Plaintiffs re-filed an application for a temporary restraining order ("TRO") on April 5, 2010, which was previously filed on April 2, 2010 and denied since it failed to comply with the notice requirements in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(b)(1) and Local Rule 231(a). Plaintiffs' second TRO application is identical to their initial application, except that Plaintiffs' represent they have complied with the above referenced notice requirements. Following receipt of Plaintiffs' second TRO application, the Court scheduled a hearing on Plaintiffs' application for a TRO and provided Defendants with an opportunity to file an opposition before the scheduled hearing. Plaintiffs' TRO application was heard on April 7, 2010, commencing at 1:30 p.m.; Defendants did not appear at the hearing and did not file an opposition to Plaintiffs' TRO application. Plaintiffs seek to enjoin the imminent sale of their home at a trustee's sale,

1 currently scheduled to occur on April 9, 2010. For the reasons stated
2 below, Plaintiffs' TRO application is GRANTED IN PART.

3 I. LEGAL STANDARD

4 "Requests for temporary restraining orders are governed by 5 the same general standards that govern the issuance of a preliminary 6 injunction." Bouyer v. IndyMac Fed. Bank, No. C-08-05582 EDL, 2009 WL
7 1765668, at *1 (N.D. Cal. June 18, 2009). Therefore, a plaintiff 8 seeking a TRO must "establish that he is likely to succeed on the 9 merits, that he is likely to suffer irreparable harm in the absence of 10 preliminary relief, that the balance of equities tips in his favor, 11 and that a[] [TRO] is in the public interest." Am. Trucking Ass'n, 12 Inc. v. City of Los Angeles, 559 F.3d 1046, 1052 (9th Cir. 2009)
13 (quoting Winter v. Natural Res. Def. Council, Inc., 129 S. Ct. 365, 14 374 (2008)).

15 II. BACKGROUND

16 Plaintiffs' complaint and TRO application do not contain 17 factual allegations that provide a clear picture of the events giving 18 rise to Plaintiffs' claims.¹ The below stated background reflects 19 what the court deciphers from Plaintiffs' filings.

20 Plaintiffs purchased the real property located at 9274
21 Marlemont Circle in Elk Grove, California using funds acquired through 22 a loan from Defendants." (Compl. 3:25-28.)² Plaintiffs allege "when 23

24 ¹ Plaintiffs' complaint and TRO application are also replete 25 with grammatical errors that cause confusion, including numerous 26 references to Plaintiffs as Plaintiff as well as alternatively referring to Plaintiffs as "she" and "he," sometimes in the same sentence.

27 ² Plaintiffs' complaint does not identify the specific property 28 that was purchased with the proceeds from their loan; however, it is inferred from their TRO application that the property at issue is

1 the loan was consummated," Defendants violated the federal Truth In 2 Lending Act ("TILA") by failing to provide "the Truth in Lending 3 Disclosure Statement . . . and the required number of copies of the 4 Notice of Right to Cancel." (Id. 5:14-20.)

5 Plaintiffs further allege that "[o]n or about December 26, 6 2009, Defendants served a Notice of Default on Plaintiffs." (Id.
7 5:19-20.) Plaintiffs also allege that a Notice of Trustee's Sale was 8 sent to Plaintiffs on March 22, 2010 which states that defendant
9 Regional Trustee Services Corporation intends to sell Plaintiffs' 10 property at a trustee's sale scheduled to occur on April 9, 2010, at 11 9:30 a.m. (Id. 5:19-24; TRO Application Ex. B.) Plaintiffs allege 12 under a claim labeled "Breach of Statutory Duties," Defendants 13 violated provisions of the California Civil Code by "not giving proper 14 notice of the [April 9, 2010 trustee's] sale." (Compl. 11:7-9.)

15 III. DISCUSSION

16 A. Likelihood of Success on the Merits

17 Plaintiffs argue they are entitled to a TRO enjoining the 18 trustee's sale because they have a right to rescind their loan under 19 TILA and Defendants have provided them with "defective notices" of the 20 trustee's sale, in violation of various provisions of the California 21 Civil Code.

25 ²(...continued)
26 located at 9274 Marlemont Circle in Elk Grove, California. Plaintiffs 27 also do not allege when they entered into the loan. From the Notice of 28 Default and Notice of Trustee's Sale that are attached to Plaintiffs' TRO application, it appears that Plaintiffs executed the deed of trust securing their loan on January 17, 2007. (TRO Application, Exs. A, B.)
At the hearing, Plaintiffs' counsel confirmed that Plaintiffs' loan was consummated in January 2007.

1 1. Right to Rescind Under TILA

2 Plaintiffs argue they did not receive either the 3 “preliminary disclosures” or two accurately dated notices of the right 4 to cancel in violation of TILA’s requirements, and as a result, they 5 have “the right to rescind [their] loan.” (TRO Application 4:22-5:9.)

6 Plaintiffs’ complaint, however, does not seek to rescind 7 their loan; rather, Plaintiffs only allege that they are entitled to 8 “damages” as a result of Defendants’ alleged violations of TILA.
9 Further, since Plaintiffs allege they “purchased [their] property
10 . . . using funds acquired through a loan from Defendants,” TILA’s 11 rescission remedy is not applicable to their loan transaction.³ 12 (Compl. 3:25-28); see also 15 U.S.C. § 1635(e)(1) (providing that the 13 right of rescission does not apply to residential mortgage 14 transactions); 15 U.S.C. § 1602(w) (defining “residential mortgage 15 transaction” as one in which a “security interest is created or 16 retained against the consumer’s dwelling to finance the acquisition 17 . . . of such dwelling.”); Saldate v. Wilshire Credit Corp., --- 18 F.R.D. ----, No. CV F 09-2089 LJO SMS, 2010 WL 582069, at *5 (E.D.
19 Cal. Feb. 12, 2010) (stating “[t]here is no statutory right of 20 rescission where the loan at issue involves the creation of a first 21 lien to finance the acquisition of a dwelling in which the customer 22 resides”). Lastly, at the hearing, Plaintiffs’ counsel stated that 23 Plaintiffs consummated their loan transaction in January 2007. This 24 concession indicates that any TILA rescission claim would be barred by 25 the three-year limitations period in 15 U.S.C. 1635(f). See Miguel v.
26

27 ³ At the hearing, Plaintiffs’ counsel confirmed that the 28 proceeds of the loan at issue were used to purchase Plaintiffs’ property.

1 Country Funding Corp., 309 F.3d 1161, 1164 (9th Cir. 2002) (stating 2 that “§ 1635(f) is a statute of repose, depriving the courts of 3 subject matter jurisdiction when a § 1635 claim is brought outside of 4 the three-year limitation period.”). Therefore, Plaintiffs have no
5 likelihood of succeeding on a TILA rescission claim.

6 2. “Defective Notices” Claim

7 Plaintiffs also argue the “sale is invalid” because 8 Defendants have failed to comply with certain sections of the 9 California Civil Code which regulate non-judicial foreclosures.
10 First, Plaintiffs argue the Notice of Trustee’s Sale was provided 11 prematurely in violation of California Civil Code section 2924(a)(2); 12 and second, Defendants violated California Civil Code sections 2924(a) 13 and 2924f by failing to sign the Notice of Trustee’s Sale, and posting 14 it on their home only eighteen days before the trustee’s sale is 15 scheduled to occur.

16 “[T]he power of sale exercised by the trustee on behalf of 17 the lender/creditor in nonjudicial foreclosures is a right authorized 18 solely by the contract between the lender and trustor as embodied in 19 the deed of trust.” Garfinkle v. Superior Court, 21 Cal. 3d 268, 277 20 (1978) (citations omitted). However, the California legislature has 21 established “certain minimum standards for conducting nonjudicial 22 foreclosures” Id. at 278. California Civil Code sections 23 2924 through 2924k “provide a comprehensive [statutory] framework for 24 the regulation of a nonjudicial foreclosure pursuant to a power of 25 sale contained in a deed of trust.” Moeller v. Lien, 25 Cal. App. 4th 26 822, 830 (1994). The Moeller court described the statutory scheme as 27 follows:
28

1 Upon default by the trustor, the beneficiary may 2 declare a default and proceed with a nonjudicial 3 foreclosure sale. The foreclosure process is 4 commenced by the recording of a notice of default 5 and election to sell by the trustee. After the 6 notice of default is recorded, the trustee must 7 wait three calendar months before proceeding with the sale. After the 3-month period has elapsed, a notice of sale must be published, posted and mailed 20 days before the sale and recorded 14 days before the sale. The trustee may postpone the sale at any time before the sale is completed. If the sale is postponed, the requisite notices must be given.

8 Id. (citations omitted).

9 Plaintiffs argue the Notice of Trustee's Sale is defective
10 because it was provided prematurely. Specifically, Plaintiffs argue 11 that since the Notice of Default was not served on Plaintiffs until 12 December 26, 2009, Defendants could not post or otherwise provide the 13 Notice of Trustee's Sale until March 26, 2009. (TRO Application 6:3-14 7.)

15 California Civil Code section 2924(a)(2), however, only 16 requires that the trustee wait three months from the "filing" of the 17 notice of default before proceeding with the foreclosure and providing 18 the notice of sale. The three month period commences when the notice 19 of default is recorded not when it is served on the trustor. See 20 Knapp v. Doherty, 123 Cal. App. 4th 76, 91 (2004) (stating "after the 21 notice of default is recorded, the trustee must wait three calendar 22 months before proceeding with the sale" (quotations and citations 23 omitted)).

24 Plaintiffs attached to their TRO application the Notice of 25 Default, which is dated December 17, 2009 and was recorded on December 26 18, 2009. (TRO Application Ex. A.) Under California Civil Code
27 section 2924(a)(2), Defendants were required to wait three months - 28 until March 18, 2010 - before proceeding. Plaintiff Victoria

1 Villarreal declares that the Notice of Trustee's Sale, while dated 2 March 19, 2010, was not posted on her property until March 22, 2010.
3 (Villarreal Decl. ¶ 10.) Since this declaration establishes that 4 Defendants waited three months from the recording of the Notice of 5 Default before proceeding, Plaintiffs have not demonstrated that the 6 Notice of Trustee's Sale was provided prematurely in violation of 7 California Civil Code section 2924(a)(2).

8 Plaintiffs also argue that the Notice of Trustee's Sale is 9 defective because it is not signed. Plaintiffs, however, have pointed 10 to no provision of the California Civil Code that requires that the 11 notice of sale be signed. Neither California Civil Code section 2924f 12 nor California Government Code section 6043, which govern the contents 13 of the notice of sale, contain a signature requirement. Therefore, 14 Plaintiffs have not shown that the lack of a signature on the Notice 15 of Trustee's Sale renders it defective. See Banc of Am. Leasing &
16 Capital, LLC v. 3 Arch Trustee Servs., Inc., 180 Cal. App. 4th 1090, 17 1097 (2009) (stating that "[i]t is well settled [that] the trustee's 18 duties regarding the notice of default and sale are strictly defined 19 and limited to what is described in the statutory scheme." (citations 20 omitted)).

21 Lastly, Plaintiffs argue the Notice of Trustee's Sale is 22 defective because it was not posted on their property until March 22, 23 2010, only eighteen days before the trustee's sale scheduled for April 24 9, 2010. California Civil Code section 2924(a) prescribes that the 25 trustee does not have authority to exercise the "power of sale" under 26 a deed of trust until certain requirements are satisfied. Cal. Civ.
27 Code § 2924(a) (stating that "the power [of sale] shall not be 28 exercised . . . [by the trustee] until all of the following apply

1"). One such requirement that must be satisfied before the 2 trustee acquires the authority to sell, is that "after the lapse of 3 the three month[] [period prescribed in section 2924(a) (2),] . . .
4 [the] trustee . . . shall give notice of sale, stating the time and 5 place thereof, in the manner and for a time not less than that set 6 forth in Section 2924f." Cal. Civ. Code § 2924(a) (3). California 7 Civil Code section 2924f(b) (1) requires that "[a] copy of the notice 8 of sale . . . be posted in a conspicuous place on the property to be 9 sold at least 20 days before the date of sale If the property 10 is a single-family residence the posting shall be on a door of the 11 residence"

12 Plaintiff Victoria Villarreal declares a Notice of Trustee's 13 Sale "dated March 19, 2010, was not posted on [her] door until March 14 22, 2010." (Villarreal Decl. ¶ 10.) According to this averment, the 15 Notice of Trustee's Sale was posted on Plaintiffs' property only 16 eighteen days before the sale and, therefore, the trustee lacks 17 statutory authority to sell Plaintiffs' property at the sale currently 18 scheduled to occur on April 9, 2010. Plaintiffs, therefore, have 19 sufficiently shown they are likely to succeed on their claim that on 20 April 9, 2010, the trustee will lack statutory authority under 21 California law to sell their property.

22 While Plaintiffs appear to request that the trustee's sale 23 be enjoined, at a minimum, for the pendency of this lawsuit, they have 24 alleged no defect in the foreclosure process that would entitle them
25 to such relief. Plaintiffs have only demonstrated the trustee lacks 26 the authority to proceed with the sale currently scheduled for April 27 9, 2010. See Gonzalez v. Wells Fargo Bank, No. C 09-02444 MHP, 2009
28 WL 3572118, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 30, 2009) (stating that "[f]ailure

1 to comply with [the notice requirements in California Civil Code 2 section 2924(a)] would require [a] court to set aside the non-3 conforming portion of the foreclosure proceedings and force defendants
4 to provide [plaintiffs] with proper notice."); see also Miller & Starr
5 California Real Estate 3D, MILCALRE § 10:199 (stating "if the notices 6 are given for a date of sale within the 20-day period, it is not 7 necessary to start the proceedings over again . . . [T]he sale can be 8 postponed to a date that is beyond the required 20-day period.").

9 B. Irreparable Harm

10 Plaintiffs argue they will suffer irreparable harm absent 11 the issuance of a TRO since "VILLARREAL will lose her home," "[s]he 12 will have nowhere to else to live" and "she may be forced to live on 13 the street or live in her car with her family and children." (TRO 14 Application 6:17-21.) "Clearly, loss of a home is a serious injury." 15 Alcaraz v. Wachovia Mortgage FSB, 592 F. Supp. 2d 1296, 1301 (E.D.
16 Cal. 2009). "However, whether a particular foreclosure constitutes 17 irreparable harm turns in part on the reasons for foreclosure."
18 Mandriques v. World Sav., Inc., No. C 07-4497 JF (RS), 2009 WL 160213, 19 at *3 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 20, 2009) (citing Parker v. United States Dep't 20 of Agric., 879 F.2d 1362, 1367-68 (6th Cir. 1989)).

21 Here, Plaintiffs have not explained the circumstances that 22 led to their present predicament. They do not state the amount of 23 money borrowed, when they defaulted on their obligations or what 24 circumstances led to their default. Although they have shown 25 entitlement to enjoin the sale scheduled for April 9, 2010, they have 26 not otherwise supported their position that the loss of their home 27 constitutes irreparable home.

28 //

1 C. The Balance of Equities and the Public Interest

2 It is evident that the balance of equities and the public
3 interest favor the issuance of a TRO that upholds the procedural 4 requirements applicable to non-judicial foreclosures. However, these 5 factors have been shown to tip in Plaintiffs' favor only to the extent 6 that the trustee seeks to sell Plaintiffs' property without authority 7 under California Civil Code section 2924(a) due to the failure to 8 comply with California Civil Code section 2924f(b)(1).

9 IV. CONCLUSION

10 For the stated reasons, Plaintiffs' TRO application seeking 11 to enjoin the sale of their home at the trustee's sale currently 12 scheduled to occur on April 9, 2010 is GRANTED IN PART. However, 13 Defendants are only enjoined from conducting the sale until the 14 expiration of the twenty day period imposed by California Civil Code 15 sections 2924(a)(3) and 2924f(b)(1); after this date, the TRO shall 16 dissolve.
