1 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that plaintiffs Tash Hepting, Gregory Hicks, Carolyn Jewel and 2 Erik Knutzen will and hereby move the Court for an order allowing plaintiffs to exceed the page 3 limit set forth in Civil Local Rule 7-4 in Plaintiffs' Amended Notice of Motion and Motion for 4 Preliminary Injunction; Plaintiffs' Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion for 5 Preliminary Injunction.

6 This motion is based on this notice of motion and motion, memorandum of points and 7 authorities, the Declaration of Lee Tien filed herewith, and plaintiffs' amended motion for 8 preliminary injunction and all associated papers.

9 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

10 Plaintiffs seek leave of the Court for a waiver of the page limitations set forth in Civil Local 11 Rule 7-4 on plaintiff's amended motion for preliminary injunction. This request is made for the 12 following reasons: (1) the factual basis for the motion is complicated and requires detailed 13 explanation; and (2) the constitutional and statutory framework is complex. Plaintiffs request that 14 the Civil Local Rule 7-4 limit of 25 pages be waived and that plaintiffs be permitted to file a brief of 15 35 pages.

16 I. ARGUMENT

17 A. The Factual Issues in This Case Are Complicated and Technical.

18 While the basics of this case are straightforward – AT&T Corp. (“AT&T”) is enabling the 19 National Security Agency (“NSA”) to illegally and unconstitutionally eavesdrop on the public at 20 large – the mechanism by which defendants are doing this is complicated and requires a detailed 21 factual and technological explanation. Understanding how the NSA's electronic eavesdropping is 22 facilitated by AT&T requires an explanation of Internet traffic, fiber optics, and certain equipment 23 used by telecommunications companies.

24 Additionally, there is a great deal of public information relating to NSA wiretapping that, in 25 this instance, may confuse rather than clarify the situation. The government has admitted that the 26 NSA is engaged in warrantless wiretapping. However, the government has refused to admit that the 27 NSA is wiretapping purely domestic Internet traffic or Internet traffic that does not involve at least 28 one person who is a member or agent of Al Qaeda or an affiliated terrorist organization. To show

1 the factual basis for preliminary injunction, plaintiffs must describe both what the government has 2 admitted and the information plaintiffs have regarding a wiretapping program much broader than 3 what has been recognized by the government.

4 B. The Statutory and Constitutional Issues Are Complex.

5 The warrantless wiretapping implicates Title III of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe
6 Streets Act of 1968 and the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978, laws enacted in direct 7 response to illegal warrantless wiretapping of persons in the United States by police and the 8 Executive Branch. The warrantless wiretapping also implicates the Fourth Amendment right to be 9 free from unreasonable searches and seizures. U.S. Const. amend. IV. Understanding the blatant 10 disregard shown by AT&T and the NSA for the legal and constitutional rights of the public requires 11 discussion both of the laws and of the abuses that led to them.

12 II. CONCLUSION

13 For the above reasons, plaintiffs request that this Court permit plaintiffs to file a brief totaling 14 35 pages.
