ENTRUST GROUP, INC., and ENTRUST
17 ADMINISTRATION, INC.,

18 Defendants.

No. 13-cv-00487 JAM-CKD

ORDER GRANTING ENTRUST
DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO DISMISS

19 This matter is before the Court on Defendants Hugh Bromma
20 ("Bromma"), The Entrust Group, INC. ("TEG"), and Entrust
21 Administration, INC.'s ("Entrust Admin") (collectively "Entrust 22 Defendants") Motion to Dismiss (Doc. #38) Plaintiff's Second 23 Amended Complaint ("SAC") (Doc. #33). Plaintiff Patricia Bailey
24 White ("Plaintiff") opposes the motion (Doc. #39) and Entrust
25 Defendants replied (Doc. #41).<sup>1</sup> For the following reasons,

26

27 <sup>1</sup> This motion was determined to be suitable for decision without 28 oral argument. E.D. Cal. L.R. 230(g). The hearing was scheduled for January 22, 2014.

1 Entrust Defendants' motion is GRANTED.

2
3 I. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

4 Plaintiff and Mark Moran ("Moran") filed this action on 5 March 11, 2013, against the Entrust Defendants, Entrust Mid-6 South, LLC ("Mid-South"), and Jerry Pearson ("Pearson") (Doc.
7 #1). On May 21, 2013, Plaintiff and Moran filed a FAC, alleging 8 six causes of actions: (1) conversion against all Defendants;
9 (2) intentional fraud against Pearson; (3) intentional fraud
10 against all Defendants; (4) violation of California's Elder Abuse
11 and Dependent Adult Civil Protection Act ("Elder Abuse claim"), 12 Welfare and Institutions Code § 15600 et seq., against all 13 Defendants; (5) Unfair Competition ("UCL") claim, Business and 14 Professions Code § 17200 et seq., against all Defendants; and 15 (6) civil Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations ("RICO")
16 claim, 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq., against all Defendants. FAC 17 ¶¶ 240-301. The Entrust Defendants moved to dismiss all the 18 claims against them. On September 5, 2013, the Court granted the 19 Entrust Defendants' motion, finding that all of Moran's claims 20 were time barred under the applicable statute of limitations and 21 finding that Plaintiff's intentional fraud claim and UCL claim
22 were time barred. Order Granting the Entrust Defendant's Motion
23 to Dismiss ("Order"), Doc. #27, at 17. The Court also dismissed
24 Plaintiff's Elder Abuse claim and RICO claim with leave to amend 25 for failure to allege sufficient facts. Id. On October 11, 26 2013, Plaintiff filed her SAC, alleging an Elder Abuse claim and 27 a RICO claim against all Defendants.

28 ///

1 According to the SAC, Plaintiff allegedly invested in Self-2 Directed Individual Retirement Accounts ("IRAs") administered by 3 Entrust Defendants. SAC ¶ 1. A Self-Directed IRA is an IRA held 4 by a trustee or custodian that permits investment in a broader 5 set of assets than is permitted by most IRA custodians. Id. ¶ 1
6 n.1. Bromma was allegedly the CEO of TEG and Entrust Admin. Id.
7 ¶ 2. Mid-South was allegedly a licensee of Entrust Admin and 8 Pearson was a principal of Mid-South. Id. ¶¶ 3, 8.

9 On or about July 2006, Plaintiff, who is 66 years old, 10 allegedly invested $120,000 through an Entrust Self-Directed IRA.
11 Id. ¶ 46. Plaintiff's acquaintances were raising money to invest 12 in Loral Langemeier and Pearson's company called Crumb R Us
13 ("CRU"). Id. ¶ 154. Plaintiff was told to transfer her 14 retirement money to a Mid-South Self-Directed IRA through Pearson
15 to invest in CRU. Id. ¶ 155. In July 2006, Plaintiff opened a 16 Self-Directed IRA and had $146,631.04 wired to Mid-South out of 17 which $120,000 was invested with CRU and the balance was placed 18 in an unrelated investment. Id. ¶ 156. In return, she received 19 an unsecured promissory note that accrued interest at a yearly 20 rate of 12% and expired on October 15, 2007. Id. ¶ 157.
21 Plaintiff allegedly received payments on the note for 2006 and 22 2007 and she then decided to extend the promissory note. Id. ¶ 23 158.

24 In the third quarter of 2008, the interest payments 25 allegedly stopped. Id. ¶ 161. When she contacted Pearson to 26 find out what happened, Pearson told her that his investment "had 27 gone bad." Id. ¶ 162. In July 2009, Plaintiff and other 28 investors participated in a conference call with an attorney who

1 represented Pearson. Id. ¶ 163. The attorney told her that 2 Pearson had attempted to pay the investors from other investment
3 projects but all of Pearson's investments had heavy losses. Id.
4 ¶ 164. However, Pearson allegedly had indicated that as of July 5 2009, his businesses were improving due to hard work and that 6 Pearson would try to sell off his remaining assets to pay 7 investors but that would require CRU investors to move their 8 Self-Directed IRAs out of Mid-South. Id. ¶ 165. The attorney
9 allegedly also told Plaintiff that repayments would begin in July 10 2010. Id. ¶ 166.

11 In 2009, Pearson allegedly also told Plaintiff to move the 12 administration of her Entrust Self-Directed IRA from Mid-South to 13 another Entrust entity in Sacramento, California. Id. ¶ 168.
14 White met with an employee of the Entrust entity in Sacramento 15 office and talked to this employee several times about her 16 worthless investment and the fact that her statements were still 17 showing a fair market value of $120,000 for her Self-Directed 18 IRA. Id. ¶ 169.

19 Plaintiff allegedly never received repayments, settlement
20 documents for execution, or quarterly reports from Pearson. Id.
21 ¶ 170. In September 2010, "fed up with the lack of assistance," 22 White allegedly contacted Bromma. Id. ¶ 171. Bromma allegedly 23 told her that he had become suspicious of Langemeier in 2006, but 24 he allegedly did not offer her any assistance. Id. ¶¶ 172-73.
25 In July 2011, White contacted the president of TEG to tell him 26 about her situation. Id. ¶¶ 178. In 2013, White allegedly 27 received a statement with conflicting information about her Self-28 Directed IRA account. Id. ¶ 180.

1 ///

2 In addition, Plaintiff alleges that “[f]rom 2008 until 3 today, [White] has never been notified by ENTRUST that her CRU
4 promissory note was in default or that it had expired.” Id.
5 ¶ 183.

7 II. OPINION

8 A. Legal Standard

9 A party may move to dismiss an action for failure to state a 10 claim upon which relief can be granted pursuant to Federal Rule 11 of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). To survive a motion to dismiss a 12 plaintiff must plead “enough facts to state a claim to relief 13 that is plausible on its face.” Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 14 556 U.S. 662, 570 (2007). In considering a motion to dismiss, a 15 district court must accept all the allegations in the complaint 16 as true and draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the 17 plaintiff. Scheuer v. Rhodes, 416 U.S. 232, 236 (1974), 18 overruled on other grounds by Davis v. Scherer, 468 U.S. 183 19 (1984); Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319, 322 (1972). “First, to be 20 entitled to the presumption of truth, allegations in a complaint 21 or counterclaim may not simply recite the elements of a cause of 22 action, but must sufficiently allege underlying facts to give 23 fair notice and enable the opposing party to defend itself 24 effectively.” Starr v. Baca, 652 F.3d 1202, 1216 (9th Cir.
25 2011), cert. denied, 132 S. Ct. 2101, 182 L. Ed. 2d 882 (U.S.
26 2012). “Second, the factual allegations that are taken as true 27 must plausibly suggest an entitlement to relief, such that it is 28 not unfair to require the opposing party to be subjected to the

1 expense of discovery and continued litigation." Id. Assertions 2 that are mere "legal conclusions" are therefore not entitled to 3 the presumption of truth. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 4 (2009) (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555). Dismissal is 5 appropriate when a plaintiff fails to state a claim supportable
6 by a cognizable legal theory. Balistreri v. Pacifica Police 7 Department, 901 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1990).

8       Upon granting a motion to dismiss for failure to state a 9 claim, a court has discretion to allow leave to amend the 10 complaint pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 15(a).
11 "Dismissal with prejudice and without leave to amend is not 12 appropriate unless it is clear . . . that the complaint could not 13 be saved by amendment." Eminence Capital, L.L.C. v. Aspeon, 14 Inc., 316 F.3d 1048, 1052 (9th Cir. 2003).

15       B. Discussion

16       The Entrust Defendants move to dismiss Plaintiff's remaining 17 RICO and Elder Abuse claim alleged against them.

18             1. RICO Claim

19       The Entrust Defendants primarily assert that Plaintiff's 20 RICO claim fails because she does not allege the existence of an 21 enterprise that is distinct from Defendants themselves because 22 subsidiaries and affiliates of a corporation generally do not 23 constitute an enterprise. Plaintiff argues that she has alleged 24 sufficient facts because an associated-in-fact enterprise does 25 not require any particular organizational structure, separate or 26 otherwise, under the Ninth Circuit's holding in Odom v. Microsoft 27 Corp., 486 F.3d 541 (9th Cir. 2007) (en banc).

28       Under 18 U.S.C. § 1962(c), "[i]t shall be unlawful for any 1 person employed by or associated with any enterprise engaged in,

2 or the activities of which affect, interstate or foreign 3 commerce, to conduct or participate, directly or indirectly, in 4 the conduct of such enterprise's affairs through a pattern of 5 racketeering activity or collection of unlawful debt." To a 6 state a claim, a plaintiff must allege: "(1) conduct (2) of an 7 enterprise (3) through a pattern (4) of racketeering activity." 8 Odom, 486 F.3d at 547. In Odom, the Ninth Circuit held that "an 9 associated-in-fact enterprise under RICO does not require any 10 particular organizational structure, separate or otherwise." 486 11 F.3d 541, 551 (9th Cir. 2007) (no requirement of an 12 "ascertainable structure"). "[A]n associated-in-fact enterprise 13 is 'a group of persons associated together for a common purpose 14 of engaging in a course of conduct.'" Id. at 552 (quoting United 15 States v. Turkette, 452 U.S. 576, 583 (1981)). Therefore, to 16 establish an associated-in-fact enterprise, a plaintiff must 17 allege (i) a common purpose of engaging in a course of conduct; 18 (ii) evidence of an "ongoing organization, formal or informal"; 19 and (iii) evidence that the various associates function as a 20 continuing unit. Id. (citing Turkette, 452 U.S. at 583).

21 Originally, in the FAC, Plaintiff alleged broadly that all 22 Defendants were the persons and the enterprise with no
23 explanation and therefore, the Court dismissed Plaintiff's claim
24 with leave to amend. Order at 15-16. In the SAC, Plaintiff now 25 alleges, "On their face, the Defendants existed independently as 26 a separate legal person or entity, in order to conduct various 27 types of businesses and/or transactions," and "Defendants banded 28 together in a hierarchical structure for spurts of activity

1 involving the illegal acts and fraud set forth herein that 2 injured Plaintiff and the Class Members. The enterprise included 3 multiple corporate entities associating with multiple 4 individuals." SAC ¶ 244. The Entrust Defendants argue that 5 these allegations are vague. Although Plaintiff uses the vague
6 terms "multiple corporate entities" and "multiple individuals," 7 in the opposition, Plaintiff clarifies that each Defendant is a 8 person and together they are an associated-in-fact enterprise.
9 See River City Markets, Inc. v. Fleming Foods W., Inc., 960 F.2d 10 1458, 1462 (9th Cir. 1992) (holding "a plaintiff is free to name
11 all members of an association-in-fact enterprise as individual 12 defendants").

13 The Entrust Defendants argue that even if Plaintiff's 14 allegations are not vague, the combination of the individual 15 defendants does not create a new entity because the associated-16 in-fact enterprise "consists of nothing more than a parent, its 17 subsidiary, its CEO and its licensee/franchisee," which is 18 insufficient. Mot. at 18-19. Specifically, Plaintiff alleges 19 that Entrust Admin is a wholly owned subsidiary of TEG, Entrust 20 Mid-South was a licensee of TEG, Bromma was the CEO of TEG and 21 Entrust Admin, and Pearson was the CEO and owner of Mid-South.
22 SAC ¶¶ 7-10. Therefore, Plaintiff has identified an associated-23 in-fact enterprise consisting of a corporate defendant, its 24 affiliates, and two of its officers. Plaintiff argues that the 25 Entrust Corporate defendants, by themselves, satisfy the 26 requirement of pleading at least two distinct entities, citing 27 Cedric Kushner Promotions, Ltd., v. King, 533 U.S. 158 (2001).
28 Opp. at 15-16. However, as Defendants argue, in Cedric Kushner

1 Promotions, the defendant owner/employee was not alleged to be a 2 part of the RICO enterprise and the corporation was not alleged 3 to be the RICO person. Here, all Defendants are part of the same 4 corporate family and consequently, the distinctiveness 5 requirement is not satisfied. See Ice Cream Distrib. of 6 Evansville, LLC v. Dreyer's Grand Ice Cream, Inc., No. 09-5815
7 CW, 2010 WL 3619884 (N.D. Cal. Sep.10, 2010) ("[A] § 1962(c)
8 claim could not be based on a RICO enterprise comprised of a 9 corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary and an employee of that 10 corporate family if these entities were also plead as the RICO 11 persons.") Therefore, even though under Odom several 12 corporations may constitute an associated-in-fact enterprise, the 13 enterprise must still be distinct from the person, which 14 Plaintiff has not properly alleged in this case.

15 Accordingly, the Court dismisses Plaintiff's RICO claim.
16 Because Plaintiff has not indicated any other facts that she may 17 be able to allege to pursue this cause of action, and she has had 18 two opportunities to properly plead this claim, further amendment
19 is futile. In addition, the Court need not address the Entrust 20 Defendants' arguments that Plaintiff has failed to allege any 21 predicate acts, causation, or fraud.

22 2. Elder Abuse Claim

23 The Entrust Defendants move to dismiss Plaintiff's Elder 24 Abuse claim because the Elder Abuse Act does not create an 25 independent cause of action and even if there was an elder abuse 26 cause of action, Plaintiff has not alleged sufficient facts.
27 Plaintiff asserts that the Elder Abuse Act creates an independent 28 cause of action but provides no authority. Opp. at 21. However,

1 the Court need not address this argument for the reasons
2 mentioned below.

3 The Court previously dismissed Plaintiff's Elder Abuse claim
4 because she failed to distinguish between Defendants as required 5 by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 9(b) since her claim is based 6 on fraud. Order at 16 (citing Levine v. Entrust Grp., Inc., C
7 12-03959, 2013 WL 2606407, at *5 (N.D. Cal. June 11, 2013)
8 (noting that the Ninth Circuit "has held that Rule 9(b) prevents 9 plaintiffs from lumping defendants together for the purposes of 10 fraud allegations")). In her SAC, Plaintiff now lists each 11 Defendant under her Elder Abuse claim. However, she merely re-12 alleges the Entrust corporate structure. SAC ¶¶ 208-216. In 13 addition, Plaintiff continues to improperly group the Entrust
14 Defendants together. See generally SAC ¶¶ 73-89; see also SAC
15 ¶ 217 ("Defendants' conduct resulted in the property of Plaintiff
16 PATRICIA BAILEY WHITE and the California Senior Subclass Members 17 being wrongfully taken"); ¶ 152 ("Defendants willfully and 18 purposefully ignored their own policies and procedures as well as 19 controlling laws and regulations applicable to SDIRA Custodians
20 to facilitate, aid, abet and conceal the fraud perpetrated 21 against Plaintiff and the Class Members and conceal the 22 wrongdoing by PEARSON in the sale of illegal securities").

23 Accordingly, the Court dismisses Plaintiff's Elder Abuse
24 claim. Plaintiff has not demonstrated that she can allege 25 specific acts by each Defendant in good faith, therefore, the 26 Court does not grant leave to amend.

27 3. Leave to Include New Claims

28 Plaintiff states that if granted leave to amend, the amended

1 pleading would include claims of rescission and breach of 2 contract. The Court denies Plaintiff's request as it is not 3 properly before the Court. Opp. at 24.

III. ORDER

For the reasons set forth above, the Court GRANTS without leave to amend the Entrust Defendants' Motion to Dismiss. This case will proceed against the remaining Defendants, Pearson and Mid-South.
