Proceedings: (IN CHAMBERS) Order to Show Cause Re: Amount in Controversy [DE 1]

On November 15, 2023, Fareen Azmi (“Plaintiff”) filed a Complaint against General Motors, LLC (“Defendant”) in Orange County Superior Court alleging violations of the Song-Beverly Consumer Warranty Act (Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1790, et seq.) and other related claims. Plaintiff’s allegations arise from Plaintiff’s purchase of a 2020 Chevrolet Bolt vehicle (the “Vehicle”) manufactured by Defendant. On December 28, 2023, Defendant timely removed the action to this Court on the basis of diversity jurisdiction. (ECF No. 1.) On January 11, 2024, the Court Ordered Defendant to show cause that the amount in controversy requirement was satisfied for diversity jurisdiction. (ECF No. 12.) Defendant timely responded. (ECF No. 14.) Upon review of Defendant’s Response, the court finds that the amount in controversy has not been established and hereby REMANDS the action for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332, a district court shall have original jurisdiction over any civil action where the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000 and is between citizens of different States. After a plaintiff files an action in state court, the defendant attempting to remove the action bears the burden of proving the amount in controversy requirement has been met. Fritsch v. Swift Transp. Co. of Ariz., LLC, 899 F.3d 785, 793 (9th Cir. 2018) (citing Urbino v. Orkin Servs. of Cal., Inc., 726 F.3d 1118, 1121–22 (9th Cir. 2013)).

Courts must “strictly construe the removal statute against removal jurisdiction” and remand an action “if there is any doubt as to the right of removal in the first instance.” Gaus v. Miles, Inc., 980 F.2d 564, 566 (9th Cir. 1992). However, “[w]hen a notice of removal plausibly alleges a basis for federal court jurisdiction, a district court may not remand the case back to state court without first giving the defendant an opportunity to show by a preponderance of the evidence that the jurisdictional requirements are satisfied.” Arias v. Residence Inn, 936 F.3d 920, 924 (9th Cir. 2019). “A shortcoming in a notice of removal concerning the amount in controversy is not jurisdictional . . . until the movant has an opportunity to correct any perceived deficiency in the notice,” and the notice need not in and of itself prove that the district court has jurisdiction. Acad. of Country Music v. Cont’l Cas. Co., 991 F.3d 1059, 1068 (9th Cir. 2021).

CIVIL MINUTES - GENERAL

Case No. 8:23-cv-02477-RGK-DFM

Date January 17, 2024

Title Fareen Azmi v. General Motors LLC et al

Plaintiff seeks replacement or restitution for all money paid, civil penalties, and attorneys' fees, among other remedies under the Song-Beverly Act. In the Notice of Removal and Response to the Court's Order to Show Cause, Defendant asserts that the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000. According to Defendant, the value of the Vehicle, which it estimates is $38,371, combined with the civil penalties and attorneys' fees Plaintiff seeks exceeds $75,000.

While civil penalties and attorneys' fees are available for willful failure to comply with the Act, the Court declines to speculate as to what this award might be. Additionally, as the Court previously observed in its Order to Show Cause, Defendant's estimated value of the vehicle is based on the "suggested retail price of vehicles that are the same year, make, and model." This figure could change significantly depending on the Vehicle's condition.

For the foregoing reasons, Defendant has not satisfied its burden of plausibly alleging that the amount in controversy meets the jurisdictional requirement. Accordingly, the Court REMANDS the action to state court for all further proceedings.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
