25 ¹ Blizzard submitted evidence that it incurred $40,422.75 in attorneys’ fees for work through the end of 26 June 2011. Blizzard further anticipated that it would incur an additional $5,500 in fees for services 27 rendered in July 2011. The Court finds it reasonable to award $1,370 in fees for work performed in July 28 2011. This award permits recovery for (1) Mr. Mayer and Ms. Rubin each spending one hour to prepare for and attend the July 11, 2011 hearing on Blizzard’s motion for entry of default judgment and (2) Ms.
Rubin spending two hours to prepare a supplemental declaration and redacted billing statements to support Blizzard’s request for attorneys’ fees and costs.
