6 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
78 EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
910 MICHAEL KONS, CASE NO. 1:08-cv-00994-SMS PC
1112 v. Plaintiff, ORDER DISMISSING ACTION, WITH 13 R. LOPEZ, et al., PREJUDICE, FOR FAILURE TO STATE A 14 Defendants. CLAIM UNDER SECTION 1983, AND 15 / DIRECTING CLERK OF THE COURT TO ENTER JUDGMENT

(Doc. 11)

16 Screening Order
1718 I. Screening Requirement
1920 Plaintiff Michael Kons, a state prisoner proceeding pro se and in forma pauperis, filed this
21 civil rights action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 on July 14, 2008. On March 31, 2009, the Court
22 dismissed Plaintiff's complaint, with leave to amend, for failure to state a claim. Plaintiff filed an 23 amended complaint on April 24, 2009.
2425 The Court is required to screen complaints brought by prisoners seeking relief against a 26 governmental entity or officer or employee of a governmental entity. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a). The 27 Court must dismiss a complaint or portion thereof if the prisoner has raised claims that are legally 28 "frivolous or malicious," that fail to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or that seek monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b)(1),(2).
"Notwithstanding any filing fee, or any portion thereof, that may have been paid, the court shall dismiss the case at any time if the court determines that . . . the action or appeal . . . fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted." 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

1 A complaint must contain “a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader
2 is entitled to relief” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). Detailed factual allegations are not required, but
3 “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements,
4 do not suffice.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. 1937, 1949 (2009) (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v.
5 Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555, 127 S.Ct. 1955, 1964-65 (2007)). Plaintiff must set forth “sufficient
6 factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim that is plausible on its face.’” Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. at 7 1949 (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555). While factual allegations are accepted as true, legal 8 conclusion are not. Id. at 1949.

9 II. Plaintiff’s Claims

10 Plaintiff, who is currently incarcerated at the California Correctional Institution in Tehachapi, 11 brings this suit against prison officials at California State Prison-Corcoran for housing him in 12 administrative segregation for more than seven months without due process, and retaliating against 13 him for filing a complaint. Plaintiff names Chief Deputy Warden R. Lopez, Warden Darrel G.
14 Adams, Captain F. P. Field, Correctional Counselors F. Chastain and E. E. Hough, and Lieutenant
15 G. A. Finley as defendants, and seeks money damages.

16 A. Due Process

17 Plaintiff was initially housed in administrative segregation on February 28, 2007, and charged
18 with possession of a weapon. Plaintiff was found not guilty of the charge on April 11, 2007, but was 19 retained in administrative segregation pending transfer due to tension between different Crips sets
20 and his participation in inciting tension between the groups, an accusation Plaintiff disputes. (Doc.
21 11, court record p. 11.) Plaintiff alleges he was retained in segregation based on unreliable
22 information, and his rights were violated by the defendants’ failure to evaluate the reliability of the 23 confidential informant. Plaintiff alleges he never received a lock-up order outlining the reasons for 24 his retention in segregation, and was not afforded a hearing to challenge the confidential informant’s
25 information.

26 The Due Process Clause protects against the deprivation of liberty without due process of 27 law. Wilkinson v. Austin, 545 U.S. 209, 221, 125 S.Ct. 2384, 2393 (2005). In order to invoke the 28 protection of the Due Process Clause, a plaintiff must first establish the existence of a liberty interest

1 for which the protection is sought. Id. Liberty interests may arise from the Due Process Clause itself
2 or from state law. Id. The Due Process Clause itself does not confer on inmates a liberty interest
3 in avoiding “more adverse conditions of confinement.” Id. Under state law, the existence of a 4 liberty interest created by prison regulations is determined by focusing on the nature of the 5 deprivation. Sandin v. Conner, 515 U.S. 472, 481-84, 115 S.Ct. 2293 (1995). Liberty interests
6 created by state law are “generally limited to freedom from restraint which . . . imposes atypical and 7 significant hardship on the inmate in relation to the ordinary incidents of prison life.” Id. at 484;
8 Myron v. Terhune, 476 F.3d 716, 718 (9th Cir. 2007).

9 Although Plaintiff argues that he had a liberty interest in remaining free from administrative 10 segregation due to the length of his confinement there, Plaintiff has not alleged any facts supporting
11 a claim that the conditions in administrative segregation constituted atypical and significant hardship
12 on him in relation to the ordinary incidents of prison life. Sandin at 484. Because Plaintiff fails to 13 establish the existence of a protected liberty interest, his due process claim fails as a matter of law.

14 B. Retaliation

15 Plaintiff alleges that he filed a complaint regarding his retention in administrative segregation
16 and was “retaliated against by defendants through use of the Mental Health Department at CSP.”
17 (Doc. 11, p. 5.) Plaintiff was placed on CCCMS (Correctional Clinical Case Management System)
18 after being told by a “mental health woman” that he looked crazy. Subsequently, he received the 19 Classification Chrono from his July 26, 2007, program review, which falsely stated he had a history
20 of suicide ideation/gesture/attempt, was on psychotropic medication, and was medication compliant.
21 Plaintiff had been endorsed to Centinela State Prison, but the transfer order was rescinded due to his
22 placement on CCCMS and transfer to California State Prison-Lancaster or High Desert State Prison
23 was recommended. Plaintiff thereafter obtained a note from Dr. Staltaro stating that Plaintiff has 24 no history of suicide and is not taking psychiatric medication.

25 Plaintiff was later transferred to High Desert State Prison, and upon arrival was placed on 26 a 180 design yard on lock-down rather than a 270 design yard. Plaintiff’s property was also lost,
27 and he had to file an inmate appeal to get it back. Plaintiff alleges that this pattern of harassment
28 stems from his placement in administrative segregation and the resulting complaint he filed.

1 Allegations of retaliation against a prisoner’s First Amendment rights to speech or to petition
2 the government may support a section 1983 claim. Rizzo v. Dawson, 778 F.2d 527, 532 (9th Cir.
3 1985); see also Valandingham v. Bojorquez, 866 F.2d 1135 (9th Cir. 1989); Pratt v. Rowland, 65
4 F.3d 802, 807 (9th Cir. 1995). “Within the prison context, a viable claim of First Amendment
5 retaliation entails five basic elements: (1) An assertion that a state actor took some adverse action
6 against an inmate (2) because of (3) that prisoner’s protected conduct, and that such action (4) chilled
7 the inmate’s exercise of his First Amendment rights, and (5) the action did not reasonably advance
8 a legitimate correctional goal.” Rhodes v. Robinson, 408 F.3d 559, 567-68 (9th Cir. 2005).

9 Under section 1983, Plaintiff must demonstrate that each defendant personally participated
10 in the deprivation of his rights. Jones v. Williams, 297 F.3d 930, 934 (9th Cir. 2002) (emphasis 11 added). This requires the presentation of factual allegations sufficient to state a plausible claim for 12 relief. Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. at 1949-50; Moss v. U.S. Secret Service, 572 F.3d 962, 969 (9th Cir. 2009).
13 The mere possibility of misconduct falls short of meeting this plausibility standard. Id.

14 Plaintiff’s allegations do not support a cognizable retaliation claim. There is no support for 15 a finding that the false information in the Classification Chrono was sufficiently adverse to trigger
16 the protections of the First Amendment, particularly since the information was corrected by Dr.
17 Staltaro.¹ Regardless, there are no factual allegations linking the creation or presentation of the false
18 information to any of the named defendants, and there are no factual allegations linking the creation
19 or presentation of the false information to Plaintiff’s act of filing a complaint. Finally, there are no
20 factual allegations linking Plaintiff’s placement on a 180 design lock-down yard at High Desert State
21 Prison or the temporary loss of his property to any of the defendants. The conclusory assertion that 22 he was retaliated against by defendants, and the general description of some events that may or may 23 not be adverse enough to rise to the level of a constitutional violation do not support the existence
24 of a plausible retaliation claim against the defendants named in this action. Iqbal at 1949-50.

25
26 ¹ Adverse action is action that “would chill a person of ordinary firmness” from engaging in that activity.
27 Pinard v. Clatskanie School Dist., 467 F.3d 755, 770 (9th Cir. 2006); White v. Lee, 227 F.3d 1214, 1228 (9th Cir.
28 2000); see also Lewis v. Jacks, 486 F.3d 1025, 1028 (8th Cir. 2007); see also Thomas v. Eby, 481 F.3d 434, 440
(6th Cir. 2007); Bennett v. Hendrix, 423 F.3d 1247, 1250-51 (11th Cir. 2005); Constantine v. Rectors & Visitors of George Mason Univ., 411 F.3d 474, 500 (4th Cir. 2005); Gill v. Pidlypchak, 389 F.3d 379, 381 (2d Cir. 2004);
Rauser v. Horn, 241 F.3d 330, 333 (3d Cir. 2001).

1 IV. Conclusion and Order

2 Plaintiff's amended complaint fails to state a claim for relief under section 1983 for denial
3 of due process or retaliation. Plaintiff was previously provided with notice of the deficiencies in his
4 claims and the opportunity to amend, but failed to cure the deficiencies. Noll v. Carlson, 809 F.2d
5 1446, 1448-49 (9th Cir. 1987). Accordingly, this action is HEREBY DISMISSED, with prejudice,
6 for failure to state a claim under section 1983, and the Clerk of the Court shall enter judgment.

8 IT IS SO ORDERED.
