Defendants Howard, Johnson, McCauley, Foote, Lundigran, Thur, 18 Erdman, Allen, Ross, Oakley, and Williams (hereinafter "Defendants") 19 each move to compel the joinder of the California Secretary of State 20 ("Secretary") and California Attorney General ("Attorney General") as 21 defendants. Each movant argues these state officers are required parties 22 under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure ("Rule") 19. Plaintiff opposes 23 each motion, arguing compulsory joinder is inappropriate because "the 24 state non-party defendants refuse to join the action, have not requested 25 joinder, and . . . the present parties can adequately represent the 26 interest of the state . . . " (E.g., Pl.'s Opp'n to Def. Williams' Mot. 27 28 for Compulsory Joinder, Raymond v. Williams, No. 2:12-cv-02259, at 1 2 1:25-28, ECF No. 16.)

3	I. BACKGROUND
4	Plaintiff seeks, in each related case, declaratory and
5	injunctive relief against various county clerk-registrars to prevent
6	them from enforcing certain California election laws that preclude non-
7	residents from circulating state initiative petitions. An order issued
8	in each case, certifying under 28 U.S.C. § 2403(b) that Plaintiff is
9	challenging the constitutionality of state statutes. The Attorney

10 General was served a copy of the certifications, and the hearing on each 11 Defendant's joinder motion was continued since it was unclear whether the Attorney General would elect to intervene. The Attorney General did 12 13 not intervene within the time period anticipated in that order.

II. LEGAL STANDARD

III. DISCUSSION

Defendants seek compulsory joinder of the Secretary and 7 Attorney General in these related cases on, in essence, three grounds.

8 First, Defendants argue: "Given the Secretary of State and 9 Attorney General's obligations with regard to the interpretation and 10 enforcement of the Election Code, the court cannot accord complete 11 relief to Plaintiff . . . on his claims without including these state officers as defendants." (Id. at 5:20-22.) Defendants contend: "It is 12 the [Secretary's] duty to see . . . that election laws are enforced," 13 and "[t]he Attorney [G]eneral is the chief law enforcement officer of 14 15 the [S]tate and has the duty 'to see that the laws of the State are uniformly and adequately enforced.'" (E.g., Def. Howard's Mot. for 16 17 Compulsory Joinder, Raymond v. Howard, No. 2:12-cv-02215, ("Mot.") 18 5:11-12, 5:15-17, ECF No. 16 (quoting Cal. Const. art. V, § 13) (citing 19 Cal. Gov't Code § 12172.5).) Plaintiff counters that his "case[s] seek[] 20 relief against the county [clerk registrars]; [they] do[] not seek 21 relief against anyone else" or "all possible relief against all possible 22 government actors, nor is that necessary to obtain the relief sought." 23 (Pl.'s Opp'n to Def. Howard's Mot., Raymond v. Howard, No. 2:12-cv-02215, ("Opp'n") 9:2-13, ECF No. 18.) 24

25 Second, Defendants assert the Secretary and Attorney General's 26 interests in the conduct of state elections and the enforcement of the 27 state elections code will, in their absence, be impaired. Specifically, 28 Defendants contend: "The absence of the Secretary of State in th[ese] matter[s] would impair or impede the Secretary's ability to protect 1 2 enforcement of the Elections Code should Plaintiff reach stipulated 3 settlements in th[ese] matter[s], or choose not to enforce the Elections Code, " and "[t]he California Attorney General likewise has weighty 4 interests at stake, and is no less necessary for its resolution." (Mot. 5 6 7:6-9.) Plaintiff counters that the fact that "[n]either non-party 7 government [official] expressed any interest in joining th[ese] case[s], 8 [is] itself sufficient for denial of the motions for compulsory 9 joinder." (Opp'n 4:25-27.)

10 Third, Defendants assert that in the absence of the Secretary 11 and Attorney General, Defendants will be subject to a substantial risk 12 of multiple or inconsistent obligations. Specifically, Defendants 13 contend: "If all or some of the Defendants in th[ese] matter[s] reach a settlement with Plaintiff in which they agree not to enforce the laws in 14 15 question, then the Secretary . . . or Attorney General may use their 16 enforcement powers to require Defendants to enforce those law [in 17 violation of] any such resolution." (Mot. at 8:9-11 (citing People ex 18 rel. Lockyer v. Cnty. of Santa Cruz, 416 F. Supp. 2d 797 (N.D. Cal. 19 2006)).) Plaintiff rejoins that this argument "speculates on future 20 events without any actual evidence of any intention by the non-party and 21 unwilling government officials] to take any action . . . " (Id. at 22 5:10-19 (citing Dawavendewa v. Salt River Project Agric. & Power Dist., 23 276 F.3d 1150, 1155 n.5 (9th Cir. 2002)).)

24 "There is no precise formula for determining whether a 25 particular nonparty should be joined under Rule 19(a)." Bakia v. L.A.
26 Cnty., 687 F.2d 299, 301 (9th Cir. 1982). "The determination is heavily
27 influenced by the facts and circumstances of each case." Id. 28 Considerations "include plaintiff's right to decide whom he shall sue, avoiding multiple litigation, providing the parties with complete and effective relief in a single action, protecting the absentee, and fairness to the [moving] party." Id.

Plaintiff's right to decide whom to sue weighs against compelling joinder, since Plaintiff opposes joinder and asserts that he does not seek relief from the Secretary or the Attorney General.

7 Nor have the Defendants shown that the factor concerning 8 avoiding multiple litigation favors compelling joinder, in light of 9 Defendant Jim McCauley's request for judicial notice filed in Case No. 10 12-cv-2219 on February 15, 2013, which is granted. Attached to that 11 judicial notice request are cases evincing that multiple other lawsuits 12 are pending on the same California election laws at issue in these 13 related cases. Specifically, the same California election laws are the 14 subject of pending litigation in the Central District of California case 15 captioned Libertarian Party of L.A. Cnty. v. Bowen, Case No. 11-55316 (2011) ("Libertarian Party"). The Secretary is a party in Libertarian 16 17 Party, and is represented by the Attorney General. The judicially 18 noticed documents also show that Plaintiff is seeking the identical 19 relief sought in these related cases in several pending cases in the 20 Northern District of California. See Raymond v. Arntz, Case No. CV-12-21 4472 JCS (N.D. Cal.).

Further, the movants have not shown that the factor concerning protection of the absent California officials favors joinder. Those officials are currently litigating the constitutionality of the same California Election laws involved in these related case in Libertarian Party, and the Ninth Circuit recently issued a decision reversing and remanding a matter to the district court in that case. See Libertarian Party of L.A. Cnty. v. Bowen, 709 F.3d 867 (9th Cir. 2013). Since the Secretary, represented by the Attorney General, is defending against the same constitutional claims involved here in Libertarian, the movants have not shown that their absence from these actions would impair or impede their interests.

5 Defendants' contention that absent joinder, they risk the 6 threat of inconsistent obligations weighs in favor of joinder; some 7 Defendants could reach a settlement with Plaintiff that is contrary the 8 position of the Secretary, and the Attorney General could then use her 9 enforcement powers to require Defendants to enforce the subject election 10 laws as the Secretary opines they should be enforced. However, this 11 factor does not cause the balance of all factors to favor joinder at 12 this stage of the proceeding.

For the stated reasons, each Defendant's motion for compulsory joinder is DENIED. However, since California is currently litigating the constitutionality of the same election laws that are at issue in these related cases through its Secretary and Attorney General in Libertarian Party, each party shall show cause in a filing due no later than May 20, 2013, why all of the above-captioned related cases should not be stayed until a decision is issued in Libertarian Party.
