

REDACTED REPLY MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES RULE 11 SANCTION

1	TABLE OF AUTHORITIES
2	Page
3	FEDERAL CASES
4
5	Block v. City of Los Angeles, 253 F.3d 410, 418-19 (9th cir.2001)
6	Lucas v. Duncan,
7	574 F.3d 772 (D.C. Cir. 2009)
8	Stitt v. Williams , 919 F.2d 516 (9th Cir. 1990)
9	William H. Morris Co. v. Grp. W, Inc.,
10	66 F.3d 255, 258 (9th Cir. 1995)5
11	FEDERAL STATUTES
12	Fed. R. Civ. P. 801(d)(D)
13	Fed. R. Evid. 602
14	Fed. R. Evid. 612
15	Fed. R. Evid. 803(5)
16	OTHER AUTHORITIES
17	California Rule of Professional Conduct 5-100
18
19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28 ii

INTRODUCTION I.

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

There is a clear line separating aggressive advocacy from an effort to deceive and mislead the Court. Faced with a choice to stand on the right side of that line, and after being given ample notice and repeated opportunities to take that stand, Rocket Lawyer and its counsel made the opposite choice. Instead of simply agreeing to argue on summary judgment the relative weight and impact of survey evidence available in the record, Rocket Lawyer and its counsel chose to continue an attempt first to hide from LegalZoom, and then to hide from the Court, the portion of that record that it knew would negatively impact its motion: Rocket Lawyer's own

10
11
12
13	." While Rocket Lawyer goes to great lengths in its opposition brief to
14	argue why these are irrelevant or inadmissible, those are arguments
15	that should have been made in the summary judgment briefing, and they provide no
16	excuse for not having placed those documents into the record as part of Rocket
17	Lawyer's summary judgment motion, to be considered by the Court. ¹
18	Rocket Lawyer's opposition to this sanctions motion is replete with arguments
19	that are merely side-show distractions, and some of those arguments are based on yet
20	another failure to act with full candor to the Court.
21	II. ROCKET LAWYER MADE AN UNSUPPORTED ASSERTION OF
22	FACT TO THE COURT
23	In arguing against Rule 11 sanctions, Rocket Lawyer argues that "LegalZoom
24
25	¹ LegalZoom's pending motion to supplement the record (the "Motion to Supplement") also presents evidence, including deposition testimony from Rocket
26	¹ LegalZoom's pending motion to supplement the record (the "Motion to Supplement") also presents evidence, including deposition testimony from Rocket Lawyer witnesses and discovery misconduct by Rocket Lawyer's counsel, which lend support to any determination of sanctions. While we do not cite to, or rely upon, such
27	evidence here, because it was not referenced by our original Rule 11 moving papers, LegalZoom invites the Court to independently consider such evidence as further confirmation that this Rule 11 motion should be granted.
28	confirmation that this Rule 11 motion should be granted.
	1 REDACTED REPLY MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES RULE 11 SANCTION does not point to any unsupported assertions of fact." Opp. at 5:21-23. This is plainly not accurate. The motion identifies, and quotes, several factual statements made by Rocket Lawyer that were untrue and unsupported. The most grievous of those statements was a representation made to the Court, which was block quoted in the motion:

"[R]ocket Lawyer has since conducted searches of documents in its possession, produced over 22,000 documents in response to LegalZoom's discovery requests (including at least 10 spreadsheets of generated ad and conversion data), and conducted a comprehensive consumer survey. SSUF at 5-9, 92-93. These efforts have resulted in a record of undisputed facts demonstrating that Rocket Lawyer's advertisements are truthful and have no tendency to deceive."

Rocket Lawyer's Motion for Summary Judgment ("Motion"), pg. 14, fn. 8. (emphasis added). Other, similarly misleading, statements were also quoted by LegalZoom in its moving papers, at pp. 2-3. While Rocket Lawyer may argue about whether its are dispositive of the issues on summary judgment, it is mere sophistry for Rocket Lawyer to argue that they have no bearing at all on whether the advertisements "have no tendency to deceive."

THE HIDDEN ROCKET LAWYER III. SHOULD HAVE BEEN 19 CONSIDERED ALONG WITH THE COMPETING EXPERT REPORTS 20 AS PART OF THE SUMMARY JUDGMENT RECORD 21 The Relative Size and Number of Participants in the 22 A. Did Not Provide a Basis For Rocket Lawyer to Conceal Them. 23 " and Rocket Lawyer argues that its internal studies have " 24 " Opp. at 7:23-24. For this that two of them " 25 reason, Rocket Lawyer argues that the Court should disregard them in comparison to 26 the study performed by its paid expert, Dr. Wind, which they claim was a survey of 27

²⁸ "over 400 consumers." Id. at 6:9. Rocket Lawyer's argument is self-defeating.

Glaser Weil

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

As LegalZoom pointed out in its opposition to Rocket Lawyer's motion for 1 summary judgment, the Wind survey eliminates from consideration the vast majority 2 of the original 400 respondents, and ultimately attempts to draw conclusions based on 3 the responses of 15 respondents in a test group as compared to 13 respondents in a 4 control group. See LegalZoom's Statement of Genuine Disputes, No. 119. For that 5 reason, there is nothing about the size of the responses evaluated in Rocket Lawyer's 6 which suffers in comparison from the responses 7 evaluated by Dr. Wind. But in any event, this is exactly the type of argument that 8 Rocket Lawyer could have made, and should have made, as part of the briefing on 9 10 summary judgment after full disclosure of the internal studies to LegalZoom and to the Court 11

12

13

14

15

Glaser Weil

B. Rocket Lawyer's Case Law is Inapposite.

Rocket Lawyer's argument that Rule 11 does not require a party to supply known evidence which is contrary to its factual contentions is not supported by the case law to which it cites.

In Stitt v. Williams, 919 F.2d 516 (9th Cir. 1990), the Ninth Circuit reversed a 16 district court award of sanctions against a party and counsel who opposed a motion 17 for summary judgment. The district court had found the opposition to be frivolous, 18 and without basis, but the Ninth Circuit held that there were at least some declarations 19 submitted which arguably supported the opposition. Id. at 527. It was on that basis 20 that the Court held that insufficient evidence does not amount to factually unfounded 21 claims for purposes of Rule 11. But here the issue is not whether Rocket Lawyer's 22 evidence is insufficient; the issue is whether Rocket Lawyer acted to conceal 23 evidence. Stitt offers no opinion on that subject in the Rule 11 context or in any other 24 25 context.

In Lucas v. Duncan, 574 F.3d 772 (D.C. Cir. 2009), as in Stitt, Rule 11 was 26 being examined in connection with a party's opposition to summary judgment. In 27 Lucas, sanctions were being sought, in part, because of a party's reliance upon certain 28

946280

REDACTED REPLY MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES RULE 11 SANCTION

evidence that was in the factual record to support the presence of a triable issue of fact without simultaneously pointing out the contrary evidence that was also in the record.
 The Court properly rejected that conduct as being subject to Rule 11 sanctions:

Karl's obligation in opposing the defendant's motion was to file a separate statement "setting forth all material facts as to which it is contended there exists a genuine issue necessary to be litigated." To do that, Karl was obliged to do no more than set forth facts in contravention of the defendant's claims. The rules do not require him to rehearse the government's evidence, and nothing in Rule 11 imposes that added burden. Nor could the omission of that evidence have been misleading to the reader. Many of the facts that the magistrate judge criticized Karl for failing to disclose in his opposition were contained in the government motion to which he was responding.

Id. at 780. In marked contrast to the context being evaluated in Lucas, Rocket Lawyer is not simply selectively arguing based on some, but not all, of the facts available in the record in order to create a triable issue. Instead, Rocket Lawyer's conduct involved an attempt to dilute that factual record so that the competing facts were simply not available to be argued by LegalZoom or considered by the Cout. As noted by the Lucas court, "context is relevant." Id.

18

С.

are Not Hearsay.

Rocket Lawyer protests that the internal studies are inadmissible hearsay because they are presented for "their truth regarding the interviewees' opinions, and the underlying opinions for their truth about the nature of the website." Opp. at 7:1-2.
Rocket Lawyer's hearsay objection is without merit.

First, because First, were commissioned by Rocket Lawyer and performed by its agent, the statements made are party admissions and are therefore excepted from the hearsay rule. Fed. R. Civ. P. 801(d)(D) ("a statement by the party's agent or servant about a matter within the scope of agency or employment, made during the existence of the relationship").

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

- the paid expert study upon which Rocket Lawyer places its reliance.² 1
- Third, the are not offered to prove the truth of any matter asserted. It 2 does not matter whether each of the was actually 3 deceived, or whether each actually felt deceived, about the Rocket Lawyer "free" 4 advertisements. It is the participants' perception of the advertisements which matters, 5 and the evidence is offered to show that the advertisements have at least a tendency to 6 mislead or deceive. Moreover, these may be offered for another 7 significant purpose separate and apart from a demonstration that the advertisements 8 were actually deceptive or misleading: 9

10

11

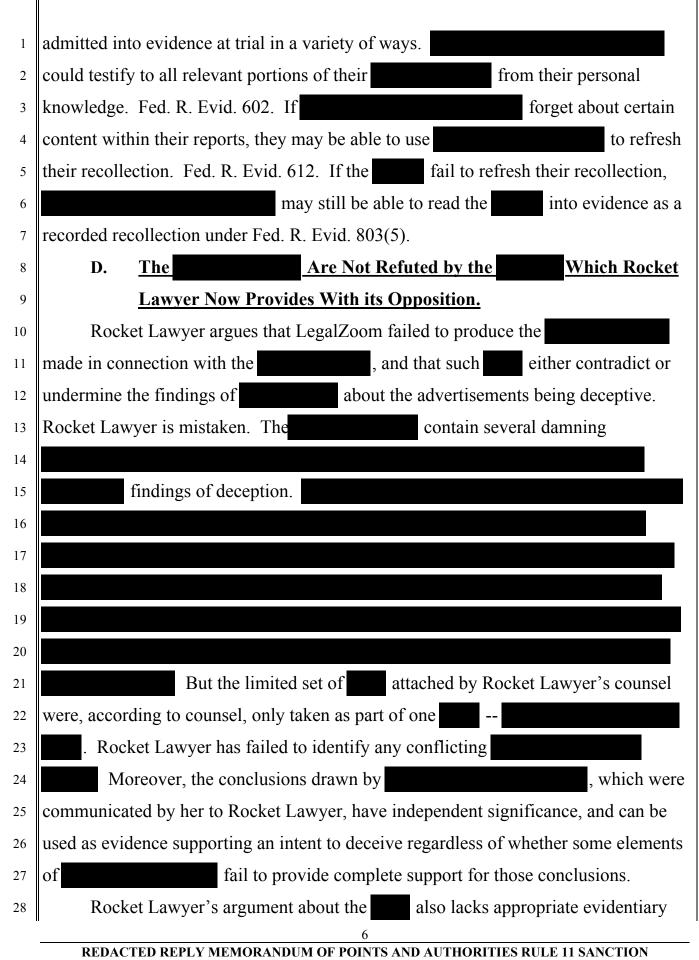

- goes to the issue of whether Rocket Lawyer had an intent to deceive, 12 which creates a presumption of actual deception under the Lanham Act. William H. 13 Morris Co. v. Grp. W, Inc., 66 F.3d 255, 258 (9th Cir. 1995). 14
- 15 Fourth, these documents can be used to impeach Rocket Lawyer witnesses about the intent to deceive consumers and Rocket Lawyer's knowledge of the 16 potential to deceive, which presents another fair and appropriate use for these 17 18 documents both on summary judgment and at trial.

Lastly, at the summary judgment stage, courts do not focus on the admissibility 19 of the evidence's form, but instead focus on the admissibility of its contents. Block v. 20 City of Los Angeles, 253 F.3d 410, 418-19 (9th Cir.2001) ("To survive summary" 21 judgment, a party does not necessarily have to produce evidence in a form that would 22 be admissible at trial, as long as the party satisfies the requirements of Federal Rules 23 of Civil Procedure 56."). The contents of the can therefore be 24

25

TS AND AUTHORITIES RULE 11 SANCTION REDACTED REPLY MEMORANDUM OF POI

² In opposing Rocket Lawyer's motion for summary judgment, LegalZoom argued that Dr. Wind's expert report, upon which Rocket Lawyer relied, was hearsay because the report was simply attached to an attorney declaration and was not a sworn statement made by Dr. Wind under penalty of perjury. The second that the one now being made by Rocket Lawyer as to the second term. 26 27

¹ support. Rocket Lawyer's counsel, Michael T. Jones, states in a declaration that his

2 attached Exhibit 1 provides a "

3 " but Rocket 4 Lawyer has failed to produce a declaration of confirming that these 5 were taken as part of her and/or confirming the interpretation of those 6 offered by Rocket Lawyer's counsel. Mr. Jones also failed to provide any facts 7 in his declaration which substantiates his personal knowledge as to who is the author 8 or how they should be interpreted. This is yet again an argument that of the 9 10 should have been made as part of the summary judgment record, and not as an argument for withholding evidence from the Court. 11 LegalZoom never misrepresented the information contained within the internal 12 13 study, and merely offered direct quotes authored by which were communicated to Rocket Lawyer. LegalZoom did not offer the 14 because LegalZoom had no ability to determine who authored those While Mr. 15 Jones' declaration states that these were taken "as part" of the 16 are completely void of authorship and cannot be viewed as . the 17 self-authenticating. 18 LegalZoom Does Not Acknowledge that the Existing Record is E. 19 Inadequate to Defeat Rocket Lawyer's Summary Judgment Motion. 20 By moving for sanctions based on Rocket Lawyer's concealment of evidence, 21 LegalZoom is not in any way conceding that the existing factual record is inadequate 22 as a basis for defeating Rocket Lawyer's motion for summary judgment. For all of 23 the reasons stated in LegalZoom's opposition papers, the survey performed by Rocket 24 Lawyer's paid expert Dr. Wind is fatally flawed and unreliable; but in any event, the 25 competing expert testimony in this case presents, at the very least, an intractable 26 triable issue of fact which a jury must resolve. The which Rocket 27 Lawyer attempted to conceal simply confirm the strength of LegalZoom's opposition. 28

1

IV. LEGALZOOM'S COUNSEL MADE NO ETHICAL VIOLATION

Rocket Lawyer argues that LegalZoom's counsel acted inappropriately by offering to withdraw its Rule 11 motion if Rocket Lawyer would simply reverse the sanctionable conduct by permitting the subject Court to be put before the Court. Rocket Lawyer describes this as an "inappropriate quid pro quo" and a violation of California Rule of Professional Conduct 5-100. Rocket Lawyer is once again mistaken, and once again over the line of aggressive advocacy.

Rule 11, by providing twenty-one days before any sanctions motion is actually 8 filed with the court, encourages parties to meet and confer in an effort to cure the 9 10 alleged violation and to avoid motion practice. Under Rocket Lawyer's purported standard, every effort to meet and confer before filing a Rule 11 motion would 11 constitute an ethical breach, and that cannot be the law. Moreover, as Exhibit 3 to the 12 Jones declaration makes clear, LegalZoom's counsel made no threats (its motion was 13 already served and pending), and was simply attempting to give Rocket Lawyer's 14 counsel a full and fair opportunity to avoid the motion, and to cure its past misconduct 15 by placing these into the summary judgment record. 16

V. ROCKET LAWYER HAS AGAIN VIOLATED RULE 11 IN ITS FOOTNOTE 8

Rocket Lawyer refers in a footnote to LegalZoom's recent withdrawal of a 19 narrow argument that it had previously relied upon as support for its own motion for 20 partial summary judgment. ECF No. 116. It is true that the withdrawal of that 21 argument was prompted by a letter from Rocket Lawyer's counsel which threatened 22 Rule 11 sanctions against LegalZoom. Allan Decl. Exh. A. But LegalZoom does not 23 agree with Rocket Lawyer that the original making of that argument was either 24 25 unsupported or sanctionable. In deciding to withdraw that argument, LegalZoom was persuaded based on the arguments made by Rocket Lawyer in its letter that (a) the 26 argument could be viewed by the Court as attended by triable issues of fact, not 27 suitable for resolution on summary judgment; and (b) the other two arguments upon 28

17

18

REDACTED REPLY MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES RULE 11 SANCTION

which LegalZoom relied to obtain partial summary judgment were much stronger and independently dispositive. LegalZoom therefore did what Rocket Lawyer should have done in this case -- mooted the need for any motion practice.

Most significantly for this motion, however, is Rocket Lawyer's statement that 4 LegalZoom withdrew the argument while "[a]cknowledging its misconduct." Opp. at 5 6, note 8. Prior to withdrawing the argument, LegalZoom's counsel sent a letter to 6 Rocket Lawyer's counsel which clearly and definitively states that LegalZoom would 7 be withdrawing that argument without any acknowledgment that it had violated Rule 8 11 ("We strongly disagree with the arguments upon which Rocket Lawyer's [Rule 11] 9 motion is based.... and solely to avoid what we view as time wasting and 10 unnecessary motion practice, LegalZoom is prepared to withdraw that portion of its 11 partial summary judgment motion, section III.B.3, which argues for judgment based 12 on a lack of authorship or control of the content at Legalspring.com."). Allan Decl. 13 Exh. B. Rocket Lawyer's misrepresentation to the court that LegalZoom was 14 "acknowledging misconduct," without referencing the letter from LegalZoom's 15 counsel stating exactly the opposite position, is once again a violation of Rule 11. 16

17

VI. ROCKET LAWYER'S PROCEDURAL ARGUMENTS ARE MOOT

Finally, Rocket Lawyer makes several procedural arguments that LegalZoom is 18 attempting to gain an improper sur-reply; that LegalZoom waited too long before 19 20 bringing this motion; and that LegalZoom has no excuse for having failed to move earlier to supplement the record. Based on the Court's recent ruling (ECF No. 131) 21 which granted LegalZoom's exparte application to move the hearing date on the 22 competing summary judgment motions to October 27, 2014, to be heard along with 23 this Rule 11 motion and LegalZoom's motion to supplement the record, these 24 arguments have already been rejected by the Court and should be treated as moot. 25

26 VII. CONCLUSION AND REQUESTED REMEDY

27 Rocket Lawyer's knowingly false statements that there is a record of

²⁸ undisputed facts showing that its advertisements are not deceptive has burdened

9

1	LegalZoom and the Court with additional costs. LegalZoom accordingly requests that
2	the Court impose sanctions against Rocket Lawyer and Rocket Lawyer's counsel,
3	including the reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred in preparing (a)
4	LegalZoom's Opposition to Rocket Lawyer's motion for summary judgment, (b) this
5	Rule 11 motion, and (c) any motion or application necessary to support the sanctions
6	being requested by this motion.
7	DATED: _October 13, 2014 Respectfully submitted,
8	GLASER WEIL FINK HOWARD AVCHEN & SHAPIRO LLP
9
10	By: /s/ Fred Heather
11	PATRICIA L. GLASER FRED D. HEATHER
12	AARON P. ALLAN Attorneys for Plaintiff LegalZoom.com, Inc.
13	LegalZoom.com, Inc.
14
15
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28	10
	10

