MDL No. 2502

TRANSFER ORDER

Before the Panel: Pursuant to Panel Rule 7.1, plaintiffs in 81 actions move to vacate our orders conditionally transferring the actions to the District of South Carolina for inclusion in MDL No. 2502. Defendants Pfizer Inc. and McKesson Corporation oppose the motions. The actions, which are listed on the attached Schedule A, are pending in the Central District of California (76 actions), the Eastern District of California (one action), and the Northern District of California (four actions).

In their motions to vacate, plaintiffs principally argue that the actions were improperly removed from California state court. As we frequently have held, however, the pendency of jurisdictional objections is not, as a general matter, a sufficient reason to delay or deny transfer. Under Panel Rule 2.1(d), the pendency of a conditional transfer order does not limit the pretrial jurisdiction of the court in which the subject action is pending. Between the date a remand motion is filed and the date the Panel finalizes transfer of the action to the MDL, a court wishing to rule upon that motion generally has adequate time to do so.

These actions all were removed on Class Action Fairness Act (CAFA) “mass action” grounds, as well as diversity grounds. CAFA prohibits transfer, under 28 U.S.C. § 1407, of an action removed on mass action grounds, absent a request by a majority of the plaintiffs therein.¹ We have held, however, that this prohibition is not an impediment to transfer where other grounds for federal jurisdiction also are asserted. See In re: Darvocet, Darvon & Propoxyphene Prods. Liab. Litig., 939 F. Supp. 2d 1376, 1381 (J.P.M.L. 2013). Plaintiffs suggest, however, that in such a situation (i.e., one in which an action has been removed on CAFA mass action and other grounds), we should assess the reasonableness of those other grounds. We lack such authority, and thus reject this suggestion. See In re Ivy, 901 F.2d 7, 9 (2d Cir. 1990) (“Section 1407 does not empower the MDL Panel to decide . . . issues relating to a motion to remand”).

Plaintiffs also suggest that we revisit our April 2013 Darvocet decision, questioning whether it was correctly decided. They argue that Congress must have intended to preclude Section 1407 transfer of any action removed on CAFA mass action grounds because (1) it excluded from the definition of a removable “mass action” state court cases in which the claims are “consolidated or coordinated solely for pretrial proceedings”²; (2) Section 1407(a) authorizes the Panel to transfer related federal actions only for “coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings”³; and (3) CAFA prohibits Section 1407 transfer of an action removed on CAFA mass action grounds, absent a request by a majority of the plaintiffs. We have reviewed our decision in Darvocet and believe that it represents the most reasonable interpretation of the involved statutes. Under CAFA, a state court action “in which the claims have been consolidated or coordinated solely for pretrial proceedings” is not a mass action to begin with. The fact that this exclusionary language is similar, but not identical, to the “coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings” language in Section 1407(a) is not persuasive.

Moreover, plaintiffs’ arguments do not undermine our basic reasoning in Darvocet. As we explained in that decision, nothing in CAFA or its legislative history suggests that Congress “intended the mass action provision to render a case that otherwise would have been within the Panel’s purview – e.g., a case removed on diversity or federal question grounds – not transferrable merely because the defendant has cited the mass action provision as an additional ground in its notice of removal.” See 939 F. Supp. 2d at 1380. Indeed, reading the provision in such a manner “would effect a partial repeal of the authority conferred by Section 1407 without any clear indication of legislative intent to do so.” Id.

After considering all argument of counsel, we find that these actions involve common questions of fact with actions previously transferred to MDL No. 2502, and that transfer will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of the litigation. Moreover, transfer is warranted for the reasons set out in our original order directing centralization. In that order, we held that the District of South Carolina was an appropriate Section 1407 forum for actions “shar[ing] factual issues arising from common allegations that taking Lipitor can cause women to develop type 2 diabetes.” See In re: Lipitor (Atorvastatin Calcium) Mktg., Sales Practices & Prods. Liab. Litig., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2014 WL 661589, at *2 (J.P.M.L. Feb. 18, 2014). Plaintiffs do not dispute that their actions share multiple factual issues with those already in the MDL.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, these actions are transferred to the District of South Carolina, and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Richard M. Gergel for inclusion in the coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings.
