--	---

The Court sua sponte REMANDS this action to the California Superior Court for the County of Los Angeles for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, as set forth below.

“The right of removal is entirely a creature of statute and ‘a suit commenced in a state court must remain there until cause is shown for its transfer under some act of Congress.’”

Syngenta Crop Prot., Inc. v. Henson, 537 U.S. 28, 32 (2002) (quoting Great N. Ry. Co. v. Alexander, 246 U.S. 276, 280 (1918)). Generally, where Congress has acted to create a right of removal, those statutes are strictly construed against removal jurisdiction. Id.; Nevada v. Bank of Am. Corp., 672 F.3d 661, 667 (9th Cir. 2012); Gaus v. Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir. 1992).

Unless otherwise expressly provided by Congress, a defendant may remove “any civil action brought in a State court of which the district courts of the United States have original jurisdiction.” 28 U.S.C. § 1441(a); Dennis v. Hart, 724 F.3d 1249, 1252 (9th Cir. 2013). The removing defendant bears the burden of establishing federal jurisdiction. Abrego Abrego v.

1 Dow Chem. Co., 443 F.3d 676, 682 (9th Cir. 2006); Gaus, 980 F.2d at 566-67. “Under the plain
2 terms of § 1441(a), in order properly to remove [an] action pursuant to that provision, [the 3 removing defendant] must demonstrate that original subject-matter jurisdiction lies in the federal
4 courts.” Syngenta Crop Prot., 537 U.S. at 33. Failure to do so requires that the case be remanded,
5 as “[s]ubject matter jurisdiction may not be waived, and . . . the district court must remand if it
6 lacks jurisdiction.” Kelton Arms Condo. Owners Ass’n v. Homestead Ins. Co., 346 F.3d 1190,
7 1192 (9th Cir. 2003). “If at any time before final judgment it appears that the district court lacks
8 subject matter jurisdiction, the case shall be remanded.” 28 U.S.C. § 1447(c). It is “elementary
9 that the subject matter jurisdiction of the district court is not a waivable matter and may be raised
10 at anytime by one of the parties, by motion or in the responsive pleadings, or sua sponte by the 11 trial or reviewing court.” Emrich v. Touche Ross & Co., 846 F.2d 1190, 1194 n.2 (9th Cir. 1988).

12 From a review of the Notice of Removal and the state court records provided, it is evident
13 that the Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the instant case, for the following reasons.

14  No basis for federal question jurisdiction has been identified:

15  The Complaint does not include any claim “arising under the Constitution, laws, 16 or treaties of the United States.” 28 U.S.C. § 1331.

17  Removing defendant(s) asserts that the affirmative defenses at issue give rise to 18 federal question jurisdiction, but “the existence of federal jurisdiction depends 19 solely on the plaintiff’s claims for relief and not on anticipated defenses to those 20 claims.” ARCO Env’tl. Remediation, L.L.C. v. Dept. of Health and Env’tl. Quality,
21 213 F.3d 1108, 1113 (9th Cir. 2000). An “affirmative defense based on federal law”
22 does not “render[] an action brought in state court removable.” Berg v. Leason, 32
23 F.3d 422, 426 (9th Cir. 1994). A “case may not be removed to federal court on the 24 basis of a federal defense . . . even if the defense is anticipated in the plaintiff’s
25 complaint, and even if both parties admit that the defense is the only question truly
26 at issue in the case.” Franchise Tax Bd. v. Constr. Laborers Vacation Tr., 463 U.S.
27 1, 14 (1983).

28  Removing defendant(s) has not alleged facts sufficient to show that the requirements for removal under 28 U.S.C. § 1443 are satisfied. Section 1443(1) provides for the removal of a civil action filed “[a]gainst any person who is denied or cannot enforce in the courts of such State a right under any law providing for the equal civil rights of citizens of the United States . . . .” Even assuming that the removing defendant(s) has asserted rights provided “by explicit statutory

1 enactment protecting equal racial civil rights," Patel v. Del Taco, Inc., 446 F.3d 996,
2 999 (9th Cir. 2006) (citation omitted), defendant(s) has not identified any "state
3 statute or a constitutional provision that purports to command the state courts to 4 ignore the federal rights" or pointed "to anything that suggests that the state court
5 would not enforce [defendant's] civil rights in the state court proceedings." Id.
6 (citation omitted); see also Bogart v. California, 355 F.2d 377, 381-82 (9th Cir.
7 1966) (holding that conclusory statements lacking any factual basis cannot 8 support removal under § 1443(1)). Nor does § 1443(2) provide any basis for 9 removal, as it "confers a privilege of removal only upon federal officers or agents
10 and those authorized to act with or for them in affirmatively executing duties
11 under any federal law providing for equal civil rights" and on state officers who 12 refuse to enforce discriminatory state laws. City of Greenwood v. Peacock, 384
13 U.S. 808, 824 & 824 n.22 (1966).

10  The underlying action is an unlawful detainer proceeding, arising under and 11 governed by the laws of the State of California.

12  Removing defendant(s) claims that 28 U.S.C. § 1334 confers jurisdiction on this 13 Court, but the underlying action does not arise under Title 11 of the United States
14 Code.

14  Diversity jurisdiction is lacking, and/or this case is not removable on that basis:

15  Every defendant is not alleged to be diverse from every plaintiff. 28 U.S.C. § 16 1332(a).

17  The Complaint does not allege damages in excess of $75,000, and removing 18 defendant(s) has not plausibly alleged that the amount in controversy requirement
19 has been met. Id.; see Dart Cherokee Basin Operating Co. v. Owens, 135 S. Ct.
20 547, 554 (2014).

21  The underlying unlawful detainer action is a limited civil action that does not 22 exceed $25,000.

22  Removing defendant(s) is a citizen of California. 28 U.S.C. § 1441(b)(2).

26 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that this matter be, and hereby is, REMANDED to the Superior
27 Court of California listed above, for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

28 IT IS SO ORDERED.
