UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

NORMA JEAN KING,
Plaintiff,
v.
MICHAEL J. ASTRUE,
COMMISSIONER OF SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION,
Defendant.

) Case No. CV 09-8742 JCG

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER

I.

INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

On December 1, 2009, plaintiff Norma Jean King (“Plaintiff”) filed a complaint against defendant Michael J. Astrue (“Defendant”), the Commissioner of the Social Security Administration, seeking review of a denial of supplemental security income (“SSI”). [Docket No. 3.] On March 15, 2010, Defendant filed his answer, along with a certified copy of the administrative record (“AR”). [Docket Nos. 15, 17.]

Plaintiff submitted a brief in support of her complaint (“Plaintiff’s Brief”) on April 8, 2011. [Docket No. 28.] On June 8, 2011, Defendant submitted his

1 opposition brief (“Defendant’s Brief”). [Docket No. 31.]

2 In sum, having carefully studied, inter alia, the parties’ written submissions
3 and the administrative record, the Court concludes that, as detailed herein, the 4 Administrative Law Judge inappropriately discounted Plaintiff’s subjective complaints
5 about the severity of pain and her limitations. The Court remands this matter to the 6 Commissioner in accordance with the principles and instructions enunciated in this 7 Memorandum Opinion and Order.

8 II.

9 PERTINENT FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

10 Plaintiff, who was 64 years of age on the date of her administrative hearing, 11 has completed high school. (See AR at 22, 80, 98.) Her past relevant work includes 12 employment as a shipping and receiving clerk and as a stock clerk. (Id. at 27-29, 13 95.)

14 Plaintiff filed for SSI on March 19, 2007, alleging that she has been disabled
15 since December 1, 2006 because of hearing loss, a tumor in her left ear, hepatitis, 16 carpal tunnel syndrome, and an injury to her right shoulder. (AR at 80, 93-94.) At 17 her hearing, Plaintiff changed the onset date to March 19, 2007. (Id. At 24-25.)
18 Plaintiff’s application was initially denied after which she filed a timely request for a 19 hearing. (Id. at 51-54, 56, 57-62.)

20 On March 30, 2009, Plaintiff, represented by counsel, appeared and testified
21 at a hearing before an ALJ. (AR at 22-47.) The ALJ also heard testimony from Mr.
22 Jones^{1/}, a vocational expert (“VE”). (Id. at 27-38.)

23 On May 12, 2009, the ALJ denied Plaintiff’s request for benefits. (AR at 11-24 17.) Applying the well-known five-step sequential evaluation process, the ALJ
25 found, at step one, that Plaintiff had not engaged in substantial gainful activity since 26 her alleged onset date of disability. (Id. at 13.)

27 _____
28 ^{1/} Mr. Jones first name is not provided at any point in the record.

1 At step two, the ALJ found that Plaintiff “had the following severe 2 impairments: right shoulder tendinitis; chronic obstructive pulmonary disease; and 3 bilateral hearing loss.” (AR at 13.)

4 At step three, the ALJ determined that the evidence does not demonstrate that 5 Plaintiff’s impairment, either individually or in combination, meet or medically 6 equal the severity of any listing set forth in the Social Security regulations.^{2/} (AR at 7 13.)

8 The ALJ then assessed Plaintiff’s residual functional capacity^{3/} (“RFC”) and 9 determined that she was limited to performing medium work. (AR at 13-14.) The 10 ALJ limited Plaintiff from performing “any work involving concentrated exposure to 11 dust, fumes, temperature extremes, or noisy environments, and work involving 12 exposure to hazards, and any work where good hearing is required.” (Id. at 14.)

13 The ALJ determined, at step four, that Plaintiff has the ability to perform her 14 past relevant work. (AR at 16.) Thus, the ALJ concluded that Plaintiff was not 15 suffering from a disability as defined by the Act. (Id. at 11, 17.)

16 Plaintiff filed a timely request for review of the ALJ’s decision, which was 17 denied by the Appeals Council. (AR at 1-3, 7.) The ALJ’s decision stands as the 18 final decision of the Commissioner.

19 III.

20 STANDARD OF REVIEW

21 This Court is empowered to review decisions by the Commissioner to deny 22

23 ^{2/} See 20 C.F.R. pt. 404, subpt. P, app. 1.

24 ^{3/} Residual functional capacity is what a claimant can still do despite existing 25 exertional and nonexertional limitations. Cooper v. Sullivan, 880 F.2d 1152, 1155
26 n. 5 (9th Cir. 1989). “Between steps three and four of the five-step evaluation, the 27 ALJ must proceed to an intermediate step in which the ALJ assesses the claimant’s
28 residual functional capacity.” Massachi v. Astrue, 486 F.3d 1149, 1151 n. 2 (9th Cir. 2007).

1 benefits. 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). The findings and decision of the Social Security
2 Administration must be upheld if they are free of legal error and supported by 3 substantial evidence. Mayes v. Massanari, 276 F.3d 453, 458-59 (9th Cir. 2001, as 4 amended Dec. 21, 2001). If the court, however, determines that the ALJ’s findings
5 are based on legal error or are not supported by substantial evidence in the record,
6 the court may reject the findings and set aside the decision to deny benefits.
7 Aukland v. Massanari, 257 F.3d 1033, 1035 (9th Cir. 2001); Tonapetyan v. Halter,
8 242 F.3d 1144, 1147 (9th Cir. 2001).

9 “Substantial evidence is more than a mere scintilla, but less than a 10 preponderance.” Aukland, 257 F.3d at 1035. Substantial evidence is such “relevant 11 evidence which a reasonable person might accept as adequate to support a 12 conclusion.” Reddick v. Chater, 157 F.3d 715, 720 (9th Cir. 1998); Mayes, 276 F.3d 13 at 459. To determine whether substantial evidence supports the ALJ’s finding, the 14 reviewing court must review the administrative record as a whole, “weighing both 15 the evidence that supports and the evidence that detracts from the ALJ’s
16 conclusion.” Mayes, 276 F.3d at 459. The ALJ’s decision “cannot be affirmed
17 simply by isolating a specific quantum of supporting evidence.” Aukland, 257 F.3d 18 at 1035 (quoting Sousa v. Callahan, 143 F.3d 1240, 1243 (9th Cir. 1998)). If the 19 evidence can reasonably support either affirming or reversing the ALJ’s decision, 20 the reviewing court “may not substitute its judgment for that of the ALJ.” Id.
21 (quoting Matney ex rel. Matney v. Sullivan, 981 F.2d 1016, 1018 (9th Cir. 1992)).

22 IV.

23 ISSUES PRESENTED

24 Three disputed issues are presented here:

- 25 1. whether the ALJ erred in determining the credibility of Plaintiff, 26 (Plaintiff’s Brief at 2-13; Defendant’s Brief at 2-7);
- 27 2. whether the ALJ properly considered the combined effects of Plaintiff’s 28 impairments when determining her RFC, (Plaintiff’s Brief at 13-16; Defendant’s

1 Brief at 7-9); and

2 3. whether the ALJ properly determined that Plaintiff could perform her
3 past work. (Plaintiff’s Brief at 16-19; Defendant’s Brief at 9-10.)

4 At this juncture, the Court finds the issue of Plaintiff’s credibility to be 5 dispositive of this matter, and does not reach the remaining issues.

6 V.

7 DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

8 Plaintiff argues that the ALJ only gave conclusory statements in rejecting 9 Plaintiff’s statements and credibility. (Plaintiff’s Brief at 11-12.) Plaintiff asserts 10 that by only providing conclusory statements, the ALJ failed to provide clear and 11 convincing reasons for rejecting Plaintiff’s testimony. (Id. at 11-12, 12-13.)
12 Plaintiff maintains that there is sufficient evidence in the record to support Plaintiff’s
13 claims. (See generally id. at 3-11.)

14 A. The ALJ Must Provide Clear and Convincing Reasons For Discounting
15 Plaintiff’s Subjective Complaints

16 Plaintiff, of course, carries the burden of producing objective medical 17 evidence of his or her impairments and showing that the impairments could 18 reasonably be expected to produce some degree of the alleged symptoms. Benton ex
19 rel. Benton v. Barnhart, 331 F.3d 1030, 1040 (9th Cir. 2003). But once a plaintiff
20 meets that burden, medical findings are not required to support the alleged severity 21 of pain. Bunnell v. Sullivan, 947 F.2d 341, 345 (9th Cir. 1991) (en banc); see also 22 Light v. Soc. Sec. Admin., 119 F.3d 789, 792 (9th Cir. 1997, as amended Sept. 17, 23 1997) (“[A] claimant need not present clinical or diagnostic evidence to support the 24 severity of his pain.”) (internal citation omitted).

25 Under these circumstances, an ALJ can then reject a plaintiff’s subjective 26 complaint “only upon (1) finding evidence of malingering, or (2) expressing clear 27 and convincing reasons for doing so.” Benton, 331 F.3d at 1040. The ALJ may 28 consider the following factors in weighing a plaintiff’s credibility:

- 1 (1) his or her reputation for truthfulness;
- 2 (2) inconsistencies either in the plaintiff's testimony or between the plaintiff's
- 3 testimony and his or her conduct;
- 4 (3) his or her daily activities;
- 5 (4) his or her work record; and
- 6 (5) testimony from physicians and third parties concerning the nature,
- 7 severity, and effect of the symptoms of which she complains. Thomas v. Barnhart,
- 8 278 F.3d 947, 958-59 (9th Cir. 2002).

9 Here, the ALJ did not find evidence of malingering. (See generally AR at 21-10 28). Thus, the ALJ's reasons for rejecting Plaintiff's credibility must rest on clear 11 and convincing reasons. See Benton, 331 F.3d at 1040. "General findings are 12 insufficient; rather, the ALJ must identify what testimony is not credible and what 13 evidence undermines the claimant's complaints." Lester v. Chater, 81 F.3d 821, 834
14 (9th Cir. 1995, as amended April 9, 1996); Reddick, 157 F.3d at 722.

15 B. Plaintiff's Subjective Complaints

16 In a pain questionnaire, Plaintiff wrote that she suffered from pain in both 17 arms, and shoulders, in her left hand, and in her left ear. (AR at 100.) Plaintiff said
18 that the pain occurred "on and off all day, and at night [its] constant." (Id.) Plaintiff 19 reported that she was unable to perform past activities such as cleaning the entire 20 house, shopping, pushing a vacuum cleaner or grocery cart, picking up shopping
21 bags, and working on a computer. (Id. at 101.) Plaintiff claimed that she can only 22 perform light chores. (Id.) Plaintiff mentioned that she is only able to sit for two or 23 three hours at a time and stand for about an hour. (Id. at 102.)

24 In a disability report, Plaintiff complained that she has no hearing in her left 25 ear and lost forty-percent of her hearing in her right ear. (AR at 108.) Plaintiff also 26 said that she specifically suffered from hepatitis and carpal tunnel syndrome in 27 addition to her other physical maladies. (Id. at 93-94.)

28

1 Plaintiff testified that she can hear well enough out of her right ear if she is 2 “looking at [the person speaking] and there’s not a lot of noise involved, [Plaintiff]
3 can understand what [the person speaking is] saying.” (AR at 38.) Plaintiff noted
4 that she has difficulty hearing on the telephone. (Id. at 39.) Plaintiff said that she 5 was unable to afford hearing aids. (Id.) Plaintiff displayed a brace on her left hand
6 which she said she needs to help with the pain, numbness, and tingling that results
7 from her carpal tunnel syndrome. (Id. at 40.)

8 C. ALJ’s Purported Reasons For Discounting Plaintiff’s Credibility

9 In rejecting Plaintiff’s credibility, the ALJ found that Plaintiff’s “medically 10 determinable impairments could reasonably be expected to cause the alleged 11 symptoms; however [Plaintiff’s] statements concerning the intensity, persistence and 12 limiting effects of these symptoms are not credible to the extent they are inconsistent 13 with the . . . residual functional capacity assessment.” (AR at 16.) The ALJ said that 14 the “medical evidence does not support the limitations and restrictions alleged by the 15 claimant.” (Id.)

16 The ALJ dismissed Plaintiff’s auditory complaints by saying that Plaintiff had 17 no difficulty during her administrative hearing, that one doctor found Plaintiff’s
18 hearing was normal, and that Plaintiff would be able to function if she wore hearing
19 aids. (AR at 16.) The ALJ did not accept Plaintiff’s testimony about her carpal 20 tunnel syndrome because there was not “medical confirmation.” (Id.) The ALJ also 21 rejected Plaintiff’s statements about her carpal tunnel syndrome, saying that it would 22 have “no significant effect on [Plaintiff’s] functioning” because the injury is on her
23 left hand and Plaintiff is right-handed. (Id.)

24 D. ALJ Inappropriately Discounted Plaintiff’s Credibility

25 After a careful review of the medical record and the parties’ papers, the Court
26 has considered the ALJ’s reasons for finding Plaintiff not credible, and concludes 27 that a remand is warranted on this issue. Three reasons guide this Court’s 28 determination.

1 First, the ALJ erred to the extent she rejected Plaintiff's credibility based on a
2 lack of objective medical evidence. (See AR at 16.) Plaintiff provided sufficient
3 medical evidence of an underlying impairments that was reasonably likely to cause
4 the symptoms and limitations she described. For instance:

5 1. An examination report for Plaintiff's hearing, performed by James
6 Montagano, M.D. ("Dr. Montagano) on May 31, 2007, stated that Plaintiff has "a 7 moderate sensorineural loss on the right secondary to presbycusis and a profound 8 mixed loss on the left secondary to the experience of a glomus tympanicum and 9 subsequent surgery to remove it, as well as presbycusis." (AR at 249.) The same
10 report also said that Plaintiff is a candidate for "binaural" hearing aid use. (Id.)

11 2. An audiological evaluation report, written by Patricia Keane, M.A.
12 ("Dr. Keane") on May 31, 2007, said that an "[a]udiologic evaluation is consistent 13 with a bilateral sensorineural hearing loss mild to severe in the right ear and severe 14 to profound in the left ear." (AR at 250.)

15 3. A physical therapy assessment, dated April 19, 2007, noted that 16 Plaintiff tested positive on the her right shoulder. (AR at 294.) The same
17 assessment also mentioned that Plaintiff was tender to palpation at the right
18 supraspinatus and biceps tendon. (Id.) Plaintiff was referred to physical therapy for 19 her injury. (Id. at 298.)

20 4. A treating physician report, compiled by R.D. San Diego, BSN., Oleg 21 Melamed, MD., and Leo G. Maffey, MD. on February 27, 2007, tested and 22 diagnosed Plaintiff with carpal tunnel syndrome. (AR at 221, 224.)

23 5. Surgery notes, issued on May 3, 2007, describing that Plaintiff had a 24 "[g]lomus tympanicum extending off the cochlear process." (AR at 307.) The notes 25 also describe the entire procedure that Plaintiff had in order to fix her hearing. (See 26 id. at 307-08.)

27 Because Plaintiff produced sufficient medical evidence of underlying 28 impairments that were likely to cause ear problems, shoulder and hand pain the ALJ

1 erred to the extent she rejected Plaintiff’s credibility based upon a lack of objective
2 findings to support her allegations. See Bunnell, 947 F.2d at 345 (“[O]nce the 3 claimant produces objective medical evidence of an underlying impairment, [the 4 ALJ] may not reject a claimant’s subjective complaints based solely on a lack of 5 objective medical evidence to fully corroborate the alleged severity of pain.”); Social 6 Security Ruling (“SSR”) 96-7P,^{4/} 1996 WL 374186, at *1 (“An individual’s 7 statements about the intensity and persistence of pain or other symptoms or about 8 the effect the symptoms have on his or her ability to work may not be disregarded 9 solely because they are not substantiated by objective medical evidence.”).

10 Second, the ALJ rejected Plaintiff’s credibility about her hearing for three 11 reasons: 1) because Plaintiff’s impairment could be improved by hearing aids; 2)
12 because Sahniah Siciarz-Lambert, M.D. (“Dr. Siciarz-Lambert”) found Plaintiff
13 could hear effectively absent hearing aids; and 3) because the ALJ did not observe 14 that Plaintiff had any difficulty at her hearing. (AR at 16.) The ALJ did not provide 15 clear and convincing reasons for rejecting Plaintiff’s credibility on this issue.
16 Plaintiff testified that she was unable to afford hearing aids. (Id. at 39.) An ALJ 17 may not reject a claim on the basis of failing to seek treatment when the claimant is 18 unable to afford it. See Meeks v. Astrue, 319 Fed. Appx. 523, 525 (9th Cir. 2009)
19 (citing Gamble v. Chater, 68 F.3d 319, 321 (9th Cir. 1995)).

20 The ALJ also relied on Dr. Siciarz-Lambert’s conclusion that Plaintiff did not 21 require any hearing aids. (AR at 257.) However, in doing so, the ALJ rejects the 22

23 ^{4/} “The Commissioner issues Social Security Rulings [(“SSRs”)] to clarify the 24 Act’s implementing regulations and the agency’s policies. SSRs are binding on all 25 components of the SSA. SSRs do not have the force of law. However, because they 26 represent the Commissioner’s interpretation of the agency’s regulations, we give 27 them some deference. We will not defer to SSRs if they are inconsistent with the 28 statute or regulations.” Holohan v. Massanari, 246 F.3d 1195, 1203 n. 1 (9th Cir.
2001) (internal citations omitted).

1 opinions of Drs. Montagano and Keane, who both said that Plaintiff requires hearing
2 aids. (See id. at 249, 250.) In order to reject the opinions of an examining 3 physician, the ALJ must provide specific and legitimate reasons for doing so, which 4 in this case, did not occur. See Lester, 81 F.3d at 830-31.

5 The ALJ also determined that Plaintiff could hear adequately based off of her
6 observations at Plaintiff's hearing. (AR at 16.) Although an ALJ's personal 7 observation may form part of a determination, it can not, standing alone, support a 8 determination that a claimant is not credible. Reinsertson v. Barnhart, 127 Fed.
9 Appx. 285, 290 (9th Cir. 2005) (citing Fair v. Bowen, 885 F.2d 597, 603 (9th Cir.
10 1989)). Additionally, the ALJ's observation was not inconsistent with Plaintiff's
11 testimony. Plaintiff said that she was able to hear during the administrative hearing 12 because the room was quiet enough but that she had difficulty hearing in louder 13 environments and on the telephone. (AR at 38-39.) The ALJ observed at the 14 hearing that Plaintiff had difficulty talking over the telephone. (Id. at 39.) The ALJ
15 may not selectively pick evidence to support her rejection of Plaintiff's testimony.
16 See Reddick, 157 F.3d at 722-23.

17 Third, the ALJ found Plaintiff's statements regarding her carpal tunnel 18 syndrome were not credible for two reasons: 1) there was no medical confirmation 19 that Plaintiff has carpal tunnel syndrome; and 2) Plaintiff was right-handed, and the 20 injury was on her left hand, so there would be no significant effect on her 21 functioning. (AR at 16.) Plaintiff was evaluated at the Olive View-UCLA Medical 22 Center for hand pain. (Id. at 221.) Plaintiff was tested and diagnosed there. (Id. at 23 221.) Plaintiff was diagnosed with carpal tunnel syndrome. (Id. at 221, 224.)
24 Unless the ALJ provides specific and legitimate reasons for rejecting those treating 25 doctors' opinion, the diagnosis of carpal tunnel syndrome should not be discounted.
26 See Lester, 81 F.3d at 830-31.

27 Furthermore, the ALJ rejected Plaintiff's statements because the injury was on 28 Plaintiff's left hand when Plaintiff was right-handed. (AR at 16.) The ALJ

1 concluded that Plaintiff’s injury would have no significant effect on her. (Id.) The 2 ALJ has improperly substituted his own interpretation of the evidence without 3 setting forth sufficient authority or medical evidence to support her interpretation.
4 See Tackett v. Apfel, 180 F.3d 1094, 1102-03 (9th Cir. 1999) (ALJ may not 5 substitute his own interpretation of the medical evidence for the opinion of medical 6 professionals); Banks v. Barnhart, 434 F. Supp. 2d 800, 805 (C.D. Cal. 2006) (“An 7 ALJ cannot arbitrarily substitute his own judgment for competent medical opinion,
8 and he must not succumb to the temptation to play doctor and make his own 9 independent medical findings.”) (internal quotation marks, alterations and citations 10 omitted). Additionally, Plaintiff wrote that she was unable to lift or carry items or 11 use a computer. (AR at 101.) Even if the ALJ’s assessment was correct, Plaintiff 12 could be limited in her ability to work certain jobs, such as her past jobs which 13 required carrying goods and working on a computer. (Id. at 95.) Thus, Plaintiff’s 14 injury could have a significant effect on her ability to work.

15 The ALJ determined that Plaintiff suffered from a severe impairment of 16 chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (“COPD”). (AR at 13.) However, the ALJ
17 found that Plaintiff was not credible for this condition since she “exacerbated [it] by 18 continuing to smoke.” (Id. at 16.) Plaintiff did not object to the ALJ’s
19 determination of her COPD in her brief. (See generally Plaintiff’s Brief at 2-13.)
20 The Court will only review issues that are argued specifically in a party’s brief.
21 Heide v. Astrue, 369 Fed. Appx. 775, 777 (9th Cir. 2010) (quoting Greenwood v.
22 F.A.A., 28 F.3d 971, 977 (9th Cir. 1994)). Therefore, the Court does not address this 23 issue.

24 VI.

25 REMAND IS APPROPRIATE

26 This Court retains discretion to remand or reverse and award benefits.
27 McAllister v. Sullivan, 888 F.2d 599, 603 (9th Cir. 1989, as amended Oct. 19, 1989).
28 Where no useful purpose would be served by further proceedings, or where the

1 record has been fully developed, it is appropriate to exercise this discretion to direct
2 an immediate award of benefits. See Benecke v. Barnhart, 379 F.3d 587, 595-96
3 (9th Cir. 2004); Harman v. Apfel, 211 F.3d 1172, 1179-80 (9th Cir. 2000, as 4 amended May 4, 2000), cert. denied, 531 U.S. 1038 (2000). Where there are 5 outstanding issues that must be resolved before a determination can be made, and it
6 is not clear from the record that the ALJ would be required to find plaintiff disabled
7 if all the evidence were properly evaluated, remand is appropriate. See Benecke, 379
8 F.3d at 595-96; Harman, 211 F.3d at 1179-80.

9 Here, there are outstanding issues which must be resolved before a final 10 determination can be made. On remand, the ALJ shall reconsider Plaintiff's 11 subjective complaints and the resulting functional limitations, and either credit 12 Plaintiff's testimony or provide clear and convincing reasons supported by 13 substantial evidence for rejecting them. In addition, the ALJ shall reassess the 14 medical opinions in the record and provide sufficient reasons under the applicable 15 legal standard for rejecting any portion of the medical opinions. If necessary, the 16 ALJ shall obtain additional information and clarification regarding Plaintiff's 17 functional limitations. Further, the ALJ shall then proceed through steps three 18 through four and, with the assistance of a vocational expert, reassess his step five 19 determination.
