same here.

3 Perfect 10’s boilerplate objections are also devoid of merit. For 4 example, Perfect 10 repeatedly states that Google’s requests are “obviously unduly 5 burdensome and propounded to harass and distract Perfect 10.” To the contrary, it is 6 obvious that they were not. Google is entitled to admissions regarding each and 7 every purported DMCA notice Perfect 10 claims to have sent. The volume of 8 Requests Google propounded on this subject is entirely a function of the volume of 9 alleged notices Perfect 10 sent and the scope of Perfect 10's own infringement claims.
10 Further, Perfect 10's objections that the requests are “vague and ambiguous, unclear 11 or unintelligible, unduly burdensome, unanswerable, and/or irrelevant” (emphasis 12 added) don't actually state which objections (if any) apply to a given request. Nor 13 does Perfect 10 offer any explanation or support for these cut-and-paste objections.

14 Repeating this language after each of Google’s Requests is tantamount
15 to providing no response at all, and is clearly insufficient under Rule 36. “[G]eneral
16 or boilerplate objections such as ‘overly burdensome and harassing’ are improper-17 especially when a party fails to submit any evidentiary declarations supporting such 18 objections. ... Similarly, boilerplate relevancy objections, without setting forth any 19 explanation or argument why the requested documents are not relevant, are 20 improper.” A. Farber and Partners, Inc. v. Garber, 234 F.R.D. 186, 188 (C.D.Cal.
21 2006).

22 As for Perfect 10’s boilerplate statement that it “is unable to admit or 23 deny all of these 720 requests, including this one, on the grounds that it would take an 24 inordinate amount of time to do so,” this too is an improper objection. A party may 25 only assert that it lacks the ability to admit or deny a request if that objection is based 26 on “lack of knowledge or information” and the party was unable to ascertain the 27 necessary information through a reasonable inquiry. Fed. R. Civ. P. 36(a)(4); see

1 Asea, Inc. v. Southern Pacific Transportation Co., 669 F.2d at 1246 (“a party may not
2 give lack of information as a reason for failure to admit or deny unless he states that 3 he has made reasonable inquiry”). A party may not assert this statement merely on 4 the basis that responding would take a long time, as Perfect 10 has done here. See
5 Diedrich, 132 F.R.D. at 616 (holding that “the extent to which attorneys’
6 investigation of the facts is necessary or burdensome is not a basis for objection” 7 where the information is “reasonably available to the answering party”) (emphasis in 8 original).

9 Plainly, Perfect 10 has failed to conduct a reasonable inquiry in 10 responding to these Requests. A few examples illustrate the lack of merit in Perfect 11 10’s refusal to answer these basic requests. For instance, Google’s Request for 12 Admission No. 956 asks Perfect 10 to “[a]dmit that more than one thousand IMAGES 13 are currently displayed at perfect10.com.” Perfect 10 easily could have admitted or 14 denied this Request based on readily accessible information but, instead, responded 15 with the same boilerplate languages as it did for each of these 478 requests.
16 Similarly, Google’s Request for Admission No. 720 asks Perfect 10 to “[a]dmit that 17 Norman Zada’s COMMUNICATION dated March 20, 2007 was addressed to 18 GOOGLE’S Board of Directors, not GOOGLE’S designated agent for accepting 19 DMCA complaints.” Again, Perfect 10 refused to answer a basic question regarding 20 a purported DMCA notice that has important legal significance with respect to 21 Google’s potential liability for any copyright infringement and is highly material to 22 its anticipated motion for summary judgment. Perfect 10’s refusal to respond to basic 23 discovery requests concerning its own DMCA notices should not be sustained.

24 2. These 478 Requests Should be Deemed Admitted.

25 Given Perfect 10’s failure to respond to these requests, this Court should 26 deem them admitted in full. A response consisting of boilerplate objections and 27 statements of inability to admit or deny a request without detailed reasons why the

1 party cannot truthfully admit or deny the request after a reasonable inquiry may be
2 deemed an admission under Rule 36(a). See Asea, 669 F.2d. at 1245 (“an evasive
3 denial, one that does not specifically deny the matter, or a response that does not set 4 forth in detail the reasons why the answering party cannot truthfully admit or deny
5 the matter, may be deemed an admission”). In Garber, the court ordered requests
6 admitted when Garber failed to demonstrate that he made a reasonable inquiry in 7 responding to the requests and responded with only boilerplate objections and 8 “evasive and incomplete” responses. 237 F.R.D. at 267-257.

9 Here, for these 478 Requests, Perfect 10’s responses are more than 10 “evasive and incomplete”—they are substantively non-existent. In pasting the same
11 boilerplate refusal to respond to each request, Perfect 10 offered no individualized
12 reasons why it could not respond to specific requests, and offered no indication that it 13 had made any inquiry (much less a reasonable inquiry) into the matters requested.
14 These 478 Requests for Admission should be ordered admitted.

15 3. Alternatively, Perfect 10 should be ordered to provide 16 substantive responses to these 478 requests without delay.

17 In the alternative, if the Court elects to order that Perfect 10 serve 18 substantive responses to these requests rather than order the requests admitted,
19 Google asks that the order specify that Perfect 10 must make an admission or denial
20 which “fairly responds to the substance of the request,” as Rule 36 requires. These 21 requests target core issues in this case—the deficiencies in Perfect 10’s purported 22 DMCA notices, and Google’s corresponding entitlement to safe harbor under the 23 DMCA. The Court, Perfect 10, and Google will benefit from establishing which facts 24
25
26
27

1 concerning Perfect 10's purported DMCA notices that Perfect 10 purports to dispute
2 in advance of the summary judgment motion Google intends to file on this issue.¹

3 Perfect 10 should not be excused from providing substantive responses
4 to Google's Requests based on its objection to the number of requests Google has 5 served. The burden associated with Google's Requests for Admission is not undue.
6 Perfect 10 chose to send more than 70 alleged DMCA notices to Google, and then
7 chose to sue upon them. For each alleged DMCA notice, Google propounded only 8 approximately nine Requests asking for information relevant to each notice, and the 9 elements that must be shown under the DMCA for a notice to be valid. Each request
10 was directed toward discrete facts. Had Perfect 10 sent fewer notices, fewer requests
11 would have been necessary. The volume of requests Google sent is entirely a 12 function of the scope of the case Perfect 10 has elected to bring, and any associated 13 burden in answering them is not undue. A large number of requests corresponding to 14 important factual issues is quite appropriate in a case as complex as this one.

15 Moreover, the fact that Perfect 10 itself has served -- and Google has 16 answered -- 715 requests for admission undermines any argument of undue burden 17 that Perfect 10 would make with respect to these 478 unanswered Requests for 18 Admission.

19 Finally, during the parties' meet and confer efforts, Perfect 10 staunchly
20 refused to provide responses to these 478 Requests unless Google agreed to withdraw

23 ¹ Perfect 10 clearly could respond to Google's Requests for Admission with 24 information readily obtainable to it. Any attempt by Perfect 10 to amend its 25 responses and claim that, after making a reasonable inquiry, it lacks the information
26 to respond to these 478 requests would be disingenuous and unacceptable under Rule 27 36. All 478 requests concern the content of Perfect 10's own communications to 28 Google.

1 many of them. At no time did Perfect 10 provide any authority or justification for its 2 decision to completely ignore these validly propounded Requests.

3 Given (1) Perfect 10's failure to answer these 478 Requests, (2) Perfect 4 10's lack of cooperation in meet and confer efforts to address its insufficient
5 responses, (3) Perfect 10's ability to admit or deny the requests based on readily
6 accessible information, and (4) the fact that these 478 requests pose no undue burden
7 to Perfect 10 in light of the complexity and scope of its case, this Court should order
8 that these 478 Requests be deemed admitted, or alternatively, order that Perfect 10
9 fully and truthfully admit or deny each of these 478 Requests without objection.

10 C. PERFECT 10'S POSITION :

11 Perfect 10 incorporates its Preliminary Statement (Joint Stipulation, page 4 line 12 17 to page 7, line 16) into this Section, along with the following.

13 1. Perfect 10 Could Not Immediately Amend Its Responses
14 Because Of Its Obligations In These Consolidated Cases And 15 Google's Strategy To Overload Perfect 10 With Make Work.

16 At the October 6, 2008 hearing, the Court indicated a willingness to limit
17 discovery or even stay it. In response, Google has dug up every conceivable issue
18 and is rabidly filing motions to compel. Since the October 6, 2008 hearing, Google 19 has sent Perfect 10 numerous correspondence about discovery matters and has 20 demanded to meet and confer about issues it never raised prior to October 6, 2008 or 21 had long forgotten. Since the October 6, 2008 hearing, Google sent counsel for 22 Perfect 10 at least 40 letters and e-mails regarding discovery issues. (Kincaid Decl., ¶ 23 3.)

24 In addition, since the October 6, 2008 hearing, Perfect 10's counsel has been 25 inundated with work. Inter alia, Perfect 10 (1) filed a summary judgment motion
26 against Alexa.com; (2) filed the supplemental briefing, revised statement of genuine 27

1 issues, declarations, and exhibits regarding the A9.com summary judgment motion,
2 as ordered by the Court; (3) filed supplemental briefing in the Amazon action
3 regarding the protective order sought by Amazon; (4) personally met with Andrew
4 Bridges for a full day regarding the Court's discovery plan, as ordered by the Court;
5 (5) served responses to Alexa's first set of interrogatories; (6) served responses to 6 Alexa's first set of document requests and produced documents pursuant to it; (7)
7 attended the hearing on the A9.com summary judgment motion. That's just in these 8 cases; there are other matters, including personal matters, that Perfect 10's counsel
9 has to attend to. Perfect 10's counsel informed Google's counsel that they were 10 extremely busy and could not immediately respond to its every growing list of 11 discovery immediately. That just brought on an even greater onslaught of e-mails
12 and letters demanding discovery, most of which has nothing to do with the important
13 issues in the case. (Kincaid Decl., ¶ 4.)

14 2. Google's Tactics Are Particularly Galling Given Its Own
15 Delays In Amending Responses To Perfect 10's Requests For 16 Admission.

17 Google itself took over seven (7) months to serve amended responses to Perfect
18 10's requests for admissions. As discussed below, those amended responses are 19 wholly deficient, but Perfect 10 has given up on trying to compel Google to do 20 anything. In contrast, Perfect 10's responses are substantive.

21 At the beginning of January 2008, Perfect 10 initiated the meet and confer
22 process regarding Google's responses to requests for admissions. Seven months 23 later, Google finally served amended responses. Ironically, on May 8, 2008 (four 24 months after Perfect 10 initiated the meet and confer process), Google's counsel 25 asked Perfect 10's to not follow-up regarding how much time Google was taking to 26

1 amend its responses to Perfect 10's requests for admissions, and Perfect 10 never 2 followed-up again.

3 On May 8, 2008, Rachel Herrick wrote:

4 "As I explained last week, we have been devoting all of our energies over the 5 past several weeks to Google's document production effort related to the 6 court's recent discovery order. This must take precedence given the court
7 order. I told you that I would follow up with you thereafter, and I will....
8 [W]e had to set aside most other projects during the past several weeks to focus 9 on the document production. We are working on the amended responses and 10 we will serve them as soon as they are complete. This is a large project and it
11 takes time. We would appreciate it if you would refrain from sending repeated 12 follow up emails asking when these amended responses are coming. It is 13 unnecessary....")

14 (Kincaid Decl., Exh. C; E-mail to Valerie Kincaid from Rachel Herrick, dated May 8, 15 2008.)

16 Three months later, on August 8, 2008, Google served deficient amended
17 responses, with numerous qualifications, and concurrently demanded that Perfect 10
18 meet and confer regarding Perfect 10's responses to requests for admissions.

19 (Kincaid Decl., ¶ 5.)

20 3. Google's Requests Are Pointless and Abusive.

21 Requests 244 through 343 are all requests dealing with Perfect 10 DMCA
22 notices from 2001. These requests are particularly abusive, since Google knows that 23 Perfect 10 cannot go back now to determine what was on many of those web pages as 24 they are no longer up or have changed. (This is not because of any action taken by 25 Google, but merely as a result of passage of time.) So the notices basically speak for 26 themselves. Perfect 10 is willing to answer a sampling of requests for admissions in 27

1 this area, to the best of its ability, and that should suffice, since the notices were by
2 and large, very similar, as they contain similar language and content. Google for 3 some reason claims that these notices are somehow relevant to the case. In fact, in 4 2001, a) Google waited until Perfect 10 sent it 16 notices in 2001 before claiming that 5 Google could not do anything, b) Google never suggested that there were any 6 deficiencies in Perfect 10 notices, c) despite being ordered to do so, Google has still 7 not identified the person who sent Perfect 10 the email in July of 2001 claiming that 8 Google could not do anything with respect to taking down infringing material, and d)
9 despite being ordered to do so, Google has still not produced the notices it received 10 from copyright holders in 2001 or any DMCA log relating to those notices. That 11 Perfect 10's notices were sufficient is evidenced by the fact that a) Perfect 10 12 attached actual copies of the infringed images to many of the notices, and b) Google 13 never stated that the notices were deficient or provided any instructions as to how to 14 correct them if they were deficient.

15 Many of Google's other requests basically ask Perfect 10 to go through its 16 various DMCA notices and agree or disagree with Google's characterizations of what 17 was in those notices. Once again, the notices speak for themselves, and to the extent 18 that there are justifiable reasons to seek admissions for certain aspects of certain 19 notices, that can be done with 100 requests, not multiple hundreds as proposed by 20 Google.

21 While Google complains about Perfect 10's responses, it is Google that has 22 demonstrated its disrespect for the legal system by its failure to respond to specific 23 orders of the Court. For example, not only has Google not produced a DMCA log as 24 ordered by Judge Matz, it has also produced essentially no reports relating to Judge
25 Matz's May 13, 2008 order to produce all reports, studies, or internal memoranda
26 ordered, requested or circulated by eleven Google employees and/or officers. Google
27 has also still not responded to this Court's Order dated May 22, 2006 concerning

1 Interrogatory 24. Google has also failed to respond to large numbers of requests for 2 admissions such as, for example, 654, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664,
3 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, and 672. (Kincaid Decl., Exh. D.) In other words,
4 for this sample, Google failed to respond to 17 out of 18 requests. Perfect 10 has 5 given up filing motions to compel – even when Google is ordered to produce
6 discovery it has not done so in many cases.

7 4. This Court Should Limit The Number Of Requests For 8 Admissions And Not Order Perfect 10 To Respond To Any 9 Additional Requests.

10 Perfect 10 objected to 478 Requests for Admissions on various grounds,
11 including that they were unduly burdensome and harassing because Google served
12 almost 1,000 requests for admissions. Google failed to cite a single authority where a 13 court ordered a party to respond to a large number of requests for admissions, let 14 alone almost 1,000 requests for admissions. Without citing any authority, Google 15 asserts that, no matter how many requests for admissions are propounded, the 16 answering party must respond.

17 Rule 26 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure specifically states that a court
18 may limit the number of requests for admissions. “By order or local rule, the court 19 may [also] limit the number of requests under Rule 36.” (Fed.R.Civ.Pro.
20 26(b)(2)(A).) Importantly, “Rule 26 contains the central provisions on scope of 21 discovery that control all of the particular discovery devices.” (8 Charles A. Wright
22 and Arthur R. Miller, Federal Practice & Procedure 2nd §2001 (2008); see also 23 McCloud v. Board of Geary County Commissioners, 2008 WL 3502436, *3 (D.Kan.) 24 (“...large numbers of requests for admissions may be unduly burdensome depending 25 on the facts and circumstances of the particular case. ...[L]arge numbers of requests 26 for admission may also be part of a ‘scorched earth’ discovery strategy designed to

1 overwhelm an opponent, particularly where the requests are of marginal relevance”)
2 (internal citations omitted).

3 Permitting extremely large number of requests for admission is the exception
4 rather than the rule. “Large numbers of requests are sometimes permitted in 5 especially complex cases.” (Solomon S.A. v. Alpina Sports Corp. 737 F. Supp.
6 720,726 (D.New Hampshire 1990)(emphasis added)).

7 Perfect 10 already has answered 478 requests and should not be ordered to 8 respond to any additional ones. The requests derogate the Court’s Orders and 9 directives about circumscribed discovery.

10 5. The 478 Requests Should Not Be Deemed Admitted

11 Perfect 10’s responses to the 478 requests for admissions are not evasive and 12 do not, by any reasonable discretionary standard, justify a decision that the requests
13 be deemed “admitted.” Perfect 10’s responses were clear and straightforward; it 14 objected that the extremely high number of requests were burdensome and harassing.
15 Moreover, Perfect 10 offered, directly in its responses, to respond to 100 of the 16 requests of Google’s choice. Neither Asea, Inc., v. Southern Pacific Transportation
17 Co., 669 F.2d 1242 (1981) nor Marchand v. Mercy Medical Center, 22 F.3d
18 933(1994), cited by Google, address situations where there are non-evasive responses
19 and when the answering party further volunteers to respond to additional requests.
20 Moreover, nothing should be deemed admitted because Google’s requests contravene 21 the court’s order that the parties engage in circumscribed discovery.

22 III. ISSUE NO. 2: SHOULD P10 BE COMPELLED TO REMOVE NON-
23 RESPONSIVE COMMENTARY IN ITS RESPONSES?

24 A. THE REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION AT ISSUE

25 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 17:

26 Admit that GOOGLE does not index the password-protected area of 27 perfect10.com.

1 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 17:

2 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Google does provide links to infringing
3 images which come from the password-protected area of perfect10.com. Perfect 10
4 lacks information and knowledge regarding what Google does and does not index;
5 Google would have that information.

6 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 18:

7 Admit that PERFECT 10 is aware that it can use robot exclusion headers to 8 prevent GOOGLE from indexing PERFECT 10'S WEBSITES.

9 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 18:

10 Objection: Vague and ambiguous, also irrelevant. Admitted that PERFECT 10 11 is aware that it could use robot exclusion headers, but that would not reduce the 12 damage to Perfect 10's copyrighted works, because Google is knowingly making 13 thousands of Perfect 10's full-size images available for free to Google users.
14 Furthermore, Perfect 10 lacks information and knowledge regarding what Google 15 does when robot exclusion headers are present. The remainder of this request is 16 denied.

17 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 19:

18 Admit that PERFECT 10 has never used robot exclusion headers to prevent 19 GOOGLE from indexing PERFECT 10'S WEBSITES.

20 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 19:

21 Objection: Irrelevant. Admitted that PERFECT 10 has never used robot
22 exclusion headers because that would not reduce the damage done by Google to 23 Perfect 10's copyrighted works.

24 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 28:

25 Admit that GOOGLE's use of THUMBNAIL IMAGES serves a different
26 function than do PERFECT 10's original IMAGES.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 28:

1 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Admitted that GOOGLE's use of other
2 people's copyrighted images serves to make money for Google rather than for the 3 rightful owner of the copyright. The remainder of this request is denied.

4 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 36:

5 Admit that GOOGLE does not use THUMBNAIL IMAGES for purposes of 6 artistic expression.

7 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 36:

8 Objection: This request is unclear. GOOGLE uses what it refers to as 9 THUMBNAIL IMAGES (which are really much larger than a person's thumbnail)
10 for purposes of infringement. Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and information sufficient 11 to enable it to further admit or deny this request; if this request is understandable, it is 12 something that Google would have information on

13 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 37:

14 Admit that the primary use of GOOGLE's THUMBNAIL IMAGES is not for 15 artistic expression.

16 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 37:

17 Objection: This request is unclear. GOOGLE uses what it refers to as
18 THUMBNAIL IMAGES (which are really much larger than a person's thumbnail)
19 for purposes of infringement. There are REDUCED SIZE IMAGES that have artistic 20 expression. Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and information sufficient to enable it to 21 further admit or deny this request; if this request is understandable, it is something
22 that Google would have information on.

23 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 40:

24 Admit that GOOGLE's THUMBNAIL IMAGES are used as a tool to locate .
25 information on the Internet.

26 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 40:

1 Objection: This request is unclear. Denied. There is no justification for using 2 images or anything else to help people locate stolen materials.

3 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 56:

4 Admit that GOOGLE does not control the third-party websites that PERFECT
5 10 alleges infringe its copyrights.

6 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 56:

7 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. GOOGLE has so much power and influence
8 on the Internet that it can effectively control most third party websites. On this basis,
9 Perfect 10 denies the request.

10 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 96:

11 Admit that GOOGLE does not prevent copyright holders from collecting
12 information needed to issue DMCA notifications.

13 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 96:

14 GOOGLE does not make available to copyright holders all of the images that it
15 stores on its servers, and does not assist Perfect 10 in locating infringing images in its 16 indexes and databases. Furthermore, Google has obstructed discovery in this case. On 17 that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

18 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 99:

19 Admit that GOOGLE does not prevent copyright holders from providing 20 DMCA-compliant notifications.

21 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 99:

22 Google makes it much more difficult than necessary for copyright owners to 23 provide notices that satisfy Google's purported requirements. GOOGLE purports to 24 require things in notices that are not required by the DMCA itself. Google publishes 25 DMCA notices and infringing URLs that are the subject of those notices on 26 chillingeffects.org, thereby giving infringers the very information to locate the 27 infringing material. GOOGLE does not make available to copyright holders all of the

1 images that it stores on its servers, and does not assist Perfect 10 in locating
2 infringing images in its indexes and databases. Furthermore, Google has obstructed
3 discovery in this case. Google does not remove or disable access to infringing
4 material that it is notified about. in compliant DMCA notices, but instead comes up
5 with contrived excuses for not acting. While Google does not prevent copyright
6 holders from providing DMCA-compliant notices, Google does not act on them.
7 Perfect 10 denies the remainder of this request.

8 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 100:

9 Admit that GOOGLE does not prevent PERFECT 10 from providing DMCA-
10 compliant notifications.

11 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 100:

12 Google makes it much more difficult than necessary for copyright owners, 13 including Perfect 10, to provide notices that satisfy Google’s purported requirements.
14 GOOGLE purports to require things in notices that are not required by the DMCA
15 itself. Google publishes DMCA notices and infringing URLs that are the subject of 16 those notices on chillingeffects.org, thereby giving infringers the very information to 17 locate the infringing material. GOOGLE does not make available to Perfect 10 all of 18 the images that it stores on its servers, and does not assist Perfect 10 in locating
19 infringing images in its indexes and databases. Furthermore, Google has obstructed
20 discovery in this case. Google does not remove or disable access to infringing
21 material that it is notified about in compliant DMCA notices, but instead comes up
22 with contrived excuses for not acting. While Google does not prevent Perfect 10 from 23 providing DMCA-compliant notices, Google does not act on them. Perfect 10 denies 24 the remainder of this request.

25 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 145:

26 Admit that GOOGLE does not control the Internet.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 145:

1 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Admitted that GOOGLE does not control
2 every aspect of the Internet. However, because of its power, influence, wealth, and 3 control, and because it partners with infringing websites and in many cases provides 4 them with critical support, Google does have a great deal of control over the Internet,
5 and especially over infringing content on the Internet. GOOGLE has so much power
6 and influence on the Internet that it can effectively control most third party websites.
7 Perfect 10 denies the remainder of the request.

8 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 147:

9 Admit that YOUR print magazine is no longer in circulation.

10 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 147:

11 Denied. Perfect 10 still sells back issues of the magazine, and on that basis,
12 denies the request. Admitted that because of rampant infringement, Perfect 10 ceased 13 publishing new issues of the magazine. Perfect 10 will resume publication of new 14 issues of the magazine when it is able to.

15 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 158:

16 Admit that as of January 1, 2008, YOUR business relationship with FoneStarz
17 Media Limited had been cancelled.

18 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 158:

19 Admitted that Perfect 10 is not currently receiving any revenue from 20 FoneStarz. Perfect 10 has entered into discussions with FoneStarz about resuming its 21 relationship. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request. The problem, of course, is 22 that GOOGLE offers cell phone downloads of stolen Perfect 10 images for free, 23 destroying the market for authorized images that are paid for.

24 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 166:

25 Admit that YOU never PROFITED from licensing REDUCED SIZE IMAGES
26 for downloading to mobile phones.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 166:

1 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Because mobile phone downloads at one
2 time brought in extra money with no or little extra cost, Perfect 10 denies the request.
3 Perfect 10's revenues have been severely impacted by the fact that GOOGLE offers 4 cell phone downloads of stolen Perfect 10 images for free, destroying the market for 5 authorized images that are paid for.

6 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 172:

7 Admit that YOU have not brought suit against the PERSONS or entities other 8 than GOOGLE whom YOU believe are directly infringing YOUR copyrights, as 9 alleged in the COMPLAINT.

10 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 172:

11 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Denied. Perfect 10 has brought suit. against 12 some of the PERSONS or entities other than GOOGLE which are directly infringing 13 its copyrights. However, because there are so many of these websites, and they are 14 located all over the world, GOOGLE is in a much better position to control this 15 infringement and reduce damage to the copyrighted works.

16 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 194:

17 Admit that YOU have no evidence that any PERSON obtained a password to 18 perfect10.com for which they did not pay by conducting a search on 19 www.google.com.

20 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 194:

21 Denied. Furthermore, Google has obstructed discovery on this.

22 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 199:

23 Admit that during the period from 2004 to 2008, more users have visited 24 perfect10.com from www.google.com than from any other website.

25 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 199:

26 Admitted that users visit perfect10.com from www.google.com, but many of 27 these users access perfect10.com with stolen passwords obtained from

1 www.google.com. After making reasonable inquiry, Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and 2 information sufficient to enable it to further admit or deny this request. Google may 3 have this information.

4 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 200:

5 Admit that YOU have used optimization techniques to increase the likelihood 6 that perfect10.com will be indexed against key words used by users of GOOGLE's 7 search engine.

8 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 200:

9 Objection: This request is unclear, because optimization techniques is not 10 defined. Admitted that Perfect 10 has tried to increase the traffic to its website.
11 However, because GOOGLE biases its search results to favor infringing advertising
12 affiliates, Perfect 10's efforts have not been successful. The remainder of this request 13 is denied.

14 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 205:

15 Admit that YOU have disabled the passwords identified in REQUEST FOR 16 ADMISSION NO. 204.

17 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 205:

18 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Admitted that Perfect 10 has periodically or 19 permanently disabled most passwords that it has identified as having been used to 20 wrongfully access perfect10.com by users who did not pay for those passwords. The 21 only way to completely stop all unauthorized accesses, as long as GOOGLE and 22 others are making hundreds of perfect10.com passwords available to their users, is to 23 completely shut down perfect10.com. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the remainder 24 of the request.

25 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 207:

26 Admit that YOU could disable the passwords identified in REQUEST FOR 27 ADMISSION NO. 204.

1 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 207:

2 As long as GOOGLE and others are giving away hundreds of passwords to
3 perfect10.com, there is no practical way that Perfect 10 knows of to avoid
4 unauthorized accesses to perfect10.com, without shutting down the website. On that
5 basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

6 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 209:

7 Admit that, with respect to each IMAGE YOU contend was infringed by 8 GOOGLE, YOU cannot identify the specific-copyright registration number
9 pertaining to that IMAGE.

10 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 209:

11 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Denied. However, because Google has 12 infringed so many images and has so many copies of those images in its search index,
13 it would take Perfect 10 years of work to match the registrations with each infringing
14 copy, as Google has requested.

15 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 210:

16 Admit that, with respect to each IMAGE YOU contend was infringed by 17 GOOGLE, YOU cannot identify a specific COMMUNICATION by which YOU
18 gave GOOGLE notice of such infringement.

19 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 210:

20 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Denied. However, because Google has 21 infringed so many images and has so many copies of those images in its search index,
22 it would take Perfect 10 years of work to match the notices with each infringing copy,
23 as Google has requested.

24 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 213:

25 Admit that YOU did not PROFIT from publishing the Perfect 10 Magazine in 26 1999.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 213:

1 Admitted that due to massive infringement of Perfect 10's copyrights, Perfect
2 10 has never had a profitable year.

4 Admit that YOU did not PROFIT from publishing the Perfect 10 Magazine in

13 Admitted that due to massive infringement of Perfect 10's copyrights, Perfect

15 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 216:

16 Admit that YOU did not PROFIT from publishing the Perfect 10 Magazine in

7 Admit that YOU did not PROFIT from publishing the Perfect 10 Magazine in 8 2005.

9 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 219:

10 Admitted that due to massive infringement of Perfect 10's copyrights, Perfect
11 10 has never had a profitable year.

12 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 220:

13 Admit that YOU did not PROFIT from publishing the Perfect 10 Magazine in 14 2006.

15 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 220: -

16 Admitted that due to massive infringement of Perfect 10's copyrights, Perfect

25 Admit that YOU never PROFITED from publishing the Perfect 10 Magazine
26 in any given fiscal year in which YOU published it.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 222:

1 Admitted that due to massive infringement of Perfect 10's copyrights, Perfect
2 10 has never had a profitable year.

3 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 223:

4 Admit that YOU ceased publishing the Perfect 10 Magazine because it was not
5 a PROFITABLE business.

6 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO: 223:

7 Admitted that Perfect 10's business was not profitable because of massive 8 copyright infringement by GOOGLE and others and that Perfect 10 has ceased
9 publishing new issues of the magazine, until it is successful in the litigation. The 10 remainder of this request is denied.

11 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 226:

12 Admit that YOU did not PROFIT from publishing the perfect10.com website
13 in 2000.

14 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 226:

15 Perfect 10 has insufficient information to admit or deny the request, because 16 the costs of running Perfect 10's website have been, at times, less than the revenues
17 made from that website. Depending on how the other expenses of Perfect 10, Inc. are 18 allocated, one could conceivably conclude that the website was profitable or 19 unprofitable, depending on that allocation. Perfect 10 as a whole, however, has lost
20 money each year due to massive infringement by GOOGLE and others.

21 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 227:

22 Admit that YOU did not PROFIT from publishing the perfect10.com website
23 in 2001.

24 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 227:

17 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 229:

18 Perfect 10 has insufficient information to admit or deny the request, because

9 in 2005.

10 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 231:

11 Perfect 10 has insufficient information to admit or deny the request, because 12 the costs of running Perfect 10's website have been, at times, less than the revenues
13 made from that website. Depending on how the other expenses of Perfect 10, Inc. are

3 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 237:

4 Admit that YOUR COMMUNICATIONS to GOOGLE have complied with 5 the requirements of GOOGLE's published DMCA policy.

6 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 237:

7 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Admitted that Perfect 10 complied with the 8 requirements of the DMCA, 17 U.S.C. Section 512. If there were any inconsistencies
9 between the requirements of the statute and what GOOGLE refers to as "GOOGLE's
10 published DMCA policy," Perfect 10 followed the requirements of the statute.

11 Objection to the terminology "GOOGLE's published DMCA policy." What
12 GOOGLE refers to as "GOOGLE's published DMCA policy" cannot unilaterally
13 alter the statute itself.

14 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 238:

15 Admit that one or more of YOUR COMMUNICATIONS to GOOGLE have 16 not complied with the requirements of GOOGLE's published DMCA policy.

17 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 238:

18 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Admitted that Perfect 10 complied with the 19 requirements of the DMCA, 17 U.S.C. Section 512. If there were any inconsistencies
20 between the requirements of the statute and what GOOGLE refers to as "GOOGLE's
21 published DMCA policy," Perfect 10 followed the requirements of the statute.

22 Objection to the terminology "GOOGLE's published DMCA policy." What
23 GOOGLE refers to as "GOOGLE's published DMCA policy" cannot unilaterally
24 alter the statute itself. The remainder of this request is denied.

25 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 239:

26 Admit that GOOGLE's published DMCA policy informs users that for each
27 IMAGE the user wishes to have removed from GOOGLE's Image Search service, the

1 user must provide the exact URL for the IMAGE when submitting DMCA notices
2 regarding Image Search.

3 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 239:

4 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. GOOGLE's published DMCA policy has
5 recently been changed (in some but not all of its postings), in an attempt to justify
6 GOOGLE's long time policy of not responding to DMCA notices. While certain
7 postings may say that now in 2008 (and others don't), those were not the instructions
8 which Google sent to Perfect 10 in June of 2004, nor were they GOOGLE's policy in
9 2005 either. Google allowed Perfect 10 to send thirty or forty notices, covering
10 thousands of URLs, before recently changing its policy. The current instructions
11 make no sense, as there is no reason to now require the copyright holder to send two 12 different notices, one for web search and a different notice for image search. All that 13 is necessary are instructions for web search, as every image which Google displays in
14 its image search results is contained on some web page on the Internet. On that basis
15 and the other facts listed above, Perfect 10 denies the request.

16 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 391:

17 Admit that YOU did not enclose copies of any of the Perfect 10 Magazine
18 issues listed in Norman Zada's COMMUNICATION dated July 6, 2004 (control 19 numbered PG_DMCA0160-0173) with that COMMUNICATION.

20 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 391

21 Objection: Irrelevant, since Google did not ask for magazines in connection 22 with this DMCA notice. Admitted that Perfect 10 did not enclose copies of the 23 magazines with the DMCA notice itself, but Perfect 10 did offer Google a free 24 password to its website, perfect10.com, where the copyrighted images could be 25 viewed, on June 28, 2004 and thereafter. Furthermore, in 2005, Perfect 10 did 26 provide Google with copies of images from Perfect 10 magazines, both in its 27 discovery responses and in its motion for preliminary injunction.

15 B. GOOGLE’S POSITION :

16 In its responses to the 76 Requests identified above, Perfect 10 added
17 inappropriate and often inflammatory commentary. Of these Requests, 31 of them
18 seek admissions regarding various aspects of Perfect 10’s purported DMCA notices.
19 Specifically, these 31 Requests ask whether Perfect 10 “enclose[d] copies of any of 20 the Perfect 10 Magazine issues listed in” the respective alleged DMCA notices. This 21 is an important issue under the DMCA because the DMCA requires the complainant 22 to identify the copyrighted material at issue, and if Perfect 10 did not do so (by 23 attaching or enclosing a copy of it), then its alleged DMCA notice was defective as a 24 matter of law.

25 The other 45 Requests seek to determine Perfect 10’s positions on 26 various of its claims, including whether Google’s alleged liability for allegedly 27 linking to web pages displaying Perfect 10 passwords, the fair use of Google’s

1 display of thumbnail images in Image Search results, and the basis for Perfect 10's
2 claims for damages. Again, these are the type of requests that Judge Matz described
3 as "a very direct, informal and cheap way of narrowing the issues" at the October 6,
4 2008 Status Conference. Herrick Decl., Exh. H.

5 Nevertheless, Perfect 10 improperly responded by burying its 6 substantive response amongst argumentative and non-responsive commentary. This 7 is improper under Rule 36. Responses to requests for admission are not a vehicle for 8 argument concerning the correct interpretation of facts, but rather, are tools to 9 establish the undisputed facts themselves. Their purpose is to narrow issues for 10 motions and for trial, a purpose which Perfect 10's unresponsive commentary has 11 subverted in these requests. Perfect 10's attempts to inject argumentative and often 12 inflammatory commentary into its responses to Google's Requests for Admission 13 should not be allowed.

14 Under Rule 36, responses to requests for admission "must fairly respond 15 to the substance of the matter." Fed. R. Civ. P. 36(a)(4). A party is permitted to 16 "qualify an answer or deny only a part of a matter," but the Rule does not allow 17 Perfect 10 insert non-responsive commentary. Id.; see Tulip Computers Intern., B.V.
18 v. Dell Computer Corp., 210 F.R.D. 100, 107 (D. Del. 2002) ("Requests for 19 admission should be phrased so that they may be admitted or denied with minimal 20 commentary.") Perfect 10's responses have done just that.

21 For example, Google's Requests for Admission Nos. 99 and 100 ask 22 Perfect 10 to "[a]dmit that GOOGLE does not prevent [copyright holders and/or 23 PERFECT 10] from providing DMCA-compliant notifications." The requests seek to 24 narrow the dispute between the parties by establishing whether or not Perfect 10
25 intends to argue that Google had in some way prevented Perfect 10 or other copyright 26 holders from submitting DMCA-compliant notifications to Google. Instead of 1 sufficiently responding to these straightforward requests, Perfect 10 offered the 2 following:

3 Google makes it much more difficult than necessary for 4 copyright owners to provide notices that satisfy Google’s
5 purported requirements. GOOGLE purports to require
6 things in notices that are not required by the DMCA itself.
7 Google publishes DMCA notices and infringing URLs that 8 are the subject of those notices on chillingeffects.org, 9 thereby giving infringers the very information to locate the 10 infringing material. GOOGLE does not make available to 11 copyright holders all of the images that it stores on its 12 servers, and does not assist Perfect 10 in locating infringing
13 images in its indexes and databases. Furthermore, Google
14 has obstructed discovery in this case. Google does not 15 remove or disable access to infringing material that it is 16 notified about in compliant DMCA notices, but instead
17 comes up with contrived excuses for not acting. While 18 Google does not prevent copyright holders from providing 19 DMCA-compliant notices, Google does not act on them.

20 Perfect 10 denies the remainder of this request.

21 Save for a portion of the final sentence, this entire statement is non-responsive, 22 inflammatory and argumentative. Google requested an admission that Google does 23 not prevent Perfect 10 or other copyright holders from providing “DMCA-complaint
24 notifications”—not whether Google prevents anyone from satisfying “Google’s 25 purported requirements.” Similarly, whether Google’s policies differ from the 26 DMCA itself; what Google does with notices it has received; whether Google makes 27 available images on its servers; whether Google assists Perfect 10 in locating images;

1 whether Google has “obstructed discovery”; and whether Google contrives excuses
2 for inaction all have nothing to do with the requests in question, which ask for an
3 admission regarding whether Google prevents copyright holders and/or Perfect 10
4 from providing DMCA-compliant notifications. Such inflammatory and 5 argumentative (not to mention inaccurate) language renders Perfect 10’s Response
6 worthless to Google in preparing its case for trial, and runs afoul of governing
7 authorities forbidding such commentary. Plainly, Perfect 10’s commentary appears
8 to be designed to distract and mislead a jury regarding the substance of Perfect 10’s
9 possible admission, should the response ever be presented in court—a tactic Rule 36 10 prohibits.

11 Even after Google initiated meet and confer efforts with Perfect 10 12 discussing the insufficiency of Perfect 10’s Responses to Google’s First Set of 13 Requests for Admission that included non-responsive commentary, Perfect 10
14 included similar unnecessary remarks in its responses to 31 Requests for Admission 15 in Google’s Second Set. For instance, in response to Request No. 381 (“Admit that 16 YOU did not enclose copies of any of the Perfect 10 Magazine issues listed in 17 Norman Zada’s COMMUNICATION dated June 28, 2004 (control numbered 18 PG_DMCA0128-0141) with that COMMUNICATION.”), Perfect 10 responded:

19 Objection: Irrelevant, since Google did not ask for 20 magazines in connection with this DMCA notice. Admitted
21 that Perfect 10 did not enclose copies of the magazines with 22 the DMCA notice itself, but Perfect 10 did offer Google a 23 free password to its website, perfect10.com, where the 24 copyrighted images could be viewed, on June 28, 2004 and 25 thereafter. Furthermore, in 2005, Perfect 10 did provide 26 Google with copies of images from Perfect 10 magazines,

1 both in its discovery responses and in its motion for 2 preliminary injunction.

3 Perfect 10 used this same language in its responses to another 30 of Google's
4 Requests for Admission seeking information regarding Perfect 10's purported DMCA
5 notifications to Google. The only portion of Perfect 10's response that "fairly
6 respond[s] to the substance of the matter" is Perfect 10's admission "that Perfect 10
7 did not enclose copies of the magazines with the DMCA notice itself." No other
8 response to the request is necessary or relevant to the matter requested. The request
9 did not concern offers of free passwords to perfect10.com, Perfect 10's discovery
10 responses, or Perfect 10's declarations in support of its motion for a preliminary 11 injunction. Perfect 10 will have the opportunity to make its argument that it 12 sufficiently identified the copyrighted material it claimed was infringed in various 13 other communications with Google, but Perfect 10's other actions have no bearing on 14 whether it enclosed copies of any Perfect 10 magazines in its purported DMCA
15 notices to Google.

16 Perfect 10's argumentative qualifications and non-responsive
17 commentary render Perfect 10's Responses inadequate under Rule 36. Responses to 18 requests for admission are insufficient when they include statements unrelated to the 19 matter requested. See Harris v. Oil Reclaiming Co., Ltd., 190 F.R.D. 674, 677
20 (D.Kan. 1999) (finding that responses containing non-responsive statements were 21 insufficient under Rule 36 and ordering amendment of the responses to excise the 22 non-responsive statements); Xcel Energy, Inc. v. U.S., 237 F.R.D. 416, 422 (D.Minn.
23 2006) ("Legal jousting, and advocacy, play such a predominate role in the crafting of 24 Interrogatories, and their Answers, that it should not be allowed to infect the laudable 25 purposes of Rule 36 in eliminating issues for which proof is not required, and in 26 narrowing issues where proof is."). Perfect 10 should be ordered to amend its 27 responses to remove the non-responsive and argumentative language to comply with

2 following argumentative commentary from its responses to these requests:

4 Should Be Deleted:

24 Google respectfully requests that the Court to find that Perfect
25 10’s responses to these 77 Requests are insufficient, and to order either that these 26 Requests be deemed admitted in full, or that they be amended consistent with the

1 C. PERFECT 10’S POSITION :

2 Perfect 10 incorporates its preliminary statement (page 4, line 17 – page 7, 3 line 16) and the statement at page 343, line 12 – page 348, line 23 into this
4 Section.

5 As a threshold matter, this Court should not order Perfect 10 to amend any
6 requests in the first set of requests for admissions. As set forth above, Google
7 prematurely served the Joint Stipulation before Perfect 10 had an opportunity to 8 amend responses in the first set. Google should not be rewarded for its over-
9 aggressive conduct.

10 Google is satisfied with what it calls the substance of the responses, but wants 11 this Court to order Perfect 10 to remove certain language. Google claims the 12 language is inappropriate and inflammatory, but it is not. Perfect 10 answered those 13 requests to the best of its ability and has the right to explain its responses. “A party
14 making response to requests for admissions of fact under Rule 36(a) is not deprived 15 of the right to explain, clarify, or elucidate concerning the subject-matter thereof. He 16 may do so in the reponse made to the requests or by the examination or cross-
17 examination of witnesses produced at the trial.” (Knowlton v. Atchison, T. & 18 S..F.Ry.Co., 11 F.R.D. 62, 66 (D.Missouri 1951)). Furthermore, Google drafted its 19 requests so that Perfect 10 would have to admit what would be tantamount to “...half-20 truths, which if admitted would deprive defendant of an opportunity to explain or 21 clarify by cross-examination. Requests for admission of a fact that relate to a ‘half-
22 truth’ are improper.” (Id.) In its responses to requests for admission, Google made
23 numerous qualifications yet argues that Perfect 10 should not be permitted to explain
24 its responses. Google’s suggestion that Perfect 10 be forced to respond to Google’s 25 requests for admissions without qualification is preposterous.

5 A. THE REQUESTS AT ISSUE.

6 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 56:

7 Admit that GOOGLE does not control the third-party websites that PERFECT
8 10 alleges infringe its copyrights.

9 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 56:

10 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. GOOGLE has so much power and influence
11 on the Internet that it can effectively control most third party websites. On this basis,
12 Perfect 10 denies the request.

13 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 96:

14 Admit that GOOGLE does not prevent copyright holders from collecting
15 information needed to issue DMCA notifications.

16 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 96:

17 GOOGLE does not make available to copyright holders all of the images that it
18 stores on its servers, and does not assist Perfect 10 in locating infringing images in its
19 indexes and databases. Furthermore, Google has obstructed discovery in this case. On 20 that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

21 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 136:

22 Admit that GOOGLE does not create ADULT IMAGES.

23 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 136:

24 Objection: Vague and ambiguous; calls for a legal conclusion. GOOGLE
25 creates and develops adult content by creating reduced size adult images from larger 26 adult images, selecting which images to display to its users, and arranging them on 27 the screen which is displayed to the user. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies this request.

1 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 137:

2 Admit that GOOGLE does not sell ADULT IMAGES.

3 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 137:

4 GOOGLE makes money from its offering of millions of ADULT IMAGES
5 belonging to others, without authorization. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the 6 request.

7 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 138:

8 Admit that GOOGLE does not license ADULT IMAGES.

9 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 138:

10 Google claims that it gives its users the right to view images that it has no
11 rights to. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

12 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 139:

13 Admit that GOOGLE is not in the business of creating ADULT IMAGES.

14 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 139:

15 Objection: Vague and ambiguous; calls for a legal conclusion. GOOGLE
16 creates and develops adult content by creating reduced size adult images from larger 17 adult images, selecting which images to display to its users, and arranging them on 18 the screen which is displayed to the user. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies this request.

19 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 141:

20 Admit that GOOGLE is not in the business of licensing ADULT IMAGES.

21 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 141:

22 Google claims that it gives its users the right to view images that it has no right
23 to. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

24 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 142:

25 Admit that YOU have no evidence that GOOGLE is in the business of 26 licensing ADULT IMAGES.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 142:

1 Google claims that it gives its users the right to view images that it has no
2 rights to. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

3 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 143:

4 Admit that GOOGLE is not in the business of selling ADULT IMAGES.

5 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 143:

6 GOOGLE makes money from its offering of millions of ADULT IMAGES
7 belonging to others, without authorization. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the 8 request.

9 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 158:

10 Admit that as of January 1, 2008, YOUR business relationship with FoneStarz
11 Media Limited had been cancelled.

12 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 158:

13 Admitted that Perfect 10 is not currently receiving any revenue from 14 FoneStarz. Perfect 10 has entered into discussions with FoneStarz about resuming its 15 relationship. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request. The problem, of course, is 16 that GOOGLE offers cell phone downloads of stolen Perfect 10 images for free, 17 destroying the market for authorized images that are paid for.

18 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 167:

19 Admit that GOOGLE does not license THUMBNAIL IMAGES for downloads
20 to mobile phones.

21 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 167:

22 Google claims that it gives its users the right to view images that it has no
23 rights to. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

24 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 168:

25 Admit that YOU have no evidence that GOOGLE licenses THUMBNAIL
26 IMAGES for downloads to mobile phones.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 168:

1 Google claims that it gives its users the right to view images that it has no
2 rights to. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

3 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 169: .

4 Admit that GOOGLE does not license REDUCED SIZE IMAGES for 5 downloading to mobile phones.

6 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 169:

7 Google claims that it gives its users the right to view images that it has no
8 rights to. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

9 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 170:

10 Admit that YOU have no evidence that GOOGLE licenses REDUCED SIZE
11 IMAGES for downloading to mobile phones.

12 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 170:.

13 Google claims that it gives its users the right to view images that it has no
14 rights to. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

15 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 197:

16 Admit that traffic to Perfect10.com has increased as a consequence of 17 perfect10.com's inclusion in the GOOGLE index and search results.

18 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 197:

19 GOOGLE has been responsible for a massive diversion of traffic away from 20 perfect10.com to infringing websites who are in many cases Google advertising
21 partners. On this basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

22 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 198:

23 Admit that revenues generated by perfect10.com have increased as a
24 consequence of perfect10.com's inclusion in the GOOGLE index and search results.

25 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 198:

27

1 GOOGLE has been responsible for a massive diversion of traffic away from
2 perfect10.com to infringing websites who are in many cases Google advertising
3 partners. On this basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

4 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 205:

5 Admit that YOU have disabled the passwords identified in REQUEST FOR
6 ADMISSION NO. 204.

7 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 205:

8 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Admitted that Perfect 10 has periodically or 9 permanently disabled most passwords that it has identified as having been used to 10 wrongfully access perfect10.com by users who did not pay for those passwords. The 11 only way to completely stop all unauthorized accesses, as long as GOOGLE and 12 others are making hundreds of perfect10.com passwords available to their users, is to 13 completely shut down perfect10.com. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the remainder
14 of the request.

15 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 206:

16 Admit that YOU have not disabled the passwords identified in REQUEST
17 FOR ADMISSION NO. 204.

18 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 206:

19 Perfect 10 has periodically or permanently disabled most passwords that it has 20 identified. See Perfect 10's response to the previous request. On this basis, Perfect 10
21 denies the request.

22 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 207:

23 Admit that YOU could disable the passwords identified in REQUEST FOR 24 ADMISSION NO. 204.

25 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 207:

26 As long as GOOGLE and others are giving away hundreds of passwords to 27 perfect10.com, there is no practical way that Perfect 10 knows of to avoid

1 unauthorized accesses to perfect10.com, without shutting down the website. On that
2 basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.

3 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 239:

4 Admit that GOOGLE's published DMCA policy informs users that for each
5 IMAGE the user wishes to have removed from GOOGLE's Image Search service, the
6 user must provide the exact URL for the IMAGE when submitting DMCA notices
7 regarding Image Search.

8 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 239:

9 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. GOOGLE's published DMCA policy has 10 recently been changed (in some but not all of its postings), in an attempt to justify
11 GOOGLE's long time policy of not responding to DMCA notices. While certain 12 postings may say that now in 2008 (and others don't), those were not the instructions
13 which Google sent to Perfect 10 in June of 2004, nor were they GOOGLE's policy in
14 2005 either. Google allowed Perfect 10 to send thirty or forty notices, covering
15 thousands of URLs, before recently changing its policy. The current instructions
16 make no sense, as there is no reason to now require the copyright holder to send two
17 different notices, one for web search and a different notice for image search. All that 18 is necessary are instructions for web search, as every image which Google displays in 19 its image search results is contained on some web page on the Internet. On that basis
20 and the other facts listed above, Perfect 10 denies the request.

21 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 354:

1 Objection: Vague and ambiguous, mischaracterizes Perfect 10's notice.

12 Objection: Vague and ambiguous, mischaracterizes Perfect 10's notice.
13 Perfect 10 stated that the images may be found in many cases on perfect10.com, not
14 that the entirety of perfect10.com was being infringed at a particular URL. On this

16 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 749:

17 Admit that for one or more of the URLs listed in Norman Zada's
18 COMMUNICATION dated April 24, 2007 (control numbered GGL032075-032096),
19 YOU identified amyweber.net as the ALLEGED COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL
20 YOU claim was infringed at each of those URLs.

21 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 749

22 Objection: Vague and ambiguous, mischaracterizes Perfect 10's notice.
23 Perfect 10's notice indicated that Google could find a representative sample of 24 infringed images of Amy Weber on amyweber.net, not that the entirety of 25 amyweber.net was being infringed at a particular URL. On that basis, Perfect 10
26 denies the request.

1 B. GOOGLE’S POSITION :

2 Perfect 10's responses to these 229 Requests are evasive and inadequate.
3 Of those, 136 seek to determine Perfect 10’s position as to what information it
4 included in its 72 alleged DMCA communications to Google, including what 5 allegedly copyrighted material (if any) it identified as being infringed in its purported
6 notices. This is critical information because if Perfect 10's notices failed to 7 adequately identify “the copyrighted work claimed to have been infringed,” they were 8 deficient as a matter of law. 17 U.S.C. § 512(c)(3)(A)(ii).

9 The other 93 Requests seek equally important clarification as to the 10 nature of the claims Perfect 10 is asserting against Google, and Perfect 10’s 11 contentions regarding the damages it claims to have suffered as a result. As 12 described above, such requests are necessary to determine the scope of Perfect 10’s
13 case, and were expressly endorsed by Judge Matz.

14 For each of these 229 Requests, Perfect 10 fails to address the subject
15 matter of the request and instead makes an evasive denial purportedly “on [the] basis”
16 of Perfect 10's objections to the wording of the request. Such responses are 17 insufficient under Rule 36, which states that “[a] denial must fairly respond to the 18 substance of the matter.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 36(a)(4); see also Herrera v. Scully, 143 19 F.R.D. 545, 549 (S.D.N.Y. 1992) (“A response to a request for admission is 20 inadequate when ... a responding party ... makes an evasive denial (i.e., one that 21 does not specifically deny the matter)”); Guinan v. A.I. duPont Hosp. for 22 Children, 2008 WL 938874, *1 (E.D.Pa. 2008) (“Answers that appear ... to go to the 23 accuracy of the requested admissions rather than the ‘essential truth’ contained 24 therein are impermissible and must be amended.”). Non-specific, evasive or 25 ambiguous responses that do not “specifically deny the matter” are improper and 26 must be amended or deemed admitted. Asea, 669 F.2d at 1245.

27 For example, Request No. 405 asks as follows:

1 “Admit that for one or more URLs listed in Norman Zada’s
2 COMMUNICATION dated July 11, 2004 (control numbered PG_DMCA0232-0245)
3 YOU identified perfect10.com as the ALLEGED COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL
4 YOU claim was infringed at each of those URLs.”

5 Perfect 10 did not respond directly, but instead stated:

6 “Objection: Vague and ambiguous, mischaracterizes Perfect 10’s notice.
7 Perfect 10 stated that the images may be found in many cases on perfect10.com, not
8 that the entirety of perfect10.com was being infringed at a particular URL. On this
9 basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.”

10 Perfect 10 cannot deny the request “on [that] basis.” Rule 36 obligates 11 Perfect 10 to admit or deny the request that Google has written. The request as 12 worded is quite simple. It asks whether Norman Zada’s July 11, 2004
13 communication to Google identified “perfect10.com” as the ALLEGED 14 COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL claimed to be infringed by one or more of the URLs
15 listed in that same communication. Whether “images may be found in many cases on 16 perfect10.com” is irrelevant to the request. Even whether any of the images at 17 perfect10.com are actually infringed by a URL in the July 11, 2004 communication is 18 irrelevant to the request. The Request merely asks Perfect 10 to admit that for one or 19 more of the URLs in that specific purported DMCA notice, the only identification of 20 ALLEGED COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL made by Perfect 10 was the text
21 “perfect10.com.” Perfect 10 need only review its own purported DMCA notice to 22 find the answer, and its evasive denial does not fairly respond to the substance of 23 Google’s Request for Admission.

24 Similarly, Request No. 354 asks:

25 “Admit that for one or more of the URLs listed in Norman Zada’s
26 COMMUNICATION dated June 1, 2004 (control numbered PG_DMCA0096-0102)
27 YOU identified a six-page section of an issue of Perfect 10 Magazine as the

1 ALLEGED COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL YOU claim was infringed at each of those 2 URLs.”

3 Perfect 10 responded:

4 “Objection: Vague and ambiguous, mischaracterizes Perfect 10’s notice.
5 Perfect 10 stated that some of the infringed images may be found in the specified
6 page range, not that all of the images in that page range were infringed at a particular 7 URL. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request.”

8 Perfect 10 cannot deny the Request based upon a possible inference that 9 could be drawn from a sufficient response to the Request. Google only asked Perfect
10 10 to admit that it identified a six-page section of an issue of Perfect 10 Magazine as 11 the material allegedly infringed by the URLs in its COMMUNICATION. Perfect 12 10’s evasive denial fails to address the matter requested.

13 None of Perfect 10’s responses to these 229 requests provide Google 14 with even a partial admission of the matter requested. “[A] reviewing court should 15 not permit a responding party to undermine the efficacy of the rule by creating 16 disingenuous, hair-splitting distinctions whose unarticulated goal is unfairly to burden
17 an opposing party.” Thalheim v. Eberheim, 124 F.R.D. 34, 35 (D. Conn.1988); see 18 also Poole v. Textron, 192 F.R.D. 494, 499 (D.Md. 2000). Because Perfect 10 denied 19 all of these 229 requests based on its objections to the wording of the request rather 20 than the truth of the matter asserted, the Court should order the requests admitted or 21 order Perfect 10 to amend its responses to specifically admit or deny the matters 22 requested.

23 C. PERFECT 10’S POSITION :

24 Perfect 10 incorporates its preliminary statement (page 4, line 17 – page 7, 25 line 16) and the statement at p. 343, line 12 – p. 348, line 23 into this Section.
26 Perfect 10 also incorporates Section III(C) into this section.

1 As a threshold matter, this Court should not order Perfect 10 to amend any
2 requests in the first set of requests for admissions. As set forth above, Google
3 prematurely served the Joint Stipulation before Perfect 10 had an opportunity to
4 amend responses in the first set. Google should not be rewarded for its over-
5 aggressive conduct.

6 Google has specifically denied to the above requests for admissions in good 7 faith and has provided a good faith explanation for those denials. Google is 8 essentially asking that Perfect 10 remove all explanations or clarification provided by 9 Perfect 10 along with its denials. This addresses the same issues discussed above in 10 Perfect 10's Section III (c), the right to "explain, clarify or elucidate" its responses so
11 as not admit to, deny or create "half-truths." (Knowlton, 11 F.R.D 62, 66, supra.)

12 Not only should the denial "fairly meet[s] the substance of the request", but the 13 court should examine "(2) whether good faith requires that the denial be qualified:
14 and (3) whether any 'qualification' which has been supplied is a good faith
15 qualification." (Thalheim v. Eberheim, 124 F.R.D. 3d (D.Connecticut 1988)).
16 Perfect 10 chose to explain its denials to clarify the parties' disagreement on the 17 issues.

18 As Google points out, infra, "Indeed, a key purpose of Requests for Admission 19 is to determine the responding party's view and thereby ascertain what issues are or 20 are not in dispute."

22 REQUESTS FOR ADMISSIONS FOR WHICH PERFECT 10
23 RESPONDED ONLY WITH WHAT GOOGLE ASSERTS ARE 24 IMPROPER OBJECTIONS?

25 A. THE REQUESTS AT ISSUE.

26 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 2:

1 Admit that the perfect10.com website is a compilation, as defined by the
2 Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101.

3 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 2:

4 Objection: calls for a legal conclusion. Each of Perfect 10's photographs on the 5 website is a separate copyrighted work with independent economic value.

6 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 3:

7 Admit that the Perfect 10 Model of the Year Video (G-Rated), corresponding 8 to copyright registration number PA 776-1 73, is a compilation, as defined by the 9 Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101.

10 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 3:

11 Objection: calls for a legal conclusion.

12 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 4:

13 Admit that the Perfect 10 Model of the Year Video (R Rated), corresponding to 14 copyright registration number PA 955-019, is a compilation, as defined by the 15 Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 101

16 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 4:

17 Objection: calls for a legal conclusion.

18 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 5:

19 Admit that the Perfect 10 2000 Calendar, corresponding to copyright
20 registration number VA 987-612, is a compilation, as defined by the Copyright Act, 21 17 U.S.C. § 101.

22 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 5:

23 Objection: calls for a legal conclusion. Each of Perfect 10's photographs in the 24 calendar is a separate copyrighted work with independent economic value.

25 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 11:

26 Admit that GOOGLE does not generate any passwords to perfect10.com.

27 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 11:

1 Objection: This request is vague and ambiguous, because Perfect 10 does not
2 know what is meant by the word “generate.” Google does post Perfect 10 passwords
3 in its search results. Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and information sufficient to enable 4 it to further admit or deny this request; Google knows how it posts Perfect 10
5 passwords in its search results.

6 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 17:

7 Admit that GOOGLE does not index the password-protected area of 8 perfect10.com.

9 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 17:

10 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Google does provide links to infringing
11 images which come from the password-protected area of perfect10.com. Perfect 10
12 lacks information and knowledge regarding what Google does and does not index;
13 Google would have that information.

14 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 25

15 Admit that GOOGLE’s search engine indexes websites automatically, as part 16 of its comprehensive indexing function.

17 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 25:

18 Objection: Vague and ambiguous. Perfect 10 does not know what this request 19 means. Furthermore, Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and information sufficient to enable 20 it to admit or deny this request; if it is comprehensible, it is something that Google 21 would have information on.

22 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 36:

23 Admit that GOOGLE does not use THUMBNAIL IMAGES for purposes of 24 artistic expression.

25 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 36:

26 Objection: This request is unclear. GOOGLE uses what it refers to as
27 THUMBNAIL IMAGES (which are really much larger than a person’s thumbnail)

1 for purposes of infringement. Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and information sufficient
2 to enable it to further admit or deny this request; if this request is understandable, it is
3 something that Google would have information on

4 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 37:

5 Admit that the primary use of GOOGLE's THUMBNAIL IMAGES is not for 6 artistic expression.

7 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 37:

8 Objection: This request is unclear. GOOGLE uses what it refers to as 9 THUMBNAIL IMAGES (which are really much larger than a person's thumbnail)
10 for purposes of infringement. There are REDUCED SIZE IMAGES that have artistic 11 expression. Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and information sufficient to enable it to 12 further admit or deny this request; if this request is understandable, it is something
13 that Google would have information on.

14 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 53:

15 Admit that GOOGLE does not have the legal right to stop third-party websites
16 from infringing PERFECT 10's copyrights.

17 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 53:

18 Objection: Calls for a legal conclusion.

19 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 90:

20 Admit that GOOGLE accommodates standard technical measures, as those 21 measures are defined in 17 U.S.C. § 512(i)(2)(A-C).

22 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 90:

23 Objection: Calls for a legal conclusion. Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and 24 information sufficient to enable it to admit or deny this request, since this is 25 information that Google has.

26 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 91:

1 Admit that GOOGLE does not interfere with standard technical measures, as 2 those measures are defined in 17 U.S.C. § 512(i)(2)(A-C).

3 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 91:

4 Objection: Calls for a legal conclusion. Perfect 10 lacks knowledge and
5 information sufficient to enable it to admit or deny this request, since this is
6 information that Google has.

7 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 103:

8 Admit that GOOGLE is a provider of an interactive computer service.

9 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 103:

10 Objection: Vague and ambiguous; calls for a legal conclusion.

11 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 136:

12 Admit that GOOGLE does not create ADULT IMAGES.

13 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 136:

14 Objection: Vague and ambiguous; calls for a legal conclusion. GOOGLE
15 creates and develops adult content by creating reduced size adult images from larger 16 adult images, selecting which images to display to its users, and arranging them on 17 the screen which is displayed to the user. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies this request.

18 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 139:

19 Admit that GOOGLE is not in the business of creating ADULT IMAGES.

20 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 139:

21 Objection: Vague and ambiguous; calls for a legal conclusion. GOOGLE
22 creates and develops adult content by creating reduced size adult images from larger 23 adult images, selecting which images to display to its users, and arranging them on 24 the screen which is displayed to the user. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies this request.

25 REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 158:

26 Admit that as of January 1, 2008, YOUR business relationship with FoneStarz
27 Media Limited had been cancelled.

1 RESPONSE TO REQUEST FOR ADMISSION NO. 158:

2 Admitted that Perfect 10 is not currently receiving any revenue from
3 FoneStarz. Perfect 10 has entered into discussions with FoneStarz about resuming its
4 relationship. On that basis, Perfect 10 denies the request. The problem, of course, is
5 that GOOGLE offers cell phone downloads of stolen Perfect 10 images for free,
6 destroying the market for authorized images that are paid for.

7 B. GOOGLE’S POSITION :

8 The above 16 Requests seek to determine (1) which of Perfect 10’s
9 assertedly infringed copyrighted works are compilations, (2) Perfect 10’s contentions
10 as to the fair use of the thumbnails displayed in Image Search results, and (3)
11 Google’s qualifications for the DMCA safe harbors. Again, these Requests were 12 intended to delineate the boundaries of Perfect 10’s many claims, and represent the 13 “very direct, informal and cheap way of narrowing the issues” that Judge Matz 14 encouraged the parties to employ. Herrick Decl., Exh. H. Instead of providing 15 substantive responses, Perfect 10 responded with baseless objections. These 16 Requests should be deemed admitted, or Perfect 10 should be ordered to properly 17 respond to them without further delay.

18 1. Perfect 10 May Not Object on the Basis that Google’s
19 Requests Call for a Legal Conclusion.

20 For Requests for Admission Nos. 2-5, 53, 90-91, 103, 136, 139 and 153
21 (as well as the 478 Requests listed in Section II to which Perfect 10 responded with 22 only boilerplate objections and colloquy), Perfect 10 objected that the Requests 23 “call[] for a legal conclusion” and failed to provide a substantive response. This is 24 improper.

25 Rule 36 itself provides, and the case law makes clear, that requests for 26 admission may properly require the application of law to fact so long as they do not 27 seek admissions on purely abstract questions of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 36(a)(1)(A) (“A

1 party may serve on any other party a written request to admit . . . the truth of any
2 matters within the scope of Rule 26(b)(1) relating to: (A) facts, the application of law
3 to fact, or opinions about either . . .”); Marchand, 22 F.3d at 937 n.4 (finding that a
4 request for admission may require “an application of law to fact”); West Bay
5 Builders, Inc. v. United States, 80 Fed.Cl. 700, 703 (Fed. Cl. 2008) (“a request for 6 admission is not objectionable even if [it] require[s] opinions or conclusions of law,
7 as long as the legal conclusions relate to the facts of the case.”) (citation omitted);
8 Warnecke v. Scott, 79 Fed.Appx. 5, at *6 (5th Cir. 2003) (“requests for admissions
9 are properly used for facts or facts as applied to law”) (citing In re Carney, 258 F.3d
10 415, 418 (5th Cir. 2001); 8A Wright, Miller, & Cane, Federal Practice & Procedure, §
11 2255 & n. 8 (2003)); Treister v. PNC Bank, 2007 WL 521935, at *2 (S.D. Fla. 2007)
12 (rejecting such objections as “without merit”); Rutter, Civil Procedure Before Trial § 13 11:2006.

14 Each of these Requests seeks an admission regarding the application of 15 law to fact, and Google is entitled to a substantive response. That a request “calls for 16 a legal conclusion” is not a valid basis for objection. These Requests should be 17 ordered admitted, or Perfect 10 should be ordered to amend its responses to remove 18 the legal conclusion objection and fairly respond to the substance of the Requests.

19 2. Perfect 10 May Not Object on the Basis that Google Has Or 20 May Have Information Regarding Its Own Requests for 21 Admission.

22 Perfect 10 failed to provide a substantive response to Google’s Requests
23 for Admission Nos. 11, 17, 25, 36-37, and 91. It instead responded by stating that 24 “Google knows” how to respond to the Request, that the Request “is something that 25 Google would have information on,” or that “this is information that Google has.”
26 These are improper. The purpose of requests for admission is to “narrow issues for 27 trial,” and a party must provide all information at its disposal, even if the serving

1 party might have the information as well. Diederich, 132 F.R.D. at 617 (“Objections
2 that plaintiff should obtain the information by independent discovery and 3 investigation, or that the matter is already within plaintiff’s knowledge, are 4 [improper].”) Indeed, a key purpose of Requests for Admission is to determine the 5 responding party's view and thereby ascertain what issues are or are not in dispute.
6 Perfect 10's responses run directly contrary to the rules of discovery, which require 7 the disclosure of information in the possession of the parties themselves, their 8 attorneys, or any other agent that they control.

9 Moreover, Rule 36 provides that “[t]he answering party may assert lack 10 of knowledge or information as a reason for failing to admit or deny only if the party 11 states that it has made reasonable inquiry and that the information it knows or can 12 readily obtain is insufficient to enable it to admit or deny.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 36(a)(4)
13 (emphasis added). As detailed in Section II above, a court may order requests 14 admitted or order that amended responses be served when a party fails to make a 15 “reasonable inquiry” or fails to utilize “readily obtainable” information to admit or 16 deny a proper request for admission. See Asea, 669 F.2d 1247. Clearly Perfect 10
17 did not do so here, and instead tried to hoist the Request back onto Google so as to 18 avoid disclosing Perfect 10's own position in this litigation.

19 Perfect 10’s failure to respond to Google’s Requests for Admission
20 based upon its objections that Google has access to the information requested are 21 plainly improper. Google asks that these requests be ordered admitted, or that Perfect 22 10 be ordered to serve amended responses removing its improper objections and 23 fairly responding to the matters requested.

1 C. PERFECT 10’S POSITION :

2 Perfect 10 incorporates its preliminary statement (page 4, line 17 – page 7, 3 line 16) and the statement at page 343 line 12 – page 348, line 23 into this
4 Section.

5 As a threshold matter, this Court should not order Perfect 10 to amend any
6 requests in the first set of requests for admissions. As set forth above, Google
7 prematurely served the Joint Stipulation before Perfect 10 had an opportunity to 8 amend responses in the first set. Google should not be rewarded for its over-
9 aggressive conduct. All of the requests complained about here are in the first set.

10 Google’s requests for admission are seeking a conclusion from Perfect 10 as to 11 whether certain copyrighted material would constitute a compilation under the 12 copyright laws. These are questions of law. “Requests for admissions cannot be used 13 to compel an admission of a conclusion of law. In addition, the Advisory Committee 14 Notes to the 1970 Amendment of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 36 states that 15 although an admission of a matter involving the application of law to fact may narrow 16 the issues for trial, ‘requests for admission involving the application of law to fact 17 may create disputes between the parties which are best resolved in the presence of the 18 judge after much or all of the other discovery has been completed.’” (Playboy
19 Enterprises, Inc., v. Welles, 60 F. Supp. 2d 1050,1057 (S.D. Cal., 1999) (defendant 20 asked to admit that she was a public figure as defined in an unrelated case).)

21

23 A. GOOGLE’S CONCLUSION

24 Perfect 10 has failed to properly respond to the bulk of Google’s
25 Requests for Admission. Google’s requests concern critical factual issues in the case, 26 attempting to define the boundaries of the dispute between the parties and determine
27 what contentions Perfect 10 intends to make at trial and in response to Google’s

1 upcoming motions for partial summary judgment. Indeed, the majority of Google's
2 requests concern the details of Perfect 10's own DMCA notices. Google's requests 3 present no undue burden, especially considering the size and complexity of the 4 lawsuit that Perfect 10 has brought. Perfect 10 has failed to abide by its obligations
5 under Rule 36, and Perfect 10's responses are incomplete, contain non-responsive
6 commentary, boilerplate language, inflammatory argument, and improper objections.
7 Accordingly, the Court should order Google's requests admitted or compel that
8 Perfect 10 fully and complete answer them consistent with Perfect 10's
9 responsibilities under Rule 36.

10 B. PERFECT 10'S CONCLUSION

11 For all of the reasons set forth above, Google's motion should be denied in its 12 entirety.
