National counsel for Defendant, Nancy B. Pridgen, has had a serious health issue¹ arise and as a result needs a short (two-day) extension to prepare and file Defendant's responsive brief. Defense Counsel contacted Plaintiff's counsel, Peter Sessions, and proposed that the parties ask the Court to extend deadline for both parties' response briefs by two (2) business days, to October 1, 2013, so as to not disadvantage either party. Plaintiff's counsel agreed with this proposal.

This stipulation does not impact the Bench Trial which remains set for October 11, 2013.

ORDER

Based on the Stipulation of the parties, due date for the filing of responsive trial briefs is changed. All responsive trial briefs shall now be filed on or before October 1, 2013.

IT IS SO ORDERED:

Dated: September 25, 2013

Troy L. Nunley
United States District Judge

¹ Defense counsel can and will explain the nature of her serious health issue to the Court's staff by telephone, if necessary, but is not comfortable putting specific details in a publicly-accessible document.
