IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

BRANDEN WILLIE ISELI,
Plaintiff,
v.
STATE OF CALIFORNIA, et al.,
Defendants.

No. 2:22-CV-1933-WBS-DMC-P

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Plaintiff, a prisoner proceeding pro se, brings this civil rights action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Pending before the Court is Plaintiff’s original complaint, ECF No. 1.

The Court is required to screen complaints brought by prisoners seeking relief against a governmental entity or officer or employee of a governmental entity. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a). The Court must dismiss a complaint or portion thereof if it: (1) is frivolous or malicious; (2) fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted; or (3) seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b)(1), (2). Moreover, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure require that complaints contain a “. . . short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). This means that claims must be stated simply, concisely, and directly. See McHenry v. Renne, 84 F.3d 1172, 1177 (9th Cir. 1996) (referring to Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(e)(1)). These rules are satisfied if the complaint gives the defendant fair notice of the plaintiff’s claim and the grounds upon which it

1 rests. See Kimes v. Stone, 84 F.3d 1121, 1129 (9th Cir. 1996). Because Plaintiff must allege 2 with at least some degree of particularity overt acts by specific defendants which support the 3 claims, vague and conclusory allegations fail to satisfy this standard. Additionally, it is 4 impossible for the Court to conduct the screening required by law when the allegations are vague 5 and conclusory.

6 Plaintiff names the State of California and City of Stockton as defendants. See 7 ECF No. 1, pg. 2. Plaintiff states that his claims concern a “false conviction.” See id. at 3, 4.
8 Throughout the complaint, Plaintiff references another action pending in the Eastern District of 9 California, Iseli v. People of the State of California, 2:22-CV-1483-TLN-EFB, which is a habeas
10 corpus petition challenging Plaintiff’s 2019 murder conviction in the San Joaquin County
11 Superior Court. The current civil rights action adds little and consists largely of Plaintiff’s 12 references to his federal habeas case and statement “all of the above.”

13 When a state prisoner challenges the legality of his custody and the relief he seeks 14 is a determination that he is entitled to an earlier or immediate release, such a challenge is not 15 cognizable under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 and the prisoner’s sole federal remedy is a petition for a writ
16 of habeas corpus. See Preiser v. Rodriguez, 411 U.S. 475, 500 (1973); see also Neal v. Shimoda, 17 131 F.3d 818, 824 (9th Cir. 1997); Trimble v. City of Santa Rosa, 49 F.3d 583, 586 (9th Cir.
18 1995) (per curiam). Thus, where a § 1983 action seeking monetary damages or declaratory relief 19 alleges constitutional violations which would necessarily imply the invalidity of the prisoner’s 20 underlying conviction or sentence, or the result of a prison disciplinary hearing resulting in 21 imposition of a sanction affecting the overall length of confinement, such a claim is not 22 cognizable under § 1983 unless the conviction or sentence has first been invalidated on appeal, by 23 habeas petition, or through some similar proceeding. See Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 483-24 84 (1994) (concluding that § 1983 claim not cognizable because allegations were akin to 25 malicious prosecution action which includes as an element a finding that the criminal proceeding
26 was concluded in plaintiff’s favor); Butterfield v. Bail, 120 F.3d 1023, 1024-25 (9th Cir. 1997) 27 (concluding that § 1983 claim not cognizable because allegations of procedural defects were an 28 attempt to challenge substantive result in parole hearing); cf. Neal, 131 F.3d at 824 (concluding

1 that § 1983 claim was cognizable because challenge was to conditions for parole eligibility and
2 not to any particular parole determination); cf. Wilkinson v. Dotson, 544 U.S. 74 (2005) 3 (concluding that § 1983 action seeking changes in procedures for determining when an inmate is 4 eligible for parole consideration not barred because changed procedures would hasten future
5 parole consideration and not affect any earlier parole determination under the prior procedures).

6 Here, the Court finds that the current civil rights action is Heck-barred.
7 Specifically, Plaintiff's allegation that he suffered a "false conviction," coupled with his 8 references to an ongoing federal habeas petition challenging a state court conviction, indicates 9 that the current action challenges that conviction. Success on the merits of this challenge, i.e., a 10 finding that the conviction was indeed "false," would necessarily imply the invalidity of the state
11 court conviction. Further, given the pending federal habeas petition, it is clear the state court 12 conviction has not been set aside or invalidated. Because Plaintiff has not obtained favorable 13 termination of his state court conviction, he may not proceed here with civil rights claims arising 14 from the state court criminal proceedings.

15 Because it does not appear possible that the deficiencies identified herein can be 16 cured by amending the complaint, Plaintiff is not entitled to leave to amend prior to dismissal of 17 the entire action. See Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1126, 1131 (9th Cir. 2000) (en banc).

18 Based on the foregoing, the undersigned recommends that this action be dismissed 19 for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted.

20 These findings and recommendations are submitted to the United States District
21 Judge assigned to the case, pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). Within 14 days 22 after being served with these findings and recommendations, any party may file written 23 objections with the court. Responses to objections shall be filed within 14 days after service of 24 objections. Failure to file objections within the specified time may waive the right to appeal. See 25 Martinez v. Ylst, 951 F.2d 1153 (9th Cir. 1991).
