Proceedings: IN CHAMBERS - COURT ORDER

Before the Court is a Notice of Removal filed by defendants The American Bottling Company (a named defendant and also erroneously sued as Seven-Up/RC Bottling Company, Inc. and Seven-Up/RC Bottling Company of Southern California) and Dr.. Pepper Snapple Group, Inc. (collectively “Defendants”) on August 2, 2013. Defendants assert that this Court has jurisdiction over the action brought against them by plaintiff Jack Saatjian (“Plaintiff”) based on the Court’s diversity jurisdiction. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332.

Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction, having subject matter jurisdiction only over matters authorized by the Constitution and Congress. See, e.g., Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 511 U.S. 375, 377, 114 S. Ct. 1673, 1675, 128 L. Ed. 2d 391 (1994). A suit filed in state court may be removed to federal court if the federal court would have had original jurisdiction over the suit. 28 U.S.C. § 1441(a). A removed action must be remanded to state court if the federal court lacks subject matter jurisdiction. 28 U.S.C. § 1447(c). “The burden of establishing federal jurisdiction is on the party seeking removal, and the removal statute is strictly construed against removal jurisdiction.” Prize Frize, Inc. v. Matrix (U.S.) Inc., 167 F.3d 1261, 1265 (9th Cir. 1999). “Federal jurisdiction must be rejected if there is any doubt as to the right of removal in the first instance.” Gaus v. Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir. 1992).

In attempting to invoke this Court’s diversity jurisdiction, Defendants must prove that there is complete diversity of citizenship between the parties and that the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000. 28 U.S.C. § 1332. To establish citizenship for diversity purposes, a natural person must be a citizen of the United States and be domiciled in a particular state. Kantor v. Wellesley Galleries, Ltd., 704 F.2d 1088, 1090 (9th Cir. 1983). Persons are domiciled in the places they reside with the intent to remain or to which they intend to return. See Kanter v. Warner-Lambert Co., 265 F.3d 853, 857 (9th Cir. 2001). “A person residing in a given state is not necessarily domiciled there, and thus is not necessarily a citizen of that state.” Id. For the purposes of diversity jurisdiction, a corporation is a citizen of any state where it is incorporated and of the state where it has its principal place of business. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(c); see also Indus. Tectonics, Inc. v. Aero Alloy, 912 F.2d 1090, 1092 (9th Cir. 1990).

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

CIVIL MINUTES - GENERAL

Case No.	CV 13-5607 PA (RZx)	Date	August 12, 2013
Title	Jack Saatjian v. The American Bottling Company, et al.

The Notice of Removal alleges that “Plaintiff Jack Saatjian ‘is and at all times relevant hereto was a resident of the County of Los Angeles, State of California.’” (Notice of Removal ¶ 12.) The Notice of Removal additionally alleges that “by Plaintiff’s own admissions, he has resided in California at all relevant times, worked in California, and seeks damages based on the theory that he would have continued to work in California but for the termination. Plaintiff is, therefore, a citizen of the State of California.”) As the Notice of Removal makes clear, however, the Complaint only alleges Plaintiff’s residence. (Complaint ¶ 1.) Because an individual is not necessarily domiciled where he or she resides, Defendants’ allegations of Plaintiff’s domiciliary and citizenship, based on an allegation of residence, are insufficient to establish Plaintiff’s citizenship. See Kanter v. Warner-Lambert Co., 265 F.3d at 857. “Absent unusual circumstances, a party seeking to invoke diversity jurisdiction should be able to allege affirmatively the actual citizenship of the relevant parties.” Kanter, 265 F.3d at 857; Bradford v. Mitchell Bros. Truck Lines, 217 F. Supp. 525, 527 (N.D. Cal. 1963) (“A petition [for removal] alleging diversity of citizenship upon information and belief is insufficient.”). As a result, Defendants’ allegations are insufficient to invoke this Court’s diversity jurisdiction.

Therefore, Defendants have failed to meet its burden to demonstrate the Court’s diversity jurisdiction. Accordingly, the Court remands this action to Los Angeles Superior Court, Case No. VC063290. See 28 U.S.C. § 1447(c).

IT IS SO ORDERED.
