22 Randy Wade Anderson seeks to proceed in forma pauperis with an action for judicial review of 23 the administrative decision denying an application for Social Security benefits. Pending before the 24 Court are the complaint and the motion to proceed in forma pauperis. (Docs. 1, 2) For the following 25 reasons, the Court finds service of the complaint is appropriate.

26 I. Proceeding in forma pauperis

27 The Court may authorize the commencement of an action without prepayment of fees “by a 28 person who submits an affidavit that includes a statement of all assets such person . . . possesses [and] that the person is unable to pay such fees or give security therefor.” 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a). The Court reviewed the financial status affidavit (Doc. 2), and finds the requirements of 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a) are satisfied. Therefore, Plaintiff’s request to proceed in forma pauperis is GRANTED.

1 II. Screening Requirement

2 When an individual seeks to proceed in forma pauperis, the Court is required to review the 3 complaint and shall dismiss a complaint, or portion of the complaint, if it is “frivolous, malicious or 4 fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted; or . . . seeks monetary relief from a defendant
5 who is immune from such relief.” 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b); 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2). A plaintiff’s claim 6 is frivolous “when the facts alleged rise to the level of the irrational or the wholly incredible, whether or 7 not there are judicially noticeable facts available to contradict them.” Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S.
8 25, 32-33 (1992).

9 III. Pleading Standards

10 General rules for pleading complaints are governed by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. A 11 pleading must include a statement affirming the court’s jurisdiction, “a short and plain statement of the 12 claim showing the pleader is entitled to relief; and . . . a demand for the relief sought, which may 13 include relief in the alternative or different types of relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a).

14 A complaint must give fair notice and state the elements of the plaintiff’s claim in a plain and 15 succinct manner. Jones v. Cmty. Redevelopment Agency, 733 F.2d 646, 649 (9th Cir. 1984). The 16 purpose of the complaint is to give the defendant fair notice of the claims against him, and the grounds 17 upon which the complaint stands. Swierkiewicz v. Sorema N.A., 534 U.S. 506, 512 (2002). The 18 Supreme Court noted,

19 Rule 8 does not require detailed factual allegations, but it demands more than an 20 unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation. A pleading that offers 21 labels and conclusions or a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will 22 not do. Nor does a complaint suffice if it tenders naked assertions devoid of further 23 factual enhancement.

23 Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678-79 (2009) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). Vague
24 and conclusory allegations do not support a cause of action. Ivey v. Board of Regents, 673 F.2d 266, 25 268 (9th Cir. 1982). The Court clarified further,

26 [A] complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to “state a claim 27 to relief that is plausible on its face.” [Citation]. A claim has facial plausibility when 28 the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. [Citation]. The

1       plausibility standard is not akin to a “probability requirement,” but it asks for more than 2       a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully. [Citation]. Where a complaint 3       pleads facts that are “merely consistent with” a defendant’s liability, it “stops short of the line between possibility and plausibility of ‘entitlement to relief.’

4       Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 679 (citations omitted). When factual allegations are well-pled, a court should 5       assume their truth and determine whether the facts would make the plaintiff entitled to relief; legal 6       conclusions are not entitled to the same assumption of truth. Id. The Court may grant leave to amend a 7       complaint to the extent deficiencies of the complaint can be cured by an amendment. Lopez v. Smith, 8       203 F.3d 1122, 1127-28 (9th Cir. 2000) (en banc).

9       IV. Discussion and Analysis

10       Plaintiff seeks review of a decision by the Commissioner of Social Security denying disability 11       benefits. (Doc. 1) The Court may have jurisdiction pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 405(g), which provides:

12             Any individual, after any final decision of the Commissioner made after a hearing to 13             which he was a party, irrespective of the amount in controversy, may obtain a review of 14             such decision by a civil action commenced within sixty days after the mailing to him of 15             such decision or within such further time as the Commissioner may allow. Such action 16             shall be brought in the district court of the United States for the judicial district in which the plaintiff resides, or has his principal place of business . . . The court shall have power to enter, upon the pleadings and transcript of the record, a judgment affirming, modifying, or reversing the decision of the Commissioner of Social Security, with or without remanding the cause for a rehearing.

17       Id. Except as provided by statute, “[n]o findings of fact or decision of the Commissioner shall be 18       reviewed by any person, tribunal, or governmental agency.” 42 U.S.C. § 405(h).

19       Plaintiff alleges the Appeals Council denied a request for review of the decision denying 20       benefits on September 26, 2017, at which time the decision of the administrative law judge became the 21       final decision of the Commissioner. (Doc. 1 at 2) Plaintiff’s request for judicial review was due
22       within 65 days of the date of Appeals Council’s notice, or no later than November 30, 2017. See 42
23       U.S.C. §405(g) (noting a claimant is “presumed” to have received the notice of denial within “5 days 24       after the date of such notice”). Because Plaintiff initiated this action November 21, 2017, his request
25       for judicial review of the decision is timely. Therefore, the Court has jurisdiction over the matter 26       pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 405(g).
