

1 II. Failure to State a Claim

2 A. Screening Requirement

3 The Court is required to screen complaints brought by prisoners seeking relief against a 4 governmental entity and/or against an officer or employee of a governmental entity. 28 U.S.C.
5 § 1915A(a). Plaintiff’s complaint, or any portion thereof, is subject to dismissal if it is frivolous 6 or malicious, if it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or if it seeks monetary 7 relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b)(1), (2); 28 U.S.C.
8 § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

9 A complaint must contain “a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the 10 pleader is entitled to relief. . . .” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). Detailed factual allegations are not 11 required, but “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere 12 conclusory statements, do not suffice.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (citing Bell 13 Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)). While a plaintiff’s allegations are taken as 14 true, courts “are not required to indulge unwarranted inferences.” Doe I v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 15 572 F.3d 677, 681 (9th Cir. 2009) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted).

16 To survive screening, Plaintiff’s claims must be facially plausible, which requires 17 sufficient factual detail to allow the Court to reasonably infer that each named defendant is liable 18 for the misconduct alleged. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (quotation marks omitted); Moss v. U.S.
19 Secret Serv., 572 F.3d 962, 969 (9th Cir. 2009). The sheer possibility that a defendant acted 20 unlawfully is not sufficient, and mere consistency with liability falls short of satisfying the 21 plausibility standard. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (quotation marks omitted); Moss, 572 F.3d at 969.

22 B. Plaintiff’s Allegations

23 Plaintiff is currently housed at the California Substance Abuse Treatment Facility in 24 Corcoran, California. The events in the complaint are alleged to have occurred while Plaintiff 25 was housed at the Sierra Conservation Center in Jamestown, California. Plaintiff names the 26 following defendants: (1) Chief Medical Executive Dr. Jack St. Clair; (2) Dr. Steven Smith; 27 (3) Dr. Georgia Thomatos; (4) Dr. Michael Forster; (5) Dr. William Savage; (6) Officer D.
28 O’Shea; (7) Officer T. Younan; (8) Officer J. Diaz; and (9) Officer B. Tyra. Defendants are being 1 sued in their individual and official capacities.

2 Claim I

3 In Claim I, Plaintiff asserts a claim of excessive force in violation of the Eighth 4 Amendment. Plaintiff alleges that he suffers from chronic, severe back and related pain that 5 restricts his sitting. Due to an MRI evaluation and examination, outside surgeon and specialist, 6 Dr. Bai, recommended Lumbar Epidural Spinal Injections (“LESI”). The LESI was agreed upon 7 by Plaintiff and Defendants Dr. St. Clair, Dr. Smith and Dr. Forster and was scheduled for April 8 28, 2016.

9 On April 28, 2016, Plaintiff was to be transported to Manteca for a LESI procedure.
10 Defendants Younan, O’Shea, Diaz and Tyra were assigned to transportation. Due to a 11 documented inability to sit beyond thirty (30) minutes—and not at all on a moving object—12 Defendant Forster assured Plaintiff special transport so that Plaintiff could avoid bending and 13 climbing into a vehicle and would allow him to lie down during transport.

14 Plaintiff was one of two inmates to be transported the morning of April 28, 2016. The 15 first vehicle to arrive was a van driven by Defendants Diaz and Tyra. Defendant Diaz, unaware 16 of the special transport protocol, confirmed the protocol and informed Plaintiff to wait for a sedan 17 to arrive in five minutes. Defendants Diaz, Tyra and their inmate passenger neared the vehicle 18 security checkpoint and were met by another van driven by Defendants Younan and O’Shea.
19 Both vans parked and all four defendants—Diaz, Tyra, Younan and O’Shea—met at the gate and 20 had a lengthy conversation. These defendants then walked to where Plaintiff stood. Defendant 21 Younan told Plaintiff if he climbed into the van, then he could lie down. Plaintiff declined.
22 When asked why, Plaintiff explained Dr. Bai’s findings and also explained that pain of bending 23 and the risk that trying to bend and climb could press the herniated disc, causing pain or falling.
24 Plaintiff additionally described the possible loss of sanitary bodily functions and the protocol for 25 the sedan. Defendant Younan then yelled, “If you can sit to get in a car why can’t you sit and 26 ride.” (ECF No. 1 at 8.) Plaintiff was in pain and told Defendants Younan, O’Shea, Diaz and 27 Tyra that he had not taken any pain medication since the previous day. He also told them how the 28 pain in his lower back and tail bone worsened the longer he sat. Defendant Younan began to 1 berate Plaintiff and yelled that Plaintiff was a liar and that they had never transported anyone that 2 way. Plaintiff disagreed, stating that they had taken him to Stockton and Manteca by that 3 protocol and that they just told him he could lie down in the van. Plaintiff told them that he 4 would have the doctor contact the supervisor to clear up the problem. Defendant Younan agreed 5 and told Plaintiff to come through the gate so that they could go talk to his doctor. Plaintiff 6 declined, saying it was closer for him to go another way. As Plaintiff turned, he heard Defendant 7 Younan say “that niggers not getting a car.” (Id. at 10.)

8 When Plaintiff and Defendant Younan met with Defendant Michael Forster, Defendant 9 Younan threatened that he would get a sedan, but would have to restrain Plaintiff in an upright, 10 seated position. Defendant Forster and Defendant Younan then met in an office, where loud 11 laughter was later heard.

12 Plaintiff claims that he has suffered injuries in the form of pain, shame, humiliation, 13 degradation, emotional distress, embarrassment and mental distress.

14 Claim II

15 In Claim II, Plaintiff appears to allege a claim for racial discrimination and violations of 16 the Eighth, Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments against Defendants Younan, O’Shea, Diaz and 17 Tyra for the incident described in Claim I. He asserts that the use of the word “nigger” also 18 transformed the incident into a violation of his Eighth and Fourteenth Amendment rights. He 19 alleges emotional injuries, limited physical activities and pain because he was denied access to a 20 specialist procedure.

21 Claim III

22 In Claim III, Plaintiff alleges that he was denied access to medical care in violation of the 23 Eighth Amendment by Defendants Dr. St. Clair, Dr. Smith, Dr. Thomatos, Dr. Forster and Dr.
24 William. Plaintiff claims that these defendants destroyed medical documents and created medical 25 documents with misinformation that facilitated denial of his 602 appeal regarding transportation.

26 On the day that Defendant Forster informed Plaintiff that the LESI injections were to 27 begin, an information printout was provided. The doctor underlined information and stated that 28 Plaintiff could continue to take his pain up to 6 hours before his procedure.

1 On April 21, 2016, Plaintiff was told to cease taking his blood thinner medications and 2 ibuprofen, which the nurse told him was a blood thinner. After a full day of no medication, the 3 nurse had not heard back from Defendant Forster and the original order was back in effect. The 4 nurse later instructed Plaintiff to cease food and liquids at midnight on April 27, 2016. When told 5 of the continued use of ibuprofen, the nurse became agitated and told Plaintiff that he should have 6 stopped taking it a week prior. The nurse intended to inform medical.

7 The next day, when Plaintiff sought his doctor's aide regarding transportation, the doctor 8 asked if Plaintiff wanted to cancel. Plaintiff did not want to cancel and did not like that 9 Defendant Forster did not tell Defendant Younan to honor the transport protocol. Plaintiff 10 appears to allege that Defendant Forster was not going to reschedule the appointment because of 11 the cancellation.

12 Plaintiff submitted 602s regarding the cancellation and the transportation issue. Plaintiff 13 contends that all relevant appeals were manipulated into denials or a denial of the need for the 14 protocol. Plaintiff claims collusion by medical because they continued to state that there was no 15 need to lie down to travel.

16 On June 2, 2016, Defendant Forster apologized to Plaintiff, stating that they would not let 17 him do what he needed to help. He also told Plaintiff that the lie down order was not in the 18 computer, but the reasons Plaintiff needed it were not removed. Defendant Forster then provided 19 Plaintiff with an accommodation list form identifying the limits and inabilities.

20 On June 7, 2016, Defendant Thomatos entered the computer and removed the medically 21 necessary restrictions from the accommodation list form.

22 In November 2016, Defendant Savage became Plaintiff's primary care physician. In 23 October, Plaintiff was noted to need a sedan with no more than 15 minutes sitting.

24 Between October 2016 and January 2017, Plaintiff was observed, examined and his 25 medical records were reviewed by another doctor, including Defendant Dr. St. Clair. At a 602
26 hearing/exam, Plaintiff was informed that there was no reason he should not be allowed to lie 27 down for transport for LESI. Plaintiff was ecstatic that it was a partial grant by Dr. St. Clair.
28 However, when the 602 was officially responded to, the findings were denied. At the third level

1 of review, Plaintiff was contacted, and he reported what was being done with his care and entries
2 on the computer, including Defendant Dr. Thomatos' removal of medically necessary 3 accommodations without a rationale.

4 Plaintiff further alleges as follows:

5 Defendant Steven Smith laid [sic] a groundwork to sabotage Plaintiffs efforts by 6 using a portion of the Report found invalid because the report did not match the 7 event of the day at Stockton MRI evaluation/exam. [¶] The evaluation with Dr.
8 Senegor alleged [sic] surgery(s) Plaintiff has never had, that also Plaintiff has no 9 pain, that was the report, found invalid as a mix up of reports clearly, because the 10 evaluation events and determinations matched those of Dr. Bais of Manteca. [¶] 11 Defendant Smith has taken the phrase MRI does not match [symptomology] that 12 were it accurately applied concerning Plaintiff it would translate into Patient has 13 pain. [¶] Defendant aware of Dr. Senegor report as invalid is himself one of the 14 doctors he Defendant Smith along with Defendant J. St. Clair and Defendant were 15 the Panel to consider it invalid and arrange a MRI evaluation/exam with Dr. Bai.
16 [¶] And Defendant Dr. Savage has said and confirmed—acting on behalf of 17 Defendant St. Clair—that he Defendant Savage “can’t do anything for until they 18 tell me to”

19 (ECF No. 1 at 18.)

20 Requested Relief

21 Plaintiff seeks a declaratory judgment, along with compensatory and punitive damages.

22 C. Discussion

23 Plaintiff's complaint fails to comply with Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8 and fails to 24 state a cognizable claim for relief.

25 1. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8

26 Pursuant to Rule 8, a complaint must contain “a short and plain statement of the claim 27 showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a). Detailed factual allegations 28 are not required, but “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (citation omitted). Plaintiff must set forth “sufficient factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.’” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555). While factual allegations are accepted as true, legal conclusions are not. Id.; see also Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556–57; Moss, 572 F.3d at 969.

1 Plaintiff's complaint is not a short or plain statement of his claims. Plaintiff's complaint 2 lacks clear factual allegations, and with many allegations, the Court cannot determine what 3 happened, when it happened or what claims he is attempting to pursue. For example, the quoted 4 allegations identified above are confusing, lack clarity and fail to state a cognizable claim against 5 any individual. Plaintiff has failed to clearly and succinctly allege what happened, when it 6 happened and who was involved.

7 2. Official Capacity

8 Plaintiff may not pursue his claims for monetary damages against the named defendants in 9 their official capacities. "The Eleventh Amendment bars suits for money damages in federal 10 court against a state, its agencies, and state officials in their official capacities." Aholelei v.
11 Dep't. of Pub. Safety, 488 F.3d 1144, 1147 (9th Cir. 2007) (citations omitted). However, the 12 Eleventh Amendment does not bar suits seeking damages against state officials in their personal 13 capacities, Hafer v. Melo, 502 U.S. 21, 30 (1991); Porter v. Jones, 319 F.3d 483, 491 (9th Cir.
14 2003), or suits for injunctive relief brought against state officials in their official capacities, 15 Austin v. State Indus. Ins. Sys., 939 F.2d 676, 680 n.2 (9th Cir. 1991). Thus, Plaintiff may only 16 proceed in this action for monetary damages against defendants in their individual capacities.

17 3. Eighth Amendment – Excessive Force

18 The Eighth Amendment protects prisoners from inhumane methods of punishment and 19 from inhumane conditions of confinement. Morgan v. Morgensen, 465 F.3d 1041, 1045 (9th Cir.
20 2006). The unnecessary and wanton infliction of pain violates the Cruel and Unusual 21 Punishments Clause of the Eighth Amendment. Hudson v McMillian, 503 U.S. 1, 5 (1992) 22 (citations omitted). Although prison conditions may be restrictive and harsh, prison officials must 23 provide prisoners with food, clothing, shelter, sanitation, medical care, and personal safety.
24 Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 832–33 (1994) (quotations omitted).

25 For claims of excessive physical force, the issue is "whether force was applied in a good-26 faith effort to maintain or restore discipline, or maliciously and sadistically to cause harm." 27 Hudson, 503 U.S. at 7. Relevant factors for this consideration include "the extent of injury... [,] 28 the need for application of force, the relationship between that need and the amount of force used,

1 the threat ‘reasonably perceived by the responsible officials,’ and ‘any efforts made to temper the 2 severity of a forceful response.’” Id. (quoting Whitley v. Albers, 475 U.S. 1078, 1085 (1986)).

3 In Claim I, Plaintiff appears to assert an excessive force claim against Defendants Diaz, 4 Tyra, Younan and O’Shea. However, Plaintiff’s complaint does not include allegations indicating 5 that any measure of force was used by any of these defendants or that he suffered any physical 6 injury from a purported use of force.

7 4. Eighth Amendment – Medical Care

8 In his claims, Plaintiff appears to allege deliberate indifference to his medical needs in 9 violation of the Eighth Amendment. A prisoner’s claim of inadequate medical care does not 10 constitute cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Eighth Amendment unless the 11 mistreatment rises to the level of “deliberate indifference to serious medical needs.” Jett v.
12 Penner, 439 F.3d 1091, 1096 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 104 13 (1976)). The two-part test for deliberate indifference requires Plaintiff to show (1) “a ‘serious 14 medical need’ by demonstrating that failure to treat a prisoner's condition could result in further 15 significant injury or the ‘unnecessary and wanton infliction of pain,’” and (2) “the defendant's 16 response to the need was deliberately indifferent.” Jett, 439 F.3d at 1096.

17 A defendant does not act in a deliberately indifferent manner unless the defendant “knows 18 of and disregards an excessive risk to inmate health or safety.” Farmer, 511 U.S. 825, 837 19 (1994). “Deliberate indifference is a high legal standard,” Simmons v. Navajo Cty. Ariz., 609 20 F.3d 1011, 1019 (9th Cir. 2010); Toguchi v. Chung, 391 F.3d 1051, 1060 (9th Cir. 2004), and is 21 shown where there was “a purposeful act or failure to respond to a prisoner’s pain or possible 22 medical need” and the indifference caused harm. Jett, 439 F.3d at 1096.

23 In applying this standard, the Ninth Circuit has held that before it can be said that a 24 prisoner’s civil rights have been abridged, “the indifference to his medical needs must be 25 substantial. Mere ‘indifference,’ ‘negligence,’ or ‘medical malpractice’ will not support this 26 cause of action.” Broughton v. Cutter Labs., 622 F.2d 458, 460 (9th Cir. 1980) (citing Estelle, 27 429 U.S. at 105–06). “[A] complaint that a physician has been negligent in diagnosing or treating 28 a medical condition does not state a valid claim of medical mistreatment under the Eighth

1 Amendment. Medical malpractice does not become a constitutional violation merely because the 2 victim is a prisoner.” Estelle, 429 U.S. at 106; see also Anderson v. Cty. of Kern, 45 F.3d 1310, 3 1316 (9th Cir. 1995). Even gross negligence is insufficient to establish deliberate indifference to 4 serious medical needs. See Wood v. Housewright, 900 F.2d 1332, 1334 (9th Cir. 1990).

5 Further, a “difference of opinion between a physician and the prisoner—or between 6 medical professionals—concerning what medical care is appropriate does not amount to 7 deliberate indifference.” Snow v. McDaniel, 681 F.3d 978, 987 (9th Cir. 2012) (citing Sanchez v.
8 Vild, 891 F.2d 240, 242 (9th Cir. 1989)), overruled in part on other grounds, Peralta v. Dillard, 9 744 F.3d 1076, 1082–83 (9th Cir. 2014); Wilhelm v. Rotman, 680 F.3d 1113, 1122–23 (9th Cir.
10 2012) (citing Jackson v. McIntosh, 90 F.3d 330, 332 (9th Cir. 1986)). Rather, Plaintiff “must 11 show that the course of treatment the doctors chose was medically unacceptable under the 12 circumstances and that the defendants chose this course in conscious disregard of an excessive 13 risk to [his] health.” Snow, 681 F.3d at 988 (citing Jackson, 90 F.3d at 332) (internal quotation 14 marks omitted).

15 As best as the Court can determine from the complaint, Plaintiff is alleging that his Eighth 16 Amendment right to medical care was violated by (1) the failure to provide him with a 17 transportation protocol permitting him to lie down in a transport vehicle; and (2) the failure to 18 transport him for an injection on one occasion. Neither of these purported denials rises to the 19 level of an Eighth Amendment violation.

20 With regard to the denial of a transport protocol, Plaintiff’s complaint suggests only a 21 difference of opinion between a physician and Plaintiff—or between medical professionals—22 concerning what transportation protocol was necessary. This is not sufficient to support a 23 cognizable Eighth Amendment deliberate indifference claim. Additionally, there is no indication 24 that any of the transport officers were responsible for Plaintiff’s treatment or any cancellation of 25 treatment.

26 With regard to the one-time denial of an injection, this isolated incident also is not 27 sufficient to state a cognizable deliberate indifference claim. There is no indication from 28 Plaintiff’s complaint that he was denied any other forms of treatment for his back condition or

1 that he repeatedly was denied injections. Indeed, Plaintiff's complaint suggests that he had 2 received multiple injections prior to the incident in April 2016. Further, there is no indication that 3 Plaintiff subsequently was denied treatment (or injections) for his back.

4 5. Fourteenth Amendment – Discrimination

5 The Equal Protection Clause requires that persons who are similarly situated be treated 6 alike. City of Cleburne Living Center, Inc., 473 U.S. 432, 439 (1985). An equal protection claim 7 may be established by demonstrating that the defendant intentionally discriminated against the 8 plaintiff on the basis of the plaintiff's membership in a protected class, such as race. See, e.g., 9 Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668, 686 (9th Cir. 2001); Thornton v. City of St. Helens, 10 425 F.3d 1158, 1167 (9th Cir. 2005).

11 In Claim II, Plaintiff appears to assert a claim for discrimination based on Defendant 12 Younan's use of the word "nigger." However, the mere use of this statement is not sufficient to 13 state a cognizable claim for discrimination. There is no indication from Plaintiff's complaint that 14 any defendant intentionally discriminated against Plaintiff based on his membership in a 15 protected class. At best, Plaintiff has alleged only that transportation officers wanted Plaintiff to 16 be seated in the transport vehicle, not that he was treated differently from other inmates.¹

17 To the extent Plaintiff seeks to impose liability against Defendant Younan arising out of 18 any verbal harassment, he may not do so. Allegations of verbal abuse or harassment fail to state a 19 constitutional claim. See Oltarzewski v. Ruggiero, 830 F.2d 136, 139 (9th Cir. 1987) (finding 20 that "verbal harassment generally does not violate the Eighth Amendment"); Gaut v. Sunn, 810 21 F.2d 923, 925 (9th Cir. 1987) (holding that prisoner's allegations of threats allegedly made by 22 guards failed to state a cause of action). Plaintiff's complaint thus fails to state a cognizable 23 claim against Defendant Younan based on any purported verbal harassment or harassing 24 statement.

25 ///

26 ¹ Plaintiff also appears to assert a Fourth Amendment claim arising out of the same conduct.
27 The nature of this claim is unclear. As noted above, Plaintiff must set forth "sufficient factual 28 matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555).

1 6. Grievance/Complaint Process

2 In Claim III, Plaintiff appears to assert claims arising out of the processing and/or denial 3 of his 602 appeals. However, Plaintiff cannot pursue any claims against prison staff based solely 4 on the processing and review of his inmate appeals. Plaintiff does not have a constitutionally 5 protected right to have his appeals accepted or processed. Ramirez v. Galaza, 334 F.3d 850, 860
6 (9th Cir. 2003); Mann v. Adams, 855 F.2d 639, 640 (9th Cir. 1988). The prison grievance 7 procedure does not confer any substantive rights upon inmates and actions in reviewing appeals 8 cannot serve as a basis for liability under section 1983. Buckley v. Barlow, 997 F.2d 494, 495
9 (8th Cir. 1993); see also Wright v. Shannon, No. 1:05-cv-01485-LJO-YNP PC, 2010 WL 445203, 10 at *5 (E.D. Cal. Feb. 2, 2010) (plaintiff’s allegations that prison officials denied or ignored his 11 inmate appeals failed to state a cognizable claim under the First Amendment). Denial or refusal 12 to process a prison grievance is not a constitutional violation. Rushdan v. Gear, No. 1:16-cv-13 01017-BAM (PC), 2018 WL 2229259, at *6 (E.D. Cal. May 16, 2018). Accordingly, Plaintiff 14 fails to state a cognizable claim arising out of the processing or review of his 602 appeals.

15 7. Declaratory Relief

16 “A declaratory judgment, like other forms of equitable relief, should be granted only as a 17 matter of judicial discretion, exercised in the public interest.” Eccles v. Peoples Bank of 18 Lakewood Village, 333 U.S. 426, 431 (1948). “Declaratory relief should be denied when it will 19 neither serve a useful purpose in clarifying and settling the legal relations in issue nor terminate 20 the proceedings and afford relief from the uncertainty and controversy faced by the parties.” 21 United States v. Washington, 759 F.2d 1353, 1357 (9th Cir. 1985).

22 If this action reaches trial and the jury returns a verdict in favor of Plaintiff, then that 23 verdict will be a finding that Plaintiff’s constitutional rights were violated. Accordingly, a 24 declaration that any defendant violated Plaintiff’s rights is unnecessary.

25 III. Failure to Prosecute and Failure to Obey a Court Order

26 A. Legal Standard

27 Local Rule 110 provides that “[f]ailure . . . of a party to comply with these Rules or with 28 any order of the Court may be grounds for imposition by the Court of any and all sanctions . . .

1 within the inherent power of the Court.” District courts have the inherent power to control their 2 dockets and “[i]n the exercise of that power they may impose sanctions including, where 3 appropriate, . . . dismissal.” Thompson v. Hous. Auth., 782 F.2d 829, 831 (9th Cir. 1986). A 4 court may dismiss an action, with prejudice, based on a party’s failure to prosecute an action, 5 failure to obey a court order, or failure to comply with local rules. See, e.g., Ghazali v. Moran, 46 6 F.3d 52, 53–54 (9th Cir. 1995) (dismissal for noncompliance with local rule); Ferdik v. Bonzelet, 7 963 F.2d 1258, 1260–61 (9th Cir. 1992) (dismissal for failure to comply with an order requiring 8 amendment of complaint); Malone v. U.S. Postal Serv., 833 F.2d 128, 130–33 (9th Cir. 1987) 9 (dismissal for failure to comply with court order).

10 In determining whether to dismiss an action, the Court must consider several factors: 11 (1) the public’s interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the Court’s need to manage its 12 docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of 13 cases on their merits; and (5) the availability of less drastic sanctions. Henderson v. Duncan, 779 14 F.2d 1421, 1423 (9th Cir. 1986); Carey v. King, 856 F.2d 1439, 1440 (9th Cir. 1988).

15 B. Discussion

16 Here, Plaintiff’s first amended complaint is overdue, and he has failed to comply with the 17 Court’s orders. The Court cannot effectively manage its docket if Plaintiff ceases litigating his 18 case. Thus, the Court finds that both the first and second factors weigh in favor of dismissal.

19 The third factor, risk of prejudice to defendant, also weighs in favor of dismissal, since a 20 presumption of injury arises from the occurrence of unreasonable delay in prosecuting an action.
21 Anderson v. Air W., 542 F.2d 522, 524 (9th Cir. 1976). The fourth factor usually weighs against 22 dismissal because public policy favors disposition on the merits. Pagtalunan v. Galaza, 291 F.3d 23 639, 643 (9th Cir. 2002). However, “this factor lends little support to a party whose 24 responsibility it is to move a case toward disposition on the merits but whose conduct impedes 25 progress in that direction,” which is the case here. In re Phenylpropanolamine (PPA) Products 26 Liability Litigation, 460 F.3d 1217, 1228 (9th Cir. 2006) (citation omitted).

27 Finally, the Court’s warning to a party that failure to obey the court’s order will result in 28 dismissal satisfies the “considerations of the alternatives” requirement. Ferdik, 963 F.2d at 1262;

1 Malone, 833 at 132–33; Henderson, 779 F.2d at 1424. The Court’s April 24, 2019 screening 2 order expressly warned Plaintiff that his failure to file an amended complaint would result in a 3 recommendation of dismissal of this action, with prejudice, for failure to obey a court order and 4 for failure to state a claim. (ECF No. 10, p. 12.) Thus, Plaintiff had adequate warning that 5 dismissal could result from his noncompliance.

6 Additionally, at this stage in the proceedings there is little available to the Court that 7 would constitute a satisfactory lesser sanction while protecting the Court from further 8 unnecessary expenditure of its scarce resources. Plaintiff is proceeding in forma pauperis in this 9 action, making monetary sanctions of little use, and the preclusion of evidence or witnesses is 10 likely to have no effect given that Plaintiff has ceased litigating his case.

11 IV. Conclusion and Recommendation

12 Accordingly, the Court finds that dismissal is the appropriate sanction and HEREBY 13 RECOMMENDS that this action be dismissed, with prejudice, for failure to state a claim 14 pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915A, for failure to obey a Court order, and for Plaintiff’s failure to 15 prosecute this action.

16 These Findings and Recommendation will be submitted to the United States District Judge 17 assigned to the case, pursuant to the provisions of Title 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). Within fourteen 18 (14) days after being served with these Findings and Recommendation, Plaintiff may file written 19 objections with the Court. The document should be captioned “Objections to Magistrate Judge’s 20 Findings and Recommendation.” Plaintiff is advised that failure to file objections within the 21 specified time may result in the waiver of the “right to challenge the magistrate’s factual 22 findings” on appeal. Wilkerson v. Wheeler, 772 F.3d 834, 839 (9th Cir. 2014) (citing Baxter v.
23 Sullivan, 923 F.2d 1391, 1394 (9th Cir. 1991)).
