

1 a fourteen-day extension of time to respond to the court’s “most recent order.” (ECF No. 184.)
2 On February 17, defendants filed a document in which they note that plaintiff does not identify 3 the court order in his February 14 filing. Defendants state that they do not oppose a fourteen-day 4 extension of time for plaintiff to file objections to this court’s February 15 findings and 5 recommendations. (ECF No. 185.)

6 Plaintiff filed his request for an extension of time on February 14, one day before this 7 court filed the findings and recommendations. Therefore, it is clear he does not seek an extension
8 of the objection period set out in the findings and recommendations. Plaintiff seeks an extension 9 to respond to the court’s “most recent order.” That is the January 18 order requiring plaintiff to 10 explain whether he wishes to proceed with this case. Defendants do not indicate whether they 11 oppose an extension of time for plaintiff to respond to the January 18 order.

12 In his February 14 filing, plaintiff explains that he requires additional time because he is 13 “experiencing mental health decompensation,” suffering “severe nerve and muscle pain,” and is 14 homeless. This court finds those reasons sufficient to permit plaintiff additional time to respond 15 to the court’s January 18 order.

16 This court will vacate the February 15 findings and recommendations to permit plaintiff to 17 respond to the January 18 order. However, plaintiff is warned that if he wishes to proceed with 18 this action, he must heed court orders and the Local Rules. Plaintiff should carefully consider this 19 court’s reasoning in the February 15 findings and recommendations. While this court is 20 sympathetic to the many difficulties plaintiff faces in litigating this case, he must stay involved if 21 he wishes to continue with it.

22 For these reasons, and good cause appearing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED as follows:

- 23 1. Plaintiff’s motion for an extension of time (ECF No. 184) is granted;
- 24 2. The findings and recommendations filed February 15, 2023 (ECF No. 183) are 25 vacated; and

3. Within fourteen days of the filed date of this order, plaintiff shall respond to the court's January 18 order. Plaintiff is warned that his failure to file a response within fourteen days could result in a renewed recommendation that this case be dismissed.
