1 DECLARATION OF DR. NORMAN ZADA

2 I, Dr. Norman Zada, declare as follows:

3 I make this declaration in support of Perfect 10's opposition to Google's 4 Motion for Scheduling Order which would delay Perfect 10 from filing its motion for 5 summary judgment. Except where otherwise stated, I have direct and personal 6 knowledge of the facts set forth herein and, if called as a witness, could and would 7 competently testify thereto. I have spent hundreds of hours using google.com to 8 locate infringements of Perfect 10's copyrighted works.

9 PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

10 1. I am President of Plaintiff Perfect 10, Inc. ("Perfect 10"). After receiving 11 a Ph.D. in Operations Research from the University of California at Berkeley, I 12 worked as a research staff member in the main computer science department at IBM, 13 and subsequently taught as a visiting professor in the area of applied mathematics at 14 Stanford University, UCLA, Columbia University, and UC Irvine. I have programmed 15 computers for at least twenty years. I have reviewed all of the documents produced by 16 Google, as well as Google's discovery responses and declarations made by Google 17 declarants. I have also attended all depositions of Google employees conducted by 18 Perfect 10. I have been involved in every aspect of this case and, if called as a witness, 19 could and would competently testify thereto.

20 2. The Exhibits attached hereto, except where otherwise noted, fall into one 21 of the following categories: (a) true and correct copies of documents that I have 22 downloaded as Adobe PDF files from the Internet; (b) true and correct copies of 23 snapshots of my computer screen, which I captured using the program "snagit;" (c) 24 true and correct copies of portions of DMCA notices that I sent to Google; (d) true and 25 correct copies of emails that I sent to or received from Google; and (e) true and correct 26 copies of Court documents filed by Google. Exhibits in categories (a), (b), (c), and (d) 27 contain the correct date the document was emailed, downloaded, captured and/or 28 saved, and, when applicable, the URL of the webpage. I have added green check

1 marks or highlighting where noted to some exhibits so that the Court may more readily 2 locate relevant information contained in those exhibits. I will use the terms “P10
3 Images” and “Perfect 10 Images” interchangeably to denote Perfect 10 copyrighted 4 images.

5 3. Attached as page 1 of Exhibit 1 is a webpage that I sent to Google as part 6 of Perfect 10’s July 2, 2007 DMCA notice. The URL at the bottom of the page is a 7 “complete URL” which contains the term blogger.com. I will use the term “complete 8 URL” or “full URL” to refer to a URL that starts with http:// and does not have any 9 ellipses like “...” in it. Adobe has a URL extraction feature, so that if Google had 10 wanted to use only the URL and not the attached image, it could have simply extracted 11 the URL at the bottom of page 1 and copied it into a text file, spreadsheet, browser bar, 12 or search window. Although Google has recently changed its instructions and 13 indicated to Perfect 10 that it wants only lists of URLs without the attached images, 14 after Perfect sent such spreadsheet-style notices to Google from June 4, 2004 through 15 April 24, 2007, Google belatedly claimed that all forty of those notices were deficient.
16 Attached as page 2 of Exhibit 2 is that same image on the same webpage with the same 17 URL which I printed from blogger.com on May 10, 2009, almost two years after the 18 July 2, 2007 notice. Attached as pages 3 and 4 of Exhibit 1 are the results of a “whois” 19 search which I conducted for blogger.com on May 7, 2009. The registered owner of 20 blogger.com is Google, Inc. The domain servers are listed as google.com. Between 21 July 2, 2007 and July 9, 2008, I have sent to Google in DMCA notices, over 4,000 web 22 pages containing full-size P10 Images similar to that shown on page 1 of Exhibit 1. As 23 of November of 2008, Google had removed at most 40 of those images from its 24 blogger.com servers.

25 4. Attached as pages 1 and 2 of Exhibit 2 are web pages that I included in 26 my October 16, 2007 DMCA notice to Google, which advised Google that the image 27 shown is an infringing Perfect 10 copyrighted image. Page 1 of Exhibit 2 is a Google 28 cache link which Google listed in its Web Search results for the web site female-

1 bodies.blogspot.com, a website which Google hosts. The URL of the image on page 2 2 contains the term blogger.com, which means the image was stored on Google servers.
3 Attached as pages 3 and 4 of Exhibit 2 are the same infringing P10 Images of model
4 Luba Shumeyko which I printed from blogspot.com and blogger.com on May 9, 2009, 5 approximately eighteen months after the October 16, 2007 notice. Because page 3 of 6 Exhibit 2 also is a cache link, this means that Google not only continued to host the 7 same identified infringing webpage, but Google also continued to directly link to that 8 same identified infringing web page in its Web Search results. Attached as page 5 of 9 Exhibit 2 are the results of a “whois” search which I conducted for blogspot.com on 10 May 7, 2009. It shows that the registered owner of blogspot.com is Google, Inc. and 11 that the name servers for blogspot.com are google.com. When Perfect 10 set up a 12 blogspot.com website to investigate what it takes to create such a website, Google did 13 not ask Perfect 10 to identify itself, other than to provide an email address. Google has 14 hosted over 400 websites via its blogspot.com hosting program that have infringed, in 15 total, more than 10,000 P10 Images.

16 5. Attached as page 1 of Exhibit 3 is a webpage that I included in Perfect 17 10’s July 9, 2008 DMCA notice to Google. I indicated in that notice that all images on 18 that webpage were copyrighted by Perfect 10. The page is from the web site 19 lamanzanadeadanplus.blogspot.com, which is hosted by Google. Attached as page 2 20 of Exhibit 3 is a print screen of the same images displayed by that web site, on the 21 same web page, on May 9, 2009, ten months later. Next to those images I have placed 22 a green checkmark where it says “Ads by Google.” In total, Google has displayed 23 “Ads by Google” on Google hosted web pages that have contained more than 4,000 24 P10 Images.

25 6. Attached as Exhibit 4 are portions of a sur-reply declaration of Alexander 26 Macgillivray in support of Google’s opposition to Perfect 10’s preliminary injunction 27 motion. I have highlighted on page 7 of Exhibit 4 two URLs which Google admittedly 28 received notice of from Perfect 10 on May 31, 2004 but did not remove from its Web

1 Search results until November 3, 2005, over seventeen months later. Although Mr.
2 Macgillivray claims that part of Google's delay in processing Perfect 10's notices was 3 because Google had to hand type in the URLs, that is not the case, as Perfect 10 sent to 4 Google via a July 19, 2004 email, all of the prior URLs in electronic format in an 5 attached excel spreadsheet, at Google's request. Google did not remove any of the 6 links from Perfect 10's July 19, 2004 DMCA notice until at least October 11, 2004, 7 according to the spreadsheet attached to Mr. Macgillivray's declaration.

8 7. Although Google belatedly removed hundreds of identified links to 9 infringing web pages from its Web Search results, it did not remove those same links 10 from its Image Search results. Attached as page 1 of Exhibit 5 is another page from 11 Alexander Macgillivray's sur-reply declaration. I have highlighted the URL 12 web.tiscali.it/raskz/donne/giugno.htm, which Perfect 10 sent to Google in its June 28, 13 2004 notice and which Google admittedly removed from its Web Search results on 14 October 11, 2004, more than one hundred days later. Attached as page 2 of Exhibit 5 15 is a web page that I printed from google.com on July 9, 2006. I have highlighted at the 16 top of the page, the same link, web.tiscali.it/raskz/donne/giugno.htm. This means that 17 Google did not remove that same identified infringing link from its Image Search 18 results as of July 9, 2006, more than two years after receiving Perfect 10's notice.
19 Attached as page 3 of Exhibit 5 is a portion of the URLs that I sent to Google in 20 Perfect 10's July 19, 2004 notice, in electronic format. I have highlighted the URL 21 bukuroshe.parajsa.com/sashabrinkova1.htm that was listed in that notice. Attached as 22 page 4 of Exhibit 5, is a printout I made from google.com on May 31, 2008. I have 23 highlighted that same URL on that page. Page 4 shows that Google was continuing to 24 copy the same infringing image of Sasha Brinkova for which it had received notice on 25 July 19, 2004, was making that into a thumbnail, and then was linking that thumbnail 26 to the same infringing web page identified in Perfect 10's July 19, 2004 notice. In 27 addition, as can be seen on page 4, Google was placing its ads next to that same 28 infringing P10 Image on that same infringing web page. Page 5 of Exh. 5 shows that

1 Google was continuing to link to that same infringing webpage via its Image Search 2 results on May 9, 2009, almost five years after receiving notice from Perfect 10.

3 8. After I sent Google my first DMCA notice in 2004, I received instructions 4 from Google on June 1, 2004, for sending DMCA notices, which are attached as 5 Exhibit 6. These instructions do not mention image search, image URLs, AdSense, or 6 Blogger. In my next forty or so DMCA notices to Google, I followed the instructions 7 provided by Google in Exhibit 6, by cutting and pasting the URL in green at the end of 8 each infringing Google Web Search result into an excel spreadsheet. I also included 9 the search term in the center column of my spreadsheet, which was also normally the 10 name of the model whose image was infringed. On the right side of my spreadsheet, I 11 either provided the Volume and Issue number of the Perfect 10 Magazine in which the 12 infringed image(s) appeared, along with a range of pages, or offered Google a free 13 password to enter our website, perfect10.com, where the infringed image(s) could also 14 be located. An example of such a notice is shown on pages 3-7 of Exhibit 6, which are 15 5 pages out of a fifteen page notice which Perfect 10 sent to Google on Feb. 7, 2005.

16 9. Even though I followed Google's instructions, and even though Google 17 sent me emails saying that it had finished processing my notices without suggesting 18 that there were any deficiencies, and even though Google admittedly removed some 19 links from its Web Search results using my notices, Google nevertheless belatedly 20 claimed in its opposition to Perfect 10's motion for Preliminary Injunction, that all of 21 Perfect 10's notices were defective. Google's primary argument was that it couldn't 22 tell which image on the identified web page belonged to Perfect 10. This was incorrect 23 for several reasons. First, in many cases the identified infringing web page only had 24 one image. Second, I listed the model name in my spreadsheet – it was rarely the case 25 that there was more than one image of a model with that name on the identified web 26 page. I also gave the page range of Perfect 10 Magazine where the infringed image 27 appeared, in case there happened to be two or more images of the identified model on 28 the identified web page. Google also claimed that my notices were defective because I

1 removed the starting www. from the URL. That is incorrect because a) Google could 2 have simply added the www. if necessary, b) Mr. Macgillivray's declaration 3 demonstrates that Google could find and delete the URLs identified by Perfect 10, and 4 c) Google sent me letters indicating that they had completed processing my notices – 5 they never sent me a letter stating that I needed to add back the starting www. In fact, 6 Google itself removes the starting www. when it places the infringing URL in 7 Google's list of URLs to be blocked. Nevertheless, to avoid any further claims by 8 Google that my notices were deficient, in June of 2007, I began to send to Google 9 actual copies of infringing web pages, and removed or crossed out non-P10 images.
10 Using this new format, I submitted DMCA notices to Google dated June 28, 2007, July 11 2, 2007, July 12, 2007, October 16, 2007, December 14, 2007, January 24, 2008, 12 March 17, 2008, July 9, 2008, and April 24, 2009. I spent an enormous amount of 13 time on these later notices to ensure that there was absolutely no question as to which 14 images were copyrighted by Perfect 10. Images were typically arranged in folders 15 labeled "ALL ARE P10," meaning that every image in the file, unless it was part of an 16 advertising banner or crossed out, was copyrighted by Perfect 10; or "CHECKED OR 17 LARGE ARE P10," meaning that images with green check marks by them and large 18 images were copyrighted by Perfect 10. The copies of infringing web pages that I sent 19 to Google saved in PDF format using Adobe Professional (which was most of them), 20 showed the full URL of the infringing web page at the bottom of the page, and also 21 provided Google with a copy of both the infringed and infringing image. By using 22 Adobe Professional to save copies of the infringing web pages, the files I sent to 23 Google were searchable, the URLs could be extracted, and the link structure and 24 search term were normally maintained, so that Google could see exactly how I got to a 25 particular infringing web page, and could extract and copy URLs from my notices, 26 without having to type them into a spreadsheet manually. Yahoo! has been able to 27 process both Perfect 10's spreadsheet style notices as well as its Adobe style notices, in 28 three days.

1           10.     When Google changed its DMCA instructions around 2007 to add 2 separate instructions for submitting image URLs, I followed those instructions as well.
3 Attached as page 1 of Exhibit 7 is a webpage that I included in my March 17, 2008 4 DMCA notice to Google. I used Google’s instructions for providing Image URLs to 5 obtain that web page. The Image URL is highlighted in yellow at the top and bottom 6 of the page, and ends in “jpg”. By providing the notice in this fashion, I gave Google 7 both the URL that it wanted and the infringed and infringing image in the only 8 efficient way I know of. Google has never suggested any other workable way of doing 9 this. Attached as page 2 of Exhibit 7 is a webpage that I printed from google.com on 10 May 17, 2009, which shows that Google did not remove that image from its Image
11 Search results fourteen months later. The highlighted URL on page 1 of Exhibit 7 12 matches the checked URL on page 2 of Exhibit 7 which I obtained by placing my 13 cursor over Google’s “See full-size Image” link.

14           GOOGLE HAS REFUSED TO ANSWER DIRECT QUESTIONS REGARDING 15           WHAT INFORMATION IT NEEDS TO LOCATE INFRINGING MATERIAL

16           11.     Despite my attempts to provide notices that followed Google instructions, 17 Google continued to claim that all my notices were deficient. In fact, it appears that 18 whatever I did, Google would claim my notices were deficient, even though they were 19 not. Over the years, Google has provided to Perfect 10 a string of completely 20 contradictory DMCA instructions. For example, the instructions that Google sent to 21 Perfect 10 on June 1, 2004, as shown on pages 1 and 2 of Exhibit 6, ask Perfect 10 not 22 to email its notices. However, on July 27, 2004, almost two months later, Google sent 23 me an email attached as page 8 of Exhibit 6, which asks me to send my notices in soft 24 copy, meaning by email. That Google request was peculiar because I had already sent 25 one of the notices Google was asking about, Perfect 10’s June 1, 2004 notice, in that 26 form. Google’s email does not suggest that there is anything deficient about Perfect 27 10’s prior notices. In fact, it states that Google had almost finished processing them.
28 The directions that Google sent to me on June 1, 2004, asked me to cut and paste the 1 URL in green that appears at the end of each infringing Google Web Search result.

2 That is a URL which determines a web page with the same URL except that the web 3 page URL begins with http://. In 2006, Andrew Bridges, who was then an attorney for 4 Google, claimed in a declaration that Perfect 10 was supposed to provide Google with 5 the URL of the Image instead of the URL for the web page. That advice completely 6 contradicts the written instructions that I had received from Google in June of 2004
7 which did not even mention image URLs. Mr. Bridges new instructions definitely did 8 not work when the infringing webpage in-line linked to an image stored elsewhere. In 9 those situations, the image URL would identify the location of the infringing image but 10 not the location of the infringing web page that in-line linked to that image. In 2008, 11 Shantal Rands, the current copyright agent for Google, contradicted Mr. Bridges, and 12 indicated that to remove Web Search results a Web Page URL was needed, but she 13 also testified that the original instructions which Google sent me on June 1, 2004, 14 would not result in compliant notices. In August of 2007, Perfect 10 received another 15 letter from Andrew Bridges. That letter stated that a copy of the infringing web page, 16 with the infringing image circled or otherwise identified, would be sufficient.
17 However, in 2008, Perfect 10 received a letter from help@google.com, stating that 18 Google did not want copies of infringing web pages, it just wanted a list of URLs, even 19 though Google had previously claimed such notices were deficient. In an attempt to 20 ascertain, once and for all, exactly what URLs or what information Google felt it 21 needed, on November 27, 2008, I sent Google several examples of different ways in 22 which Google was assisting in the infringement of P10 Images, and asked Google to 23 give me the exact URL they needed, so that I could use that as a template for further 24 notices. Google refused to answer my specific questions and simply referred me back 25 to their general DMCA instructions, which did not answer my questions. Attached as 26 pages 1 and 2 of Exhibit 8 is a copy of my November 27, 2008 email/DMCA notice to 27 Google, asking for specific instructions regarding specific instances of infringement.
28 Attached as page 3 of Exhibit 8 is the first attachment in my November 27, 2008

1 email. I identified two infringing search results in that email by placing green check
2 marks next to them. Attached as page 4 of Exhibit 8 is a Google search result I printed 3 out on May 8, 2009. I have highlighted the link which I identified in my November 4 27, 2008 notice which Google has still not removed. Each of the listings in page 4 of 5 Exhibit 7 display the same confidential perfect10.com username/password
6 combinations (username:chewey, password:stoney) and are almost identical. Attached 7 as page 5 of Exhibit 8 is Google's response, which Google sent to me twenty days after 8 receiving my notice. Google did not answer my questions. I have also attempted to 9 speak directly with someone at Google's help desk. Google has not allowed me to do 10 that.

11 12. Attached as Exhibit 9 are two web pages that I printed from google.com 12 on May 4, 2009, using Google's new "similar images" function. To obtain the second 13 page from the first, I clicked on the checked "Similar images" link on the first page.
14 Although Perfect 10 has provided Google with in some cases, hundreds of notices
15 regarding the same infringing P10 Image, Google continues to display multiple copies 16 of that image in its Image Search results. Google could easily and dramatically reduce 17 the number of infringing P10 images available in its Image Search results in a number 18 of ways, including by using its "similar images" function.

19 13. Despite Perfect 10's repeated objections, Google has been forwarding 20 Perfect 10's confidential DMCA notices for publication on the website 21 chillingeffects.org. For spreadsheet type notices similar to the 42 that I had sent before 22 (which Google belatedly claimed were deficient), such publication negates my notice 23 by making the same infringing URLs available through Chillingeffects.org. In many 24 cases, when I have performed a search on a Perfect 10 model name, if Google has 25 removed an infringing link, it will instead provide a link to the Perfect 10 DMCA 26 notice which lists that removed link. Thus, Google still makes the infringing URLs of 27 which it has been notified available to its users. Attached as pages 1 and 2 of Exhibit 28 10 are two emails that I sent to Google advising Google that it was not authorized to

1 publish our DMCA notices, and that it should stop forwarding them to 2 chillingeffects.org for publication. On page 1 of Exhibit 10, which was an email I sent 3 to Google on January 27, 2006, I state, “As we have explained on several occasions, 4 Perfect 10’s DMCA notices provide a roadmap to those who wish to see Perfect 10’s 5 images without charge. Perfect 10 has produced its DMCA notices to Google stamped 6 ‘confidential.’ Perfect 10’s notices are confidential and I demand that you 7 immediately cause Chilling Effects and whoever else you provided those notices to, to 8 stop publishing them immediately.” I printed pages 3-6 of Exhibit 10 from 9 chillingeffects.org on November 29, 2008, several years after Perfect 10 first 10 complained to Google. I have been able to copy and paste URLs from those pages into 11 my browser bar and view and/or download the infringing images that I painstakingly 12 identified to Google in that notice.

13       14. Even if Google were to remove the infringing links which Perfect 10 has 14 identified to it from its Image Search results, unless Google either forced the 15 underlying infringing website to remove the identified infringing material or cut all 16 links to that website, Google users could still view or download the same infringing 17 P10 Images from google.com. They could simply click on any other thumbnail which 18 Google made available in its Image Search results which linked to that webpage or 19 website, and then scroll through that infringing website while remaining at google.com 20 until they came to that infringing, Google-framed webpage. Attached as Exhibit 11 is 21 a demonstration of this process. I print-screened Exhibit 11 from google.com on May 22 10, 2009. The checked image in the lower part of the Exhibit is copyrighted by Perfect 23 10. I was able to view and download that image by clicking on a Google thumbnail of 24 Cindy Crawford. I then simply clicked on a link on the resulting page to reach the 25 infringing check marked P10 Image. As long as Google allows the infringing website 26 famoxas.blogspot.com (which Google hosts), to offer the checked P10 Image, and 27 Google makes any links available to that website from its Image Search results, 28 Google users will be able to view and/or download the checked image as shown.

Tribute to the beauty of the female body

I think that the human female body is the most beautiful thing there is. It is sad to hide such a beautiful piece of art under clothes. With this blog, I hope to remove the shamefulness that is associated with female nudity. The female body is something to be proud of, not something to be ashamed of.

Dear Mr. Rana and Mr. MacGillvary,

We have been complaining to Google for more than three and a half years regarding a massive misappropriation of Perfect 10 images and images belonging to third parties on websites that appear on Google Searches. This situation is very serious as consumers can view almost the entirety of Perfect 10's library over and over without paying anything by utilizing Google search or by looking at our images for free on your servers. It has become clear that you are misappropriating our images and hundreds of thousands of other adult images and offering them for free to drive traffic to your website so you can enhance advertising revenue. You don't need to offer any adult images to be a search engine, let alone hundreds of thousands, many of which are extraordinarily explicit and should not be shown to young kids. In the process of offering thousands of Perfect 10 images for free to drive traffic to your website, you are also using our images to promote three or four hundred thieves who misappropriated our property.

In a prior communication, I attached the declarations of celebrities Britney Spears, Christina Aguilera, Anna Kournikova, Yasmine Bleeth, and Rebecca Gayheart indicating that they have not authorized any celebrity porn site to use their names or images. With this information, our DMCA notices, and the many disclaimers on these sites, you should realize (if you do not already) that virtually all the "celebrity porn" sites that Google has in its search index (those that advertise nude images of mainstream celebrities) do not have the rights to their content. If your company is really serious about respecting intellectual property rights, you should require licenses or some other proof that celebrity porn sites own ANY of their celebrity images. They don't, and you don't have the rights to put these images on your servers either.

When I say "celebrity porn" website, I'm not talking about the official Britney Spears website, or a free fan site that shows no nudity. I'm talking about a commercial site like celebsdb.com, which is the first site that appears on a Google search for "Britney Spears Nude." This site, which uses stolen Perfect 10 images for the bodies of Denise Richards fakes on the URL www.celebsdb.com/Denise Richards/ (the bodies are Jana Rehackova from Perfect 10 Magazine volume 2 number 2, p 42 - 45, and Tara O'Connor from volume 2 number 2, p 46 - 52) also admits that it does not own its content. These types of commercial websites obviously do not own the rights to their content (they have a disclaimer, Perfect 10 materials, and they use images of celebrities from whom you have received declarations) and your company should not be working with them.

I should also note that you have large numbers of highly defamatory images of major celebrities on your own servers which wrongly show major celebrities involved in highly explicit sexual acts that you do not have the rights to and should not be showing to young kids or anyone else for that matter. Mixed with the celebrity fakes on your servers which shouldn't be on your servers are fakes with perfect 10 bodies.

Websites in the Google search index that admit that they do not own the rights to their content and typically have misappropriated Perfect 10 images or rights of publicity - if they have not they could at any time - include 1britneyspears.com, 1000celebrities.com, that it has stolen its content particularly after receiving a DMCA notice about such a website. If you want to find websites that admit they do not own their content, do a search on "public domain" & copyright & and either celebs or various celebrity names like "Britney Spears." Such standard disclaimers include language like "All pictures, photos, and posters are copyrighted by their respective owners," – from altocelebs.com; "All pictures are assumed to be in the public domain," from free.bol.bg; "The pictures, graphics, and some of the information at this site are either from other internet sources or originally scanned by HollywoodMasti.com from popular magazines or posters. The copyright on these images belongs to the original photographer or the publisher of them;" or "All photographs of models and celebrities posted in this website is the property of their respective owners," from Gwool.com; or "Jerkengine.com contains photographic images that have been collected from various public domain internet resources. Copyright ownership is not claimed, implied, nor guaranteed and remains that of the author(s)."

Google is also listing password hacking websites in its search results which contain perfect 10 passwords and passwords for other websites in which Perfect 10 owns copyrights. Because the passwords on these sites come and go, any password hacking website could be dispensing perfect10.com passwords at any time or passwords to other websites in which Perfect 10 owns copyrights. Sites in which Perfect 10 owns copyrights or other rights include Perfect10.com, perfectten.com, tinyweber.net, ambersmith.com, ariagiovanni.com, ericacampbell.com, and ddgirls.com, among others. Sites that have distributed perfect10.com and perfectten.com passwords in the past include abu-passwords.com, accessions.org, adult-hacks.com, adult-password.com, adultpasswordcracks.com, adultunderground.com, allpasswords.com, altpassword.com, backdoors.org, banditpasswords.com, bestxxxpasswords.com, cleanpasses.org, custom-hacks.com, darkflash.com, dirty-passwords.com, dutchpasswords.com, eastpasswords.com, extremepasses.com, exxxpasswords.com, ezyypass.com, fantasypass.com, forbiddenpasswords.com, forbiddenxxx.net, forbiddenxxx.org, fredspasses.com, freepasses.net, freesexwebsites.com, freeweb.hu, freshhacks.com, grudgefuck.com, hackedlogins.com, hackedpass.com, hackedpaysites.com, hackxxxpasses.com, isekpasswords.com, killysex.com, loginaccepted.com, luckyxxxpasswords.com, mad-passes.com, mostpasswords.com, mperfect.net, necrohiphop.com, nejcpass.com, password-express.com, pass4u.net, passcracker.com, passdb.com, passes4all.com, passwordcorp.com, passwordhq.com, peterspasses.dk, sweetpasswords.com, xxxpassmasters.com, xxxpasswordrus.com, yourxxxpasses.com, zimapass.com, gold-members.com, crazypasses.com, passwordoutlet.com, happy-hacker.com, rawpasswords.com, tanyasmegasite.com, nudepass.com, passwordforum.com, ultrapasswords.com, ultimatepasswords.com, onlinexpasswords.com, uhfpasswords.com, and most other password hacking websites.

Perfect 10's copyrighted works which have been infringed can be found in Perfect 10 Magazines and/or on its subscription website at www.Perfect10.com. If you wish to examine such copyrighted works, we can provide you with a temporary username/password with which you may do so. Specific volumes of Perfect 10 Magazine, issue number, and page number on which most of the copyrighted pictures can be found are set forth below.

CONFIDENTIAL

In the first column below, I have listed the URL of the exact website page, located via the Google Search index, in which the unauthorized Perfect 10 images at issue may be located. In some cases the model name appears on that page and it is necessary to click on that link to see the actual image and in some other cases the link takes one to the website containing the infringing material but to a different page. I have removed the starting "http://www." on the URLs below to reduce their size. The second column represents the Google search term that was used to find that infringing URL. The third column gives the volume number, issue number, and pages of Perfect 10 Magazine where original copyrighted images may be found. These images may also be found in many cases on perfect10.com. For example, the third row indicates that the infringing URL was found by doing a Google search on "Adele Stephens." The infringing images can be found in Perfect 10 Magazine, volume 1, number 3, p 58 - 65 and on our website perfect10.com.

I have a good faith belief that the use of the Perfect 10 copyrighted material in the manner complained of in this email is not authorized by the copyright holder Perfect 10, its agent, or the law. The information in this notification is accurate. I swear under penalty of perjury that I am authorized to act on behalf of Perfect 10, Inc. the owner of the exclusive rights in the material which is being infringed.

Hi Norm,

Your DMCA complaints dated 6/28/04 and 6/1/04 are nearly finished with processing. In order that we may complete this process as quickly as possible, would it be possible for you to provide us with soft copies of the URLs contained in these two complaints? Because these are two separate complaints, it would be very helpful if you could provide two separate soft copies; one for each of them.

We are also in receipt of a third DMCA complaint from you dated 7/11/04. This complaint is also being processed. However, this complaint contained matters of both copyright and trademark. As a result, we asked for a new list of URLs containing only those URLs that you feel are subject to copyright infringement. Please note that, for this complaint, we only need the URLs that were not included in one of your first two complaints. These complaints are, as we mentioned above, being processed separately.

We appreciate your patience and cooperation during this process. If you have any questions, please let us know.

Regards,
The Google Team

Dear Copyright Agent,

THIS IS A CONFIDENTIAL COMMUNICATION NOT FOR PUBLICATION ON CHILLINGEFFECTS.ORG OR ELSEWHERE

Perfect 10 would like to understand what information you require in a DMCA notice for specific instances of infringement.

With this email, are attached examples of five different situations where Perfect 10 images are being infringed.

The first attachment is the result of a Google search I did on perfect10.com passwords.

What information should Perfect 10 provide to prevent Google from linking to the website best-warez.cz, or the website onlinez.net, both of which are displaying unauthorized Perfect10.com passwords? In this case, best-warez.cz is displaying the unauthorized combination chewey:stoney, and onlinez.net is displaying the unauthorized combination ducisco:lexusls. What can I do to prevent Google from itself displaying username/password combinations to perfect10.com, and from linking to websites that display such passwords?

In the second attachment, I clicked on the checked link on the second page. Then I clicked on links on the main menu shown on page 8 to find the other images in the second attachment. All of the images of models that do not have red X's across them are copyrighted by Perfect 10.

What information or URLs should I provide to Google so that Google a) will not link to any web page containing any of the images in the 2nd attachment, and b) will not make copies of any of the images in the 2nd attachment and use them in Google Image Search results? I assume you know that URLs can be extracted from Adobe Documents and that by putting your cursor on any image, you can see the image URL. Is it sufficient just to send to Google attachment 2 and say that Perfect 10 owns all the copyrighted images in that attachment? If not, what other information is necessary?

All of the images in the third attachment are copyrighted by Perfect 10. I obtained the images in the lower portion of each page by scrolling through the massive infringing website, xuset.net, which infringes more than 15,000 Perfect 10 copyrighted images. What information or URLs can I provide to Google so that Google stops showing Perfect 10 copyrighted images like this, in the lower part of the screen? Right now, Google is showing more than 15,000 Perfect 10 copyrighted images in the fashion shown in attachment 3.

Page 6 of attachment 3 shows that Google currently has as many as 119,000 links to xuset.net.

Attachment 4 contains 4 images copyrighted by Perfect 10. What information or URLs do I need to provide to Google so that Google stops a) displaying these images in its Image Search results, and b) linking to web pages containing these images?

Is it sufficient just to send Google copies of the images shown in attachment 4, and state that Perfect 10 owns the copyrights to all of these images? If not, what other information is necessary?

In attachment 5, Perfect 10 owns the copyright to the thumbnail at the top and the larger image in the middle, and the large image on the second page.

What URLs or other information do I need to provide to Google so that Google will remove or disable access to the infringing material in this example?

Can I just send to Google attachment 5 or is more information needed?

Please consider this communication to also constitute a formal DMCA notice.

I swear under penalty of perjury that a) I have a good faith belief that the use of the Perfect 10 copyrighted material in the manner complained of in this email is not authorized by the copyright holder Perfect 10, its agent, or the law, b) that the information in this notification is accurate, to the best of my knowledge, and c) that I am authorized to act on behalf of Perfect 10, Inc. the owner of the exclusive rights in the material which is being infringed.

Please contact me if you have any questions about this notice, and please answer the above questions.

Sincerely,

Norm Zada, Ph.D.

Dear Mr. Macgillivray,

Despite Perfect 10's repeated objections, Google is continuing to publish Perfect 10's confidential DMCA notices. As we have explained on several occasions, Perfect 10's DMCA notices provide a roadmap to those who wish to see Perfect 10 images without charge. Perfect 10 has produced its DMCA notices to Google stamped "confidential." Perfect 10's notices are confidential and I demand that you immediately cause Chilling Effects and whoever else you provided those notices to, to stop publishing them immediately.

Sincerely,

Norm Zada, Ph.D.

Re:

The following is a DMCA notice.

Google is actively linking to, and displaying, stolen content belonging to Perfect 10 and thousands of other copyright holders, as well as violating the rights of thousands of celebrities.

The attached excel spreadsheet contains a list of websites that have misappropriated Perfect 10 copyrighted works. The column in the middle provides either a) the name of the model in the infringing image, or the search term, or both. In almost all cases, when a model name appears in the middle column, it is both the name of the model in the infringing image and the search term. The column on the left contains a URL which is returned by Google when a search is done on the search term in the middle column. That URL identifies either a) a webpage that contains infringing images of the model whose name appears in the second column, b) a webpages that contains a list with that model name and one must click on the link for that model to see the infringing images, c) a web page which contains a search box and one must put the model name or Perfect 10 in the search box to find the images of that model, or d) in the case of the last 168 URLs listed, which are paysites that advertise with your company or to which Google links (such as lusetnet.com, 100proofnews.com, alibis.com, astraweb.com, athenanews.com, binaries.com, cheapnewsgroups.com, diiva.com, easynews.com, eurousenet.com, newsdemon.com, newsfeeds.com, newsgroup-binaries.com, newsgroupdirect.com, newsguy.com, newsgroups.com, newshosting.com, nntpjunkie.com, nothinbutnews.com, planetnewsgroups.com, powerusetnet.com, rhinonewsgroups.com, thevalkyrie.com, thundernews.com, titannews.com, usenet.com, usenet-access.com, usenetbinaries.com, usenetgiant.com, usenetmonster.com, usenet-unlimited.com, usenext.com, xusetnet.com, yottanews.com, and the other websites listed), I have listed the URL of the infringing website, as there are typically no "webpage URLs." For those websites, to find the infringing images, you must subscribe to the website and then do a search on the model name, i.e. alena drazna. Typically, twenty or so images will appear of that model, all with Perfect 10 copyright notices. Images with Perfect 10 copyright notices are copyrighted by Perfect 10. It is also possible to locate thousands of Perfect 10 images on such websites by doing a search on "P10." I have attached examples of some of the Perfect 10 images on these infringing websites. The entires on the spreadsheet corresponding to these images are in bold.

GOOGLE is also listing password hacking websites in its search results which contain username/password combinations which allow unauthorized access to all the copyrighted works in perfect10.com. Because the passwords on these sites change frequently, any password hacking website could be dispensing perfect10.com passwords at any time. Sites that have distributed perfect10.com passwords in the past include abu-passwords.com, accessions.org, adult-hacks.com, adult-password.com, adultpasswordcracks.com, adultunderground.com, allpasswords.com, altpassword.com, backdoors.org, banditpasswords.com, bat-yarn1.dyndns.biz, bestxxxpasswords.com, carandmodel.com, cleanpasses.org, custom-hacks.com, darkflast.com, dirty-passwords.com, cleanpasses.org, custom-hacks.com, darkflash.com, dirty-passwords.com, doctoramor.com, dutchpasswords.
