16	Defendant. )
17	Defendant American General Finance ("AGF") moves for summary
18	judgment on all of Plaintiff's claims. Plaintiff alleges a federal
19	claim under the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act ("FDCPA") which
20	confers federal question jurisdiction, and alleges numerous state
21	claims over which supplemental jurisdiction is exercised under 28
22	U.S.C. § 1367. For the reasons stated below, Defendant's motion will
23	be granted on the federal claim and the court declines to continue
24	exercising supplemental jurisdiction over Plaintiff's state claims.

DISCUSSION

Plaintiff alleges in her complaint that Defendant is exposed to liability under the FDCPA as a debt collector since Defendant "in the ordinary course of business, regularly, on behalf of [itself] or others, engages in debt collection." (Compl. ¶¶ 3, 15.) However, Defendant shows in its motion that it is a creditor and therefore not liable under the FDCPA as Plaintiff alleges. (Def's Mot. 2:6-8.)

8 To be held liable under the FDCPA, a defendant must fall 9 within the FDCPA's definition of "debt collector." 15 U.S.C. § 1692k; 10 Heintz v. Jenkins, 514 U.S. 291, 294 (1995) (stating that the FDCPA 11 "prohibits 'debt collector[s]' from making false or misleading 12 representations and from engaging in various abusive and unfair 13 practices." (citing 15 U.S.C. § 1692-16920)); see also, Romine v. Diversified Collection Servs., 155 F.3d 1142, 1146 (9th Cir. 14 15 1998) (discussing the definition of "debt collectors" under the FDCPA).Rowe v. Educ. Credit Mgmt. Corp., 559 F.3d 1028, 1031 (9th Cir. 16 2009) (stating that a "'creditor' is not a 'debt collector' under the 17 FDCPA" and thus not liable under this statute) (internal citations 18 19 omitted); Oei v. N. Star Capital Acquisitions, LLC, 486 F.Supp. 2d 1089, 1097 (C.D. Cal. 2006) (finding the "'distinction between 20 21 creditors and debt collectors is fundamental to the FDCPA, ' because 22 the Act 'does not regulate creditors' activities at all; " a debt 23 collector regularly collects debts on behalf of others, not its own debt) (citing Randolph v. IMBS, Inc., 368 F.3d 726, 729 (7th Cir. 24 The FDCPA was enacted to combat "abusive, deceptive, and 25 2004)). 26 unfair debt collection practices". 15 U.S.C. §1692(a)-(e).

27A debt collector is defined as "any person who uses any28instrumentality of interstate commerce or the mails in any business the principal purpose of which is the collection of any debts," or 1 2 alternatively, a person "who regularly collects or attempts to 3 collect, directly or indirectly, debts owed or due or asserted to be owed or due another." 15 U.S.C. § 1692a(6). The term "debt 4 5 collectors" specifically "does not include any officer or employee of a creditor while, in the name of the creditor, collecting debts for 6 7 such creditor." Id. § 1692a(6)(A) (emphasis added). A creditor is 8 "any person who offers or extends credit creating a debt or to whom a 9 debt is owed . . . " Id. § 1692a(4). One exception exists for 10 creditors, however, who may be held liable as "debt collectors" if 11 "in the process of collecting [their] own debts, [they] us[e] any name 12 other than [their] own which would indicate that a third person is collecting or attempting to collect such debts." Id. § 1692a(6). 13

Defendant provides a Declaration from Lisa Wagner (a 14 15 district manager for Defendant) in support of its position that it is not a debt collector, in which Wagner avers that "at all times AGF has 16 17 been, and is, the lender, secured party, and owner of the [loan between Plaintiff and Defendant]." (Def's Mot. 5: 15-17; Def's 18 19 Statement of Undisputed Facts ("SUF") ¶ 6; Wagner Decl. ¶ 8.) Defendant argues "AGF's principal business is not debt collection" and 20 21 supports this position with a portion of Wagner's declaration, in 22 which she declares: "during the course of my 32 years of my 23 employment, AGF has been a major issuer of consumer loans in the United States . . . AGF's principal business is not debt collection, 24 although when it becomes necessary, AGF does attempt to collect its 25 26 overdue debts." (Def's SUF ¶ 14; Wagner Decl. ¶ 5.)

27 Plaintiff does not dispute Defendant's position that it "has 28

 $1\parallel$  been, and is, the lender, secured party, owner and creditor" of the 2 loan between Plaintiff and Defendant. (Pl.'s SUF ¶ 6.) Plaintiff 3 counters, however, that "AGF in its regular course of business, sends 4 employees out on field calls to visit client's houses and collect 5 debts owed," and therefore falls under the definition of "debt 6 collector" as prescribed in the FDCPA, even if Defendant is also a 7 "creditor." (Pl.'s SDF ¶ 20.) Plaintiff relies on Wagner's following 8 deposition testimony as support for this position: 9 Q Okay, that was probably a bad question. Beside the phone number - besides the phone calls, besides the additional 10 letter that are being sent out, are there any other means in which the -- American General takes to try to bring the 11 account current? A Yes, there are. 12 Q Okay. And what are those? A Actual visits to the home. 13 Q Okay. And is there a standard policy as to the frequency of those visits? 14 A No, there's not. Q Is there any guidance as to how those, the frequency of 15 those visits would be determined? A No. Q Who makes the decision generally on if and when a visit to 16 the home should take place? 17 A The branch manager. Q. It's up to him or her, the branch manager, to send 18 someone out or not? A In most cases. 19 Q. Okay. And the visits to the home, I know you guys probably do a lot of auto loans, are those visits handled 20 in-house, meaning is an employee from American General sent out there, or is that sent to a third party? 21 A. An employee from American General does the field call to the home. 22  $[\ldots]$ Q. Okay. And the purpose of the field call is what? 23 A. To make contact with the customer to work out payment solutions. 24 Q In person? A Yes. 25 (Wagner Depo. on March 26, 2008 27:17 - 29:3.) This 26 deposition testimony, however, fails to support Plaintiff's position 27 that Defendant is a "debt collector," because by definition, "debt 28

 $1\parallel$  collectors" collect the debt of others, not their own debts.

2 Under the FDCPA, the only instance in which a creditor may be liable as a "debt collector" is when a creditor uses names 3 other than its own, such as third-party names, to collect its own 4 5 debts. 15 U.S.C. § 1692a(6). Plaintiff concedes that "because no 6 evidence has surfaced that would support Plaintiff's original belief 7 that Defendant AGF was representing itself as Defendant NIS, [a 8 Defendant no longer party to this suit,] Plaintiff cannot, in good 9 faith, put forth a legal argument any longer that AGF was falsely 10 purporting to be a third party debt collector, that is, NIS, and 11 withdraws any such argument." (Pl.'s Opp'n at 12: 19-23.)

Since Plaintiff has not controverted Defendant's showing that it not exposed to liability under the FDCPA, Defendant's summary judgment motion on this claim is granted.

15 When the basis for federal question jurisdiction no longer exists, the Court has discretion to decide whether supplemental 16 jurisdiction should continue being exercised over pending state 17 18 claims. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1367(c)(3), the district court "may 19 decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over a claim" if the 20 "court has dismissed all claims over which it has original 21 jurisdiction . . . " The exercise of this dismissal discretion is 22 based on considerations of judicial "economy, convenience, fairness, 23 and comity." Harrell v. 20th Century Ins. Co., 934 F.2d 203, 205 (9th 24 Cir. 1991). The Court finds that litigation of Plaintiff's state law claims is not adverse to the interest of judicial economy since those 25 26 claims have not yet been analyzed in this case. Further the comity 27 factor weighs decisively in favor of dismissal since "[n]eedless 28 decisions of state law should be avoided as a matter of comity."

3	F.2d 504, 509 (9th Cir. 1989)(stating when federal claims are
4	eliminated before trial, district courts should ordinarily decline to
5	exercise supplemental jurisdiction). Therefore, Plaintiff's state law
6	claims are dismissed without prejudice.
