Case No. 1:15-cv-00311-TLN-BAM

ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFFS’ MOTIONS TO COMPEL COUNTY DEFENDANT TO PRODUCE DAVID HARRIS AND MARLISSA FERREIRA FOR DEPOSITION, WITHOUT PREJUDICE (Doc. 201)

ORDER ISSUING LIMITED PROTECTIVE ORDER AS TO DEPOSITIONS OF DAVID HARRIS AND MARLISSA FERREIRA

Case No. 1:20-cv-00770-TLN-BAM
(Doc. 86)

Currently before the Court is a discovery dispute brought by Plaintiffs Baljit Athwal and Daljit Atwal and Plaintiffs Walter Wells and Scott McFarlane (together the “Moving Plaintiffs”) to compel Defendant County of Stanislaus (“Defendant”) to produce non-parties David Harris and MarliSSa Ferreira for deposition. The individual actions brought by the Moving Plaintiffs have been consolidated for purposes of discovery, along with the actions of Defillipo v. County of

1 Stanislaus, et al., 1:18-cv-496-TLN-BAM, Quintanar, Jr. v. County of Stanislaus, et al., 1:18-
2 cv1403-TLN-BAM, and Estate of Carson v. County of Stanislaus, et al., 1: 20-cv-747-TLN-3 BAM. The Moving Plaintiffs filed a Joint Statement Re Discovery Disagreement in their 4 respective cases.¹ (See Doc. 205 (Athwal); Doc. 91 (Wells).)

5 The matter was heard via video conference on July 29, 2022, before United States
6 Magistrate Judge Barbara A. McAuliffe. [APPEARANCES].

7 Having considered the motion, the parties’ briefing and the record in this matter, Moving 8 Plaintiffs’ motions to compel County Defendant to produce David Harris and Marlissa Ferreira 9 for deposition will be denied without prejudice. The Court also will issue a limited protective 10 order as to these witnesses.

11 I. RELEVANT BACKGROUND

12 Plaintiffs Baljit Athwal and Daljit Atwal,² brothers who own convenience stores in 13 Turlock, California, brought a civil rights action arising out of “attempts . . . to implicate [them] 14 in the murder of an individual to secure a false murder conviction against prominent defense 15 attorney Frank Carson.” (Doc. 169, Athwal Second Amended Compl. at ¶¶ 1-2.) Plaintiffs 16 Athwal and Atwal allege that Defendants “concocted a far-fetched story whereby Mr. Carson 17 supposedly engaged in a sweeping conspiracy with others, including . . . Plaintiffs . . . to murder 18 [Korey] Kauffman for allegedly stealing some scrap metal from his property.” (Id. at ¶ 8.) 19 Plaintiffs Athwal and Atwal further allege that Defendants “engaged in a retaliatory pattern of 20 harassment and abuse toward Plaintiffs, which included unlawfully arresting them without 21 probable cause on multiple occasions, unlawfully interrogating them for hours, setting their bail at 22 $10 million each, and maliciously prosecuting them for supposedly participating in Mr. Carson’s 23 purported murder plot.” (Id.) Plaintiffs were tried for the murder and found not guilty on the 24 charges against them. (Id. at ¶ 17.)

25 ///

26 ¹ The joint statements are identical. For ease of understanding, the Court will reference the 27 CM/ECF document and page numbers for the joint statement filed in Athwal, et al. v. County of Stanislaus, et al., 1:15-cv-00311-TLN-BAM.

28 ² Plaintiffs’ last names are spelled differently. (Second Amended Complaint (Doc. 169), n. 1.)

1 Plaintiffs Walter Wells and Scott McFarlane, former California Highway Patrol (“CHP”) 2 officers, brought a related civil rights action arising out of accusations that they were engaged in a 3 conspiracy with Mr. Carson and others to murder Korey Kauffman. (See generally Doc. 61, 4 Wells Second Amended Compl.). Plaintiffs Wells and McFarlane allege that Defendants 5 “engaged in a retaliatory pattern of harassment and abuse toward Plaintiffs, which included 6 reaching out to the CHP so that they would conduct an internal affairs investigation to pressure 7 Plaintiffs into testifying against Carson, unlawfully arresting them without probable cause, 8 charging former Officer Wells with crimes for which there was no bail, and maliciously 9 prosecuting them for supposedly participating in attorney Carson’s purported murder-for-hire
10 plot.” (Id. at ¶ 8.) Plaintiffs Wells and McFarlane further allege that “Defendants defamed 11 Plaintiffs to their friends, family, and professional colleagues, instigating a workplace 12 investigation into Plaintiffs that resulted in their termination, and prosecuted them for crimes they 13 did not commit.” (Id.) Following the jury trial involving Plaintiffs Athwal and Atwal, the 14 charges against Plaintiffs Wells and McFarlane were either dismissed or dropped. (Id. at ¶ 17.)

15 II. Motions to Compel

16 By the instant motions, Moving Plaintiffs seek to take the depositions of (1) non-party
17 David Harris, an attorney with the Stanislaus County District Attorney’s Office; and (2) non-party 18 Marliisa Ferreira, the prosecuting attorney. Defendant County of Stanislaus does not believe 19 these witnesses must appear for deposition.

20 The Moving Plaintiffs do not assert claims against Harris or Ferreira. However, other 21 plaintiffs in related matters, which have been consolidated with the instant actions for purposes of 22 discovery, have asserted claims against David Harris and Marliisa Ferreira. See generally 23 Defillipo v. County of Stanislaus, et al., 1:18-cv-496-TLN-BAM (Doc. 99), Quintanar, Jr. v.
24 County of Stanislaus, et al., 1:18-cv1403-TLN-BAM (Doc. 68), and Estate of Carson v. County
25 of Stanislaus, et al., 1:20-cv-747-TLN-BAM (Doc. 55). In the related matters, Harris and Ferreira 26 have moved to dismiss the claims against them based, in part, on assertions of prosecutorial 27 immunity. Id.

28 ///

1 A. Parties' Positions

2 Moving Plaintiffs' Position

3 Moving Plaintiffs assert four primary reasons for compelling the depositions at issue.

4 First, Moving Plaintiffs contend that testimony from Harris, Chief Deputy District Attorney, and 5 Ferreira, Deputy District Attorney, is relevant to the claims against the County of Stanislaus. In 6 particular, Moving Plaintiffs assert that Harris and Ferreira both spent a significant amount of 7 time with the Task Force investigating the disappearance and murder of Korey Kauffman, 8 including attending its daily briefings and discussing what individuals should be arrested in 9 connection with the murder. (Doc. 205 at 3.) Additionally, Moving Plaintiffs aver that Harris 10 and Ferreira are key fact witnesses. As examples, Moving Plaintiffs identify testimony from 11 Cory Brown, who drafted the arrest warrant affidavits, indicating that Ferreira and possibly Harris 12 attended a meeting to discuss the drafting and service of the arrest warrant affidavit. (Doc. 205-1, 13 Ex. A, June 24, 2021 Cory Brown Deposition, Vol. III excerpt at 685:5-20.) Brown also 14 reportedly testified that the decision regarding what charges to include in the arrest warrant 15 affidavit involved "group consensus" from, among others, Ferreira. (Id. at 721:13-722:2.)
16 Beverly Woody, the mother of the state's only alleged eyewitness against Moving Plaintiffs, 17 reportedly testified that (1) Ferreira would frequently speak with her and her son about what to 18 say in court and (2) Ferreira told her that if her son implicated Wells and Frank Carson in 19 Kauffman's disappearance, he would spend less time in prison. (Doc. 205-2, Ex. B., November 20 12, 2020 Beverly Woody Deposition excerpt at 25:2-12, 25:23-26:8.) Another Defendant, Jon 21 Evers, reportedly testified that Harris directed the Task Force not to arrest Plaintiffs in late 2014
22 (Doc. 205-3, Ex. C., January 11, 2022 Jon Evers Deposition excerpt at 82:20-25.)

23 Second, Moving Plaintiffs contend that testimony from Harris and Ferreira is not entirely 24 subject to immunity. Moving Plaintiffs cite actions and conduct not subject to prosecutorial 25 immunity to include actions taken prior to a determination of probable cause, making statements 26 at a press conference, acquiring known false statements from a witness for use in a prosecution, 27 fabricating evidence and giving legal advice to the police. (Doc. 205 at p. 4-5.) Moving 28 Plaintiffs assert that Harris and Ferreira are not immune for actions taken before there was a 1 determination of probable cause.

2 Third, Moving Plaintiffs contend that even if some of Harris and Ferreira's acts are 3 immune from prosecution, that does not mean they are immune from discovery. Moving 4 Plaintiffs comment that although Harris and Ferreira may be immune from liability, "they are not 5 shielded from discovery because their testimony is relevant to claims against municipalities 6 which are not immune." (Id. at p. 5, citing Norton v. Arpaio, No. CV-15-00087-PHX-SPL, 2016
7 WL 11513612, at *2, 3 (D. Ariz. Aug. 4, 2016).)

8 Fourth, and finally, Moving Plaintiffs contend that there is no basis for tying the 9 depositions to the motions to dismiss in the matters naming Harris and Ferreira as parties. Even if 10 those motions are granted, Moving Plaintiffs argue that Harris and Ferreira would still have to 11 testify.

12 Defendant's Position

13 Defendant counters against compelling the depositions of Harris and Ferreira for three 14 main reasons. First, Defendant contends that Moving Plaintiffs have not met their burden to 15 demonstrate the relevance of Harris and Ferreira's testimony. Moving Plaintiffs have no claims 16 against Harris and Ferreira in this action and, as such, Defendant asserts that the relevance of their 17 testimony to the claims is unclear. Defendant notes that Ferreira was the prosecuting attorney and 18 "the only allegations that involve Harris was an unsuccessful contempt case by Mr. Carson (SAC 19 pp. 42(n) and 79)." (Doc. 205 at 6.) Defendant further asserts that this lack of clarity by Moving 20 Plaintiffs is compounded because no written discovery has been conducted as to these two 21 witnesses. Defendants believe it is premature to require testimony prior to any written discovery.

22 Defendants also believe that relevancy is complicated by the fact that the instant actions 23 are consolidated with the other matters in which Harris and Ferreira are named as defendants.
24 This makes it difficult to understand whether the testimony is being sought to be used against 25 them as defendants and whether the scope of questions involves questions that are subject to 26 immunities.

27 Second, Defendant contends that regardless of whether Harris and Ferreira are produced 28 as witnesses or as defendants, the scope of questions is likely to involve matters not relevant

1 because of immunity. Defendant argues that prosecutors have absolute immunity for the decision
2 to prosecute a criminal suspect and in proceeding with that prosecution. Defendant further argues 3 that this immunity extends to pre-litigation acts pertaining to a defendant's prosecution and even 4 protects quasi-judicial conduct such as maliciously initiating and pursuing a prosecution, using 5 perjured testimony at trial, and suppressing material evidence at trial. (Doc. 205 at 7, citing 6 Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 409, 431 (1976).) Additionally, Defendant argues that a prosecutor 7 is absolutely immune for direct participation in a probable cause hearing and for preparing and 8 filing charging documents. This immunity also extends to prosecutorial acts that involve malice, 9 bad faith, or conspiracy or to any alleged failure or refusal to adequately investigate accusations 10 before filing charges. Defendant avers that this broad immunity applies to prosecutors Harris and 11 Ferreira. Defendant faults Moving Plaintiffs for failing to articulate a scope of questioning that 12 avoids delving into matters that would otherwise be subject to immunity.

13 Third, Defendant contends that the motion should be denied because Harris and Ferreira 14 have motions to dismiss pending in related cases.

15 As a final matter, Defendant contends that given the pending motions to dismiss and 16 prosecutorial immunity, the Court should issue a protective order as to Harris and Ferreira at least 17 until their motions to dismiss are decided. Defendant asserts that this would allow Harris and 18 Ferreira to know if the testimony would be relevant to the defense of the actions against them.
19 Defendant avers that “[t]his matter could then be revisited as to the scope of testimony given that 20 immunity would apply, at the very least once criminal charges were filed.” (Doc. 205 at 8.)

21 B. Legal Standards

22 A district court has wide discretion in controlling discovery. Jeff D. v. Otter, 643 F.3d 23 278, 289 (9th Cir. 2011) (citing Little v. City of Seattle, 863 F.2d 681, 685 (9th Cir. 1988)).
24 “Unless otherwise limited by court order ... [p]arties may obtain discovery regarding any 25 nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party's claim or defense and proportional to the needs 26 of the case[.]” Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). The party seeking to compel discovery has the burden of 27 establishing that the information is relevant. Louisiana Pac. Corp. v. Money Mkt. 1 Institutional 28 Inv. Dealer, 285 F.R.D. 481, 485 (N.D. Cal. 2012). “In turn, the party opposing discovery has the

1 burden of showing that discovery should not be allowed, and also has the burden of clarifying, 2 explaining and supporting its objections with competent evidence.” Id.

3 Rule 30(a)(1) provides that, subject to certain limitations, “[a] party may, by oral 4 questions, depose any person, including a party, without leave of court[.]” Fed. R. Civ. P.
5 30(a)(1). However, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure also provide that the Court “may, for 6 good cause, issue an order to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, 7 oppression, or undue burden or expense, including ... (A) forbidding the disclosure or discovery;
8 (B) specifying terms . . . for the disclosure or discovery; ... (D) forbidding inquiry into certain 9 matters, or limiting the scope of disclosure or discovery to certain matters[.]” Fed. R. Civ. P.
10 26(c)(1); see also Forte v. County of Merced, No. 1:11-cv-00318-AWI-BAM, 2014 WL 4745923, 11 *6 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 23, 2014) (reasoning that a court may enter a protective order sua sponte); 12 accord, McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co., 211 F.R.D. 381, 385 (C.D. Cal. 2002) (indicating that 13 under Rule 26(c), a court may sua sponte grant a protective order for good cause shown); 14 Coleman v. Schwarzenegger, CIV S-90-0520 LKK JFM P, C01-1351 THE, 2007 WL 4276554, at 15 *1 (E.D. Cal. Nov. 29, 2007) (“Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(c), and in the inherent 16 discretion of a court to manage its own discovery, a court may sua sponte enter a protective order 17 for good cause shown.”).

18 C. Discussion

19 As an initial matter, the Court questions whether Moving Plaintiffs’ motion is premature.
20 There is no indication from the moving papers or the Joint Statement re Discovery Dispute that 21 Moving Plaintiffs have noticed the depositions of Harris and Ferreira. Rather, Moving Plaintiffs 22 explain that Defendant reportedly has not provided any dates for the depositions. (See Doc. 205 23 at 3.) A motion to compel attendance at a deposition is not ripe for decision where no notice or 24 subpoena has issued and the deposition has not yet occurred. Moore v. Superway Logistics, Inc., 25 No. 1:17-cv-01480-DAD-BAM, 2019 WL 2285392, at *3 (E.D. Cal. May 29, 2019), citing 26 Linares v. Costco Wholesale, Inc., 2013 WL 5434570, at *6 (S.D. Cal. Mar 7, 2013) (reasoning 27 that a motion to compel deposition testimony is not ripe for decision where the deposition has yet 28 to occur). The Court appreciates the parties’ advance efforts to address and resolve discovery

1 disputes but cautions the parties against potentially premature motions to compel. The Court will 2 nonetheless address the parties' dispute.

3 Here, the parties disagree on whether testimony from Harris and Ferreira is relevant. To 4 be discoverable, information must first be relevant to a party's claim or defense. Fed. R. Civ. P.
5 26(b)(1). Evidence is relevant if it has any tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of 6 consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would be 7 without the evidence. Fed. R. Evid. 401. The Court has broad discretion in determining relevancy
8 for discovery purposes. Jensen v. BMW of N. Am., LLC, 328 F.R.D. 557, 560 (S.D. Cal. 2019)
9 (citing Survivor Media Inc. v. Survivor Prods., 406 F.3d 625, 635 (9th Cir. 2005), U.S. Fidelity 10 and Guar. Co. v. Lee Investments L.L.C., 641 F.3d 1126, 1136 (9th Cir. 2011)). Discovery also 11 must be proportional to the needs of the case before it is permissible. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1).

12 Moving Plaintiffs contend that testimony from Harris and Ferreira is relevant because they 13 are key fact witnesses. Defendant counters that the relevance of Harris and Ferreira's testimony 14 is unclear as the Moving Plaintiffs have no claims against Harris or Ferreira.

15 While Defendant correctly notes that Harris and Ferreira are not parties to the actions 16 brought by the Moving Plaintiffs, it nevertheless appears from the joint statement that Harris and 17 Ferreira may be percipient witnesses to certain factual allegations underlying the Moving 18 Plaintiffs' claims. Despite the Moving Plaintiffs' failure to specify the scope of deposition 19 testimony sought from Harris and Ferreira, the joint statement suggests that discovery concerns at 20 least the investigation of the disappearance and murder of Korey Kauffman by the Task Force, 21 the drafting of arrest warrants or advice to the Task Force, and actions taken prior to a 22 determination of probable cause. These areas of inquiry appear to be relevant to Moving 23 Plaintiffs' claims, but this does not end the inquiry.

24 In challenging the relevance of Harris and Ferreira's testimony, Defendant also argues that 25 prosecutorial immunity wholly prohibits the depositions. Moving Plaintiffs disagree and assert 26 that, at a minimum, testimony regarding the investigation is not subject to immunity and Harris 27 and Ferreira are not immune for actions taken before a determination of probable cause.

28 There are competing lines of case law, including in the district courts of this circuit, on the

1 issue of whether absolute prosecutorial immunity extends to an absolute prohibition from 2 discovery against a non-party prosecutor. See Colonies Partners LP v. Cty. of San Bernardino, 3 No. 5:18-cv-00420-JGB (SHKx), 2019 WL 7905894, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 5, 2019) (discussing 4 cases opposing lines of cases regarding the depositions of non-party prosecutors). For example, 5 in Chang v. United States, 246 F.R.D. 372 (D.D. C. 2007), the court extended the absolute 6 immunity of prosecutors from civil suits for damages, as expressed by the Supreme Court in 7 Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 409 (1976), to discovery in a civil action, regardless of whether the 8 prosecutors were named defendants. Id. at 374. The court in Chang found that “the principles of 9 prosecutorial immunity are meant to ensure that neither the specter of damages liability nor the 10 litigation process itself weakens the prosecutor’s ability to engage in the ‘vigorous decision-11 making’ required by the office.” 246 F.R.D. at 374 (citation omitted). Other courts have followed 12 this reasoning to preclude or limit the depositions of non-party prosecutors. See, e.g., Dowling v.
13 Arpaio, No. CV-09-1401-PHX-JAT, 2011 WL 1456732, at *5 (D. Ariz. Apr. 15, 2011) (“To 14 allow a party to depose a prosecutor, even though the prosecutor is not a named party to the 15 action, would implicate the same concerns that have been articulated above, namely a chilling 16 effect on a prosecutor’s decision-making and thought processes. The Court will not allow 17 Defendant, or future defendants, to create an end run around the protections and prohibitions 18 articulated in Imbler.”); Karunyan v. Maricopa, Cty. of, No. CV-10-00198-PHX-ROS, 2015 WL 19 13747126, at *2 (D. Ariz. Feb. 3, 2015) (recognizing a limited privilege precluding plaintiffs 20 from inquiring or seeking documents regarding non-party prosecutors’ actions “intimately 21 associated with the judicial phase of the criminal process”) (citation omitted).

22 In contrast, other courts have overruled assertions of prosecutorial immunity and allowed 23 the depositions of non-party prosecutors. See, e.g., Colonies Partners, 2019 WL 7905894, at *5 24 (following more persuasive strain of cases directly addressing the point of being able to depose a 25 party otherwise protected by immunity in a civil suit; overruling prosecutorial immunity-based 26 objection to depositions of non-party prosecutors); Caples v. City of Phoenix, No. CV-14-02619-27 PHX-SRB, 2017 WL 10128323, at *2 (D. Ariz. Sept. 5, 2017) (“Absolute prosecutorial immunity 28 does not extend to an absolute prohibition from discovery in a civil suit not brought against the

1 prosecutor or the prosecutorial agency when the prosecutor may have information that is relevant 2 to the claims or defenses in the case. The Court rejects the claim for a protective order based on 3 prosecutorial immunity.”); Norton v. Arpaio, No. CV-15-00087-PHX-SPL, 2016 WL 11513612, 4 at *2 (D. Ariz. Aug. 4, 2016) (finding reliance on theory of absolute immunity misplaced where 5 prosecutors not named as defendants; limiting deposition of prosecutors based on deliberative 6 process privilege).

7 The parties have not cited and there appears to be “no controlling case law” preventing the 8 depositions of non-party prosecutors. See Norton, 2016 WL 11513612, at *2. The Court finds 9 persuasive the line of cases allowing for the deposition of non-party prosecutors regarding facts 10 that are relevant to the civil case. Indeed, the Court finds persuasive that while prosecutors may 11 be immune from liability, non-party prosecutors are not absolutely immune from discovery in a 12 civil suit. In the present circumstances, however, Harris and Ferreira are not simply non-party 13 prosecutors. Rather, they are named defendants in cases consolidated for purposes of discovery 14 with the instant actions.

15 Given that Harris and Ferreira are named parties in the consolidated cases, the Court finds 16 good cause to grant Defendant’s request for a protective order as to these individuals, at least until 17 resolution of their pending motions to dismiss. Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c)(1). Awaiting resolution of 18 the motions will allow for a determination regarding the status of Harris and Ferreira as parties or 19 non-parties and also will allow for a determination regarding the scope of any immunity, which 20 has not yet been resolved. Moving Plaintiffs may revisit the request to depose Harris and Ferreira 21 following resolution of Harris and Ferreira’s motions to dismiss. Moving Plaintiffs are advised 22 that in the absence of any clear indication of the testimony they seek, the Court may be unable to 23 determine whether the depositions may proceed or if Harris and Ferreira have valid bases—24 whether arising from prosecutorial immunity or other privileges—for not providing deposition 25 testimony. Therefore, in advance of a renewed motion, the parties shall meet and confer 26 regarding the scope of anticipated deposition questioning, including the scope of any documents 27 requested. Any renewed motion must clearly identify the scope of any disputed deposition 28 questioning and disputed documents.

III. Conclusion and Order

For the reasons stated, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED as follows:

1. Plaintiffs’ motions to compel county defendant to produce David Harris and Marlissa Ferreira for deposition are denied without prejudice (Docs. 201 and 86); and
2. Defendant’s request for protective order is granted as to witnesses David Harris and Marlissa Ferreira until their motions to dismiss and assertions of immunity in Defillipo, 1:18-cv-496-TLN-BAM, Quintanar, Jr., 1:18-cv1403-TLN-BAM (Doc. 68), and Estate of Carson, 1:20-cv-747-TLN-BAM are resolved.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
