This is an immigration case in which plaintiffs challenge the denial by U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services' (CIS) of her visa petitions on her husband's behalf. On February 16, 2010, this Court issued a scheduling order setting forth dates for filing the administrative record, summary judgment motions and hearing dates, and trial dates. On May 27, 2010, the Court signed an order modifying the scheduling order to allow for the late filing of the administrative record. On June 30, 2010, the Court signed an order holding the matter in abeyance pursuant to the joint stipulation of the parties due to a pending administrative appeal before the Board of Immigration Appeals. The parties indicated they would file a joint status report by December 20, 2010.

Accordingly, the parties now report that as of the date of this filing, the administrative appeal remains pending before the Board of Immigration Appeals. There have been no other developments in the case, and accordingly, the parties submit that it remains appropriate to hold the case in abeyance. The parties propose a further extension until June 30, 2011, at which time

1 the parties will again submit a status report or other dispositive filing.
