MOTION FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL OF CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT

In this putative class action, Plaintiffs seek relief based on their allegations that Defendants Quantcast and Clearspring bypassed class members’ browser privacy controls in order to track class members’ Internet activities in a way that class members would not expect or detect. Plaintiffs allege that Adobe Flash local shared objects (“LSOs,” sometimes referred to as “Flash cookies”) were used to track their web activities without their knowledge or consent, that they did not receive adequate notice or choice about the use of LSOs, and that the Defendants’ actions violated the Plaintiffs’ privacy rights, implicating a number of state and federal statutes.

As explained more fully below, as a result of the proposed settlement, Defendants Quantcast and Clearspring have stated that they will stop the offending activities alleged by Plaintiffs, by not “respawning” deleted cookies or using Adobe Flash capabilities in certain undisclosed ways, including ways that would tend to circumvent users’ browser controls on uses of browser cookies¹. Other Defendants named in the actions, which provide web-based content to consumers, will take measures to implement and encourage the further development of industry standards restricting the complained of use of LSO’s and encouraging the development of user tools to promote user awareness and control of certain types of online interactions and information collection.

Further, the Settlement provides for 2.4 million dollars in cy pres payments to one or more non-profit organizations identified by plaintiffs to fund research and education projects and activities to promote consumer awareness and choice regarding the privacy, safety, and security of electronic information from and about consumers.

¹ In settling the case and agreeing to the injunctive relief, Defendants do not admit to the allegations of the Complaints and Quantcast and Clearspring deny that they presently use LSO’s in the offending manner.

1 The two consolidated actions, each comprising three cases, that would be re-2 solved by the proposed Settlement are: In Re Quantcast Advertising Cookie Litiga-
3 tion, Case No. 2:10-cv-05484-GW-JCG, and In Re Clearspring Flash Cookie Litiga-
4 tion, Case No. 2:10-cv-05948-GW-JCG. The two defendants named in the captions
5 of the consolidated cases, Quantcast Corporation (“Quantcast”) and Clearspring 6 Technologies, Inc. (“Clearspring”), are online third-party service providers. They 7 provide ad delivery and web traffic analysis services on consumer-facing websites, 8 such as those of the other Defendants.

9 The other Defendants, American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., Demand Me-10 dia, Inc., ESPN, Inc., Fox Entertainment Group, Inc., Hulu, LLC, JibJab Media, 11 Inc., MTV Networks, a division of Viacom International Inc., MySpace, Inc., NBC
12 Universal, Inc, Scribd, Inc., Soapnet, LLC, Walt Disney Internet Group, and Warner
13 Bros. Records Inc. (“Defendants”); and certain Defendants’ affiliated Undertaking 14 Parties (as defined below and in the Settlement Agreement), are the owners or spon-15 sors of consumer-facing websites whose websites were allegedly visited by the rep-16 resentative plaintiffs in the lawsuits. Some of these Defendants, along with the par-17 ent companies of other Defendants (are referred to as the “Undertaking Parties” in 18 the Settlement Agreement. The Undertaking Parties have many customers, subsidi-19 aries and affiliates in the United States, and the steps being taken in the settlement 20 apply to all of them.

21 Quantcast and Clearspring provide services to many websites, including some 22 of those owned or sponsored by the Undertaking Parties. Quantcast and 23 Clearspring’s services include displaying targeted advertisements to website visitors, 24 analyzing website traffic, and providing technology that other companies can use to 25 interact with consumers browsing the web. For consumers visiting a website, 26 Quantcast and Clearspring are considered “third parties” that provide services to the 27 websites. Many of the websites are supported by advertising and many of them

1 monitor visitor activity to assess the popularity of their web pages. Because 2 Quantcast and Clearspring provide advertising and measurement services to those 3 websites, consumers who visit those websites are brought into direct contact with 4 Quantcast and Clearspring, even though the consumers may not be aware of it.

5 Like many other online, third-party service providers, Quantcast and 6 Clearspring store and read browser cookies on the computers of website visitors, as 7 part of the process of serving advertisements and collecting information for web an-8 alytics. Users who do not want third parties' cookies can set their browser controls 9 to block third-party cookies. Users can also delete previously stored, third-party 10 cookies.

11 In addition to using browser cookies, Quantcast and Clearspring, like some 12 other third-party service providers, used Adobe Flash local shared objects ("LSOs," 13 which have also been called "Flash Cookies") in their interactions with website visi-14 tors. Adobe Corporation has stated that LSOs were designed to support consumers' 15 ability to experience "rich Internet application" content using the Adobe Flash Play-16 er. Plaintiffs allege that Quantcast and Clearspring stored LSOs on users' computers 17 to collect information from and about users—even users who had set their browser 18 privacy settings to block third-party cookies. Plaintiffs also allege that, in some cas-19 es, if users had deleted third-party cookies, the use of LSOs resulted in the recrea-20 tion (sometimes referred to as "respawning") of the deleted cookies. Quantcast and 21 Clearspring do not concede that Plaintiffs' factual contentions are accurate.

22 The class action complaints filed by the Plaintiffs alleged the Defendants used 23 LSOs to circumvent users' blocking or deleting Quantcast and Clearspring browser 24 cookies. The Plaintiffs claimed they did not receive adequate notice or choice about 25 the use of LSOs and that the Defendants' actions violated the Plaintiffs' privacy 26 rights. The complaints, taken together, alleged the Defendants' practices violated the 27 following federal statutes, California statutes, and common-law legal rights: the 28

1 Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, Title 18, United States Code 1030; the Electronic 2 Communications Privacy Act, Title 18, United States Code, Section 2510; the Video 3 Privacy Protection Act, Title 18, United States Code, Section 2710; the Computer
4 Crime Law, California Penal Code, Section 502; the Invasion of Privacy Act, Cali-
5 fornia Penal Code, Section 630; the Unfair Competition Law, California Business 6 and Professions, Section 17200; the Consumer Legal Remedies Act, California Civil 7 Code, Section 1750; the California Uniform Trade Secrets Act, California Civil 8 Code, Section 3426; Trespass to Personal Property/Chattels; and Unjust Enrichment.

9 Representatives of the parties met and engaged in substantial private settle-10 ment mediation discussions before Mr. Rodney Max on October 19, 2010. This ef-11 fort enabled the parties to reach an agreement in principle in connection with these 12 mediations and through extensive, ongoing negotiations between the principal law-13 yers for the Class (Mr. Kamber), Clearspring (Mr. Rhodes), Quantcast (Mr. Page), 14 Warner Bros. Records Inc. and Warner Music Inc. (Mr. Kahn), Demand Media, Inc.
15 (Mr. Ballon), and American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., ESPN, Inc., Fox Enter-16 tainment Group, Inc., MTV Networks, MySpace, Inc., Walt Disney Internet Group, 17 Soapnet, LLC and Defendants/Undertaking Parties Hulu, LLC, JibJab Media, Inc., 18 NBC Universal, Inc. and Scribd, Inc. (Mr. Jacobson). A true copy of the stipulated 19 Settlement Agreement (the “Settlement Agreement”) is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

20 Under the Settlement Agreement, Quantcast and Clearspring represent that 21 they will not “employ LSOs to: (i) “respawn” HTTP cookies; and/or (ii) serve as an 22 alternative method to HTTP cookies for storing information about a user’s web 23 browsing history, unrelated to the delivery of content through the Flash Player or the 24 performance of the Flash Player in delivering such content, without adequate disclo-25 sure; and/or (iii) otherwise counteract any computer user’s decision to either prevent 26 the use of or to delete previously created HTTP cookies.” (Settlement Agreement, 27 sec. 4.19.) Further, the Undertaking Parties, inter alia, agree to “send a request to at

1 least one of the industry groups charged with receiving comments to the Self-2 Regulatory Principles that those Self-Regulatory Principles should be amended to 3 include express prohibitions on the use of LSOs or any similar technology to regen-4 erate, without disclosure, HTTP cookies that a user affirmatively deleted,” and each 5 Undertaking Parties shall “(i) in its online Privacy Policy or an opt-out page clearly 6 linked thereto: maintain a link to the Network Advertising Initiative “Opt Out of 7 Behavioral Advertising” tool, presently located at 8 http://www.network-advertising.org/managing/opt_out.asp or, once it is fully im-9 plemented for consumers, to the industry-developed website page currently repre-
10 sented by <http://www.about-ads.info/consumers/>; or, on the Undertaking Party’s own 11 internet home page, maintain a link to a page with substantially the same infor-12 ma-tion and consumer options; or (ii) once it is fully implemented for consumers, 13 display the “Advertising Option Icon” discussed in the Self-Regulatory Principles, 14 which links to an OBA disclosure statement and opt-out mechanism.” (Settlement 15 Agreement, secs. 4.20.1 and 4.20.3.)

16 Given the challenges and uncertainties facing Plaintiffs if they were to litigate 17 this matter, the results achieved through the settlement are well beyond those re-18 quired to satisfy preliminary approval standards. Accordingly, Plaintiffs move the 19 Court to preliminarily approve the instant settlement; certify the settlement class; 20 appoint Jennifer Aguirre; A.A., a minor, by and through her parent Guardian Ad Li-21 tem, Jose Aguirre; Alan Bonebrake; Alejandro Godoy; Byron Griffith; J.H., a mi-22 nor, by and through his parent, Guardian Ad Litem, Jeff Hall; R.H., a minor by and 23 through her parent Guardian Ad Litem, Jeff Hall; Mary Huebner; Erica Intzekostas; 24 Jose Marquez; Kira Miles; Toni Miles; Terrie J. Moore; Austin Muhs; David Rona; 25 Brittany Sanchez; Edward Valdez; Gerardo Valdez ; Kayla Valdez, and Brian White 26 as class representatives; and Scott A. Kamber and David A. Stampley of Kamber-27 Law, LLC as class counsel.

13 September 21, 2010, the Valdez, et al. v. Quantcast Corporation, et al. and Aguirre 14 v. Quantcast Corporation, et al. actions were consolidated by order of the court in 15 the Central District of California as In Re Quantcast Advertising Cookie Litig., No.
16 2:10-cv-05484-GW-JCG. The Complaint in Godoy v. Quantcast Corporation, filed 17 October 13, 2010, was determined by the Court to be related to the foregoing mat-18 ters.

19 Clearspring Technologies, Inc.: The Complaints in White, et al. v.
20 Clearspring Technologies, Inc., et al., Intzekostas v. Fox Entertainment Group, Inc., 21 et al., and Rona v. Clearspring Technologies, Inc. were filed respectively on August 22 10, 2010, September 10, 2010, and October 18, 2010 alleging claims against 23 Clearspring (and other defendants). Collectively these Complaints alleged violations 24 of (i) the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, 18 U.S.C. 1030; (ii) California’s Comput-
25 er Crime Law, Penal Code § 502; (iii) California’s Invasion of Privacy Act, Califor-

27 Civil Code § 1750; (v) the California Unfair Competition Law, Cal. Bus. and Prof.
28 Code § 17200; (vi) Trespass to Personal Property/Chattels; (vii) Unjust Enrichment;

1 and (viii) the Electronic Communications Privacy Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2510. On Octo-
2 ber 13, 2010, the White, et al. v. Clearspring Technologies, Inc., et al. and Intze- 3 kostas v. Fox Entertainment Group, Inc., et al. actions were consolidated by order of 4 the court in the Central District of California as In Re Clearspring Flash Cookie
5 Litig., No. 2:10-cv-05948-GW-JCG.

6 Concurrent with the filing of this Motion for Preliminary Approval, Plaintiffs 7 are filing consolidated and amended complaints in In re Clearspring Flash Cookie
8 Litig. and In re Quantcast Advertising Cookie Litig. The amended complaint does 9 not include all of the allegations Plaintiffs leveled in the White complaint.

10 B. Mediation and Settlement

11 Commencing in October 2010, representatives of Plaintiffs and Defendants 12 initiated settlement negotiations that included, among other things, in-person media-13 tion conducted by the Mediator on October 19, 2010, during which the participants 14 candidly aired the strengths and weaknesses in their respective litigation positions.
15 (Stampley Decl., ¶ 6.)

16 The October 19, 2010 mediation resulted in a tentative accord on an agree-17 ment in principal for the resolution of all claims alleged against Defendants in the 18 Litigation, subject to additional negotiations and the Parties' thereafter reaching 19 agreement on final settlement documentation, including this Settlement Agreement.
20 The product at the end of the mediation session was a memorialized agreement on all 21 substantive relief. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 6.) The parties did not discuss the amount of 22 any incentive fee or payment to class counsel until after reaching agreement on the 23 other terms of settlement. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 6b.) The parties now seek preliminary 24 approval of this long-negotiated settlement.

25 C. Defendants' Position

26 At all times, all Defendants have denied and continue to deny any wrongdoing 27 whatsoever or that they, or any of them, committed or have threatened or at-

1 tempted to commit, any wrongful acts or violations of law or duty, including, but not 2 limited to, those alleged in the Complaint. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 5.) Defendants contend 3 that they have acted properly and therefore deny that the plaintiffs and putative class 4 are entitled to any form of damages based on the conduct alleged in the Complaint.
5 (Stampley Decl. ¶ 5.) In addition, Defendants have maintained and continue to 6 maintain that they have meritorious defenses to all claims alleged in the Complaint 7 and that Defendants were and are prepared to vigorously defend against all claims 8 asserted in this litigation. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 5.)

23 statements set out in, or to any claim that was or could have been 24 brought in any of the Complaints; (ii) Defendants', the Undertak-25 ing Parties' and their subsidiaries' and affiliates' use of LSOs; al-26 leged depositing of Cookies or LSOs on the computers of per-27 sons who accessed one or more of Defendants', the Undertaking 28 Parties' or their subsidiaries' or affiliates' websites or other online content (in the case of the Undertaking Parties, their subsidiaries and affiliates, whether such Cookies or LSOs were deposited by or through an Undertaking Party, a subsidiary or affiliate thereof, Quantcast, Clearspring or any other Person); the regeneration or redeposit of Cookies after a user deleted those Cookies; or the alleged obtaining or provision of information from or about a user contrary to either the user's consent or intent; and (iii) claims that Defendants, the Undertaking Parties or their subsidiaries or affiliates allegedly tracked users, shared their information or displayed advertising to them without sufficient notice. Without limiting the foregoing, for avoidance of doubt, the definition of Released Claims is intended to provide any Protected Person that is an Undertaking Party or a subsidiary or af-

1 filiate thereof with a full release from all claims Class Counsel 2 presently is pursuing involving LSOs and similar technologies in 3 other cases, specifically: Davis v. VideoEgg, Inc., No. CV 10
4 7112 (C.D. Cal.); La Court v. Specific Media, Inc., No. 10-CV-
5 1256 JVS (C.D. Cal.); Aughenbaugh v. Ringleader Digital, Inc., 6 No. 10-CV-1407-CJC-RNB (C.D. Cal.); and Hillman v. Ring-
7 leader Digital, Inc., No. 10-CV-8315 (S.D.N.Y.); and such other 8 similar case(s) as to which the Parties may agree in writing from 9 time to time prior to the date approved by the Court for persons 10 to object to or exclude themselves from the Settlement, which 11 agreement shall not be unreasonably withheld by any Party and 12 which writing(s) shall be deemed as amending and incorporated 13 into this section 1.22. Notwithstanding the foregoing, excluded 14 from Released Claims are all claims related to the use or de-15 ployment of non-Quantcast and non-Clearspring LSOs by any 16 Person other than the Defendants or the Undertaking Parties.

10 B. General Relief

11 Defendants Quantcast and Clearspring will establish a cash settlement fund of 12 two million, four hundred thousand dollars ($2,400,000), the net value of which 13 which will be distributed to one or more non-profit organizations to fund research 14 and education projects and activities to promote consumer awareness and choice re-15 garding the privacy, safety, and security of electronic information from and about 16 consumers, and which projects and activities shall exclude the sponsorship or fund-17 ing of litigation or lobbying efforts regarding specific legislation. Individual class 18 members will not receive direct compensation. Out of the $2.4 million fund, all at-19 torneys' fees, costs, any enhanced awards to the named Plaintiffs, settlement admin-20 istration costs, and notice and administration costs will be paid as provided for under 21 the Settlement Agreement and described below.

21 C. Additional Relief

22 In addition to the payments and credits discussed above, the defendants will 23 provide the following relief.

- 24 1. Quantcast and Clearspring will not employ LSOs to: (i) "res-25 pawn" HTTP cookies; and/or (ii) serve as an alternative method 26 to HTTP cookies for storing information about a user's web 27 browsing history, unrelated to the delivery of content through the 1 Flash Player or the performance of the Flash Player in delivering 2 such content, without adequate disclosure; and/or (iii) otherwise 3 counteract any computer user's decision to either prevent the use 4 of or to delete previously created HTTP cookies. (Settlement 5 Agreement, sec. 4.19.)

6 2. Within thirty (30) days of entry of the Preliminary Approval and 7 Notice Orders, the Undertaking Parties shall send a request to at 8 least one of the industry groups charged with receiving com-9 ments to the Self-Regulatory Principles that those Self-10 Regulatory Principles should be amended to include express pro-11 hibitions on the use of LSOs or any similar technology to regen-12 erate, without disclosure, HTTP cookies that a user affirmatively 13 deleted. Additionally, the Undertaking Parties shall request that 14 the Self-Regulatory Principles be amended to include guidance
15 to member firms that LSOs should not be used without disclo-16 sure as an alternative method to HTTP cookies for storing infor-17 mation about a user's web browsing history across unaffiliated
18 domains, unrelated to the delivery of content through the Flash 19 Player or the performance of the Flash Player in delivering such 20 content. If an Undertaking Party is a member of the Network 21 Advertising Initiative, the Undertaking Party also shall inform 22 the Network Advertising Initiative of its preference that the NAI 23 Principles be similarly amended. (Settlement Agreement, sec.
24 4.20.1.)

25 3. The Undertaking Party agree that they shall not, in an official ca-26 pacity in any public or industry forum, take a position contrary to 27 those stated above. (Settlement Agreement, sec. 4.20.2.) 28

1 4. Each Undertaking Party shall, (i) in its online Privacy Policy or 2 an opt-out page clearly linked thereto: maintain a link to the 3 Network Advertising Initiative “Opt Out of Behavioral Advertis-4 ing” tool, presently located at 5 http://www.network-advertising.org/managing/opt_out.asp or, 6 once it is fully implemented for consumers, to the industry-7 developed website page currently represented by 8 <http://www.about-ads.info/consumers/>; or, on the Undertaking 9 Party’s own internet home page, maintain a link to a page with 10 substantially the same information and consumer options; or (ii)
11 once it is fully implemented for consumers, display the “Adver-12 tising Option Icon” discussed in the Self-Regulatory Principles, 13 which links to an OBA disclosure statement and opt-out mecha-14 nism. A link to the Undertaking Party’s online Privacy Policy or 15 the Advertising Option Icon shall be displayed on the home page 16 of each Undertaking Party’s U.S. consumer-oriented website(s) 17 and on at least a significant number of those consumer-oriented 18 web pages of the Undertaking Party’s U.S. consumer-oriented 19 website(s) on which consumer data is collected or used for ad-
20 vertising. (Settlement Agreement, sec. 4.20.3.)

21 5. If, after the Settlement becomes Final, an Undertaking Party or 22 its agents deposit LSOs on the computers of users who visit one 23 or more of its U.S. consumer-oriented websites or interact with 24 its widgets or other applications on such websites, the Undertak-25 ing Party shall include, in its online Privacy Policy, a disclosure 26 of its use of LSOs and a link to at least one website or utility of-27 fering users the ability to manage LSOs, if such website or utility

1 is available. By linking to such a third-party website or utility in 2 order to comply with this Agreement, the Undertaking Party will 3 not assume responsibility for the functionality or any other as-4 pect of such website or utility. If one or more of the Undertaking 5 Party's websites, widgets, or application components may not 6 maintain its or their full user functionality unless the user's set-7 tings permit full acceptance of LSOs, the Undertaking Party shall 8 so disclose in its Privacy Policy. (Settlement Agreement, sec.
9 4.20.4.)

10 6. An Undertaking Party's Privacy Policy, links to which shall ap-11 pear as specified above, shall include an email address or other 12 online reporting mechanism to which members of the public can 13 send any privacy-related concerns respecting the operation of the 14 Undertaking Party's websites. The Undertaking Party will regu-15 larly review messages sent to this address or mechanism, but 16 need not individually review duplicative or cumulative messages 17 appearing to have emanated from or at the behest of the same 18 source. (Settlement Agreement, sec. 4.20.5.)

19 7. These provisions shall remain in effect until June 30, 2010. (Set-20 tlement Agreement, sec. 4.20.6.)

21 8. Payment of Notice and Administrative Fees: The full cost of no-22 tice and administration and effectuation of the Settlement 23 Agreement shall be paid out of the settlement fund.

24 9. Compensation of Class Representatives: In addition to any bene-25 fits afforded under the settlement, and in recognition of their ef-26 forts on behalf of the class, subject to Court approval, representa-27 tive Plaintiffs shall each receive $1,500 as appropriate compensa-28

1 tion for their time and effort serving as the class representatives
2 in the litigation against Defendants.

3 10. Payment of Attorneys' Fees and Expenses: Defendants have 4 agreed that a payment out of the Settlement Fund to Class Coun-5 sel, subject to Court approval, of up to twenty five percent of the 6 settlement fund in attorneys' fees and for the reimbursement of 7 Class Counsel's costs is fair and reasonable, and Defendants will 8 not object to or otherwise challenge Class Counsels' application 9 for payment of fees from the Settlement Fund if limited to such 10 an amount. Proposed Class Counsel has, in turn, agreed not to 11 seek more than said amount from the Court.

12 D. Release

13 Upon the entry of a final order approving this settlement and following the 14 expiration of the time for appeal or the entry of a decision on such appeal, class rep-15 resentatives and each and every member of the settlement class who have not timely 16 filed a request to be excluded from the settlement class will release and forever dis-17 charge Quantcast, Clearspring, any of their customers which deployed the technolo-18 gy at issue in this case, as well as the other Defendants, the Undertaking Parties and 19 their subsidiaries and affiliates, for their deployment of Quantcast and Clearspring 20 technologies in any of their online content, as well as their deployment of similar 21 technologies not provided by Quantcast or Clearspring in any of their online con-22 tent, as further explained for in the attached Settlement Agreement.

23 III. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT CLASS SHOULD BE CERTIFIED

24 Prior to granting preliminary approval of a settlement, the Court should de-25 termine that the proposed settlement class is a proper class for settlement purposes.
26 Manual for Complex Litigation § 21.632 (4th ed. 2004); Amchem Prods. Inc. v.
27 Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 620 (1997). The Court may certify a class when the plain-28 tiffs demonstrate that the proposed class and proposed class representatives meet the

1 following prerequisites of Rule 23(a): numerosity, commonality, typicality, and ade-2 quacy of representation. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(1)–(4). After meeting the strictures of 3 Rule 23(a), the plaintiffs must then demonstrate that common questions of law or 4 fact predominate and that maintaining the suit as a class action is superior to other 5 methods of adjudication. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3).

6 In determining whether to certify a class, courts do not inquire into the merits
7 of the plaintiffs’ claims. See Eisen v. Carlisle & Jacquelin, 417 U.S. 156, 177
8 (1974). As such, a court accepts the allegations of the plaintiffs’ complaint as true, 9 but may consider matters beyond the pleadings to determine if the claims are suita-10 ble for resolution on a class-wide basis. Celano v. Marriot Int’l, Inc., 242 F.R.D.
11 544, 548 (N.D. Cal. 2007).

12 A. The Requirement of Numerosity Is Satisfied

13 The numerosity prerequisite is met when “the class is so numerous that join-14 der of all members is impractical. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(1). To satisfy this require-15 ment there is no specific number required, nor are plaintiffs required to state the ex-16 act number of potential class members. Celano, 242 F.R.D. at 548. Generally, the 17 numerosity requirement is satisfied when the class comprises 40 or more members.
18 See id., 242 F.R.D. at 549. In this case, based on Quantcast’s and Clearspring’s rep-19 resentations embodied in the Settlement Agreement notice provisions and in the 20 class notices themselves, the class is estimated to include most Internet users in the 21 United States, easily enough to satisfy the numerosity requirement.

22 B. The Requirement of Commonality is Satisfied

23 The second threshold to certification requires that there be questions of law or 24 fact common to the class. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(2). “[P]laintiffs may demonstrate 25 commonality by showing that class members have shared legal issues by divergent 26 facts or that they share a common core of facts but base their claims for relief on dif-27 ferent legal theories.” Dukes v. Wal-Mart, Inc., 509 F.3d 1168, 1177 (9th Cir. 2007).

1 “[O]ne significant issue common to the class may be sufficient to warrant certifica-
2 tion.” Id. As alleged in this case, all class members share the common issue of hav-
3 ing had LSOs downloaded onto their computers, in Plaintiffs’ view without disclo-4 sure or consent. .

5 These common issues among class members results in common factual and 6 legal questions such as: (1) whether Defendants, without authorization, created 7 and/or manipulated Adobe Flash Player local stored objects on computers to which 8 Class Members’ enjoyed rights of possession superior to those of Defendants; (2) for 9 what purposes Defendants created and/or manipulated Adobe Flash Player local 10 stored objects on Class Members’ computers; (3) whether Defendants violated (i) 11 the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1030; (ii) the California Uniform
12 Trade Secrets Act, Civil Code § 3426; (iii) the California Computer Crime Law, Pe-13 nal Code § 502; (iv) the California Unfair Competition Law, Business and Profes-14 sions Code § 17200; (v) the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act, Civil Code §
15 1750; (4) whether Defendants misappropriated valuable information assets of Class 16 Members; (5) whether Defendants continue to retain valuable information assets 17 from and about Class Members; (6) what uses of such information were exercised 18 and continue to be exercised by Defendants; and (7) whether Defendants have been 19 unjustly enriched.

20 In addition, such common questions for the settlement include whether the 21 settlement is fair, and what is the proper form of notice. Accordingly, the commonal-22 ity requirement is satisfied.

23 C. The Requirement of Typicality is Satisfied

24 Rule 23 next requires that a plaintiff’s claims be typical of those of the class.
25 Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(3). “[T]ypicality focuses on the relationship of facts and issues 26 between the class and its representatives.” Dukes, 509 F.3d at 1184 fn.12 (citation 27 omitted) (“[u]nder the rule’s permissive standards, representative claims are ‘typical’ 28

1 if they are reasonably coextensive with those of absent class members; they need not 2 be substantially identical[;] some degree of individuality is to be expected in all cas-
3 es, but that specificity does not necessarily defeat typicality”). Here, Defendants’ al-
4 leged practice of using LSOs to circumvent users’ blocking or deleting of Quantcast
5 and Clearspring browser cookies and failure to provide adequate notice or choice 6 about the use of LSOs is alleged to have resulted in Plaintiffs and the proposed set-7 tlement class having their privacy rights violated in breach of the state and federal 8 law. It is alleged that Plaintiffs and each proposed class member were all subjected 9 to Defendants’ identical wrongful conduct in a nearly identical manner. As such, 10 Plaintiffs’ claims are typical of those of the proposed class and Fed. R. Civ. P.
11 23(a)(3) is met.

12 D. The Requirement of Adequate Representation is Satisfied

13 The final Rule 23(a) prerequisite requires that the proposed class representa-14 tives have and will continue to “fairly and adequately protect the interests of the 15 class.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a)(4). “This factor requires: (1) that the proposed repre-
16 sentative Plaintiffs do not have conflicts of interest with the proposed class, and (2) 17 that Plaintiffs are represented by qualified and competent counsel.” Dukes, 509 F.3d 18 at 1185.

19 In this case, Plaintiffs have the same interests as the proposed class mem-20 bers—all have allegedly been wrongfully harmed by Defendants’ alleged use of 21 tracking devices. Therefore, Plaintiffs have no interests antagonistic to the interests 22 of the proposed class. Further, class counsel are well respected members of the legal 23 community, have regularly engaged in major complex litigation, and have had ex-24 tensive experience in consumer class action lawsuits that are similar in size, scope 25 and complexity to the present case. (See Firm Resume of KamberLaw, LLC, a copy 26 of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B.) Accordingly, both Plaintiffs and their 27 counsel have and will adequately represent the class.

1 E. The Proposed Settlement Class Meets the Requirements of Rule
2 23(b)(3)

3 Once the subsection (a) prerequisites are satisfied, Federal Rule of Civil Pro-4 cedure 23(b)(3) provides that a class action can be maintained where the questions 5 of law and fact common to members of the class predominate over any questions af-6 fecting only individuals, and the class action mechanism is superior to the other 7 available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy. Fed. R.
8 Civ. P 23(b)(3); Pierce v. County of Orange, 519 F.3d 985, 991 n.5 (9th Cir. 2008).
9 In this case and in the context of the proposed settlement, common issues of fact and 10 law predominate. Defendants’ alleged practice of using LSO’s to circumvent users’ 11 blocking or deleting of Quantcast and Clearspring browser cookies and failure to 12 provide adequate notice or choice about the use of LSOs is alleged to have resulted 13 in Plaintiffs and the proposed settlement class having their privacy rights violated in 14 breach of the state and federal law and is common to the class members’ claims and 15 their damages and predominates over any issues applicable to any individual mem-16 bers of the class.

17 In addition, the instant class action is superior to any other method available 18 to fairly, adequately, and efficiently resolve the class members’ claims. Absent a 19 class action, most members of the class would find the cost of litigating their claims 20 to be prohibitive, and such multiple individual actions would be judicially ineffi-21 cient. Also, because the action, with the Court’s permission, will now settle, the 22 Court need not consider issues of manageability relating to trial. See Amchem, 521 23 U.S. at 620 (citation omitted) (“[c]onfronted with a request for settlement-only class 24 certification, a district court need not inquire whether the case, if tried, would pre-25 sent intractable management problems, for the proposal is that there be no trial”).
26 Accordingly, common questions predominate and a class action is the superior 27 method of adjudicating this controversy.

1 IV. THE COURT SHOULD APPOINT SCOTT A. KAMBER AND DAVID
2 STAMPLEY OF KAMBERLAW AS CLASS COUNSEL

3 Under Rule 23, “a court that certifies a class must appoint class counsel . . .
4 [who] must fairly and adequately represent the interests of the class.” Fed. R. Civ. P.
5 23(g)(1)(B). In making this determination, the Court must consider counsel’s: (1) 6 work in identifying or investigating potential claims; (2) experience in handling 7 class actions or other complex litigation, and the types of claims asserted in the case; 8 (3) knowledge of the applicable law; and (4) resources committed to representing 9 the class. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(1)(A)(i–iv).

10 As discussed above, proposed class counsel have extensive experience in 11 prosecuting class actions and other complex litigation. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 9; see also 12 Exhibit B.) Further, proposed class counsel have diligently investigated and prose-13 cuted this matter, dedicating substantial resources to the investigation of the claims 14 at issue in the action, and have successfully negotiated the settlement of this matter 15 to the benefit of the class. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 3.) Counsel and class representatives, 16 assisted by non-legal experts, spent over many months considering legal theories as 17 well as investigating factual and technology-related issues regarding Defendants’ 18 use of LSO’s to circumvent users’ blocking or deleting of Quantcast and Clearspring 19 browser cookies and their related lack of adequate notice or choice about the use of 20 LSO’s. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 3-4.) Accordingly, the Court should appoint Plaintiffs’ 21 counsel to serve as class counsel for the proposed class pursuant to Rule 23(g) and 22 Scott A. Kamber and David Stampley of KamberLaw, LLC as class counsel.

23 V. THE COURT SHOULD PRELIMINARILY APPROVE THE 24 PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

25 After certifying the settlement class, the Court should preliminarily approve 26 the settlement. The procedure for review of a proposed class action settlement is a 27 well-established two-step process. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e); see also Alba & Conte, 4 28

1 Newberg on Class Actions, §11.25, at 38-39 (4th Ed. 2002). The first step is a pre-2 liminary, pre-notification hearing to determine whether the proposed settlement is 3 “within the range of possible approval.” Newberg, §11.25, at 38-39 (quoting Manual
4 for Complex Litigation § 30.41 (3rd ed. 1995)); In re Syncor ERISA Litig., 516 F.3d 5 1095, 1110 (9th Cir. 2008). This hearing is not a fairness hearing; its purpose, rather, 6 is to ascertain whether there is any reason to notify the class members of the pro-
7 posed settlement and to proceed with a fairness hearing. In re Syncor ERISA Litig., 8 516 F.3d at 1110. Notice of a settlement should be sent where “the proposed settle-9 ment appears to be the product of serious, informed, non-collusive negotiations, has 10 no obvious deficiencies, does not improperly grant preferential treatment to class 11 representatives or segments of the class, and falls within the range of possible ap-12 proval.” In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d 1078, 1079 (N.D. Cal.
13 2007). The Manual for Complex Litigation characterizes the preliminary approval 14 stage as an “initial evaluation” of the fairness of the proposed settlement made by 15 the court on the basis of written submissions and informal presentation from the set-16 tling parties. Manual for Complex Litigation § 21.632 (4th ed. 2004). If the court 17 finds a settlement proposal “within the range of possible approval,” it then proceeds 18 to the second step in the review process—the final approval hearing. Newberg, 19 §11.25, at 38-39. The standard of scrutiny for preliminary approval is more relaxed 20 than for final approval. Armstrong v. Bd. of Schl. Dirs. of City of Milwaukee, 616 21 F.2d 305, 314 (7th Cir. 1980).

22 A strong judicial policy exists that favors the voluntary conciliation and set-23 tlement of complex class action litigation. In re Syncor, 516 F.3d at 1101 (citing Of- 24 ficers for Justice v. Civil Serv. Comm’n, 688 F.2d 615 (9th Cir. 1982). While the dis-25 trict court has discretion regarding the approval of a proposed settlement, it should 26 give “proper deference to the private consensual decision of the parties.” Hanlon v.
27 Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1027 (9th Cir. 1998). In fact, when a settlement is 28

1 negotiated at arms' length by experienced counsel, there is a presumption that it is 2 fair and reasonable. In re Inter-Op Hip Prosthesis Liab. Litig., 204 F.R.D. 359, 380
3 (N.D. Ohio 2001). Ultimately, the Court's role is to ensure that the settlement is fun-
4 damentally fair, reasonable, and adequate. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(e)(2); In re Syncor, 516 5 F.3d at 1100.

6 In this case, there is no question that the proposed settlement is at least "with-7 in the range of possible approval." Only after extended arms-length negotiations, 8 conducted under the supervision of Mr. Rodney Max, were the parties able to reach 9 an agreement as to relief for the class. (Stampley Decl. ¶ 6.) Under that agreement, 10 class members will benefit from Defendants' agreement not to employ LSOs as al-11 leged in the Complaints and to provide proper notice about the use of browser cook-12 ies. The settlement's formulation for allocating settlement resources, which does 13 not include compensation to members of the at-large class, is consistent with other 14 settlements resolving claims that a defendant's insufficient online notice and choice 15 resulted in violation of class members' privacy. See, e.g., In Re DoubleClick, Inc.
16 Privacy Litigation, No. 00 Civ. 0641 (NRB) (S.D.N.Y. 2001) (DoubleClick, an In-17 ternet ad-serving company, revised its notice, choice, and data collection practices 18 and conducted a privacy-oriented public information campaign by distributing 300 19 million Internet banner ads); DeLise v. Fahrenheit Entm't, Civ. Action No. CV-20 014297 (Cal. Sup. Ct. Marin Cty. Sept. 2001) (sellers of interactive music CD up-21 dated privacy policies, added warning labels to CDs, and purged previously collect-22 ed data).

23 A comparison of the potential costs and benefits of consummating the Settle-24 ment Agreement versus continuing to prosecute this matter requires consideration of 25 a number of factors. These factors include the strengths of the Plaintiffs' claims and 26 ability to prevail at trial—in which class counsel remain confident—and the relief 27 Plaintiffs anticipate from a successful trial outcome. Countervailing considerations 28

1 include the legal and factual burdens Plaintiffs would bear in bringing the matter to 2 trial, the defenses Defendants would assert—in which Defendants have expressed 3 continued confidence (Stampley Decl. ¶ 5), the complexities of class action practice, 4 and the risks that inevitably attend litigation, including the risk that Plaintiffs will 5 not ultimately prevail and so will not secure any post-trial relief. Even if successful 6 in prosecuting this matter, Plaintiffs would have forfeited the valuable, additional re-7 lief now being offered at Defendants’ discretion, and which could not be compelled 8 from Defendants following trial.

9 In advocating for approval of the Settlement Agreement, class counsel are 10 aided by their collective experience and awareness of the costs and risks described 11 above and are mindful of the interests of Plaintiffs and the putative class, particular-12 ly given the proposed settlement’s substantial and prompt relief and meaningful 13 long-term benefits. It is apparent that the proposed settlement serves the best inter-14 ests of class members. Accordingly, this settlement easily falls well “within the 15 range of possible approval” and merits the Court’s preliminary approval.

16 VI. THE PROPOSED PLAN OF CLASS NOTICE

17 Rule 23(c)(2)(B) provides that, “[f]or any class certified under Rule 23(b)(3), 18 the court must direct to class members the best notice practicable under the circum-19 stances, including individual notice to all members who can be identified through 20 reasonable effort.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B). Rule 23(e)(1) similarly says, “The 21 court must direct notice in a reasonable manner to all class members who would be 22 bound by a proposed settlement, voluntary dismissal, or compromise.” Fed. R. Civ.
23 P. 23(e)(1). Notice is “adequate if it may be understood by the average class mem-24 ber.” Newberg on Class Actions, §11.53, at 167 (4th Ed. 2002).

25 The proposed settlement includes the parties agreement on providing notice 26 through publication as well as a dedicated website. (Settlement Agreement, secs.
27
28

1 4.1-4.3.) A notice plan will be submitted to the Court prior to the hearing on this 2 Motion.

3 VII. CONCLUSION

4 For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully ask that the Court grant pre-5 liminary approval of the proposed Settlement Agreement and enter the proposed or-6 der separately submitted herewith (a copy of which is Exhibit A.1 to the Settlement
