AMENDMENT CLAIMS AGAINST
DEFENDANTS GARZA, CAROLINA,
ESPITIA, AGUILAR, OEHLERT, NIZTESCU, JANE DOE (A TTA), AND RIZK FOR DELIBERATE INDIFFERENCE
TO HIS SERIOUS MEDICAL NEEDS;
PLAINTIFF’S CALIFORNIA
GOVERNMENT CODE § 845.6 CLAIM AGAINST DEFENDANTS GARZA,
CAROLINA, ESPITIA, AGUILAR, OEHLERT, AND NIZTESCU;
PLAINTIFF’S NEGLIGENCE CLAIM AGAINST DEFENDANTS SHIRLEY, WHITE, CRONJAGER, THOMAS, GUTIERREZ, DOE 1 (A CONTRACTOR
SUPERVISOR), AND DOE 2 (A CONTRACTOR); AND PLAINTIFF’S
MEDICAL NEGLIGENCE CLAIM AGAINST DEFENDANTS JANE DOE (A TTA) AND RIZK; AND THAT ALL OTHER
CLAIMS BE DISMISSED

(ECF No. 13)

OBJECTIONS, IF ANY, DUE WITHIN TWENTY-ONE DAYS

ORDER DIRECTING CLERK TO ASSIGN
DISTRICT JUDGE

1 Christopher Charles Clark (“Plaintiff”) is a state prisoner proceeding pro se and in 2 forma pauperis with this civil rights action filed pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983, which includes 3 state law claims. Plaintiff filed the complaint commencing this action on September 13, 2021.
4 (ECF No. 1).

5 On February 16, 2022, the Court screened Plaintiff’s complaint and found that only the 6 following claim should proceed past screening: Plaintiff’s Eighth Amendment claims against 7 defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, Niztescu, Jane Doe (a TTA), and Rizk 8 for deliberate indifference to his serious medical needs. (ECF No. 12). The Court gave 9 Plaintiff thirty days to either: “a. File a First Amended Complaint; b. Notify the Court in 10 writing that he does not want to file an amended complaint and instead wants to proceed only 11 on his Eighth Amendment claims against defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, 12 Niztescu, Jane Doe (a TTA), and Rizk for deliberate indifference to his serious medical needs; 13 or c. Notify the Court in writing that he wants to stand on his complaint.” (Id. at 17-18).

14 On March 21, 2022, Plaintiff filed his First Amended Complaint. (ECF No. 13).
15 Plaintiff alleges that he tripped and fell, that he did not receive necessary medical care 16 afterwards, and that grievance coordinators intentionally interfered with his right to file a 17 grievance.

18 The Court has reviewed the First Amended Complaint, and for the reasons described 19 below, will recommend that this action proceed on the following claims: Plaintiff’s Eighth 20 Amendment claims against defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, Niztescu, 21 Jane Doe (a TTA), and Rizk for deliberate indifference to his serious medical needs; Plaintiff’s 22 California Government Code § 845.6 claim against defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, 23 Aguilar, Oehlert, and Niztescu; Plaintiff’s negligence claim against defendants Shirley, White, 24 Cronjager, Thomas, Gutierrez, Doe 1 (a contractor supervisor), and Doe 2 (a contractor); and 25 Plaintiff’s medical negligence claim against defendants Jane Doe (a TTA) and Rizk.¹ The 26

27 ¹ Plaintiff is advised that the Doe defendants cannot be served until Plaintiff has identified them and filed 28 a motion to substitute, or amended his complaint to substitute, named defendants in place of the Doe defendants.
For service to be successful, the Court and/or the United States Marshal must be able to identify and locate the defendants to be served. Plaintiff will be required to identify the Doe defendants as the litigation proceeds. The 1 Court will also recommend that all other claims be dismissed.

2 Plaintiff has twenty-one days from the date of service of these findings and 3 recommendations to file his objections.

4 I. SCREENING REQUIREMENT

5 The Court is required to screen complaints brought by prisoners seeking relief against a 6 governmental entity or officer or employee of a governmental entity. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a).
7 The Court must dismiss a complaint or portion thereof if the prisoner has raised claims that are 8 legally “frivolous or malicious,” that fail to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or 9 that seek monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C.
10 § 1915A(b)(1), (2). As Plaintiff is proceeding in forma pauperis (ECF No. 11), the Court may 11 also screen the complaint under 28 U.S.C. § 1915. “Notwithstanding any filing fee, or any 12 portion thereof, that may have been paid, the court shall dismiss the case at any time if the court 13 determines that the action or appeal fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.”
14 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

15 A complaint is required to contain “a short and plain statement of the claim showing 16 that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). Detailed factual allegations are 17 not required, but “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere 18 conclusory statements, do not suffice.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (citing Bell 19 Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)). A plaintiff must set forth “sufficient 20 factual matter, accepted as true, to ‘state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.’” Id.
21 (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570). The mere possibility of misconduct falls short of meeting 22 this plausibility standard. Id. at 679. While a plaintiff’s allegations are taken as true, courts 23 “are not required to indulge unwarranted inferences.” Doe I v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 572 F.3d 24 677, 681 (9th Cir. 2009) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). Additionally, a 25 plaintiff’s legal conclusions are not accepted as true. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678.

26 Pleadings of pro se plaintiffs “must be held to less stringent standards than formal 27

28 Court notes that, once discovery opens, Plaintiff will be given the opportunity to seek information to identify the Doe defendants.

1 pleadings drafted by lawyers.” Hebbe v. Pliler, 627 F.3d 338, 342 (9th Cir. 2010) (holding that 2 pro se complaints should continue to be liberally construed after Iqbal).

3 II. SUMMARY OF PLAINTIFF’S FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

4 Plaintiff alleges as follows:

5 On or about July 1, 2021, between the hours of 5-6:00 p.m., while returning from the 6 evening meal, Plaintiff was walking near the A1 Yard gym and tripped over an abnormal arch 7 in the blacktop pavement. Plaintiff fell hard to the ground.

8 Defendant Carolina, a correctional officer, asked Plaintiff if he was ok. Plaintiff said 9 that he was not sure. Other inmates helped Plaintiff to his feet. Plaintiff was in pain but did not 10 know the extent of his pain or injuries. Correctional officers laughed.

11 As the evening passed, Plaintiff started feeling severe pain in his neck and shoulder, so 12 he put in a request for medical assistance.

13 Plaintiff had always been aware of that particular section because it stands out and you 14 cannot help but notice that the sidewalk needed repairs. The sidewalk was riddled with several 15 large cracks in the walkway, which would be a hazard for any mobility impaired or persons in 16 wheelchairs. Plaintiff filed a grievance form and complained of the hazardous sidewalk where 17 inmates have to pass to and fro on a daily basis. Defendant Carolina stated that he and others 18 fell at that spot.

19 On or about July 7, 2021, the institution maintenance team repaired the area where 20 Plaintiff fell. Thereafter they repaired the rest of the spots that were a mobility hindrance. This 21 is not an incident in which Defendants can claim that they did not know that it was a hazardous 22 situation, that repairs were not needed, or that injuries were not foreseeable. Numerous other 23 inmates and staff members tripped and/or fell over this particular spot. Their actions to repair 24 the affected areas is evidence that they had known the whole time of the risk of harm. They 25 simply failed to abate it.

26 For at least three to four years, this section where Plaintiff fell needed repairs. The 27 entire time the repairs were needed, there were no warning or caution signs placed anywhere.
28 Nor does the place as a whole have Americans with Disabilities Act accommodation signs, 1 benches, or symbols.

2 The Warden, the Program Administrator, and the A Yard supervisors are all responsible 3 for maintaining a safe environment, and the responsibility of maintenance of the institution lies 4 with these employees and the contractors they hire to provide services. These officers knew of 5 the need for such repairs, and even if they placed “work orders” for repairs and the work was 6 not done, they had an obligation to ensure it was done in a timely manner. They knew the 7 condition was a substantial risk to the health and safety of inmates and employees, yet put the 8 repairs off for several years. These employees (including the Warden) walked past the affected 9 areas on a daily basis. This includes the contractor for the repairs and any of his or her 10 supervisors who knew of the need for the repairs. They all waited until someone injured 11 himself and put them on notice of this suit. Only then were repairs promptly done.

12 On the same day that he fell, Plaintiff put in a “sick call slip” requesting medical 13 assistance. He complained of pain in his neck. On July 2, 2021, he complained of pain in his 14 neck (with headaches), hand tingling, and pain inside his left shoulder. This same day he told 15 both defendant Carolina and defendant Garza that he was in pain and needed medical 16 assistance. On more than three occasions he asked for medical assistance from these officers.

17 The CDCR 7362 form states, in relevant part, “if you believe this is an urgent/emergent 18 health care need, contact the correctional officer on duty.” Plaintiff clearly expressed his 19 concerns that he believed it was an emergency situation. Moreover, over the weekend, Plaintiff 20 sought pain medication from other inmates to relieve his pain, and he paid canteen items for 21 that.

22 It should be noted that Plaintiff had surgery in the neck and shoulder where he currently 23 has in place thirty-six three-and-a-half inch screws and two rods. He also has a cross plate in 24 his neck. The surgery occurred on December 21, 2016. Plaintiff told the officers of this, but 25 they failed to summon medical assistance. Other officers were advised, such as defendants 26 Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, and Niztescu.

27 Plaintiff complained of pain and a need to see a doctor to all staff available from July 2, 28 2021, through July 6, 2021, with no assistance. They would only give him a sick call slip

1 (CDCR 7362 form).

2 On July 6, 2021, since Plaintiff's numerous requests for urgent care had been refused, 3 he went "man down" and refused to move. He complained that his pain was "unbearable." He 4 was finally placed in a wheelchair and escorted to an area they call "CTC" for medical 5 assistance.

6 On that same day, Plaintiff saw the "TTA." They took x-rays. However, they did not 7 give Plaintiff pain medication or any medication whatsoever. On July 7, 2021, Plaintiff was 8 finally given "muscle relaxers" for his pain. He was never given pain medication. The muscle 9 relaxers gave little relief, so Plaintiff took them along with any pain medication he could buy 10 from other inmates.

11 On July 8, 2021, Plaintiff saw the doctor. The doctor told Plaintiff he had strained his 12 neck and shoulder area, and that there were no broken bones. However, Plaintiff complained 13 specifically that because of the pain between his neck and shoulder, he is also experiencing 14 headaches and back pain. Plaintiff also explained that, on a scale from one to ten, the pain is a 15 ten. Thus, Plaintiff's only relief has generally come from other inmates' pain medication that 16 he buys. Plaintiff was not even given an over-the-counter pain medication by the TTA or the 17 Doctor. They all treated Plaintiff as if he was faking his injuries, but he was not.

18 Dr. Rizk is Plaintiff's primary care provider. He interviewed Plaintiff about his injuries 19 from the fall and prescribed the muscle relaxers. He did not give Plaintiff any pain medication, 20 even though Plaintiff asked for it. This is also attributed to Dr. Mells. Neither doctor 21 prescribed Plaintiff pain medication, not even the TTA. Plaintiff was ultimately given therapy.

22 From July 1, 2021, through August 5, 2021, Plaintiff filed approximately fourteen (or 23 more) 7362 forms complaining of pain and suffering. Plaintiff never received pain medication.

24 Plaintiff brings his claim based on inadequate medical care because of the failure to 25 give medical assistance when Plaintiff complained of an urgent need, because of the failure to 26 prescribe pain medication and to instead contend that Plaintiff is "faking" his pain level, 27 because of the failure to provide adequate medical assistance, and because of the failure to 28 provide a professional diagnosis.

1 Plaintiff is an ongoing patient in the mental health system at the Correctional Clinical 2 Case Management System (“CCCMS”) level of care. He has been a participant in the mental 3 health system for more than four years (approximately). As a result of the substantial games 4 being played by both custody and staff, as well as medical, Plaintiff had to quit taking a 5 medication that helped to keep him from having nightmares. He stopped the medicine because 6 he was taking other pain medications which overwhelmed his ability to think clearly.

7 Moreover, he repeatedly complained. He had a detailed session with his psychologist 8 regarding this incident and the unfair treatment he had to weather. Plaintiff was laughed at, and 9 told to “quit faking.” Additionally, because he repeatedly requested medical assistance, they 10 became angry with him simply for requesting help. They simply did not want to assist 11 Plaintiff. This is clearly conduct that impinges on Plaintiff’s mental health.

12 Finally, Plaintiff alleges that grievance coordinators intentionally interfered with his 13 right to file a grievance. Plaintiff correctly filed the grievance as a “custody” grievance, but the 14 coordinator artificially reasoned that it was a “health care” issue and redirected it to the 15 healthcare appeals coordinator. The healthcare coordinator received the grievance on or about 16 July 7, 2021. They held the grievance for about two months. Thereafter they filed an order 17 stating that they had no jurisdiction over the grievance, and that it was an issue for custody.
18 Plaintiff believes that they worked in concert to thwart Plaintiff’s attempts to exhaust his claims 19 by way of grievance. The appeal was constructively frozen. They did this so they can say 20 Plaintiff failed to exhaust his claims.

21 Plaintiff alleges that he complied with California’s Government Claims Act.

22 III. ANALYSIS OF PLAINTIFF’S FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

23 A. Section 1983

24 The Civil Rights Act under which this action was filed provides:

25 Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or 26 usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes 27 to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the 28 jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress....

1 42 U.S.C. § 1983. “[Section] 1983 ‘is not itself a source of substantive rights,’ but merely 2 provides ‘a method for vindicating federal rights elsewhere conferred.’” Graham v. Connor, 3 490 U.S. 386, 393-94 (1989) (quoting Baker v. McCollan, 443 U.S. 137, 144 n.3 (1979)); see 4 also Chapman v. Houston Welfare Rights Org., 441 U.S. 600, 618 (1979); Hall v. City of Los 5 Angeles, 697 F.3d 1059, 1068 (9th Cir. 2012); Crowley v. Nevada, 678 F.3d 730, 734 (9th Cir.
6 2012); Anderson v. Warner, 451 F.3d 1063, 1067 (9th Cir. 2006).

7 To state a claim under section 1983, a plaintiff must allege that (1) the defendant acted 8 under color of state law, and (2) the defendant deprived him of rights secured by the 9 Constitution or federal law. Long v. County of Los Angeles, 442 F.3d 1178, 1185 (9th Cir.
10 2006); see also Marsh v. County of San Diego, 680 F.3d 1148, 1158 (9th Cir. 2012) (discussing 11 “under color of state law”). A person deprives another of a constitutional right, “within the 12 meaning of § 1983, ‘if he does an affirmative act, participates in another’s affirmative act, or 13 omits to perform an act which he is legally required to do that causes the deprivation of which 14 complaint is made.’” Preschooler II v. Clark County Sch. Bd. of Trs., 479 F.3d 1175, 1183 15 (9th Cir. 2007) (quoting Johnson v. Duffy, 588 F.2d 740, 743 (9th Cir. 1978)). “The requisite 16 causal connection may be established when an official sets in motion a ‘series of acts by others 17 which the actor knows or reasonably should know would cause others to inflict’ constitutional 18 harms.” Preschooler II, 479 F.3d at 1183 (quoting Johnson, 588 F.2d at 743). This standard of 19 causation “closely resembles the standard ‘foreseeability’ formulation of proximate cause.”
20 Arnold v. Int’l Bus. Mach. Corp., 637 F.2d 1350, 1355 (9th Cir. 1981); see also Harper v. City 21 of Los Angeles, 533 F.3d 1010, 1026 (9th Cir. 2008).

22 A plaintiff must demonstrate that each named defendant personally participated in the 23 deprivation of his rights. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 676-77. In other words, there must be an actual 24 connection or link between the actions of the defendants and the deprivation alleged to have 25 been suffered by the plaintiff. See Monell v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs. of City of N.Y., 436 U.S.
26 658, 691, 695 (1978).

27 Supervisory personnel are not liable under section 1983 for the actions of their 28 employees under a theory of respondeat superior and, therefore, when a named defendant

1 holds a supervisory position, the causal link between the supervisory defendant and the claimed 2 constitutional violation must be specifically alleged. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 676-77; Fayle v.
3 Stapley, 607 F.2d 858, 862 (9th Cir. 1979); Mosher v. Saalfeld, 589 F.2d 438, 441 (9th Cir.
4 1978). To state a claim for relief under section 1983 based on a theory of supervisory liability, 5 a plaintiff must allege some facts that would support a claim that the supervisory defendants 6 either: were personally involved in the alleged deprivation of constitutional rights, Hansen v.
7 Black, 885 F.2d 642, 646 (9th Cir. 1989); “knew of the violations and failed to act to prevent 8 them,” Taylor v. List, 880 F.2d 1040, 1045 (9th Cir. 1989); or promulgated or “implement[ed] 9 a policy so deficient that the policy itself is a repudiation of constitutional rights and is the 10 moving force of the constitutional violation,” Hansen, 885 F.2d at 646 (citations and internal 11 quotation marks omitted).

12 For instance, a supervisor may be liable for his or her “own culpable action or inaction 13 in the training, supervision, or control of his [or her] subordinates,” “his [or her] acquiescence 14 in the constitutional deprivations of which the complaint is made,” or “conduct that showed a 15 reckless or callous indifference to the rights of others.” Larez v. City of Los Angeles, 946 F.2d 16 630, 646 (9th Cir. 1991) (citations, internal quotation marks, and brackets omitted).

17 B. Conditions of Confinement

18 “It is undisputed that the treatment a prisoner receives in prison and the conditions 19 under which [the prisoner] is confined are subject to scrutiny under the Eighth Amendment.”
20 Helling v. McKinney, 509 U.S. 25, 31 (1993); see also Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 832 21 (1994). Conditions of confinement may, consistent with the Constitution, be restrictive and 22 harsh. See Rhodes v. Chapman, 452 U.S. 337, 347 (1981); Morgan v. Morgensen, 465 F.3d 23 1041, 1045 (9th Cir. 2006); Osolinski v. Kane, 92 F.3d 934, 937 (9th Cir. 1996); Jordan v.
24 Gardner, 986 F.2d 1521, 1531 (9th Cir. 1993) (en banc). Prison officials must, however, 25 provide prisoners with “food, clothing, shelter, sanitation, medical care, and personal safety.”
26 Toussaint v. McCarthy, 801 F.2d 1080, 1107 (9th Cir. 1986), abrogated in part on other 27 grounds by Sandin v. Connor, 515 U.S. 472 (1995); see also Johnson v. Lewis, 217 F.3d 726, 28 731 (9th Cir. 2000); Hoptowit v. Ray, 682 F.2d 1237, 1246 (9th Cir. 1982); Wright v. Rushen, 1 642 F.2d 1129, 1132-33 (9th Cir. 1981).

2 Two requirements must be met to show an Eighth Amendment violation. Farmer, 511 3 U.S. at 834. “First, the deprivation alleged must be, objectively, sufficiently serious.” Id.
4 (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). Second, “a prison official must have a 5 sufficiently culpable state of mind,” which for conditions of confinement claims “is one of 6 deliberate indifference.” Id. (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). Prison officials 7 act with deliberate indifference when they know of and disregard an excessive risk to inmate 8 health or safety. Id. at 837. The circumstances, nature, and duration of the deprivations are 9 critical in determining whether the conditions complained of are grave enough to form the basis 10 of a viable Eighth Amendment claim. Johnson v. Lewis, 217 F.3d 726, 731 (9th Cir. 2006).
11 Mere negligence on the part of a prison official is not sufficient to establish liability, but rather, 12 the official’s conduct must have been wanton. Farmer, 511 U.S. at 835; Frost v. Agnos, 152 13 F.3d 1124, 1128 (9th Cir. 1998).

14 Plaintiff alleges that he tripped over an abnormal arch in the blacktop pavement.
15 Plaintiff further alleges that numerous defendants were aware of this condition but did nothing 16 to resolve it. However, Plaintiff does not sufficiently allege that that any defendant knew that 17 the arch posed an excessive risk to Plaintiff’s health or safety. Plaintiff alleges that numerous 18 other inmates and staff tripped and/or fell, but there are no allegations suggesting that any of 19 them suffered an injury, let alone a serious injury.

20 Moreover, in an analogous type of case involving inmates who slipped and fell on 21 slippery surfaces, Courts have found that inmates need to show exacerbating conditions:

22 Under the Eighth Amendment, “slippery prison floors...do not state even an 23 arguable claim for cruel and unusual punishment.” LeMaire v. Maass, 12 F.3d 24 1444, 1457 (9th Cir. 1993) (quotation omitted). Indeed, federal courts have 25 repeatedly rejected Eighth Amendment slip and fall claims. See Oubichon v.
26 Carey, 2017 WL 2162940, at *8 (E.D. Cal. May 17, 2017) (citing Coleman v.
27 Sweetin, 745 F.3d 756, 764 & n.7 (5th Cir. 2014) (collecting cases); Pyles v.
28 Fahim, 771 F.3d 403, 410 & n.25 (7th Cir. 2014) (collecting cases) (“Federal courts consistently have adopted the view that slippery surfaces and shower floors in prisons, without more, cannot constitute a hazardous condition of confinement.”)); see also Collier v. Garcia, 2018 WL 659014, at *2 (N.D. Cal.
Jan. 31, 2018) (dismissing § 1983 claim alleging prisoner slipped and fell in his

1 cell in a puddle of water from a leaking chase); Aaronian v. Fresno Cty. Jail, 2 2010 WL 5232969, at *2–*3 (E.D. Cal. 2010) (dismissing § 1983 claim that 3 plumbing leak caused puddle, resulting in plaintiff’s slip and fall, as not 4 cognizable); Gilman v. Woodford, 2006 WL 1049739 (E.D. Cal. April 20, 5 2006) (granting qualified immunity to defendants when prisoner slipped and 6 fell in puddle of water resulting from leaky roof known to defendants), aff’d by 7 2008 WL 686740 (9th Cir. March 12, 2008) (unpublished memorandum 8 disposition). Therefore, in order state a cognizable claim for relief, there must 9 be a confluence of exacerbating conditions such that the slippery floor posed a 10 serious, unavoidable threat to plaintiff’s safety. See Frost v. Agnos, 152 F.3d 11 1124, 1129 (9th Cir. 1998) (“[s]lippery floors without protective measures 12 could create a sufficient danger to warrant relief” when an inmate alleges facts 13 that exacerbate the danger resulting from such conditions; inmate using 14 crutches had repeatedly fallen and injured himself on slippery shower floors); 15 Osolinski v. Kane, 92 F.3d 934, 938 (9th Cir. 1996) (finding prisoner failed to 16 plead any exacerbating conditions which rendered him unable to provide for his 17 own safety).

18 Plaintiff’s allegations that he sustained an injury from a slip and fall 19 demonstrate negligence at most. Although provided with the legal standards, 20 Plaintiff has not pled any conditions that rendered him unable to provide for his 21 own safety, preventing him from avoiding puddles or rendering him unable to 22 perceive the slippery conditions. Osolinski, 92 F.3d at 938; Mancinas v. Brown, 23 2018 WL 1109673, at *2 (E.D. Cal. Mar. 1, 2018) (dismissing prisoner’s § 24 1983 claim that known, ongoing leak caused puddle, resulting in slip and fall).

25 Coleman v. Frauenheim, 2018 WL 2463855, at *3 (E.D. Cal. June 1, 2018) (alterations in 26 original).

27 Here, Plaintiff fails to sufficiently allege there were any exacerbating conditions.

28 Plaintiff alleges that he was aware of the allegedly dangerous section of sidewalk, and there are no allegations suggesting that he was not able to avoid or walk over the abnormal arch.²

Accordingly, Plaintiff fails to state an Eighth Amendment conditions of confinement claim based on the abnormal arch in the blacktop pavement.³

² Plaintiff does allege that the sidewalk posed a particular hazard for the mobility impaired and persons in wheelchairs, but Plaintiff does not allege that he is either.

³ The Court notes that Plaintiff states that he is bringing this claim pursuant to the Eighth Amendment “and its California Counterparts.” (ECF No. 13, p. 4). However, while Plaintiff specifically identifies certain state laws he is suing under, he does not identify any provision of the California Constitution. Moreover, Plaintiff does not differentiate between the “California counterparts” and his Eighth Amendment conditions of confinement claim, and as discussed above, Plaintiff fails to state an Eighth Amendment conditions of confinement claim.

1 C. Deliberate Indifference to Serious Medical Needs in Violation of the 2 Eighth Amendment

3 “[T]o maintain an Eighth Amendment claim based on prison medical treatment, an 4 inmate must show ‘deliberate indifference to serious medical needs.’” Jett v. Penner, 439 F.3d 5 1091, 1096 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 104 (1976)). This requires 6 Plaintiff to show (1) “a ‘serious medical need’ by demonstrating that ‘failure to treat a 7 prisoner’s condition could result in further significant injury or the unnecessary and wanton 8 infliction of pain,” and (2) that “the defendant’s response to the need was deliberately 9 indifferent.” Id. (quoting McGuckin v. Smith, 974 F.2d 1050, 1059-60 (9th Cir. 1992))
10 (citation and internal quotations marks omitted), overruled on other grounds by WMX 11 Technologies v. Miller, 104 F.3d 1133 (9th Cir. 1997) (en banc).

12 Deliberate indifference is established only where the defendant subjectively “knows of 13 and disregards an excessive risk to inmate health and safety.” Toguchi v. Chung, 391 F.3d 14 1051, 1057 (9th Cir. 2004) (emphasis added) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted).
15 Deliberate indifference can be established “by showing (a) a purposeful act or failure to 16 respond to a prisoner’s pain or possible medical need and (b) harm caused by the indifference.” 17 Jett, 439 F.3d at 1096 (citation omitted). Civil recklessness (failure “to act in the face of an 18 unjustifiably high risk of harm that is either known or so obvious that it should be known”) is 19 insufficient to establish an Eighth Amendment violation. Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 20 836-37 & n.5 (1994) (citations omitted).

21 A difference of opinion between an inmate and prison medical personnel—or between 22 medical professionals—regarding appropriate medical diagnosis and treatment is not enough to 23 establish a deliberate indifference claim. Sanchez v. Vild, 891 F.2d 240, 242 (9th Cir. 1989); 24 Toguchi v. Chung, 391 F.3d 1051, 1058 (9th Cir. 2004). Additionally, “a complaint that a 25 physician has been negligent in diagnosing or treating a medical condition does not state a valid 26 claim of medical mistreatment under the Eighth Amendment. Medical malpractice does not 27 become a constitutional violation merely because the victim is a prisoner.” Estelle, 429 U.S. at 28 106. To establish a difference of opinion rising to the level of deliberate indifference, a

1 “plaintiff must show that the course of treatment the doctors chose was medically unacceptable 2 under the circumstances.” Jackson v. McIntosh, 90 F.3d 330, 332 (9th Cir. 1996).

3 Plaintiff alleges that defendant Carolina saw him fall on July 1, 2021. The next day, 4 Plaintiff told defendant Garza and defendant Carolina that he was in pain and needed medical 5 assistance. On more than three occasions he asked for medical assistance from these officers.
6 Moreover, Plaintiff had surgery in the neck and shoulder where he currently has in place thirty-7 six three-and-a-half inch screws and two rods. He also has a cross plate in his neck. The 8 surgery occurred on December 21, 2016. Plaintiff told this to defendants Garza and defendant 9 Carolina, as well as defendants Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, and Niztescu.⁴ Plaintiff also 10 complained of pain and a need to see a doctor. However, they would only give Plaintiff a sick 11 call slip.

12 Liberally construing the allegations in Plaintiff’s complaint, the Court finds that 13 Plaintiff sufficiently alleges that defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, and 14 Niztescu were aware that Plaintiff had a serious medical need, yet disregarded that need.
15 Accordingly, the Court finds that Plaintiff’s Eighth Amendment claim against defendants 16 Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, and Niztescu for deliberate indifference to his 17 serious medical needs should proceed past screening.

18 Plaintiff also alleges that medical personnel failed to properly treat him. According to 19 Plaintiff, on July 6, 2021, after he went “man down” and complained of “unbearable” pain, he 20 saw an unnamed “TTA” (defendant Jane Doe). Defendant Jane Doe took x-rays, but did not 21 give Plaintiff pain medication or any medications whatsoever. On July 8, 2021, Plaintiff saw 22 \\\

25 ⁴ Plaintiff also alleges that he told “all staff available” from July 2, 2021, through July 6, 2021, and that 26 they did not provide assistance. (ECF No. 13, p. 6). However, Plaintiff does not identify any other officers, either 27 by name or as Doe defendants. It is also not clear if Plaintiff is attempting to sue any unidentified officers based 28 on this claim. The Court previously informed Plaintiff that if he “does not know the names of certain officers involved in the incident, he may describe them to the best of his ability and name them as ‘Doe Defendants,’ such as ‘Doe Defendant 1, an older male correctional officer working on July 3, 2021,’ to be identified by name and substituted in as a party with the help of discovery during the litigation.” (ECF No. 12, p. 13 n.4). As Plaintiff did not cure this defect, despite being given the opportunity, the Court will recommend that this claim be allowed to proceed only against the named defendants.

1 the doctor.⁵ The doctor told Plaintiff he had strained his neck and shoulder area, and that there 2 were no broken bones. However, Plaintiff complained specifically that because of the pain 3 between his neck and shoulder, he is also experiencing headaches and back pain. He also 4 explained that, on a scale from one to ten, the pain is a ten. However, Dr. Rizk only provided 5 muscle relaxers. He did not give Plaintiff any pain medication, even though Plaintiff asked for 6 it. Plaintiff also alleges that this is attributed to Dr. Mells.

7 Liberally construing the allegations in Plaintiff's complaint, the Court finds that 8 Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment claim against defendants Jane Doe (a TTA) and Rizk for 9 deliberate indifference to his serious medical needs should proceed past screening.

10 As to defendant Mells, Plaintiff's only allegation is that Dr. Rizk's failure to provide 11 pain medication is also attributed to defendant Mells. There are no allegations suggesting that 12 defendant Mells knew Plaintiff had a serious medical need yet disregarded that need. There are 13 also no allegations suggesting that any other defendant knew that Plaintiff had a serious 14 medical need yet disregarded that need.

15 Therefore, Plaintiff fails to state an Eighth Amendment claim for deliberate indifference 16 to his serious medical needs against any other defendant.

17 Accordingly, based on the foregoing, the Court finds that Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment 18 claims against defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, Niztescu, Jane Doe (a 19 TTA), and Rizk for deliberate indifference to his serious medical needs should proceed past 20 screening. The Court also finds that the claim should be dismissed as to all other defendants.

21 D. Federal Claim for Mental and Emotional Injury

22 Plaintiff brings a separate claim for mental and emotional injuries under "federal law."⁶ 23 However, Plaintiff does not state what federal law he is bringing this claim under, and the 24 Court is not aware of any federal law that allows a separate cause of action for mental and 25 emotional injury in this situation.

27 ⁵ It is not clear, but based on additional allegations, it appears that the doctor Plaintiff saw was defendant 28 Rizk, his primary care provider.

⁶ Plaintiff also brings this claim under state law. The Court addresses Plaintiff's state law claims below.

1 Accordingly, the Court finds that Plaintiff fails to state a separate federal claim for 2 mental and emotional injuries. However, the Court is not in any way limiting the damages 3 Plaintiff may have for his other claims.

4 E. Processing of Appeals/Grievances

5 In Plaintiff's fifth claim, Plaintiff complains about his appeals not being properly 6 processed. Plaintiff states that he is bringing claims under both the First Amendment and the 7 Fourteenth Amendment.

8 "[A prison] grievance procedure is a procedural right only, it does not confer any 9 substantive right upon the inmates." Buckley v. Barlow, 997 F.2d 494, 495 (8th Cir. 1993) 10 (alteration in original) (quoting Azeez v. DeRobertis, 568 F. Supp. 8, 10 (N.D. Ill. 1982)); see 11 also Ramirez v. Galaza, 334 F.3d 850, 860 (9th Cir. 2003) (no liberty interest in processing of 12 appeals because no entitlement to a specific grievance procedure); Massey v. Helman, 259 F.3d 13 641, 647 (7th Cir. 2001) (existence of grievance procedure confers no liberty interest on 14 prisoner); Mann v. Adams, 855 F.2d 639, 640 (9th Cir. 1988). "Hence, it does not give rise to a 15 protected liberty interest requiring the procedural protections envisioned by the Fourteenth 16 Amendment." Azeez, 568 F. Supp. at 10; Spencer v. Moore, 638 F. Supp. 315, 316 (E.D. Mo.
17 1986).

18 As Plaintiff does not have a liberty interest in the processing of his grievance, Plaintiff 19 fails to state a Fourteenth Amendment due process claim based on his allegations that his 20 grievance was not properly processed.

21 To the extent Plaintiff is bringing a claim for interference with his right to access the 22 courts, that claim also fails. Under the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution, 23 state inmates have a "fundamental constitutional right of access to the courts." Lewis v.
24 Casey, 518 U.S. 343, 346 (1996) (quoting Bounds v. Smith, 430 U.S. 817 (1977)); Phillips v.
25 Hust, 477 F.3d 1070, 1075 (9th Cir. 2007), overruled on other grounds by Hust v. Phillips, 555 26 U.S. 1150 (2009). To have standing to bring this claim, Plaintiff must demonstrate that he 27 suffered an actual injury. Lewis, 518 U.S. at 351-52; Vandelft v. Moses, 31 F.3d 794, 798 (9th 28 Cir. 1994). This means Plaintiff must allege that he was prejudiced with respect to 1 contemplated or existing litigation, such as the inability to meet a filing deadline or present a 2 nonfrivolous claim. Lewis, 518 U.S. at 348-49. To succeed, Plaintiff must have been denied 3 the necessary tools to litigate a nonfrivolous criminal appeal, habeas petition, or civil rights 4 action. Lewis, 518 U.S. at 353-55 & n.3; Christopher v. Harbury, 536 U.S. 403, 415 (2002).

5 Here, Plaintiff does not sufficiently allege that he suffered an actual injury. Plaintiff 6 was able to file this lawsuit. And, to the extent this case proceeds and any defendant argues 7 that Plaintiff failed to exhaust available administrative remedies, Plaintiff will have an 8 opportunity to submit evidence and make arguments regarding the issue of exhaustion.

9 Finally, the Court notes that in his First Amended Complaint, Plaintiff alleges that the 10 Court did not address his First Amendment claim in its first screening order. However, 11 Plaintiff does not specify what First Amendment claim he is attempting to bring. Moreover, 12 the Court did address the claim Plaintiff appeared to be bringing. Plaintiff appeared to (and 13 still does) allege that grievance coordinators failed to process his appeal so that they could say 14 that Plaintiff failed to exhaust his administrative remedies. Thus, it appears that Plaintiff is 15 bringing an access to courts claim, and as discussed above and in the prior screening order 16 (ECF No. 12, pgs. 14-15), the grievance coordinators have not unconstitutionally interfered 17 with Plaintiff's access to courts. To the extent Plaintiff is attempting to bring a First 18 Amendment retaliation claim,⁷ there are no allegations suggesting that anyone took an adverse 19 action against Plaintiff because he engaged in protected conduct.

20 Accordingly, Plaintiff fails to state any claim based on his allegations that his grievance 21 was not properly processed.

22 F. State Law Claims

23 1. California Government Code § 815.4

24 "A public entity is liable for injury proximately caused by a tortious act or omission of 25

27 ⁷ There are five basic elements to a First Amendment retaliation claim: "(1) An assertion that a state actor 28 took some adverse action against an inmate (2) because of (3) that prisoner's protected conduct, and that such action (4) chilled the inmate's exercise of his First Amendment rights, and (5) the action did not reasonably advance a legitimate correctional goal." Rhodes v. Robinson, 408 F.3d 559, 567-68 (9th Cir. 2005) (footnote omitted).

1 an independent contractor of the public entity to the same extent that the public entity would be 2 subject to such liability if it were a private person. Nothing in this section subjects a public 3 entity to liability for the act or omission of an independent contractor if the public entity would 4 not have been liable for the injury had the act or omission been that of an employee of the 5 public entity.” Cal. Gov’t Code § 815.4.

6 Plaintiff does not bring a claim against a public entity. Instead, Plaintiff brings this 7 claim against two contractors, as well as their supervisor. However, Plaintiff alleges that the 8 contractors are employees, and that they walked past the abnormal arch on a daily basis. (ECF 9 No. 13, p. 8). Thus, based on Plaintiff’s allegations, the contractors and their supervisor are 10 state employees and not independent contractors subject to this section. Finally, even if they 11 are independent contractors and not employees, there are no allegations suggesting that they 12 were responsible for the abnormal arch, or that they were hired to fix the problem yet failed to 13 do so.

14 Accordingly, Plaintiff fails to state a claim under California Government Code § 815.4.

15 2. California Government Code § 845.6

16 California Government Code § 845.6 provides:

17 “Neither a public entity nor a public employee is liable for injury proximately 18 caused by the failure of the employee to furnish or obtain medical care for a 19 prisoner in his custody; but, except as otherwise provided by Sections 855.8 and 20 856, a public employee, and the public entity where the employee is acting 21 within the scope of his employment, is liable if the employee knows or has 22 reason to know that the prisoner is in need of immediate medical care and he 23 fails to take reasonable action to summon such medical care. Nothing in this 24 section exonerates a public employee who is lawfully engaged in the practice of one of the healing arts under any law of this state from liability for injury proximately caused by malpractice or exonerates the public entity from its obligation to pay any judgment, compromise, or settlement that it is required to pay under subdivision (d) of Section 844.6.”

25 “In order to state a claim under § 845.6, a prisoner must establish three elements: (1) the 26 public employee knew or had reason to know of the need (2) for immediate medical care, and 27 (3) failed to reasonably summon such care.” Jett, 439 F.3d at 1099. “Liability under section 28 845.6 is limited to serious and obvious medical conditions requiring immediate care.” Id.

1 (quoting Watson v. State, 21 Cal.App.4th 836, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 262, 265 (Ct. App. 1993)).
2 “[T]he term ‘immediate medical care’ as used in the statute includes both diagnosis and 3 treatment.” Id.

4 As discussed above, liberally construing the allegations in Plaintiff’s complaint, the 5 Court finds that Plaintiff sufficiently alleges that defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, 6 Oehlert, and Niztescu were aware that Plaintiff had a serious medical need, yet failed to 7 summon medical care. However, Plaintiff fails to sufficiently allege that any other defendant 8 failed to summon medical care that they knew or had reason to know that he needed.⁸

9 Accordingly, the Court finds that Plaintiff’s California Government Code § 845.6 claim 10 should proceed against only defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, and 11 Niztescu.

12 3. California Government Code § 844.6

13 This section appears to provide immunity to public entities in certain situations. See, 14 e.g., Towery v. State of California, 14 Cal.App.5th 226, as modified (Aug. 14, 2017); Lawson 15 v. Superior Court, 180 Cal.App.4th 1372, 1388 (2010). There is no indication in this section 16 that it creates a cause of action. Thus, Plaintiff fails to state a claim under this section.

17 4. Negligent and Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress

18 “The elements of intentional infliction of emotional distress are: (1) extreme and 19 outrageous conduct by the defendants with the intention of causing, or reckless disregard of the 20 probability of causing, emotional distress; (2) the plaintiff’s suffering severe or extreme 21 emotional distress; and (3) actual and proximate causation of the emotional distress by the 22 defendant’s outrageous conduct.” Sanders v. City of Fresno, 551 F.Supp.2d 1149, 1179-80 23 (E.D. Cal. 2008) (citing Potter v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., 6 Cal.4th 965, 1001 (1993) & 24

25 ⁸ “Once a practitioner has been summoned to examine and treat a prisoner, he or she is under a duty to 26 exercise that degree of diligence, care, and skill such as is ordinarily possessed by other members of the 27 profession. Failure to do so is malpractice. (Burns v. American Casualty Co., 127 Cal.App.2d 198, 203, 127 28 Cal.Rptr. 198.) Failure of a practitioner to prescribe or provide necessary medication or treatment to one he or she has been summoned to assist is a breach of such duty and as such is also medical malpractice and clearly, as a matter of the plain meaning of the statutory language, cannot be characterized as a failure to summon medical care.” Nelson v. State of California, 139 Cal.App.3d 72, 81 (Ct. App. 1982).

1 Delfino v. Agilent Technologies, Inc., 145 Cal.App.4th 790, 808 (2006)). Extreme and 2 outrageous conduct is that which is “so extreme as to exceed all bounds of that usually tolerated 3 in a civilized community,” Davidson v. City of Westminster, 32 Cal.3d 197, 209 (1982), and 4 “of a nature which is especially calculated to cause, and does cause, mental distress of a very 5 serious kind.” Christensen v. Superior Ct., 54 Cal.3d 868, 905 (1991) (emphasis in original) 6 (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). “The defendant must have engaged in conduct 7 intended to inflict injury or engaged in with the realization that injury will result.” Id. at 903.
8 (citation and internal quotation mark omitted). “Liability for intentional infliction of emotional 9 distress does not extend to mere insults, indignities, threats, annoyances, petty oppressions, or 10 other trivialities.” Hughes v. Pair, 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1051 (2009) (citations and internal 11 quotation marks omitted).

12 “Negligent infliction of emotional distress is not an independent tort in California, but is 13 regarded simply as the tort of negligence.” Klein v. Children’s Hosp. Med. Ctr., 46 14 Cal.App.4th 889, 894 (1996). “The elements of a negligence cause of action are: (1) a legal 15 duty to use due care; (2) a breach of that duty; (3) the breach was the proximate or legal cause 16 of the resulting injury; and (4) actual loss or damage resulting from the breach of the duty of 17 care.” Brown v. Ransweiler, 171 Cal.App.4th 516, 534 (2009) (citing Ladd v. County of San 18 Mateo, 12 Cal.4th 913, 917 (1996)). “[T]o recover damages for emotional distress on a claim 19 of negligence where there is no accompanying personal, physical injury, the plaintiff must 20 show that the emotional distress was ‘serious.’” Wong v. Jing, 189 Cal. App.4th 1354, 1377 21 (2010) (citing Molien v. Kaiser Foundation Hospitals, 27 Cal.3d 916, 927-30 (1980)).

22 “Severe emotional distress means emotional distress of such substantial quality or 23 enduring quality that no reasonable [person] in civilized society should be expected to endure 24 it.” Potter, 6 Cal.4th at 1004 (alteration in original) (citations and internal quotation marks 25 omitted).⁹

26 In claim three, Plaintiff brings a claim based on “mental and emotional injury” under 27

28 ⁹ There is “no material distinction” between “serious emotional distress” and “severe emotional distress.”
Wong, 189 Cal. App.4th at 1378.

1 state law. Plaintiff alleges that he is a mental health patient, and that he quit taking a 2 medication that he took to help him from having nightmares. He also alleges that he had a 3 detailed session with a psychologist, that he was laughed at, that he was told to “quit faking,” 4 and that “they” became angry with Plaintiff for seeking help. However, there are no allegations 5 suggesting that Plaintiff suffered “emotional distress of such substantial quality or enduring 6 quality that no reasonable [person] in civilized society should be expected to endure it.” Potter, 7 6 Cal.4th at 1004 (alteration in original) (citations and internal quotation marks omitted).
8 Accordingly, whether Plaintiff is bringing a claim for intentional infliction of emotional 9 distress or negligent infliction of emotional distress, his claim fails because he fails to allege 10 severe emotional distress.

11 5. Negligence

12 “The elements of any negligence cause of action are duty, breach of duty, proximate 13 cause, and damages.” Peredia v. HR Mobile Servs., Inc., 25 Cal. App. 5th 680, 687 (2018) 14 (citing Artiglio v. Corning Inc., 18 Cal. 4th 604, 614 (1998)).

15 In Claim four, Plaintiff appears to bring a negligence claim against defendants Shirley 16 (the Warden), White (it is not clear, but Plaintiff appears to allege that White is an Assistant 17 Warden), Cronjager (it is not clear, but Plaintiff appears to allege that Cronjager is an assistant 18 Warden), Thomas (a sergeant), Gutierrez (a contractor), Doe 1 (a contractor supervisor), and 19 Doe 2 (a contractor). Plaintiff alleges that it is the responsibility of these defendants to provide 20 services such as construction/maintenance. Plaintiff also alleges that these defendants walked 21 past the affected area on a daily basis, but they did not fix it until after someone was injured.
22 Finally, Plaintiff alleges that their failure to fix the arch led to Plaintiff falling hard and getting 23 injured.

24 Liberally construing Plaintiff’s complaint, Plaintiff sufficiently alleges that these 25 defendants knew about the allegedly unsafe pavement, had a duty to fix (or contract with 26 someone to fix) the affected area, failed to fix the affected area, and that Plaintiff was injured as 27 a result. Accordingly, the Court finds that Plaintiff’s negligence claim against defendants 28 Shirley, White, Cronjager, Thomas, Gutierrez, Doe 1, and Doe 2 should proceed past screening.

1 6. Medical Negligence

2 To state a claim for medical negligence or malpractice under California law, Plaintiff 3 must establish “(1) the duty of the professional to use such skill, prudence, and diligence as 4 other members of his profession commonly possess and exercise; (2) a breach of that duty; (3) 5 a proximate causal connection between the negligent conduct and the resulting injury; and (4) 6 actual loss or damage resulting from the professional’s negligence.” Sampson v. Ukiah Valley 7 Med. Ctr., No. 15-CV-00160-WHO, 2017 WL 2834001, at *3 (N.D. Cal., June 30, 2017) 8 (quoting Machado v. Cal. Dep’t of Corrs. and Rehab., 12-cv-6501-JSC, 2013 WL 5800380, at 9 *5 (N.D. Cal., Oct. 28, 2013)).

10 As discussed above, Plaintiff sufficiently alleges a claim for deliberate indifference to 11 his serious medical needs against defendants Jane Doe (a TTA) and Rizk based on allegations 12 that these defendants failed to properly treat him. For the same reasons, the Court finds that 13 Plaintiff’s medical negligence claim against defendants Jane Doe (a TTA) and Rizk should 14 proceed past screening as well.

15 However, as to defendant Mells, Plaintiff’s only allegation is that Dr. Rizk’s failure to 16 provide pain medication is also attributed to defendant Mells. There are no allegations 17 suggesting that defendant Mells owed a duty to Plaintiff, or that defendant Mells breached that 18 duty. There are also no allegations suggesting that defendant Mells was defendant Rizk’s 19 supervisor.

20 Accordingly, the Court will recommend that Plaintiff’s medical negligence claim 21 proceed only against defendants Jane Doe (a TTA) and Rizk.

22 IV. CONCLUSION, RECOMMENDATIONS, AND ORDER

23 The Court has screened the First Amended Complaint and finds that the following 24 claims should proceed past screening: Plaintiff’s Eighth Amendment claims against defendants 25 Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, Niztescu, Jane Doe (a TTA), and Rizk for deliberate 26 indifference to his serious medical needs; Plaintiff’s California Government Code § 845.6
27 claim against defendants Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, and Niztescu; Plaintiff’s 28 negligence claim against defendants Shirley, White, Cronjager, Thomas, Gutierrez, Doe 1 (a

1 contractor supervisor), and Doe 2 (a contractor); and Plaintiff's medical negligence claim 2 against defendants Jane Doe (a TTA) and Rizk. The Court also finds that all other claims 3 should be dismissed.

4 The Court will not recommend that further leave to amend be granted. In the Court's 5 prior screening order, the Court identified the deficiencies in Plaintiff's complaint, provided 6 Plaintiff with relevant legal standards, and provided Plaintiff with an opportunity to amend his 7 complaint. Plaintiff filed his First Amended Complaint with the benefit of the Court's 8 screening order. While Plaintiff cured one of the deficiencies identified by the Court, it appears 9 that further leave to amend would be futile.

10 Accordingly, based on the foregoing, the Court HEREBY RECOMMENDS that:

- 11 1. This case proceed on Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment claims against defendants 12 Garza, Carolina, Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, Niztescu, Jane Doe (a TTA), and 13 Rizk for deliberate indifference to his serious medical needs; Plaintiff's 14 California Government Code § 845.6 claim against defendants Garza, Carolina, 15 Espitia, Aguilar, Oehlert, and Niztescu; Plaintiff's negligence claim against 16 defendants Shirley, White, Cronjager, Thomas, Gutierrez, Doe 1 (a contractor 17 supervisor), and Doe 2 (a contractor); and Plaintiff's medical negligence claim 18 against defendants Jane Doe (a TTA) and Rizk; and
- 19 2. All other claims be dismissed.

20 These findings and recommendations will be submitted to the United States district 21 judge assigned to the case, pursuant to the provisions of Title 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). Within 22 twenty-one (21) days after being served with these findings and recommendations, Plaintiff 23 may file written objections with the Court. The document should be captioned "Objections to 24 Magistrate Judge's Findings and Recommendations." Plaintiff is advised that failure to file 25 objections within the specified time may result in the waiver of rights on appeal. Wilkerson v.
26 Wheeler, 772 F.3d 834, 838-39 (9th Cir. 2014) (citing Baxter v. Sullivan, 923 F.2d 1391, 1394 27 (9th Cir. 1991)).
