

Exh. A

Audio Compression in the Burst Patents

- Category 2 is described.
- The specification mentions “conventional algorithms.”
- One conventional algorithm is to compute differences between several samples using a fixed or changing equation and encode these differences.
 - DPCM coding.
 - Fibonacci delta compression.
 - In some instances, filtering techniques compute such differences.